FIRST OFFICER OF VESTRIS GOES ON THE STAND TODAY IN FEDERAL INVESTIGATION

Frank Johnson Declares He Did Not Investigate Port Holes Of Ill-Fated Ship Before Sailing; Had Ordered Carpenter To Do So.

Federal Building, New York, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Frank Johnson, a wind-browed wisp of a man who was promoted to first officer of the steamer Vestris just before it sailed today, testified today that he had not inspected the coal ports although their condition was his responsibility.

Other survivors of the Vestris disaster have charged that coal ports just above the water line were improperly closed and that water poured into the ship through them, at least contributing to the sinking with the loss of more than 100 lives.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the hearing was adjourned until 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Johnson, who took the stand at the federal inquiry today after department of justice agents had sought him for two days, said he had ordered the ship's carpenter to close the ports but had not himself looked to see if the work was properly done.

He said he never had examined the ports.

Johnson said he was promoted to the post of first officer on the Vestris the day she sailed on her last voyage a week ago today.

"Who had charge of loading coal on the Vestris?" United States Attorney Tuttle asked.

"Well, the chief engineer," Johnson replied.

"You had nothing to do with it?"

"Where was it put in?"

"Two coal ports, five feet above the water line. They were about three feet square."

"How were they closed?"

"A door on a hinge, fastened from the outside."

"Any way to close them from inside?"

"No."

Johnson, who appeared after department of justice agents had sought him with a subpoena for two days, said that he had the responsibility to see that these coal port doors were properly fastened.

"What did you do about it on this trip?"

"I gave orders to the carpenter, a man named Wahl."

"Was he among the survivors?"

"Yes."

Johnson said he "didn't know" there were any places for gaskets to seal the edges around these doors.

"Had there ever been any such gaskets?"

"I'm not sure."

"Is a matter of fact, weren't some of those gaskets missing?"

"There was no place for gaskets."

"You're never to swear to that, that there never had been any gaskets?"

"So far as I know there never was any."

United States Commissioner O'Neill, presiding at the hearing, asked the witness if he never had any occasion to examine the ports so that he would know about the gaskets.

"I had the opportunity."

"But you never did inspect those ports?" Tuttle asked.

"I never had occasion to. There'd never been any trouble with them."

"There was trouble enough on the last trip. You never inspected the ports personally?"

"How soon after you sailed did the officers discover something out of order on the ship?"

"Seven p. m., Sunday."

"Your radio operator yesterday said he noticed a 10-degree list Saturday night. He's wrong?"

"Yes."

"Passengers here have said they observed the list long before Sunday night. They are wrong are they?"

"There was a slight list caused by wind and sea on port side Sunday night."

"When did you first discover anything wrong?"

"Seven thirty Sunday night."

"Don't you know Captain Carey sent a radio that the ship had gone to since Sunday noon?"

"That was because of bad weather."

"Captain Carey said the sea was only moderately rough. He was wrong, was he?"

"It was more than moderately rough."

"You contradict your captain, do you?"

"Yes."

"When did you land here?"

"Tuesday."

"Where have you been since then?"

"At the Holy Hotel."

Election Returns Show Defeat For Three Amendments

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 17.—(AP)—All of the three proposed amendments to the North Carolina Constitution were defeated in the election November 6, official but incomplete returns indicated. R. C. Maxwell, secretary of the state board of elections, said today.

Large majorities were polled against the tax and solicitorial districts amendments and official returns from all but three counties gave a majority of 2,323 against the amendment proposing increase pay for members of the General Assembly, Maxwell said. The counties not reported are Hyde, Swain and Jackson. The vote in these counties in all probability will not change the result, the election board secretary said.

THREE KILLED IN COLLISION

Several Also Injured When N. & W. Freight Plunges Into Rear of Passenger Train.

Galax, Va., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Three persons are dead and three others are in a serious condition in a hospital here today as a result of injuries suffered yesterday when a Norfolk and Western freight train plunged into the rear end of a passenger train near Fries Junction.

Those who were killed were: Lee Daniel, 39, Pulaski, Va., brakeman; William Dixon of Betty Baker, Va., passenger; and Gladys Carpenter, 18, Ivanhoe, Va., passenger.

Maude Carpenter, 14, sister of Gladys Carpenter; Captain Fred Hall, conductor of Pulaski; and Jack Isom, 19, of Galax, passenger, were seriously injured, and the following suffered injuries less serious: Sam Lyons, Ivanhoe, passenger; J. M. Waldron, Roanoke, freight fireman; Arthur Hale, Salt, Va., passenger; C. W. Wilk, Roanoke, freight engineer; B. O. Webb, Pulaski, express messenger; and Jacob Kelsey, Pulaski, fireman.

The crash occurred early yesterday afternoon when the passenger train was backing up from Fries Junction to Fries, on a spur track leading from the Pulaski-Galax line. The freight train, witnesses said, which was going down grade at a good rate of speed in order to make a siding and give the passenger train a clear track, splintered the two wooden coaches of the passenger train.

Anti-Smith Faction Discusses Future Of Democratic Party

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 17.—(AP)—General discussion of the future of the Democratic party, and the candidacy of Senator F. M. Simmons to succeed himself two years hence, featured a conference of Anti-Smith leaders here last night which ran past midnight.

Senator Simmons, who announced he would run for his post again in the last speech of his campaign against Governor Alfred E. Smith, Frank R. McVeh, of Charlotte, state chairman of the Anti-Smith movement, and Frank A. Hampton, secretary to Senator Simmons, were among those present.

The participants declined to reveal in detail what turn the discussions took, but it was learned that Senator Simmons was assured of the support of the Anti-Smith leaders present, in the event he should have opposition two years hence.

No action was taken with regard to the future of the party either in the State or in the Nation, it was understood, but the discussion of the topic was of a general nature. Senator Simmons had previously issued a statement declaring a re-organization necessary for the national party.

Before leaving here for his home in Charlotte, Mr. McVeh reiterated his intention not to file a financial statement of the Anti-Smith campaign, notwithstanding the ruling of the Attorney General's office that under the law such a statement was required. The Charlotte attorney said he stood on the position that the statute applied only to political parties, and that the Anti-Smith committee was not a party.

RESCUED AT SEA BY FRENCH TANKER

REVEALS NORTH CAROLINA AS LEADER IN PROGRESS OF SOUTHERN EDUCATION

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 17.—(AP)—North Carolina was revealed as a pace setter among Southern States in expenditures for education in an address here today by Dr. A. T. Allen, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, before the closing session of the Southern Conference on Education being held here at the University of North Carolina.

"Whereas the public school property of North Carolina was appraised at less than two million dollars in 1901 it is today appraised in excess of one hundred million," Dr. Allen said.

"The current operating costs have jumped from thirteen million to twenty-five million in the last six years, revealing another measure of the State's educational expansion."

Dr. Allen said that as the result of the consolidation in recent years of the small rural schools into large rural schools for both elementary and high school instruction, the enrollment in the rural high schools had jumped eighty per cent in the last four years while that of the city schools had increased twenty per cent.

"No other movement in our educational history has so stirred the ambitions of rural youth as the development of a real high school opportunity within reach of his home," Dr. Allen declared.

"The great forward movement in North Carolina, must be to equalize still further both the taxes for school support and the educational opportunity for children. This involves a wide plan of taxation and a fair method of distribution."

Dr. Allen presided over the last session of the conference this morning, at which there were addresses by Prof. George Strayer, of Teachers College, Columbia University, an authority in the field of the financing of public education, and by several State Superintendents of Public Instruction.

Pointing out that governmental expenditures have been rapidly increasing during the last twenty years, Professor Strayer said that "in no case is this increased expenditure more apparent than in the field of education."

"In 1910 the total expenditure for public education in the United States was approximately five hundred million dollars, and in 1926 we spent for the same purpose approximately two billion dollars," he said.

In view of the continued and rapid increase in the income of the people of the United States and the resultant shortening of working hours, "one of the serious problems of public education today is the provision of that type of education that will enable men and women to use their leisure time to best advantage," Professor Strayer said.

"In 1926 the people of the United States spent approximately 2.25 per cent of their income for public elementary and secondary education. Surely no one can propose that we have reached the limit of the proportion of our income that we can spend for education," he said.

More Policemen Are Discharged At Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The list of wealthy police executives discharged because of revelations as to liquor and bribery totals today 18—15 captains and 3 inspectors.

Three were dropped yesterday by the Civil Service trial board after they had been declared unfit for office by a special grand jury. They were Captains John Freeman, James B. Cross and James H. Elliott.

HOOVER GETS READY TO GO TO S. AMERICA

Complete Schedule of Trip To Be Worked Out After Tour Gets Under Way.

By JAMES L. WEST
Stanford University, Cal., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover will be west on his way toward South America for his good will tour before the details of his itinerary for the trip will be announced.

One day before the president-elect was to leave his home at Stanford University to journey to San Pedro to board the battleship Maryland for the voyage down the Pacific coast, there were still many gaps in the schedule for the trip, and doubt existed as to whether some of the stops that have been tentatively announced would be made.

A formal announcement issued at the Hoover home as final arrangements were being made for the departure, said that no definite itinerary would be available until after Mr. Hoover has conferred with Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Rome on board ship.

Because of the limited accommodations on the Maryland, Hoover has been obliged to restrict the size of his party, including himself and Mrs. Hoover, their son Allan, and Ambassador Fletcher, there will be an even dozen members of his personal party, exclusive of the 20 newspaper correspondents and news and motion picture camera men who will accompany him.

MISSOURI MAN PLANS TO SELL TOBACCO HERE

C. M. Holt Desirous Of Shipping His Tobacco For Sale On Local Market.

K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales of the Greenville tobacco market is in receipt of a letter from C. M. Holt, of Holt, Missouri, relative to the shipment of Missouri tobacco for sale on the Greenville market.

"I have been reading about prices of good tobacco in the Greenville Reflector, and would like to send a small shipment to you by express," Mr. Holt's letter read.

Mr. Cobb immediately answered the letter, giving information pertaining to the local market and replying to questions which Mr. Holt asked concerning the type of tobacco produced in this vicinity. The letter of the Missouri planter follows:

"Dear Sir: We raise White Burley tobacco in this part of the Missouri. I take your paper, Reflector, and see what prices good tobacco brings. Is the tobacco there fire cured or air cured out. I wonder if tobacco we grow here would sell on your market, and if it is the same type we raise. If it is I would like to send a small shipment to you by express and have you sell for me. We have a lot of tobacco now striped and ready for market. Kindly let me hear from you by return mail.

"Yours truly,
"C. M. HOLT.

Sinking Of Vestris To Come Before The House Of Commons

London, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The sinking of the Vestris is to come before the House of Commons.

Questions concerning the inquiry to be held by the Board of Trade into the disaster will be raised in Parliament by Commander Joseph M. Kenworthy, laborite, probably on Monday.

Commander Kenworthy will ask the president of the board of trade whether he will give what terms of inquiry is to be held, whether the lifeboats and arrangements for lowering them were adequate and whether he can give the probable cause of the sinking and loss of life.

COOLIDGE URGES ADOPTION OF CO-OPERATIVE PRINCIPLE BY AGRICULTURE INDUSTRY

Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Widespread adoption of the co-operative principle by the agricultural industry is advocated by President Coolidge as the most effective means of solving the farmer's marketing problems.

Speaking last night before the annual convention of the National Grange, the chief executive defined the co-operative system as a movement to unify all agencies of production, distribution and consumption, so that they can function as a coordinated whole which will sell at the right place and at the right time. To help in the advancement of the movement, the President said that the government might well provide an administrative board equipped with sufficient funds to demonstrate the soundness of the principle in its experimental stage.

In addition, Mr. Coolidge reviewed the development of American agriculture, citing two great periods of depression, in the wake of the Civil War and the World War, detailed the steps that the government has taken to relieve the latter and again expressed his opposition to any attempt at governmental fixing of farm produce prices or the establishment of a governmental subsidy.

Declaring that the farmer apparently had become well schooled in the art of production, President Coolidge asserted that the lesson of marketing had not been so well learned.

"One of the greatest handicaps of agriculture is overproduction," he said. "The world is hungry to consume all that the farmer ever raises. His difficulty arises from attempting to sell at the wrong time or the wrong place. The most successful method of meeting this difficulty has been through co-operative associations. They have enabled agriculture in a large way to take better advantage of all agencies of distribution, the bankers, the carriers, the commission merchants, the packers and millers."

Mr. Coolidge said that cooperative marketing sometimes had failed through lack of management, but added that it was "sound in theory and when conducted in a business-like way offers the most promising solution" for the farmer's marketing problems.

Assistant Federal Attorney Blakely had found the search worth while.

"I cannot divulge what it is," he said, "but we have found something to help our investigation."

World's Largest Investment Trust Planned In N. Y.

New York, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The New York Times says today that the largest investment trust in the world, in which will be held $500,000,000 of security holdings here in the world, is being organized here by representatives of the Fisher Brothers of Detroit.

The capital will be $210,000,000. It is expected that eventually a $1,000,000,000 organization will be built.

Among those mentioned as interested in the project is Arthur W. Cullen of Chicago, one of the largest holders of securities in the country.

The idea for the trust originated after the Fisher Brothers and associates had invested large amounts of surplus funds in various companies. They saw the need of an organization to hold these securities and considering the idea decided to expand the plan to allow some public participation.

THREE STATES ARE MENACED WITH FLOODS

Washouts And Inundations Reported From Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma.

Kansas City, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Latter weather today followed thirty-six hours of nearly continuous rainfall in Kansas, Missouri and northern Oklahoma to add to the suffering of many persons threatened by increasingly menacing floods in the tri-state area.

While the drenching torrents continued unabated the temperature slipped downward into the thirties here as fresh reports of inundations, washouts, and many persons were received. Many persons, especially in southeast Kansas lowlands and in west central Missouri, were prepared for or experiencing the worst floods in local history following the unprecedented November downpours, ranging in places up to 9 inches.

Three deaths already have resulted from the storm while two persons were seriously injured here by rain-flooded motorists. An unidentified motorist drowned when his automobile was swept into a loaded stream at Paola, Kansas, yesterday. The body was not recovered. C. E. Kins, a driller, was electrocuted at Mulberry, Kansas, when he slipped on wet planks. Hugh Reave was killed here last night when his stalled car was struck from behind by another automobile during a downpour.

Ten feet of water stood over three all-wood lines entering Kansas City today, and train service was partially paralyzed after 5 inches of rain. A railroad bridge was washed out, many people along flooded sections of the Blue River were driven to higher ground. A cabin at Clay Hill here covered 100 feet of street car track.

Thirty persons, who fled their homes in low sections of Augusta, Kansas, were marooned, their only water in the sand. The water, except there early today. The water was rising steadily and there was little hope of an early rescue because rowboats could not navigate in the swirling flood current.

MORE CLUES IN KILLING OF GAMBLER

Rothstein Believed Connected With Theft Of $4,000,000 Bond on Wall Street.

New York, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Police today pursued new leads to the slayer of Arnold Rothstein after the name of the slain gambler has been linked with a $4,000,000 Wall Street bond theft and an international narcotic ring.

Announcement that new clue had been found was made by police commissioner, Warren, who however, refused to divulge the nature.

The police had been given into Monday by Mayor Walker to produce "further facts" in the case or he threatened he would "take action."

In Surrogate's court an attorney for Aliger Gundersieve, referee in pending bankruptcy proceeding against "Nicky" Arnstein, filed an affidavit saying Rothstein was suspected of being "the fountain head" and receiver of $4,000,000 in missing securities stolen from Wall Street messengers in 1920. For that crime Arnstein served a prison term.

The affidavit was filed with a plea that Surrogate O'Brien name an impartial executor for the Rothstein estate. Members of the Rothstein family are seeking removal as executors of Maurice Cantor, Rothstein's attorney, Samuel Brown and William Wolman.

Federal agents in their quest for proof that Rothstein was the dominant figure in an international drug smuggling ring raided a strong box in the American Exchange Irving Trust Company, the only one of Rothstein's depositories yet found.

Under the heels of the declaration, Governor Long in a formal statement declared "We have paid no attention to, and will pay no attention to any opinion of the attorney general protecting the gambling interests, or which would make it impossible for us to enforce the law."

Vanderbilt Sails For Trip Around Old Mother Earth

Miami Beach, Fla., Nov. 17.—(AP)—W. K. Vanderbilt's yacht Ara sailed this morning on an eight months' round the world cruise in which the millionaire New York sportsman hopes to capture rare specimens of sea life for his private collection and for American museums.

Scientists, artists, fishing guides, mechanics and a surgeon, together with the most modern deep sea fishing equipment obtainable, combine to make the expedition one of the most complete of its kind ever attempted.

EARNINGS OF PRISONERS REACH NEW LEVEL

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Earnings of State prisoners hired out to contractors and mine owners reached a new peak in October. George Ross, superintendent of the State prison, reported today that the convicts earned $40,929.79 last month.

UNION LEADER SHOT TO DEATH AT CHICAGO

John Clay, Boss Of Laundry and Dye-house Chauffeurs' Union, Victim.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Guns of the racketeers, mute since they dealt death to Big Tim Murphy in mid-summer, pumped eight bullets last night into the body of John G. Clay, boss of the Laundry and Dye-house Chauffeurs' Union.

Killers never had a better target than the 59 year-old secretary and treasurer of the chauffeurs' union. Hew as seated at his desk, facing a front window of the union's headquarters on South Ashland avenue. Bathed in the bright light of his office, Clay was a perfect mark for the gunman who crept up on the porch which runs by the window and sent fire of a machine gun and a shotgun blazing through the glass.

The sound of running feet, the rear of a motor, the red tail light of a curtained automobile vanishing down the street, and the slayers had escaped.

Seven stewards of the union were in a room adjoining Clay's when shots were fired. They ran into the street too late to catch more than a fleeting glimpse of the machine in which the slayers fled.

A number of motives for the Clay killing were advanced by detectives today, and one was that it was a reprisal executed by friends of Big Tim. Another theory was that gangsters from other cities, attracted by what appeared to them to be big money in the Chicago "racket," had killed Clay, inaugurating a campaign to drive out those now in control.

New Japanese Rulers Feted

Kyoto, Japan, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The newly enthroned Emperor and Empress of Japan were hosts tonight to 2,000 guests in the third and last of the State banquets held to celebrate completion of the enthronement and the great thanksgiving. This feast, like the two which preceded it, was held in the magnificent hall erected in the Kyoto Palace enclosure especially for this purpose.

While the first of the three feasts was purely Japanese and the second purely Occidental, this concluding function was an international mingling of East and West to illustrate the harmony in which these two parts of the world can live together. An Occidental menu had been served during a musical program half of old Japan and half modern Europe and during intervals ancient classical Japanese dances were performed by court dancers.

The guest list again included the Foreign Diplomatic contingent of about 100 men and women, the American group being headed by Ambassador and Mrs. Charles MacVeach. The Japanese guests included most of those permitted to attend the ceremony of ascending the throne, the climatic observance of last Saturday, November 10.

Journal Exposes War

Moscow, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The Red Army newspaper, the "Red Star" today publishes what it describes as a detailed exposure of the activities of the French General staff in preparing for an anti-Soviet war.

The paper declares that the preparedness plan calls for uniform armaments in France, Rumania and Poland, the erection of armament plants in Rumania and Jugoslavia and the cooperation of the French fleet operating in the Baltic in support of the Polish and Rumanian armies.

Last Woman On Ship

Mrs. Cline Slaughter of Chicago, 21, last woman to leave the stricken Vestris, arrived in New York with 56 other survivors picked up by the tanker Myriam. She was met by her husband, who had been rescued by the American Shipper.

May Ask Aid Of Hoover To Free Two Prisoners

New York, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A suggestion that the aid of Herbert Hoover be sought in a movement to free Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings from California prisons has been endorsed at a meeting called by the American Civil Liberties Union.

Mooney and Billings are serving life terms. They were convicted of complicity in the preparedness day bombing in San Francisco in 1916.

At a meeting yesterday plans were made for forming a national committee. Sinclair Lewis, author, proposed that efforts be made to enlist Hoover, not as president-elect, but as a native Californian.

Will Irwin, Hoover's biographer, was suggested as the means of approach to the president-elect. Both Mr. Irwin and his wife, Inez Hayes Irwin, also a writer, were described at the meeting as supporters of the movement.

Woman Doctor Tries To Take Her Own Life

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—(AP)—With two self-inflicted bullet wounds near her heart, Dr. Virginia Alvarez Hussey, who last July created a sensation by "confessing" that she had slain her husband, Lindley M. Hussey, and "the other woman," was in a critical condition today at the Misericordia Hospital.

After the police had found Hussey and "the other woman," Mrs. Grace Tetlow Sauvour, wealthy divorcee, alive at an artists' colony near Sergeantsville, N. J., Dr. Hussey was pronounced mentally unbalanced and committed to the Norristown State Hospital. She was released two months ago and friends said she and her husband had become reconciled, although they were not living together. Dr. Hussey, a graduate of the Woman's Medical College of this city and a daughter of a former minister of war of Venezuela, was found unconscious in her room last night by Mrs. M. Cherriere, who conducts the apartment house. Two bullets had pierced her breast and a .32-caliber pistol was tightly grasped in her hand.

KNOCKED IN HEAD AND THEN ROBBED

Fayetteville, Nov. 17.—(AP)—M. J. Averitt, aged clerk in a grocery store in the negro district of this city, was knocked in the head by a negro today and robbed of about $400 which he had just removed from the safe.

Averitt was unable to recognize his assailant, however, and officers were searching for him this afternoon.

FIRST OFFICER OF VESTRIS GOES ON STAND TODAY IN FEDERAL INVESTIGATION

"With what representatives of the line have you talked?"
"Mr. Clark, one of the lawyers of the line, another lawyer—I don't remember his name."
"When did you talk to them?"
"Tuesday evening."
"Talk to anybody else representing the line?"
"Captain Heasley, marine superintendent of the line."
"Anybody else?"
"Captain Regan."
"Did you talk to any of these men Thursday, Friday or Wednesday?"

"I went to the lawyer's office Thursday evening."
"Whom did you meet there?"
"Mr. Clark."
"Who told you Sunday night that something was wrong?"

"The ship took a heavy lurch and I went around to see what, if any, damage had been done. I was anxious about the deck cargo. They reported to me that the cargo had shifted—that bulkheads had broken down and that the cargo was in the fo'c'stles."
"What is your explanation of why the ship sank?"
"Exceptionally bad weather."
"You don't claim that the 12 tons of cargo shifting 15 feet sank the ship?"

"No."
"There must have been water in her hold somewhere, wasn't there?"
"Yes."
"What was the capacity of your pumps?"
"I don't know."
"There was water coming into that ship somewhere. Where was it coming from?"
"That's just what we tried to find out."

"You were the first officer of that ship. Have you no explanation of who she sank?"
"No."
"Have you got even a theory?"
As Johnson hesitated, Tuttle flung another question at him.

"The colored members of the crew," he said, "men nowhere near so well educated as you, say that the coal bunkers were filled with water. You hear that with water?"
"My opinion was that it was not the coal bunkers," Johnson replied.

"Then where was the water coming from?"
"Water was coming in between decks."
"Was the side of the ship broken?"
"Something must have sprung."
"The coal in the bunkers—where was it placed?"
"Amidships."

"What was the way of getting into coal bunkers inside for an examination?"
"There was no way."
"Couldn't you go into the coal bunkers from top or sides?"
"You could come from the top, but not under the coal."
"You or any officer of the boat make any examination in the coal bunkers before she sank?"

"No."
"Didn't you look to see where the water was coming in?"
"Water was coming in between decks and we couldn't get down there."
"Between decks? Above or below the coal ports?"
"Below."
"Was the water coming in the coal ports?"
"No."

The officer said the Vestris' log was lost with the ship as far as he knew.

He then told of the ship being hoisted to Sunday noon with engines idling but he had no idea when the engines stopped.

"You know anything about messages to other ships?"
"Nothing. I was never on the bridge."
"Ever ask the captain about an S. O. S.?"
"I asked the captain Monday if he had sent one. He said, 'yes'."

New York, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Evasion in testimony by the two surviving radio operators of the Vestris led to a vigorous effort by federal officials today to determine whether SOS calls were delayed by orders from the owners.

United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle asked steamship companies whose vessels assisted in the rescue work to submit at the inquiry which he is conducting copies of all messages exchanged with the Vestris. The Navy Department issued similar orders to all its stations, while the Radio Marine Corporation, which produced one message, continued a search of its files for further exchanges between the Vestris and its owners.

Under summons to testify at this afternoon's session were Chief Officer Frank M. Johnson, surviving ranking officer of the Vestris, and the commanding officer of the Voltaira, another Lampport & Holt liner, which was bound north, and if delayed would have been near the Vestris at the time it sank. Radio messages between the Vestris and the Voltaira were ordered produced.

Attorney Tuttle at yesterday's hearing questioned Charles Verchere, 18 year old third wireless operator of the Vestris, and James T. MacDonald, second wireless man, in an attempt to learn what radio messages had been sent prior to the SOS but was met with evasive answers.

Verchere, when pressed closely by Tuttle, finally said that "maybe" Captain Carey of the Vestris had sent a message to the line's agents Sunday night, telling them that the ship was in a bad condition.

"Didn't you tell me downstairs there was one reading 'We may need help'?" (This, Mr. Tuttle's questions indicated, Verchere had told him was sent out Sunday night hours before the vessel sank).

"Yes, I forgot," Verchere answered. MacDonald denied knowledge of any messages sent to the owners telling of trouble the ship was having previous to the general call to all ships Monday to stand by and then the SOS.

Arthur S. Costigan of the Radio Marine Corporation, testified the corporation had found only one message sent by Captain Carey to the line offices and that was after the SOS had been sent.

The message had 11 a. m., Monday, November 12, stamped on it and read:

"Have to from noon yesterday. During night developed 32 degree list. Starboard decks under water. Ship lying on beam ends. Impossible to proceed anywhere. Sea moderately rough."

GORMAN'S MARKET REPORT

The sales were much lighter the last of the week. All houses cleaned up Thursday and Friday. Prices were good at GORMAN'S all the week. We sold 640,458 pounds and only had two first sales. We averaged $25.45 for all sold. Of course the thin cutlery and nondescript types were not as high as two weeks ago; but we had scores of farmers tell us our's was the best sale as to prices they had seen, and we have had many loads taken in at other houses and other markets and brought to us, which paid handsome profits. The bodied filled out to bacco and fine brights are as high as they have been, if the warehouseman knows the grades and has the nerve to back his judgment, but everybody don't know, and this makes a big difference in the selling price. We get three first sales the coming week, but do not look for any blocks, and believe we can sell you any day if we do not have first sale. Send us your tobacco and you will be satisfied. We protect you. We have first sale Monday, second sale Tuesday, first sale Wednesday, second sale Thursday and first sale Friday. Below we give you a few sales made Thursday and Friday:

Warren & E. Bullock—536 pounds for $296.30. Prices, 67, 59, 52, 54, 54, 50. Average	$55.28
C. A. Nelson—770 pounds for $429.94. Prices, 50, 51, 63, 66. Average	$55.83
Perkins & W.—772 pounds for $437.58. Prices, 49, 55, 57, 60, 61. Average	56.55
J. M. Harrell—598 pounds for $311.90. Prices, 35, 48, 50, 57, 58, 60, 62. Average	$52.16
J. P. Oakley—526 pounds for $292.36. Prices, 16, 61, 66. Average	$55.58

HAMS—HAMS—HAMS Hurrah for Thanksgiving! I was in Onslow County yesterday and secured fifty hams from Sheriff Walton, noted ham dealer in Onslow County. These hams are the finest I have ever seen and were probably the last of this fine ham to be found in the county. He had planned to take these hams to Raleigh Monday, but I was able to persuade him to let me have them for my customers in Greenville. He stated that he had customers in Raleigh and other sections of the state that preferred these fine hams to Smithfield or any other known brand. These hams are indeed beauties and delicious, and your Thanksgiving dinner will not be complete without one of them. As the supply is limited and we probably will be unable to get more, don't put off getting yours now. Call or come to BILL ALLEN'S PLACE Grand Avenue and Virginia Street Phone 780-W. For twenty years I have served many customers in and around Greenville and their insistence was responsible for my trip to Onslow County yesterday to secure these fine hams. (Adv.)

Washington Social Events

Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Washington's greatest social show of the year took place at the White House Thursday evening when the President and Mrs. Coolidge gave their annual reception and that of New Year's Day that the ambassadors, ministers and other members of the corps wear their court uniforms and all of their decorations, while the ladies from foreign lands are looked to for some startling innovations in styles.

This was the second of the series of the state entertainments held annually by the President and the First Lady, and it was considered the most interesting held in years. A new ambassador from Japan and his wife were present and the ambassador from Germany and a number of foreign ministers were looked upon with keen interest as they made their debuts at a diplomatic reception.

Fifty-five countries were represented and the blaze of gold and white, red and blue of the uniforms combined with the glittering toilers of the bejeweled drawing room suite of the White House look like fairy land.

Mrs. Coolidge introduced a new fashion to Washington in the huge peacock feather fan she carried, the wide spread of the richly carved sticks showing hundreds of richly colored eyes of the plumage. It was this same fan that lent charm to her simpler gown worn at the cabinet dinner a week ago.

Miss Elise Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Alexander, of Cleveland, Ohio, and great-granddaughter of James Hoban, architect of the White House, was among those at the reception. This debutante was brought to Washington for her coming out because of family tradition.

Many sections of the country were represented among the debutantes presented this week. Miss Peggy Tyner, daughter of Mrs. Elton Tyner, of Chicago and Washington, having the largest and most splendid coming out. Mrs. Tyner gave a ball at the Mayflower Hotel. The bud and her mother were accompanied from the White House reception Thursday night—the date of the Tyner ball—by several hundred diplomats, official and resident society folk.

The first debutante of the season was Miss Mignon Shirley, daughter of former Representative Swager Shirley and Mrs. Shirley, of Louisville, Ky. Miss Shirley's uncle, Douglas Shirley, was for many years a social leader in Louisville, and the debut of Miss Shirley brought out all the southern contingent of Washington society. Another southern belle had her coming out tea dance Monday when Mrs. Chester A. Snow presented her niece, Nancy Beale, granddaughter of the late Thetus Sims, of Tennessee, for many years a member of the House.

While Miss Marian Jardine, daughter of the Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Jardine, is the only cabinet debutante this season; Miss Laura Frances Otis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Otis, of St. Paul, is here with her uncle and aunt, the Secretary of State and Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg, who will give an elaborate dinner dance in her honor tonight.

Next Thursday the President and Mrs. Coolidge will give their dinner for the diplomatic corps, the following Thursday. Thanksgiving Day, being held open for a family dinner.

Noted Lecturer Here Monday

To point out to young people some of the possibilities for pleasure and profit that lie within books, to emphasize to educators the necessity of school libraries in stimulating in boys and girls a wholesome curiosity about books and a desire to possess books, and to help stress the importance of the public library in community life, Mr. Henry L. Cecil of the National Lecture Bureau of the National Association of Book Publishers is speaking to schools, educational groups, clubs and library meetings throughout the South. Mr. Cecil, in his capacity as lecturer, teacher and school superintendent, has come in close contact with the reading needs of people in many parts of the country, particularly boys and girls. He has lectured before grade schools and high schools in New England, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and the Middle West; he has addressed State Normal Schools and Teachers' Colleges in New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Minnesota. He is now doing intensive promotion of school and public libraries in Kentucky, North Carolina, Tennessee and other Southern States.

Mr. Cecil will speak at the Greenville high school, Monday afternoon at 1:30 and 2:30 o'clock. His subject will be "Pleasure and Profit in Books." This engagement has been made through Mrs. Luther Herring, librarian at the high school, who is planning to have Mr. Cecil speak at some of the other Greenville schools on the same day. The public—men, women and children—are urged to hear this noted lecturer discuss a subject near to the hearts of American people.

Increased Interest Shown In Aviation. Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—An increased interest in aviation is reflected in applications for training received by the army air corps. During the fiscal year which ended last June 30 there were 3,833 such applications as compared with 1,963 in the previous year. However, but 506 applicants qualified.

Major General James E. Pecht, chief of the air corps, in his annual report to Secretary Davis today, said that lack of funds to permit the immediate commissioning of the air school graduate is hampering the fulfillment of the air corps' five year program. The number of enlisted pilots has steadily decreased, the report said, primarily because of the increased commercial flying activities which offer these men better pay than governmental agencies. "If the air corps is to retain its

Attempt To Refute Cruelty Charges In Dr. Anderson's Case

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Attempting to refute charges of cruelty and neglect of patients embodied in one of the counts in the bill charging Dr. Albert Anderson, superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane, with malfeasance in office, the defense today continued its testimony concerning the treatment accorded LaFayette Parker and E. B. Ham, patients, who were victims of violent deaths at the institution.

It was the sixth day of the trial in Wake Superior Court and defense counsel indicated that numerous other witnesses were yet to be examined before the state gets its chance to offer rebuttal evidence. Evidence concerning the treatment of Parker and Ham was offered by the defense with members of the hospital medical staff, nurses, attendants of the institution and Dr. Henry Turner, a Raleigh surgeon, united in their declarations that both patients were given all the care and treatment possible prior to their deaths. With the exception of the testimony tending to show that the two patients were not neglected or treated cruelly by the superintendent or any one else, the only other testimony during the morning session was along the lines of the financial management of the hospital. Henry Burke, director of the North Carolina budget system, testified that all the books and accounts of the institution were properly kept.

ESCAPED PRISONER TAKEN TO RALEIGH. Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Dr. J. H. Norman, State prison warden, was expected to arrive in Raleigh this afternoon with John H. Cameron, of Hoke County, who escaped from the prison December 21, 1924, and who remained at large until this week when he was found working in a saw mill at Sylacauga, Alabama. Information received here was that Cameron admitted his identity. He had served less than a year of a 20-year sentence for second degree murder. Dr. Norman also is escorting back James Webb, of Randolph county, who was arrested at the same Alabama town. Webb escaped last March after serving a year and a half of a three to five year sentence for larceny.

THE VESTRIS DISASTER

It was a terrible tragedy, the sinking of the Vestris with its loss of human life, and while no verdict can yet be rendered in the case it looks bad from the evidence now in. While, for the feelings of those who lost loved ones in the tragedy, a verdict of "Nobody to blame" would be desirable, it appears now that the findings will prove to the contrary.

SOLVING THE FARM PROBLEM

The problem of farm relief is not so simple that any single remedy will solve it, but Franklin Roosevelt, Governor-elect of New York, is on the right track when he points out the need of tax reduction. The total amount of taxes on farm property increased from $340,000,000 in 1914 to $870,000,000 in 1927.

plained that the farmer gets value received for his taxes by having improved roads and improved schools. Unquestionably, farmers have received great benefits in return for the higher taxes they pay, and their standard of living has been measurably raised, but it will do them little good to have fine roads and modern school-houses if in the process of getting them they are bankrupted by high taxes.

Mr. Roosevelt shows an intelligent comprehension of the farm relief problem in his discussion of the farm tax problem. The country will await with great interest the outcome of his investigations in New York State. He has before him a great opportunity to perform a public service for the nation as well as for the State of New York.—News and Observer.

ABOUT TOWN

"Greenville people extend a cordial welcome to Rev. C. A. Hillman, new pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church," said a member of the denomination today.

"Members of the local chapter of the Red Cross wish to express their appreciation to the people of Greenville and Pitt county for their liberal support of Roll Call week," said members of the organization today.

"We haven't had a paper in a week, lady," complained a citizen from Farmville today, bending over the counter of the circulation department, squinting long and hard at the manager of circulation.

"That the end of the season is drawing near is indicated by the amount of common grade, trashy tobacco appearing on the market from day to day," said a member of the local market today.

"The approach of Thanksgiving season reminds one of the many blessings which this section of the county should be thankful for this year," said a local citizen today.

"Don't forget that live 'live at home' program while planning for next year's crop," urged members of the Pitt County Department of Agriculture today.

Believes Britain Should Probe The Vestris Disaster

London, Nov. 16—(AP)—The Morning Post, independent conservative paper, in an editorial today on the Vestris disaster said: "In the peculiar circumstances it is inevitable that there should be an American inquiry. The Vestris was engaged in the American coastal trade, sailing under American regulations. But as she was a British ship, we think, in the interests of both justice and the British Mercantile Marine, there should also be an inquiry under the British Board of Trade.

RESCUE SHIPWRECK VICTIMS

The battle ship Wyoming (above), which dropped maneuvers at Hampton Roads to help search for survivors of the Vestris disaster. It picked up several persons from the floating wreckage. A leading part in the rescue operations fell to the shipping board steamer American Shipper (below). Early on the scene, it rescued 125 survivors and brought them back to New York.

Makes Plea For Enforcement Of Prohibition Law

Boston, Nov. 17—(AP)—A plea for an enlightened public conscience as the ultimate hope of prohibition forces was made today by Dr. M. ONLY FOUR CONFERENCE GAMES TODAY

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 17.—(AP)—All but four of the 22 teams in the southern conference were pitted against family foes today before some 150,000 football followers. Five of these aggregations—Georgia Tech, Florida, Tennessee V. P. I. and Louisiana State were defending unblemished conference records.

First in importance on the basis of an estimated 25,000 attendance, was the Georgia Tech-Alabama game at Atlanta, wherein Tech, undefeated anywhere and victorious in four conference encounters engaged a team that had whipped the yellow jackets in four out of their last five games.

But none the less, the Yellow Jackets were favorites, while the Crimson Tide, trimmed by Tennessee and Wisconsin, was staging a comeback of as yet untried scope.

Florida's scoring machine, holding high national ranking and also unbeaten anywhere, tackled at Jacksonville a rejuvenated Clemson Tiger who had lost only to Mississippi this year. The "Gators," like Tech, have scored four conference victories and based their confidence also on the record of four straight victories against Clemson since their first engagement in 1911. Consequently the "Gators" were favorites before a crowd of 15,000.

Tennessee's Volunteers went to Nashville intent on their purpose to beat Vanderbilt, vanquished by Georgia Tech alone. If the Vols succeed before some 15,000 spectators, they will accomplish a feat they have been unable to perform since 1916. The traditional clash ended in a tie last year. Tennessee had the edge today, by virtue of her four conference victories, but it was very slim.

The two other unbeaten eleven, V. P. I. and Louisiana State, were favored over Washington and Lee at Lexington and Georgia at Athens, respectively. V. P. I. has won three conference victories and Louisiana State two.

Both Sewanee and Tulane had revised their style of play for a clash at New Orleans; Auburn's Tigers and the Mississippi Aggies were similarly rejuvenated in their Birmingham meet; Maryland, conqueror of Yale last week, and Virginia, who tied Princeton, were at College Park for their fourth game since 1919; meanwhile Kentucky engaged V. M. I. at Lexington.

The four remaining teams were outside the conference, North Carolina State engaging the Duke Blue Devils at Raleigh; South Carolina taking on Furman at Columbia; the University of North Carolina going to Davidson for annual engagement, and the University of Mississippi taking on Southwestern.

WISCONSIN AND IOWA FIGHT FOR LEADERSHIP

Iowa City, Iowa, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Undisputed leadership of the Western Conference, and more than likely the 1928 championship itself was the stake for which the universities of Iowa and Wisconsin fought today. The field, as was the case throughout the midwest, was muddy and the prediction was for rain at game time.

Each team had his best material available. Wisconsin's aerial and speed artists Cusnier, Behr, Lusby and Reholtz being matched by the batteries of Iowa, McLain, the Cherokee charger, Armit and Farroh, with Glassgow injecting an element of speed.

WILDCATS PREPARED TO MEET UNIVERSITY

Davidson, N. C., Nov. 17.—(AP)—With both squads in good trim, the Tar Heels and the Wildcats will clash here today. And while the University of North Carolina is favored to win, observers predicted today that fans will likely see an excellent scrap with possibility of an upset. The starting whistle will blow at 2:30 p. m.

The Heels arrived last night. Pap Hadden and Tommy Greenham, left backs; Bernard Schneider, center, and Julian Fenner, end, are the only players kept off the trip by injuries.

Two changes are noted in Davidson's lineup. Middleton will take the right flank instead of David and Capt. Baker is replacing Leftwich at right tackle.

GOBBLERS TO MEET GENERALS TODAY

Lexington, Va., Nov. 17.—(AP)—With both teams on edge and Virginia Polytechnic Institute attempting to continue its march for State and Conference honors, the Gobblers are to meet the Generals of Washington and Lee on the gridiron here this afternoon. It is reported this morning that the Generals have arranged material changes in the lineup, shifting to meet the Pony Express attack of V. P. I.

CARNEGIE TAKES ON NOTRE DAME

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Carnegie Tech's future, rating as a contender for the national football championship depended on a victory over the University of Notre Dame today.

Undefeated in six games, they brought with them a reputation of being stronger than Army, more powerful than the New York University eleven, and just now at the peak of their game.

NOTRE DAME'S BACKFIELD STARS

The football world was all ready to call these Notre Dame boys "the poor horsemen." Then they wheeled about and ran rough shod over the Army's husky team, showing enough in that game to make them worthy successors to "the four horsemen." They are, left to right: Chevigny, halfback; Collins, fullback; Niemic, halfback; and in front, Brady, 140-pound quarterback.

Vanderbilt Ready To Begin His Trip Around The World

Miami, Fla., Nov. 17.—(AP)—W. K. Vanderbilt, New York millionaire, today came to the beginning of one of the greatest adventures of his life—his first trip around the world. He sails as Captain, Pilot and navigator of his Patrol Yacht "Ara" in search of rare and unknown specimens of marine life.

With him are several enthusiasts in the work including Mrs. Vanderbilt and members of the Vanderbilt family. The party arrived at 2:00 a. m. aboard the Vanderbilt private car from New York, and immediately set off for their estate on Fisher's Island, where the "Ara" awaited them.

Aboard the vessel were steel cages for fishing at a depth of two miles, dynamite to use against elusive specimens at greater depths, and a complete line of other fishing tackle. Nets of various kinds, for use in shallow water and as far down as one mile are aboard, while thousands of feet of whale line also were taken along, although little whale fishing was expected.

The "Ara" sails for the Panama Canal on the first leg of a trip that Mr. Vanderbilt has planned for many years.

ALABAMA TO PLAY GEORGIA TECH TODAY

Atlanta, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A badly battered but determined Crimson football team from the University of Alabama brought another super-threat to Grant Field, home of the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets today with some 25,000 expected to cheer their favorites.

Coach Wallace Wade had 29 of his Tuscaloosa stalwarts on hand but many of the number were injured, some in such condition that play will be impossible.

To match this United States Coach William A. Alexander of the Golden Tornado had his big guns ready.

HOOVER BULL MARKET SETS HIGH RECORD

N. Y. Exchange Shattered Record Yesterday With Sale Of 6,000,000 Shares.

New York Nov. 17--(AP)--The "Hoover" Bull market had a new park to shoot at today--an all time record day's turnover of 6,000,000 shares, the first time in stock exchange history that the 6,000,000 mark has been reached.

Last spring a 4,000,000-share market was considered a first page newspaper story. Every full trading day this week but one the market had gone over 5,000,000 shares.

Even the mechanical facilities have been expanded since yesterday being 2 hours and three minutes behind the market at the close. It is hoped that the high speed printers proposed and the leaving out of sales volume up to 500 share blocks will take care of that end, but the system is not expected to be put into effect before next fall.

With nearly every order a rush one "at the market" the scenes on the floor of the exchange this week have exceeded any ever witnessed before. Under the stress of crowded tables, brokers fight and scramble on the floor screaming orders, the noise rolling out and echoing back from the canons of the financial district, a mighty shout is compared to the ordinary hum of voices.

Indist Members Protection Ring

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 17--(AP)--Characterized as members of a "protection ring," the McCormick of Heaton, Ill., his chief of police, Edin Stauga, his brother, Peter McCormick, and a Herrin policeman, and Alvin Mysker, water department superintendent, were under indictment today.

COTTON MARKET

New York, Nov. 17--(AP)--The cotton market opened steady at 5 points higher to 1 point lower and early in the day was reactionary under December liquidation and southern selling. December declined to 19.51 and March to 19.46, but trade buying and week end covering due to heavy rains in the southeast gave the market a steady undertone and prices hardened during the first half hour, although the volume of business was not large. The amount of cotton on ship-board awaiting clearance at the end of the week estimated at 500,000 bales against 122,594 last year. Private cables reported trade selling, Continental and Bombay buying absorbing hedges; fair cloth sales to the Continent and South America; yarns slow.

GRAIN MARKET

By JOHN F. BOUGHAN, Associated Press Market Editor. Chicago, Nov. 17--(AP)--Wheat prices declined somewhat today on account of selling that was generally associated with President Coolidge's statements last night dealing with agricultural matters. As a whole, the amount of wheat trading today was light, and the market locally influenced. Prospects of clearing weather did a good deal to advance corn values after an early advance. Wheat closed easy, 1-4 to 1-2c net lower, corn 5-8c to 7-8c off, oats unchanged to 1-8c-1-4c up and provisions unchanged to a setback of 1-4c.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Nov. 17--(AP)--Frenzied trading in stocks continued in today's brief session of the market, which assumed record breaking proportions. The main price movement was still upward but the advance lost some of its violence, and a numbing mass of issues fell back under an enormous volume of week-end profit taking. The ticker again fell hopelessly behind the market.
