

Nine Lives Snuffed Out By Tornado In South Carolina; Several Homes Demolished

Half Dozen Persons Also Seriously Injured as Storm Demon Strikes Suddenly At Six Mile Village In Pickens County; Entire Family Wiped out When Home Collapses.

Greenville, S. C., March 14.—(AP)—In a steady downpour of rain and with a fairly high wind prevailing, the surviving citizens of Six Miles, village of 200 inhabitants in Pickens county, today counted as a toll of last night's tornado nine dead and half a dozen seriously injured.

Five houses in the little community, which today was cut off from telephonic communication with the outside world, were demolished by the storm which struck at about 8.30 and lasted but half a minute, according to residents. Lightning and thunder accompanied the wind.

Doctors, newspapermen and others who were trying to reach the scene of the storm found roads in very bad condition today and were having difficulty in reaching Six Mile.

Several members of the B. S. Smith household were slightly injured.

A survey of the section today showed that seven dwellings, a cotton gin and several barns were wrecked.

A Mr. and Mrs. Curtis, injured in the collapse of their home when it was struck by the tornado when it swept through the Six Mile community, were in a serious condition at an early hour today and little hope was held for their recovery.

An unidentified negro woman was also believed to be gravely hurt and between five and ten other persons were nursing less serious injuries.

Arrival Of Stimson To Witness Many Changes In Diplomatic Corps

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—Sweeping changes in the diplomatic corps and a slight shakeup of State Department officials are to follow the arrival here of Henry L. Stimson, newly appointed Secretary of State, who is due home from the Philippines the last of this month.

President Hoover now holds the resignations of all of the American diplomatic representatives and the high officers of the department, but he is withholding action upon them until after he can hold a series of conferences with his Secretary of State.

However, it is known that he will have a number of highly important suggestions to make to Mr. Stimson and the general expectation is that these will be put into effect next month or as soon thereafter as may be practicable.

Information now is that William R. Castle, Jr., assistant secretary of state, will succeed J. Reuben Clark, Jr., as under-secretary. Mr. Clark having signified his urgent desire to retire to private life.

The resignations of some of the other higher officers of the department also probably will be accepted. Mr. Hoover carried to the White House some very definite ideas about a realignment of the diplomatic corps, based in large part upon his observations during his good will tour of Latin America, but also upon a thoroughgoing study of the whole foreign service situation.

As a result of this study, Mr. Hoover is expected to effect a realignment of the American diplomatic representatives around the globe as anticipated.

A new ambassador is to be sent to the most important of all the posts, that at the court of St. James, London. Mr. Houghton of New York is to retire as ambassador to Great Britain and while his successor has not yet been selected, it is known that President Hoover is hopeful that he can obtain the services of former Vice-President Charles G. Dawes.

There are also likely to be new faces at a number of European posts, but the present representatives to the larger countries on the continent may be retained. Hugh S. Gibson, who is to head the American delegation to the preliminary arms conference at Geneva, desires to return to his post as ambassador to Belgium after his special assignment at Geneva has been completed.

TO ENLARGE ROTARY CLUB HOME HERE

Begin Construction Work on Only Rotary Club Building In The World.

Keeping pace with the healthy increase in membership, the Rotary club today announced the beginning of construction work in connection with improvements to the club building on rotary avenue.

The structure is the only Rotary owned building in the world, so far as known, and is a source of pride to the membership of one of the most active clubs in the country.

The improvements will consist of the addition of sun parlor and reception room, and rearrangement of the banquet hall which will nearly double its present seating capacity.

There will also be other changes that will take care of the growth of the club for the next several years, it was stated.

The local club is proud of the distinction of owning the only Rotary building in the world. When they announced completion of the structure several years ago it created something of a sensation among the thousands of club members on scattered over many different nations.

The achievement was commented on by virtually all leading publications, and the club naturally took a prominent position in Rotary life.

FLOOD PERIL INCREASES IN THIS STATE

Heavy Rains Flood Streams in Western Carolina; Alabama Hard Hit Also.

Asheville, March 14.—(AP)—The peril of devastating floods confronted all Western North Carolina today as mountain streams and rivers, swollen by torrential rains of the past twenty-four hours, threatened to burst from their banks.

More rain was predicted for tonight and Friday morning.

Reports from Burnsville, Marion, Bryson City, Sylva, Rutherfordton, Brevard, Hendersonville, Marshall and other towns told of heavy rainfall with streams and rivers out of banks in many places while the Asheville Gauging station of the French Broad river showed it to be 1.8 feet above flood stage and still rising.

Little damage had been reported at noon today as the result of high water.

At Marshall, where the French Broad had cut a stream through the tiny island that forms the site for the Marshall school building, the school basement was flooded and the pupils were sent to their homes.

There was growing alarm through out Western North Carolina as more rain appeared imminent, despite a period shortly before noon when in Asheville, and other districts, the downpour ceased for a time.

The French Broad Gauging station in Asheville reported that the river had risen 3 of a foot in three hours to attain its stage of 5.8 feet, or 1.8 above flood stage at 11 o'clock.

Mobile, Ala., March 14.—(AP)—A rainfall of four inches in 24 hours ending at 7 o'clock this morning and which continued heavily, caused backwater in low parts of Mobile to flood streets, waist deep in some places and hundreds of people were marooned in outlying sections of the city.

The police department received calls in several instances for boats for people to move to high places. Some of the downtown stores closed on account of the water coming in on the first floors.

Railroad traffic in and out on all roads is delayed and automobile traffic in the country is paralyzed as the highways are dangerous.

Eastern Nebraska faced a serious menace with rivers overflowing in several places and ice jams battering bridges.

Children of the seventh grades of the Model school who went to Raleigh on a sightseeing trip yesterday morning, returned last night highly pleased with the splendid reception which they received in the capital city.

They had the privilege of visiting virtually all points of interest, including the legislature, and learned much about how the government of North Carolina is operated.

FLOOD WATERS PLAY HAVOC IN FOUR STATES

Farm Land and Building Flooded in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Illinois.

Chicago, March 14.—(AP)—Two days of spring had created flood havoc in Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska today.

Many hundreds of acres of farm land were flooded; streets and buildings in some places were filled with water; rail and highway traffic was disrupted; and bridges were torn away.

Pain and fever temperatures, melting the winter's last snows and breaking up the ice and turned the Mississippi's tributaries into ice-glutted torrents.

Hundreds of men worked on dikes while others watched ice no longer preparing to use dynamite wherever bridges were threatened.

Virtually all streams in northwest Missouri and southern Iowa were out of their banks today. Several towns were partially isolated and many thousands of dollars' damage had been done.

Eastern Nebraska faced a serious menace with rivers overflowing in several places and ice jams battering bridges.

HOOVER ASKED FOR OPINION ON WORLD COURT

Agreement For U. S. Adherence Soon To Be Placed Before Chief Executive.

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—President Hoover soon will be called upon to pass judgment upon the latest effort of American statesmen to bring about American adherence to the World Court.

An agreement worked out by Elihu Root and a number of foreign jurists at Geneva which would place the way for adherence by this government is expected shortly in Washington and will be turned over immediately to the White House by the State Department for the President's attention.

The agreement deals with the reservation of the Senate respecting advisory opinions and while some concern has been expressed by Senate leaders regarding the trend of the Root conference in this field, the opinion holds among both Republicans and Democratic Senators that Mr. Root is able and experienced enough to safeguard American interests.

The formula contrived by Mr. Root and his associates permits an exchange of views between the United States and the League of Nations council both before and after the court has received a request for an advisory opinion affecting the interest of this country.

It is intended to take the place of the Senate reservation which stipulated that the court shall not entertain an opinion in any matter in which the United States has, or claims to have, an interest.

Changes in the wording of this formula as originally proposed by Mr. Root, which were made the suggestion of Sir Cecil Hurst of Great Britain, have caused a number of Senate leaders to express concern over its acceptability but, along with the State Department, they have expressed a willingness to await the text of the whole proposed protocol before arriving at any conclusions.

Noted Burglar Held In Indiana

Indianapolis, Ind., March 14.—(AP)—Leland Lakes, 35, of Norfolk Va., was held by police last night as he was burglarizing a north side home.

Lakes was arrested by police today. He admitted burglarizing a home on the north side of the city.

He was arrested by police today. He admitted burglarizing a home on the north side of the city.

Mrs. Frank A. Schmedel called police after she heard breaking glass and saw beams of a flashlight next door. Lakes refused to answer police shouts to come out, but two tear gas bombs brought about his surrender.

The founder of the Coca Cola Company died Tuesday following an extended illness, leaving explicit instructions for his funeral. Members of his family said they would be followed in detail.

Atlanta Honors Memory of Candler. Atlanta, March 14.—(AP)—City officials and private citizens joined today in honoring the memory of Asa C. Candler, who was to be buried in West View cemetery following funeral services at 11 a. m. at his home with Dr. Frankie N. Deane, dean of Emory University, officiating.

Mexican Revolutionaries Begin To Falter Along Northern Border Today

RAYON STRIKE THREATENS TO SPREAD TODAY

Disturbances May Affect Adjoining Textile Plant at Elizabethtown, Tenn.

Elizabethtown, Tenn., March 14.—(AP)—Disturbances at the huge rayon plant of the American Glanzstoff Corporation that followed the strike of several hundred employes yesterday, today threatened to spread to the American-Bainberg Company, adjoining textile plant, unless demands of a strikers' committee were granted.

The general strike that developed suddenly when a body of women in the inspection department walked out, caused the closing of the rayon plant when strikers became disorderly and a riot threatened.

Two mass meetings of workers followed and a local union of the United Textile Workers of America was formed. A committee was appointed to call on Dr. Arthur Morrow, president to ask his permission for the workers to return as an organized body.

The president placed the blame for the strike reaching serious proportions on the lack of co-operation from the strikers' office.

Winter Term Is Closed At Local College

Final examinations Monday and Tuesday closed the winter term of East Carolina Teachers College. Registration for the spring term will take place today and regular class work will begin tomorrow.

The graduation class for the term just closing consists of 16 young women—twelve of which graduated from the two year normal course and four from the four year college course with the degree of A. B.

The enrollment for the past term has been approximately 800. Forty new students are expected to register for work in the spring term to fill the places made vacant by those graduating and dropping out for other reasons.

For a number of years the college has had a surplus of waiting list for each term than it could accommodate. All of the available space in the college for next year has been taken for the past two months and the college has already had to refuse a large number of students for the coming year.

The A. B. graduates are as follows: Mary Jennette Forbes, Greenville; Ruby Pauline Midyette, Greenville; Rosalie Rives, Sanford; Clara Lee Spruill, Columbia.

The graduates of the normal course are as follows: Sallie Maude Atkinson, Greenville; Camille Bateman, Columbia; Elma Vanderve Brinson, Araphoe; Lollie Belle Brown, Ivanhoe; Rena Elizabeth Charlton, Moyock; Edith Draper, Fayetteville; Mary Virginia Fossil, Abbeville; Cora Estel Lee, Greenville; Myrtle Virginia Pree, Wadesboro; Mittie Coffield Smith, Greenville; Rosa Lee Sivills, Gregory; Mildred Tingle, Oriental.

Rebels Claim Capture Of 700 Federal Soldiers In Encounter at Arteca; General Calles Pressing Northward For Closer Contact With Activities at Durango.

As powerful federal armies continued to close in on the rebel strong hold at Torreon, the revolutionary ranks along the northern border today gave signs of beginning to falter.

Coming closely on the heels of the action of Neco in returning to government allegiance, a breach between the authorities took place in Armas Prieta and it was uncertain whether the town had returned to the government fold.

General Olachea, who took Naco in the name of the government with 1,200 Mayo and Yaqui Indians, is firmly entrenched and has been in touch with General Calles, the federal commander-in-chief. He is expecting reinforcements.

The rebels claimed the capture of 700 federal soldiers in an encounter at Arteca yesterday, but this was offset by reports from General Almazan, who is leading one of the main federal armies against Torreon that he had captured 4,000 revolutionists on four troop trains.

General Almazan is continuing his drive westward from Monterrey and Saltillo on Torreon.

At the same time, General Calles is pressing northward through the State of Zacatecas and has shifted his headquarters from Rio Grande to Rio, bringing him more closely in touch with events in Durango.

Desultory fighting between federal and rebel outposts were reported in one skirmish fourteen rebels being reported killed, many injured and some captured. Of these seven were court-martialed and executed.

The insurgents on the West Coast were standing still. The government reported their demoralized and ready to bolt northward at the first sign of collapse of the rebel movement.

Mexico City, March 14.—(AP)—The drive designed by the Mexican government to break the backbone of the revolution in the north gathered momentum as a federal column moved from Eastern Coahuila upon Torreon, held by the principal rebel army under General J. Gonzalo Escobar.

Retreating rebels resorted to skirmishing and desultory fighting to harass their attackers and some casualties were reported.

Generally speaking their principal concern was to reach the comparative safety of Torreon however.

One hundred and fifty miles to the south of Torreon General Calles moved his headquarters to Frio, Zacatecas, near the Durango border, to direct from there concentration of the huge federal army which he relied upon to take Torreon and crush the Rebellion with a decisive blow.

Father of Waters Still on Rampage

Memphis, Tenn., March 14.—(AP)—The Mississippi river continued its rise today, headed for a stage of 38.5 feet by Monday, the prediction of Meteorologist, F. W. Brist. Whether this will be the crest remained depending on the rainfall in the upper tributaries, the forecaster announced.

The river here reached a stage of 36.7 feet yesterday a rise of two tenths of a foot since morning. Flood stage is 35 feet.

Crests of 50 feet at Cairo by Saturday and 60 feet at New Madrid by Saturday or Sunday, foreseen by meteorologist W. E. Barron at Cairo, were made the basis of private predictions by river followers here that the local crest will be close to 39 feet early next week. Even more water would be the result of heavy rain in tributary basin, it is believed.

Reassurance over the flood situation followed reports of government engineers yesterday that there will be no great danger from high water unless the stage goes to 44 feet here, and it is now considered improbable that it will reach 40 feet.

Champion Pig Raisers On Trip To Virginia Capital Belvoir Lad Is Champion

Forest Parker, Belvoir township lad, is the champion pig raiser of Pitt county.

Parker, in company with other prize winning pig raisers of different county communities, was on his way to Richmond this morning to see the sights of that city and then to take part in negotiations for the sale of a carload of Pitt county hogs to be made through the co-operative selling plan of the County Department of Agriculture. The boys were accompanied by E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt County Farm Department, and Edward Tripp of the Renston section. The trip to Richmond is an award of two Greenville banks, The National Bank of Greenville and the Greenville Bank and Trust Co., in recognition of the boy's skill in raising the best hogs. Announcement of the free trip was made several months ago, and members of virtually every pig club in the county competed. Parker won first place by reason of his ability to increase the weight of a pig from 72 pounds to 288 pounds in a period of 92 days. This registered a gain that outclassed any other individual effort among the various club members of the county.

Waddell, Stokes pig club; W. A. Forbes, Jr., Winterville pig club. An extra trip to the best club was won by Ronald Tripp, of the Renston pig club.

Farm Director Arnold stated this morning that the boys would be taken to the various places of interest in Richmond this afternoon and tonight. Tomorrow they will go to the stock yards where the majority will receive their first lesson in the handling of stock for marketing purposes. After the stock yard visit, the youngsters will be given an opportunity of watching negotiations relative to the disposition of the carload of hogs from their native county.

LOCAL QUEENS TO BE NAMED HERE FRIDAY

Committees Busy Selecting Beauties For Eastern Carolina Exposition Contest.

The committees having charge of the selection of the young women to represent Greenville in the queens' contest of the Eastern Carolina Exposition at Farmville, week of April 8th, stated today that they would complete their work this afternoon and announce the names tomorrow. Greenville will be represented by five senior and a similar number of junior queens, the largest number from any other town in the district.

Farmville will be represented by three queens and all other towns participating will be allowed to send one queen. Two prizes of $150.00 each will be offered for the winners in the senior queens' contest. One prize is for the county and the other for the entire eastern section of the state.

Three prizes of $25.00, $15.00 and $10.00 will be awarded to the three winners in the junior contest. Much interest is always centered about the selection of queens at the exposition, and every town in Eastern Carolina will vie with another in an effort to carry off the prize. The young women, from junior to senior queens, will be elaborately costumed and form a beautiful setting as they parade across the stage for the inspection of countless thousands to throng the exposition building.

Revenue And Bond Bills Passed By House; School Bill Goes To Committee

Raleigh, March 14.—(AP)—Spending the education bill to a conference committee, passing the $1,972,000 permanent improvements bond issue measure, which it had once killed, and the revenue bill, the House today passed the stage when final adjournment for the General Assembly will be possible. The general appropriations bill for the coming biennium was next in order. The revenue bill was sent to the Senate by a vote of 88 to 6.

The conferees will attempt to draw a compromise education bill acceptable to both branches of the Assembly. They were called to meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon for their first session. Senators Bule of Scotland, and Higgins of Allegheny were named to represent the Senate, which approved an equalizing fund of $6,500,000 on the part of the House, which stood out for a fund of $7,500,000. Speaker Graham named Representatives MacLean of Beaufort, who advocated an eight months term with an equalization fund of around $10,000,000 a year, Winston of Bertie, who made the motion to reject the Senate amendments, and Harris of Peron.

Although it was defeated on its first test, 70 to 37, the permanent improvements measure was passed today by a vote of 61 to 44. It now goes to the Senate for action. The Senate passed a bill to increase the salary of the comptroller from $6,500 a year to $10,000. It would go into effect in 1932, if approved by the House. A bill creating a public securities commission to pass upon county and municipal bond issues was also passed by the Senate and sent to the House.

SPEED TRIALS ABANDONED AT DAYTONA, FLA.

Racing Course Deserted Today Following Tragic Accident Of Yesterday.

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—The nine mile stretch of beach where the American Automobile Association holds its yearly speed trials was deserted today and Daytona Beach had entered a two day mourning period following the tragic culmination of Lee Bible's effort yesterday to break the 231 mile-an-hour record established by Major H. O. D. Segrave of England two days previously.

The death of Bible and Charles Traub, a news reel cameraman, who was crushed beneath the giant 36 cylinder Triplex racing car when it went out of control just after roaring across the mile finish marker at a speed of 202 miles per hour, also brought the end of this year's speed trials, originally intended to extend through March 17.

Val Haresnape, T. E. Myers and Tommy Milton, members of the contest board in charge of the meet, issued a statement after the crash, officially closing the meet, expressing regret at its tragic climax and expressing ignorance of the cause of Bible's crash.

Major Segrave, who before the Triplex crash had indicated he might try another run in an effort to force 200 miles an hour out of his "Golden Arrow," announced he would make no effort to break his record, in respect to Bible's widow and J. M. White, Philadelphia manufacturer and owner of the wrecked racing car.

Bible, 42 year old Daytona Beach garage mechanic, father of two children and unknown as a racing driver, was chosen by White as the driver of the Triplex, which last year set a world's mark of 207 miles per hour, for sentimental reasons. Bible was one of the chief conditioners of the car at its last year's trials, when it was driven by Ray Keech, and White this year decided to give the garageman a chance for fame.

Unapproved, because of his lack of experience as a race driver, by the American Automobile Association, Bible went onto the beach yesterday in the Triplex and roared a one way test at the rate of 180 miles an hour, far too low in the necessary with and against the wind trials. He made ready for his second assault against time.

Directly in line with the machine was Traub, a news reel cameraman. He was hit squarely, and his mutilated body was strewn along the beach by the flying car.

IN A BAD FIX AFTER ILLNESS

Lady Says She Had No Appetite; Continued Weak Until Cardui Helped Her.

Smyrna, Ga.—"I have taken Cardui several times in my life, and have always felt a marked improvement after I had used it," says Mrs. Claud Owens, of this place.

"When I was first growing into womanhood, I had little strength and lost my appetite almost completely. My mother had used Cardui, and she knew what a fine medicine it was, so she got some for me to take. I got lots better, so since that time, which was nine or ten years ago, I have taken Cardui when I felt badly.

"Last year I was ill and did not recover as fast as I should have. My back had given me trouble. It ached a lot, and I suffered considerable pain in my side. I felt weak, and it was such an effort on my part to do my housework.

"It seemed to me like I just could not eat. Nothing tasted good, and my digestion was poor.

"After I began to take Cardui, my improvement was noticeable. In a little while I was much stronger. I began to enjoy my meals."

Attend the Bridge and Rook Tournament on Friday afternoon at 3:30 and Friday night 8 o'clock, at the Woman's Club home. Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, Mrs. C. M. Tolar or Mrs. H. C. Sugg will gladly reserve tables for you. 50c each or $2.00 per table.

Mrs. Kilgo Entertains.
Mrs. J. L. Kilgo entertained Tuesday afternoon the members of the Sans Souci Book club, at her home on Ninth street. Green, suggestive of St. Patrick's Day, was the color motif, embodied in the decorations and refreshments. After being served tea and sandwiches in the dining room by the hostess, Mesdames J. H. Blount and W. E. Hooker, the meeting was called to order by Mrs. C. M. Warren in the presence of the president, who presided over a short but important business meeting, preceding the program.

"Castles in France," the program for the afternoon, was given by Mrs. C. S. Forbes, who took the two most important ones—"Fontainebleau" and "Versailles," giving wonderful descriptions of each, also many historical events in French history. She also told many interesting things of the home of Josephine and Napoleon "Malmaison."

Before adjourning, a delicious frozen salad course was served. —Reported.

END OF CENTURY CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. MOYE

The End of the Century club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. A. Moye on Evans street. When the regular business was transacted, Mrs. Little, the president, turned the meeting over to the hostess who had charge of the program. Mrs. Moye presented a member of the Round Table club, Mrs. J. R. Moye, whose paper on "Great Actresses of the Present Day," followed.

the stage, Mrs. Moye selected the Talmadge sisters as representatives of the highest type of movie acting. She showed how their success was the result not only of their natural gifts, but of the guidance of a very wise mother.

Mrs. Moye then passed to the actresses of the speaking stage, and there she was at her best. Her choice was a happy one. Eleanora Duse, Sarah Bernhardt, Ellen Terry and Eva Le Galliene. Her interpretations of each as a woman and as a vivid stage personality showed discriminating taste and good judgment. Her tribute to Ellen Terry and the reading of Ellen Terry's last message to her American friends was a fitting close to her paper.

The subject, the method of presentation, and Mrs. Moye's own charm of manner made the program an outstanding one of the year.

In serving the refreshments, the hostess was assisted by her daughter, Miss Clara Louise Moye, and her nieces, Miss Rose Hadley and Mr. George Hadley.

The guests were Mesdames Murphy, Jeter, Gurley, Hillman and Miss MacGuire. —Reported.

LITERARY DEPARTMENT WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Literary Department of the Woman's Club held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon, March 12th at the club home, with Mrs. W. E. Tingle hostess.

After roll call and reading of the minutes, Mrs. Moore announced the bridge and rook tournament to be given Friday afternoon and night. She also announced that Mrs. O'Berry, state president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, would speak to the members of the club at a special meeting Thursday afternoon, March 21st at 3:30, and urged a full attendance.

Miss Ethel Nice had charge of the program for the afternoon and reviewed in a most interesting manner "The Village Doctor," by Sheila K. Smith.

Mrs. Tingle, assisted by Mrs. W.

Two new members were added to the roll, Mrs. S. M. Crisp and Mrs. J. C. Gurley. Misses Lotta Veazey and Maybelle Mitchell were visitors. —Reported.

GOITRE NOT A DISEASE

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery.

Milwaukee, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Rept. B-26, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The Doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Write him today.—(Adv.)

ABOUT TOWN

The school for Scoutmasters which opened at the college Tuesday evening, brought out many facts in connection with Boy Scout activities, one of the students said today.

The address by Rev. E. L. Hillman dealing with Scout objectives (furnished the proper atmosphere for the first session of the school and left lots of things for the Scoutmasters to think about. The school will help prepare the Boy Scout leaders for the great work ahead of them and should have an influence in the future success of the organization.

"Greenville has long needed a permanent Boy Scout movement, and now that we have it everybody should use his influence in helping make it the great success it deserves to be."

"We had a big time on our visit to the Capital City," declared a student of the Seventh grade of the Model School following their visit to Raleigh yesterday.

We saw lots of things we didn't know existed in North Carolina. The visit to the Legislature was especially interesting. We were afforded an opportunity of seeing lots of men we had heard about but had never seen. They appeared just like we expected they would and apparently were delighted at the interest we manifested in things around the capital.

"All of us had a jolly good time and it will be many a day before we forget our first educational trip to the capital of the commonwealth."

"Friday is the last day for filing your income tax returns," warned the Department of Revenue today. As usual the admonition caused activity among business men and other individuals who had forgotten to give this important matter the attention it deserved.

"My goodness," one was heard to remark, "do you suppose I'll have time to get mine in? Upon being reassured on this point he began pouring over his books trying to determine how much income he had made during the past year. Like everybody else, he checked off as much as possible and sent the State 1-4 cents on every dollar. It seemed hard. But figuring back a little bit it seemed little compared with the amount he had spent and the satisfaction derived from the spending.

Paying income tax, however, is beginning to be a regular habit with the most of us and in the course of a few years it will be just as natural as walking into a store and paying cash for a purchase.

chase. When that time actually comes, maybe the majority of us will become resigned to the business of giving the State and government a "rake-off" of our earnings."

"President Hoover will have to do something more than study the farm question before he succeeds in bringing relief to the distressed farmers of America," said a prominent Pitt county planter today after reading of the President's study of the farm situation.

"There are many problems confronting the growers of the various communities of the country, and it will take years to work out a definite plan for their relief. It is gratifying, however, to note that the president is interested in the situation. Should he be able to impress Congress with the necessity of relief, he will have broken ground for something definite in the future."

"Relief should be given to as many communities as possible, and the sooner it is made possible the quicker conditions will become favorable in the affected areas."

"We want to complete the County Home radio fund today," said one of the men interested in raising the money required for purchasing the radio outfit.

"If you haven't contributed, why not get busy and do so immediately. This is one of the best causes you have had an opportunity of giving to in sometime. Think of the long dreary days before inmates of the poorhouse, and then think how the gloom would be dispelled by a medium that would place these people in close contact with the big world outside."

"Watch the columns of this paper tonight and if the fund has not been completed send in your donation at once. It will cause you to feel good and show the rest of the community that you are not living for self alone."

USELESS SACRIFICE

On Monday of this week, Major O. D. Seagrave set an automobile record of 231 miles an hour at Daytona Beach, Florida, and immediately received the plaudits of hundreds of admirers who watched from nearby stands and messages of congratulations from almost every section of the globe, but after all what did it amount to? Other than the consolation of having dared death and won in this instance, there is no good that could come from the attempt or successful completion of such a feat.

Truly pointing out that there is no necessity for such speed and that the feat is only one of daredevilry surrounded by dangers the New York World yesterday morning said:

There is no place on public highways for an automobile traveling nearly four miles to the minute. There is no place in the market for motors costing $170,000 to build which cannot be used when built. Even to look upon such speed is high dangerous. If a slight deflection in its course should carry the Seagrave car toward the spectators it would cover 340 feet in a second. What chance would an ordinary person on foot have to dodge such a missile? Almost as easily might one dodge a rifle bullet.

The whole subject of automobile racing deserves careful consideration by the leaders in the industry. Even the cheaper makers of motor cars are capable of all the speed for which there is any safe use on public ways. By no means are car designers to regard their present output as a perfect product and rest upon their laurels. But increased speed can hardly be ranked high among desirable improvements. The high-speed racing car is merely an expensive sporting toy, and its accomplishments are not helpful to the great industry of car production.

Hardly was the ink dry on the warning given by the World when the dangers pointed out therein had come to pass to the letter, and what was written as a warning turned out to be a prophecy of events that were to take place before the end of the day. In his attempt yesterday to break the record established by Seagrave, Leo Bibbe lost his life when the car he was driving swerved from its course and crashed into sand dunes a hundred feet away, and Charles Traub, Pathe News cameraman, who was in the path of the flying wreck, also met instant death. Prior to this others have met death on the Daytona track in their efforts to establish new records that can do no good once they are established but to lure others, who disregard safety, to flirt with death in efforts to surpass them.

Nothing can be gained by a continuance of this daredevilry at establishing new speed records that are worthless. The lives lost in such efforts are but useless sacrifices.

U. S. Quality Standards Group and Quality must be stated in that order, in specifying the government's standard grades of any type of flue-cured tobacco; and Color and Length, either or both, must be added for certain grades. Some of the "elements of Quality" are of no commercial importance in the flue-cured tobacco, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, but in their correct order they are as follows: Cleanness, soundness, smoothness, texture, elasticity, oil, wax, maturity, grain, solidity, body, strength, finish, color shade, venation (size and color of fibers), width of leaf, shape of tip, cure, uniformity, injury.

"As yield per acre goes UP, net cost per pound goes DOWN."—U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"I used 250 pounds of V-C Star Brand and 300 pounds of V-C XXXX Brand per acre, followed by 150 pounds of nitrate of soda—and the yield averaged a little better than two bales to the acre."—B. H. Grant, Statham, Ga.

"Farming is a mode of life, with a meaning deeper than that of producing raw material for food and clothing."—YEARBOOK OF AGRICULTURE.

V-C Saves Costs Expense per acre goes up with "factors and practices designed to maintain or increase cotton yield," says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. But these same wise factors and practices, it adds, LOWER THE COST PER POUND. And that spells Profit. V-C bags are full of it.

In its wild state and natural home in the tropics, cotton grows all the year round and puts out again every spring.

Around midnight, or just before day, or at any other minute, the tobacco in the curing barn may get right. It's a careful job, and a man must know his business to do it.

A Preacher of Farming One of the hardest working and best meaning folks in the world is your typical average county agent. He's a sort of preacher about farming instead of religion. Yet how often does he get credit for trying? Or for knowing what he's talking about? Still, FULL ROWS has noticed one thing: the farmers who make money year in and year out always listen when the county agent talks. The money may be due to the listening, or the listening may be due to the money, but somehow they go together.

The farmer who starves his cotton is pretty apt to go hungry himself. There's hardly a living in poor cotton even when prices are high. Feed your cotton V-C... and your cotton will feed you!

... V-C of Course!

M. F. Sulser, of Smith County, Texas, grew 6,234 pounds of lint and 12,018 pounds of seed on 5 acres—and won the state prize given by the Dallas News. The value of the crop was $1,594, and the cost of the fertilizer was $104. Counting labor and everything, his whole cost per pound of lint was only 5.4 cents. "What fertilizer did he use?" "Don't make us bashful!"

Time to leave a good woman all alone by herself is when the clothes line droops with the week's washing.—Exchange.

Things that build the quality that brings the price: careful selection of the right soil, careful preparation and improvement of the ground with the right grade of V-C Fertilizer, and careful methods of curing in tight barns properly ventilated and continually fired at correct temperatures. And get some folks think anybody could grow tobacco!

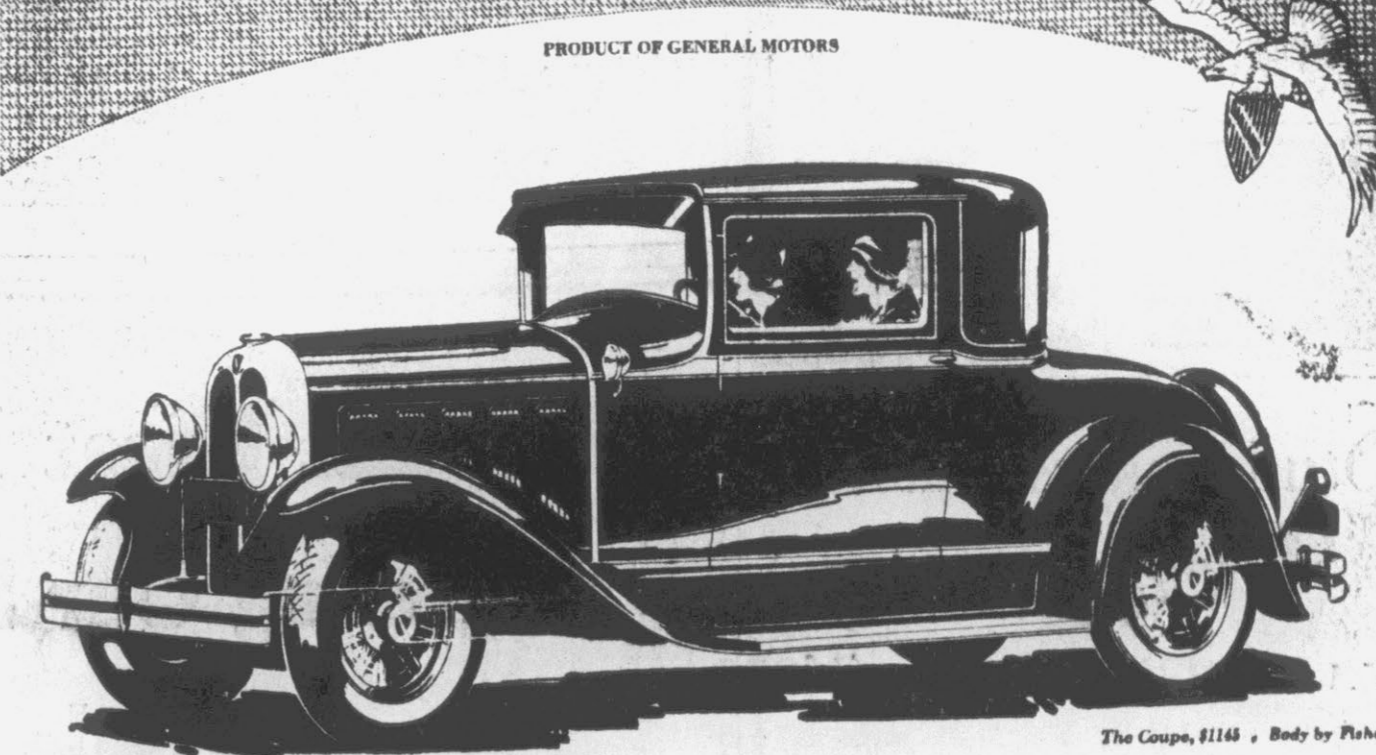

Old Truths in New Clothes Farming methods change with every generation, but the principle stays the same: to grow profitable crops. Everything turns on the "profitable." Ways that were profitable 50 years ago, or even 25, won't make a living today. Take fertilizers, for instance. A thin scattering of a low analysis mixture used to be good enough. But the time has come when wise farmers buy high analysis mixtures—V-C Super Analysis grades, says the press agent—and not only that but they use PLENTY on every acre. "Plenty" means every pound that can be used profitably. And man, how things do grow then!

You MUST APPLY "a liberal quantity of the proper fertilizing materials" if you expect to get the desired quality of bright tobacco, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. But be careful to use enough and not too much. If the tobacco grower is to get the greatest returns from his crop, its yield and its quality must balance.

"On one special three-acre plot I used 450 pounds of V-C per acre, and have picked five bales to date and expect to get another."—W. C. McGinnis, Cave Spring, Ga.

Where Grass Belongs Grass in its right place looks mighty pretty, no matter how much you hate to see it in a field. In front of the house, around the church or the school, in the courthouse square, the cemetery lot, or a little park at the depot, rich green grass is a rest for the eyes. But good grass has to be nourished—though you might not have thought so. To grow it right, grass must be fed on its own plant foods. These are all in V-C FAIRWAY, a highly specialized product intended for nothing but grass. Just be careful NOT to put it among your crops.

My Thirty Years at Sea

by CAPTAIN GEORGE FRIED

If a sailor inclines to hobbies, as does Fried, it's likely to be expensive as he has the world to collect from. Postage stamps, coins, lamps, birds, paintings and books, all fascinate him. His stamp album contains 12,000 specimens; Mrs. Fried's home is full of lamps. And canaries—they sing to him in both homes.

By CAPT. GEORGE FRIED (Copyright 1929, Associated Press) CHAPTER XVI I suppose every man has a hobby and the seaman is no exception. In fact, I believe the man who my own quarters I always had a canary to cheer up my room, and of course, took some birds home. These little fellows are wonderful companions. The Hartz Mountain canary is particularly vivacious and chirps away the greater part of the day and will live up any one's spirits.

One bird that was a prize was a red-headed bull finch that always greeted me vociferously when I returned home from my voyage. The little fellow seemed to sense when I was scheduled to return. Most of the time he flew around the rooms and as soon as I entered would alight on my hand. Then one day I came home and when Mrs. Fried opened the door, I saw tears streaming down her cheeks. The little fellow was in her hand. I watched him make one last desperate effort to chirp. I took him and rubbed his soft-leathered back. He gave one shrill whistle and became still forever. It was a sad blow to both of us for we had become so attached to him. On the next voyage I brought another canary home.

Marine paintings naturally have a fascination for me and I have about 25 small ones in my home that I have collected in various parts of the globe. One which I prize very highly is Dupare's impression of the founding of the British freighter Antiope, with the President Roosevelt standing by as the crew was being rescued. Others in the collection, several of which are by R. Dumont Dupare, official marine painter for the French government, depict the rigs of assorted sailing vessels and are unusually interesting because they show the changes of rigging in these ships down through marine history. I have never considered reading a hobby inasmuch as it is more or less in my daily routine of activities aboard ship and while I am in port. Historical sketches, autobiographies and good modern fiction are appealing to me and I have such volumes in home and cabin. But because of the stress of shipboard duties I have considerably less time to read at sea than I have at home.

(Tomorrow: My Belief in Radio)

TRY OUR WANT ADS

chooses the sea for his vocation would have a number of hobbies. If it were not for the fact that it often is an expensive pastime, he is given unusual opportunities in the collection of curios and other articles that may be picked up in various parts of the world.

My first hobby was the collecting of stamps. I was a youngster in Worcester. I went into the post office one day and picked up several letters bearing postage stamps which had been thrown away. There was a certain appeal to me about a postage stamp. Its colors and designs intrigued me, but even greater than that was the thought that the stamp had traveled. The idea of adventure in travel even though it was such an inanimate thing as a stamp, gave it a kind of reality.

So, whenever I was in town the post office was always a part of call. Sometimes I had luck, other times I found nothing. But I was persistent and determined. Whenever I started from home my collection, small though it was, was always a part of the baggage. I treated the stamps with the same care as my extra clothing and never lost the chance of picking up new ones.

The idea occurred to me one day that I would make my collection unique in that I would never buy one but would have in my album those given me by friends or received on letters from various parts of the world. Today my collection numbers about 12,000 different specimens, some of them undoubtedly of value.

For a time in my early service I collected coins, but that proved too expensive. Every coin added meant the saving of a corresponding amount in United States currency and before I got very far in a foreign port I had several dollars in coins and no money for sightseeing or entertainment. For a while I kept the coins of smaller denominations, but then I decided to abandon the idea not only because they were a total financial loss, but also because they were heavy.

After I had established a home I did what I suppose every married man will do—brought home presents for my wife. I bought a Chinese bronze lamp that seemed to please Mrs. Fried who liked lamps so much that I decided to get others. To this I have added an English barn lantern, a French one of wrought iron, one of Italian made in bronze and a German mahogany floor lamp. Each lamp is distinctive of the country it represents and because of the diversity in design the group is interesting as well from an artistic standpoint. The life time being, however, I have enough lamps in the house.

As far back as I can remember every vessel on which I shipped had pets. Seamen have a fondness for pets that is not always found among landmen. Perhaps a pet of one kind or another takes away the loneliness that a seaman sometimes experiences. Pets on shipboard are given every consideration and when a vessel gets in trouble and it is necessary to abandon ship, the birds or animals are taken along if the men are saved, sometimes at great risk.

While on the Bremen run our ships often brought thousands of canaries from Germany, as well as other valuable birds. After I had

Onyx Pointex Silk Stockings

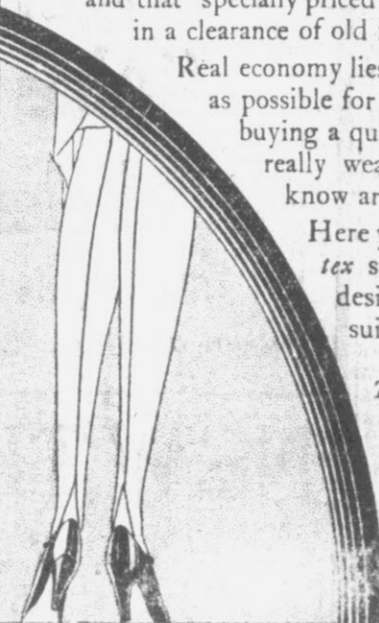

Economy is Wise Spending

The stockings you bought because they cost "only a dollar"—the stockings you bought because they were "specially priced"—those are your extravagances. Because the dollar stocking will not wear, and that "specially priced" stocking was probably in a clearance of old fashioned colors.

Real economy lies, not in paying as little as possible for your stockings, but in buying a quality stocking that will really wear, in colors that you know are new and smart.

Here you will find Onyx Pointex silk stockings in every desirable color, in weights suitable for every occasion.

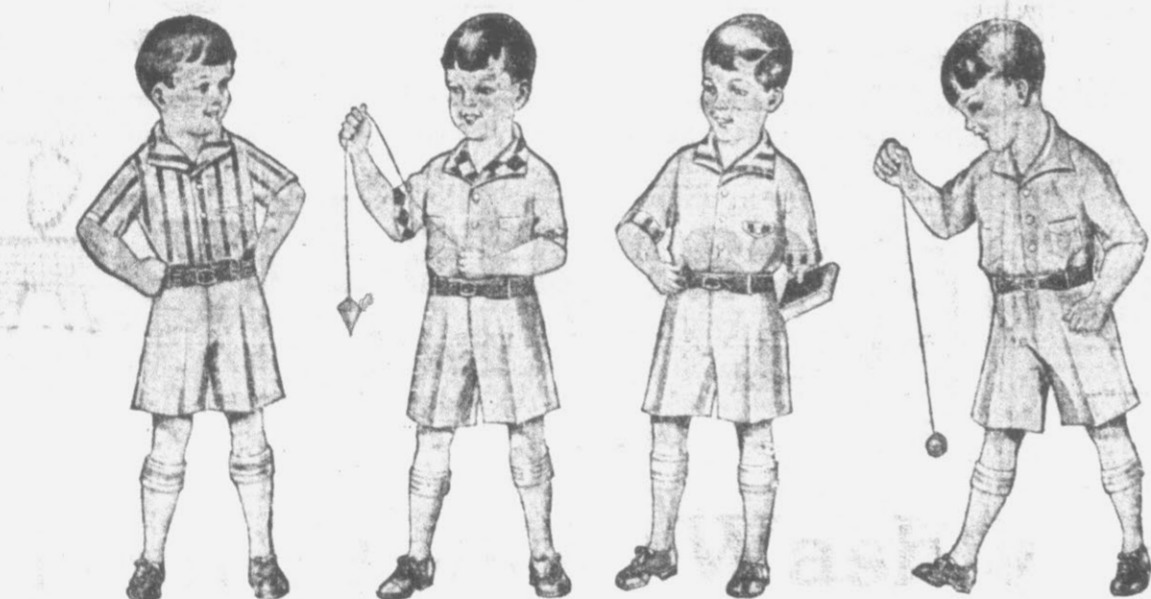

To insure proper fit and longest service, Onyx Pointex silk stockings come in varying leg lengths—short, medium and long. Be sure and wear your correct leg length!

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, March 14. (AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of ten to 19 points on renewal of the recent buying movement which appeared to be stimulated by relatively firm cables reports of rains in the eastern belt and large domestic consumption figures.

The advance to 21.33 for May and 20.1 for October met a good deal of realizing while there was some New Orleans and Liverpool selling, causing reactions of several points right after the call, but there was continued good demand and the market was steady at the end of the first half hour. Prices were about 10 to 12 points net higher.

Private cables reported general buying in Liverpool influenced by rains in the south.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, March 14. (AP)—Increasing number of unfavorable crop reports, especially from parts of Kansas and Nebraska, led to higher prices here for wheat most of the time today. However, enlarged selling on bulges caused a late reaction. Word came also that India was offering to resell some of the wheat bought recently for that country.

STOCK MARKET

New York, March 14. (AP)—The stock market today broke out of the narrow trading area within which it has been fluctuating for the past fortnight with a tremendous outburst of strength. Buying orders were distributed over a broad list of issues, a few high priced specialties soaring 6 to nearly 25 points, while a long list of active industrials and specialties held 1 to 5 points higher. Nearly a score issues moved into new high ground for the year. Trading showed a marked expansion in volume.

Retention of the 5 per cent discount rate by the Boston Federal Reserve bank, and 5 1-2 per cent rate by the Bank of England, which was widely interpreted as forecasting no change in the New York Federal Reserve Bank rate after the close provided the chief bullish stimuli. Favorable trade and earnings reports also helped to create a more cheerful feeling.

Call money was in plentiful supply at the renewal figure of 7 per cent with indications that it might work lower before the day was over. Time money held firm. Secretary Mellon's statement that it was a good time for prudent investors to buy bonds was interpreted as an indication that he expected money rates to work lower before the end of the year.
