REPARATIONS SETTLEMENT ANTICIPATED

Growing Conviction That Some Kind Of Decision Would Be Reached In Few Days

Paris, May 6.—(AP)—There was growing conviction in circles close to the conference of experts on reparations today that some sort of settlement would be evolved from negotiations commencing today on American proposals agreed to by the German delegation.

The settlement, if it materializes, will come hard and not without considerable persuasion and perhaps considerable pressure, but the belief was growing that the plan tentatively accepted Saturday by Dr. Heilmann Schacht, German spokesman, from Owey D. Young, represented the American financial world.

Neither France nor Belgium, upon which the final decision of acceptance or rejection seemed today to rest, are desirous, it was pointed out, of antagonizing the American moneyed interests.

The actual figures of Mr. Young's proposals to Dr. Schacht—tentatively agreed to also by Great Britain and Japan—have not been made available, and estimates here calculated the reduction in payments to France which they involve at from seven to fifteen billion francs ($200,000,000 to $600,000,000 present value).

The request for this concession has become the object of increasing attack from those who feel France has already conceded more than her share. It is pointedly asked every where why the United States does not do a little reducing in claims itself.

Some mystery surrounded the text on the reservations made by Dr. Schacht to acceptance of Mr. Young's proposals, but it was believed they had to do with the international bank and sought some sort of a guarantee that Germany might be assured a certain amount of protection for annuities of the last 21 years from profits of the proposed banking house.

A number of the French newspapers refer to the new proposals as the "German-American figures" and some chide Mr. Young for asking France, "to do what the United States themselves refused to do" in the matter of post-war debt concessions.

The proposals of Mr. Young and the all-important reservations of Dr. Schacht were in written complete form today, ready for presentation to the experts of other nations. They were to be studied then and discussed further—perhaps a decision reached—tomorrow when Governor Emile Moreau of the Bank of France will be back in Paris.

Many versions of Mr. Young's proposals have been published with the American delegates denying their correctness.

Insane Patients Moved To Safety In N. J. Fire

Morristown, N. J., May 6.—(AP)—Four thousand patients at the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane at Greystone, near Morris Plains, were terrified by a fire that burned part of the main building early today.

From the right wing, which was destroyed, 1,400 men were removed to safety. For a time it seemed as if much more of the institution would be destroyed and plans were made to move 1,000 women in an adjoining wing. The men from the right wing were out in sections remote from the fire.

Starting in the cupola, the fire ate its way down to the fifth story of the ring wing before it was discovered.

Quick work on the part of the institution's fire department and the attendants, doctors and nurses, prevented injury to any of the inmates in the danger zone. Many were moved with difficulty. A few yelled in frenzy. Guards marched the patients clad in nothing but their night clothes, out of the burning wing.

Dr. Marcus Curry, superintendent of the hospital, estimated the damage at $1,000,000.

Thousands of residents of nearby, aroused by sirens and the glare of the flames, hastened to the scene and it was necessary for the police to establish lines.

Six patients escaped while the fire was in progress but four of them were quickly recaptured. One of the four was apprehended three miles away by state police, after a fruitless flight. Supt. Curry was certain that the two missing had not been lost in the fire.

YOUNG HUGHES IS SUCCESSOR TO MITCHELL

Son Of Chief Justice Becomes Attorney General Of The United States

Washington, May 6.—(AP)—The appointment of Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., as Solicitor General was announced today at the White House.

President Hoover's selection was a surprise to political Washington. Mr. Hughes' name never had been mentioned in connection with the post as a possible successor to William D. Mitchell, who was elevated to the Post of Attorney General on March 4.

Mr. Hughes is the son of Charles Evans Hughes, former Secretary of State, a friend of the President and one of those upon whom Mr. Hoover has leaned for advice both during the pre-inauguration period and since he entered the White House.

The new Solicitor General is connected with the law firm of Hughes, Rounds, Schurman and Dwight of New York. He is a graduate of Brown University and the Harvard Law School.

For sometime, Mr. Hughes has been moderately active in New York politics and was sponsored for the appointment by the New York Patronage Committee set up by President Hoover.

TWO-WAY TELEPHONE SERVICE ON TRAINS

Toronto, May 6.—(AP)—The feasibility of two-way telephone conversation between a moving train and a stationary point has been demonstrated on the Canadian National Railway. Service is to be made available shortly for passengers on trains between Chicago and Toronto.

Story Of Three Slayings Related By Gangster In Confession At Buffalo

Buffalo, N. Y., May 6.—(AP)—The story of three slaying and a series of robberies covering a period of three years, related in a confession by a member of the big Korney gang caused the police today to redouble their efforts to capture members still at large and to establish if possible to what extent they figured in other major crimes in New York, Chicago and other cities.

Two men and a woman are under arrest. The men are John Kwiatkowski (Big Korney) and Anthony Kalkiewicz. The woman, a companion of Kalkiewicz, did not participate in the holdups, nor did she take part in the conferences at the gang rendezvous in Depew, a suburb of this city, where holdups were planned and where one of their number was executed for treachery.

The gangster killed was Victor Chojnicki. His body was taken from a shallow grave in the lot behind the Depew house yesterday at a spot where Kalkiewicz who made the confession, told the police it would be found. The first pay roll hold up committed by the Big Korney gang, according to Kalkiewicz's confession, was at the office of a foundry in Buffalo in 1925. The loot amounted to several thousand dollars.

MRS. COTTEN LAID TO REST HERE TODAY

Services Conducted From St. Pauls Episcopal Church At 3 O'clock

Funeral services for Mrs. Sallie Soutland Cotten, familiarly known as the mother of the North Carolina Federation of Women's clubs, were conducted from St. Paul's Episcopal church this afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. W. A. Lillycrop, pastor of the church. Burial was made in the family plot in the Episcopal churchyard.

Active pallbearers were: Haywood Dail, Dr. L. C. Skinner, Stewart Carr, Norfolk, Dr. R. L. Carr, H. H. Phillips, Tarboro, Groves Conner, Sam Clark Tarboro, J. H. Blount.

An official delegation of the North Carolina Federation of Women's clubs, the end of the Century clubs and the executive board of the Women's club of Greenville attended the funeral in a body. Representatives of several other clubs also attended.

Mrs. Cotten died at the home of her daughter in Winchester, Mass., last Saturday morning. She had been ill several weeks. The body reached Rocky Mount yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock and was immediately carried by motor here to her late home at Cottontale, several miles from this city.

The funeral today was attended by a large concourse of people from all sections of the state and the extensive floral tribute bore mute testimony of the high regards in which the former leader of North Carolina Women was held.

Mrs. Cotten, before her marriage, was Miss Sallie Southall, of Murfreesboro. She was married to Robt. Randolph Cotten, of Edgecombe county, March 14, 1886, and in 1889 the couple moved to Cottontale, eight miles from this city. After 66 years of happy companionship this union was broken by the death of Colonel Cotten last fall.

Mrs. Cotten was 82 years of age at the time of her death. She was one of the most outstanding figures in women's club work in this state, having been the first president of the North Carolina Federation of clubs, and until her death was honorary president of the organization and one of its chief advisers.

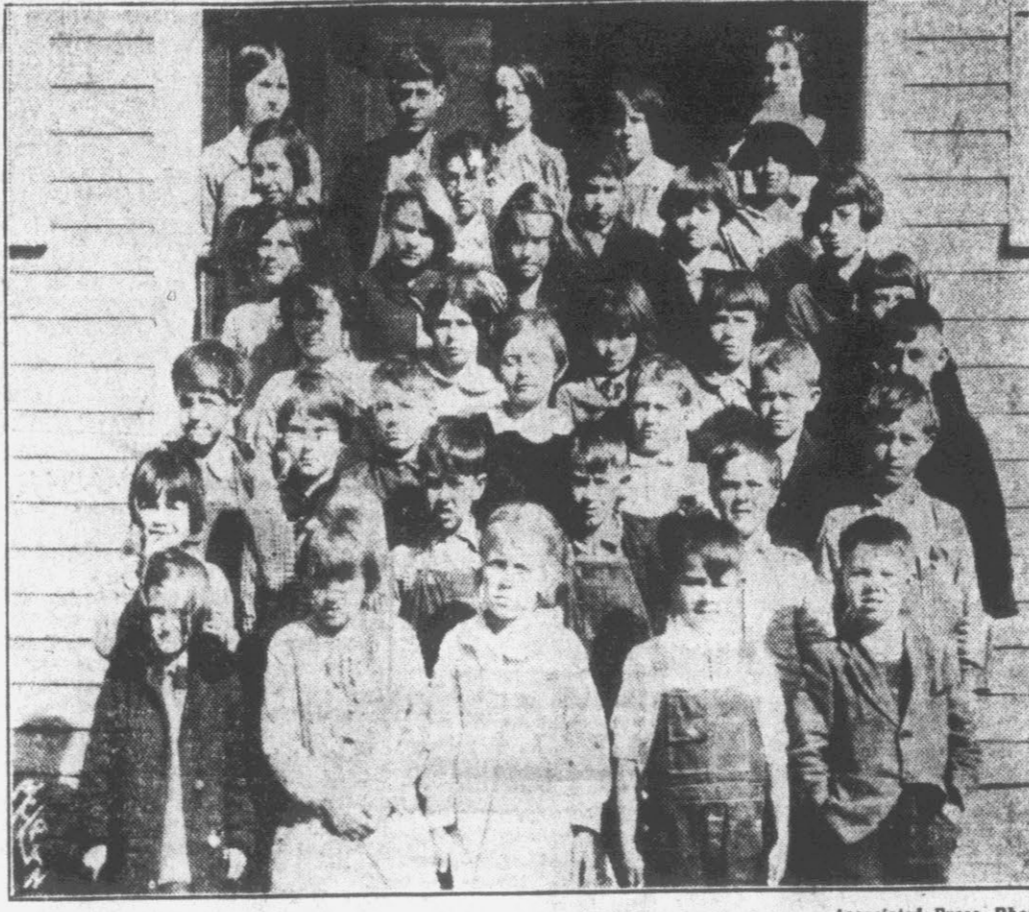

One of the outstanding achievements in connection with her club work was the establishment of the Woman's Club Loan Fund. This fund has grown in popularity and usefulness from year to year and has been instrumental in providing educational training for young women who otherwise never would have been able to enter the field of education.

Mrs. Cotten achieved notable success as an author, and today some of her works take first place in the field of literature in this state. Her history of the Federation and her legend of Virginia Dare, the "White Doe," are among her most prominent contributions dealing with club work and the early life of North Carolina. She was also author of "Tales of Aunt Dorcas Toud Little Esie." At the time of her death she was confiding her efforts to a complaint of local history.

Mrs. Cotten was voted by the North Carolina Woman's committee as one of the four North Carolina women honored for notable work in literature, music, art and civics. This honor was accorded her prior to her death.

HEAVY BALLOT INDICATED IN CITY ELECTION

Greenville People Go To Polls Today To Elect Mayor and Four Aldermen

Greenville today was witnessing one of the most hotly contested municipal elections in history as voters went to the polls to elect a mayor and four aldermen.

The polls opened this morning at 5:56 and were scheduled to close this afternoon at 6:49, sunset. A steady stream of voters filed along the courthouse portico to the ballot boxes in the windows of the registrar of deeds office most of the morning and indications at the noon hour were that presaged the largest ballot ever before cast here.

At the closing of registration books on Saturday afternoon over four hundred new registrations had been recorded. The total voting strength of the city is around 2,400.

Principal interest centered around the mayoralty fight. J. C. Lanier, incumbent, was opposed by former County Court Judge Al Darden. Both the contestants have made primary one of the most vigorous fights that has featured the race for this office in years, and this was largely responsible for the unprecedented vote expected to the contest.

Considerable interest is also attached to the aldermanic fight where contestants have been equally as active as those out for the office of Mayor. In the first ward J. I. Smith, incumbent, is opposed by H. W. Rentrow. In the third ward, P. L. Goodson, incumbent, is opposed by T. T. Hollingsworth, a former alderman who has launched one of the greatest fights of his career to stage a comeback. J. H. Boyd is opposed by T. R. Moore in the fourth and Alderman Rogers has Ralph Garrett as opponent in the fifth. The second ward is the only one of the city districts without contest. J. H. Waldrop is incumbent in that ward.

The most active fight in the aldermanic campaign is centered around the third and fifth wards, and all candidates have been busy for weeks getting their forces lined up for the crucial test.

Mrs. Herring's Father Dies At Goldsboro

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Herring were called to Goldsboro today on account of the death of Mrs. Herring's father, Marshall E. Brogden, who died this morning at 7 o'clock. Although funeral arrangements had not been completed this morning, it was stated that services would be conducted sometime tomorrow.

Six Killed When Train Hits Car

Riverside, N. J., May 6.—(AP)—Six persons, four of them members of one family, were killed and two others injured last night in a collision between a train and an automobile at a crossing here.

The dead are: John Buge, 34; his wife, Mrs. Clara Buge, 32; two of their children, Jack, 5, and Ada, 8; Morgan Chamberlain, a boarder at the Buge home, all residing in Riverside, and Jack Weller, 3, Philadelphia.

Doheny To Purchase Falls N. M. Ranch

Beverly Hills, Calif., May 6.—(AP)—Appointment that the three rivers, N. M., ranch of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the Interior, would be sold at auction today by the Sheriff at Alamogordo, N. M., in a mortgage foreclosure action and that representatives of Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, planned to buy it for $300,000 was made here by Robert Sands, personal secretary to the Petroleum operator.

DISARMAMENT COMMISSION CLOSES TODAY

Geneva, May 6.—(AP)—The preparatory disarmament commission adjourned today with the next move toward Disarmament awaiting action by the big five Naval powers.

In adjourning, the commission left the date of the next meeting open, but with the understanding that it will be convened anew when the Naval Nations announce that they have achieved enough progress towards a naval agreement to justify summoning of what is expected to be the last session of the commission before convocation of an international conference on Disarmament.

The American proposal is no rigid plan to be accepted or rejected said Mr. Gibson, adding that it was a new method of approach to the problem based upon naval equivalents and because there should be complete liberty for independent study.

H. F. SINCLAIR AWAITS ORDER OF JUDGE HITZ

Washington, May 6.—(AP)—Counsel for Harry F. Sinclair announced today the wealthy oil man would not be present at the Supreme court mandate ordering his commitment to jail for three months for contempt of the Senate received by Justice Hitz of the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

Oil Operator Not Present Today When Mandate Order To Jail Was Received

The announcement that Sinclair would not appear upon presentation of the mandate was made by George P. Hoover, counsel for the oil operator.

District Attorney Leo A. Rover received the mandate this morning from Frank E. Cunningham, Clerk of the Trial court, and declared he would present it to Justice Hitz at 1:30 p. m.

With the expectation that Sinclair would arrive for today's proceedings more than a score of newspaper photographers and moving picture cameramen gathered about Judiciary Square in which the major courts of the District of Columbia are located.

Most of them, however, dispersed after being advised by Deputy United States Marshals that the oil man would not be present. Mr. Hoover would not say definitely when Sinclair will come to Washington.

Court officials, however, thought the oil operator might arrive tomorrow or Wednesday. His attorney said Sinclair would appear whenever Justice Hitz ordered him to be present.

Charles F. Manning Died Early Today

Charles F. Manning, 69, died this morning at 3 o'clock at the home of his sister, Mrs. Tobe Evans, about a mile and a half from Greenville. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of Mrs. Evans by Elder Luther Jovner. Burial will follow in the family burying grounds near Greenville.

Mr. Manning had made his home for the past few years with his nephew, Frank Manning, and was residing in the home of his sister when he was taken ill.

He is survived by one brother, T. B. Manning; one sister, Mrs. Tobe Evans both of Pitt county.

Crosses Ocean In Lifeboat

Bibara, Cuba, May 6.—(AP)—Vastness of the Atlantic and impetuosity of its waters have proven hindrances but not barriers to Paul Miller, German sailor, who was on his way to Havana today after crossing the ocean from Germany alone in a 23-foot lifeboat. He used a sail as well as oars to propel his craft which he called the "Aga."

FARM MEASURE NEARING VOTE IN THE SENATE

Washington, May 6.—(AP)—Congress today entered one of the busiest periods of the special session.

Senate approached a vote on the debenture section of the farm relief bill, and later probably on the bill itself, while the House was ready to receive tomorrow the tariff revision measure for which it has been waiting, thus bringing the two major subjects on the administration program before Congress at the same time.

The division in the Senate over the debenture proposal, which President Hoover opposes is so close that a few shifts one way or the other, or the absence of one or two members from one group not balanced by similar absences from the other, may decide the issue, or put it up to Vice-President Curtis to break a tie. The vote, expected Wednesday, is looked forward to by some observers as a test of administration strength in the Senate.

Introduction of the tariff bill tomorrow will place before the House membership and the public for the first time the specific proposals for changes in the seven-year-old Fordney-McCumber act as worked through tedious weeks of discussion and study by the Republican majority of the ways and means committee.

After the public hearings, which began exactly four months ago tomorrow, the Democrats were excluded from the committee's work on the drafting of the bill.

Discussion of the measure probably will not begin until next week. After its introduction, it will be referred back to the committee as a whole, giving the Democratic members a chance to record their position through their participation in the formality of reporting the bill to the House. The Republican membership of the House, meanwhile, will be called into conference to consider a special rule to expedite action on the measure.

J. M. McDonald Found Dead In Pactolus Section

John M. McDonald, 45, was found dead Sunday morning in a small one room house in the Pactolus community. Death was said to have been resulted from heart trouble caused by excessive drinking.

The body of the dead man was found in a corner where he had fallen preparatory to going to bed. The body was brought to Greenville and relatives were summoned from Rocky Mount.

The remains were taken to the home of the deceased's brother, D. L. McDonald, near Rocky Mount, where funeral services will be conducted this afternoon. Mr. McDonald had made his home in Pactolus for several months. He was engaged in the sawmill business.

Hoover Regards Al Smith As Great Public Servant

New York, May 6.—(AP)—President Hoover regards Alfred E. Smith, his Democratic opponent in a distinguished National campaign, as a great public servant.

The President's estimate of Mr. Smith was expressed in a letter read last night at the presentation of the Laetare Medal, the annual award of the University of Notre Dame to the American lay Catholic "who in his particular field of endeavor has achieved such distinction as reflects glory upon the Catholic faith."

RAYON PLANTS WILL RE-OPEN IN TENNESSEE

Elizabethtown, Tenn., May 6.—(AP)—With five companies of National guardsmen on duty and machine guns mounted on roofs of buildings, the mechanical and chemical departments of the American Bemberg and American Glanstoff plant resumed operations today after a strike that began April 15.

Five Companies On Duty To Prevent Possible Violence Among Workers

Company officials declared the forces in these two departments were virtually complete. Reopening of the various other departments was planned gradually, officials explaining that the greater part of the 5,500 idle workers could not be used until the mechanical and chemical processes start.

Some fist fights between strike pickets and workers were reported but no serious disorders occurred. About 200 pickets marched back and forth in front of the huge textile plants.

Elizabethtown, Tenn., May 6.—(AP)—Orderly resistance through "peaceful picketing" has been announced by leaders of the 5,000 striking workmen of the American Bemberg and American Glanstoff Rayon Companies, officials of which have announced that their plants would be reopened today.

Meanwhile five companies of national guardsmen, sworn in as special deputies were stationed at the plants as a precautionary measure against possible disorders feared by authorities after union leaders had declared at a mass-meeting held yesterday that "not a wheel will be allowed to turn in those plants tomorrow."

Approximately 1,000 national guardsmen, deputy sheriffs and policemen were on duty. "Several thousand" members of an organization known as "Loyal Workers of Bemberg" were expected to return to work by F. D. Eden, the organization's president who last week asked Dr. Arthur F. Mohr, wurf, head of the rayon companies, to reopen the plants.

On the other hand, F. L. Stubbs, one of the union organizers, said: "Several thousand" union pickets would make reopening the plants. C. H. Markland, president of the union, made a pledge to the workers that "not a wheel will turn."

Approximately 200 volunteer policemen called into service by the Elizabethtown city council yesterday, while union leaders were addressing a mass-meeting, went on duty at 1 o'clock this morning. They guarded the city in special zones as divided by the police department.

These volunteer policemen were supplemented by 100 extra deputies sworn in by Sheriff J. M. Moreland, who also took over their patrol at 1 a. m. Instructions were received by both policemen and deputies from Adjutant General W. C. Boyd.

Highway approaches to Carter county, of which Elizabethtown is the seat, were being patrolled by special deputies sworn in by the sheriff of the adjoining county of Washington.

All former employees were permitted to return to work, it was announced by officials of the company. Sections of the plants can be reopened with a minimum of $100 workers.

The majority of the workers are mountaineers, and their sympathies in the strike situation are divided according to geographical location. Company officials said. Residents of the Stoney Creek section primarily are pro-union, while Gap Creek mountaineers are affiliated to large numbers with the "Loyal Workers" organization.

Aged Man Buried At Brevard, N. C.

Brevard, N. C., May 6.—(AP)—The screws with which to fasten down the lid of the coffin, made under his direction from wood, he personally selected several years ago, arrived in Brevard Saturday night and Sunday morning at 12:19 o'clock E. B. ("Uncle Dock") Clayton shook off the burden of his 100 years.

For years Mr. Clayton had watched over a certain wild cherry tree on his property, and about three years ago had it cut and sawed into lumber for his coffin. The lumber was stacked to season, and meanwhile the old man grimly determined to live at least to the centenary mark.

On last Christmas day people from all over western North Carolina helped him celebrate his 100th birthday, and shortly afterwards were ill. He began to worry about the unfinished coffin, and urged his sons to complete it. They proceeded to build it, and then ordered it to contain the screws for the top, but these arrived Saturday night, just a few hours before the aged man died.

GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

SYNOPSIS: With the implicit confidence of love, Lucy insists that her fiance, Jerry Ogden, did not murder his father. In a desperate attempt to hide an important link in the evidence, she defies police officers investigating the crime. Lucy's uncle, John Peebles, finds Jerry's keys dropped by a fleeing figure seen leaving the Ogden home a moment before Andrew Ogden's murder was discovered. The police demand the keys, when Lucy snatches them from her uncle's hand and escapes to the Peebles home. Police are searching for the fugitive Jerry, against whom they have a strong case of circumstantial evidence.

Chapter 7.

ENTER LUTHER MACNAIR

The French window was bolted and the curtains were drawn, but I saw the dark blur of Lucy's head against the back of my armchair. "Lucy! This is Uncle John!" There was no response at first; then her head inclined toward the window.

Lucy's dark eyes flashed, eloquent and defiant.

"I am alone. Let me in." She got up slowly and came to the window. "Has he gone?" Her voice was muffled.

"Yes. Open the window." "I won't give them up!" she declared hysterically.

"Now, dear," I said briskly after I entered the room. "We are going to face this thing with clear brains and brave hearts. Where are those keys?"

"I won't give them up!" she stormed. "But you must! Deacon knows you have them. You won't help Jerry by keeping them back. And—we've got to have Deacon's co-operation."

"But I followed you, Uncle John. I heard what Captain Deacon said to you. I didn't understand it at all—you haven't told me anything, yet—but he thinks Jerry killed his father."

She broke off, shuddering, and began to weep again. I took her firmly by the shoulders.

"Now see here, Lucy! Crying won't get Jerry out of this mess. You must buck up and show us the kind of stuff you are made of!"

And back up she did, forthwith, drying her eyes on a spider's web of a handkerchief that wouldn't have stopped my ear.

"Nothing has happened to Jerry yet, and if we keep our heads, nothing will. Give me those keys." They were under the cushion of my chair and after much wriggling they dug them out.

"You don't believe Jerry did it, Uncle John?"

"Of course not."

"Neither you nor Stimson saw Jerry's face or heard his voice."

"I didn't," I admitted. "But I saw Jerry's white trousers, the white sweater you gave him last Christmas, and the pulled-down Panama hat he bought last week. And these are his eyes. Moreover, Hubbard heard Jerry's voice in the library twenty minutes before—"

Lucy put her fingers on my lips. "It was somebody else you saw in Jerry's clothes, Uncle John."

I had given this possibility some thought, but I knew if I hadn't been very fond of Jerry I wouldn't have wasted my time on it.

"That would imply willingness on Jerry's part to let some one else have them," I observed, "and he was wearing them when Hubbard saw him at six o'clock."

This opened wider fields of speculation and we fell silent. Suddenly Lucy took my face between her hands; her eyes were alight.

"What is it, dear?"

"Luther MacNair, the detective, Uncle John! You must get him to take the case for Jerry."

"MacNair!" I cried, aghast.

"Why not? You told me he is known all over the country. You said he solved nearly every case he undertook."

"MacNair has retired," I objected. "He'd probably refuse to help us."

"But he mightn't," Lucy pleaded. "We could ask him."

Her eloquent eyes pinned me down. How could I tell her of my unholly fear that MacNair might add Jerry to his tragic number of murderers? Indecision held me in torment and then my faith renewed itself and courage illuminated the blackness of my soul.

"Very well," I said. "We'll ask him."

Lucy flung her soft arms around my neck and kissed me. "You dear!" she cried. "Come on! We'll go right away."

"My dear child! The man will have been in his bed for hours. Look at the time! Twelve o'clock! Off to bed with you!"

She slipped to her feet and stood facing me pityingly, hands on her slender hips. "You'd make a fine detective! Don't you know they always get on the ground at once? If you don't come with me this minute, Uncle John, I'll go alone!"

That settled it, of course. MacNair's house is a shabby old stucco place set in a lovely garden two blocks below ours. He was having a sun porch built on to it and we had to puke our way through a jumble of builders' materials. Lucy rang the bell and soon we heard footsteps in the hall. A light snapped on the door was flung open and Luther MacNair stood before us. He was none too pleased to see us.

"Hello, there," he growled. "I was just going to bed."

"I am sorry to disturb you at this hour," I said apologetically. "But the reason of our call is rather serious. This is my niece, Lucy, Mr. MacNair. Lucy. We are deeply upset about this tragic affair at the Ogden's. The police seem to think Ogden's son, Jerry, had something to do with it."

"Indeed!"

"Yes. My niece and young Jerry are greatly attached to each other. As a matter of fact, they are engaged—"

"Yes, yes!" he interrupted irritably. "But what's it got to do with me?"

"Your reputation followed you here, Mr. MacNair," I said humbly. "We came to consult you."

"To consult me! I told you and Deacon I was out of this sort of thing."

"To be sure," I stammered. "But I thought—the matter is so urgent—we hoped you might be persuaded."

"Went you take hold of it for us, Mr. MacNair?" Lucy broke in.

"STORY—TWO. Surz yH pleadingly, her darke eyes more eloquent than I had ever seen them. He seemed to think rapidly for a moment."

"Come inside," he said curtly. We followed him into a library and he offered us chairs in front of a fireplace with a red ember or two still glowing in the grate. Papers, sticks and a log soon started a crackling blaze and MacNair drew upon third chair. The reflection from the fire softened his lean, hard face; the swarthy skin, the high cheek bones and slit of a mouth, the deep, penetrating eyes. As I studied the man, neither liking nor disliking him, it came over me that

"Come inside," he said curtly. We followed him into a library and he offered us chairs in front of a fireplace with a red ember or two still glowing in the grate. Papers, sticks and a log soon started a crackling blaze and MacNair drew upon third chair. The reflection from the fire softened his lean, hard face; the swarthy skin, the high cheek bones and slit of a mouth, the deep, penetrating eyes. As I studied the man, neither liking nor disliking him, it came over me that

"Went you take hold of it for us, Mr. MacNair?" Lucy broke in.

On Finishing A Book.

The hero has gone stone blind. A great calamity has blotted his life. The heroine, informed of the fact, with anguished heart beating frantically, rushes to the side of her beloved to comfort him in his living death. Escorted by the hero's loyal friend, she climbs up the steps of her lover's abode, flings open the door and, weeping hysterically, rushes with open arms to the side of...

Just then a voice interrupts my frenzied scanning of the printed page.

"My son, it is ten o'clock. Better get ready for bed."

A grunt is my only reply. I hastily return to the book, glance swiftly down the printed page to find my place, and prepare to read how the heroine, sobbing pitiously, embraces the afflicted hero.

A second time the warning voice reminds me of the passing time.

"I've spoken to you once, now. Will you stop reading that trash, or do I have to turn out the light?"

A second grunt, a little more emphatic is my only acknowledgement of the warning.

The heroine leads the hero to a settle and...

Click! The room is plunged into stygian darkness. I glare at the unseen page and curse vilely at myself at nothing at all. Slowly I drag myself into an upright position and made my way to my bedroom door. At the entrance of this place of safety I return for one partingshot.

"It's mighty hard to say your prayers and mean them when your mother won't let you finish the last chapter in your book."

Sousa's Band To Broadcast Tonight

John Philip Sousa and his world famous band will be heard over the radio for the first time on tonight, in an hour broadcast, sponsored by Chevrolet Motor Company to signalize the achievement of placing on the road over a half million new six cylinder cars in four months' time.

The radio debut of the famous "March King" will come through the National Broadcasting Company coast to coast chain during the regular General Motors "Family Hour" starting at 8:30 p. m.

According to J. Knott Proctor, local Chevrolet dealer, Chevrolet was particularly fortunate in seeking an attraction to emphasize its latest record to secure the first radio performance of this famous director-composer who has been an American institution for the past two decades.

"Naturally, we Chevrolet dealers are proud that our company has been instrumental in introducing Sousa and his band to the microphone. Mr. Proctor said, "We are equally proud, however, of the occasion marked by Sousa's first broadcast. By putting on the road over 500,000 new Chevrolet sixes since January 1, we have established a record never before duplicated by any dealer organization distributing six cylinder automobiles. In fact, no other dealer organization in the history of six cylinder manufacture has ever equalled this record in the course of a full year."

RAIN HAMPERS BRITISH GOLF MATCH

Gullane, Scot., May 6.—(AP)—All day long through a driving wind and soaking downpour of rain, entrants in the British open golf championship went through one of the worst qualifying ordeals in the event. Early indications were that only one American, Ed Dudley, who scored 85 for his first 18 holes, was in danger of failing to qualify.

MERCHANTS IN MEETINGS HERE TODAY

Series of Group Meetings of Business Men Started Today at 10 O'clock.

The first group meetings of members of the Greenville Merchants Association were held this morning. The first meeting was called at the office of the secretary at 10 o'clock, this group being composed of representatives of the various clothing stores. Department store representatives met at 11 o'clock.

These were the first of a series of conferences recently outlined by the association in an effort to bring about closer relations between the different lines of business represented by its membership.

The two groups today discussed local conditions and proper methods of merchandising. Each of the talks were to the point and contained a mass of information dealing with the two lines of business.

Tomorrow the group meetings will be continued by the jewelers who will assemble at 10 o'clock. All 11 o'clock wood and coal dealers will meet. City grocers will meet at two o'clock.

Says Town Defiler.

Toms River, N. J.—The Rev. Ira E. Hicks, Baptist, believes this town is defiled with sin. He expressed his view from the pulpit in commenting on a high school production of "Miss Cherry Blossom." "In one scene," said the clergyman, "50 American boys and girls come on the stage with their arms about each other and later they actually kiss." School board officials said the play has been a favorite with schools and colleges for 25 years.

TWO BALLOONS UNREPORTED IN NATIONAL RACE

Pittsburgh, May 6.—(AP)—Two balloons that left here late Saturday in the National elimination balloon race had not reported to race headquarters here today. The ten other entries were down at points in Pennsylvania and New York.

Of those reporting the Goodyear VII apparently has covered the greatest distance, of 405 miles, although all figures were unofficial and were based on cursory estimates.

The Detroit Balloon club entry's pilot, Svend Rasmussen, reported to headquarters this morning that he had landed yesterday near Camden, N. J. He estimated the distance traveled roughly at 300 miles.

Camden, N. Y., May 6.—(AP)—

The Detroit Balloon club's entry in the National elimination balloon race, which left Pittsburgh at six thirty five p. m., Saturday, landed at Empyville, about seven miles northeast of Camden, at 9:15 a. m., yesterday. Pilot Svend Rasmussen reported that he struck bad weather and went through rain and sleet.

At times, the pilot said, the balloon sunk to the level of three tops and narrowly avoided striking them. Rasmussen estimated the distance his balloon had traveled was roughly 300 miles. He was accompanied by T. W. Southworth, Monroe, Mich.

The aeronauts intended to meet Dr. George M. Legalle, pilot of the Pittsburgher, which landed near Utica, and with him make plans for shipping their crafts home.

Rasmussen said he descended to make observations and was unable to rise after he had neared the earth.

WANT ADS PAY

Hams—Hams—Hams.

Hurray for the famous Onslow county hams. The last 25 years I have been boasting the famous Onslow county hams. I have been leading all my competitors in Greenville for the same ham. Distressingly, I have been told by them with more truth than poetry. I was not making any money and should sell them higher. As I am not any spring chicken, it is too late for me to come back and make money. But I do have the solace to know that my conscience is clear, and that I serve my many customers with some degree of appreciation of their patronage and my younger competitors have learned to appreciate the famous Onslow county hams.

Full lot on hand this time and will continue to sell them at the same price during this week. After the 10th of May, as they are getting scarcer, and the price will advance. It will be necessary compelled to advance some with the market.

Thanking my many customers for their past patronage, I bespeak and solicit the same, when in need of a famous Onslow county ham, call

ATHLETICS IN THE LEAD IN AMERICAN

The first week-end of inter-sectional campaigning on the various major league ironies left the Athletics at the head of their class in the American, with the Braves clinging to the top in the National.

The Mackmen regained the peak of defeating Sammy Gray and the Browns at Sportsman's Park yesterday 2 to 0.

George Walberg let the Browns down with ten hits and fanned six. It was the first defeat of the season for Gray, who gave only five hits before stepping aside for a pinch batsman in the eighth.

The A's won by bunching three hits in the fifth with one of Gray's two passes. The victory left the teams in a virtual tie for the leadership, but the Macks gained the top by reason of having won one fewer and lost one fewer than the Browns.

The rumble of Yankee heavy artillery once more is disturbing the peace and quiet of American league cities. The champions have registered thirty nine hits in their last three games, and have won all of them.

Washington still is unable to have a good hitting afternoon simultaneously with a first rate pitching exhibition. Adolph Liska, one of the best right handers in the Major leagues, turned back the Indians with two hits yesterday, but saw his opponents win the game by 1 to 0.

The Tigers held a big rally at Nevin Field yesterday at the expense of Ed Morris, who was routed with other Boston pitchers in a 10 to 2 victory by Detroit.

After trouncing the Giants by 10 to 7 in ten innings on Saturday, the Cardinals came right back yesterday with a pair of late rallies which netted a 9 to 7 victory.

The Sabbath triumph pulled the Cardinals back into a tie for second with the Cubs who had stolen a march by beating the Phillies twice on Saturday, but who were forced to sit idly by yesterday as the Cards threw the Giants.

Burleigh Grimes led the Pirates to a 2 to 1 victory over the Braves at Boston, pulling the back bay band down within reaching distance of the Cubs and the Cardinals.

Dazy Vance entertained 20,000 customers at Ebbets Field, when Brooklyn beat Cincinnati 4 to 1. Vance allowed four hits and fanned nine.

The only run off him was Curt Walker's homer in the fourth. Glenn Wright started his first game at shortfield for Brooklyn and hit a home run in the fourth with one man aboard.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in that certain mortgage executed by Harvey Taylor and wife, Lillie Taylor, to T. R. Andrews on January 1, 1924, and recorded in Book W-14, at page 288 in the public registry of Pitt County, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness thereby secured, the undersigned mortgagee will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, May 13, 1929, at 12 o'clock, noon, the following described real estate: Situate and being in the town of Bethel, and being on Barnhill and Crawford Streets being 45 by 80 feet, the house and lot where Harvey Taylor now resides, and being identical lot of land conveyed to Harvey Taylor by Ed Howell and wife, Rosa Howell, by deed recorded in Book E-14, at page 367 of the Pitt County Public Registry. TRACK MEET HELD HERE ON SATURDAY

The schools of the N. E. A. C. held their second annual track meet here at the Fair Grounds Saturday, with some excellent competition developing.

Goldsboro won by a handy margin of 58 2-3 points, being closely pressed through most of the meet by Roanoke Rapids, who held second place with 35 2-3 points.

Individual honors went to Edwards of Goldsboro, with 21 points in sprints and jumps. No one pressed him closely for point winning.

Greenville failed to support the meet with the presence of spectators to any great number either from the High School or the town. The largest number of people here apparently do not know the thrill of a close race or a long throw.

Summary: 100 yard dash—Won by Edwards, Goldsboro; second, Lynch, Goldsboro; third, Johnson, Farmville; fourth, Partin, Weldon. Time: 16 1-5 seconds.

220 yard dash—Won by Edwards, Goldsboro; second, Partin, Weldon; third, Respass, Greenville; fourth, Lynch, Goldsboro. Time: 23 4-5 seconds.

440 yard dash—Cannon, Roanoke Rapids; second, Peacock, Goldsboro; first place; third, Rose, Goldsboro; fourth, Henderson, Goldsboro. Time: 57 seconds.

880 yard run—Won by Baker, Goldsboro; second, Powell, Goldsboro; third, Eason, Greenville.

1 mile run—Won by Cannon, Roanoke Rapids; second, Smith, Farmville; third, Denmark, Goldsboro; fourth, Rose, Goldsboro. Time: 5:30 1-5.

Pole vault—Tie for first between Dixon, Weldon, Crumpler, Roanoke Rapids, and Wombles, Roanoke Rapids, at 9 feet, 2 inches; fourth place, tie between Pate, Goldsboro; Nesbit, Greenville, and Tucker, Greenville, at 9 feet.

Running high jump—Won by Thompson, Roanoke Rapids; second, Johnson, Weldon; third, Cannon, Farmville; fourth, Johnson, Weldon. Height, 5 feet, 2 inches.

Running broad jump—Won by Edwards, Goldsboro, 18 feet, 4 1-2 inches; second, Johnson, Farmville; third, Johnson, Weldon; fourth, Rose, Goldsboro.

Discus throw—Won by Edwards, Goldsboro; second, Thompson, Roanoke Rapids; third, Cannon, Farmville; fourth, Taylor, Farmville. Distance, 124 feet, 10 inches.

Shot-put—Won by Partin, Weldon; second, Thompson, Roanoke Rapids; third, Radford, Goldsboro; fourth, Carraway, Farmville. Distance, 34 feet, 3 1-4 inches.

Relay (one mile)—Won by Goldsboro (Peacock, Rose, Lynch, Edwards); second, Weldon; third, Roanoke Rapids; fourth, Farmville. Time: 4 minutes, 2 seconds.

Total points—Goldsboro, 58 1-3; Roanoke Rapids, 35 2-3; Weldon, 23 1-3; Farmville, 20; Greenville, 5 2-3.

SEVERAL RING BOUTS SET FOR PRESENT WEEK

New York, May 6.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri gets his chance for revenge on Andre Routis, French holder of the featherweight championship, this week, but there are circumstances that will make it practically painless for the Frenchman even should he lose.

Routis met Tony at New York's Madison Square Garden in September last year, galloped off with the decision and incidently with the featherweight crown which Canzoneri was wearing at the time.

Their return match, set for Chicago's new stadium this Friday night is at catch weight, so Routis will hold onto the title even should he drop the decision or be knocked out. Some of the experts think Canzoneri, at 130 pounds, will be too strong for the Frenchman whose only ring appearance since he won the title was a losing one against Honeyboy Finnegan in a non-typical match.

SPORTS SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

New York, May 6.—(AP)—After a prosperous winter season where Miami Beach shared the fistic spotlight with New York, Boston, Detroit and Chicago, the boxing business faces a somewhat dismal outlook for the open air campaign.

The big extravaganza built up over a period of years by the late Tex Rickard, with Jack Dempsey as the main machine reached their peak at Chicago in 1927. They have been skidding downhill ever since. The man affair of 1928, the Tunney-Heenev bout, was a financial bust. The prospects are no better for an outstanding heavyweight feature for 1929.

No outdoor season ever has reaped a financial harvest without being buttressed by interest in the heavyweights. The big fellows set the pace as drawing cards but of the present crop the experts regard Max Schmeling the German clown, as the only figure likely to arouse popular enthusiasm. If Schmeling scores decisively over Paulino at the Yankee Stadium of June 27, it may then be possible to "smoke up" an elimination contest with Jack Sharkey for a September climax.

For various well known reasons, the championship color had faded in many of the other ring divisions. In consequence, they offer few, if any, exciting summer prospects.

The flyweight and bantamweight titles are still in dispute although the forthcoming match between Fidel Labarra and Kid Chocolate in New York may help clarify the 112 pound division situation.

Andre Routis, the featherweight champion, fights Tony Canzoneri from whom the Frenchman took the title, at Chicago, this week, but no title is involved.

Sammy Mandell, the lightweight king, hasn't defended his crown since he beat Jimmy McLarnin last summer.

Boston's bid for a welterweight title bout between Joe Dundee, the champion and Al Mello does not offer ground for much enthusiasm as a consequence of the decisive beating Jones last week at Madison Square Garden.

The customers may be aroused by return battles between Mickey Walker and Ace Hudkins for the middleweight title, or between Tom Loughran and Leo Lomaski for the light heavyweight championship but so far there is no frenzied bidding for either match.

Chicago, Boston, Los Angeles and Detroit can scramble for these affairs, since the New York Boxing rulers are not on speaking terms with either Walker or Loughran.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, May 6.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at 2 points higher to 5 points lower, compared with Saturday and sold down to 10 to 15 points under the previous fair price under renewed liquidation and selling by houses with New Orleans connections. Generally favorable cotton belt weather over Sunday and a satisfactory weather may this morning were held responsible for the selling movement. The decline carried July down to 18.80 and December to 18.90. Prospects for show-ers seemed to stimulate covering and some buying through commission houses, but the market was generally inactive and the undertone early in the continent was buying in Liverpool but that the market was inactive with realizing. A fair cloth inquiry was reported from India and an improved demand for Egyptian yarns.

STOCK MARKET

New York, May 6.—(AP)—An unexpected advance from 10 to 12 per cent in the call money rate turned the course of prices reactionary in today's stock market after an early outburst of strength had carried a score of issues into new high ground. Early heavy mid-day selling movement, and along list of stocks sagged 1 to 6 points below Saturday's final quotations.

Call money renewed at 10 per cent, but the supply at that figure was insufficient to meet the demand created by the recent increase in speculative activity. Time money and commercial paper rates also held firm. Wall Street had been expecting an easing of money rates this week with the May 1 demands out of the way.

Trade news continued favorable although growing uneasiness was apparent over the effect of the high money rates on late spring and early summer business. Despite the fact that plants of the steel corporation operated at capacity last month, the April tonnage statement, due Friday, is expected to show another increase in unfilled orders.

In the early outburst of buying General Electric and Westinghouse Electric were each bid up more than 5 points to within a few points of the year's highs, but the gains quickly melted a general selling wave swept over the market. Among the many issues to reach new high ground were Sparks Withington, American Can, Timken Roller Bearing, American Ice, Continental Baking B, Kraft-Phenix Cheese and Snyder Packing preferred.

Case Thrashing broke 16 points, advance rarely common and preferred, which were under selling pressure last week, dropped 5 and 4 1/4 points, respectively. Wilcox Rich a bid 1 1/4 points below last week's close. Radio 4 and Borg Warner, Goodyear Warren Bros., American and Foreign Power and Western Union dropped 3 to 4 points.

Death Toll From Persian Earthquake Reaches 2,000

Teheran, Persia, May 6.—(AP)—Two thousand dead were reported today in unofficial telegraph advices of three days continuing earthquakes from the Khorassan district of north-east Persia.

The telegrams said several villages literally have been destroyed, with 700 buildings demolished in the cities of Shirvan and Bujmurd, near the Turkistan border. The tremors were said to have caused "three days of terror."

Four violent earthquakes were reported from Ashkhabad, Russian Turkistan, last Friday, with a heavy death toll reported in Persian villages along the international line. Eleven were killed and 40 injured in the Turkistan cities. The Turkistan government rushed medical aid to the Persian victims.

NEW VIOLENCE THREATENED IN BERLIN TODAY

Communists To Stage Big Demonstration Burying Their Dead Wednesday.

Berlin, May 6.—(AP)—Threats of new violence Wednesday loomed today as mar hordes built on last night's peacefulness in Neukolln and Wedding districts where police were in full control after four days bloody Communist rioting.

At a secret meeting 1,200 Communist leaders, obtaining admission only by each speaking a special catchword, voted to bury 21 of their fallen comrades in a single grave, turning the funeral after interment into a monster political demonstration.

A resolution was passed calling upon workers over the city to begin a general strike at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Although the strictest measures were adopted to prevent the public knowing of what happened inside the meeting it was known that there was in evidence no disposition to accept the truce thrust upon them by the police.

Meanwhile the state of siege continued in both Wedding and Neukolln districts, although there had been no fighting there since Saturday. No one was allowed aboard on Herman Strauss after 9 p. m. and until after 4 a. m. today. While at first it had been believed this restriction would be lifted today, continued evidences of sullen disposition of the residents of the two areas made it probable it would be continued temporarily.

But one incident was reported Sunday, the fifth day of the disturbances, that being an attack on a policeman. That and occasional shots by police clearing the roofs, where snipers had held out only, were the only firing. There was no repetition of the open street fighting of the first four days.

Police closed three Wedding subway stations when it was reported an attempt of activities from Neukolln to Wedding, on the opposite side of the city.

The suppression of the Communist movement took a nationwide aspect when it was announced the Reich's minister of the interior, Carl Severing, was considering nationwide extension of the order of Herr Gzesinski, Prussian minister of interior, dissolving the militant Communist organization "Rote Front Kaempfer Bund"—literal "Fighters on the Red Front."

Herr Gzesinski's order, after quoting paragraphs of law for the protection of the republic and other laws authorizing this course read: "The Rote Front Kaempfer Bund," "The Red Youth Front" and the "Red Marine" are hereby in the free state of Prussia declared dissolved with all their appointments with the approval of the Reich, as their conduct has shown their purposes to be contrary to the aforesaid laws. The property of these organizations is ordered seized and confiscated to the state. Local police organizations are charged with execution of the foregoing."
