PRES. HOOVER BUSIEST MAN AT CAPITAL

Hard Work Outstanding Characteristic of The New Adminis- tration.

Washington, April 4.—(AP)—Attaches at the White House have come to the conclusion that hard work is to be an outstanding characteristic of the Hoover administration.

Alert always to familiarize themselves with a new President's every whim, they have watched the man to whom they refer simply as "The Boss," settle quickly into a busy routine, have seen him change it slightly as he acquainted himself with the duties of his office, and now have come to regard it as the accepted and expected thing.

It was just a month ago today that Mr. Hoover took the oath of office. Almost immediately he embarked upon a strenuous and exacting program. Social invitations customarily accepted by his predecessors were declined so that his evenings might be free.

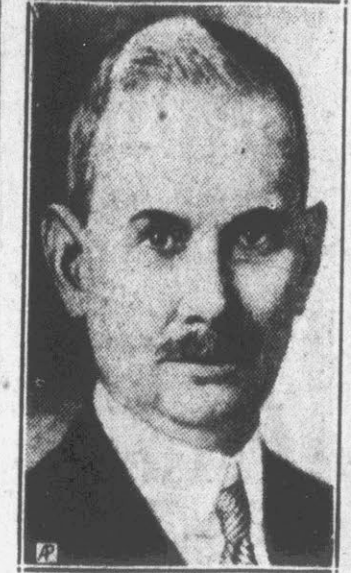

During the day every possible interruption was eliminated so that his working hours might be undisturbed. Even the daily public reception, a fixture with many previous administrations, was reduced to twice a week, and is to be even more sharply curtailed.

From the President's desk this relieved of interruptions have come in rapid succession announcements of significant new public policies and appointments of officers of high responsibility. He has written the message to be sent to Congress which he summoned by proclamation, and in addition he has attacked many other problems of state.

Customarily, Mr. Hoover arises at 7 o'clock and, mindful of the duties of his personal physician, Lieutenant Commander Joel T. Boone, that he must have exercise, he turns first of all to that. Several times a week he proceeds with a group of friends to a secluded spot on the White House lawn and there they toss a medicine ball back and forth for a half hour or more.

At eight o'clock he is at breakfast and at nine, he is at his desk. For an hour he devotes himself to such mail as his subordinates consider of sufficient importance to be brought to the chief executive's personal attention. Then, unless it happens to be a "cabinet day," begins the long succession of official callers.

After investigating charges that Rep. William M. Morgan of Ohio (left) had brought liquor into the country from Panama, U. S. Attorney Tuttle announced in New York that no one had seen any liquor and that Morgan's baggage had been passed unopened, L. E. Crawford (right), United States customs inspector, testified at the federal hearing.

Strike Situation Quiet In Two Carolinas Today; Troops Held At Gastonia

Charlotte, April 4.—(AP)—The textile strike situation in the Piedmont section of North and South Carolina today was quiet.

At Gastonia, where yesterday was marked by a series of disorders that brought out five companies of National guardsmen, everything was reported quiet today about the Lenoir Mill of the Manville-Jencks Company. Some two hundred troopers were on duty about the mill and in the mill settlement where approximately 8,000 people live.

All was quiet in the three sections of South Carolina where strikes are in progress. At Greenville, Vernon Allen, 23 year old chairman of the strike committee, announced that the strikers were posting pickets about the Brandon Corporation to prevent disorders and possible damage to the mill property. He said they were not there to prevent employees returning to work. He also stated that bootleggers had been ordered to stay away from the mill settlement and that drinking among the strikers would not be tolerated.

At the Brandon Duck Mill and the Pointsett Mills at Greenville also units of the Brandon Corporation all was quiet. A meeting of Pointsett Mill operators and executives scheduled for today has been postponed until Friday.

At the Monarch and Ottaway mills at Union quiet reigned with

CAPITAL CITY IN THROES OF SOCIAL WAR

Secretary Stimson Must Settle Social Position Of Vice- President's Sister.

Washington, April 4.—(AP)—The official contingent of Washington society turned its always formally polite but now determinedly questioning eyes today upon its final arbiter, Secretary Stimson.

The unofficial contingent, having nothing at stake, turned merely curious but possibly partisan eyes in his direction.

For the capital is in the throes of a social war much as it has not experienced in many years, delicate questions of precedence and rank must be settled, and because they have to do with international usages and involve the social aspects of diplomacy, the Secretary of State is the official who must settle them.

The situation centers around the ruling by Secretary Kellogg just before he turned over the office to Mr. Stimson last week that Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister and official hostess of Vice-President Curtis, ranked below the wives of foreign diplomats in the seating of guests at official dinners.

The Vice-Presidents wife died five years ago. Had she lived, his elevation to the Vice-Presidency would have entitled her to rank above the wives of diplomats at official dinners, and he had expected his sister, with whom he has lived since the death of Mrs. Curtis, to be accorded the same privilege.

The matter of seating guests in accordance with their rank at official dinners is one of such serious importance, involving as it does the niceties of showing proper respect to the representatives of foreign governments, that a special social bureau is maintained in the State Department to handle the problems it raises. That bureau undoubtedly considered the difficult question of Mrs. Gann's rank before the Kellogg decision was announced, and Secretary Stimson most likely will consult its experts before passing on the Vice-President's protest.

The only word that has come from Mr. Stimson's office on the question thus far is that he is studying the Vice-President's request. It has been suggested at the State Department, however, that Mr. Kellogg's ruling was supported by many precedents. That ruling recognizes Mrs. Gann's right to preside at official dinners given by the Vice-President, but makes a distinction between her status at such functions and at those at which he is a guest.

CROP SURPLUS DISCUSSED AT FARM INQUIRY

Senate And House Committees Unde- cided About Control of Crop Surpluses.

Washington, April 4.—(AP)—The big problem that now confronts the Senate and House Agriculture Committees, as the time approaches for them to begin writing the new farm relief bill, is what policy to pursue with respect to defraying the cost of controlling crop surpluses.

In the opinion of many administration leaders, the testimony of Secretary Hyde has virtually settled all other phases of that farm relief plan that will be presented to the special session of the new Congress. It is the consensus that there must be a federal farm board with broad powers, commodity advisory councils to keep a close watch over production and marketing methods of the various crops, and stabilization agencies to buy up surpluses and filter them out on the markets in such a way as to maintain a fairly constant price level.

But there is still a major difference as to how the cost of controlling surpluses is to be met, and in this matter for many years the National Grange appears to be arousing considerable interest in and out of the committee. Some who favored the equalization fee provision of the twice-rejected McNary-Haugen bill are looking with favor into the plan because they feel that a specific method of meeting the cost of controlling surpluses must be set down if the whole plan of farm relief is to succeed.

The new McNary bill, which is generally regarded as providing what the administration wants in the way of farm relief, makes no provision for the functions which the equalization fee was intended to serve. It provides for government loans to stabilization agencies with which to buy up surpluses, and the assumption is that if the agencies should lose money, they would be required to pay back the full amount borrowed.

It is the belief of those who favor the McNary bill that no specific provisions for meeting the cost of controlling surpluses is necessary. There will be no heavy losses, they predict, holding that the stabilization agencies would be able to sell the surpluses for about what they cost.

Terrific Slaughter Of Insurgent Troops Occurs At La Reforma

Magnolia Merchant Kills Wife and Child And Then Suicides

Kenansville, April 4.—(AP)—Adrian Groves, elderly merchant, his wife and their four-year-old adopted daughter were found shot to death today in their home at Magnolia, a Duplin county town near here. After an investigation a coroner's jury decided that Groves had killed the other two and then committed suicide.

Groves was a well-to-do merchant at Magnolia for many years, but it was said he had recently suffered financial reverses. The tragedy was discovered when neighbors investigated to ascertain why his store did not open for business as usual this morning. A 28-caliber revolver was found near his body.

Two Women Murdered At Chicago

Mystery Sur- rounds The Slaying Of Her Maid Yes- terday.

Chicago, April 4.—(AP)—What first appeared to be an attempted murder followed by suicide had turned today into a mystery in which a third person may have played a murderer's part.

Two aged women—wealthy widow and her maid—were found in the former's apartment yesterday. The maid, Mrs. Ida Peterson, was dead, a bread knife plunged in her neck; her mistress, Mrs. Helen Kelso, 70, was near death from hammer blows.

The first theory of police was that the maid, 67 years old, had beaten Mrs. Kelso over the head with a hammer and then had taken her own life. Mrs. Peterson, who had been a maid for Mrs. Kelso for 27 years, at one time was an inmate of the state hospital for the insane and suffered from what her physician called "recurrent mania depression." The physician, Dr. James Gill, said he had not seen the maid for some time, but he thought her condition had improved.

Circumstances tending to contradict the murder-suicide theory were found by investigators for the coroner's office. Physicians expressed doubt that the maid would have had sufficient strength to have plunged the knife into her neck with such force as to break off a part of the blade. They also added from the blood that flowed from both that Mrs. Kelso may have been stricken after the maid had been slain.

The maid's body was found on a bed in her own room. A hammer, lowered hammer lay on the floor near Mrs. Kelso, fully clothed, was found on the floor of her bedroom. Her skull was fractured and she was unconscious. She had not regained consciousness early today and there were only slight hopes for her recovery.

MOTORCADE ADVERTISES EXPOSITION

Farmville People Tour Eastern Part of State Telling of At- traction Next Week.

A motercade from Farmville advertising the Eastern Carolina Exposition stopped over in Greenville for a short time yesterday and distributed information dealing with the annual carnival to be held at Farmville the week of April 8th.

Numbers of cars bearing the name and date of the Exposition took part in the motercade trip to principal towns in this district. Copies of the Farmville Exposition, weekly publication of the thriving Pitt county town, were distributed along the route of the motercade.

Eighteen Federal Prisoners Sent To Pitt County Jail

Eighteen federal prisoners are being held in Pitt county jail today awaiting assignment to different jails of the state. Eleven of the prisoners were sent up from the federal court sitting at Washington to relieve the congestion existing in the jail at that place. The others had been incarcerated here for sometime awaiting final disposition by federal authorities.

All of the prisoners were convicted of violation of the prohibition law. The majority are colored. They were apprehended by federal officers operating in this district during the last several months.

Byron Kirkpatrick, prosecutor, said about 30 witnesses would be summoned. He declined to say whether the warrants would be aimed at particular individuals.

REBELS SHOOT DOWN FEDERAL PLANE TODAY

Two Fliers Killed In Air Raid on Troop Train Near Naco, Sonora.

Naco, Sonora, April 4.—(AP)—A Mexican federal bombing plane carrying two fliers was shot down in flames by rebel gun fire this morning while engaged in an air raid on General Fausto Topete's rebel troop train a short distance south of here. The aviators, Captain Juan Gutierrez and Lieut. Jesus Gaona, were killed.

The plane was on its fifth trip over the rebel camp and was flying at an altitude of between 4,000 and 4,500 feet. It was seen to break into pieces as rebel shells hit the gasoline tank and the two bombs it was carrying exploded. The crash occurred one mile south of the federal trenches.

Bombing and counter bombing had started the day's hostilities when the federal plane, on its first two trips flew over the troop train and dropped four 50 pound bombs while two rebel ships hurled eight bombs on government positions.

LONG COHORTS STAGE RALLY IN LOUISIANA

People From Back County Gather At Baton Rouge to Show Faith in Governor.

Baton Rouge, La., April 4.—(AP)—An hour and a half after the Louisiana house of Representatives met today as a grand jury investigating impeachment charges against Governor Huey P. Long, members were arguing about procedure. J. W. Sanders, Jr., the representative Governor Long is charged with attempting to plot to murder, charged openly on the floor that the Long adherents were "filibustering in an effort to keep down the clerk."

Warren B. Seymour, clerk of liquidation of the state department of Louisiana, was the first witness called to testify on charges in count number four alleging that Governor Long had misused funds of the state through control of boards and commissions.

The records show that the Governor was authorized to borrow $6,000 from the banks to entertain Governors at the conference in New Orleans. Mr. Seymour said, He testified that his office had no record of vouchers on the expenditure of the $6,000 and he was excused.

Baton Rouge, La., April 4.—(AP)—This old southern capital noted in history for stirring events, was set today for a political circus when the cohorts of Gov. Huey P. Long descend upon the town for an all-day demonstration in an effort to show the legislature, sitting in judgment upon the governor, that he has the support of back countrymen.

Unperturbed by the elaborate arrangement made by the governor's supporters for the all-day rally the House of Representatives faced a schedule of an all-day trial on testimony bearing upon impeachment charges against the governor.

Sixty additional subpoenas went out today bringing the total issue up near the hundred mark.

Merchants Association At 100 Member Mark

The membership of the Greenville Merchants Association reached the hundred mark yesterday, according to information given out this morning from the office of the secretary.

The reaching of this mark was the realization of a great ambition on the part of the membership of the organization and the success will be celebrated with a barbecue or fish fry sometime within the next few days. Plans for the celebration had not been definitely decided upon today, but they will be worked out within the next two or three days, it was stated.

The hundred mark was reached by the soliciting committees of the association yesterday with the addition of three members, Pitt-Hudson Co. C. H. Edwards, Hardware House and F. R. Mallard, Grocery. The membership campaign has been under way during the last month and success has been very pronounced. The membership drive will be continued several days longer, members of the committees stated today. It is hoped sufficient members may be added to the list to give Greenville a chance of winning the prize for increased membership at the State convention in June. All associations are vying for this honor and competition is expected to be very keen.

The local Association is one of the most active in the state. It has served Greenville in the capacity of a chamber of commerce and other allied bodies since its organization here several years ago. It is in recognition of this outstanding service to the community that various business organizations are manifesting such active interest in the development of the trade group.

Canned Music Absurd.

Palm Beach—Florenz Ziegfeld thinks Arthur Hammerstein's plan of using canned music in musical comedy is absurd. "No real artist would ever think of singing with a mechanical instrument and no one who really loves the theatre would even consider such an intolerable arrangement."

One of the outstanding features will be the beauty contest in which the pulchritude of Eastern Carolina will appear before the thousands of Exposition visitors twice daily. Greenville will have the largest number of contestants of any city embraced by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce. Other towns will be represented by from one to three queens each.

FRANCE PAYS LAST TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN

Nation Pays Herrick Funeral Honors such As Many of Her Own Sons Never Got.

Paris, April 4.—(AP)—France paid an American, Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, in death today, funeral honors such as many of the greatest of its own sons have never received.

Beginning with funeral orations by Premier Poincare and General Pershing at the American embassy there were set in motion ceremonies which will culminate in the slow restrained passage of the Atlantic by the French cruiser, Tourville, bearing the body of the ambassador back to his native land.

Thousands crowded the streets about the embassy, standing with bare bowed heads in the clear, cold sunlight, while inside a sparse three hundred men—all for whom there was room—listened to the eulogies on the American whom France regarded as her friend more than any other since Benjamin Franklin.

It was the second time in ten days Frenchmen had been called upon to pay tribute at the bier of one they loved, and with Marshal Foch alone could that tribute have been more marked and deeply impressive, probably, than was the case today.

At 9 a. m., an hour before the service at the embassy, detachments of the Republican guard took their stations along the route the cortege was to follow to the American Pro-Cathedral, while police lined the streets about the embassy and maintained uninterrupted ingress and egress despite the crowds.

Troops passed in the Place des Etats-Unis and the band of the 48th infantry regiment with drums draped in crepe and instruments muffled stood by ready to take their place at the head of the line of march.

Members of the embassy staff, who regarded Ambassador Herrick almost as a father, were among the first to make their way through the line of police into the embassy court. Just a moment before the ceremony General Pershing and former Ambassador Jusserand arrived, together, and entered the building.

The house itself bore no signs of mourning, not even a flag at half mast. Only drawn blinds hinted at the grief within. There were few touches of colors, even the Republican guardsmen with their black coats, blue trousers, and helmet caps with red plumes, relieving the monotony of the omnipresent black.

There was a striking contrast to the funeral of Marshal Foch, where full evening dress was acquired in accordance with sentimental custom. The notables today wore frock coats, dark trousers and high silk hats. Those attached to the military and naval branches wore full uniforms with bands of crepe on their arms.

Inside the embassy General Pershing spoke first. Attired in his full uniform with a sash of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, he looked aged and worn from the loss of his two personal friends—Marshal Foch and the ambassador—within two weeks.

His voice trembled as he said, "He was my friend." General Pershing recalled the ambassador's remaining in Paris in the dark days of 1914 and called him our first volunteer when he said, "If there should be no one left but an ambassador to defend Paris, I shall be that one."

General Pershing was followed by Quinones D Leon, Spanish ambassador of the diplomatic corps, who praised the high qualities of loyalty and patriotism which he said would make Ambassador Herrick's work live in the history of humanity.

When General Pershing began his speech the 31st infantry which was standing outside with fixed bayonets, presented arms. The silence of the great crowd was almost oppressive and all, by some trick of recollection turned their eyes to the empty balcony where the ambassador on that history day nearly two years ago stood with Colonel Lindbergh, after completion of his trans-Atlantic flight.

Premier Poincare, the last of the three distinguished speakers to render homage to the late ambassador, spoke in his usual clear sharp voice. The French premier is a man who is complete master of his emotions but his hand shook visibly as he took up his speech and began reading it.

"Ten days ago," he said, "in the hours of French anguish, Ambassador Herrick desired to give to France a supreme testimony of his unflinching friendship. Although convalescing from a cruel and dangerous illness he insisted publicly on fulfilling his part in the official ceremonies of the Foch funeral and followed the cortege the entire distance from beginning to end of the march, today. That man, a friend of France, is dead himself."

The coffin, covered by the stars and stripes lay in the middle of the salon between two windows. General Pershing, Premier Poincare, Senor Quinones De Leon, Mrs. Parmley Herrick, Madame Salembier, the late ambassador's secretary, and the embassy staff stood to the right of it. To the left were Marshals Petain and Franchet D'Esperey, General Owen D. Young, and Ridgley Carter.

As the body was borne from the embassy to the waiting hearse the drums beat "Aux Champs"—To The Field—and a hush fell over the great assembly outside the embassy.

Then in the still air the strains of the Star Spangled Banner rang out and the cortege began moving, slowly, headed by a detachment of the Republican guard. A battalion of the 31st infantry rendered military honors. A company of the 5th infantry in wide ranks marched ahead of the black silver hearse with its five black plumes and the letter "L" in the shield on each side.

Sun-Back Dresses Banned in Florida

Jacksonville, Fla., April 4.—(AP)—"Sun-back" dresses may be the latest fad, but they will not be worn at Robert E. Lee high school if Mrs. Marguerite Culp, dean of girls, has her way.

Six girls who appeared in classes yesterday wearing the frocks with abbreviated backs, felt the dean's wrath when she decided that the dresses "actually reached the point of immodesty."

Mrs. Culp ordered the girls home to put on "decent" clothes. "Such clothes are immodest," she said, "and demoralize the classes. There's a time and place for all things. The girls were exposing themselves to adverse comment and we simply had to make rules against wearing such apparel."

The girls, who maintained that the dresses admitted many healthful rays of sunshine, were indignant at Mrs. Culp's stand. Five of them complied with her order but the six could not see why she should be forced to change.

"My mamma approves and the dresses are supposed to be healthy," she said. "Anyway, I don't think it's any of the teacher's business what I wear."

Heads of other Jacksonville high schools had varying opinions about it.

RICHARD HALLIBURTON HERE FRIDAY, APRIL 12

Richard Halliburton, the noted traveler and "playboy adventurer" who has made his dreams come true, has performed the feats of the greatest heroes of old stories, and has taken the world with him on his adventures through his books. He will take his audience with him when he appears at East Carolina Teachers College on Friday evening of next week, April 12.

This bold adventurer and romantic dreamer brings together the extremes of young America, red-headed and red-blooded, a thinker and a doer of deeds, an accurate scholar and an athlete, independent, with self assurance, but with a record that gives him a right to egotism. He knows what he wants to do and does it, and knows what he wants to say and says it, and says it so his audience thrills over it.

CHANGES IN FLOWERS AS WELL AS DRESSES

The Easter parade of well dressed folks shows us that the ladies of today no longer wear a garden full of flowers attached to their dresses. The most fastidious dressers request the smallest corsages and shoulderettes. While the tiny wrist corsage could almost be pinned upon the lapel of a man's coat and not seem out of place.

There is, of course, a reason for this—a dainty woman with a gown of georgette or silk does not want to tear or mar the beauty of her dress by a huge bunch of flowers.

Even the sweet girl graduate says she will no longer carry what her sisters have always carried in the way of flowers—she intends to show her individuality in flowers as well as dress.—(Adv.)

Local Debaters Ready For First Tests Tomorrow

Preliminaries of the annual state wide triangular debating contest will open in this city tomorrow with New Bern and Washington debating at the local high school.

While Washington and New Bern are testing their strength here, Greenville debaters will be matching their skill against New Bern at Washington and Washington at New Bern.

The "World Court" is the subject of the debate this year and the juvenile orators have shown considerable knowledge of the question in clashes preceding the preliminaries.

The teams went to Ayden last night to match their skill against the high school of that place. Although this was classed as a practice contest, the youngsters went into the fight in earnest and exhibited real form. Both the affirmative and negative teams of the two schools took part in the practice contest.

BALL SCOUTS GET BUSY IN ALL SECTIONS

By BRIAN BELL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
New York, April 4.—(AP)—Sharp-eyed fans at college baseball games soon may see several overcoated men of middle age watching the young athletes perform and trying at the same time to keep warm. Their hands will be in their pockets but a glance at the fingers would show evidences of much baseball played two or three decades ago. They are scouts.

Every major league baseball squad has from one to half a dozen scouts who ride the "rattlers" all summer long, looking at baseball players on semi-pro teams and in minor leagues. Some of the scouts are in the southern training camps assisting the managers in separating the baseball sheep from the goats but there are enough at large to take the attendance at college games for a month or more.

"Not that we expect to get any big roundup of players from these colleges," said one of the old scouts as he packed his bag for his first expedition of the year, "but looking at the collegians will get us in shape for the long grind when the weather gets hot."

"The collegers are tough, though, for when you see a fellow you think might be a major ball player some day, the chances are his father doesn't want him to play, or he wants to study medicine or something."

"Another thing. You hear people talk about college ball players in the major leagues and they name a long list, 40 or 50 or more. They are not college ball players. They are—rather they were—minor league players."

"I haven't counted 'em, but I'll bet there are not more than a dozen players in the two big leagues who went to major clubs from college and have been in the majors ever since."

The old scout was not far wrong. Cy Williams, of the Phillies, joined the Chicago Cubs in 1912, fresh from Notre Dame, and has been around ever since. George Sizer went to the St. Louis Browns from Michigan in 1915 and two years later Joe Duran left Holy Cross for the Athletics. Frankie Fish left off a Purdue and took up with the New York Giants in 1919 and Bib Falk joined the Chicago White Sox from the University of Texas in 1921.

Tom Zachary went to the Athletics from Guilford College in 1918, pitching only two games, however. He bobbed up with the Washington Senators the next year. Epa Rixey was graduated from the University of Virginia to the Phillies in 1912. Bob Rees went from Georgia Tech to Washington in 1926.

Three players have been with only one major league outfit after leaving college. Pete Donahue, Texas Christian University and Cincinnati; Luke Sewell, University of Alabama and Cleveland; and Ted Lyons, Baylor University and the Chicago White Sox.

Eddie Collins, an alumnus of Columbia, played one week with New York in 1907 after joining the Athletics in 1906.

Southern Woman Stands Out In Pinehurst Golf

Pinehurst, April 4.—(AP)—For the first time since they have been playing the historic north and south women's tournament, a southern woman is within striking distance of the championship.

Every year the Dixie bred golfers come in droves to do battle for the most important title the southland has to offer but the invaders from the north and west always win it. The hopes of the south today rest upon the sturdy shoulders of Miss Marion Turpie, a trim little Miss from New Orleans who rules the southern feminine roost and who is likewise known and feared in trans-Mississippi circles.

Miss Turpie's task in the semi-finals today is to give the dope bucket a sufficiently powerful kick.

by beating Miss Helen Hicks, sensation of the Florida tournaments, 3 and 2 in the quarter finals yesterday, the New Orleans girls won her way into the title's ante-room only to find her path blocked by the national champion and one of the best match players in the game.
Miss Collett moved up by triumphing over Miss Mureen Orcutt, the New Jersey star, 3 and 2.
The Providence veteran, who has annexed as many titles as Joseph had colors in his coat, is favored to continue her march to the finals and meet either Miss Edith Quier, of Reading, Va., or Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, who play in the other semi-finals match today.
Miss Quier yesterday disposed of Miss Louise Foroye of Youngstown, Ohio, 5 and 4, while Miss Van Wie was getting a hair line one up decision over Miss Virginia Wilson, also of Chicago, in an extra hole thriller.

Miss Van Wie staged a remarkable comeback yesterday to nose out the clever little Miss Wilson. Five down at the eighth, Miss Van Wie began an against odds uphill battle, squared it on the fifteenth and won on the nineteenth.

"Hey, Bill!"

I don't know which cigarette this is, but it sure wins my vote!"

W. H. (Bill) McCord, of Post & McCord, steel contractors for New York's tallest skyscrapers, holds cigarette test with 94 workers.

Friend, you're smoking a certain cigarette today because you feel it's the best brand for you.

And maybe you're right. But have you ever really checked up? Ever said to Old Man Habit, "Now you step out of the room. I'm going to smoke the four leading brands with brand names forgotten and just let my taste say which one is best."

The other day one of these tests was made among the huskier fellows in New York... those two-fisted chaps who work with steel girders, sky-high above the city streets.

Their own boss, Mr. W. H. McCord, was referee and score keeper. Each cigarette was "masked" and numbered. All Mr. McCord said was, "Tell me which one you like the best."

The result speaks for itself! 69 out of 94 men voted for OLD GOLD!

OLD GOLDS win time after time in these public tests, because smokers find them smoother and better... with not a cough in a carload.

COTTON MARKET

New York, April 4.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 5 to 8 points under renewal of the selling in progress yesterday afternoon. It seemed to be encouraged by relatively easy Liverpool cables and continued favorable weather in the South.

Some stop orders were uncovered on the decline, which extended to 19.65 for July and 18.65 for October, making net losses of about 8 to 14 points during the early trading. Trade interests were buyers of the near months and there was considerable covering at the decline. The steadied market, which showed rallies of 5 to 6 points from the lowest by the end of the first half hour.

Private cables reported general liquidation in Liverpool, influenced by the boll weevil report of yesterday and better weather news from the South. These advices said cloth business was restricted for all outlets.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, April 4.—(AP)—Fresh breaks in wheat values today smashed the market down temporarily to below yesterday's bottom level, and closer yet to the season's low price record. In the late dealing, however, wheat recovered rapidly. Toward the last, a better trans-Atlantic demand for wheat from North America was reported, and the day's takings for Europe were estimated at 700,000 bushels.

Drys And Wets Continue Fight In Wisconsin

Madison, Wis., April 4.—(AP)—The effort to repeal Wisconsin's prohibition law moved to the state legislature today bearing a two-to-one endorsement from voters in the election on Tuesday.

Both those favoring repeal and those opposing it concentrated their attention on the state capital, the wets demanding prompt action as a result of their poll triumph, the drys equally anxious to turn election defeat into legislative victory.

The latest returns on the referendum to repeal the state prohibition enforcement act gave: Yes, 277,404; No, 145,299. The vote on legalization of 2.75 per cent beer was Yes, 258,764; No, 148,131. These totals included 2,003 of the 2,159 precincts.

The election was merely an expression of opinion and not a mandate to the legislature.

Often the Sign of Constipation. Theford's Black-Draught Drives Out Impurities.

Decatur, Ala.—Mrs. A. B. Roberts, of 1704 Fifth Avenue, this city, says: "My mother is a great believer in Black-Draught. She has used it for many years in her family. When we were growing up, she gave it to us whenever we complained of indigestion."

"Since I have been married and had a home of my own, I have continued to use Black-Draught as a household medicine, and have found it very good for constipation and biliousness."

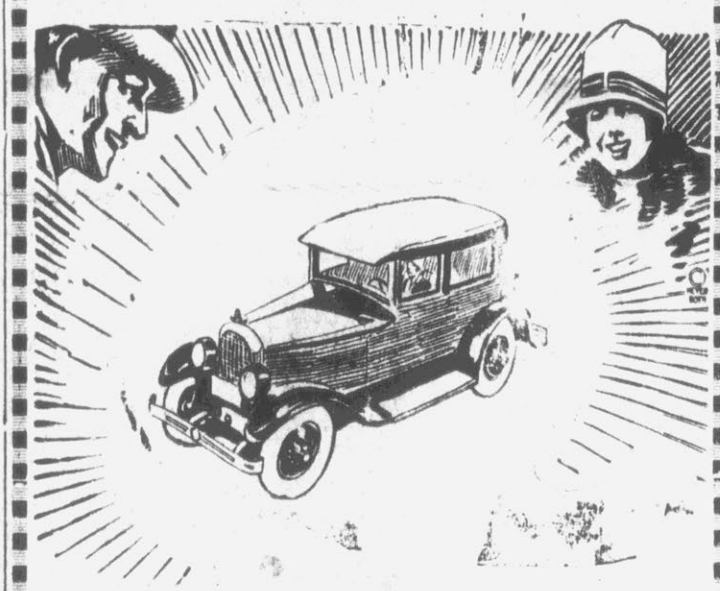

"Whenever I wake up in the morning feeling dull and languid, I know that I need something to cleanse my system. Sometimes I feel dizzy and uncertain of myself. I begin to take a pinch of Black-Draught after each meal for several days. Then I begin to feel fine again. My system clears up and I have more energy."

"I am glad to recommend Black-Draught to others, as I have found it to be a great deal of help to me."

Theford's Black-Draught, in yellow 25-cent packages, is a powdered herb medicine of highest quality. Refuse substitutes.

Call money renewed at 40 per cent and the high rate attracted such a large supply of funds that loans were arranged in the "outside market" as low as 8 per cent. Retention of the 5 1-2 per cent rediscount rate by the bank of England was interpreted as an indication that no increase was likely in the rate of the New York Federal Reserve bank, directors of which meet after the close of the market. No changes were made yesterday in the 5 per cent rate at the St. Louis Federal Reserve bank.

Steel shares were brought forward by speculators for the advance as the new leaders of the market. Trade news from Steel centers has been unusually favorable of late and record breaking peace time earnings are predicted for several of the large producers.

Bethlehem, stockholders of which were recently promised more liberal dividend distributions, ran up 5 1-2 points to 110 5-8, or within 1 1-4 points of the year's high, one block of 10,000 shares changing hands at 110. Youngstown Sheet and Tube end Superior Steel sold at the year's high prices, and U. S. Steel common, Republic and Vanadium Steels were marked up about 3 points each. Midland Steel products preferred advanced 4 3-4 and A. M. Byers 5.

Motor shares also attracted a large following on reports of record-breaking production and sales. One block of 12,000 shares of General Motors changed hands at 86 followed by a further advance to 86 1-4 up 2 3-8. Otis Elevator soared 10 points, Commercial Solvents 9 3-4 and General Electric, Montgomery Ward, International Telephone, American Caus, Radio, Mathieson Alkali and Kinney Co., advanced 3 to 4 1-2 points.

Fresh buying support came into the oil shares after an opening period of heaviness, but the advance was held in check by the liquidation

Call money renewed at 40 per cent and the high rate attracted such a large supply of funds that loans were arranged in the "outside market" as low as 8 per cent. Retention of the 5 1-2 per cent rediscount rate by the bank of England was interpreted as an indication that no increase was likely in the rate of the New York Federal Reserve bank, directors of which meet after the close of the market. No changes were made yesterday in the 5 per cent rate at the St. Louis Federal Reserve bank.
