STRIKE LINES HOLDING FIRM IN CAROLINAS

Ranks of Idle Increased By Closing Of Mill at Lexington, North Carolina.

Charlotte, April 13.—(AP)—Strike lines in North and South Carolina textile towns were holding firm today.

The ranks of the idle were increased by more than 300 yesterday when the Wennonah and Dacotah cotton mills, at Lexington, N. C., closed down "indefinitely." Officials of the Dacotah mill, however, denied there was any strike threat there and said they abandoned operation because of market conditions.

The Wennonah mill was closed following a second walkout there yesterday when employees of the card room group joined a strike which has been in progress all the week. Each of the mills employed about 225 workers.

The only hint of progress toward compromise was at Gastonia, where officials of the Manville-Jones Company, which operates the Lory mill, issued optimistic reports yesterday and claimed an almost normal working force for the first time since the walkout there.

The South Carolina situation remained quiet, with mill employees at Union, Greenville, Anderson and Woodruff remaining idle.

Gastonia, April 13.—(AP)—Everything was quiet in the strike area at the Lory mill here as J. A. Baugh, general manager of the mill reported that even more workers were at their places today than yesterday. He said that more employees were returning to their jobs each day.

There were no new developments in the reported attempted dynamiting of the mill Wednesday night when a soldier found two sticks of dynamite on a man who later disappeared after being given into the custody of a man posing as a deputy sheriff.

Lexington, April 13.—(AP)—Two organization meetings of the National Textile Workers Union were reported scheduled here this afternoon as 450 employees of the Wennonah and Dacotah Textile mills remained idle. The Wennonah workers are on strike protesting a wage cut and asking for Union recognition while the management of the Dacotah had closed the plant yesterday due to an over-production.

One of the two union meetings will be for the Wennonah and Dacotah workers, it was said, and the other will be for workers of mills which have not been affected by strikes or shutdowns.

The Wennonah mills had operated under difficulties all week after a partial walkout Monday and when the carders quit yesterday the plant was closed down. Reports here today said that the workers of the Dacotah mills had planned a strike Monday but confirmation could not be obtained.

Asks Manufacturers To Assist In Making Exposition Success

Raleigh, April 13.—(AP)—In a letter made public today Governor Gardner appeared to leading manufacturers of the state to help make a success of the first North Carolina Industrial Exposition which will be held the week of May 13 at the fair grounds here under the management of State Fair authorities. As a manufacturer as well as farmer, the Governor let it be known that he is very much interested in promoting industrial activities of the state. He was one of the moving spirits behind the formulation of plans for the exposition.

"I feel that this educational exposition occurring year after year as is planned will show the people of our state and other states the marvelous development and variety of North Carolina's industries now producing around a billion and a quarter dollars annually," the governor wrote in his letter to manufacturers. "Among the three thousand larger establishments are many standing at the top of their class—not only in size but in quality of products—in the south, throughout the nation, and in some cases the world."

T. B. Smith, Secretary-Manager of the State Fair and also of the exposition, has signed up a carnival, rodeo, and other entertainment features for the exposition. A well-known social club of Raleigh will sponsor a series of dances to be held at the exposition grounds each night.

Orders Liquor Sold

Joseph E. Sheedy, vice president of the United States lines, authorized the sale of wines and liquors on 10 American liners purchased from shipping board.

REPORT FALL OF REBELS IN SONORA AREA

Disintegration of Forces Said to Have Followed Surrender of Gen. Manzo.

Nogales, Ariz., April 13.—(AP)—The surrender of General Francisco R. Manzo, one time second in command of the Mexican revolutionary forces, to American immigration officers here last night, was followed by the spreading of reports along the border that the rebel movement was disintegrating in Sonora, its last stronghold.

Manzo and his personal staff of fifteen officers crossed into Arizona after reports had been circulated that he had been stripped of his command and threatened with court-martial for displaying alleged sympathy to the federal cause after his failure to capture the loyal city of Mazatlan.

The general and his staff were taken into custody by immigration officials but Manzo was permitted to go to his home and be with his family during the night. He was seen conferring with American lawyers at his home.

Kanzo and General Benito Bernal his chief of staff, were ordered to appear before American Immigration inspectors today for a decision as to their right to remain in this country. What their fate would be if they were released either to federal or rebel authorities in Mexico remained doubtful here.

Reports from Nogales headquarters said Manzo had been court-martialed. These followed declarations from Agua Prieta, a rebel point that he had sought to withdraw from the revolutionary movement after Federal General Jaime Carrillo had repulsed Manzo's rebels at Mazatlan. Manzo refused to affirm or deny the report that he had been court-martialed.

TWO MEN SHOT TO DEATH AT CHICAGO, ILL.

Bodies Found in Automobile Near Alley Entrance of Western Hotel.

Chicago, April 13.—(AP)—Two men were found shot to death, clumped face downward in the rear seat of a large sedan, early today near the alley entrance of the Western hotel Cicero.

Officer George Price, of the Cicero department saw the automobile parked at the rear entrance of the hotel. Two men seeped out. Upon perceiving him, the officer said one cried "look out or the cop." Both fled through a vacant lot, followed by Price, who fired two shots at them.

The man disappeared and the policeman returned to the car. He found two bodies crumpled on the floor in the rear. One was identified later as William Clifford by an automobile license card. Police also said Clifford was one of the three men recently tried for the slaying of Albert Pratt last fall.

The shooting took place at a hotel formerly known as the Hawthorne hotel, alleged headquarters of Al "Scarface" Capone, Chicago gangster, who now claims Miami, Fla., as his home.

BODY OF DEAD AMBASSADOR REACHES U. S.

Cruiser Arrives at N. Y. Today With Remains of Myron T. Herrick.

New York, April 13.—(AP)—Under gray skies, with a threat of rain, the body of Myron T. Herrick, Ambassador to France, was brought back to his native land today by the Cruiser Tourville, pride of the French Navy.

The sleek French craft, with flags at half-mast, was escorted by the lower bay to the quarantine station by two American Cruisers, the Marblemhead and Cincinnati. They had joined the Tourville off Nantucket Lightship last night.

The city tug Macon, bearing high officials of the nation, state and city, met the funeral ship at Quarantine.

The warships did not stop at Quarantine for the customary health examination, but awaited the Macon, which came alongside the Tourville at 9:45 o'clock.

A committee from the Macon boarded the Tourville and formal greetings were exchanged. At 10 o'clock the Warcraft and the Macon steamed slowly up the narrows on their way to the French line in the lower Hudson river. Crafts of descriptions in the busy harbor swept their flags in salute for the dead.

The oppressive silence was broken suddenly as the Tourville passed Governor's Island, headquarters of the Second Corps area of the United States Army, when her guns boomed, at brief intervals, twenty-one times—the national salute. From Fort Jay, on the little Army Post Island off the tip of Manhattan, came the answering salute of twenty one guns.

Silent crowds congregated along the sea wall at Battery Park and watched the funeral procession glide up the broad expanse of the Hudson. On the roofs and in the windows of the great skyscrapers of lower Manhattan, other crowds watched the solemn spectacle.

Flags were at half staff on city, state and federal buildings, and on many business houses.

Just before 11 o'clock, the French Cruiser was warped into her berth.

FIRST WORD COMES FROM LOST PLANE

Message From Ulm Gives Idea of Suffering Of Southern Cross Fliers.

Sydney, N. S. W., April 13.—(AP)—First direct word from the missing airmen of the Southern Cross was received at Sydney today in messages signed by G. P. Ulm, noted pilot. His telegrams gave some slight inkling of the suffering which the crew of the plane has undergone since they were forced down March 21 while enroute from Sydney to Windham.

After a short stay with the castaways, the rescue plane returned to Derby bearing the messages to the outside world.

A message from pilot Ulm addressed to his wife said: "All O. K. but still very weak from starvation. We have been through a terrible time, but will be returning to recondition the Southern Cross for the flight to England."

This was the first message signed by Ulm. It was addressed to chairman Garlick of the Sydney Citizens' fund through which part of the two weeks search for the missing men had been conducted.

In this same message Ulm asked Mr. Garlick to convey in behalf of himself, Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith and their companions, "heartfelt thanks to the citizens of Sydney for all they have done for us."

The message was telegraphed from Derby, having been carried there by a health airways plane. The plane made a landing near the Southern Cross which was discovered yesterday near Port George. There was a dramatic meeting when the rescue machine reached the castaways.

Plan To Pave Way For World Disarmament

Geneva, April 13.—(AP)—Members of the preparatory disarmament commission of the League of Nations will begin Monday work which they hope will pave the way for a world wide disarmament agreement.

Nations concerned in the commission's labor have built an imposing background of fact and rumor for the start. Yet the atmosphere is one of pessimism, with a general feeling that the convocation is months, perhaps a year to a year and a half too early for the hoped for results to be achieved.

In the pre-conference conversations the topic most discussed has been what Hugh S. Gibson, United States Ambassador to Belgium and American delegate, will say. There is a persistent rumor that he brings with him a definite suggestion from President Hoover embodying the new administration's attitude toward another disarmament conference. What are regarded as qualified denials from Washington that he has such a message have not dissipated the feeling he may have much to do with the outcome of the meeting.

Baron Cushendon, English member of the commission, is expected to bespeak the views of the English Conservative Government toward a new Disarmament Conference. There have been rumors that the Baldwin government, possibly for political reasons, will make suggestions indicating renewed desire for such a conference.

Others have felt that with the British general election impending May 30, the British delegation will be hesitant to take a step which would commit a government of another political faith which might be awarded power at that poll.

The feeling generally is that Ambassador Gibson and Baron Cushendon can set a pace which the other nations represented on the commission will be glad to follow. But the feeling also is that if they do bring suggestions, they will fall short of conciliating divergent British and American views, and that without some measure of conciliation another disarmament conference will be futile.

The German position has been submitted in a note by Count Von Bernstorff, insisting that there be some action toward an international disarmament convention, even though the British-American dispute remains unsettled. The German note particularly stressed prohibition, banning of unattended use of airplanes in war, poison-gas, and the like.

Maxim Litvinoff, representing Russia, and the only non-League of Nations delegate other than Mr. Gibson, is at Geneva with an impressive entourage. His plans are the subject of speculation, some feel he will reiterate the soviet's desire for extensive partial disarmament, broached at the session of the preparatory commission held in March, 1926.

Five Boy Scouts And Two Men Are Saved From Death

Chewelah, Wash., April 13.—(AP)—Five boy scouts and two men who had clung to a precipice near the top of Quartzite Mountain for almost eight hours were saved early this morning from a death plunge after one scout had been killed in a fall of several hundred feet.

The group of eight had climbed to the mountain just outside of town yesterday afternoon and were perched on the summit when the edge of the peak crumbled from under them. The eight boys and men were precipitated to a ledge where all but one of them caught hold of jutting rocks and saved themselves from a sheer drop of several hundred feet and certain death.

Harold Stiffenson, one of the scouts, lost his grip on a rock and went over the ledge. The others, Paul Hutchison, former Idaho football star, and his brother, Don Hutchison, scoutmaster, were left in perilous positions on the ledge. The scoutmaster had made an attempt to save Stiffenson and had slipped over the edge of the precipice but managed to hang by his hands.

News of the group's plight was spread after Stiffenson had been found at the bottom of the precipice. He died a few minutes after being found.

Two hundred residents rushed to the base of the precipice which rises at the end of the town's main street.

A group of rescuers climbed the mountain and drew Paul Hutchison and the five scouts to safety with ropes. But they were unable to reach Don Hutchison. The weather was below freezing and he was maintaining himself only by clutching the rocks with his hands.

He managed to shout that he could not hold on much longer. Finally Willis Earl dropped a rope over the cliff and was lowered 200 feet to the ledge on which Hutchison was clinging. He was followed by "Shorty" Kitcher. The two men tied a rope around the scoutmaster and he was hauled to safety. His condition was described as serious.

CROWN QUEENS OF EXPOSITION AT FARMVILLE

Miss Mildred Barrow, of Snow Hill, Declared Reigning Beauty of Section.

The Eastern Carolina Exposition will come to a close at Farmville tonight after one of the most successful weeks in history. The organizers are expected to draw a crowd as large as any night of the week.

The Exposition yesterday entertained several hundred children from different parts of the country. Look again featured the coronation of the queens of the big show. This held the attention of everybody during the evening. Winners of the senior queens prizes were:

East Carolina, first prize, Miss Mildred Barrow, of Snow Hill; second Miss Elizabeth Sheffield, of Tarboro; third, Miss Ada Allen, of Newport; Pitt county, first Miss Jane Johns, of Farmville; second Miss Clara Belle Modin, of Farmville; third, Miss Sarah Humphrey of Farmville.

The Eastern Carolina queens were crowned by Newell G. Bartlett, secretary of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce. They were Miss Mabel Barrow of Snow Hill, senior queen, and Miss Virginia Jones, of Wilson, junior queen. John Holmes, platform manager, crowned the Pitt county winners of first prize, Miss Jane Johnston, senior queen, and Miss Mable Darbee, junior queen.

Other features of the evening were Miss Myrtle Hebard, Blue's singer, Bob Dale, comedian, whirlwind monophonic dance by Force and Andrews and Robert Wynn.

The industrial exhibits representing some of the largest business houses in Eastern Carolina, have been a source of attraction throughout the week. The displays indicate the progress which business houses of the section have made in their efforts to keep abreast of the times.

LEGISLATORS ARRIVING AT CAPITAL CITY

Several Hundred Already Present For Opening of Special Congress Monday.

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—Reinforcing the several hundred legislators already on the ground, Senators and Representatives from all parts of the country are trooping into the capital for the first and special session of the seventy-first Congress opening Monday.

Called by President Hoover to carry out the national party pledges to aid the nation's rural population through general farm relief legislation and upward revision of agricultural tariffs, the new Congress will find the preliminary groundwork for its labors already laid.

Farm measures, incorporating in general the principles outlined by the President in his inaugural address and during the campaign differing only in minor details, are ready for presentation to both houses early in the week. Present plans call for their disposition before any other proposed legislation is taken up.

While the tariff bill is still in the making, it is expected to be completed the latter part of next week and laid before the House either next Saturday or early the following week, to await the passage of the farm measure. As the House wrestles with the tariff, the Senate probably will consider measure to reappoint the membership of the House and fix a date for starting the fifteenth decennial census.

Many other subjects are being pressed for attention at the session but leaders are hopeful of holding it within reasonable bounds and adjourning before the weather becomes too hot.

Before getting down to work on the farm bills, both houses will have to go through the preliminaries of organizing. President Hoover's message will be read on Tuesday and actual work on farm measures begins on Wednesday, at least in the House.

Both houses will elect officers and majority and minority employes on Monday. The Senate will organize all of its committees and the House only those necessary to permit it to conduct business and set through the farm and tariff bills. The entire House membership, including 68 new members—three of them women and one a negro—must be sworn in. Except for Senator Outing, Republican, New Mexico, all new Senators have taken the oath.

Inman Granted Divorce Today

Reynolds, Nev., April 13.—(AP)—Walker P. Inman, scion of a wealthy Southern family, was granted a divorce from Helene Garnett Patton Inman, daughter of a Kokomo, Ind., minister, by a jury early this morning.

Mrs. Inman was granted an allowance of $15,000 to continue for five years. The original agreement, upheld by the court, was set at seven years, but Mrs. Inman already has received payments covering two years.

The case which has been on trial three weeks, went to the jury at 6:05 o'clock last night.

The jury brought in its verdict after six hours of deliberation, granting Inman's plea for divorce on the ground of cruelty.

In her answer to Inman's divorce complaint, Mrs. Inman asked for a divorce on a counter charge of cruelty and sought a final settlement of $250,000 or permanent alimony until she should remarry or die.

The Eastern Carolina queens were crowned by Newell G. Bartlett, secretary of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce. They were Miss Mabel Barrow of Snow Hill, senior queen, and Miss Virginia Jones, of Wilson, junior queen. John Holmes, platform manager, crowned the Pitt county winners of first prize, Miss Jane Johnston, senior queen, and Miss Mable Darbee, junior queen.

Other features of the evening were Miss Myrtle Hebard, Blue's singer, Bob Dale, comedian, whirlwind monophonic dance by Force and Andrews and Robert Wynn.

The industrial exhibits representing some of the largest business houses in Eastern Carolina, have been a source of attraction throughout the week. The displays indicate the progress which business houses of the section have made in their efforts to keep abreast of the times.

Paris, April 13.—(AP)—The reparations experts of the allied powers failed to reach a definite agreement concerning figures to be submitted to Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, the German delegate, during this morning's session and it was necessary to call another meeting for this afternoon.

The size of the bill was not announced officially but it was said generally it had a present value of from $10,000,000,000 to $12,500,000,000 calling for annuities over a period of 58 years totalling around 100,000,000,000 gold marks—about $24,000,000,000.

The presentation of the bill came after nine years of hickering as to its size between the Allied creditor nations and Germany, the debtor. It represented a reduction, it was believed of nearly $100,000,000,000 under the maximum of $125,000,000,000 claimed by the Allies before the Versailles conference.

The German delegation, headed by Dr. Schacht, appeared promptly at 11:30 a. m. for the meeting in the tea room. There was about them all the grim solemnity of the opening session of the reparations conference on February 11.

As they entered the room and the door closed behind them the room buzzed with talk that they were already aware of the amount of the claim and would reject it. Through courtesy to the Allied delegates, however, they were expected to go through the fiction of studying it for a day or so.

One version of the bill current as it was being presented was that it entailed annuities rising progressively from 1,000,000,000 gold marks (about $450,000,000) to 2,400,000,000 gold marks (about $600,000,000) at the end of 37 years when they would fall to the stationary 1,700,000,000 marks (about $425,000,000) for the remaining 21 years.

The present Dawes plan annuities are about $650,000,000.

MRS. EVERETT PASSES AWAY IN THIS CITY

Funeral Will be Held Tomorrow Afternoon; Burial At Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. William Robert Everett, nee Marguerite Higgs, daughter of Mr. Edward Benjamin Higgs and Mrs. Annie Shields Higgs, born in Greenville Dec. 10, 1893, passed away at the home of her parents this morning just before ten o'clock.

Except the days she spent attending college, Mrs. Everett lived in this city until she joined her life in marriage to Mr. William Robert Everett, of Palmyra, N. C., April 2, 1925.

She was a most charming personality whose beautiful influence was a host of closest friends whose hearts are deeply touched by her going from us.

During her collegiate career Mrs. Everett was an outstanding student, president of student government, a leader of her class and taking first place in other activities of the college. She was graduated from Meredith, receiving the A. B. degree in 1915. Later she finished Simmons College, Boston, Mass., receiving the B. S. degree. She was librarian at Meredith and was instrumental in organizing libraries at Edenton and other places in this state.

A much coveted honor came to Mrs. Everett when "The Book of Heraldry" was dedicated to her by the eminent Dr. Bolton, head of the Boston Athenaeum, in recognition of their friendship and her assistance in research.

Mrs. Everett was a devoted member and worker in the Immanuel Baptist Church where she was organist for a number of years. Any kind deed to be done, any loving service to be rendered, met with a ready response on her part. Hers was such a rich and abundant life that she has done a more wonderful good in a few years than many who may be permitted to stay much longer on the earth. Truly the Master could say to her: "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou."

The funeral service will be held at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon, interment following in Greenwood cemetery.

Fail To Reach Decision On German Reparations

Paris, April 13.—(AP)—The reparations experts of the allied powers failed to reach a definite agreement concerning figures to be submitted to Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, the German delegate, during this morning's session and it was necessary to call another meeting for this afternoon.

U. S. TROOPS ALL SET FOR ACTION NOW

Aviators And Artillery Prepared For Service on Naco Border If Necessary.

Naco, Ariz., April 13.—(AP)—U. S. Army aviators and artillery men today held themselves in readiness to go into action along the border here if necessary but there was some doubt as to whether battle between Mexican federal and rebels for the possession of Naco, Sonora, would develop.

Officers of the Mexican federal garrison were told by a group of rebel prisoners last night that the revolutionary forces of General Topete, encamped south of the town, had planned a second assault upon the loyal fortifications today.

Offsetting this were reports that General Escobar, rebel commander-in-chief, had gone from Cananea, Sonora, to Hermosillo, state capital, by airplane and was planning to concentrate his forces at Guymas, on the east side of the Gulf of California, in an attempt to check the northward advance of a federal army.

Mexican federal scouting planes flew over the rebel area occupied by forces of General Topete but returned here and reported that no revolutionary troops were sighted. A Topete troop train was observed shuttling back and forth between Del Rio and Cananea, two rebel points to the south, but no soldiers were seen on it.

A semi-circle of camp fires could be seen in the hills south of the garrison late last night, however, and the federalists in the Naco garrison kept on the alert for a possible attack.

Cavalrymen and infantrymen of the Mexican federal garrison were victorious in a battle near here with a detachment of rebels yesterday. The federal detachment comprised of 30 cavalrymen and 100 infantrymen went out on a sortie and suppressed the rebel group on the Nogales road. Backed up by fusillades from the infantrymen the loyal cavalrymen charged into the rebel camp. After a few minutes of furious fighting the rebels surrendered. General Lucas Gonzalez, loyal commander at Naco, announced that the rebel casualties were 22 dead and wounded and that the remaining 40 rebels had been captured. They were brought to Naco where they became a part of the federal garrison.

A battery of American field artillery under Lieut. Thomas Garby, was established at Don Luis, between Bisbee and Naco, Ariz., yesterday. Four pieces of artillery were set up and pointed toward Mexico. Two American three-inch guns have been mounted here for the defense of the American town in the event it is subjected to Mexican fire.

These forces, together with a cavalry patrol unit and 18 American fighting planes, make up the American defense until the arrival of about 1,500 United States troops which are either on their way or under orders to entrain for the border here.

GIANTS AND YANKS PICKED AS WINNERS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
New York, April 12.—(AP)—The threat of another all-New York monopoly of major league baseball's highest laurels stands out in the advance dope for the pennant races that get under way next Tuesday. It was not so long ago, in 1921-22-23, that the world's series was just a subway affair. This trust was broken up and only half of its former partnership—the Yankees—has since operated with any conspicuous success.

This year the Giants again join their fellow townsmen as favorites in the forthcoming championship races, as a result of the official consensus of newspaper experts compiled for the third successive year by the Associated Press.

The results of this major league poll, grown to record proportions for 1929 with more than sixty experts registering their opinions, disclose the Yankees as overwhelming favorites to win the fourth straight American League pennant and the Giants as the choice over the powerful Chicago Cubs by a narrow margin.

Of the 66 ballots cast on the probable result of the American League contest 553 pick the Yankees to give the men of Miller Huggins an overwhelming vote of confidence. Ten others select the Athletics while two name the St. Louis Browns as first choice and one the Washington Senators.

The Giants prevail over the Cubs by a margin of 33 to 26 in a total vote of 64 on the National League prospects. Of the five others, only three pick the 1928 champions, St. Louis, while two name Pittsburgh as first choice.

The sharp contrast in predictions is shown by the fact that over 80 per cent of the writers favor the Yankees while slightly more than fifty percent pick the Giants and forty per cent the Cubs.

It will be a distinct shock to the dope if any contenders outside of this trio breaks through to win. Here are the predicted orders of finish in the two leagues on the basis of the consensus:

American League—New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Detroit, Washington, Cleveland, Chicago and Boston.

National League—New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Boston.

The three year record of the Associated Press consensus, in which an increasing number of newspaper critics have co-operated annually, reveals the experts' batting on the bright side of the 500 mark. They picked the Pirates successfully, on the basis of pre-season dope in 1927, the Yankees in 1928 and came close enough on the others to "ortify" their records. The Yankees of 1927 were second choice to beat out the highly favored Athletics. In 1928, the new choice Pirates upset calculation by skidding down to fourth position in a ding-dong race but the St. Louis Cardinals, a robust second choice, came through to justify a lot of opinion in their favor.

The only other serious upset to the previous consensus verdict was furnished by the 1928 edition of the Browns, who astonished even their most ardent supporters by finishing third when they had been generally picked to do no better than seventh. Six of the sixteen clubs finished the 1928 race exactly as it had been predicted they would before the races started.

DICK HOBBLITZELL BACK AT CHARLOTTE

Charlotte, April 12.—(AP)—Leading a bunch of young baseball players, "Dick" Hobblitzell, former Boston-Red Sox star, returns here this year as manager of the Charlotte Hornets, of the Sally League. "Dick's" last assignment here was in 1923, when he won the flag in the Sally circuit.

Virtually a new team will represent Charlotte this year. Dixie Parker, veteran catcher, and "Kildee" Waits will look after the receiving, both strangers here. Hamel and Roscoe, two out of the outfielders, also will start here this year, after spending a year in the Eastern Carolina League.

Johnny Jones, veteran, is slated to be the other outfielder.

Hood, at third, Harry Daughtry, also a player "optioned" last season in the Eastern Carolina, "Skin" Griffin, with Augusta and Macon in 1928, and Hobblitzell, will compose the outfield, with Griffin playing second, Daughtry short and Hobby first.

Veteran pitchers of last year are Wical, Brown, Poetz, Trippe Wilder, and Williamson, with Petty, McPhaul and Hartson, youngsters also candidates for mound jobs.

College Track Stars To Get In On Relays

Atlanta, April 12.—(AP)—College track and field stars were to get their inning today in the Seventh Annual Georgia Tech relays.

With the high school events out of the way, more than 500 runners, jumpers, pole vaulters and others were all set to begin a drive on Dixie Relay records on the second and final day of the big outdoor carnival on Grant Field.

Practically every Southern Conference school and several from the S. I. A. A. have sent the cream of their athletic talent to the relays which have also attracted groups of hand-picked invaders from the University of Indiana and Michigan Normal in the Middle West.

All told, 25 colleges are expected to be represented when the pistol cracks for the first event this afternoon.

High and Prep school boys spent a merry afternoon yesterday, topping scholastic records and new champions were crowned in four of the days events.

The high school team from Morristown, Tenn., repeated its performance of last year to win the two mile open relay.

Yesterday they negotiated the distance in 8:42 5-10 as compared to the 9:23 they won with in 1928.

Horse Show Draws Crowd at Asheville

Asheville, April 12.—(AP)—The second day of the Biltmore Forest-Asheville Horse Show today dawned bright and clear with even greater crowds than at the opening expected as a result of the ballyhoo by those who saw the remarkable events of the first day.

Reports by horse show officials that the souths best horses, more than 135 of them, have been brought into Asheville district for this year's show were borne out by the brilliant opening of the show yesterday and by the notable entry lists for today. Horsemen and spectators alike were lavishly enthusiastic over the Biltmore Forest-Asheville show.

The crowd of nearly 4,000 persons which taxed facilities at the ring-side yesterday, was expected to reach 5,000 before the show closed. Automobiles around the ring bore licenses of a score or more states besides North Carolina.

The ring today was in excellent condition as it had been yesterday despite the consistent morning workouts of horses that were to appear during the afternoon in the various classes. The entire countryside was alive with activity long before the opening of the show this afternoon at 2:30.

Horsemen were busy preparing their horses for the show and spectators were busy securing advantageous positions early from which to watch it. Every ringside parking space had been reserved and virtually every available inch of parking space not reserved but in the vicinity of the ring was filling up rapidly early this afternoon.

TO SPEAK HERE

Dr. Royal J. Dye is a former missionary to Africa where he aided in establishing the Congo Christian Mission of the Disciples of Christ at Bolenge, one thousand miles from the mouth of the Congo River.

Dr. Dye began work at the Bolenge Mission station in 1899 and served there until 1907 when Mrs. Dye was compelled to return to America on account of broken health. He later spent a period on this mission field without his family.

This pioneer medical missionary was the only doctor for hundreds of miles in the Congo country to combat the frightful tropical diseases. He was among the first to attack the problem of sleeping sickness among the natives and contracted it himself with the result that he had to leave that climate.

These early days of the Congo Mission were filled with dangers and hardships. The great majority of the people in the back country were cannibals and Dr. Dye bears scars made by both man and wild beast. Then the equatorial climate was most trying. But Dr. Dye aided in establishing a church at Bolenge that is larger today than any church of his communion in the homeland.

Though unable to return to Africa as a missionary, Dr. Dye, who is one of the outstanding missionary speakers of America with a marvellous power of description and the missionary passion of Apostolic days, has come across the country addressing conventions, churches and other groups for the purpose of increasing missionary giving, and he in such great demand as a speaker that he cannot fill all the dates offered him. Dr. Dye speaks under the auspices of the United Christian Missionary Society of Indianapolis, Indiana. Dr. Dye will be the principal speaker at the Supper Conference to be held at the Epiphany Street Church of Christ Wednesday April 17th, at 8:30 p. m.

HALLIBURTON CAPTIVATES HIS AUDIENCE

Young Adventurer Scores Big Hit On Appearance at The Teachers College.

Richard Halliburton completely captivated his audience at East Carolina Teachers College last night as he stood on the edge of the stage balanced as if ready for a leap or climb, a dramatic figure, and with rapid fire talk and flashing eyes, took his audience with him on one romantic adventure after another.

President Wright gave him a happy introduction, telling the audience of his early influences, of his love for reading, of his mother's encouragement, and of his father's love of the classics, of the boy's restiveness under the routine of school work, and of his dreams and purposes. He told that his father was a North Carolinian, one of the Halliburtons from Orange county, near Chapel Hill, so he found that he really is one of us.

Halliburton began by saying that what he had to say might not be for everybody in his audience, for if there were any "domesticated souls who do not know the restiveness this great big world was made to satisfy, whose lives are sordid things," who believe there is no place in the world except your own home town, he had nothing to say to them. But he felt there were few in his audience who did not feel the demoralizing effects of spring and wanted to jump the trail of monotony, who did not have the wanderlust. At the end he said if he had taken any one away from Greenville, had made any one forget for one hour the everyday things of life, he felt repaid. He claimed he had no message, he had not uplift, but he felt he was doing something for others if he could take them out of themselves. He spoke of himself as an incorrigible wanderer.

He told one romantic story after another, giving the story of romance that had fired his imagination, and then his experience in following the trail of the romance. He gave a vivid picture of the little boy five years old listening to his father telling him the story of how Achilles dragged Hector around the walls of Troy, of that same little boy gazing at the pictures of the "six marble maids" that adorn the temple on the Acropolis, and of the boy drinking in the beauty of the Taj Mahal from the picture on his wall. With all of his classical training in the atmosphere of culture that has surrounded him all his life, he had practical training also. Among these classics was a small geography the most beloved of all his books. While he was dreaming of romantic scenes of the past he made the track team at Princeton and was getting himself in good physical condition for making his dreams come true.

The first story he told was of keeping his date with the six marble maidens on the Acropolis, and on a moonlight night, although he arrived too late for the regular admittance to the Acropolis on moonlight nights. He made every one feel just as he felt, that he could not wait twenty-eight days after having come thousands of miles to keep his date, so he scaled the back walls, just as the Persians did twenty-five thousand years ago and spent the moonlight night within the walls.

He gave the story of his running

LEVIATHAN SAILS WITH LIQUOR FOR SALE

The Leviathan, queen of the American merchant marines and for six years a prohibition ship, sailed for Europe on her maiden voyage under private ownership with liquor for sale. Joseph E. Sheedy, vice president of the United States lines, announced liquor would be served passengers in cabins and dining rooms.

the Marathan race, in part as Pheidippides did, but winding up in a yellow taxi. He made this quite humorous. He told the story of his adventures in India, first of the Hindustani princess, and of his experience in getting him a girl at the Fiesta in honor of the princess; and then the Mohammedan story of the king who built the most beautiful building in the world as a memorial to his love, the Taj Mahal.

The descriptive powers of Halliburton are marvelous, and his keen sense of humor flashes and brightens his story with a charming brilliance rarely equalled. When he stopped, the audience refused to move. Back he came and told of his experiences in India in getting to the top of the Himalayas to the land where polyandry is practiced, and of his experience with the Chinese baby nod, that had the most charming baby he had ever seen, just a natural baby. He was so enchanted with the little fellow he took him from the priest, undressed him, and put him to bed. He found he was fed on tasteless barley porridge and recommended that to all mothers for getting their babies in fine condition.

After the lecture, the college girls rushed to the rear to see him, the first hundred or two met him. He found a dog and slipped out but they followed him to the car and surrounded it. He thought he had quite a joke on them, for yesterday afternoon, coatless, hatless, and wearing black suspenders, re-roamed around the campus, enjoying the woods, speaking to some of the girls, and having fun studying out the situation and not giving himself away. In the meantime, a superintendent arrived and was having conferences about teachers for next year, the rumor spread around that "Dick" Halliburton was in the office and girls were watching like cats at a mouse hole.

His books have been in such circulation for weeks that they have about worn out the set in the college library, and now they will be more in demand than ever. Most of the things he tells in his lectures are in his books, but the personal touches he adds, the way in which he tells them, make both the books and the lecture more interesting.

SHIPPERS TO OPPOSE FREIGHT RATE CHANGE

Raleigh, April 12.—(AP)—North Carolina shippers will assemble here April 29 to oppose proposals of the railroad for changes in the freight rate structure which shippers say would result in material increases. Announcement of the date for the hearing has just been made by the Corporation Commission.

The carriers were heard on their side of the argument last August. Their petition for this revision of rates is in line with an effort to put in a uniform scale of rates throughout southern territory.

ASHEVILLE HAVING HARD TIME GETTING PROPER COMBINATION

Asheville, April 13.—(AP)—His champion Tourists, torn apart from various causes, Ray Kennedy, manager of the Asheville club, is having a hard time getting the proper combination together, as the opening of the season approaches. Cook and Chapman, two of last year's stars, and mainstays of the club, are in faster company, and the Tourists' chief is having a job.

O'Reilly, last year's second baseman has been shifted to short, with Baird, a newcomer taking over second; Hipps, also a new man, will replace "Doc" Weber at first; with Al M—see going into the outfield in Cook's place. Green and Keyes, two of last year's outfielders, are back.

Kennedy plans to do the catching but he has "Chink" Outen, a former N. C. State player to assist him. Shaney and Baydin, two veterans of last year are expected to do most of the hurling for the Tourists.

Gibson Not To Take Part In Naval Issues

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—Talk of new negotiations looking to further limitation of "Naval Armaments" is entirely outside the range of instructions given Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson before he left Washington to serve as head of the American delegation to the preliminary arms conference at Geneva. He not only has no authority to initiate a new Naval limitation conference, but is not participating in any negotiations, formal or informal, with such an objective. The Hoover administration, as its viewpoint is interpreted in usually well informed quarters, is inclined to look upon the Geneva preliminary meeting which Mr. Gibson was sent to attend as having certain objectives and is not disposed to anticipate its outcome.

Those objectives are technical in nature, including the working out of such problems of relative Naval strength as tonnage, speed, gunpower and age of ships in an effort to provide for future negotiations a definite means of measuring the actual power of different Navies.

M. Gibson is due to arrive at Geneva tomorrow for the opening of the preliminary conference Monday. The idea that he had some special instructions which might be expected to bring the United States and Great Britain closer together on the question of cruiser limitation and other points affecting Naval auxiliary craft on which they have been unable to agree, is ascribed to entirely unofficial interpretations of the fact that his visit in Washington was longer than had been planned. A guest at the White House when Secretary Stimson arrived to take up his new duties, he postponed his sailing date for two days to provide more time for conference with his new chief and the president before his departure.

Destiny Prompted Marion Talley To Leave The Stage

New York, April 13.—(AP)—Destiny gave the cue on which Marion Talley is making her exit from the operatic and concert stage at 22 for life on a farm.

Explaining her retirement from the musical world in which she has made half a million dollars at an age when most singers are struggling for recognition, she said:

"It was destiny. I am a fatalist. I have always let destiny take care of everything, and so I followed destiny when I announced my retirement."

She added that it was destiny that made her begin singing lessons at the age of 11 and sent her to New York to study when pessimists predicted that she would be swallowed in the crowd. It was destiny that sent her to Europe despite the protests of friends that it would ruin her career.

Miss Talley denied that her decision was actuated by disagreement with the management of the Metropolitan Opera Company. She also denied that she was retiring because she was in love or planned to be married.

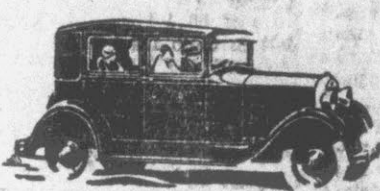

She said she had no definite farm in mind but would begin looking around for one as soon as she completed her contracts.

"It's hard work to be farmer, but I know I will like it," she remarked. "I can't milk a cow, but I'll learn. Time never hangs heavily on a farm. I spoke about wanting to give up singing for a farm two years ago but everybody thought I was joking."

"I'll have no pigs on my farm, I don't like them but there will be plenty of everything else."

Miss Talley said that although she now felt it would be impossible for her to sing again, it was not altogether impossible that she would get back to it some day.
