NAVAL POWERS PLAN TO STUDY U. S. PROGRAM

Delegates At Geneva, However, Will Not Discuss Pact At This Session.

Geneva, May 3.—(AP)—The five great naval powers, it is understood, are to have ample opportunity to study America's broad naval reduction program before commencing themselves to it even tentatively.

Representatives of the nations who are here in connection with the conference of the preparatory commission on disarmament, after cable communications with their governments, have reached an agreement to refrain from detailed examination of the naval problems at the present session of the commission.

Although the date of future discussion has not been fixed it probably will be when the preparatory commission meets again—summer, autumn, or even later.

Meanwhile representatives of the nations will continue private conversations on the naval problem with the probability that the various governments will exchange notes. This might easily eventuate that the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy would arrange a meeting of their own to work out a naval reduction agreement to supplement the Washington Naval Treaty of 1921.

Before the Preparatory Commission today was a problem which involved elementary principles of disarmament, that is, whether reduction and limitation of war material, rifles, machine guns, mortars, tanks, armored cars and the like should be limited directly in number and quantity, or indirectly by limiting the amount of money to be spent on them.

Lindbergh Eludes Curious In Jersey

Englewood, N. J., May 3.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his fiancée, Miss Anne Morrow, probably were chucking today on how they eluded curious folks to enjoy an undisturbed automobile ride of 11 hours over secluded Jersey roads.

Arriving at the Morrow home in a blue sedan during a temporary lapse of vigilance by news and camera men, the colonel with Miss Morrow at his side, departed at 1:20 in the afternoon and did not return until 11:15 o'clock last night.

When the plane was remained undisclosed. Reporters made a frantic search of the countryside in belief that the couple may have eloped.

The colonel was not among those present when Miss Morrow earlier in the day arrived in New York from Cleveland with members of her family, their meeting was the first since the colonel visited the Morrow home in Mexico City.

All information as to the time and place of the wedding was refused at the Morrow home and reporters were asked to leave by Mrs. Morrow's secretary who said that no statement would be issued. It was after the 30 or more news and camera men had left to go into the town for luncheon, that Col. Lindbergh arrived.

On the return of the couple, a patrolman who had been detailed to guard the home from the curious was about to halt the car when Lindbergh raised the window and revealed his identity.

HARRIS AGAIN INTRODUCES NEWSPAPER BILL

Washington, May 3.—(AP)—Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, has reintroduced his bill to deny second class mailing privileges to a newspaper held under common ownership with another newspaper. It would apply only to newspapers hereafter bought under common ownership.

The Georgia senator said he was prompted to act as a result of the recent inquiry by the Federal Trade Commission which showed that the International Paper Company held stock in a number of newspapers.

WHITE WOMAN HELD ON DOPE CHARGE AT HIGH POINT TODAY

High Point, May 3.—(AP)—Ada West, young white woman, was arrested here today on two warrants charging possession of illicit drugs and stolen jewelry. A quantity of morphine said to be valued at $1,000 was seized when detectives searched her room at a hotel here. Two rings said to have been mislaid by Mrs. Herbert Apple in theatre here, were also found in her possession. The officers said the woman told them she had found the jewelry and intended to advertise for its owner. She also denied any connection with dope peddlers, declaring she had the morphine for her own use.

Thirty-Eight Lives Lost In Series Of Tornadoes In The Southern States

(By the Associated Press) Thirty-eight lives were lost yesterday and Wednesday in the storms that struck, in varying form, seven southern states and sections of the midwest.

Virginia's death list of 17 was the largest. A teacher and 12 children were killed in a school building collapse in that state. Other southern states suffering loss of life from the storms were Arkansas, Tennessee, Maryland, Florida, Alabama and Kentucky. At least 100 persons were injured, many seriously, throughout the south.

Storms were of less violence in the middle west. Two deaths occurred in Michigan, one in Illinois and two in Ohio. The latter deaths were in Columbus, two prisoners being killed in the collapse of a portion of the jail in a wind storm. In the southern Michigan fruit belt, now celebrating Blossom Time, soggy snow covered trees, vines and landscape to a depth of four inches. The unseasonable snow is believed to have protected most of the fruit from frost damage.

Lake Michigan went on another rampage, pounding the Chicago Shore Line, and attacking the foundations of many buildings close to the Shore Line.

The weight of the snow damaged fruit trees in southern Illinois and Missouri, and cold weather was a threat to the strawberry crop in the Ozarks.

Richmond, Va., May 3.—(AP)—Tornadoes dipping suddenly into three sections of Virginia yesterday and last night, claimed at least 17 persons, injured close to a hundred and spread destruction over a wide area embracing four communities.

A three-mile stretch of the Nolichucky Valley where a tornado of great force demolished the Rye Cove consolidated school in Scott county, killing one teacher and at least 17 pupils and injuring a half hundred others, presented the greatest scene of desolation. The injured were being treated in hospitals at Bristol, Va., and Kingsport, Tenn., and physicians expressed scant hope for the recovery of a half dozen of those more seriously hurt.

A tornado striking at Woodville, Rappahannock county, killed Marshall Hawkins, 14, in the collapse of an school building, injured about 15 persons and practically demolished the village. Only a few miles away a similar storm killed a negro and his wife as they sat at supper near LaGrange, skipped several miles and returned to earth again at Calletts to cause further property damage and injury to a number of persons. Those injured in the Rappahannock storms were treated at Kettle and Warrenton.

The Red Cross had taken over relief work in the Rye Cove area today and the unit at Bristol was being reinforced from Washington and Cincinnati. Tetanus antitoxin sent from Knoxville and nearby cities was administered to those suffering from lacerations, while all available physicians and nurses at Bristol and Kingsport were called into service.

Children at the Rye Cove school, isolated in the mountains of southwest Virginia, were just returning from the noon recess when the tornado struck in the valley about a half mile from the building, hurling houses and automobiles from its path. The two-story frame school house was rapped from its foundations, torn asunder and strewn over a distance of 300 to 400 yards. Some of the children were blown almost 100 yards, while others were buried in the wreckage.

Great confusion followed the tornado. Anxious fathers worked feverishly in the ruins, fearful that they might discover the bodies of their children. The anxiety of parents was intensified because they were rushed away for hospital treatment before the parents arrived.

Mrs. Mary Darnell, mother of two girls in the building, could not learn the fate of her children for more than four hours after the storm. She broke down when told that one of the children, Bertha Mae Darnell, was dead and that the other daughter, Hattie, could not be found.

The body of Miss Ava Carter, a teacher, was found 75 yards from where the school stood. The body of Polly Carter, 14, was carried 30 yards. There were reports that several children were missing today, but newspapermen had been unable to check them accurately because of the large territory served by the school and widely scattered places to which they were taken.

A. S. Noblin, principal of the school, estimated that about 155 pupils were in attendance yesterday in addition to the eight teachers. Noblin was rendered unconscious when hurled to the ground but was not seriously injured.

About 15 children, the most seriously injured, were rushed by private ambulances to Bristol and Kingsport, while others were taken by automobile, truck and wagon to the nearest railroad station at Clinchport. A Southern Railway train was converted into a movable hospital, to take them to Bristol. Twenty-seven children were transported to Bristol on this train.

The scene on the train was pathetic in the extreme. There were many small boys and girls suffering in silence and bearing with stoical calm their broken arms and legs. Some feebly attempted to carry on conversations with their attendants and one small girl fainted from the pain of a broken leg when placed in an ambulance. Identification tags were pinned to the children as fast as they could be identified.

Because of the isolation of Rye Cove, it was more than two hours before outside aid could reach the stricken area over the mountain roads.

J. M. Johnson, a farmer, was standing on the mountainside when the storm struck and watched its progress for three miles.

"The school building," Johnson said, "vanished in a moment's time. You could see it going down the valley. It rapped apart and a rain of lumber and debris began." Johnson reported that it destroyed a flour mill three miles down the valley before lifting over the mountains.

The tornado at Woodville demolished about a dozen buildings, including a school with 40 pupils and two churches, one of them a new brick building. Most of the injured there were school children.

State To Fight Efforts To Get King's Release

Chester, S. C., May 3.—(AP)—The State will fight the efforts of defense counsel to secure the release under bond of Rafe King, in jail here on an indictment charging him with the murder of his wife, Fay Wilson King, Solicitor J. Lyles Glenn said today.

Notice of application for bail was served on Solicitor Glenn here, a hearing having been set for Tuesday at Laurens before R. C. Watts, chief justice of the Supreme court.

Solicitor Glenn declined to comment on reports that the State has uncovered new and important evidence in connection with the case.

King was held in the Chester county jail here since his arraignment April 15. He was arrested on the murder charge February 4 but was released under bond until formal arraignment had been made. He is scheduled for trial in sessions court here at the term beginning July 1.

Little Hope Held For Settlement Of Reparations Issue

Paris, May 3.—(AP)—An air of frank pessimism permeated quarters of the reparations conference today, with few holding real hope for a settlement would evolve from eleventh hour conversations between Dr. Halmer Schacht, German spokesman, and creditor nation representatives.

Subject of the conversations yesterday and last night were kept in deepest secrecy. Delegates of the allied nations would only say that they had got down to essentials and that the conference was still alive.

Dr. Schacht himself intimated a final decision would be reached within two days. Absence of Smiley Moreau, governor of the Bank of France and leader of the French delegation, from Paris over the week end, however, made it probable no definite step would be taken until he returned on Monday.

House ways and means committee Republicans continue work on the tariff bill. Senate military affairs committee meets to take up presidential nominations.

Rep. Tilson of Connecticut, Republican House leader, attacked the debenture plan as "direct subsidy." Senate confirmed nomination of Curtis D. Wilbur, former secretary of the navy, to be judge of the ninth circuit court of appeals.

Big Air Liners May Race Across Atlantic Ocean

New York, May 3.—(AP)—A race across the Atlantic by two huge air liners, the new British R-100 and the German Graf Zeppelin, loomed as a possibility today.

Robert T. Pollock, American representative of the Airship Guarantee Company, owners of the R-100, said the British ship would start for New York the latter part of June and expressed concern over the possibility that the Graf Zeppelin might be en route to America at the same time.

The Graf Zeppelin plans to take off for America May 15 with a second trip a month later. It originally had planned to start the first flight next week.

The British ship carries a crew of 45, the same number as the Graf Zeppelin, but has a passenger capacity of 10 as compared to the Graf Zeppelin's, 23.

HEAVY WIND STORM VISITS THIS SECTION

Only Damage Of a Minor Nature Reported In And Around This City Today.

No loss of life or injuries were reported from the terrific wind and rain storm that swept over this section last night. The gale assumed almost cyclonic intensity in Greenville between ten and twelve o'clock, but aside from a slight disruption of telephone and telegraph service no further damage was reported today.

The disturbance was believed to have resulted from the series of tornadoes which struck the state of Virginia late yesterday afternoon and last night with a heavy toll of life and property.

While reports of damage in any section of the county had not reached the city today, it was generally presumed that trees and a number of outhouses were blown down in some of the rural communities. If there were any fatalities they had not been reported to any of the city or county departments today.

The storm brought with it one of the most radical changes in temperatures registered here in months. The mercury began dropping to a noticeable extent after the rainfall about ten o'clock, and by morning the temperatures were similar to those of a mild winter day.

The city was enjoying crisp, sunny weather today, but the citizens were not forgetful of the fear that gripped them last night when the wind dem bowled past their homes threatening to tear the buildings from their foundations.

LITTLETON MAN ILL WITH SPINAL MENINGITIS

Henderson, May 3.—(AP)—E. B. Perry, Jr., 26, pharmacist of Littleton, was reported today by relatives here to be very ill at his home diagnosed as spinal meningitis. The disease, however, was said to bear some resemblance to the mysterious disease which recently was reported at Rocky Mount. Latest information here was that hope for recovery of Perry had been virtually abandoned.

WIND CAUSES MUCH DAMAGE AT NEW BERN

Telephone Service Completely Disrupted By Severe Storm Last Night.

New Bern, N. C., May 3.—(AP)—Heavy property damage resulted last night from one of the most severe windstorms that has visited this section in recent years. So far as could be learned today no lives were lost or injuries sustained, but telephone service was completely disrupted and telegraph communication crippled.

The greater portion of the damage here occurred on George street, in the vicinity of the ball park. The roof of the grandstand was blown into and carried across the street into a cemetery. Twenty-four telephone poles carrying toll lines out of the city north, west and south were blown down.

A large barge partially loaded with corn from its moorings in New river and finally grounded on the opposite side of the stream after bumping into the Norfolk Southern railroad trestle several times, making the structure unserviceable. Trains were not allowed to pass over it last night and railroad officials said it might be late today before it was opened again.

Japanese Steamer Effects Thrilling Rescue In Storm

Tokyo, May 3.—(AP)—A thrilling tale of rescue of more than 400 persons from the storm-lashed Japanese steamer Goyo Maru was told in brief radio messages from the steamer Hachiro Maru today.

The Goyo Maru, under Russian charter for fishing off the Kamchatka Banks, ran into a violent snow storm Wednesday night in the Kronotski Gulf and was forced aground.

The Hachiro was summoned by radio and reached the scene at 4 p. m. yesterday, taking off 350 fishermen before rising seas and darkness compelled cessation of their efforts. Throughout the wild night it stood by and today took the remainder of the vessel, 20 fishermen and 38 of the crew.

The ship itself, the radio messages said, apparently was a total loss. It had a register of 2,942 tons. Of the fishermen, 312 were Japanese. The others were Chinese, Koreans and Russians, including 21 Russian women.

Rum War Still On At Raleigh

Raleigh, May 3.—(AP)—Raiders war between curb selling rum runners and officers of the law continued today. So far, no casualties have been reported to the honor forces. Officers told of learning of their continued activity here yesterday in spite of efforts to break up the trade.

One officer was quoted as saying he saw a bootlegger making sales from his automobile during a heavy shower and that the traffic has become so systematized, however, he added, that the transaction was completed and the seller vanishing in a swift motor car before anything could be done to stop him.

HOOPER SIGNS FLORIDA FRUIT FLY BILL TODAY

Measure: Makes $4,250,000 Available For Eradication In Affected State.

Washington, May 3.—(AP)—The $4,250,000 bill for the eradication of the Mediterranean fruit fly in Florida was signed today by President Hoover.

The measure provides a re-appropriation of this amount of a $6,000,000 fund already made available for combatting the pink boll worm.

It was announced at the White that agents of the department of agriculture already were on their way to Florida to take charge of the fight against the pest.

State Of Siege Declared In Disorders At Berlin; Toll Of Death Increases

Berlin, May 3.—(AP)—Communications broke out again this afternoon in the Hermanstrasse, principal Street of the suburb of Neukolln, and battleground of last night's troubles.

A number of shots were fired on the police from windows and a bombardment of stones from the house-tops. Simultaneously a steady stream of communists began pouring in from adjacent streets.

Most of the communists were armed with clubs, and brass and iron knuckles. They charged at the police who fired shots in the air. The attack soon grew so hot that the police began to shoot to wound.

This checked the communists who precipitately took shelter in nearby houses, while police cars filled with emergency squads dashed through the streets returning the shots from machine guns and doorways by steady machine gun fire.

By two o'clock this afternoon the fighting was in full blast with incessant firing by both sides to the accompaniment of yells and shrieks of the wounded.

Two women who inquisitively stepped out on a balcony were shot.

The police passed word strictly prohibiting showing one self at windows or roofs.

APPROVE LOAN MISTRIAL IS ORDERED IN DEED CASE

Senate Committee Makes $2,500,000 Available For Growers Southern States.

Washington, May 3.—(AP)—The Senate today adopted a resolution by Senator George of Georgia recommending expenditure of $2,500,000 for loans to farmers in Southern States who suffered in recent floods.

Of the amount, the committee approved the use of $1,500,000 unexpended from the funds allotted last session as loans to farmers for seed, fertilizer and tools for the tornadoes in the South last year. The resolution was passed by the House last week but the Senate Committee added another $1,000,000 and extended the scope of the measure to include Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi.

The amount, as originally provided, was for loans in Virginia, North and South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia and Florida.

The committee also recommended the removal of the limitation in the earlier measure which restricted the loans to $3 per acre, so that no limitation would apply to fruit growers in Florida.

CLAIM MORE SUPPORT FOR FARM BILL

Advocates Of Debenture Plan Have Two More Votes In Senate Than Expected.

Washington, May 3.—(AP)—Senate advocates of the export debenture plan today claimed two more votes from the ranks of those they had previously put down as certain to cast their ballot against the proposal.

The two claimed are Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, and Nye, Republican, North Dakota. Senator Copeland declared on the floor that he intended "to hold his nose and vote for the debenture plan" as altered by the Norris amendment which is designed to reduce rates when over-production is forecast. Questioned about the report that he would vote for the debenture plan Senator Nye said, "I hope I have my mind made soon."

Administration senators still claim a majority against the plan although they admit the vote will be close. Senator McNary of Oregon, who has the farm bill in charge, has been hoping to have the Senate vote on the debenture section late today, but these expectations have been diminished by requests for opportunity to discuss the legislation.

The best guess now is that the Senate will complete its work on the bill as a whole early next week, probably Tuesday. Although the main difficulty will have been overcome when the debenture section is disposed of, a dozen or more amendments are pending which promise to provoke considerable debate.

The announcement of Senator Copeland that he would vote for the debenture section divides the vote of New York on the question. Senator Wagner has declared his opposition to the plan.

Senator Copeland argued that the large industrial centers of the country will not have prosperous conditions unless the farmer is prosperous. Therefore, he said, he would vote for the debenture plan though he considered it no more than a bounty. He contended that the tariff was just as "economically unsound" as the debenture plan.

He was interrupted by Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, who said he felt compelled to congratulate the Senator from New York for the generous position he has taken in behalf of the farmer coming as he does from the most populous state of the nation.

A direct industrial attack on one of the major farm problems, the huge surplus of grain carried over from the last harvest and impending from the crop now maturing, has been decided upon, meanwhile, by the presidents and traffic executives of eastern railroads.

Taking action at the suggestion of the Hoover administration, they have agreed to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to permit them to reduce freight rates on export grain to the north Atlantic seaboard for an emergency period ending September 30.

Mexico City, May 3.—(AP)—A hurricane swept the Gulf Coast of Mexico last night, wrecking buildings and plantations and leaving a ruin from Tampico south to Vera Cruz. One American, Victor Carlie, member of the crew of the American steamer San Jacinto at Tampico, was killed.

Flowers of Perfect Color Larger, Longer Blooming with Right Nourishment

HOME gardeners are often at a loss to account for the failures of what first appeared to be most promising rose bushes, bulb stock, and flowers grown from seed.

In most cases, it will be found, the chief cause of their failure or lack of complete success has been poor soil—in other words, soil deficient in nourishment.

For they have forgotten that all plants are like human beings—that they are living things and must be fed.

Without plenty of nourishing food they cannot thrive any more than we could. And like ourselves, they must have a "balanced diet."

Professional gardeners and nurserymen give special care to that point. For years they have used Vigoro, a scientific, complete plant food, specially formulated for their use.

Thousands of home owners have discovered it within the last few years. And with it they are getting a professional degree of success.

With this plant food, Vigoro, commercial flower growers say they are sure of getting prolific plants, long, sturdy stems and perfect blossoms. The flowers have magnificent design and deep, rich color. They bloom longer and have unbelievable keeping qualities when cut.

Properly balanced and complete, Vigoro supplies all the nourishment required for early, vigorous growth and full development of not only flowers, but vegetables, lawns, shrubs and trees as well.

Clean and odorless, Vigoro can be sown by hand, like grass seed.

Its cost of application is surprisingly low—only 10c to 20c for every 100 square feet. Full directions in every bag—100, 50, 25 lb. sizes and 5 lb. packages.

See your dealer. There's one close by. Get your Vigoro now—enough for everything you grow. And this year have results such as you've never before dreamed possible.

The Calendar of Plant Feeding THIS MONTH

1. LAWNS: As soon as grass shows green, or any time thereafter, apply plant food.
2. FLOWERS: Work plant food into soil before seeding; or for perennials, as soon as plants appear. For early large and richly colored blooms make later feedings.
3. VEGETABLES: Work plant food into the soil before seeding. Later feedings will hasten maturity, increase yields.
4. SHRUBS, TREES: Apply plant food any time after leaves appear.

GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

By CHARLES G. BOOTH
SYNOPSIS: Two intriguing words—"gold bullets"—angrily shouted by Andrew Ogden a few hours before he was murdered, draw closer into the tangled skein the legendary figure of Alex Peterson and his famous revolver loaded with golden slugs. John Peebles has the first clew in his quest to find the murderer and to clear Ogden's son, Jerry, who is engaged to Peebles' niece, of all suspicion. Peebles ponders the engrossing coincidences, Nathan Hyde's secrecy as he sold the Peterson revolver to Peebles, Ogden's murder, his two queer visitors, the "woman in black" and Furlie, Jerry's flight and now Ogden's excited words "gold bullets."

Chapter 5. WHERE IS JERRY?

Deacon greeted me briefly and went slowly towards the figure at the desk. He stood looking down at it, his square face white and his sea-blue eyes humid with emotion. The dagger was carefully removed, and Dr. Jazzy began his examination. Deacon turned to me.

"Well, John, what about it?" I had been dreading the question. I detailed my purchase of the revolver and Hyde's secrecy about it, the telephone call, how I had found Andrew, Mrs. Moffit's message and what Hubbard had told me. Henry listened with eyes like points of ice. "Did you see any one as you came over, John?" Henry could not possibly know that I had seen Jerry or any one

"Have you any idea what Ogden wanted?" Deacon asked. "Specifically, no." "You mean he may have wanted to see you in a professional way?" "Yes. But I retired six months ago." Henry looked at the body. "I am sorry you weren't home," he grieved. "Andrew might have been with us now." "You'll get your man easily enough." "Ah! the solution is already apparent to you," Henry flashed at him. "Dear, dear! I was trying my hand at a compliment." "You were never known for your compliments, MacNair." "I suppose not. It's a grim business, this man-catching. But I'm through with it. A man with 23 hangings and 14 electrocutions to his credit has no business being interested in anybody's murder but his own. You'll find me at 2341 Magnolia if you want me. Good night, Deacon. Regards to Polyandria, Peebles."

Deacon went to the glass-topped cabinet behind the desk and lifted the lid. "That dagger is kept here, isn't it, Hubbard?" "As a rule, sir." "It belongs to Mr. Jerry, doesn't it?" "Yes, sir."

"Where is Mr. Jerry, Hubbard?" "I—I believe he is out, sir." "Where has he gone?" "I don't know, sir. As I told you, I heard Mr. Jerry and Mr. Ogden talking in the library a few minutes after nine. That is all I know, sir."

else, yet I felt as if he were looking into my mind. My voice was steady as I replied:

"I saw no one." Stimson, the gardener, stood at the door with Hubbard. Stimson's eyes were riveted upon me, and there was in them something I didn't like. Stimson has been with Ogden's less than a year, and I haven't seen much of him. For some obscure reason he irritates me. I was suddenly vaguely conscious of disaster. It came upon me overwhelmingly that I should prevent Stimson from speaking, and I blurted out:

"Hubbard had better tell you his story, Henry."

Hubbard proceeded to enlarge upon what I had already told Deacon.

Deacon turned to me. "Hubbard tells us Ogden shouted the two words 'gold bullets.' The bullets in this Peterson revolver you bought are gold. Do you suspect a connection?"

"I don't know any more than you do, Henry." Dr. Oakley spoke just then. "He's been dead an hour or so, Deacon." Deacon looked at his watch. "Ten-twenty-five," he muttered. "What time did you find him, John?"

"Nine-thirty-three." The dull thud, thud, of the front door knocker reverberated through the hall. Coming like that, it startled all of us. Hubbard hurried into the hall.

The front door opened. Hubbard's voice, deferential and explanatory, came to us. Another's broke in upon it, hard and rasping in tone and familiar to me. My eyes sprang to Deacon's in astonishment. I saw him stiffen, a look of irritation crossed his honest face. I love a contest, and in spite of my astonishment and heaviness of heart I half smiled. But what had brought Luther MacNair here?

"Good evening, gentlemen." MacNair had preceded Hubbard into the room, and he stood looking at us with that cold, disconcerting stare which was to become so familiar to me in the next few days. A year or two my junior, he had retired from professional life six months ago and taken up residence in San Felipe. He brought with him a handsome reputation as a man-tracker. Ruthless in his methods and diabolically clever, he was said to be less a personality than a machine.

"I called to see Ogden," MacNair went on. "This man," nodding at Hubbard, "tells me he has been Deacon indicated the figure on the wall for calling.

"I am here at Ogden's invitation. When I got home a few minutes ago I found this card under my door. MacNair gave Deacon one of Andrew Ogden's personal cards. On the back of the card Andrew had written:

Mr. MacNair: You were out when I called. There is a matter I wish to discuss with you. Will you drop in as soon as you return. This is important. A. O.

Social & Personal

Mrs. John McKeithan has returned from a visit in Raeford and Sanford.

T. D. Phillips of Wilson, was here yesterday.

Leighton Blount of Bethel, was here today.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Sockwell of North Wilkesboro, are visiting their daughter, Miss Ella Sockwell.

A Pleasant Surprise.

On Sunday, April 28, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Hemby, on Broad street, was given a happy surprise. While Mr. Hemby was attending his morning church service he little thought of what awaited him in his home. And on his return he found quite a number of smiling faces, consisting of brothers, sisters, nephews, nieces and great-nieces awaiting his return. Also in the dining room, the big round table was filled to capacity with good eats, such as old country ham, fried chicken, barbecue and bread, ice cream, cakes and Coca-Cola, all very nicely arranged in honor of his mother Mrs. A. C. Hemby on her 67th birthday.

Mrs. Hemby was in our midst with a happy smile, to receive her gifts, and to greet her children, grandchildren and her two great-grandchildren, little Angeline and Gertrude McLawhorn.

At one o'clock all were invited to the dining room, thanks being rendered by Mr. V. C. McLawhorn. All enjoyed for thirty minutes a beautiful feast.

After dinner was served all retired to the living room for the social hour where good music and chatting was enjoyed until five o'clock, when Mr. Hemby kindly confessed it the happiest surprise of his life. Then all departed wishing mother many more such happy birthdays and with the sweet thought that—

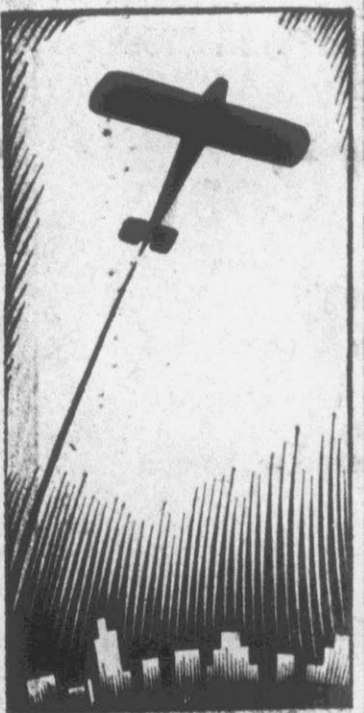

- M—is for the million things she gave us.
- O—means only that she's growing old.
- T—is for the tears she shed to save us.
- H—is for her heart of purest gold.
- E—is for her eyes with lovelight shining.
- R—means right, and the right that we can trust.
- Put them all together, they spell Mother.
- The word that means the world to us.

—Reported.

Hams—Hams—Hams Galore. Eureka—Eureka—After a dilatory search I found quantities sufficient to supply my many customers. I hope you're "lucky in love" with a famous Onslow county ham. The aroma of its gray on eggs, rice, grits and many other things too numerous to mention, is so delicious, appetizing and so good, makes it a real ham. None better, bar none. W. H. HUGO WILLIAMS IS WINNER OF ESSAY CONTEST

Tenth Grade Student Turns In Best Composition Of Any Member Of His Grade

Hugo Williams has been declared winner of the essay contest, conducted among tenth grade students of the Greenville High School, it became known today following a check-up of all contributions. Young Williams was awarded the decision from the standpoint of originality and unique style of composition.

His contribution is entitled "What Can a Fellow Do?" and brings out many humorous points concerning a youngster who has outgrown the rest of his crowd and experiences extreme difficulty in getting his clothes to fit. The composition follows:

What Can a Fellow Do? There is a question which has worried for sometime. The question is "Why can't a person be satisfied with himself?" I am quite large and have a good foundation, for instance two number ten shoes. When I go to buy a new outfit, the salesman asks "What size trousers do you wear?" and I hesitantly say, "Forty-two waist and thirty-three length." Then I have to say my coat is forty-four chest measure. I feel nervous as he searches fruitlessly through his stock and finally cries forth "the largest thing we have and that is quite too small for me."

Just at this critical moment of disappointment, Heber Tolar and Bruce Sugg come in and the salesman promptly fits them in something which I like very much. Then I want to kick myself for being so far from the ground and of such a great circumference about the waist.

Perhaps it is nice to "look over people." I look down on very small people and they sometimes embarrass me asking "How is the weather up there?" I regret that I am not small and able to look up to tall men.

When I run I wobble along at the rate of five miles per hour. This is very disagreeable in warm weather. When I go to ride, the tires go flat or the springs break. I dance like a cow, sing like an owl, whistle like a freight train. What can a fellow do?

When I try to flirt with the girls, they laugh and call me "Old Hippie," "Baby Elephant," or some such cruel name. One is even apt to say, "Go on, Uncle Walt, I'll see you in the funny paper." My face has a habit of going red and when this happens, I turn and then have to become conscious of my heart which has sunk from its rightful place.

All this is horrible to a person of good intentions. The thinking of getting a friend of mine, who is about my size, to go with me to a circus. That is about all two fellows like us can do. Why not do this for "what can a fellow do?" HUGO WILLIAMS.

Dr. W. L. Davis, eye specialist, will be in Greenville Saturday, May 4th, at Walters Jewelry Store. Dr. Davis will be glad to have you drop in for free consultation. 3-2t

ABOUT TOWN

Scout leaders will visit the various Sunday schools next Sunday morning and inform boys of Scout age of plans at this time under way for complete organization of Boy Scout units in this city," said an executive today.

"We hope to be able to enroll as many boys as possible through this plan and that the majority of the boys of the city will be ready for active service when training begins. "The Boy Scout movement has been gaining impetus here for the last several weeks and in a few months we ought to have one of the strongest organizations of any city this size in the state."

"If we can make an even split of games played this week, we ought to find ourselves pretty high in the standing of clubs column of the Eastern Carolina League when we begin playing here the first of next week," declared a baseball enthusiast today.

"The majority of clubs seem to be unable to win away from home. The four straight games which we won on home soil before the Kinston series is indicative of this fact. The boys play like they mean business on home soil, and it is probable they may pick up and win some of the games away from home later on in the season.

"What we want is better than an even split. It is going to take it to win the championship, and that is what we are out for."

"Wilmington people think they have derived untold benefit from the radio broadcasting outfit," said a member of the Merchants' Association committee, who recently went to Wilmington to look over the radio situation there.

"If the station is a good thing for Wilmington, then there is no reason on earth why one should not prove of equal value to this community. Greenville is growing. She is recognized as one of the most rapidly developing young municipalities in this section and we firmly believe that a broadcasting station would make this development more rapid than anything else at this time.

"The public is interested in what other towns are doing. By an interesting program on the air every evening, Greenville would not only let the world know what it is doing, but provide certain information that would prove of value in an industrial way.

"We need a radio station if any town does, and it is hoped the committee will continue work until it has been fully assured."

"Raleigh seems to be having trouble with its bootlegging element, judging by press report of the last two or three days," remarked a citizen of this city today.

"But the Capital City is not by itself. Other towns having considerably less population are up against the same proposition, although the violations may not be quite so flagrant.

"Bootleggers may not stand on our corners and await signs from their consumers as they do at Raleigh, but they are around all of the towns and may be reached just as easily as the telegraph office or the post-office.

"A few stringent measures the Capital City ought to be able to show a scare into the camp of the illicit whiskey traffic that will have a temporary effect, if not a lasting one."

"I'm mighty glad Pitt county is not in Missouri or Illinois," said a business man today, scanning the headlines of a newspaper telling of the heavy snow storm yesterday morning.

"We have had lots of unseasonable weather, but nothing that would prove as damaging as a snow storm. This section has it on other parts of the country from the standpoint of weather and we will gladly take anything we have in preference to that of other territories."

"That cross-word puzzle carried in the columns of the Daily Reflector is one of the most difficult I ever saw," declared a local man today, who for months has enjoyed the reputation of an expert in such matters.

"Some of the words contained in that puzzle would make one of the compilers of Webster's dictionary throw up his hands in despair. Of course, not all of the words are that difficult, but the majority are and they will give anybody the time of his life making definitions."

LOCALS LOSE ANOTHER TO THE EAGLES

Kinston, May 3.—The 'Greenies' didn't have a chance against Lefty Emmons' slants yesterday and the Eagles won their fifth game in six starts. The score was 9-2.

Emmons allowed just seven safeties. Only one was for an extra base and it was of doubtful character. Only in one inning did the visitors get more than one hit.

The wind blew a gale throughout, but a neat tornado was no obstacle to the hard-working Texan.

Specs Garbee got no more respect from the Eagles than Dawson and Jelliff got from them Wednesday. The horn-rimmed one took a bath after four and one-third innings.

Jerriss was better, but he allowed the bases to be loaded in the eighth and Whitnell doubled to clean them.

The Eagles collected a total of 17 hits.

New Orleans Leads Southern Association

Atlanta, May 3.—(AP)—The New Orleans Pelicans today are resting on top of the Southern Association after drubbing the Atlanta Crackers yesterday while the Mobile Bears toiled 13 innings to silence Birmingham.

Mobile, mastered the Barons after O. Moore, pitcher, walked in the winning run in the thirteenth inning, giving Mobile a 11-10 victory.

Benny Karr held the Crackers at bay while his mates hammered two Atlanta hurlers for a 10 to 1 win. Little Rock humbled Nashville 9 to 3. Cold weather caused a postponement of the Chattanooga Memphis game.

The Greenville Spinners fought doggedly in the last two innings, scored seven runs, but failed to overcome Charlotte, losing 11 to 10. The victory, after weakening in the latter stages, came through in the ninth with two scores and bagged the win. Other games in the South Atlantic were rained out.

Selma lost to Montgomery 8 to 1 in the Southeastern League; Tampa defeated Columbus 9-7 and Jacksonville captured a slugfest from Pensacola 15 to 6.

TRACK MEET COMES HERE TOMORROW

The N. E. A. C. Track and Field meet for the season will be held in Greenville at the Fair grounds tomorrow, with preliminaries at 10:30 a. m. and finals at 3:30 p. m. The several schools have shown more interest in track athletics than last year, and strong teams will be present to represent Goldsboro, Roanoke Rapids, Weldon and Farmville as well as the local high school.

Last year's meet proved an easy one for Roanoke Rapids, who run up 48 points, with the high scoring champion making three firsts and two seconds. This year, the same high scorer, Goodman also all-conference quarterback and basketball star, will head his team and be accompanied by all his last year's track teammates but one, with several others also in the ranks. Goldsboro brings the largest team, an even dozen men planning to make the trip and carry back the championship. Weldon and Farmville will be well represented, and Greenville will have contestants in all events.

The meet will be free to the public, and those who can appreciate the thrill of a close sprint race, a well run relay or a long record in the weight events will do well to see the best athletes of the conference in action.

This is the only time of the year who the boys of several high schools come together in anything but regular inter-school games, and will be a good meet.

The Greenville High School Freshmen entertained the Winterville second team yesterday at the Fair Grounds, but refused to let their visitors go home with a victory. The local boys looked like good ball players, fielding with a finish really unexpected by their best friends, and hitting the ball squarely on the nose many times for extra base hits.

Greenville cut off three runs at the plate and two at third in the first two innings, after which the game was under the complete control of Pitcher Roger Taylor. He held Winterville to six scattered hits, and gave but one pass to first. Greenville tallied 13 times on 9 hits and the help of the Winterville pitchers and fielders. With the exception of one half inning, the runs all came singly and the game looked like the real thing.

Athletics Win From Boston

Rain, hail and high water so swept the big league trail yesterday that only one game survived to its normal finish, and if the Boston Red Sox had gained their wish, this one also might have been tossed overboard. There was insufficient rain at Fenway Park to save the Hub hose from the Athletics who won by a score of 5 to 1 to make it three out of four in the series.

Connie Mack surprised the railbirds by tossing Bob Grove back at the Sox after having withdrawn the tall southpaw from the 24 to 6 massacre of the previous day at the Athletic score mounted beyond the danger of overhauling. It was supposed that the American League dean was saving his great pitcher for a tougher spot, but back came Grove to win his second victory in two days and his third of the season.

As the Browns lay idle in Cleveland, the victory of the Mackmen cut half a game from the St. Louis lead. Dan Howley will have a chance to put on another scalping expedition today, however, as the Athletics make their way westward. Sportsman's Park still looms as the most important stop for the A's and the Yanks in the west country.

Herb Penneck made his second start of the season at the Yankee Stadium, but hostilities were drowned out after the first half of the third inning when the Harlem lapped over its banks to greet the athletes. The Senators picked up one run against Penneck in the first on Gehrig's error and there the score stopped for both teams. Sad Sam Jones pitched the two rounds for Washington.

Detroit and Chicago also found rain, snow and other inconveniences scattered over the premises of Chas. Comiskey, and made another entry in the double header book. They will try their hand at a single game today as the eastern invasion moves toward the west. The only eastern American League team scheduled to play is the New York troupe of Miller Huggins, booked for an inter-league exhibition at Pittsburgh, he held late today.

The only attempt to unlimber a bat in the National League yesterday occurred at Ebbets' Field, where the Giants punched out two runs behind Larry Benton in the opener, only to have rain descend at the end of the third. The default to the weather left the Giants with only an even break against the so-called effete east in the first round of intra-sectional effort, and the western clubs headed for the Polo grounds in great glee.

COTTON MARKET

New York, May 3.—(AP)—Cotton opened steadily today at a decline of 1/4 to 1/2 points and sold 11 to 14 points below yesterday's closing quotations under liquidation by recent buyers and local or commission house selling, which apparently was prompted by a better weather map than expected and late reactions in Liverpool.

The decline carried July contracts off to 18.81 and December to 18.89. These prices brought in some commission house buying or covering and the market was rather steadier at the end of the first half hour.

Yesterday's predictions for frost in parts of the Central and western belts failed to materialize, except for very light frosts at a few points, so far as shown by the early weather map. The outlook was for fair and warmer weather.

Private cables attributed an early advance in Liverpool to covering and scattered buying in absence of selling pressure. The reaction later was attributed to the better weather news.

STOCK MARKET

By STANLEY W. PREONOSIL, Associated Press Financial Editor

New York, May 3.—(AP)—Bullish enthusiasm was at high pitch in today's stock market, which witnessed the establishment of more than a score new high records on grains ranging from one to nearly fifteen points. Trading started off at a terrific pace with block of 5,000 to 35,000 shares changing hands at the opening. But it slowed up later when weakness cropped out in a few of the volatile specialties.

The unexpectedly small increase of $40,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans, and the optimistic comments on business by Secretary of Commerce Lamont provided the background for the "bull" movement. Pools, several of which have been organized in the last few days, provided a good part of the day's activity, while their stocks up to 200 points, following which reached fairly large proportions in the industrials and specialties.

Beats occurred in advance of rumely issues which followed unconfirmed reports that the recent action of the stock was under investigation by exchange officials. The common, which had sold as high as 104 7/8 on Wednesday, broke from an early high at 92 1/2 to 82, and preferred which recently touched 119, broke from 107 3/8 to 94. Both made partial recoveries later. United Aircraft, which had advanced six points to 162, dropped back to 144, and American Bosch Magneto, National Lead, Foundation Company, Pileas and Briggs Manufacturing were carried 2 to 3 points below yesterday's final quotations. Hahn Department Stores and Cavanaugh Doubt bank to new low levels for the year.

Merchandise shares led the early afternoon upturn. Woolworth was marked in nearly eight points to a new high record at 223 3/4. Hanesy Chocolate advanced seven points, Sears Roebuck six, and Montgomery Ward five.
