PEACE HOLDS LIMELIGHT IN EUROPE NOW

Relative Values Of Open And Secret Diplomacy In Forefront Of Thought.

By MELVIN E. COLEMAN (Associated Press Cable Editor) Peace and disarmament and the relative values of open and secret diplomacy continue in the forefront of European thought as reflected by recent news dispatches.

Probably foremost in the subjects thus brought up "on the side" is the German demand that the allies withdraw their troops from the Rhineland.

Germany has been steadily resisting this French impetus maintaining that the question affects Europe only. The French vie it that capacity to pay—the principle on which Germany is relying for a downward revision of the reparations total—guided the fixation of $4,928,000,000 as due from her to the United States.

The Germans stand solidly on the idea that their "capacity to pay" is modified by the presence of allied soldiers in the Rhineland.

France has countered with an intimation that there must be some recompense for evacuation. To this the plain-spoken German chancellor, Herman Muller, has rejoined that if this is insisted upon he will include "payments in kind" already made, such as ships and far valley coal.

The international debate is likely to last a long time for it cannot reach the negotiations stage until after the men at Geneva report back to Paris, London, Rome and Brussels. They may, however, enter a tentative agreement to hold a normal conference later.

Poland and Lithuania were warned to make progress toward settling their disagreement over the city of Vilna and kindred frontier questions. Premier Waidemarsa of Lithuania precipitated a debate on this. It was recorded that half a dozen delegates slumbered through his speech and did not hear August Zaleski, foreign minister of Poland, acknowledge that direct negotiations had been a failure.

The assembly sessions have been notable for epigrams. The Very Rev. William Ralph Inge, the "Gloomy Dean" of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, started off the week by stating in an assembly sermon that "on the score of bellicosity there is nothing to choose between monarchies and republics."

Next, Wang Chung Chi, representing the new nationalist Chinese government, made the assembly take notice by describing the league as a shock absorber.

The Kellogg pact by which nations renounce their sovereign right to wage war as a national policy is more than an innovation. It is a great revolution, proclaimed Nicholas Politis, a former premier of Greece.

William Lyon MacKenzie King, prime minister of Canada, told Europe to banish distrust if it would prosper. "First and foremost among the causes of prosperity in the New World has been the elimination of fear of aggression," he said, adding that not one Canadian dollar is spent as protection against fancied designs of the United States.

Epigrams also figured outside Geneva. "Let me alone and I will settle this situation as I have settled others," said King Alexander of Yugoslavia when Prime Minister Korotsh demanded the arrest of Croat Separatist movement leaders.

"I became king of Albanians because the National Assembly conferred that title on me," said Ahmed Zogu in his first interview after the republic had been changed to a monarchy. "The title should not offend neighboring states for it follows Balkan precedents. Yugoslavia named Alexander King of the Serbs, Corats and Slovenes and Bulgaria calls its ruler Czar of the Bulgarians people."

FATAL DERAILMENT IN CAROLINA

A washout near Columbia, S. C., resulted in the derailment of a Southern passenger train which carried three trainmen to their deaths. Seven trainmen were injured and 40 passengers suffered minor hurts.

No Secret Clauses In Franco-British Accord States Aristide Briand

Geneva, Sept. 10—(AP)—Aristide Briand, Foreign Minister of France, today told the assembly of the League of Nations that there were no secret clauses in the Franco-British Naval Accord. He said it had been arranged for the sole purpose of facilitating reduction of armaments.

M. Briand spoke from the rostrum of the assembly. Delegates of fifty nations formed his audience and they applauded as he emphasized the peaceful purpose of the understanding.

Nationalist China was refused a special right to stand for re-election as a non-permanent member, the assembly decided, prior to Mr. Briand's appearance.

China's membership term on the Council expired this afternoon with the election of three non-permanent members of the body. Refusal of the assembly to grant her the right to stand for re-election means that China must wait three years before again posing as a candidate, that interval being the term to which non-permanent member countries are elected.

A two-thirds majority of the assembly was needed. The ballot resulted 27 to 23 in her favor.

GANG BULLETS GET TWO MORE

Chicago, Sept. 10—(AP)—Two more men were dead of gang bullets in Chicago today and elaborate plans were being made for the funeral of a third.

Joe Ferraro, who was shot down in crowded Madison street during the peak of Friday afternoon traffic by the same "mob" whose bullets slew Tony Lombardo, died yesterday of his wounds. Lombardo's death had been instantaneous, the shot drilling through the head. Ferraro, a bodyguard of Lombardo's, was wounded in the back, paralysis set in, causing his death.

Almost at the same time that Ferraro died, police came upon the body of Cobb Eskelson, 35, who had been shot as he walked along Larrabee street, near the North Side Sicilian colony. The motive behind Eskelson's death was not clear to police, but they were convinced that it had some connection with the slaying of Lombardo and the fatal wounding of Ferraro.

Lombardo, they emphasized, was a power among the Sicilians. The fact that Eskelson had been shot down in a neighborhood in which Lombardo had been active, they said, was significant. A star designer Eskelson as Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, "Chicago" was found in his clothing, but police quickly ascertained that Eskelson was unknown to the prosecutor's office. They advanced the theory that he had used the star to extort money from manufacturers and dealers in alcohol—two lines of law breaking in which they said Lombardo was prominently linked.

Twenty-One Die In Auto Accident At Milan, Italy

Milan, Italy, Sept. 10—(AP)—Twenty-one deaths have resulted from an accident in an automobile race yesterday. While speeding at 120 miles an hour a competitor for the track championship of Europe plunged into the grandstand, killing himself and eighteen others. Twenty-six spectators, including Dorothy Donerto, of Boston, were injured, and two of these died later.

Despite the accident, the race continued, a freshman, Chiron, driving a Burgatti car to victory at the average speed of 160 miles an hour.

GOV. SMITH TO GO WEST NEXT WEEK

Democratic Nominee To Open Fight For Presidency In Thirteen States.

By D. HAROLD OLIVER (Associated Press Staff Writer) Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10—(AP)—In another week Governor Smith will leave for the West to start his active campaign for the presidency. Before he returns to Rochester, October 1st to attend the Democratic State Convention, the Democratic presidential nominee will travel on an eleven car, elaborately equipped Special Train, will swing into thirteen states, many of which he has never visited before, and only one of which, Oklahoma, was carried by his party in the 1924 presidential race.

In six of the commonwealths—Nebraska, Oklahoma, Colorado, Montana, Minnesota and Wisconsin—he will deliver campaign addresses, the last being set for Wisconsin, the only state the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette, running on an Independent presidential ticket, carried four years ago.

John W. Davis, Democratic standard bearer in 1924, won in the border state of Oklahoma by nearly 30,000 votes, but lost by wide margins in all other states through which Governor Smith will pass during his first two weeks' speaking tour. In five of them—Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin—Davis ran last in the three cornered presidential contest.

After his Denver speech a week from next Saturday night, the New York governor will move into a territory where the LaFollette forces four years ago showed more strength than the Democrats, and in a number of the states to be covered the second week of the journey the combined Davis-LaFollette vote was greater than that for Coolidge.

Smith managers are making no secret of the fact that they are attempting to win over the LaFollette adherents and are looking with confidence to the ability of their presidential nominee to make a favorable impression in the Northern Border sections.

Los Angeles Gets Ready For Flies From New York

Mines Field, Los Angeles, Sept. 10—(AP)—An uproarious reception awaited class A airplanes in the New York to Los Angeles national air races, due here late today from Yuma, Ariz. fifth and last overnight control point.

Aviation enthusiasm unloosed by a mighty aerial pageant at the field yesterday afternoon, an even larger attendance than the 40,000 people who turned out then was expected to greet the first division of transcontinental air derbyists.

Earl Rowland of Wichita, Kansas, flying a Cessna "A" held nearly an hour lead over the field of 21 planes remaining in class A last night at Yuma, according to unofficial tabulations. Although Rowland arrived there 10 seconds behind Tex Rankin of Portland, Ore., flying a Waco, he increased his leading margin by 12 minutes during the day's three-stop flight from El Paso.

W. N. Emery, Jr., Bradford, Pa., in a Travelair, was third onto the field to hold third place. Robert Duke of Pittsburgh, landed his American Moth fifth, but held second place 52 minutes behind Rowland.

Dr. Work Declares Whispering Talk Is Harmful To Parties

Washington, Sept. 10—(AP)—A political document, somewhat unusual in character, and serving a two-fold purpose in dealing with the "whispering campaign," has been issued by Chairman Work of the Republican National Committee.

Declaring that "no personal attacks have been made either with the sanction or authority" of the committee, Dr. Work denounces two presidential candidates. He adds that "they are equally harmful to the candidate maligned and to his opponent and constitute an offense against public morals."

Thus the Republican chairman denies party responsibility for such matter circulated against Governor Alfred E. Smith and at the same time publicly discloses for the first time that anonymous material assailing Herbert Hoover has been given circulation. Moreover, he charges that some of those directed at the Republican candidate are "sent by presumably responsible persons in the opposition under the seal of confidence, but intended to start whispering campaigns."

The program for the afternoon included a harbor trip, a visit to old Fort Sumter and to Fort Moultrie and an informal dinner at Fort Moultrie as the guests of Lt. Col. Fred W. Bugbee, commanding officer.

MAINE VOTERS GO TO POLLS DURING TODAY

Democrats And Republicans Fight For Lead In Election Of Governor.

Portland, Maine, Sept. 10—(AP)—Maine, so-called political barometer of the Union, holds its state election today with both Democrats and Republicans confident that the barometric readings 24 hours hence will mean "fair and warmer" for their respective parties in the coming national election.

This northeastern political garden has sprouted what some have regarded as a forecast of the national election every Presidential year and the national organization of both parties have been busy cultivating the crops during the past few weeks.

Maine takes pride in the slogan "as Maine goes so goes the nation", and the Republicans were out to prove that the political crystal foretold a sweeping Hoover victory while the Democrats hoped it would sugar equally well for Governor Smith.

The Republicans have set 36,000 as their minimum majority but estimates ranging up to 55,000 have been made.

William Tudor Gardiner is the Republican standard bearer for the governorship. He has been a popular state figure for years and waged his campaign on the record of both State and National administrations.

A 33-year-old insurance agent, Edward C. Moran, Jr., is Gardiner's opponent. He led the successful fight to send a Smith instructed delegation to Houston. He has made the state water power question his issue.

In the senatorial race Herbert E. Holmes, is opposing the re-election of Senator Frederick Hale, Republican, who wants to go to Washington for a third time. Holmes has campaigned almost alone, going about the state with a phonograph to attract crowds and then preaching "A1" Smith.

John Fails To Meet Fiancee On N. Y. Pier

New York, Sept. 10—(AP)—Miss Florence Trumbull was back from Europe today $150 richer because John Coolidge did not meet her at the pier. She won bets from girl friends who toured with her.

But the daughter of the governor of Connecticut has an "understanding" with the son of the President of the United States. That is how she described their relations. She added that reports of an engagement were "permutate."

When Captain Harvey of the Lapland on which she returned yesterday asked her when the wedding was to be celebrated to him "not before Christmas." Friends of the Trumbull family have believed for some time that a White House wedding is in prospect before the close of Mr. Coolidge's term next March 4th.

Miss Trumbull was met by her mother, who took her at once to their home in Plainville, Conn., which is easily accessible to Northampton, Mass., where John has been recently. Miss Trumbull's bets about John meeting her at the pier were two—one for $1 and one for 50 cents.

Asked if she would not like to be married in the White House, she answered, "Oh, yes, that would be thrilling," and then regretfully, but there isn't much chance of that. You see, John has got to work and earn some money."

The President's son is considering entering the employ of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railway as a freight clerk, which pays a maximum of $30 a week.

BIG TENNIS BATTLE AT FOREST HILLS

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 10—(AP)—America's greatest tennis prize—the National Singles Championship—today was awaiting a new owner from among the 64 knights of the court starting a battle for it that will end next Saturday.

René Lacoste, the French ace, who won the title in 1926 and 1927, could not reconcile business interests with a defense of his championship and so elected to let it go by default.

René voluntarily let the title slip from his fingers but there's another Frenchman, Henri Cochet, ready to grab it. At top form, Cochet can beat anybody in the world and in recent weeks he has given evidence that he is at his competitive best.

Pre-tournament discussion seems to boil itself down to who will be runner-up to the little Frenchman,

ROBINSON TO CARRY FIGHT INTO VIRGINIA

Democratic Candidate For Vice-President To Speak At Richmond Tonight.

Robinson Special Car, Enroute to Richmond, Va., Sept. 10—(AP)—Starting a second week of campaigning, Senator Robinson today moved, through Virginia almost within the shadow of the tomb of Thomas Jefferson, founder of the Democratic party.

Within a few miles of Monticello, the old Jefferson home, the senator at Richmond tonight will deliver his one and only address in the Old Dominion. He has indicated he will discuss the question of "Religious Tolerance," one over which Jefferson waged many legislative battles before succeeding in having the Virginia assembly adopt a statute of religious freedom.

Reaching Virginia soil early last night at Bristol on the Virginia-Tennessee line, the senator found a crowd awaiting him on the platform demanding a speech. This he declined, saying he deemed it improper to deliver a campaign address on Sunday.

Instead, he told the gathering where he had been and of his future plans, saying that after his tour through the South he proposed to take a few days rest at Little Rock, Ark., his home, and then start on a trip that would carry him to the Pacific coast.

This was the first time the senator had said publicly that he proposed to campaign across the continent, although it became known at the time of his visit to New York for the Smith notification ceremonies that the Democratic Speakers Bureau hoped he would make such a trip.

Preceding his welcome at Bristol, the senator also was met at Johnson City, Tenn., by another crowd. There he left the platform of his private car and shook hands with a number of those who had gathered.

While he never talks for publication as to his own beliefs concerning the outcome of the election, it is known that he has card-indexed the states in his own mind and can present concisely and with a wealth of detail the fundamental reasons for his confidence in winning in one place and for his opinion that he will fail his Democratic opponent in another.

Politicians who have called at his headquarters here have given him reports which in some cases he has discounted all the way from fifty to one hundred per cent. As time goes on the Republican presidential candidate's satisfaction (Continued on Page Two)

HOOVER KEEPS POSTED ABOUT MANY CHANGES

Republican Nominee Shows A Surprising Knowledge Of Conditions In Each State.

By JAMES L. WEST, Associated Press Staff Writer. Washington, Sept. 10—(AP)—Political situations in widely separated states claimed the attention today of Herbert Hoover before he shut himself in his private office at general headquarters to put the finishing touches on his Newark address for next Monday night.

His first caller was former Senator Lenroot, of Wisconsin, who said the nomination of Kohler, as the Republican candidate for governor in the badger state, insured a Hoover victory there in November.

Reports from Massachusetts, one of the eastern states in which the Democrats are making their greatest drive, were presented by Louis K. Liggett, national committeeman, Francis Prescott, state chairman, and John Richardson, who managed Hoover's pre-convention campaign in the bay state.

Washington, Sept. 10—(AP)—Herbert Hoover is disclosing to callers a knowledge of political conditions in the various states which have surprised many of them both in its details and its broad grasp of the possible effects of the unusual cross currents at work in their section.

While he never talks for publication as to his own beliefs concerning the outcome of the election, it is known that he has card-indexed the states in his own mind and can present concisely and with a wealth of detail the fundamental reasons for his confidence in winning in one place and for his opinion that he will fail his Democratic opponent in another.

SEC. KELLOGG RETURNS FROM TRIP TO PARIS

Declares The Treaty Against War Should Not Be Made Party Issue In U. S.

New York, Sept. 10—(AP)—Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, landed at 7:50 a. m. this morning from the United States liner Levathan on his return from Paris where he signed the peace pact which bears his name for the United States.

Secretary Kellogg accompanied by Mrs. Kellogg and three members of his party, was taken from the liner at quarantine by the coast-guard cutter Hudson, and brought up the bay to the battery. They entered an automobile there and with a police motorcycle escort were rushed to the Pennsylvania station where they entrained for Washington.

The secretary read a prepared statement to the reporters who met him on the liner. It follows: "I do not think the treaty for the renunciation of war should be made a party issue, either in the campaign or in the Senate and I cannot conceive that it will be. It is an international matter of world wide importance. The promotion of world peace is an ideal common to all civilizations. It is not the prerogative of any one country or any one group within a country. The treaty was signed by fifteen nations and thirty more have already signified their intention to adhere to it. There is every indication that it will be accepted by every nation in the world."

The secretary was interviewed by newspaper men on the aft deck of the cutter as it sped up the bay. In response to a question as to Herbert Hoover's attitude on the treaty, he said: "I am quite sure Mr. Hoover does not wish to make the treaty a party issue."

Mr. Kellogg brought the original treaty with him. He said he thought the pact had made an excellent impression everywhere. He was asked whether the reported secret naval treaty between England and France "is consistent with the anti-war treaty which you signed." Mr. Kellogg seemed annoyed at the question, but answered: "Yes, I don't think it has anything to do with the Pact whatever. I don't understand that there is any naval treaty. Both countries said there is no treaty."

Asked why he did not visit England but did visit Ireland, he said: "I went to Dublin to return the visit of President Cosgrave on the invitation of his government. I could go to England too, as I had only five days and it takes one day to get there. I think that's a complete answer."

Search For Wife Slayer At Marion. Marion, N. C., Sept. 10—(AP)—Law enforcement units were searching this section early today for Roy Hunt, 32, wanted in connection with the slaying of his wife yesterday. He disappeared after reporting to neighbors that his wife had suicided and he was going to notify authorities.

Search was opened in the Lake Thomas section where he was trailed and belief was expressed that he was heading for Spruce Pine.

There were no eye-witnesses to the shooting, which occurred early last night at the home near here. The eldest of four children, a seven-year-old son, however, told officers that he was in the yard when the first shot was fired. He said he heard his mother scream and then a second shot followed. He ran to a window, he said, in time to see the flash of a third shot and to see his mother crumble to the floor.

Neighbors said that the man had been drinking and that he and his wife had quarreled during the day.

Civil Court Opens Week Sitting Today

A one week term of Pitt County Superior court for the trial of civil case, convened in this city this morning with Judge R. A. Nunn of New Bern, presiding.

The calendar contains quite a number of issues of more or less interest to people in this section and the opening session this morning at ten o'clock saw numbers of persons in attendance.

Unlike criminal court, however, the civil term fails to attract the public in such large numbers. Only a sprinkling of attendants are expected to augment the crowd of litigants appearing from day to day and the courthouse will be devoid of the lively scene noticeable when criminal court is in session.

Ten Lives Snuffed Out By Airplane Accidents

(By The Associated Press) Ten men were killed and five others seriously injured in aviation accidents in widely scattered sections of the United States Sunday.

None of the accidents was in connection with the cross country air races now in progress, but a navy flier was seriously injured when his plane crashed during a race at Los Angeles.

Two students at Ortergin, Ind., high school were killed when the plane in which they were passengers, crashed attempting to make a landing at the air field there. The two boys, Dorwin Leighty, 18, and Robert Burns, 15, died of fractured skulls shortly after the crash. Donald Burnett, of Chalmers, Ind., the pilot, was seriously injured.

Harold Tennant of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Frank Kuehn of Garretson, S. D., were killed when the wings on their plane, described as the first built in Iowa, bucked as they were completing a test flight at Sioux Falls. They were enroute from Sioux City, Iowa, to the State fair at Huron, S. D.

Lieut. Joseph C. Soper, of Selfridge Field, Mich., was killed when his plane failed to come out of a dive and plunged into Lake Erie during an aerial exhibition held in

THREE KILLED IN JAIL BREAK IN LOUISIANA

Possibly Five Lives May Have Been Lost As Prisoners Fight Way Out of Jail.

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Two or three convicts were at liberty today, the remnant of a band of 13, whose bold race for liberty from Louisiana State penitentiary cost at least three lives and possibly six.

Eight persons, including four guards, three convicts and a Mississippi river launch operator were wounded last night in a gun battle fought in the glare of prison searchlights, as the desperadoes dashed 200 yards to the river, where they commandeered a launch after wounding its operator.

Under the leadership of Cleveland Owen, New Orleans desperado, the convicts previously had overpowered two guards and looted a prison ammunition room of weapons.

One trusty, who fought by the side of guards to stop his fellow prisoners, was slain as the band retreated from the walls, shooting as they fled. Two convicts also dropped, fatally wounded, and two others surrendered to escape the bullets. Three were wounded.

It was believed that three of the desperadoes among the five or six who were lucky enough to reach the launch before it cast off, were fatally wounded aboard the craft before it got out of range, but this had not been verified. Thus two or three were still at liberty. A searching party was out today.

J. S. Broom, the trusty who was slain, was serving a life term for murder, while Archie Walter, the launch operator, was shot by the convicts in their haste. Capt. John Singleton and Capt. C. C. Higgenbotham, were seriously injured.

If five prisoners were killed in the encounter, including the trusty, the others were believed to include Owen, Arthur Kinchen, Stanley Proctor, and S. J. Beck, most of them lifers or long term prisoners. Owen was sentenced to from 14 to 21 years on a charge of shooting a New Orleans policeman with intent to kill. He was recently quoted as saying that if he ever escaped he would not be taken alive. He was known to be among the dead.

Prison authorities said Owen suddenly drew a smuggled weapon on two guards last night, and forced them through a gate to the house. A dozen fellow convicts went with him. Breaking into the ammunition box and guns, and made an immediate dash for the river.

Ecuador, just as she was about to replace a military provisional government of several years duration with a constitutional regime, was faced with two incipient revolutions, both were suppressed.

In the economic field, the outstanding development was defeat by a ratio of 7 to 1 by the British Trades Union Congress of the Communist idea for "one big union" in each country, united by "one big internationale." J. H. Thomas told the convention that efforts to deal with Russians had failed because disciples of the Soviet consistently lied about trades unions and sought to disrupt them.

with the situation in the West grows and he apparently entertains serious doubts now about only three states in that section—Missouri, Arizona and Montana. In his view the refusal of Nathan C. Frank, of St. Louis, defeated for the Republican senatorial nomination, to run as an independent candidate for the senate has improved the situation in Missouri.
Some of those who have visited Hoover recently have told him that perhaps his greatest fight will be in New York and Massachusetts, and he seems to have concurred in that judgment. The Republicans have had organization difficulties in the East and efforts have been made to straighten these out and conduct a driving campaign from this time until election day. Hoover himself will visit both New York and Massachusetts for two of the four addresses he will deliver in the East.
While no one connected with Republican headquarters will even intimate that Hoover entertains a belief that he can break the solid South in November, the Republican candidate has been giving more and more attention to that section and the party organizations have been strengthened in some of the states and supplemental ones organized elsewhere, as in Mississippi. Just at the present time, the Republican candidate has his eyes centered on Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi, but he also is observing the situations that are developing in Texas, Florida, and Alabama. Especially optimistic reports have been brought to him from the Lone Star State where some Democratic leaders have bolted their national ticket, and he has been told that he has an opportunity in North Carolina, where the Anti-Smith groups appear to be most active, and Georgia and Virginia.

By G. D. SEYMOUR

New York.—When Jascha Heifetz a strapping 16, made his American debut at Carnegie Hall in 1917, his hearers were almost as amazed at his nerveless imperturbability as at his mastery of the violin. But a few weeks later, when he played at Smith College, he trembled with fear and self-consciousness, for all his hearers were girls.

Heifetz outgrew his shyness before he reached his majority, but he always has had to avoid the attentions of throngs of women and girls who crowded about stage doors after his recitals, sent notes to his hotels by the basketful, and pressed invitations upon him.

For half a dozen years he has been regarded by many a mother and daughter as New York's most eligible bachelor, yet when he was married the other day to Florence Vidor, the motion picture actress, he was only six months past his 27th birthday—almost to young to deserve the designation of bachelor.

Heifetz' real passion is for clothes. He would rather be told, after a recital, that never did a dress suit fit so perfectly, than that his playing was magnificent. He would rather dress up as a Tyrolean troubadour than test the tone of a Stradivarius.

New York friends, when they want to arrange a party for him, make it a costume ball—as his sister did last Christmas, just so he might appear in a tendor outfit he brought from Mexico City. Trunkloads of alien apparel follow him home from his recitals in every part of the world.

The clothes he wears must be sartorially perfect. His street ties are fashioned by London tailors from silk fabric he found weavers making in Lyons, France. Jascha Heifetz may shrug his shoulders deferentially when told that he is the ablest violinist of all time, but he will beam gratitude at the assurance that Florence Vidor has married the best-dressed man in America.

Marked for Greatness.
Only in his later years, since his artistic fame was secure, has Heifetz had time to play. His father, Ruvim, a cafe violinist in Vilna, Russia, where Jascha was born, watched his son from the cradle days for tokens of genius, and tells how Jascha, before he could walk, would tug at his parent's coat tails with baby fury when the father purposely sounded a flat note on his fiddle. Jascha was studying under Leopold Auer at nine, and was famous through all Europe when he came to America at 16.

The elder Heifetz—Heifetz, by the way, is Hebrew for "treasure"—and Jascha's two sisters, now married, live in Central Park West. Ruvim teaches violin. Among his pupils are the children of Efrem Zumbalst and Alma Clark.

When Jascha is in New York between tours he generally takes a Park Avenue apartment, where he stacks up the first editions he collects, and where his telephone bills

Renew Campaign Against Criminal Element At Phila.

Philadelphia, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Discovery of a "bootleggers' blue book" caused District Attorney John Monaghan today to press with renewed vigor his drive against bootleggers, hijackers and gangsters, who, he declares, have operated in this city on an enormous scale through the connivance of the police. The drive is now in its fourth week.

Several witnesses whom Mr. Monaghan said he expected would strengthen his charges of police bribery were under subpoena to appear before a special grand jury.

The "blue book", alleged to contain the names of bootleggers, their wives and lawyers, with the names of certain city hall detectives and their telephone numbers, is expected to play an important part in the investigation. Some of the names are of persons living in New York, Pennsylvania and mid-western and Pacific coast cities. The book was found in one of the raids by county detectives last

GAME WARDENS ORDERED NOT TO CARRY FIREARMS

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Game wardens this year have been ordered to carry no arms for the enforcement of the laws in their jurisdiction, it was announced today by State Game Warden Chas. H. England.

"Violation of the game laws is not a felony", the instructions read, "and we would much rather have any number of violators escape than to have one of our enforcement officers kill or even injure a single individual in this state."

It was also announced that hunters this season will be permitted to use automatic and pump shot guns.

A TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF H. B. HARRISS.

My friend and neighbor, Mr. Harriess is gone.

And we'll miss his genial smile. A kind word he had for every one. Especially the wayward and wild.

He was always a kind, good neighbor.

To befriend if you were in need. He was gentle and kind to the orphan child.

But boasted not of his good deed.

If you went to him with a tale of woe.

He never did turn a deaf ear. But would always help to the limit. Or without any thought of fear.

He knew that his Heavenly Father would reward him if he gave. To the ones who were less fortunate than he.

And his own good name he would save.

Let's try to emulate the life of our friend.

By doing kind deeds of love. And when we have filled our mission on earth.

SATURDAY IS FELT HAT DAY

Straws Go Out Of Vogue In The United States With Dawn of Morning of 15th.

Straw hat days will soon be over. There remains but four more days for you to wear your straw lid, according to the laws and rules of society, so says the secretary of the Merchants Association. Not later than next Saturday, September 15, everybody is supposed to don his felt bonnet, and that day has long since been designated throughout the length and breadth of this land as "Felt Hat Day."

Eager to meet the requirements which the buying public has the right to demand of them the various retail stores of the city who are members of the Merchants Association are prepared and have on display the most attractive lines of men's hats seen here for many seasons. All of the most widely known brands of headwear are shown by these local merchants, and the very latest ideas that Dame Fashion has to offer will be found in the different showings on display all during this week, and especially on Saturday.

The distinction which Greenville has gained as being the shopping center of Eastern Carolina, has been attained through the high standard of mercantile establishments affiliated with the local Merchants Association, and the courteous service rendered the public by the sales forces.

Guiding Your Child

BREAKING A HABIT

By MRS. AGNES LYNE
All morning outside my window I hear an irritated voice: "Take your fingers out of your mouth, Joseph, Joseph, take your fingers out of your mouth."

A climax of annoyance is reached and I hear the little hands being slapped. Joseph cries. A few minutes later the voice takes up its futile refrain. Out on the lawn stands a little two-year-old boy with nothing to do. A silly mechanical toy lies at his feet. He'd rather suck his fingers than play with it.

This situation repeats itself day after day. The young mother who is so scrupulous about naps and orange juice never stops her round of duties for a moment to wonder why Joseph sucks his fingers and how she can break him of the habit.

If she took time to watch her child she would observe that he sucks his fingers as a consolation when things are going hard with him or out of sheer boredom because he has nothing to do. She would divine that the gratification of sucking his fingers in some measure atones for his exile since his baby sister came to usurp his place in his mother's love and attention.

She would stop scolding and punishing. She would provide him with the sort of toys that would keep his hands too busy to get into mischief. A few old pie tins and a wooden spoon would prove glorious entertainment. He could dig and spill the dirt from one pan to another and infinitum. He could bang the spoon upon the pans and make a splendid and satisfying noise.

If his mother would take pains to plan her day so that, when baby sister was tucked away for her nap, Joseph could feel that he had his mother all to himself again for a little while, it would further relieve the tension which underlies his apparent disobedience.

Thoughtless discipline is worse than useless. In breaking any undesirable habit it is imperative to find out the cause, and as far as possible remove it. It is equally necessary to substitute some desirable habit in its place.

Chicago, Sept. 10—(AP)—The wards of Oakland, Calif., a group of husky, bronzed youths, today held the junior world's baseball championship.

Playing like a team of experienced veterans, the wards won their cherished title Saturday when they trounced the Worcester, Mass., team 12 to 2, in the final contest of the American Legion's National Junior tournament. No third contest was necessary as the Oakland team had won the opening championship game Friday over the eastern champions, 4 to 0.

As a reward the champions will be guests of the American Legion, National and American Leagues at the coming world's series, traveling to and from the games with the ball players themselves.

THE BACK-FENCE CAMPAIGN

Urging citizens to beware of the back-fence campaigns and demand the source of all charges against the Democratic candidates, lest they be misled by falsehoods and unfounded rumors, the Roanoke (Virginia) Times, says:

"The campaign over the back fence against the Democratic nominee has begun. It is not yet in full swing, it is true, but it is gaining momentum daily. By and by the thing will become so smelly that the Republican campaign managers will virtuously disclaim any responsibility for it and will disavow all connection with it. Their denials will have to be accepted at face value, we suppose, in the absence of any proof to the contrary. But it is obvious that somebody is behind it. Backstairs gossip has to have a beginning somewhere. It does not just start itself.

"Intelligent people will not be deluded by absurd stories reflecting on the candidates' personal habits, his religious beliefs, members of his family or his associates. They will inquire into the origin of the reports and decline to swallow everything that they are told. As a matter of fact, the preposterous nature of many of these stories is a sufficient refutation of their contents.

"Nevertheless, a whispering campaign creates a most unpleasant situation and does considerable damage before the truth overtakes the lies in circulation. Unfortunately, it never does overtake all of them. For that reason it is not amiss to warn readers not to believe everything that they hear derogatory to the Democratic candidate. However flawless the reputation of the person repeating statements reflecting on Governor Smith, challenge him to give the source of his authority for making them. Insist on facts, not hearsay. That is the only way to make sure of not being deceived.

"The back-fence campaign is one of the lowest and most despicable forms of campaigning. But the party of Sinclair, of Vane, of 'Bill' Thompson, of Will Hays, of Harry Daugherty and the rest of the gang, is not above stooping to it when its hold on national control is menaced, as it very seriously and most assuredly is menaced by Gov. Smith's militant candidacy. This style of campaign will succeed only with the unthinking in the long run. The people of Virginia, when they come to think matters over, will decline to believe that men like Harry Byrd, Carter Glass, Henry Stuart and others of similar caliber, leaders in whose integrity of purpose they have every confidence, would sell out to the Pope or be party to a discreditable effort to put an unworthy man in the White House. Virginia's ten Representatives in Congress, as well as both United Senators and the Governor of the State, are supporting Al Smith for President. They know that he has been a great Governor of a great State; they are confident that if elected he will make a great President. The people will consider and respect their judgment and follow their lead in backing the Democratic nominee against his Republican opponent."

ABOUT TOWN

"Some trick, ain't it boy! Jubilantly exclaimed a juvenile baseball star of this city, standing on Evans street, pointing a grimy finger in the direction of the playground recently installed by the Reflector. 'Betcha life,' replied the youngster addressed. 'Wonder what it cost?'"

"I don't know, but it's certainly worth the money." With this remark the youngster turned his attention to the indicators speeding around the bases on the board.

"Good gracious, look yonder—a Goldsboro man knocked a home run with one man on—whooop—I told you they could do it!"

A disgusted look clouded the features of the other youngster, who had been pulling hard for Wilmington all the afternoon, but he continued watching the game, hoping that the indicator would speed around the bases again in a short time, giving the Pirates something to match the lead piled up by the Goldsboro Bugs.

"The aldermen did the right thing the other night by taking up the purchase of the fire truck recently traded in for the new truck," remarked a citizen today.

"We need an extra truck of this kind in case of two fires at one time. Then too, as the chief of the department told the aldermen, the truck may be traded in at a later date for something new at considerably more than the amount paid for it."

"The investment seems to be perfectly sound. The aldermen would do well to provide sufficient fire fighting equipment to keep pace with the rapid development of the city."

"Johnny Allen, former speed ball king of the Greenville baseball club is the winner of the loving cup offered by a local jeweler for the best batting average made by any single member of the club," officials of the club made known today.

"Appearing in a total of forty-seven games, Allen went to bat 118 times and obtained thirty-nine hits, eleven of which were for the entire circuit."

"Allen displayed plenty of real pitching ability while with the locals, and his recall to the Raleigh club of the Piedmont League, attests to some extent the recognition which the young fellow is receiving."

"We are glad Tommy Abbott, versatile manager of the Greenville baseball club, is going to remain in Greenville during the fall and winter months," firmly declared a follower of the Tobaccoists today.

"Tommy will be associated with Guy Smith in a capacity which until this time has not been determined. But the fact that he is here with us to stay awhile is all we want to know."

"Abbott did not succeed in pulling the Tobaccoists out of the cellar when he succeeded 'Deacon' Joffit in the management of the club, but he didn't miss trying, and won the admiration of the fans by his untiring effort to accomplish the impossible."

"I don't want to catch you wearing a straw hat after next Saturday, Sept. 15," threatened a Greenville business man today, pointing a threatening finger at a friend with a straw hat that looked like it had stood good wear for at least two seasons.

The gentleman wearing the straw pulled it from his No. 7 cranium and surveyed it lovingly.

"Why, John, I might get another month's wear out of that hat. Who cares for the time of year just so it stays warm?"

"John smiled appreciatively, even comfortably, but reiterated the threat, and directed his friend to the nearest clothing store.

Realizing the timeliness of the admonition, the "friend" went directly to the store and purchased what he termed the "last wild scream in sartorial splendor," donned it carefully, and sauntered off

"Don't forget to go out and see the members of the Greenville high school football team at practice," counseled a member of the club today, speaking of the way the youngsters are rounding up in form for the first games of the series this season.

"Greenville high hopes to put out the fastest grid team in history this season, but this will be impossible without the moral support of that great mass of citizens comprising the population of the city."

"Coach Porter extends a cordial welcome to anybody desiring to see us work out, so turn out one afternoon and see just what we are accomplishing towards a successful season."

A WASHINGTON BYSTANDER

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Washington—There is one man in Washington to whom all the Chinese turmoil of the last year or two has had deep personal significance. He is Dr. Sao-Ke Alfred Sze, the Chinese minister, who has managed to retain that title, at least, through all the shifts of political power at Peking since 1921.

Strictly speaking, he has no diplomatic status here, the United States not having extended de jure recognition to the nationalist government that overthrew the late Chang Tso-lin, Manchurian dictator. In that respect, however, Dr. Sze is in no different position than Minister MacMurray at Peking.

May Get Credentials.
The Chinese diplomatist, however has weathered a succession of political storms at home and seems to enjoy the confidence of the nationalist regime, indicated by his recent appointment to represent it at Geneva whenever necessary for League of Nations purposes. He is said to expect to be formally accredited to Washington by the nationalists whenever the United States decides to extend full recognition. The fact that the new authorities at Peking commissioned C. C. Wu as special representative in the United States and named Wu as the Chinese negotiator rather than Sze, in proposing negotiations for a treaty of commerce, has created speculation as to whether Peking might not have in mind to name Wu to the Washington diplomatic post ultimately.

Washington is watching developments in China carefully. There are signs of uneasiness as to how the nationalists are going to accomplish the ambitious stabilization and development program adopted

YANKS FIGHT WAY BACK TO LEAGUE LEAD

By HERBERT W. BARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

The New York Yankees have been sternly tested and certainly not found wanting.

While the biggest crowd in baseball history looked on, the world's champions, fighting desperately for every advantage ripped two victories from Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics yesterday and bounced back into the American League lead.

Nearly 86,000 persons packed the Yankee stadium. Most of them came to see their one-time favorites. They remained instead to go wild while the Yankees tore into their only pennant rivals and downed them by scores of 5 to 0 and 7 to 3.

It was a stunning reverse for the Mackmen. They came to the Yankee fair expecting to confront the pale shadow of a once-mighty baseball club. They grappled, instead, with a giant, rejoicing in his strength.

For the day at least, the Athletics were over-matched. Against the heads-up baseball the champions played the A's could make no progress. The double defeat sent the Yankees back into the lead with a game and a half to spare and a record of 15 victories over the Athletics in the twenty games the two teams have played this far.

To New York fandom, the double bill was as good as a world's series. Two hundred thousand sought to get into the stadium, and 85,255 succeeded. Of these 81,622 were paid admissions. The former record total attendance at a baseball game was set at the Yankee stadium July 4, 1927, when 72,624 saw the Yankees meet Washington in a double header.

George Pipgras, young right hander, who seems to rise to the heights in a crisis, and Bob Meusel, the somewhat nonchalant left fielder, were the Yankee heroes of the day.

Pipgras gave the A's no chance in the opener, scattering nine hits in such a manner that the A's could not fashion a single run out of their collection.

Meusel won the second game when he clouted a home run into the left field seats with the bases filled in the eighth.

The real drama of the day came in the nightcap. After the Yankees had scored one in the first inning, Al Simmons put the A's into the lead with a home run with Cochran on base in the sixth. Another filtered across in the seventh, giving the Mackmen a two run margin that looked good since Rube Walberg was turning back the champions with ease. But the last of the seventh saw the Yankees tie the score and Walberg gave way to Eddie Rommel after he had forced the tying run in with a walk. Rommel stopped the rally but it broke out again in the eighth with disastrous results. In this frame, a single by Koenig, Gehrig's double and an intentional pass to Ruth, filled the bases. Rommel worked the count to 3 and 2 on Meusel before Lanky Bob parked the ball in the stands. The rest was anti-climatic. Waite Hoyt, third Yankee pitcher, stopped the A's dead in the ninth and the game was over.

Meanwhile, the National League race was lightening up. The Cardinals, bowing to Pittsburgh again, 8 to 7, saw the Chicago Cubs, who beat Cincinnati 2 to 0 draw to within two and a half games of them and that's not far enough away to please Bill McKechnie.

The New York Giants suffered another rude shock to their pennant ambitions when Dazzy Vance and the Brooklyn Dodgers beat them 3 to 2.

The rest of the field in the American League continued their battle for the berths below the Yankees and the Athletics.

The Chicago White Sox, beating Cleveland, 10 to 1, reached the 500 club for the first time this season. The St. Louis Browns, sure of third place, scored four runs in the ninth to beat the Detroit Tigers, 8 to 6. In the last game of the season between the two teams, at Washington the Senators were held to an even break by the Boston Red Sox who won by the first game 3 to 2 and dropped the second 5 to 3.

Denver, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Pneumonia is the high altitude, nemesis of many another health seeker, has taken Urban J. Shocker, 36, former pitching ace for the New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns. He died here yesterday following a month's illness.

The major league veteran was suffering from heart disease when he came here in July after his unconditional release from the Yankees, where he failed to hit his stride this year because of failing health.

Shocker's major league career began and ended with the New York Americans, though he spent his seven best years with the Browns from 1918 to 1924. He broke into semi-pro baseball as a catcher, and desired to catch when he first played professionally.

Coming into organized baseball with Windsor in the Border League in 1913, Shocker reached the majors three years later when he was bought by the Yankees for $750 from Ottawa.

Two Badly Hurt By Golf Balls

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Flying golf balls struck three persons on Asheville golf courses over the week-end, seriously injuring two of them.

Scott Cooper, 14, of Horney Heights, a caddy at Malvern Hills Country Club, was in French Broad Hospital.

John H. Tipton, 17, another Malvern Hills caddy, was recovering at his home on Sand Hill road. A golf ball, which hit him about two hours after Cooper was injured, lacerated his head. He was not seriously hurt.

Dr. P. A. White, Asheville physician, was recovering at Mission Hospital. He was hit in the eye late Saturday at Asheville Country Club by a ball which shattered his glasses.

The Chicago White Sox, beating Cleveland, 10 to 1, reached the 500 club for the first time this season. The St. Louis Browns, sure of third place, scored four runs in the ninth to beat the Detroit Tigers, 8 to 6. In the last game of the season between the two teams, at Washington the Senators were held to an even break by the Boston Red Sox who won by the first game 3 to 2 and dropped the second 5 to 3.

GOLDBUGS TO MEET PIRATES AGAIN TODAY

Goldboro, N. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—After clinching two of the three games played with Wilmington last week in the pennant series, the Goldbugs were back home today ready to meet the Pirates in the fourth matchup this afternoon.

Carver, Bug mounding ace, is expected to be pitted against Powell, swarthy Pirate hurler, in this crucial test. The two opposed each other on the mound in the opener of the series last Thursday. Carver then left the Pirates down with two runs while his mates were pounding out four. Powell, however, has proven particularly effective against the Bugs this season and is reported in excellent condition now.

The clubs will move to Wilmington for the fifth game Tuesday if this becomes necessary and will alternate between the two localities for the remainder of the needed contests.

GOLF CLASSIC BEGINS TODAY

By BRIAN BELL, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Newton, Mass., Sept. 10.—(AP)—The 32nd national amateur golf championship of the United States may develop into an endurance test before all the returns are in Saturday night. The start of the classic today found indications that it might be survival of the fittest physically rather than a matter of unadulterated golf. Only the stoutest hearted of the nation's best amateur golfers looked without trepidation on the hills of Braeburn, a course that will absorb a lot of climbing.

The final practice period brought many players to the last green with dragging feet, and a football player, accustomed to taking his recreation with no appeal for quarter, announced after a mere 18 holes that he was going to bed immediately to rest for the qualifying rounds today and tomorrow.

The climb at Braeburn begins on the second hole and while even a golf course follows the law of gravity which decrees that all that rises up must come down, the respites here and there are paid for as the round drags on.

The sun-bronzed Bobby Jones, three times champion and medalist for two years in a row, seemed trained to the minute for the test that is to determine if he is to take his place alongside Jerry Travers, no matter what the course may do to the woods and irons of the pride of Atlanta he apparently is equipped to finish under his own power.

One of the most severe altitude tests comes at the ninth hole where the second shot after a good drive must be made high in the air to an elevated green. The home hole offers a problem in the form of a brook 208 yards from the tee.

The consensus was that Braeburn would stand for no foolishness on the part of the players and predictions of high qualifying scores were frequent. Many experienced observers thought 160 for the 36 holes would win the right to remain in the match play competition restricted to 32 players. These will be determined by 18 holes at medal today and another 18 tomorrow.

Players scoring 156 last year played off for the available qualifying places but in 1926 those with 36 hole totals of 153 entered the play off. No round under 70 has been recorded at Braeburn in a major championship. The best in the national open here in 1915 was par 72. The only time 70 has been betted on the course was in a club event.

STATE GRID SQUAD GETS DOWN TO WORK

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Overweight by ten pounds, but otherwise fit, Bob Warren, captain and fullback of State College football varsity, Monday worked out with the squad, along with two other belated arrivals, Spark Adams, quarterback, and John Lepo, tackle.

At the same time, it was learned that Don Childress, giant end who made all-state selections as an end on the wolfpack last season, would not return here, having gone into the bond business with a Richmond, Va., firm. His loss is offset, however, as Coach Gus Tebell has two veterans, Goodwin and Jordan, along with Furtado, Sophomore, and a few other candidates.

COTTON MARKET

New York, Sept. 10—(AP)—The bearish interpretation of Saturday's Government crop report and prospects for improving weather in the south were reflected in severe declines in the cotton market.

After showing net losses of about 75 to 90 points, the market rallied 15 to 20 points on covering and trade buying but weakened again later. Mid-afternoon prices were about 80 to 99 points net lower, or approximately one cent below Saturday's closing quotations.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 10—(AP)—Wheat prices dropped today to the lowest level which September, December and March deliveries have reached this season. Heavier receipts of spring wheat both north and south of the Canadian boundary tended to increase pressure to sell, and so too, did the fact that export demand for wheat from North America was only fair. Besides, the United States Government crop report due after the close, was expected to confirm recent unofficial predictions of liberal yields.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1-8 to 3-4 net lower; corn unchanged to 1-2c off; oats varying from 1-4c decline to 3-8c advance, and provisions at 12c setback to an equal gain.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 10—(AP)—Ex-cited public speculation in stocks continued in today's market, which witnessed the establishment of nearly two score high records on gains ranging from 1 to nearly 12 points. The rally was slow in getting started because of the necessity of absorbing further profit taking in some of the recent industrial favorites, but nois brought forward a number of new leaders and advance was in full swing by early afternoon.

Outside the stock market, chief speculative interest entered in the break of $4.55 a bale in cotton prices in reflection of the Government crop estimate last Saturday.

Call money renewed unchanged at 7 1-2 per cent and appeared to be in fairly plentiful supply at that figure despite the calling of about $10,000,000 in bank loans. Time money was firmer, being quoted at 6 5-8 to 6 3-4 as against a ruling rate of 6 1-2 last week. Sterling hovered near the year's low and around the "gold import point," but no shipments of the precious metal had been made.

Montgomery-Ward was again the sensational feature, soaring nearly 12 points to a new high record at 232 as against a low of 117. Purity Baking preferred jumped 10 points, and the common 7 3-8; Commercial solvents, 7; Motor Products 7; International Nickel, 6 3-4; Commercial Investment Trust 6; and Republic steel, all to new high records.

Amusement shares continued to attract widespread interest. Warner Bros. issues extended their early gains for about 7 1-2 points and

COOLIDGE IS ALL SET FOR RETURN HOME

President To Attend Farewell Ceremony In Superior This Afternoon.

Superior, Wis., Sept. 10—(AP)—His vacation at an end and with all preparations for his return to Washington completed, there only remained for President Coolidge to attend a farewell ceremony in Superior this afternoon before he would be ready to depart.

From this more immediate neighbors at Brule river and surrounding territory, the chief executive took leave yesterday when, at the end of his last Sunday service in the head of the Las region, he thanked the blind preacher of his church, and told him to thank all his congregation, for the cordiality and hospitality with which he was welcomed all summer.

After almost three months of open air life under the tall pines of the northland, President and Mrs. Coolidge wondered today whether, after all, they would not have done better to have continued their vacation a little longer. Reports from Cedar Island Lodge told of Mr. Coolidge asking what temperatures in Washington the weather reports in the papers showed. Mrs. Coolidge, on her part, was said to have remarked that she did not want to appear as if she were leaving unduly early the pace which had restored her health for the illness with which she suffered when she arrived here.

Arrangements were completed, however, for the chief executive to be back in the capital by the middle of the week. The Superior and Prohibits Meeting Of Labor Union At Pittsburgh, Penn.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 10—(AP)—The national "save the union" convention, called by opponents of the administration of John L. Lewis as president of the United Mine Workers of America, cannot be held here, superintendent of police Peter P. Wash, announced today.

"I am not going to permit them to come to this city and menace our people by rioting" the police head said.

A clash occurred yesterday when the "save the Unionists" prepared to open their meeting. Six persons were injured, one probably fatally, and 121 were arrested.

Hospital and jail cells today accommodated what yesterday started out to be a convention of "save the Union" dissenters of the United Mine Workers of America.

Death was hovering near for one former miner and five others were well swathed in bandages. In jail for the night were 121 awaiting hearing on charges of inciting to riot, the result of sporadic melees precipitated when adherents to John L. Lewis and dissenters headed by John J. Watt clashed at the Labor Lyceum, in which the "save the Union" convention was to have been held.

Anthony Calamari, a leader in the Watt faction, was in a hospital with a fractured skull.

Watt said "paid pickets" of the U. M. W. A. attacked his followers with bricks, cans and clubs as they were about to enter the convention hall. Phillip F. Murray, international vice-president of the U. M. W. A., said "picket badges" were issued U. M. W. A. delegates who were instructed to not only defend the policy of the U. M. W. A., but also to peacefully picket the strikebreaking activities of this communitist group between sessions of the convention.

When police, responding to a riot call, quelled the disturbance, 22 men were in custody.

Later, at hotels patronized by members of Lewis and Watt adherents, additional arrests totaling 99 were made after incipient rioting of the morning disturbance.

Newport, R. I.—There's considerable wonder as to who, if anybody, will buy Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's $8,000,000 marble house, which is now on the market. It has been idle in recent years because no billionaire would pay $20,000 rent for the summer season plus the enormous cost of upkeep.
