THREE DIE IN TRAIN WRECK AT COLUMBIA

Several Also Injured When a Southern Train Runs Into Big Washout.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Three trainmen are dead and seven are injured as the result of the wreck of Southern passenger train No. 16 which slid into a washout last night on the Columbia, Newberry & Laurens tracks three miles above here.

The decapitated body of Relief Fireman J. F. Rataree of Columbia was found near the wrecked train today shortly before the body of Engineer D. B. Poore of Columbia was taken from the submerged cab of his locomotive. Wedged in the cab below Poore's body was seen the body of J. G. Glenn, Newberry, assistant roadmaster of the Columbia, Newberry and Laurens Railway who was acting as pilot for the Southern train being derailed over the tracks of the other line because of a washout on the Southern line.

E. Alexander, mail clerk, suffered two broken ribs, and H. M. Hood of Columbia, express messenger, received a broken arm. Flagman J. F. Glymph of Greenville, was slightly injured in the arm; mail clerk J. H. Martin of Columbia, had a rib broken; baggage master B. D. Wright of Columbia, suffered injuries to shoulder and arm, and J. F. Simpson, mail clerk, was shaken up.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—The bodies of Engineer D. B. Poore and Fireman J. F. Rataree, who were killed last night when Southern passenger train No. 16 plunged into a washout three miles above here, were recovered this morning and wrecking crews were still searching for Pilot J. E. Glenn who was missing after the wreck.

Twenty-five passengers who were marooned all night after the train left the track shortly before 11:30 were brought to Columbia on a relief train. None of them were seriously injured.

Poore and Rataree, both of Columbia, were thought to have been killed instantly when the locomotive dived off the track and almost buried itself in the mud and water of the ravine where the washout occurred.

Glenn was an employee of the Columbia, Newberry and Laurens Railway, over whose tracks the train was routed from Newberry. A washed out bridge had rendered the Southern main line impassable. He was thought to have been buried with the locomotive.

The wreck occurred near the Broad River trestle, three miles east of here. The baggage car and two coaches left the track and a lone passenger coach remained upright.

The passengers, confused and excited, were huddled together in the upright coach to await relief from Columbia. The wreck occurred in such an isolated spot that it was after 1 o'clock before word reached Columbia. Conductor Eskew made his way two miles through the rain and mud to the home of Rural Policeman J. W. Taylor where he telephoned a report to the dispatcher's office here.

An emergency motor car was sent of the Columbia, Newberry and Laurens tracks at once but it was some time before definite information could be obtained or relief sent to the scene of the wreck.

The washout of the Broad River highway bridge during the flood two weeks ago cut off direct highway communication with the spot and the railway tracks afforded the only means of access.

John P. Taylor, president and general manager of the C. N. & L. Railway, took charge of the relief operations soon after the wreck was reported. Immediately upon the return of the emergency car from the visit to the wreck it was dispatched again with physician to furnish aid to the injured.

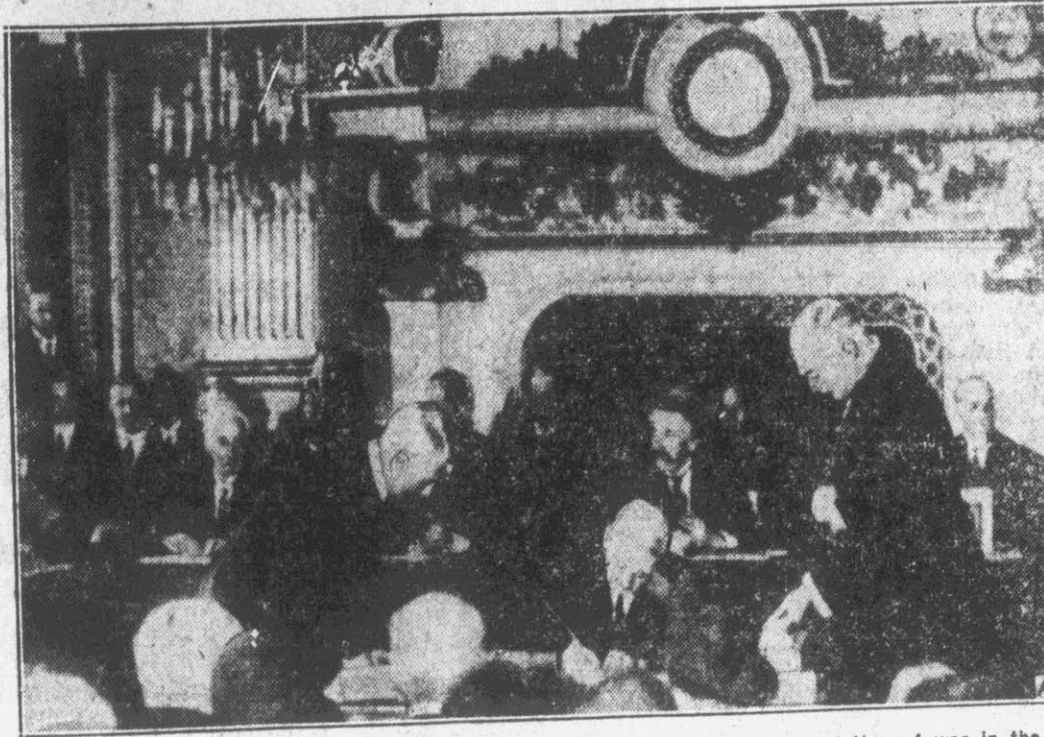

Work of raising the submerged engine and coaches was hampered by the condition of the track and it was not until after daylight that actual relief operations was begun.

Green Wins By Big Majority In Michigan

Detroit, Sept. 6.—(AP)—With only a few scattered precincts missing, the majority by which Gov. Fred W. Green won the Republican nomination over George W. Welsh, of Grand Rapids, in Michigan's primary election Tuesday, had mounted today to more than 200,000 votes.

Green received 407,846 votes from 3,027 precincts out of 3,184 in the state reported, while Welsh received 190,901.

Smith Has Met Greatest Opposition of His State

By BYRON PRIC
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)
Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 6.—(AP)—

In all of his battles for the political mastery of his own State, Governor Smith has met his greatest opposition outside the boundaries of his native New York City, in the half hundred and more counties known collectively to politics as "up-State New York." It is so in 1928.

Throughout this northern country the Republicans are organizing again with an impressive determination to overthrow by up-state strength the heavy majority Smith always has commanded in the down-state metropolis. The issues still are somewhat indistinct, and the result is likely to remain a matter of dispute for weeks to come. If the public claims, and affidavits of both sides were averaged up mathematically, the answer could be a stand-off. A great deal of water has yet to go under the bridge in this New York campaign, and it is safe only to predict that neither side will leave anything if can find to do toward capture of the Empire State size of 45 electoral votes—more than one-sixth of the total number needed to elect a president.

In its early stages the campaign is turning on old familiar ground. The drys are active, talk of possible hard times for business under a Democratic regime at Washington goes about among the Hoover men as they seek to alienate from Smith, the presidential candidate, as many as possible of those who have supported Smith, the candidate for governor. There also is the old complaint of domination of the State's political machinery by down-state leaders in the confidence of Tammany Hall. Various local issues will make or lose votes in the smaller communities.

Cape Fear, Neuse And Tar Rivers On Rampage Today

Raleigh, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Eastern Carolina rivers continued rising today, with weather bureau officials unwilling to attempt to predict to what heights they would go because of the continuation of rainfall. The Cape Fear, the Neuse, and the Tar River were out of their banks, flooding lowlands, damaging crops, and washing away small bridges.

Although no reports of large bridges being damaged have been received here, word from Smithfield was that the Richardson bridge in lower Johnston County would probably be covered today. The Neuse was headed for a twenty foot depth at Smithfield today. The Cape Fear passed the 44-foot stage at Fayetteville, fifteen feet above the flood stage, but 24 feet short of the record made in August 1906. High water forced cessation of work by the State Highway Department on the Locks Creek bridge near Fayetteville.

At Rocky Mount, the Tar river went out of its banks, with an eleven foot stage, or one to two feet above bank level, expected today.

Specialist On Snakebites

New York.—Dr. Ray L. Dumars, curator of the New York zoo, knows what to do for snakebite. From a passenger on the Berengaria, bitten in mid-ocean by a copperhead, the curator received an urgent radio. Detailed directions were radioed back. "There was no grave danger," the doctor explains, "but I wanted to keep him from worrying." The patient was a student of Vienna who was taking home a collection of snakes for a museum.

On the basis of past returns, any prediction would be possible. Not since the Cleveland era has New York voted for a Democrat for President, save only when Taft and Roosevelt disagreed in 1912. Most of the recent Republican majorities have been overwhelming. In the last Presidential year, Coolidge carried the state with 600,000 more votes than Davis and LaFollette combined. But the other side of the picture is that while Harding was sweeping New York in 1920, Smith was running more than 1,000,000 votes ahead of his ticket and losing the Governorship by but a handful, and that since has been elected Governor three times, the last time in 1926, by a plurality of 217,000.

So far as up-state New York alone is concerned, the question this year is not whether the supporters of Hoover have a normal advantage, but whether they can so use that advantage as to outweigh Smith's strength in his great stronghold down-state.

But it would be a mistake to assume that Governor Smith is without his personal following up-state. He always has run ahead of his ticket in the up-state counties, and in several normally Republican up-state cities like Syracuse, he has come through occasionally with a city majority. In 1924 he polled more votes for Governor than Davis did for President in 60 of the 62 counties of the state, and in nearly all of these his vote was greater than that of Davis and LaFollette combined.

The Democratic nominee recently told newspapermen that he took no stock in reports that many who have voted for him for Governor will not support him for President. Nevertheless he is keeping his eye on the State, and may be depended on to do so until election.

New Evidence In Probe Of Whiskey Ring

Philadelphia, Sept. 6.—(AP)—District Attorney John Monaghan said today that he had discovered evidence linking Max "Boo Boo" Hoff, alleged "King of Philadelphia bootleggers," with Edward S. Goldberg, proprietor of a store which deals in military goods, bullet-proof vests, machine guns and other weapons used in gang warfare.

This was the latest development in the grand jury investigation of Philadelphia's underworld activities which Mr. Monaghan said had established an alliance between the police and the rum ring.

Arrested last night on a charge of perjury after he had testified before the grand jury, Goldberg was released this morning in heavy bail. Records and books of the Military Sales Company, of which he is the head, were seized and impounded for the jury.

The district attorney said that when receipts for bullet-proof vests were found on Peley Ford and Frankie Bailey, gangsters, once arrested in connection with the slaying of Mickey Duffy at the Club Cadix, Goldberg told city hall detectives that the vests had been paid for by Max Hoff. Ford and Bailey, who are serving prison sentences for highway robbery and aggravated assault on a policeman, were questioned by the grand jury last week.

AYDEN LAWYER WOULD DEBATE CONGRESSMAN

M. B. Prescott Challenges Lindsay Warren to Word Battle On Certain Issues.

M. B. Prescott, Ayden lawyer, and Republican candidate for Congress in the coming election, has challenged Congressman Lindsay C. Warren, of Washington, Democratic nominee, for a series of joint debates on certain issues, at least one debate to be held in every county in the district.

Mr. Prescott's challenge was contained in the following letter to Congressman Warren yesterday:

"Ayden, N. C., Sept. 5, 1928.
"Mr. Lindsay Warren,
"Washington, N. C.
"Dear Sir:
"As the Republican candidate for Congress, I challenge you to meet me in joint debate in each county upon the issues of prohibition, Al Smith's subservience to Tammany Hall, the alien influences advancing Al Smith as a candidate for President, and your relation to all of these as a supporter of Al Smith for President.
"Very truly yours,
"M. B. PRESCOTT."

BISHOP FOR AFRICA DEAD

The Right Rev. Joseph Hartzell, Passes At Christ Hospital, Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Right Rev. Joseph Crane Hartzell, Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, for Africa, died at Christ hospital today. His death was due to injuries received when he was bound and beaten by robbers in his home at Blue Ash, near here, on June 1.

Bishop Hartzell, known as the "David Livingstone of Methodism," gave 20 years of his life to the spreading of Christianity in the heart of Africa as a representative of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Receiving as a gift from Cecil Rhodes the British "empire builder," 33,000 acres of the site of Unionville in Rhodesia, at the time the British government built its railroad across Africa, Bishop Hartzell developed an educational, industrial and missionary center which has since his retirement been enhanced by more than $50,000 by the church.

Bishop Hartzell was active in Eastern Rhodesia and East Africa, the east coast and Liberia on the Congo, and in Angola in the west coast, and in the Madeira Islands. When he accepted the African post he did so with the intention of remaining 20 years. At the end of that time, he retired and came to Cincinnati to spend the remainder of his life.

For 46 years he was a leader in Methodism, beginning with a pastorate in Pekin, Illinois. He was born in Moline, Ill., June 1, 1842.

ROBINSON TO SPEAK TODAY IN TENNESSEE

Democratic Nominee to Open Campaign Tonight In City of Nashville.

Robinson Special Car, Enroute to Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Expressing optimism over information gathered on his trip in Texas and Arkansas as to conditions in those two states, Senator Joe T. Robinson moved today into Tennessee, the only southern state so far selected by Herbert Hoover for a campaign address.

An even month, however, will elapse between the firing of the Democratic vice-presidential nominee of his opening campaign broadcast in the state and the date, October 6, selected by the Republican presidential nominee for his address at Elizabethtown.

While Mr. Robinson has expressed no apprehension over the loyalty of Tennessee to the Democratic standard, some regard the state as doubtful and many Republicans have claimed it will be found in the Hoover column in November.

Mr. Robinson has three speeches scheduled in the state, the first to be at Nashville tonight at 9 o'clock. He then will speak on successive days at Chattanooga and Knoxville before journeying into Virginia and from there southward along the Atlantic seaboard.

Upon his return from a two-day swing into Texas, the Senator will be swung back to his home state of Arkansas by a crowd at Texarkana. As the train pulled into the station, a crowd headed by a band gathered around the platform of the private car and applauded the Senator when he appeared.

Paul Jones, a life-long friend, already had climbed aboard and as soon as Mr. Robinson appeared began a speech of welcome.

NORTH DAKOTA REPUBLICANS CROSSED AGAIN

Factions for Smith 'And Hoover Engaged In Violent Skirmish for Honors.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 6.—(AP)—North Dakota Republicans today had split over the question of supporting Herbert Hoover for president.

The non-partisan league faction was on record as refusing to endorse Hoover's candidacy, while the independent Republicans are backing him.

The action came yesterday at a meeting, called to organize the Republican state central committee. The independents offered a resolution endorsing Mr. Hoover and his stand on agriculture. This was defeated by a vote of 19 to 9.

As a result, the independents or "regular Republicans" organized separately and decided to carry on a vigorous campaign for the national ticket, as nominated at Kansas City.

As the non-partisans in their resolutions criticized Mr. Hoover as a "tool of big business" and asserted that the Republican party had strayed from its original course, the resolutions made it clear that the action was intended to show a lack of faith in the Republican party and its candidates rather than an endorsement of Governor Alfred E. Smith.

Among the non-partisans who backed the original Hoover resolution were Fred F. Graham, Republican national committeeman, and Stephen Terhorst, who is manager of the Hoover-Gurtis clubs in North Dakota.

Both Graham and Terhorst urged that the party should remain "regular" in this campaign and back Hoover. They later joined the independents' meeting.

The "regulars" were defeated by the committee members from districts which had been hostile to the present Coolidge administration and the nomination of Mr. Hoover. The independents' committee also disregarded the stand taken by U. S. Senators Lynn J. Frazier and Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, who have issued statements announcing support for Mr. Hoover. Both Mr. Nye and Mr. Frazier were elected with non-partisan league endorsements.

Eighty-two of 3 Nebraska counties are holding fairs this summer.

ERINGHAUS TO SPEAK IN CITY SEPTEMBER 15

Political Leader Of Elizabeth City To Address the Democratic Voters Here.

J. C. Eringhaus, of Elizabeth City, prominent political leader of eastern North Carolina, will address the Democratic voters of Pitt county at the court house here Saturday, September 15th, according to announcement made this morning by W. E. Hooks, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive committee. It was also stated that Clyde Hoey had accepted an invitation to speak here the latter part of the month or the first of October.

Mr. Hooks left this morning for Raleigh to confer with O. M. Mull, State chairman of the Democratic campaign committee, relative to the campaign to be waged in this county. Mr. Hooks met with members of an advisory committee of the county executive committee last night, and at that time tentative plans of the campaign were discussed at length. It was at this session that Mr. Hooks was instructed to go to Raleigh for the conference with Chairman Mull.

Plans for the campaign here are the most extensive in history of the political life of the county, Mr. Hooks said. Well known figures of the political life of the State and Nation will appear here from time to time between now and the date of the national election, and voters will be given an opportunity of hearing the various campaign issues discussed in a most enlightening manner.

Women have been extended a cordial invitation to attend the meetings here from time to time, members of the County Democratic Executive committee declared. Special consideration has been given to the prominent part which women will play in the campaign to elect a president of the United States and ample accommodations will be provided for them as each of the speakers appear here to champion the cause of Democracy.

The opening gun of the campaign was fired in Greenville several days ago by H. S. Ward, former United States Congressman, of Washington, N. C. At that time Mr. Ward branded as fallacies some of the statements made in connection with the candidacy of Al Smith, Democratic nominee for the Presidency. He declared Smith to be the most lied about man since the day of Andrew Jackson, and declared the attacks both vicious and devoid of truth.

Woman Evangelist Departs for East

Los Angeles, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, exponent of "Four Square" Gospel, had started today on her delayed foreign evangelistic tour.

Three hours after suits against her alleging fraud in connection with real estate operations at Lake Tahoe, a California resort, had been settled out of court last night, she departed for the east amid the blaring of an Angelus Temple band and farewell songs by more than a thousand of her followers.

"I am glad it is over," said Mrs. McPherson who declared the settlement did not concern her and that she had no connection with the sale of real estate. "I hope now they will leave me alone for a while. I am tired of the bulabuloo."

BOY ACCIDENTALLY SHOT WHILE OUT HUNTING

Salisbury, N. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Scott Allman, 13, was accidentally shot and killed yesterday by James Swan, 14-year-old negro, while the two, with Swan's brother, were hunting squirrels near the Allman home near Ennocheville. He was a son of Will Allman.

The negro boys went home and at first disclaimed any knowledge of where Allman was when he failed to return home, but after searching parties found the body in the woods they said fear had caused them to deny knowing anything about the matter and James Swan told how the accident happened. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

ROWLAND IS LEADING AIR RACE TODAY

ansas City, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Earl Rowland of Wichita, Kas., in his Cessna A monoplane, led the class A trans-continental flier into Kansas City today, landing at Richards air port at 12:43 p. m. He wins, also, a cash prize given by the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, for the fastest time between St. Louis and this city.

St. Louis, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The trans-continental air races bound from New York to Los Angeles, reached St. Louis today with Earl Rowland of Wichita, Kas., flying a Cessna Model A plane still well in the lead, as he has been in every lap since 37 ships took off from New York yesterday.

Rowland swept across the finish line at Lambert-St. Louis field at 10:21 a. m. and was followed sixteen minutes later by Robert Duke of Pittsburgh, in an American Moth plane.

Rowland's thirty minute lunch period was nearly over and he and his companion, William Kivaski of Detroit, were tuning up for a take-off for Kansas City, tonight's control point, when W. N. Emery, Jr., of Bradford, Pa., crossed the finish line. Other trailed along at various intervals.

Postpone Class B and C. Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Sept. 6.—(AP)—The class B and C races in the New York-Los Angeles air derby were postponed today until tomorrow at six a. m., on account of rain, fog and low ceiling.

After the races were called off, five pilots withdrew from the class B race in protest against six planes which they charged have racing wings. The disputed planes, approved intests by the racing committee, are the two Lairds, piloted by "Speed" Holman of St. Paul, and B. E. Ballough of Chicago, and four Wacos manned by John H. Livingston of Monmouth, Ill.; John R. Wood of Wausau, Wis.; Stuart Aver of Milwaukee; and Charles W. Meyers of Troy, Ohio.

Those who withdrew were: G. C. Guick of Wichita, Kas.; Cessna plane; C. W. Mayse of Tucson, Ariz.; Waco plane; Francis Bowman of Wichita, Cessna plane; A. Lotzenberger, Pittsburgh; Cessna plane; and R. J. Merritt, Newcastle, Pa., Ryan plane.

The five signed a paper, passed around by Clyde Cessna designed of five planes in the race, under this statement: "I will not enter this race."
Ive McKinney of Perth Amboy, N. J., who also signed the paper, later withdrew his name when he learned all the pilots were not affixing their signatures.

Harry Booth, engineer of Roosevelt Field, and chairman of the technical committee, said after an examination that he was convinced the disputed planes were commercial craft.

The protesting pilots charged the six planes have less wing area than that used on commercial ships and have a racing wing curve.

Manhattan Short Of Screens

LIGHT SALES REPORTED ON LEAF MARKET

About Half Million Pounds on Floors Today; Sales to Finish at Noon.

The Greenville tobacco market yesterday averaged $13.32 per hundred pounds, according to information given out today by K. W. Cobb, secretary of the Tobacco Board of Trade.

The market sold a total of 608,956 pounds of bright leaf for $81,122.08.

There was about a half million pounds on the warehouse floors today, and indications pointed to completion of sales by the noon hour.

The average yesterday was the same as that of the opening day when approximately a million and a half pounds were offered for sale. Light sales today resulted from the almost incessant downpour of rain that has held sway in this community since Monday, and the normal flow of tobacco to market is not expected until the weather clears up.

The quality of the offerings yesterday was similar to that of the day before, consisting mainly of inferior grades. Much of the tobacco was damp and wet as result of hauling from a long distance through rain, and prices, therefore, were not considered near as good as they would have been had it been in good condition. Tobaccoists today were urging the farmers not to expose their tobacco to the rain any more than possible and to keep it in the best of condition prior to marketing. This, it was believed, will result in better appearance of the leaf when it has been placed on the warehouse floors, ready for inspection of the buyers.

Wilson Averages $13.04.

Wilson, N. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Sales on the local tobacco market fell below the half million mark yesterday and indications this morning were that today's sales would probably be even smaller. Official sales figures made public yesterday showed that 383,999 pounds of the golden weed was sold yesterday at an average price of $13.04 per hundredweight. Gross receipts amounted to $47,356.97.

Prices paid today were estimated to be about the same as those that prevailed yesterday and Tuesday. Slightly more than a quarter million pounds of tobacco were offered for sale today.

Heavy Rainfall Reported Today

Atlanta, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Heavy rains fell over the most of the East Gulf and all of the Atlantic States as far as New York, the United States Weather Bureau at Atlanta said today in its morning report.

Rainfall of 9.32 inches at Hattaras was reported by the bureau. Its announcement follows:

"The Gulf storm remains central off the West Coast of Florida and is accompanied by heavy rains over most of the East Gulf and all of the Atlantic States as far north as New York. Some of the heaviest rains in the past 24 hours were: Hattaras 9.32 inches; Wilmington 2.58; Pensacola 2.22; Augusta 1.36. Fair cool weather prevails almost everywhere else in the United States. Flood conditions are not at present indicated in the Flint and Chattahoochee, but the danger of floods is not past."

Woman Testifies In Mellus Case

Los Angeles, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Testimony that Mrs. Myrtle Mellus was subject to fainting spells while drinking intoxicants, today occupied a place in the defense of Leo P. Kelley, butcher boy, charged with her murder.

Mrs. Mae Switzer, wife of a wealthy Los Angeles merchant and friend of Mrs. Mellus and Kelley during their five years romance, yesterday declared as the first witness for the defense, that "many times" she had seen Mrs. Mellus fall in fainting spells, in the six months preceding her death.

"What was she doing at the time?" the witness was asked. "She was drinking," Mrs. Switzer replied.

Upon the testimony of Mrs. Switzer, defense attorneys said, they hoped to prove that Kelley did not kill Mrs. Mellus, but that she died of natural causes, complicated by injuries received in falls when she fainted.

FIND MILLION SHORTAGE IN CARNES CASE

Baptist Mission Board Announces Inability to Pay the Current Salaries.

Atlanta, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist convention today had announced itself unable to pay current salaries due to the discovery of a $1,000,000 shortage in accounts of Clinton S. Carnes, treasurer, who disappeared August 15.

Developments piled high yesterday as a special church committee headed by Dr. C. W. Daniel of Richmond, Va., dug deeper into the affairs of the board and Carnes, before taking temporary adjournment.

The committee was able to announce the approximate size of the shortage after it was found that Carnes kept a secret file in which were entered special loan transactions with more than 150 banks in the South, transactions which never came under the scrutiny of regular auditors or of the church.

First court action was announced when Walter R. Brown, Baptist layman and lawyer intervening as a church contributor, obtained a temporary injunction returnable September 29 against several possible sources of funds to rehabilitate the board.

Criminal court proceedings were indicated in the announced determination of Assistant Solicitor General Ed A. Stephens to begin grand jury proceedings against the mission treasurer as soon as practicable. He began conferences with the joint church committee for that purpose.

Meanwhile there was little to indicate what Carnes could have done with the money he allegedly obtained during the period of the accruing shortage, which was estimated to be several years, possibly eight. Nor was there any word of the missing treasurer, who vanished after telling his chauffeur he would not be at his home for dinner on August 15 because of a business trip to Raleigh, N. C. He was never seen at Raleigh, or elsewhere, so far as has been determined.

In a statement to "Southern Baptists on the disappearance of the treasurer of the Home Mission Board," the joint church committee gave its inference on the manner in which the $1,000,000 shortage occurred.

"It has been the custom of the Home Mission Board to give its treasurer authority to negotiate all needed loans for current operations upon his own and sole signature x x x. The vast funds which Mr. Carnes evidently applied to his own account were secured by the sale of notes of the Home Mission Board which he himself had executed and placed wherever he could find a market for them. None of this character of paper was placed with the Atlanta banks. All the resources of the board have been jeopardized by Mr. Carnes' transactions."

Recalling that Carnes had served two terms in prison (one in Missouri and one in Atlanta for fraud), the statement explained that the apparently uncanly ability of the missing treasurer as a bookkeeper, which enabled him to cover up a $1,000,000 shortage, also got his first position as a clerk with the Mission Board.

"He made good in that capacity," the statement continued, "and nine years ago when a vacancy occurred in the office of treasurer and he was elevated to that position.

The auditors yesterday discovered a private file in a downtown office of Carnes giving the extent of the secret loans made in the name of the board. He dealt with more than 150 banks in the south.

Samuel Carnes, the elder son, who holds Carnes' power of attorney, issued this statement:

"Mother, Robert and I are astounded at the statement appearing in the papers yesterday. x x x If the completed audit of the board shows my father did not account rectly, in whose company he has been frequently. He did say, however, that he probably would leave here the first of the week to go to Hartford, Conn., to meet Miss Trumbull on her return from a European vacation.

Salisbury, Sept. 6.—(AP)—John I. Boyd superintendent of the Salisbury district for the Life Insurance Company of Virginia, shot himself through the head about 4:30 today and died an hour later in a local hospital. After securing a permit to purchase a pistol he is said to have gone direct to the Wachovia building, in which the offices were located, and after shutting himself in a washroom across the hall from his offices, he fired a bullet into his head. He is survived by a wife and two children.

NERVOUS HEADACHE

Kentuckian Tells How Taking Black-Draught Relieved His Pains and How Well He Feels Now.

Waynesburg, Ky.—How a few doses of Theodor's Black-Draught brought relief to a man who had been suffering from frequent spells of severe headache, is told below in the statement of Mr. Charles F. Todd, of Estesburg, near this place.

"I was suffering with nervous headaches. About once a week I would have these headaches, and have to quit work, and go to bed for about twenty-four hours. I would have pains in my neck, and right behind my right ear.

"A merchant at Estesburg saw me one day when I was suffering, and told me to try taking Black-Draught, which I did.

"I took a package home that night, and took a few doses. It relieved me. From that time on, I would take Black-Draught as soon as I felt like I was going to have one of those headaches—and they wouldn't come on.

"Every few weeks, I take three or four doses of Black-Draught, and I feel so well, and do my work, and don't lose any more time with headache.

John Coolidge Jobless Today

Northampton, Mass., Sept. 6.—(AP)—John Coolidge is unengaged and jobless.

Here to visit his grandmother, Mrs. Emma Goodhue, he made both of those points clear in an interview after coming from Brule, Wis., where he spent a vacation with his parents.

He arrived by way of New York City, where yesterday he talked with W. A. Nay, treasurer of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad while awaiting train connections for this city.

Frequent reports have attributed to him a desire to enter railroading while others, equally unconfirmed by either John or President Coolidge, have represented him as seeking an opening in the radio business.

"I really don't know what I would like to do," he said here, adding he had not definitely decided what line of work to pursue.

In the same conversation he took occasion to deny that he was betrothed to Florence Trumbull, daughter of the governor of Con-

SLOW-EVEN-LONG Tread Wear

MORE MILEAGE IN THIS SUPER TIRE

Most balloon tires develop certain peculiarities in tread wear. They do not wear down evenly in the center of the tread but rather at two points near the shoulder. They are subject to "cupping" and uneven wear. And this is because Balloon Tires not only have a forward wearing motion but a side-wise "scuffing" wear as well.

In Goodyear's All-Weather Balloon ALL these faults have been overcome. Its new design reduces side-wise "scuffing" to a negligible minimum. Then two sturdy service ribs fortify this tire at points of greatest wear. Its tread wears slowly, evenly—far longer than old style balloon treads.

Let us explain this tread to you. Stop in today! They cost no more.

Will Moore Becomes A Member of the Big Joyner Organization

It will no doubt be of interest to the tobacco growers of Pitt county and Eastern Carolina to learn that Mr. Will Moore will be associated with the New Joyner Warehouse during the 1928-29 season.

Mr. Moore, for the past three years, has been active assistant sales manager at Gorman's Warehouse. He is an experienced tobacco man and knows the warehouse business from top to bottom having had thirteen years' experience. He will be active in the new Joyner sales force.

Mr. Moore has recently returned from Metter, Georgia, where he operated a warehouse on that market this season. Mr. Moore's addition to the new Joyner organization completes one of the strongest warehouse organizations to be found in eastern Carolina.

TO DISCUSS PROTECTION OF FORESTS

Public Meeting to Be Held at Evans Street School Tonight at 8 O'clock.

A public meeting will be held at the Evans street school tonight at eight o'clock to discuss the progress that has been made in the protection of forests and game in North Carolina.

The meeting will be conducted by E. M. Eustler, forester in charge of Fourth District, with other members of the State Conservation Department, assisting with short talks describing the work now under way for preservation of North Carolina forests and the safeguarding of the rapidly diminishing game supply.

After talks have been made by the district chief warden, Judge F. M. Wooten, and others, the meeting will be turned into an open conference for discussion of forest protection, together with allied protection of game in this country.

Moving pictures graphically delineating the ravages wrought by forest fires, and the results of adequate protection, will be shown during the evening.

The movement to organize this county against annual loss by fire has gained considerable scope the last month or so under direction of the district forester, and the meeting tonight is an effort to show the public what has been accomplished and the need of continued protection.

S. I. Dudley, a former sheriff, now a prominent planter of Pitt county, was recently appointed Forest Warden of this county. Organization of wardens is already under way and the outlook for the future is very promising. Mr. Eustler told local citizens today.

All persons interested in forest fire and game protection are urged to attend the meeting tonight and in that way lend their support to the movement having this as its objective.

OPEN FORUM

Mr. Editor: Greenville's slogan is catchy, significant and winning, "Our Greenville, Yours if You Come." I have come. I am here. IT IS MY GREENVILLE.

I have a daughter, three grandchildren and a number of warm friends in the town. I am, therefore, deeply interested in everything that tends to arouse and quicken its moral and spiritual life, push forward its educational development, elevate and refine its society, improve its sanitation and health. Contribute to its financial and business interests and last, but not least, add to its attractiveness and beauty.

As to beauty, may I say just here that I am delighted to see the ugly, gapping scars which marred the comeliness of our streets, have been skillfully and beautifully healed.

No more than fifteen days ago I counted on Fifth street, from Dr. Skinner's residence to Washington street, no less than 37 of these ugly scars.

Granted that the company that made the scars had a perfect right to do so in order to remedy the defects of their plant, it did not have the right to leave them open indefinitely.

If an innate sense of justice caused the company to do this healing job, I make it a profound bow to our street commissioner who demanded the improvement. I throw up my hat and shout: Bravo!

Count on me to help in any movement that will benefit Greenville. W. M. HINTON.

Guiding Your Child CLEAR COMMANDS. (By Mrs. Agnes Lyne.) Obedience so much desired by parents and so necessary in the proper development of the child can be obtained only if the commands given are quite simple and are clearly understood.

When Joseph is told vaguely not to go "over there," he and his mother may have entirely different ideas of what constitutes "over there." What looks like deliberate disobedience is just the result of misunderstanding. It would be better if mother would show Joseph exactly what she means by pointing out that the garden hedge on one side and the sidewalk on the other mark the limits of his playground.

Three year old Mary Alice was ordered all at once to take her fingers out of her mouth, pick up her toys and come indoors. She responded by simply coming in.

doors. The last command was all her little mind had been able to register. Young children can not be expected to remember more than one thing at a time.

Frank, busy loading stones on his wagon, scarcely hears his mother calling through the kitchen window. He is so deeply absorbed that his mother's voice but dimly reaches his ears. He does not deserve the punishment when ten minutes later his mother finds his hands are not washed and he is not ready for dinner. Dinner would not have been spoiled, if his mother, instead of shouting through the window, had taken a moment to run out and speak directly to Frank, had seen to it that he stopped his play, and had started him off in the direction of the wash basin.

Obedience is not natural like love or hunger. It requires thoughtful and painstaking training to establish habits of obedient response. The child must hear the command in must understand what is expected. He must be asked to do just one thing at a time.

Greensboro Man Heads Democratic Funds Committee. Greensboro, Sept. 6.—(AP)—E. S. Parker, Jr., Greensboro attorney and for many years a leader in the Democratic party in North Carolina has been appointed state director of finance in North Carolina for the purpose of raising funds in this state for the Democratic national committee expenses. It was announced here today.

The Greensboro attorney was notified of his appointment by Herbert H. Lehman, director of finance for the Democratic national committee. Mr. Parker said he had accepted the appointment and would appoint a committee to serve with him within a few days.

"On account of the fight that is being waged on Governor Smith in this state expenses on behalf of the national ticket in North Carolina will be higher than usual," Mr. Parker said.

He declared it would be necessary to do a great deal of work in North Carolina to combat the "whispering campaign" which he said is being directed at Governor Smith and "to let the people of the state know the whole truth."

POLAND TO INCREASE TOBACCO ACREAGE. Warsaw, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Official statistics show that Poland has made plans for a substantial increase in her tobacco crop.

During the past year the country has used about 43,000,000 pounds of raw tobacco. Included in this amount is the total domestic crop amounting to more than 2,000,000 pounds. It is hoped to increase domestic production the coming year to 16,000 pounds.

French Baker Wins Out At Toronto Swim

Toronto, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Just what sort of money prize would be paid to Georges Michel, of France, for his effort in the Wrigley Marathon of fifteen miles was the question uppermost in the minds of swimming devotees and officials here today. The Parisian baker, conqueror of the English Channel and second place man in the second annual 21 mile marathon here last year, was in excellent condition and spirits after having been forced out of the race by the chill of Lake Ontario late last evening.

Michel, when hauled from the water was the sole survivor among the 199 starters, and had covered twelve and one quarter miles in the rather laborious time of eleven hours and twelve minutes.

Ernest Vierkoetter, German channel victor and champion of the Wrigley Marathon here last year, covered some twelve miles when taken from the water semi-conscious at 6:42 p. m.

Shortly prior to this, Roland H. Tegtmeyer of Seattle, had given up the ghost, and shortly afterward

Louis I. Mathias of Long Island, N. Y., followed, leaving Michel alone in the icy lake with evening shadows falling.

All three were in bad shape when removed from the water, but all responded to stimulants administered at the hospital improvised in the Canadian National yacht club near the course.

Over $312,216 Spent In The Hoover Fight

Washington, Sept. 6.—(AP)—At the end of August a total of $312,216 had been expended in the advancement of the Hoover Presidential campaign, with more than double that amount—$658,418—received in contributions.

These figures were made public late yesterday by J. R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican National committee. In the month of August, his report showed, $560,039 was received from 1,539 contributors, while $263,899 was disbursed.

During the month, contributions of $25,000 each were received from nine donors, including Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the General Motors corporation and W. C. Durant, president of Durant Motors, Inc. In addition, it was announced that on September 1st, an equal sum was received from a third influential figure in the manufacture of automobiles—Walter Chrysler. This, however, was not listed in the report.

GERMANY WARNS ALLIED TROOPS TO QUIT RHINELAND. Geneva, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Presentation of a memorandum by Germany to representatives of the Allied Powers was deemed today to be the next step likely to be taken by the Germans in connection with their desire to get the Allied troops out of the Rhineland.

This would officially inaugurate negotiations and afford a basis for a conference between delegates of Germany, France, Great Britain, Belgium and Italy.

Commercialization of the Dawes Plan Germany railway bonds or industrial bonds, or both, was mentioned as a matter possibly up for study in connection with the evacuation negotiations. Silence was maintained as to whether an effort would be made to link the Rhineland question with the question of debts due the United States by the Allies.

IT IS THE FARMERS' FIRST MOVE

In the face of low tobacco prices farmers are being urged to withhold from the market those low grades that will not bring more than three cents a pound and use same on their lands as fertilizer, and such a move we believe would work to the farmers' interest. At prices that tobacco is now bringing the farmers cannot hope to come out unless they make an effort to help themselves and this we believe, they can do by holding a portion of their crop off the market.

Of course, the farmer, when he planted his crop and when he gathered it from the field could not tell which would be the three cents grade and which would bring more, but now that he has his crop in, he certainly should be able to tell what is what, and it is utterly foolish for him to endeavor to market the one, two or three cents kind. It is said to cost the farmers two cents to grade and tie tobacco and a cent to get it to the market, and when it only sells for three cents the farmer is the loser to the extent of his trouble and the value that the tobacco would be to him placed on his land as fertilizer. Not only is the farmer losing this, but he is losing on the balance of his crop by making available to the manufacturing concerns a lot of low priced tobacco that will be used in place of a higher priced tobacco, which of course, has a tendency to lower the demand for and prices on the latter.

We all agree that the growers are not getting what they should for their tobacco, but a lot of talking about the poor farmer will not get us anywhere. In order to better the situation it is up to the farmer to make the first move, for it is in his hands that matters rest at present. If they persist in marketing the lower grades at a loss and by so doing likewise cut the price on the better grades, then there is no way out of the dilemma. If, however, they will unconditionally set out to carry out the above plan of not marketing the low grades which will shorten the crop, it is estimated by about 40,000,000 pounds, there is bound to be a greater demand for what is offered for sale and higher prices no doubt will be the result.

THERE STANDS A MAN!

One may agree with Alfred E. Smith in whole, or a little, or in nothing. But there stands a man! A man unflinchingly bold and candid. No pussyfooted he, no timid time-server. He does not hesitate to say what he believes, or fear to fight for it. He is not out to win an election by offending none and currying favor with all. He is out to champion his convictions, and to stand or fall with them. It is this quality that makes him the Happy Warrior he is. He does not fear his fate too much. He dares to put it to the touch, to gain or lose it all. And so he goes into battle, rejoicing, self-reliant, banners flying, a song in his heart.

That is one thing to entitle the democratic hosts to take pride in their leader. Another thing is his simple and fundamental democracy. "The people as the source and their interests and desires as the text of laws and institutions." "Government should be progressive, not reactionary." A sharp challenge to "the theory of benevolent oligarchy." "Let me warn the forces of corruption and favoritism; that democratic victory means that they will be relegated to the rear and the front seats will be occupied by the friends of equal opportunity." "The fearless application of Jeffersonian principles." "To assure to each state its complete right of local self-government." It is such phrases that reflect the soul of the man and reveal his philosophy of government. But it is not the phrases alone, it is the whole texture of the address, that stamps Alfred E. Smith a real democrat, worthy to carry forward the traditions and ideals that inspired Jefferson and Jackson and Wilson. — Omaha Morning World-Herald.

ABOUT TOWN

Numbers of youngsters of Greenville high school went out today for first football practice of the season. C. W. Porter, director of high school athletics, said:

"With considerable material to choose from, it is believable we will have even a stronger machine than last year when we went to Chapel Hill to play in the state championship finals. Numbers of second string 'men of last year' team are offering keen competition for positions on the first team and the race for honor is going to be quite lively."

"It is hoped that Greenville people will attend the games freely this season and in this way let the boys know they have their support in attempting to establish a record in this branch of athletics."

"Avoid bringing damp tobacco to market this season," is the advice being broadcasted by members of the Greenville tobacco market.

"Damp or wet tobacco is difficult to handle and by the time the buyers reach it the quality has been greatly impaired."

"To obtain best prices it is necessary for the grower to safeguard himself against anything tending to decrease demand for his offering, and there is nothing right at this moment proving a greater disadvantage than the cause just mentioned."

"See that your crop is perfectly dry when you offer it for sale, and rest assured of receiving the top of the market."

"Shop in Greenville, the shopping center of Eastern Carolina," is the advice offered by members of the Greenville Merchants Association, who for the past few months have been endeavoring to impress upon the buying public the importance of this city as the principal trade center of this section.

"Shelves of all stores in the city are filled with latest and most seasonable merchandise, representing the latest styles from the greatest fashion places of the country. Prices are in keeping with the quality, and in many instances much below those charged in other cities where expensive buildings and salesmen make it necessary for the merchants to demand higher prices."

"If you haven't purchased your fall and winter clothes come to Greenville and see what our merchants have to offer. You will not be disappointed in the slightest sense of the word."

"If you are sick don't go to a veterinary surgeon to relieve your pain. Just because he is a doctor is no reason why he should be able to handle your case."

"This applies to the daily newspaper also. If you desire to subscribe to a good paper, don't go to one with limited news services. Try the Reflector. We have a full Associated Press leased wire news service that keeps us informed of happenings of the world eight hours every day."

"Join our happy family of readers—one of the biggest families in this part of the country, and rest assured of keeping yourself well informed on all matters of public interest."

"Marrying ain't what it used to be," declared a member of the office of the register of deeds of Pitt county, using a slang expression to connote us of the slump in the marriage license market.

"However," he continued, "we believe there will be a distinct revival of business as soon as the weather turns cooler and young hearts turn to thoughts of love."

"Last year we established something of a record during the months of October, November and December, especially the latter month when it seemed everything marriageable in the county endeavored to enter the broad but treacherous field of matrimony."

"If this coming December should result in such an unusual demand, we may have to put on extra help to handle the extra business supplied by that inimitable god of the love kingdom, young Dan Cupid."

"If you are dissatisfied of things in the town you are living, why not pack up your kit bag and hit a bee line for Greenville, the second largest bright leaf tobacco market in the state and the shopping center of Eastern Carolina", one of the city's boosters told a visitor here the first of the week.

"We have been growing rapidly the last five years and have plenty more space for expansion. Therefore, if you desire to move to a good town that offers limitless opportunities to the home-seeker and investor, come on down here and settle for good."

"The latchstring, according to Mayor Con Lanier, hangs on the outside all of the time, and anybody can come in any time, providing they are willing to obey our laws and live like law-abiding, God-fearing people ought to live."

FIRST GRID WORK BEGINS HERE TODAY

Unless Jupiter Pluvius, mythical ruler of nature's sluice gates, continues to deluge mother earth as he has done for the last three days, several huskies of last season's football team of the Greenville high school will go out to the fair grounds this afternoon for their first training of the season.

The annual trek to the grid is the result of an insistent call issued yesterday by C. W. Porter, director of athletics of the Greenville high school, and indications this morning were that quite a number would respond to the call.

Coach Porter appeared rather sanguine for success of football in his first utterance of the season yesterday. He intimated that he expected to put out an even more formidable machine than last season.

This prediction created quite a stir in sport circles, and especially among those who remembered the exceptionally brilliant showing which the locals made in the semifinals at Chapel Hill. Although they were not able to remain in the championship race for any length of time, the taste was sufficiently tantalizing to send them back home with a firm determination to make the "Hill" again this season for a longer stay.

While only a few members of last season's team will be seen in action this year, Mr. Porter expressed opinion that he had a wide range of material from which to choose. Numbers of second string men of last season's organization are believed to be in condition to fill the vacant position on the first team with honor to themselves and the school they represent.

It is difficult to reach any conclusions as to the comparative weight of the boys to form the lineup this season, but it is believed they will stack up quite favorably against anything that has been produced on the local gridiron in years. The coach, however, is not depending so much upon weight as speed, this last requisite being one of the essential elements in a well balanced organization.

All high school students having a desire to train this season, are urged to turn out and get busy. The field is open to all, and while competition is expected to be unusually stiff, there is no reason in the world why every player should not take the field and match his strength and ability against that of others.

Mr. Porter urged the public to turn out and watch the boys in preliminary skirmishes at the fair ground and in that way gain a definite idea of what may be expected of them this season. With proper attendance, the coach feels confident of giving the city one of the best balanced organizations in history. But this can not be done without moral support of the public, therefore, the insistence of the demand for large crowds at all of the games.

NIGHT GAME OPENS FOOTBALL SEASON

When Auburn and Birmingham-Southern open the collegiate football season at Monticello, September 28, the South will enjoy its first night gridiron game of the season. A canopy of light is cast by a battery of 30 bulbs of 1,000 watts each lights Cranton bowl, municipally owned.

HOT TIMES ON BIG CIRCUITS FROM NOW ON

(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 6.—(AP)—In a setting of world's series proportions at the Yankee Stadium, the entire population of Professor McMillan and the somewhat froggy manager of Colonel Report start a two-game series on Sunday. They have a decisive finale in the American League pennant race.

For the first time since the Yankees staged four in 1926, the best of Cleveland, this series between the world's champion New Yorkers and the Athletics shifts the major league spotlight from the Chicago of the National League's struggle to the main battle in the major circuit.

Of the series' performances, and the former's demonstrated ability of the Yankees to come through against their chief rival, especially the Athletics, the clan led by Babe Ruth figures to win 10 of the 16 games they have played this season, the Yankees have won 10. But in the strength of comparative performances within the past two months and what baseball experts figure as the game's last of averages, the Macken bunch to gain the upper hand. The Athletics have a big ace in pitching.

The race for the betting championship, if the two big leagues are just about as hot as the pennant struggles, Larryin Lou Gehrig and Goose Goslin are led in the American by batting ace while Roger Hornsby, 6-time former champion, attempting a comeback, is having a dramatic flurrie with Paul Warner, the sensational young Philadelphia outfielder and 1927 champion.

Gehrig hasn't quite matched his best home run pace but his all-around play has improved and his hitting has been more consistent. Warner's all-around work has been even more remarkable.

There will be a new American league batting king, whether or not it happens to be Gehrig or Goslin or some other contender, but this is to be expected. Harry Hedman, the Legion Veteran who led the circuit last season, cannot overcome the top in 1927, 1928, 1929 and 1930, but dropped off in between times. This year no exception. He apparently is lining up ammunition to keep his record in 1929.

Young Stribling To Fight Squires In N. Y. Tonight

New York, Sept. 6.—(AP)—William Lawrence Stribling of Macon, Ga., the slayer of a hundred knuck-out, Delta Johnny Squires of South Africa in Madison Square Garden tonight.

To Richard considers this 10-round bout as one of his heaviest eliminations and promises a much better performance by Stribling than the Georgian is accustomed to delivering in the metropolitan district. The southern lightweight has been unfortunate in the past in choosing himself as his worst in front of his biggest crowd in New York.

The stock of 12,500 Italian heavyweight prospect of Humbert Fogarty, was a low mark today following his failure to stop the veteran King Solomon in the past bout at Ely's Field last night before a small circle of spectators. The Italian giant was the favorite by a wide margin, but seemed changed in demeanor.

FED SOX ATHLETICS
GAME POSTPONED
Boston, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Both games of today's double header between the Athletics and Red Sox were postponed because of rain. Attempts to clear one game with a delayed start. Double of our own postponed tomorrow and later.

ATHLETICS IN NEED OF MORE GAMES TODAY

(By Associated Press)

The Athletics, it seems stand in imminent need of ball games, even though the obliging Yanks did what they could to help by dividing a pair with the Senators at the Ruppert stadium yesterday. If the champions win two of their remaining three with Washington, which seems reasonable, the Mackmen cannot invade the stadium on Sunday in first place even by taking their five at Boston. Such a turn of events would send the contenders into their big series in a virtual tie, with the Yankees holding a percentage advantage.

If Messrs. Hadley and Braxton should turn out to be as tough as they look, the Macks could gain first place unchallenged on five straight over the Red Sox, and could enter a virtual tie in four out of five—a more legitimate Philadelphia expectancy.

Sad Sam Jones, who takes every opportunity to demonstrate that Miller Huggins erred in trading him down the river, held the Yanks to six hits and one run in the opening clash yesterday while his mates fell upon George Pipiras for enough runs in the seventh to give Sam a neat victory by 3 to 1. Burke and the elongated Weaver were nowhere nearly so effective in the second skirmish, and Fred Helmach registered an 8 to 3 win.

In a battle in the lower depths, the Tigers turned on the White Sox to win 10 to 2. Other clubs in the American League were not scheduled yesterday.

The Giants cleaned up their 1928 affairs with the Phillies by winning a 14 to 3 decision for Larry Benton at the Baker bowl, his 23rd of the season.

The only other activity in the National League yesterday was at Boston where the down-trodden Braves turned to slap the Robins by 9 to 2 and 7 to 1.

The Cubs and the Cardinals failed to return to Wrigley field yesterday to play off their postponement of August 30, but a plan is on foot to bring the Red Birds into the Windy City on the morning of September 13, when both have an open date.

Dayton, O.—Joe Anderson, Conauston, Ky., knocked out Tom King, Australia, 12.

"From now on—Chesterfield!"

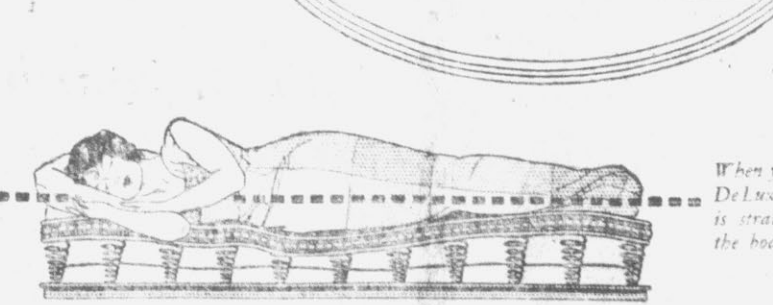

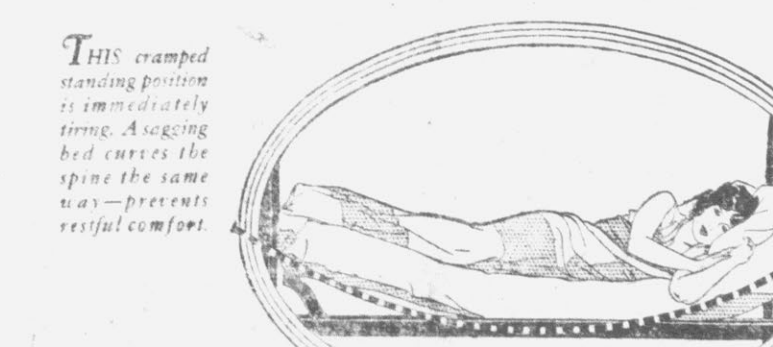

Mild enough for anybody . . . and yet they Satisfy*

* A PLAIN, unvarnished statement of fact: "Mild enough for anybody and yet they satisfy". If you will light a Chesterfield and smoke it critically you will find no hint of harshness, but a certain mildness, with a rich, wholesome flavor. Chesterfields satisfy without being harsh. They're mild without being insipid or tasteless.

Standing like this tires you quickly yet thousands sleep this same unnatural way!

THIS cramped standing position is immediately tiring. As snug bed curves the spine the same way—prevents restful comfort.

When you sleep on a Rome DeLuxe bedspring the spine is straight and natural; the body is fully relaxed.

MOST people sleep with the spine curved, never realizing the harmful results of the unnatural position they have become accustomed to. This strained position is impossible when you sleep on a DeLuxe spring. Every coil in a DeLuxe moves independently of all other coils, yielding to the pressure of hips and shoulders yet rising to relieve all strain on the vital organs between. The spine lies naturally, straight and free from strain. Nerves and muscles are fully relaxed . . . refreshing sleep comes quickly. Enjoy this new deep sleep right now. We will gladly bring a Rome DeLuxe bedspring to your home for a trial. Phone us today for details, and let us give you a copy of Dr. Royal S. See this special ESSEX chassis display and the costly car way it is built

The most important part of your car—is the part you never see! But now we are especially displaying an Essex chassis to show the costly, fine-quality way it is built.

If you could place it—first, beside a $3,000 make of chassis—and then beside a chassis in the Essex price range—you would have dramatic, visual proof of the fine-car Essex construction, as distinguished from the practice of cars in its price field.

You would find the same steering wheel of hard rubber and steel core in Essex and the $3,000 car. You would find the same Timken tapered wheel bearings, the same roller tappet bearings, the same use of five cross members in the rigid frame. Cars of Essex price class usually economize with mushroom tappet bearings, ordinary roller bearings in the wheels, and three cross members in the frame.

Aside from such self-evident superiorities as its brilliant performance, beauty and quality that you can see and feel in the very upholstery, the wheel you handle and the hardware you touch—please compare with any car—the advantages we have itemized here because they speak for the complete quality way in which the new Essex Super-Six is built—things seen or unseen.

SMITH STILL SILENT ABOUT HIS CAMPAIGN

Democratic Presidential Nominee All Set for Campaign Talks, Though.

Albany, Sept. 6—(AP)—Governor Smith will start his Presidential campaign in the West, the week of September 16th, with three speeches in Nebraska, Oklahoma and Colorado. The first speech will be at Omaha, September 18th, the second at Oklahoma City, September 20th, and the third at Denver, September 22.

The itinerary for the first week of his tour was announced today by the Democratic nominee himself. All of his speeches will be at night, he said.

The Governor will remain away from New York State the week beginning September 23, but he was not prepared today to say where the schedule would take him in that period. Neither would he indicate whether he would go to the Pacific Coast or the South before he returned to Albany.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 6—(AP)—As the time draws near for public announcement of his speaking intentions in the Presidential campaign, Governor Smith continues to maintain an almost complete silence as to the national party affairs while he goes about minding New York State's business, at the capital.

He is not even holding any important conferences such as usually mark the pre-stumping periods of presidential candidates, and to all outward appearances, from a national standpoint he is just watchfully waiting the hour of his departure for the first real speech-making trip of his campaign.

Now and then the Democratic nominee received a caller who has a report on prospects on Democratic success in such and such a state or district, but he is depending almost exclusively on the mails and the telephone for confidential information on the progress of the party organization throughout the country and other details of the whole political picture.

Visitors continue to flock daily in and out of the huge red carpeted reception room at the capitol next to the governor's private office, but almost without exception, they are sightseers. They came in almost the same numbers before

Governor Smith was nominated for the Presidency. Once in a while, however, one or two will win over the office assistants for an introduction to the nominee and a simultaneous wish of success in November. Some bring gifts, with which his desk is cluttered.

New York—Sights of the city that aren't in the guidebooks; or why messenger boys make haste so slowly.

A white rat capping on an automobile hood, attracting a crowd to the car a motorist wants to sell. French sailors, several of them negroes, roasting up Fifth avenue on shore leave from the liner they brought from Havre when the crew truck Rock drilled deepening the excavation for a new Broadway skyscraper; beside the half-block-square hole some wag has scrawled: "A Scotchman lost a dime here."

Chorus girls taking the air between acts on a theater fire escape above Forty-second street. Other chorus girls hurrying from rehearsals to their rooming houses across Broadway, their legs bare and with loose wraps cloaking the bathing suits or gingham rompers in which they drilled.

Policeman driving up the street an itinerant vendor of dancing paper dolls, and tearing to shreds the puppets in a carton the fugitive has left behind. A negro youngster in a pea-green silk shirt, Charlestoning for pennies and nickels at a Seventh avenue corner. Two motorists coming to blows over simultaneous efforts to occupy a parking place.

Alouf Chauffeur.

An impeccably tailored foreign visitor strolling on Park avenue, and carrying an elephant trainer's hook for a walking stick. Workmen sanding the exterior of the Ritz-Carlton to restore its limestone to pristine whiteness. Every stroller who stops to look remains to wipe the powdered stone out of his eyes.

The patriarch on eight-foot stilts, concealed by striped canvas trousers, passing out cards of a new beauty shop. Chauffeur at wheel of a massive imported car, sitting granite-like in pretended unawareness of a crowd clustered around the glittering hood and the long grey body. A new electric shoe shiner with whirling brushes, which keeps a thorough all day long at the Seventh avenue window it occupies.

The maid in a Sixth avenue store window who waves a wand over her head with real acrobatic finesse to lure wanderers to her demonstration of an easy chair which turns into a double bed. Show girls knotted about a stage door west of Broadway, where a director will presently discover whether any of them are suitable clothes horses for his budding revue. A truck-load of hogs squealing across town on Forty-sixth street.

More Bright Lights

Urchins, stripped to the waist, romping in a hydrant shower near Tenth avenue, most of them with little cloth bags of asfetoida tied about their necks to keep them healthy. Boy bootblacks soliciting trade in Bryant park, each hoping that some day he will have the shoe-shining concession for a whole skyscraper all to himself.

Workmen assembling a new bulb-studded electric sign above Broadway. Wasn't it Gilbert K. Chesterton who, viewing Times square at night for the first time, said: "What a magnificent spectacle—for a man who couldn't read!"

STEALS CAR AND IS CAPTURED LITTLE LATER

Durham, N. C., Sept. 6—(AP)—Giving a pedestrian a lift in his motor car came near being a costly experience last night for Loy Andrews, radio man of the U. S. Camden.

After riding from Philadelphia in the car, a man giving his name as John G. Gates, of Graham, N. C., is said to have forced Andrews to give up the car on a rain-soaked highway detour, the victim reported to police. Before leaving he robbed the navy man's pockets and insisted that the baggage remain in the vehicle. Andrews succeeded in flagging down a bus some time afterwards.

Durham police were notified to be on the watch out. Shortly afterwards Gates was taken into custody as he entered this city.

Andrews was enroute to Charleston, S. C., where he expected to visit his family. Gates declared that until recently he was a member of the Goldsboro club of the Eastern Carolina League.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 6—(AP)—The New Jersey State Federation of Labor today had on record a resolution condemning the Eighteenth Amendment and pledging support in the next election to any candidate who favors its modification.

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Washington—With General Lord back from Wisconsin armed with presidential authority to trim budget estimates for next year to the agreed point, departmental heads are groaning over the bad news contained for them in the "limiting figures" within which they must hold their requests for appropriations and which have been dealt out all around by the budget director.

That is the secondary stage of budget making and the job of harmonizing—if possible—the demands of all the conflicting intra-departmental interests is always a vexing one. Somebody has to be cut down and every sub-chief has ample argument to advance as to why it should be somebody else.

Army Pinched

The war department, as usual, is a particular sufferer. It is still, so far as known, in the process of absorbing the increasing man power and costs of the aviation expansion program voted by congress without material increase in its general appropriation limits or its aggregate strength.

The trouble has been not so much with the cost of new planes, more or less specific provision having been made by law for that, as with the increase in air corps personnel and in the auxiliary services necessary in connection with that man-power increase.

It is always a deep, dark secret as to just what has been or is going to be done on budget matters at this stage of proceedings. Army and navy officers and officials are held to a rigid accounting if details leak out, as they frequently do. They have been the object of special White House and budget office suspicions of propaganda nearly every year. The average officer who might know runs for shelter if a newspaper inquirer gets curious about budget matters.

Chief's Reaction

When General Sumnerall came in as army chief of staff, Secretary Davis derived a good deal of amusement from watching his first reaction to the budget problem. The general is most emphatically one of those who hold that aviation is only an essential auxiliary arm of the army establishment and oppose vigorously every suggestion for a separate air force.

Sumnerall faced the necessity, however, of passing, as chief military adviser, on budgetary questions which involved heavy inroads on quartermaster, ordinance, transportation, medical and other auxiliary service funds to meet growing air corps demands. Every other combat branch had to suffer proportionate cuts and the secretary presently noticed among his military advisers a vague feeling that it might be just as well if aviation were entirely separated from the army. Not that they had changed their views as to the military wisdom of that course in the least, but only that they felt the rest of the army was being bled white on appropriations by these indirect air corps costs.

The annual air corps strength increase for each of the five years is 40 officers and 1,248 men. Unless the budget has otherwise decreed for next year, that increase will be provided within the aggregate strength of 12,000 officers and 118,000 men, which means that other combat units must shrink accordingly. Probably additional infantry or other ground troop organizations will have to be taken off the active list entirely.

VIOLENT STORMS ARE REPORTED ON BALTIC

Warsaw, Sept. 6—(AP)—Violent storms were reported today in dispatches from towns along the Baltic Sea. Fishermen suffered heavy losses with many boats sunk and nets destroyed.

A large part of the logs, however, has been recovered by the safe of amber washed up by the heavy sea.

Monroe, N. C., Sept. 6—(AP)—Caught in an eddy while swimming Lake Lee yesterday afternoon, Curtis Lee, superintendent of the Monroe water and lights department, was drowned. He was on a pleasure outing with several friends.

HER face was deathly white. Her heart seemed to stop beating—as she stared in horrified unbelief at the letter clutched in her trembling hand.

A letter to Dave, her husband—from a strange woman—asking for money! It was preposterous. Unthinkable. Oh, it couldn't—couldn't be true!

And yet—who was this woman? Why had she written Dave this letter? Was there, after all, some romantic episode in her husband's life that he had kept hidden from her?

And now, this—this letter—after ten years of perfect comradeship and devotion! Her happiness threatened. Her love, life tottering on the brink of ruin. Dave, the man she had idolized, had trusted implicitly, the father of her children—Surely there had been some terrible mistake. Surely Dave could explain.

But that night, when she quietly handed him the letter, Dave stood with bowed head, in stony silence—his face a mask, to hide—what?

Torn between love and suspicion, between hope and despair, between faith and disillusionment, she searched her breaking heart in a piteous attempt to learn what she had done to deserve this crucifixion.

All she had loved and lived for seemed to lie in crumbling ruins at her feet. God knew she loved Dave—still loved him, no matter what he had done. And yet—

MR. COOLIDGE PREPARES FOR RETURN HOME

Packing Begins at the Summer White House Preparatory to Return to Washington.

Superior, Wis., Sept. 6—(AP)—Packing took hold of the summer White House in earnest today.

With President Coolidge's return to Washington only a few days off, the time had come today for almost last minute preparations. Most of the household linen was placed away in trunks and boxes while the chief executive's bulkier personal effects, such as books and papers, were also packed.

Leaving such preparations to Mrs. Coolidge and the White House attendants, President Coolidge tried to make the most of his last chances for an open air life before returning to the capital. Stating that his fishing rod would be the last thing to be packed, he had arranged last night to fish as usual this morning in one of the private lakes on the Cedar Island estate.

The chief executive found time, however, to study the vote the Wisconsin State and National primaries, held Tuesday.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge continued expressing solicitude today for George Harris, motorcycle policeman, who suffered a fractured elbow yesterday while leading the chief executive's car to the tri-state fair.

Harris collided with an automobile. He received a visit from Mr. Coolidge at the hospital yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were represented as very pleased with the fair which they attended here yesterday. Although paying great attention to the livestock and vegetable exhibits, which they described as remarkable, President and Famous Watch Maker Is Dead At Denver, Col.

Denver, Col., Sept. 6—(AP)—Robert H. Ingersoll, Michigan farmer boy whose vision of a "dollar watch" resulted in the production of 75,000,000 of them, is dead.

The 69-year-old watchmaker died at a sanitarium here Tuesday of Bright's disease. News of his death was withheld until yesterday.

Ingersoll and his brother, Chas. Ingersoll, went from a Michigan farm to New York and in 1892 founded the watch making plant that made them famous.

About seven years ago, the brothers lost control of their plant when competition and unfortunate investments forced them into bankruptcy. At the time they had established at Waterbury, Conn., and Trenton, N. J. After the bankruptcy all assets of the Ingersoll company were purchased by the Waterbury clock company, which now manufactures the low priced pocket timepieces.

In 1926 Mrs. Robert Ingersoll, the watchmaker's wife, committed suicide shortly after she had shot and seriously wounded Wallace G. Probasco, son-in-law of Robert G. Ingersoll, the agriculturist. The families were in no way related.

Ingersoll's body will be removed to New York for burial.

He is survived by his brother, Charles, who lives in New York, and another brother, Arthur, of Mahwood, N. J.

CHARLOTTE MAN HURT AS TRAIN HITS CAR

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 6—(AP)—Struck by an engine of Southern Railway Train No. 11, at the Liddell Street crossing and his machine dragged for nearly a block, H. E. Hibbard, of this city, was seriously injured this morning.

The injured man, who was extricated from the mass of twisted steel and splintered wood of his car, was carried to a local hospital where it was reported that a leg was broken in two places, and possibly his back fractured and his skull fractured.

The Reason Why We Do Not Hold Sales

If we conducted so-called "sales," with bewildering up-and-down shifting of prices—and "come early" for best choice—and disappointments because of "all sold out"—we could never give you the kind of Service you are entitled to and that we insist on giving.

It is our plan rather, to sell you Quality Goods only—priced as low as possible—from the day we buy the goods, but NEVER to buy goods for a Special Sale. And the indications are most convincing that our customers like our No-Sale Policy—our consistently Low Prices—our Day-In-and-Month-Out plan of Lowest Possible Prices every day in the year.
