Spanish Fliers Land At Bahia After Trip Across The Atlantic

Flight From Spain To Rio Janiero Interrupted By Fever Of Captain Jimenez; Flier Taken To Hospital For Treatment; Landing at Bahia Was Wholly Unexpected.

Buenos Aires, March 26.—(AP)—The flight of the Spanish aviators was interrupted by fever of Captain Jimenez due to fatigue of the trip. La Nación's correspondent at Bahia telegraphs.

Jimenez was taken by automobile from his flying field to Camassy for medical treatment. He is under supervision of the Spanish consul.

Rio Janeiro, March 26.—(AP)—Two young Spanish aviators had realized at Bahia this morning a dream of years and achieved the seventh successful crossing of the South Atlantic Ocean.

Captains Francisco Jimenez and Ignacio Ballesteros failed to break the record of 10,000 miles flight held by the Italian Arturo Ferrarin and Carlo G. Prete, falling short of it by about 600 miles.

From the time they were sighted to Cape Blanco, in the African Spanish province of Rio Del Oro, at 4:30 p. m. Monday, until they landed at Bahia at 10:30 a. m. today, not a ship or an observer seems to have reported them.

At Cape Blanco, the Jesus Del Gran Poder, the Spanish made plane of the aviators, appears to have swung out over the Atlantic toward Fernando Noronha island over which it passed unnoticed shortly after midnight.

The landing at Bahia was wholly unexpected. The fliers planned to continue to Rio Janiero today.

Rio Janiero was their original goal which would have made their flight about 4,800 miles, or 200 miles longer than that of Ferrarin and Del Prete.

Seek Galloway In Robbery Plot

Charlotte, March 26.—(AP)—John G. Galloway, husband of Mrs. Dorothy Harvell Galloway, one of the three victims of an airplane crash here Sunday afternoon, is being held at the McKeesport, Pa. county jail awaiting a hearing on charges of plotting to rob the payroll of the Union Dye Works of McKeesport.

Galloway was sought yesterday by means of radio after an appeal had been made by Hamp Harvell, father of the dead woman, for aid in locating the man so that funeral plans for his wife could be perfected.

After he was found to be in all the plans were still incomplete today.

Galloway is being held with Jack Campbell, also of Charlotte, and the men are said to have admitted their intentions when arrested. They are also said to have admitted previously serving prison terms.

Grove Park Inn Sold To Iowan

Asheville, March 26.—(AP)—Negotiations for the sale of Grove Park Inn from General T. Edward Hambleton and other stockholders to J. Reed Lane, prominent hotel operator of Davenport, Iowa, were completed here today. The financial consideration for transfer of the Inn one of the finest resort hotels in the country, was not announced. General Hambleton has been for a year principal owner of the property.

Mr. Lane, who will be President of the new Grove Park organization, is successfully operating a number of important hotels in the Middle West including the Black Hawk and the Davenport of Davenport, the Fort Des Moines and Savery of Des Moines, the St. Paul of St. Paul, Minn., the Hartford of Mason City, Iowa, and others.

New York—Every year the most efficient and diligent female stenographer or typist in the employ of the Farmers Loan and Trust Company is to receive $1,000. The will of Mrs. Anna Bowman Blake Dodd, writer, leaves a bequest for that purpose with the suggestion that the money be spent on a trip to Europe.

Maj. Gen. Charles S. Zimmerman, former chief of the army signal corps, has been selected by President Hoover to represent the fourth zone on the federal radio commission.

$7.00 Needed To Complete Radio Fund For Poor

About $7.00 is needed to complete the fund for the additional loud speaker for the radio equipment recently installed at the County Home through public subscription, according to members of the committee having the fund in charge.

The additional equipment is to be installed in the dining room of the colored department so that these people may enjoy similar service to that of the white department.

The committee today urged all who have not contributed to this fund to do so immediately.

Heavy Sales Reported On Wall Street

New York, March 26.—(AP)—In a record breaking volume of trading which ran around 8,000,000 shares, Wall street today experienced one of the most riotous sessions in history, coincident with another "money squeeze" which sent the rate on call loans from 112 to 20 per cent.

Prices of scores of issues broke $5 to nearly $35 a share, with the ticker falling hopelessly behind the market under the swollen streams of orders which poured over the wires and cables from all sections of the country, and the world. Brisk rallies developed in a few issues in the last hour of trading, but others were thrown into the market in blocks of 5,000 and 10,000 shares or more, as weakened marginal accounts were liquidated, regardless of price.

As the market closed the stock exchange ticker was 92 minutes behind, with indications that the last minute flurry of trading would delay the printing of the final quotation for nearly two hours after the closing gong had sounded.

A similar reaction took place on the New York curb market, with that ticker fifty minutes behind the market when the session ended.

One block of 23,000 shares of National Cash Register was dumped into the market at $120 a share, a drop of $9.25 below yesterday's quotation and $28.75 below the year's high established only last Wednesday.

FEDERAL PLANES BOMB JIMENEZ
Juarez, Chihuahua, Mexico, Mar. 26.—(AP)—Mexican federal airplanes again bombed Jimenez, rebel stronghold, yesterday, killing four soldiers of the 86th Cavalry and wounding 17 others of different contingents, said a dispatch received here.

Begins Flight To Guatemala City

Houston, Tex., March 26.—(AP)—Major Oscar Morales Lopez, Guatemalan army officer, took off from Pflugton Field near here at 11:11 o'clock this morning on a one-stop flight to Guatemala City, Guatemala. He hoped to reach Mexico City this afternoon where he will spend the night before resuming his flight tomorrow.

GOVERNMENT BACK OF ITS COAST GAURD

Treasury Department Defends Patrol Boat For Sinking British Rum Runner.

Washington, March 26.—(AP)—The treasury department is standing squarely back of its Coast Guard Service in defense of the sinking of the British schooner I'm Alone in the gulf of Mexico Friday by the patrol boat Dexter.

Forwarding the first official report of the incident to the State Department, Secretary Mellon has taken the position that the Dexter was within its rights in firing upon the alleged rum runner when its master refused to heave to after a "continuous pursuit" about 200 miles into the gulf from a point "within four leagues of our coast."

Meanwhile, it is becoming increasingly doubtful that the same view will be taken by the British and Canadian Governments. Their diplomatic representatives here are awaiting an opportunity to examine the official reports from the Coast Guard and the British Consulate at New Orleans, where the crew of the sunken vessel was landed. If these confirm current newspaper accounts of the sinking, in which one British seaman was drowned, they are expected to take a serious view of the incident and vigorous protests are not at all unlikely.

Although it operated under Canadian registry, the I'm Alone is described in official circles here as having been built especially for rum-running by an American bootlegger now in prison at Boston.

During the last five years, Mr. Mellon said in a memorandum on the Coast Guard's position, the vessel "has made a very large number of false clearances from British ports." Before it was sunk by the Dexter, he declared, "the master of the I'm Alone had a pistol and had waved it in a threatening manner."

He cited evidence indicating rum running operations by the ship out of Belize, British Honduras, in February and March, and asserted that "on March 20, the Coast Guard patrol boat Wolcott picked up the I'm Alone within twelve miles of the Louisiana coast," and "called upon the smuggler to heave to for boarding and examination, as authorized by the United States tariff act."

The I'm Alone "defied" the Wolcott, he said, and fled "being continuously pursued by the Wolcott, and by the Coast Guard patrol boat Dexter which joined in the chase." When overhauled by the Dexter on the morning of March 22, "the Wolcott also being close up," he related, the master persisted in his refusal to stop despite warning that he would be sunk, and "finally the Dexter was compelled to fire a number of shots into the smuggler's hull, and the vessel sank."

"From the time when this notorious rum smuggler defied a vessel of the United States within four leagues (approximately 13 miles) of our coast," the memorandum continued, "there was a continuous pursuit, precisely in accord with this well known doctrine of International law until the vessel was overtaken and again defied the authority of the United States. Under this doctrine the American ship North was condemned by the British Columbia admiralty court in 1925, the decision being upheld by the Supreme court of Canada."

Some legal experts here, however, do not regard the two cases as analogous, pointing out that the chase after the North was begun within three miles of the Canadian coast, while Coast Guard estimates of the distance of the I'm Alone from the Louisiana coast at first to nearly twelve miles when first overhauled by the Wolcott.

The British and Canadian view of the doctrine of pursuit at sea mentioned by Mr. Mellon is that it must begin within the International recognized three-mile limit off the coast, and is not permissible outside that limit within the zone of "one hour sail" in which, under the treaty with the United States, search and seizure of rum-running vessels is allowed.

Boosts Water Speed Record
Miami Beach, Fla., March 26.—(AP)—The 500 horsepower motors of Gar Wood's "Miss America VII" have boosted the world's water speed record approximately two tenths of a mile an hour.

Sitting at the controls of the craft that last year established a record of 92.938 miles an hour on the Detroit river, the famous speedboat driver yesterday flashed his trim little boat up and down the Indian river six times for an average speed of 93.123 miles an hour.

The fresh water record thus was increased 185 of a mile an hour although the salt water mark of 89.4 miles an hour stands alone.

FIRE DAMAGES GERMAN LINER EARLY TODAY

Europa Suffers $20,000,000 Damage In Docks at Hamburg; Ship May Sink.

New York, March 26.—(AP)—The New York offices of the North German Lloyd were advised today that the fire on the Europa might cause loss of between fifteen and twenty million dollars.

Hamburg, March 26.—(AP)—There was grave fear today that the North German Lloyd's new 46,000-ton liner, the Europa, might sink as a consequence of a fire which raged in its forequarters.

Fire tags, combating the flames, were ordered to draw away from the bulk, lest the ship in exploding draw them into its vortex.

The entire fire department of Hamburg was called to the wharf of Blohm and Voss, shipbuilders, at 10:30 a. m. by a general alarm.

After hours of fighting the fire still raged. All other vessels in the neighborhood were removed quickly to prevent a possible spread in their direction whether parts of the ship could be saved or not it was apparent early that the sinner sections must, for practical purposes, be considered lost.

Cause of the fire has as yet not been determined. It spread with alarming rapidity, aided by strong winds, from the foremast to the middle section of the liner. The fire department's work was greatly hampered by fog.

At 1:30 p. m. the Europa was still burning. It had listed until its starboard rested on the ground.

One theory was that the fire was caused when a night watchman threw away a burning cigarette.

Colored Youth Drowns in River

Sam Borton, 17, local colored boy, was drowned when a boat from which he was fishing capsized in Tar river yesterday afternoon. Two other youths in the boat with Borton managed to swim to safety. The body had not been recovered today.

The boys were fishing under the railroad bridge when the accident occurred. Borton was said to have been standing in the boat when he lost his balance and plunged overboard, upsetting the craft.

The other two members of the party landed in comparatively shallow water and were able to make their way to safety. Borton plunged into deep water of the channel and drowned before his rescue could be effected.

Rivers Still Rising.
Nashville, Tenn., March 26.—(AP)—River observers cling to their original prediction of fifty feet for the Cumberland river crest here in the face of additional rains this morning. The stream fell more than 13 feet at Burnside, Ky., but was still rising at Celina, Tenn.

REBELS END LONG SIEGE MAZATLAN

Insurgents In Precipitate Flight Northward Today After Abandoning Attack.

Defeat of the rebel besiegers of Mazatlan left General Calles free today to continue concentration of government forces in North Central Mexico and along the West Coast.

General Carrillo, defending commander at Mazatlan, reported that the rebels after a sanguinary defeat were in flight to the north, but Insurgents headquarters at Juarez denied that the siege had been lifted.

The federal authorities placed the losses at Mazatlan at 58 rebels dead and 3 federal dead, 7 wounded.

General Calles' strategy is now to force the insurgents into Sonora and hold the revolution there until it can be stamped out.

The Insurgents, however, claimed further outbreaks in Central Mexico, stating 7,000 men are concentrating in Guanajuato for a march on Mexico City itself.

A battle at Desatlan, Northwest Jalisco, was reported by the government which gave the casualties as 27 rebels and 6 federals killed.

A "lost battalion" of 300 federals was still wandering around near the Sonora-Chihuahua boundary seeking to join loyal forces, but in danger of capture by the rebels.

General Almazan, leading one of Calles' main columns was moving Northward to meet the Insurgents. The Insurgents reported further Southerly movements to check the government forces.

Federal air raids at the rebel stronghold of Jimenez were reported.

Several truckloads of federals passed through Yuma, Arizona, and strengthened the loyal garrison at Naco, drawing a protest from Governor Phillips of Arizona who announced further such movements would be prevented.

The Insurgents meanwhile continued marching on Naco and were reported 18 miles from the town.

Mexico City estimated the number of federals now in the field at 35,000 and the Insurgents as about 9,000 revolting regular plus an unknown number of irregulars.

Juarez, Chihuahua, Mexico, Mar. 26.—(AP)—Communications telling of more alleged revolutionary outbreaks in Central Mexico, the bombing of Jimenez, Chihuahua, by federal aviators, and of plans for a rebel attack upon the loyal stronghold at Naco, Sonora, intensified border interest today in the revolutionary situation.

General J. Gonzalo Escobar, rebel commander in chief, announced here last night that he had received advices saying 7,000 men were being concentrated in the State of Guanajuato for a march on Mexico City.

Escobar said three trains had been dynamited and that communication between Mexico City and Northern points was being interrupted. He declared that 300 members of the 67th federal regiment had been wiped out; that Manzanillo, West Coast port, and Uruapan, Michoacan had been occupied by the rebels and that Tehuantepec in Southern Mexico had been attacked by revolutionaries.

A courier brought word to El Paso, Tex., that federal airplanes had bombed the rebel stronghold at Jimenez, six civilians having been reported wounded.

The movement of federal soldiers through Arizona last night to reinforce the loyal garrison at Naco brought an announcement from the Adjutant General and would take the matter up with the Adjutant General and would see that "a repetition of this offense is prevented."

LONG FACES HEARING FOR IMPEACHMENT

Governor of Louisiana Charged With Attempting To Hire Man To Kill Legislator.

Baton Rouge, La., March 26.—(AP)—Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana was charged with attempting to hire and induce one H. A. Bozeman to kill and murder one J. Y. Sanders, Jr., a member of the Louisiana House of Representatives in an impeachment resolution drafted for presentation today in the legislature.

The resolution directing the Louisiana State Senate to try Governor Huey P. Long for impeachment on nineteen charges was prepared for introduction in the House of Representatives today.

The resolution charged that "Huey P. Long, Governor of the State of Louisiana, has been guilty of crimes and misdemeanors in office, incompetency, corruption, favoritism, oppression in office, gross misconduct and habitual drunkenness."

In his affidavit, Bozeman swore that about five week ago, Governor Long, with the odor of liquor on his breath, called him into his office and said he was planning to call an extra session of the legislature and that representative J. Y. Sanders, Jr., would oppose all of his measures.

"I have chosen you to do away with this epithet," Bozeman quoted the governor as saying, "I mean for you to kill the epithet," leave him in the ditch where nobody will know now or when he got there," the affidavit said.

"My governor of this State and if you were to be found out I would give you a full pardon and many gold dollars," said the governor.

Stimson To Familiarize Himself With Revolution Before Entering Office

Washington, March 26.—(AP)—The Mexican revolution unquestionably will be the first subject to which Henry L. Stimson will apply himself after his arrival here today from New York to take over the duties of Secretary of State next Friday.

This is the most important current matter before the State Department and naturally he will want to acquaint himself fully as to the details before the departure of Secretary Frank B. Kellogg Friday for New York to sail for a vacation in Europe.

Second of the questions in the foreign field in which the time element is important is that of American participation in the preliminary arms conference to begin at Geneva next month under the auspices of the League of Nations.

Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson, head of the American delegation, will confer with Mr. Stimson on this subject. Both will be guests at the White House during the remainder of the week and so will have ample opportunity to canvass one whole situation.

Such questions as American adherence to the world court on the basis of the Root formula as a substitute for the Senate reservations, the settlement of the European reparations question and the necessary shifts in and new appointments to the diplomatic corps are less urgent and probably will be taken up at some later time.

SOLO FLIER FORCED DOWN IN N. MEXICO

Flight of Bevins From Los Angeles to N. Y. Ended By Engine Trouble.

Willard, N. M., March 26.—(AP)—Okey Bevins was forced down here early today by engine trouble on his attempted non-stop flight from Los Angeles to New York.

The flier, who took off from Los Angeles at 5:53 o'clock yesterday afternoon, landed about 6 a. m. two miles outside the city. He had covered about 700 miles in an airline from his starting point.

Bevins, the first airman to attempt a trans-continental non-stop flight alone obtained about three hours sleep here, returned to his little orange and black Lockheed Vega monoplane, and hopped off for the east.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., March 26.—(AP)—A telegram received at Roosevelt Field today and signed by Okey Bevins, eastern aviator attempting a non-stop flight from Los Angeles to New York, said the airman had been forced down at Willard, N. M.

The telegram was addressed to Roosevelt Field under the Willard date, and stated: "Forced down early this morning."

The message was the first word received from the flier since he took off late yesterday afternoon from the Metropolitan airport in an effort to better the non-stop record of Captain Frank Hawks who flew last month from the west coast in 18 hours, 21 minutes and 59 seconds.

Soon after leaving Los Angeles Bevins presumably ran into the bad weather which the government bureau in New York said would lie in his path almost entirely into New York. Rain and shifting winds prevailed in the southwest at the time Bevins was scheduled to fly over that territory.

Dies Of Heart Attack.
Raeford, March 26.—(AP)—E. S. Smith, prominent lawyer and business man of Raeford, died of a heart attack this afternoon at 12:30 o'clock. He was preparing to leave on a trip to the eastern part of the state when he was taken suddenly ill.

Meanwhile outside the streets were a solid mass of people, at the Place de la Hotel Deville on the Ege de Rivoli they were packed ten deep. The tall freshly blackened electroliers which lined the Rue de Rivoli, their lamps draped black, gave the impression as they glared down on the crowd even in the bright daylight of two rows of electric candles.

The streets were newly sanded and the traffic islands in their center removed for the passage of the cortege to Les Invalides when the religious service was over.

There were Red Cross stations all along the route to care for any sudden illness or accidents.

Long lines of infantry in horizon blue were stationed to maintain order and keep the too eager "water-deep" who paid as much as $50 for points of vantage from which to watch the procession—from crowding and impeding its progress. Detachments of the Republican guard were stationed at important points.

Shortly before the cortege formed, a heavy haze obscured the sun and a mist appeared over grey old Notre Dame. Gradually it spread westward like an enormous pall and in the darkened atmosphere the lighted street lamps seemed more than ever like funeral torches.

At 10:05 a. m. the cortege formed outside Notre Dame and began moving toward Les Invalides. While all the church bells in Paris tolled it turned into the long broad ribbon of the Rue de Rivoli behind a column of police officers.

Because of the pending questions before the department, no immediate changes in high officials there are expected. J. Reuben Clark Jr., under-secretary, has been anxious to get away since March 4, but he may be asked to remain until the Mexican situation has been clarified as he has a wide knowledge of affairs in the southern republic.

MARSHAL FOCH LAID TO REST IN GAY PARIS

Great World War Leader Accorded National Funeral, Highest Tribute Of Nation.

Paris, March 26.—(AP)—France honored Marshal Foch today with a national funeral, the sixth in the history of the republic. Crowds surpassing even those of the aristocratic—which the dead marshal was so instrumental in bringing about—thronged Paris streets and the concourse about the Cathedral of Notre Dame.

Inside the cathedral some of the highest figures of royalty, military life and European officialdom gathered. The brilliant uniforms of the soldiers and diplomats were mingled with the black and white full evening dress of other notables.

Not even in the days when the English king, Henry VI, was crowned was there a more impressive service at Notre Dame. The rites, in which church and state were joined to do honor to the man who twice saved France from an invader, began with the appearance of President Doumergue, who entered the great doorways of the cathedral to the strains of "De Profundis" swelled from his organ.

After the "De Profundis" came the "Intrill" and the "Kyrie" from the requiem of Faure, sung by the choir; then the "Dies Irae" of Mendelssohn was heard.

Those inside the cathedral did not number more than 5,000, though in their midst were the President of the nation, the heir to the throne of the British empire, the crown prince of Belgium, and other figures whose earthly roles had had a close and vital relation with the lives of their fellow men.

They stood in a hushed silence in front of the altar where the body of the late marshal lay in its open coffin and a mass and transport of the coffin was draped with the flag of the nation for which he fought and with the banner of the holders of the military medal before it.

The cathedral was filled with the notes of the funeral march from Beethoven's Eroica. Benedictus, of P. Coustet. The Abbey Yverdis, priest of Sainte Clotilde, the parish in the French capital where the marshal attended mass daily, appeared, deeply moved as, under the eye of Cardinal Dubois, he ascended the steps of the altar to recite the last funeral rites over the body of his friend.

Outside the "Aux Champs" (The Fields) was squadded by a long bugle and unconsciously most of those inside the famous old cathedral stiffened, even came to attention. The habit of war days when Marshal Foch was generalissimo, was too strong.

Meanwhile outside the streets were a solid mass of people, at the Place de la Hotel Deville on the Ege de Rivoli they were packed ten deep. The tall freshly blackened electroliers which lined the Rue de Rivoli, their lamps draped black, gave the impression as they glared down on the crowd even in the bright daylight of two rows of electric candles.

The general belief is that William R. Castle, Jr., now first assistant secretary, will succeed Mr. Clark but this probably will depend upon the decision of Mr. Stimson. Several other high posts in the department are to be filled early in the Stimson administration.

Then came a battery of field artillery, four caissons, drawn by six horses each, and four 75 millimeter guns, pride of the French artillery. Behind marched a color-bearer with (Continued on page 25)

SAYS STATE PRISON MAY PROVE LOSS

Superintendent Pou Recommends Methods For Employment Of Prisoners.

Raleigh, March 26.—(AP)—Directors of the state prison were advised at their meeting today by Supt. George Ross Pou that the prison faces the prospect of becoming a financial burden to the state instead of a profit-making department, unless methods are devised to furnish employment to the rapidly increasing number of prisoners. To meet the situation, he recommended installation of the plant authorized by the legislature to manufacture automobile license plates, establishment of an insecticide and fungicide plant, and employment of a minimum of 300 prisoners in road work.

The board was called to meet at 11 o'clock today, with Mr. Pou slated for re-election as superintendent. O. M. Mull, recently appointed chairman of the board, was expected to announce his plans in regard to the time he would devote to his new duties.

The situation created by the increasing prison population and the declining field of employment has been considered by Governor Gardner, who has expressed the opinion that it is one of the most serious problems with which the state has to deal.

Mr. Pou's statement follows: "As directors of the state prison department you are in control of probably the most difficult department of our state government. I feel at this time I should acquaint you and the public with existing labor conditions in our prison."

"Of all the state prisons in the country the North Carolina state prison is one of the six or seven being operated without cost to the taxpayers. How long this condition will exist is purely problematical. It depends, of course, on the successful operation of the farms and the employment of the other convicts in some suitable and remunerative labor or industries."

"The prison population is rapidly increasing. The count today is 2,986. The demand for convict labor in quarries and on road work is gradually diminishing. This is largely due to the decrease in road construction in the state."

"For instance: "Prison population Jan. 1, 1929, 1,968. "Prison population March 23, 1929, 2,007. "Increase in prison population since Jan. 1, 1929."

"Prisoners employed in quarries, road camps, etc. Jan. 1, 1929, 966. "Same March 23, 1929, 676. "Decrease in employment since Jan. 1, 1929."

"The increase in population of 129 and decrease in camp employment of 190 causes an increase in surplus prisoners who are without employment of 319, since January 1. On January 1 there were about 350 convicts idle and without remunerative employment. Of course a large percentage of these were rheumatically infirm and classed as 'dead heads.' You now have, as will be seen, a total load of 669 idle convicts for whom employment of some character must be found or else the prison must operate at a financial loss. It will cost the prison around $300,000 a year to maintain these 669 prisoners regardless of whether they are employed. You cannot hope to earn a sufficient profit on the farms and with present road and quarry camps to absorb this heavy loss on account of idle convicts. In addition to the financial loss involved there is a great economic loss in idle prisoners. You are therefore confronted with a most serious situation in which every taxpayer is vitally interested."

"To partially cope with this I respectfully submit to you gentlemen for your consideration the following recommendations:

"The immediate installation of auto license tag plant for manufacture of state license tags. This will give profitable employment of 20 or 30 men.

"Immediate installation of necessary plant for the manufacture of insecticides and disinfectants for sale to state departments, institutions, schools, county and municipal lairs and buildings, etc. A great saving to the state, counties and towns can be thus effected at the same time providing profitable employment for six or eight prisoners."

"Employment of a minimum of three hundred prisoners in camps of a minimum of 60 prisoners for construction of state highways and bridges. This will in no way be experimental. It is a proven fact that grading and hard surfacing of roads and the construction of bridges can be done successfully and economically with convict labor. In many instances in which state highway projects have been awarded to contractors, the contractors have employed state convict labor at $2.50 per ten hour day to do the actual construction work under the direction of the contractor's foremen."

"If a contractor can build state highways and bridges with convict labor at 25 cents per hour and make a profit thereon it is reasonable to expect the State Highway Commission could use convict labor at a reasonable per diem and save money on the particular project."

"Nearly all other states are utilizing convict labor no highway construction and economically so. Particularly is this true with reference to California, Virginia and Florida."

Circus life appealed to Johnny but when an opportunity to join the Hawaiians presented itself, he longed for adventure. To appear in entertainments was a great step in his life. A special preparation soon turned his hair and complexion to blend with that of his dark natives and Johnny passed as one of them. This was necessary to retain his job. It was then he obtained his first musical education, that of playing Ukelele.

But apparently that golden cloud had longed before the Hawaiians departed and Johnny was left to seek new means for support. In 1918 he joined the U. S. Navy receiving his honorable discharge in 1919. When his talent caused him to turn to Vaudeville.

Mr. Marvin's life reads as an interesting novel including hardships and escapades as well as rewards for his efforts and it may be added that the life of Johnny Marvin is a fitting example for any American youngster. He has attained success thru his own efforts reverses."

While early settlers were locating claims in Oklahoma, Mr. Marvin's parents were among those to establish a homestead claim. When not occupied in fighting Indians their time was devoted to improving their property, located 100 miles from the nearest railroad town, E. Reno.

As a boy, Johnny as he is known to his every friend, had little or no schooling and it was at the age of 12 that he saw his first railroad train. At the age of 14 he joined a circus as a stake driver for a meager salary but which to him was a fortune.

Circus life appealed to Johnny but when an opportunity to join the Hawaiians presented itself, he longed for adventure. To appear in entertainments was a great step in his life. A special preparation soon turned his hair and complexion to blend with that of his dark natives and Johnny passed as one of them. This was necessary to retain his job. It was then he obtained his first musical education, that of playing Ukelele.

But apparently that golden cloud had longed before the Hawaiians departed and Johnny was left to seek new means for support. In 1918 he joined the U. S. Navy receiving his honorable discharge in 1919. When his talent caused him to turn to Vaudeville.

While entertaining in Vaudeville, Johnny then became acquainted with an official of the Columbia Phonograph Co., which resulted in his later becoming an outstanding Victor Record Artist. He made records for various companies for some time before singing exclusively with the Victor Company.

And would believe it, Johnny does not read music; he never studied voice or music either. However his voice is exceptional and one of rare quality. But good voices do not always record, remarked Johnny. Some of the finest voices do not record well while voices of inferior quality in many cases make remarkable records.

In making records, one does not sing in his usual voice, but rather in a modulated tone. When reproduction on the record the voice is heard much louder.

A voice is not Johnny Marvin's only admirable possession. He is the possessor of a delightful and pleasing manner and ever prevailing smile. His acquaintance is a privilege for he is a loyal friend whose association is a pleasure.

Mr. Marvin spends one week each month in New York making records. The remainder of his time is spent playing Vaudeville and picture theaters, and making the personal acquaintance of his many record friends and admirers, and also broadcasting over the radio.

We have just learned that there is now on the market a Johnny Marvin Ukelele sponsored by the Harmony Company of Chicago. Johnny uses this instrument in his act on the stage and also for broadcasting, and also confided to us that a Johnny Marvin Ukelele has been presented to H. R. The Prince of Wales while Johnny was in London this past summer. The Prince being an ardent admirer of Johnny and his records. Considering what Johnny knows about Ukeleles, this instrument should be the best.

Attempt To End Strike in S. C. Pelzer, S. C., March 26.—(AP)—Six employees and Superintendent M. B. Murphy, selected last night to act as a committee to represent striking employees of the New England Southern Manufacturing Co., here, were to confer with Allen McNabb of Boston, President of the Company, at noon today to try and effect a settlement of the differences between the workers and the company.

The strike started yesterday morning when 1,250 workers left their places and refused to return to work as a protest against a so-called "efficiency system."

Last night the workers agreed to ask the company President to restore wages and working conditions existing in the mill sometime ago prior to the introduction of a "Classification" or "readjustment" program.

"My Thirty Years at Sea"

by CAPTAIN GEORGE FRIED

Thirty years is a long time to roam the sea and Fried says he feels he will be ready to retire after a few more. He wants to buy a small home in the country, read books, and putter in a garden. One ambition is to cross the ocean as a passenger—while some other captain worries over the safety of the ship and his passengers. He closes his story doubting that any of the sea's romance has passed with modern innovations.

By CAPT. GEORGE FRIED

(Copyright 1929 Associated Press) CHAPTER XXV

After having served 30 years, I feel that in a few years I will be ready to retire from the sea. If I had remained in the Navy during this period I would be ready for retirement now, but having gone into the Merchant Marine I am not compelled to give up my career as long as I am able to execute my duties satisfactorily for my employer. I can decide for myself when it is time to quit, but I have no definite ideas at the present time, as I still am in perfect mental and physical health.

There is a great personal satisfaction for me in knowing that the years I have spent at sea have not been in vain; that I have done my share in a small way to keep together a nucleus that can be developed into a merchant marine.

When I make up my mind to retire, I plan to buy a small home in the country and for a year or so, do nothing except possibly read good books and putter around in the garden. During my stay in port, I spend much of my time, in fact practically all of it, in a big easy chair, watching the traffic go up and down Broadway and reading books.

In the evenings, Mrs. Fried and myself remain at home listening to the radio, reading or entertaining friends, but I hardly leave the house unless I absolutely have to. I suppose I am no different from the average sailor who, when he has a home he loves it, and wants to spend as much of his time enjoying it.

Mrs. Fried and myself have not been blessed with children, but we both love little tots dearly. One of the greatest pleasures I get on shipboard is seeing that the children traveling as passengers do not get lonesome nor are neglected in the way of entertainment. Sometimes a youngster is sent across the ocean alone, and frequently is left in the care of the captain. In cases like these, I always assign some stewardess to take care of the child and whenever possible I have it in my room and let it play to its heart's content.

And some day, after having enjoyed a complete rest, I am going to take an ocean voyage as a passenger. I have carried thousands of passengers, but I have never yet traveled aboard ship as a passenger myself. This will certainly be a unique experience for me and, of course, Mrs. Fried will accompany me. I will then be in a position to do as I please, 24 hours of the day, and rest without being called when something goes wrong on the ship.

Mrs. Fried has for a number of years requested me to retire, because she spends a lot of time alone and is often worried thinking something might happen. The trip of the President Roosevelt during which we rescued the crew of the Antiope was made by me over the protest of Mrs. Fried. I had been under the care of a dentist while in port and it was just at the time that we were moving. I was not feeling any too good. Mrs. Fried insisted that I ask to be relieved

"I feel that in a few years I will be ready to retire."

For the trip, I decided that I had better go. Then on the way over, the rescued occurred. When I returned, Mrs. Fried told me that she was in constant apprehension, having dreamed a number of times of ship disasters and of people swimming in heavy seas. She told me nothing of her premonitions, because she felt that I might be worried.

Passengers and others often have asked me whether I would go to sea again if I had the opportunity to live my life over. Without hesitation, I have always answered in the affirmative. From the physical standpoint, life at sea is excellent in building up the body; mentally it keeps the sailor constantly alert; educationally, it develops him for he must always study to better himself. He is always traveling, meeting different people and getting their viewpoints on life. While at sea, he can study, and while in port he always sees new faces, new places and new customs.

Some say the romance of the sea passed when the clipper ships gave way to steamships. What is more majestic than to see the graceful lines of an ocean liner with the "bone in her teeth" steaming along with the American flag flying at her taffrail? Here we have a small town thoroughly equipped with every modern convenience and luxury for her passengers and crew. They say that the radio has taken away some of this romance, but personally I doubt it for I believe the radio has added to it, having made possible rescues at sea which thrill not only the man participating in the rescue, but everyone else on land and sea as well. The oceans are very beautiful. As long as the winds blow and the seas are churned, that beauty will always be with us.

"I pity the poor devil whose house is afire tonight!"

How often have you made that remark? Wind howling outside, a good night to be safe at home by your own fireside. Suddenly the scream of the fire siren—the faint clang of fire bells—the confused roar of fire apparatus getting under way. How often have you expressed pity for a fellow homeowner as the red glare of a burning home tinted the sky.

Fire-safe Beaver Vulcanite Shingles
Put a fire-safe roof on your home. Protect your family and possessions against the ever-present fire hazard. Beaver Vulcanite, with its dense crushed-mineral surface carries the Underwriters Laboratories label as a firesafe material. Flying sparks and flaming brands cannot ignite it. And it is as weatherproof as it is safe.

Will Your Home Be Next?
How much longer will you gamble with FIRE? How much longer will you try to beat the law of averages? Fires from sparks on roofs caused 1/5 of the preventable fire losses last year. A twelve million dollar toll from this one cause alone. Is the risk worth taking?

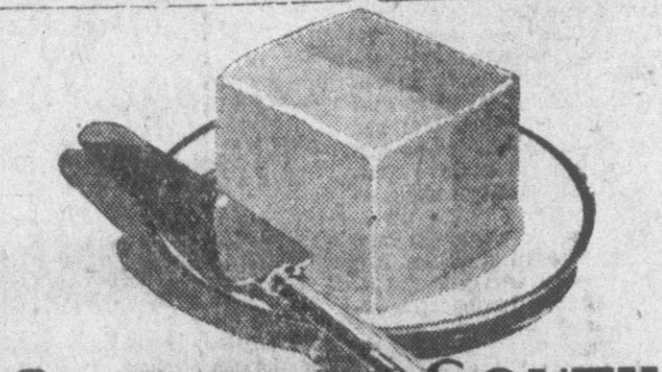

We carry a complete stock. Twelve beautiful colors and blends, all durable and fadeproof. Let us show you samples. Write or phone.

Greenville Girls Honored.

Goldsboro, March 24—Misses Mary Wall Best and Blanche Cherry Station, of Greenville, who are the week-end guests of Mr. Edward Outlaw while they are in the city, have been the recipients of a number of social courtesies during their visit.

Mr. Outlaw entertained at an informal dance at the pavilion at Herman Park on Friday evening. Masses of pine Japanese lanterns, kind spring flowers made an attractive setting for the delightful affair.

Miss Clyde Smith and Mrs. Charles Taylor served refreshing fruit punch, cakes, and salted nuts during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Watson Thomson and Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Outlaw, parents of the host, chaperoned the dance.

Mr. and Mrs. David H. Bland, Jr., entertained at a barbecue at noon today, honoring the visiting girls at his home on East Walnut street. After the barbecue dancing and games were enjoyed. Sixteen were present.

Last night Mr. John Peacock entertained at the home of his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peacock, twenty-four young people in honor of Mr. Outlaw's guests. Dancing was the feature of the evening. Iced drinks and ice cream were served to the guests.

Much Interest Manifested In Services Here

The goodly number of people who attended the 8 o'clock service this morning at the Methodist church showed a growth in interest by the increase in number. It was very pleasing to see more of the children and young people out. Let us think seriously on the opportunity given us during the remainder of this week, and let us talk it in the home, in our places of business, on the streets, and to every one with whom we come in contact until every adult and child is endowed with the Christian spirit so completely that the church will be filled to overflowing for both morning services. There will be seats reserved near the front for the young people at every service and trust that they will make use of this opportunity to join in the services and make them their services. The subject for tonight is one we need in our every walk of life and every day of life; the great promise to which we cling, "Forgiveness."

Subject for tomorrow morning, "Preserving the Spiritual Growth of the Church," and tomorrow night "Conversion." Come, and join us in the worship and song service and refresh your spiritual body with the Water of Life, God's Word.

Card Of Thanks.

We wish to express our appreciation to our friends for their kindness to us during our recent sorrow and manifest thanks for their expressions of sympathy through many floral designs.

NATIONAL OIL COMPANY WILL LOCATE HERE

Concern to Make This City Distributing Center For This District.

The National Oil Company today announced that Greenville had been made one of the several distributing centers of Eastern North Carolina. J. M. Henderson will be in charge of the plant here.

The plant will be located next to the Standard Oil Company on Dickinson avenue. Construction work will begin immediately and will be rushed to completion as soon as possible.

The National has four plants in Eastern North Carolina. They are located at Wilson, Kinston, Raleigh and Rocky Mount.

The plant here will employ about half a dozen men and will serve a similar territory of the other large oil concerns operating in this district.

Carload of Hogs Shipped From Pitt

Another carload of Pitt county hogs left today for the Richmond market, according to E. F. Arnold, superintendent of the Pitt County Farm Department, who accompanied the shipment. The car contained about 16,000 pounds of hogs. The shipment was made by Haywood Dail.

This was the third carload shipment made from this county this year. Two more carloads will be shipped next week. Mr. Arnold also said that a carload of poultry would leave Pitt county next week.

SEE NO TENDENCY TO INCREASE COTTON ACREAGE

Greenville, S. C., March 25.—(AP)—Col. Harvey Jordan, head of the American Cotton Association, left today for Washington to testify before the Senate and Congress Committees to work out a plan for farm relief.

Before leaving, Colonel Jordan said there was no indication of increased acreage over the cotton belt.

Heavy rains have given farmers little time to prepare ground while sales of fertilizer have been light, indicating there will be no increase in cotton acreage, he said.

ABOUT TOWN

"Things look brighter in the baseball realm since announcement that Rocky Mount would continue as a league member," declared a supporter of the local club today.

"The action of W. E. Fenner had a tendency of delaying the opening of training season for two or three days but there are other shoulders ready and willing to carry responsibility of the club, and training probably will get under way by Thursday."

"This news sounds mighty good and it puts at rest certain rumors regarding impending changes in the railroad city organization."

"Spring training got under way at the fair grounds yesterday, and the boys looked mighty good," said a citizen this morning.

"The crack of the bat against the ball will be heard both morning and afternoon from now on and in a few days local people will have the opportunity of seeing the Tobacconists in exhibition games."

"They know what baseball is and are going to show Greenville people how it is played when the umpire begins calling balls and strikes at the opening of the season."

"Greenville is in for a big season and fans can expect a decidedly superior brand of ball over last year."

"This will be one of the busiest weeks local merchants have had since the Christmas holidays," declared a business man today.

"Shopping for Easter has already been started and will get in full blast about the middle of the week. The counters are laden with one of the most extensive showings of spring and summer styles in years, and the most exacting customer will find something to his or her liking."

"Greenville serves a great trade area and hundreds are expected to throng the stores during the week getting ready for the big Easter parade Sunday."

"I like to hear a man boost his home town," declared an out of town man today, speaking of the staunch support which Greenville men are giving to their city.

"It shows the booster has faith in the possibilities of his community and wants other people to know about them. It is also indicative of a certain spirit of optimism essential to the growth and advancement of any locality."

"Greenville men know they have a bright future in store for them and are doing everything possible to make it brighter."

"If you have anything to sell, advertise it in the Reflector," suggested the advertising manager of this paper today.

"Reflector advertisers get results because the paper goes into a majority of the best homes of the community and because these people have faith in our advertisers."

"If you have something you want the public to know about, tell us and then let us tell our readers. Results are sure."

"Regular summer time," commented a citizen today as he pulled out a handkerchief and mopped his face.

"A little bit unseasonable maybe, but it certainly feels good after the siege of King Winter. It enables a fellow to get the kinks out of himself and to take a firmer squint at everything."

"There are some people who prefer the cold days of winter, by I am a lover of the balmy days of spring and summer."

LOWERING THE ACCIDENT MENACE

Governor Allen of Massachusetts has made some suggestions concerning traffic laws that should be considered by all states.

It is the Governor's contention that any driver responsible for a serious accident should have his license suspended for a period of one month and any drunken driver connected with a fatal accident, should have his license revoked, and that the granting of a license in the first place should be contingent on the applicant's ability to drive carefully and competently.

It is a proven fact that rigorous enforcement of traffic laws will do much to reduce the yearly death and injury toll. In Detroit fatalities were reduced one-third in a year's severe traffic administration. It is likewise true that all over the country, during safety weeks, the accident record goes down, only to rise again after the week has passed. These sporadic activities are admirable in purpose, but their results will be negligible until we have not only safety weeks but safety years.

SALE OF VALUABLE FARM PROPERTY

Under and by virtue of the authority conferred upon us in a deed of trust executed by John T. Harris and wife, Vivian P. Harris, on the 12th day of January, 1923, and recorded in Book T-14, page 210, we will on Saturday, the 30th day of March, 1929, at 12 o'clock noon, at the courthouse door in Greenville, Pitt County, sell at public auction for cash to the highest bidder the following land to-wit:

Adjoining the lands of the heirs of Henry Harris on the North, formerly the lands of Howard Harris on the East, the lands of the Smith heirs, and Samuel Joyner on the South, and Mrs. Alice King on the West.

Beginning at a bridge on the Farmville and Center Bluff Road, thence along said road S. 70-35 W.

1302 ft., thence S. 71.05 W. 598 ft., thence S. 73-20 W. to an iron stake on South side of Road, thence S. 3-30 W. 6131 feet to an Iron Axle, a corner between J. T. Harris, Samuel Joyner and Mrs. Alice King, thence N. 45-30 E. 730.5 ft. to a pine stump, a corner between J. T. Harris and Samuel Joyner, thence along old Tram Road N. 67-30 E. 4924 ft., thence S. 83-10 E. 1521 ft., thence S. 82-20 E. 300 ft., thence S. 78-15 E. 142 ft., thence S. 65-20 E. 177 ft., thence S. 75 E. 95 ft. to a big long strawed pine, a corner between J. T. Harris and Smith heirs in Howard Harris line, thence N. 7-30 W. 4070 ft., to a Gum Stump with pointers, a corner between J. T. Harris and Howard Harris, thence S. 54-12 E. 619 ft. to a stake on East side of path, a corner between J. T. Harris and Howard Harris, thence N. 31-10 W. 321 ft. along the Avenue to the center of the Farmville-Center Bluff Road, thence N. 51-10 W. 579 ft., thence N. 79 W. 552 ft., thence N. 79-20 W. 347 ft. to an Old Bridge over Branch a corner between J. T. Harris, and Howard Harris, thence along the various courses of Meadow Branch to the beginning, containing 943 acres, according to a survey made in 1915 by W. C. Dresbach, C. E., which plot is duly of record in Map Book 1, at page 47 of the Pitt County Registry.

This sale is made by reason of the failure of John T. Harris and wife, Vivian P. Harris to pay off and discharge the indebtedness secured by said deed of trust to the North Carolina Joint Stock Land Bank of Durham.

A deposit of 10 per cent will be required from the purchaser at the sale.

This 19th day of Feb., 1929. The First National Company of Durham, Inc., Trustee. Formerly The First National Trust Co. Durham, N. C. March 6.1tw-4wk.

SCORES HURT IN PANIC AT CHICAGO, ILL.

Pandemonium Breaks Loose at Prize Fight When Cry of "Fire" Is Started.

Chicago, March 26.—(AP)—Panic broke out at the Coliseum last night during the Jackie Fields-Young Jack Thompson boxing match for the National Boxing Association welter-weight title, and more than two scores were injured in the resultant pandemonium. Two persons were injured so seriously that they may die.

There were 8,500 men and women in the building when a fight started in the east balcony. Cries of "fight" went up. By many the cry was understood as "fire," and the crowd became panic stricken. The fight between the Chicagoan, Fields, and the California negro, Thompson, was in the eighth round. The battle itself had roused the crowd to high excitement, and when the furor broke out in the balcony it spread quickly.

Plank seats piled in the balcony in anticipation of the opening in the Coliseum of a circus, were knocked over, and their clatter added to the crowd frenzy. Most of those present knew that the circus was soon to open at the Coliseum, and that some of the animals already were quartered there.

Shouts went up that a lion had escaped from the cage and were loose on the main floor. The fact that the building was in darkness saved for the brilliant light which was centered on the ring itself added to the uncertainty of what had happened.

Thousands of radio listeners tuned in on WGN and KYW listened in on the tumult, although the microphones through which the broad casts were being made were knocked to the floor in the first wild rush. Telegraph wires to newspaper offices were cut off and first word of what was happening reached the outside through radio loudspeakers.

A pall of smoke from a photographer's flashlight hung low over ringsiders, lending substance to the cries of "fire". Some of those nearest the exits rushed outside and turned in an alarm, and it was firemen who later took the injured from the building to a hospital.

The best account of the actual start of the trouble was that two negroes, one with a knife, the other with a pistol, started to fight. There was a general pushing away from the fighters, and the cry of "fight," misunderstood as "fire" went up.

An usher in the trouble zone said one of the negroes had offered to bet on Fields, the white boxer, and that this had angered the other negro.

Bigger Edition Of Bunion Derby In The Making

New York, March 26.—(AP)—A bigger and better edition of the 1928 Bunion Derby—the 2,400 mile foot race across the continent—is blooming again under the direction of Charles P. (Cash and Carry) Pyle.

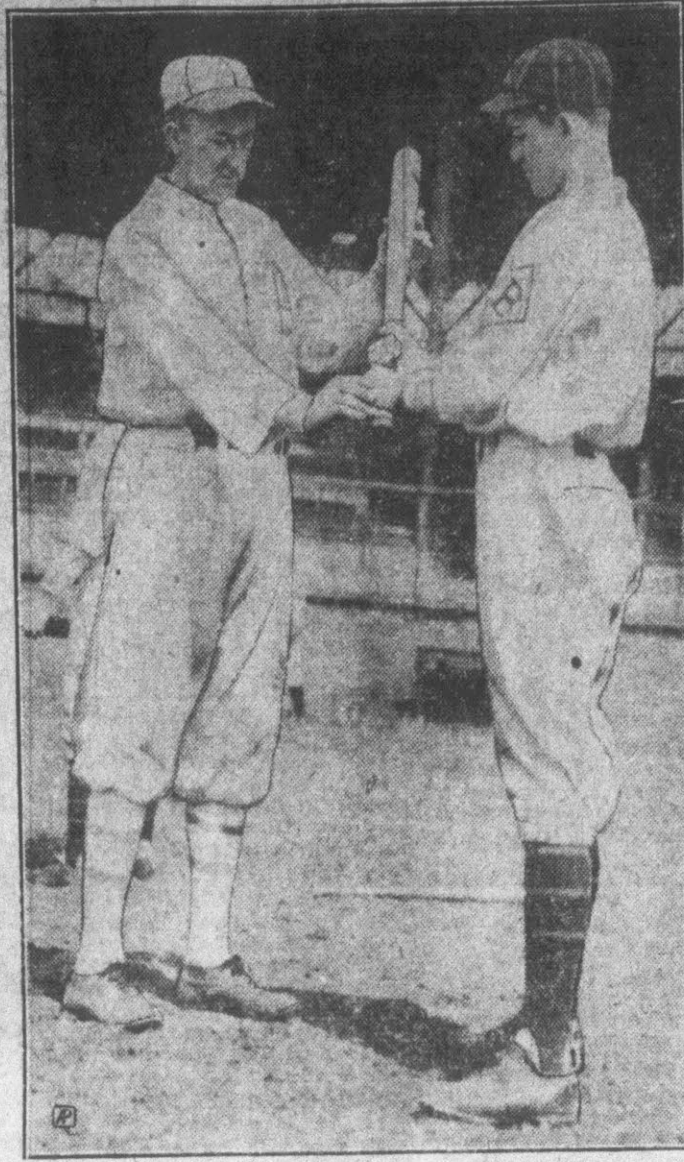

Tall runners, short ones, fat and slim, from Sweden, Italy, Belgium, Poland, Spain, Australia, Canada, and all parts of the United States, are piling daily into headquarters of the suave promoter who introduced Red Grange to professional football, Suzanne Lenglen to tennis and foot runners to more blisters, aches and wider distances than they ever knew existed.

They are working out in Pyle's training camp on Long Island, waiting the gun that will send them away Sunday on the first leg of the 3,400 mile grind to Los Angeles. For eighty days the heartiest will pound pavements and concrete, struggle up dusty country roads and across the deserts, chasing the $25,000 pot of gold that awaits the winner June 1 on the other side of the continent. Prize money will total $80,000.

Smith After Golf Title At Pinehurst

Pinehurst, March 26.—(AP)—Horton Smith, 21-year-old Joplin, Mo., professional, here in quest of his seventh major golf title since January 1, is hailed by veteran pros as the future "Big shot."

Since beginning his winter campaign in the Sacramento open three months ago, this angular youngster from the "Show Me" state has collected approximately $12,000 in prize money and is the leading money winner of the galaxy of professional stars which teed off early in the year to make the rounds of the far western and southern tournaments.

To date Smith has copped off first money in six meetings and has finished second and third in fully as many more. He rarely fails to win, place or show.

The latest link sensation, standing six feet tall and of strapping build, is credited with having "dial" natural golfing for him. His drives are the talk of his fellow pros.

One well known amateur, who has been coming here for 15 years, said Smith is hitting the longest drives he ever saw at Pinehurst.

Golfers who have played with and against Smith in the present campaign say there is no doubt that he has arrived and is here to stay. "That kid is no flash in the pan," observed one veteran pro as he waited to tee off today. "He is one of the best golfers in the country and getting steadily better. He is going to be a marvel."

Although he has been breezing along at top form for three months and shows no signs of skidding as the end of the gruelling campaign nears, young Smith continues to work to "perfect his game."

Reports among his fellow pros here say he has refused an offer of $15,000 from a big eastern club to stay in Joplin and try to learn of

TRAINING CAMP NEWS BRIEFS

Bradenton, Fla., March 26.—(AP)—Among the youngsters with the Red Sox is a pitcher barely out of his teens who has impressed Manager Bill Carrigan. He comes from South Carolina and is named Edward "Bull" Durham. He was a boy wonder at Chester, his home town, where he started pitching for his high school team at 13 and won one victory after another for four years. Then he was picked up by Mobile, of the Southern Association, and sent to Meridian, Miss., of the Cotton States circuit. There he won 15 games and lost 10.

Last year he was back with Mobile and piled up a record of 13 won and 10 lost with an average slug.

Orlando, Fla., March 26.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds were able today in mourning for key pitcher, 28, stocky little left-handed pitcher who succumbed to a heart attack two hours after working out with his teammates on Tinker Field yesterday.

Meeker had been suffering with neuritis in his pitching arm, but Manager Jack Hendricks permitted him a short workout in the belief that it might help. When he arrived at the hotel, Meeker complained of pains in his chest, and died after Dr. J. C. Chappell had twice administered hypodermics.

The game scheduled for today with the Columbus Senators was cancelled. Kansas City was Meeker's home. He came to the Reds from the Portland club of the Coast League, where he had been sent by the Philadelphia Athletics in 1926. The Reds sent him to Columbus for two years and he was recalled last year.

Meeker is survived by his widow and an eight-year-old son who lives in Kansas City.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Base hits have been so few and far between recently that Manager Shotton of the Phillies, is worried.

"When it isn't one thing in baseball it's another," he said. "We've been waiting about our pitching all spring, but now that is coming around all right we can't hit a ball out of the infield."

Fort Myers, Fla., March 26.—(AP)—The situation is noon too alluring so far as the Philadelphia Athletics are concerned.

The regular pitchers are going none too well, the makeup of the infield is uncertain, and George Earnshaw, right handed pitcher, will not be in shape for several weeks. He is in Hot Springs under going treatment for an injured back.

Jackie Fields Defeats Negro

Chicago, March 26.—(AP)—Jackie Fields, Chicago, Hebrew law who learned his boxing in California rings, today holds a synthetic claim at least, to the world's welterweight boxing championship. He acquired it by decisively defeating young Jack Thompson, San Francisco negro challenger in their ten round battle in the coliseum last night—a thrilling fight that came mercifully near ending in a panic.

A crowd of more than 9,000 persons was thrown into a panic in the eighth round when two spectators one drawing a knife and the other a gun to settle their private fight in one corner of the arena precipitated a terrifying scene of disorder, resulting in the injury of many spectators some perhaps suffering fatal injuries.

Fields was like the rush of the panic stricken spectators in his fight with the California negro. He was unstopable in his offensive, unswerving in his determination and completely the master of his foe with possibly the exception of the seventh round. He left no room for doubt as to his superiority over Thompson, winning eight of the ten rounds.

By his victory Fields won recognition as champion from the National Boxing Association, which controls the sport in 23 states. He was presented with a $5,000 diamond studded belt, the gift of Promoter Jim Mullen, emblematic of the title Fields comes into possession of the welterweight crown in the states in which N. B. A. governs boxing, succeeding Joe Dundee, who has his title declared forfeited for failure to defend it within the six months period which ended last Thursday.

Fields won because he proved himself a better fighter, a more skillful boxer and a better all-round ring general. He almost knocked out

Thompson in the first round and again in the second when he had the negro's knees buckling, groggy and weary from a terrific battering to the head and body.

COTTON MARKET

New York, March 26.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 8 to 12 points in response to relatively firm Liverpool cables. May sold up to 20.82 and the new October contract to 20.10, or about 16 to 18 points net higher during the first few minutes on covering combined with moderate trade and commission house demand.

This bulge met considerable realizing. There also seemed to be some Southern selling, which eased prices slightly after the first flurry of buying had been supplied. The outlook for shapers in Eastern belt created some uncertainty as to whether conditions and that market held steady during the first half hour.

Private cables reported covering, local and London buying in Liverpool and said there was moderate business in cotton cloths at Manchester.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, March 26.—(AP)—Dramatic breaks in prices for grain took place today after an early advance. Wheat shot downward to the lowest level reached since January 9.

A bad smash today in the securities market and the stiff rates exacted for call money were the main bearish factors as to grain. After plunging down more than six cents a bushel for wheat and 5c for corn, grain rallied somewhat before the days finish.

Wheat closed unsettled 2 1/2 to 3 1/8 net lower. Corn 2 5/8 to 3c down. Oats 1-8 to 1/8-3/4 off, and provisions at a setback ranging from 5c to 40c.

STOCK MARKET

New York, March 26.—(AP)—A further tightening in credit conditions, which sent the call money rate to 15 per cent, and the time money rate to 8 1/4 per cent for all maturities, brought about another drastic reaction in today's stock market. The declines in scores of issues ran from 3 to nearly 35 points with more than a hundred issues plunging into new low ground for the year.

The market opened irregular and started to rally when it became apparent that overnight margin calls had failed to cause any sharp initial breaks. The rally was quickly checked, however, when call money renewed at 12 per cent, the highest opening charge since January 2. Prices slipped steadily for the rest of the morning but the selling assumed gigantic proportions after midday when money brokers bid 15 per cent for call money, and the rate was immediately jacked up to that figure. This exceeds the 14 per cent rate yesterday, and is the highest charge since the post war deflation crisis of 1920.

Call money was scarce even at the higher figure, and predictions were freely made that the rate would work higher. Time money was 8 1/4 bid for all maturities, with little money available below 8 1/2 per cent. The scarcity of money indicates the heavy withdrawals of out of town banks, and the reluctance of local banks to place money into the market, when they are seeking to cooperate with the Federal Reserve Board in curtailing the volume of speculative credit.

Trading was in unusually heavy volume, with indications that the day's sales would set a new high record for the year, if not for all time. Total sales crossed the 3,000,000 shares mark shortly after midday and the ticker was then nearly 40 minutes behind the market. At their low prices today, many of the high priced specialties were selling 30 to 70 points below the year's high levels, some of which were established only last week. Adams Express broke 21 points after having dropped 49 1/4 yesterday, the low price of 330 contrasting with the year's high of 900 1/4. Greene Cananea Copper, which sold as high as 197 5/8 last week, a regimental flag draped in crepe. Thousands of people marched as mourners behind the body of Marshal Foch. The street was solid humanity as far as the eye could see until the cortege halted momentarily, moved again and the groups once more spread out.

As the procession reached Les Invalides the casket was transferred from the gun carriage to a special catafalque where it remained while Premier Poincare paid the last and only oral public tribute to the departed soldier, and the Marshal's comrades in arms filed past the Catafalque.

Other detachments passed by officers saluting with their sabres as they reached the Catafalque while the flags of the detachments aloft were lowered.

When the last soldier had paid his tribute the bier was transferred to the catafalque to the Guncarrriage. This time it was followed by only the Marshal's family and his staff.

When the procession had passed under Napoleon's statue the ceremony was no longer for the public. The Marshal's family in the presence of officers of his own rank paid their last farewell to the great military leader's remains in strict private.

The bier was then placed in a vault called "Vault of the Governor of Les Invalides" to remain until a sarcophagus worthy of him and in keeping with that of Napoleon can be prepared for him.

7th Street Home Damaged by Fire
