

GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

SYNOPSIS: Faced by strong circumstantial evidence pointing to Jerry Ogden as the slayer of his father, Lucy, his fiancée, loyally comes to his defense. She challenges the police theories and induces Luther MacNair, famous retired detective, to investigate the slaying. Her uncle, John Peebles, is awakened early in the morning by a prowler in his den. He grapples with the intruder but the latter escapes just before MacNair unexpectedly enters the room. Peebles reveals that the burglar tried to steal the famous Alex Peterson revolver loaded with gold bullets—a weapon that has become mysteriously linked with the murder of Andrew Ogden.

Chapter 10

A DROP OF BLOOD
"Where is the revolver?" MacNair demanded.
"I think I am lying on it," I said. A metallic object was pressing into the small of my back. "Here it is. The rascal had it leveled on me when I hit him with the golf club. He dropped it and used his own gun on you."

MacNair looked the pistol over. "Queer, he should have known you had it."

I nodded. "It's just another of the many queeresses we have to explain. I'm glad you happened along. You'd better stay for breakfast. If it hadn't been for Lucy—patting her hand and being kissed in return—"and you and Mrs. Moffit I'd be past caring about breakfasts."

"No, thanks," he declined. "It's nearly dawn. I want to have a look around the Ogden grounds before Deacon and his men mess things up. That was my object in getting there at this ungodly hour. Evidence evaporates. Get on the job early, is one of the maxims of my profession. There's another I'm fond of, too. 'Stick to your job until it's finished.' He grinned mirthlessly. "There, Peebles! I've taught you how to be a successful detective in two lessons. Write 'em down."

"They helped me into a chair. The window, I saw, had been neatly cut with a diamond near the bolt. Mrs. Moffit appeared properly skirted and carrying water, hot and cold, and a dish of warm olive oil. "I'll do it," Lucy offered, when I had drunk.
"Miss Lucy," my housekeeper whispered, "you are in your nightgown."
"Of course I am. Uncle John is in his pyjamas."
"Lucy," I interrupted dryly, "you might get me my dressing-gown."
She gave me a little gay-sad smile and tripped out of the room. Lucy insists Mrs. Moffit is so modest that she bathes herself in the dark.

I called Polyandria. She sprang onto my knees and while Mrs. Moffit pursued her ministrations I turned her upside down and examined her claws. On the middle claw of the right front foot I found what I was looking for. Mr. Moffit handed me a lens and I bent it on the claw. When I finally looked up MacNair was watching me ironically.
"Well?" he queried.
I chuckled. "There's a drop of

Under the gold bullet—a message out of the past.

blood on one of Polyandria's claws. She got between the rascal's legs and mine and scratched him. You had better look for a man with a scratch, MacNair."

"Not bad," he said curtly. "Another demonstration of my contention that one should get on the job early. A few minutes later you wouldn't have found it." He peered through the lens. "The scratch will be on an exposed part of the man's body," he went on, "or his garments would have cleaned the claw as the cat drew it back."
"An excellent point!" I remarked. "It hadn't occurred to me. Our task is again simplified; we look for a man with a scratch on an exposed part of his body."
"Hardly as simple as that," MacNair drawled.

"What do you mean?" I exclaimed, struck by his tone.
"I mean if we were to find a man with a scratch on, say, his wrist, it wouldn't necessarily follow that he'd killed Andrew Ogden."
At this, MacNair pulled up his right sleeve and revealed a red welt two inches long on the under side of his wrist.
"What do you say to that?" he chuckled.

"Good Lord!" I exclaimed. "How did you get it?"
"Coming through the window just now. You must trim that briar rose of yours, Peebles."
"Oh," I said in abashed tones. "I'm sorry. I've always been skeptical of the value of circumstantial evidence, too."

"But you shouldn't be," he informed me bluntly. "It's generally dependable. Unfortunately, circumstantial evidence is subject to human interpretation. Coincidence is the biggest maggot in the circumstantial cheese. Make allowances for coincidence and you'll get along nicely with circumstantial evidence. I shall still look for a man with a scratch, Peebles." MacNair tore a scrap of blotting paper from my desk pad, absorbed the drop of blood and placed the scrap in an envelope, which he pocketed. When I had dismissed Mrs. Moffit and Lucy had brought me my dressing gown, I picked up the gold-mounted revolver. I ejected the cartridges into my palm. It was my intention to extract the powder from them, as I am averse to keeping more than one loaded weapon in the house, but MacNair objected.

"I wanted a pistol expert to go over the revolver and the cartridges. An expert may be able to give us some hint as to where they came from. Never mind reloading the revolver."

"How stupid of me!" I cried. "I never thought of getting an expert to look at them."
As I handed him the revolver and the cartridges one of the latter caught my eye and I drew it sharply back.
"Hello!" I exclaimed. "This cartridge has been tampered with."
I dug the bullet out with a jack-knife and looked for the powder. There was none. Instead, I saw what was evidently a wad of paper and I poked at it with a pin. It came out reluctantly.

"A message, Uncle John!" Lucy cried ecstatically.
When I had got the scrap of paper spread out on the desk it looked as if Lucy was right. It was dirty and brittle and had been torn off the top edge of a newspaper—a very old newspaper—and there was scarcely legible writing in indelible pencil on it. A date line was partly decipherable and, to my astonishment, I made out:

TORRIDITY, Monday, July, 1899.
"Torridity!" I gasped.
"Eighteen ninety-six," MacNair muttered.

"The writing, Uncle John—read it!" Lucy whispered.
And with the aid of the lens I did so.

"...done for Alex. Dillon got me skunk, but I...a bullet...him, somewhere. Good-bye...old scout. You did...best for me. I've...a bad devil."
"Jerry,"
"Jerry!" Lucy echoed.

pick-up is that quality in the new improved "Standard" Gasoline which fairly lifts your car... up and over the hills... past the dawdling traffic lines... pick-up is swift and certain with the improved "Standard," because it is a richer, more volatile gas.

ALTHOUGH the new improved "Standard" Gasoline is almost magical in this quality of quick pick-up, it is equally good on every other count in motor performance. With its range of boiling points carefully attuned, it fires swiftly on the split-second. It is a powerful gas, too. Buckling to the heavy loads cheerfully and willingly. Climbing the long hills in a steady surge of increasing power that seldom makes you shift your gears. The improved "Standard" is a pure gasoline. Clean, White. It consumes completely. No danger from carbon or crank case dilution. Dependable in any situation—for any kind of car. "...it's the champion."

HERMAN SCHURCH who holds the North Carolina state record for dirt track speeding along with Ray Keech, famous racing driver, uses "Standard" improved Gasoline.

WHEN you fill up with the improved "Standard" Gasoline, you get something more than the best gasoline on the market. Everywhere at the big red "Standard" pumps you will find "service with a smile."

QUICK PICK-UP calls for an increased ratio of gas to air, suddenly sucked through the carburetor into the firing chamber. It is at this crucial moment when acceleration must be instant, swift, and flexible that the improved "Standard" proves itself.

Hams—Hams—Hams. Hurray for the famous Onslow county hams. The last 25 years I have been boosting the famous Onslow county hams. I have been leading all my competitors in Greenville for the same ham. Distressingly, I have been told by them with more truth than poetry. I was not making any money and should sell them higher. As I am not any spring chicken, it is too late for me to come back and make money. But I do have the solace to know that my conscience is clear, and that I serve my many customers with some degree of appreciation of their patronage and my younger competitors have learned to appreciate the famous Onslow county hams.

Full lot on hand this time and will continue to sell them at the same price during this week. After the 10th of May, as they are getting scarcer, and the price will advance. It will be necessary compelled to advance some with the market.

Thanking my many customers for their past patronage, I bespeak and solicit the same, when in need of a famous Onslow county ham, call

PROSPERITY ABROAD

Ambassador Houghton, returning from England, reports:

"Europe on the whole is economically finding her feet again. Unemployment is gradually being absorbed, and prosperity of a moderate scale is again being realized. There is a movement on foot among the masses in Europe against war, and I should say that the development of peace sentiment is constantly growing in size and strength."

"May he be right! Paying for a big war is a slow, painful process. Perhaps salutary though. For while the paying continues, there is little stomach for new war. If the losses and sufferings of the last conflict were made up and forgotten too soon, we might all be getting ready for another 'fresh, jolly war' as the Prussians used to say."

The important thing is to get some kind of solid peace arrangement, offering a reasonable degree of permanency, accepted and put into operation before Europe grows prosperous again and rival nations once more start coveting each others' wealth.

RADIO RELIEF

It is gratifying to learn from a recent Washington dispatch that "a revived Radio Commission, functioning with full membership for the first time in three months, has plunged into a maelstrom of activity." Two new members bring fresh blood and perhaps fresh energy to a job that seems to call for both.

This commission has had a difficult and baffling job on its hands. The public, recognizing what it was up against, has not been over-critical. But there is widespread hope that more can be done than has yet been accomplished to unscramble the ether.

It might be an exaggeration to say that a majority of owners of radio sets have had worse reception since the commission undertook to clear the air channels, but certainly this has been the experience of millions. There has been a big upset in transmission to which broadcasters and public have not yet been able to accommodate themselves. Many stations are blanketed over large areas. Many listeners search in vain for the old, familiar stations. New difficulties of many sorts have developed.

The commission may not be to blame for those things. Doubtless it has done its best. But the public wishes it could do a great deal more to make radio reception throughout the country more simple, convenient and pleasant.

ABOUT TOWN

"Tomorrow is Memorial Day and Greenville will honor the men who fell in the War Between the States, a member of the Memorial Day committee this morning."

"Appropriate exercises will be held at the high school building, the graves of the former soldiers have been decorated, and the public will have an opportunity of hearing Ralph Deal, of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, tell of the valor of the men of the 60's. 'The ranks of the Confederates grow thinner and thinner with the passing of each Memorial Day, and in a few short years now they will live in memory alone. But this day which we are about to celebrate will forever keep memory afresh and prevent our forgetting the debt which we owe the men who fought for a lost cause.'"

"That last game with Goldsboro was one of the best exhibitions of ball playing I have ever seen on the local diamond," firmly declared a fan this morning.

"It was the tightest game of the season, being featured by exceptionally fast work in the field and just enough hitting to keep the nerves tense. Greenville exhibited the fact that they are able to hit even under the most trying conditions, and Jones was the boy that slammed the ball to the fence and showed that it takes one hit to win some ball games."

"With this kind of playing we are bound to come out with colors flying at the end of the season. The other clubs may brag all they want to about what kind of material they have, but Greenville people are satisfied with the fact that they have some of the most dependable sluggers of the circuit."

"More hogs and chickens will help make this part of the country financially independent," said a Pitt county farmer today, speaking of the numbers of carloads of chickens and hogs shipped out of the county during the present season. "The shipment of hogs alone has brought thousands of dollars to the farmers of this locality the last few months, and should they continue to expand in the future as they have in the past, the next few years will see the sum swelled to no little extent."

"If you are a farmer and want to increase your earnings, follow in the footsteps of those who have sold enough hogs and chickens this year to enable them to pay up their debts and face the future with a good bank account."

"Get on the prosperity wagon and invest in home enterprises," advised a Greenville business man today, referring to the splendid growth which the city has made the last few years.

"Right at this time the city is undergoing more improvements than any other time in years, and the man that invests in some kind of a thriving enterprise may be assured of advancing in proportion as the city advances."

"Our business men are endeavoring to keep pace with progress of all forms of industry, and this desire opens up new fields of endeavor all the time. 'Look over the situation here, Mr. New Comer, and if you have any extra money invest it in some form of industry which you believe has promise of giving good returns on your investment.'"

"Rocky Mount will make their appearance on the local ball diamond Friday and Saturday," informed a fan today.

"Greenville people will then have the opportunity of seeing the Bucs in their first visit here this season. From all indications, two of the best games of the season are in the offing."

"Greenville will remember the first time they played in Rocky Mount this season. The Bucs treated them in such way that Les Bangs and his crowd will be out for revenge in both of the games here."

"Rocky Mount had a hard time getting lined up for baseball this year, but after they did get started they showed the entire circuit they were out to cop the pennant if possible. Yesterday morning found them perched on the top of the standing of clubs column and it is going to take some swift playing to dislodge them."

"Everybody should turn out to the two games and in that way get an idea of the comparative strength of the two organizations."

"This is a day of economy, individually and collectively," asserted a reader of this paper today, telling us of an incident that happened in a local eating establishment.

"A man went up to the manager of the place and asked him the price of dinner. He was told that the regular price was 50c, and that no charge was made for tea and pie served with the meal. 'The patron scratched his head thoughtfully for a moment, and said, 'Bring me a glass of tea and some pie!'"

"When he had finished eating, he asked the proprietor how much he owed. 'Not a thing,' the proprietor told him, and the patron walked out of the place smiling like he had won a great victory. 'And he had won, according to the version of the man that gave him the meal.'"

Bulls Cling To Top Rung

The Durham Bulls swatted two Salsbury pitchers hard yesterday to win 15 to 8 and cling to their half-game margin at the top of the Piedmont league. The second-place Greensboro Patriots kept step with the Bulls, however, by downing Henderson, 7 to 4.

Dubuque, of the Winston-Salem Twins, and Conklin, High Point ace, put on a pitchers' battle in the other Piedmont game. Conklin allowed only four hits, but two of these were bunched with a walk and an

South Carolina Lady Took Cardui and Noticed Remarkable Improvement.

Anderson, S. C.—"I suffered a long, long time, before I tried Cardui, and my only regret is that I did not know about it sooner," says Mrs. Lillie Pruitt, 130 "K" Street, this city. "I was badly run down in health. My nerves went to pieces, and I had to go to bed. I was not able to do my house work for many months. 'I got so bad off, I could not bear to have anybody walk across the floor of my room. The least little thing upset me. Sometimes I became hysterical. I had bad pains in my back and sides, and my head and limbs would take spells of aching, which almost set me wild. 'One day I was reading and I saw where a woman, who had a trouble like my own, had been relieved by Cardui. I decided at once to try it. 'It began to help me from the very first. I took Cardui regularly, for several months, and my improvement was so remarkable, that my family and friends were delighted.' Get a bottle today. N-692-J error in the seventh inning and the Twins won, 4 to 1. In the East Carolina, the Rocky Mount Buccaneers took a game from Wilmington 10-9 and ran their winning streak to six straight. Alford hit for the circuit in the ninth to supply the winning margin. Goldsboro defeated Kinston 2-0 as Bowman twirled well and received steady support. Fayetteville could get to Jeffers, Greenville hurler, for only four hits and lost a 5 to 1 decision. The same pairings in both league scheduled for today.

True style that reflects the mode...yet dares to be different...

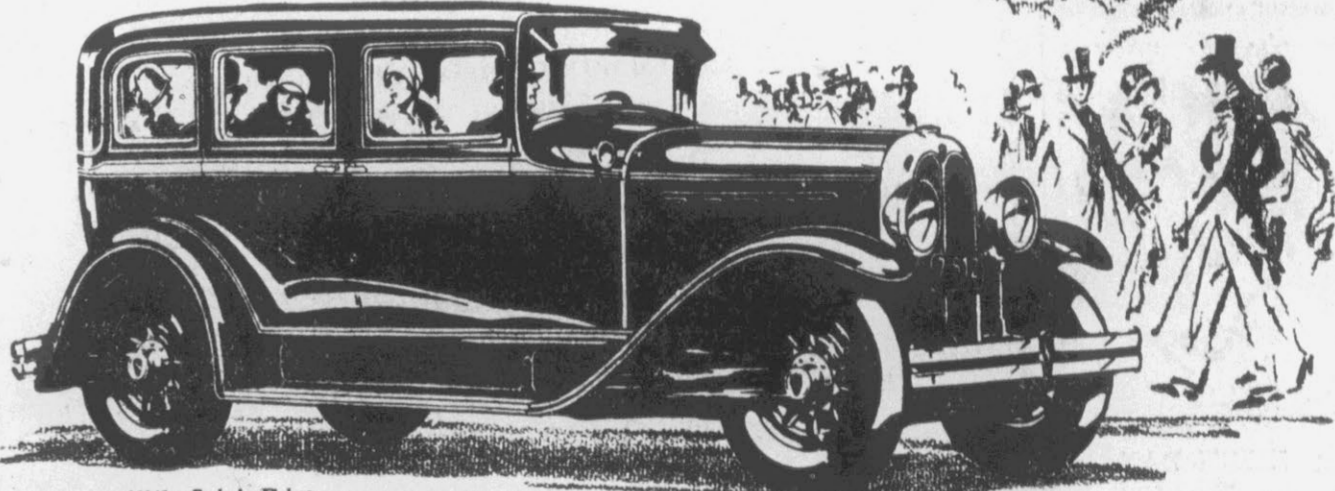

Fisher designers created beautiful bodies for the New Oakland All-American Six. Long and low and rakish in outline... as the bodies of fine cars are expected to be. Oakland designers matched these Fisher bodies with sweeping hood and cowl lines... with flaring one-piece fenders... creating a harmony of contour and a motor car style that reflects the mode, yet dares to be different.

In the distinctive appearance of its radiator... in the attractive simplicity of its rear view... in its wide range of smart, new colors... the New All-American differs from ordinary motor car styles. And in its interiors is further evidence that Oakland has created its own original style.

We are now making a special demonstration designed to bring home to motorists the extraordinary value provided by the New Oakland All-American Six. If you are planning to buy a car we want you to enjoy this demonstration... if only for the purpose of learning what Oakland offers for its surprisingly moderate price.

Prices $1145 to $1375, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Spring covers and Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values... Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

GREENVILLE WINS FROM THE SCOTS

Fayetteville, May 8.—The Highlanders dropped their third game of the week here this afternoon as Greenville scored a 5 to 1 victory.

Weak hitting, which has characterized the play of the locals on their home grounds, continued, only four hits being garnered from the delivery of Jeffers. Wilder, late of the Charlotte Hornets, pitched seven innings for Fayetteville and retired in favor of a pinch-hitter in the seventh after four runs and nine hits had been scored. Orwin, with Kingston last year, played second for the Highlanders today.

The first two runs scored by the visitors were due to a fluke double infield hit, and clean single.

HUBBEL HURLS NO-HIT GAME

The turre created by Carl Hubbell's no hit performance against the Pirates at the Polo ground yesterday all but prevented any mention of the Cubs' rise to the top of the National league standing.

But there the McCarthy men stood today after a long fight upward. The Bruins slammed the recumbent Robins for a business-like 4 to 2 victory at Ebbets Field yesterday as the thoughtful Cardinals tugged the Braves under at Boston 10 to 2.

In the face of Hubbell's effort, however, the league standing became a thing of small moment. The Gaints won by 11 to 0.

Hubbell lost all chance of a no-man-to-first base game almost as soon as he entered the box. Travis Jackson made a bad toss past first base on Sparky Adam's grounder and he raced to second.

Hubbell's triumph was the first no-hit performance in the majors since Ted Lyons of the White Sox shut out Boston in August of 1926, and the first by any Gaint since May 7, 1922, the date of Jesse Barnes' all but perfect effort against the Phillies. He retired 27 men, but walked one in the meanwhile.

Hub Leonard of the Red Sox, who let Detroit down without a safety in June 1918, owned the most recent no-hit game by a southpaw until yesterday. George Witse, handy man of the Giants of another day, was the last McGraw left hander to turn the trick—in 1908 against the Phillies.

The Giants continued yesterday to hit home runs. Mott got two, lifting his total to six, the best National league, and Fullis and Andy Cohen got one apiece.

Waltie Hoyt won his fourth straight. Lou Gehrig hit his seventh home run of the season and the Yankees reflected their sixth successive victory as the Browns were sunk by 8 to 1 in St. Louis.

The champions hit Walter Stewart for twelve safeties, running their six game total to 75. Babe Ruth cut in with two useful singles. The triumph was needed to keep the Huguenot on top, as the Athletics executed an about face in Chicago to win 5 to 4. Red Faber and George Connally worked for the White Sox, Red losing.

Cleveland shaded Boston by 3 to 1 and Detroit nosed out the Senators by 5 to 4 in other American league games. Phil Collins, Philadelphia recruit, defeated Cincinnati by 3 to 2, giving Burt Shotton's boys their third straight victory.

Memphis Blanks Mobile Tossers

Atlanta, May 9.—(AP)—The Memphis Chickasaws yesterday blanked Mobile 7 to 0 to score their fifth straight victory and forge to the front in the Southern Association standing.

New Orleans was ousted from the lead by losing to Little Rock 9 to 1. Atlanta fell before Birmingham in a double header 8 to 6 and 6 to 1. The Chattanooga, Nashville game at the latter city was postponed due to rain.

While the Macon Peaches, South Atlantic Association leaders, were forced to remain idle by rainy weather, Asheville, Charlotte and Greenville, rubbing elbows in a close fight of the first division, scored victories yesterday.

Charlotte scored six runs in the sixth to defeat Columbia 11 to 6 while the Asheville Tourists defeated Knoxville 7 to 4 to sweep the series. Greenville made it three in a row over Spartanburg winning 6 to 2.

Pensacola defeated Montgomery of the Southeastern league 3 to 2 in the only game of the circuit. Other contests were rained out.

HAGEN LEADS BRITISH OPEN IN SCOTLAND

Gulnare, Scotland, May 9.—(AP)—Lee Deuel with a smashing 69 took the lead away from Walter Hagen after 36 holes of play in the British open golf championship. Deuel's score for the two days was 140 while Hagen had compiled a 26 hole total of 142 with a score of 67 today.

Hagen's sensational round, two strokes under the course record set yesterday by Percy Alliss of Great Britain, gave the American star a 36 hole total of 142 and established him as a formidable contender for his fourth British open championship. "The Hag" captured Britain's chief golfing prize in 1922, 1924 and again last year.

Tied at 152, ten strokes behind Hagen, were Ed Dudley, young Wilmington, Del. pro, and two British entrants, T. P. Perkins, British amateur titleholder, and Henry Cotton, young pro. George Dunning, a veteran of many an open championship, was two strokes back with 154.

Scenes such as attended the winning of the championship itself, occurred around the big eighteenth green when Hagen returned his 67. The score marked the lowest round ever made in the open championship. It was a stroke lower than Bobby Jones' great 68 in the opening round at St. Andrews two years ago.

On the 18 holes, more than 6,600 yards long, Hagen never did worse than equal par on any hole. He scored five birdies and two eagles. Hagen played with supreme confidence all the way and his putting was as good as any he ever had done.

He came home in 34 for an 18 hole total of 67. His homeward journey was featured by an eagle three at the fourteenth, getting down with drive, brassie, and two yard out.

He played magnificent golf on his outward trip. Buttered near the green on his second at the first hole, the American pitched to within a foot of the hole for a birdie four. At the second he was on in two and needed two putts for a par four. He sank a five footer for a birdie three at the third and just barely missed a birdie two at the short fourth.

The long fifth is not likely to be reached in two today by even the longest drivers. Hagen was thirty yards short, and his approach far from satisfied him. Yet he rammed down a 25 foot putt for a birdie four. At the 450 yard sixth he sent a splendid spoon shot dead to the pin, leaving twelve feet beyond it. From here he holed in three for an eagle. The short seventh almost resulted in another birdie two.

He was bunkered off the tee at the eighth played out sideways and finally got down in five. He seemed to hit his brassie wrong at the ninth but the low flying shot restored only a foot off the green and he putted to within two feet of the cup and sank the next for a par four and 33.

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTES
"IT'S TOASTED"

Conflicting Arguments
have been unable to halt the rapidly increasing tendency of the public to adopt Lucky Strike as its favorite cigarette. Lucky Strike is a blend of choice tobaccos whose toasted flavor thrills the taste, whose toasting process eliminates impurities, and, as 20,679 physicians testify, makes Luckies less irritating. Toasting elevates Lucky Strike to a plane of quality which no other cigarette can approach. The constant care of experts assures the quality of Luckies. Its choice by millions proves its superiority and is the truthful answer to selfish claims.

COTTON MARKET

New York, May 9.—(AP)—Cotton opened barely steady today at a decline of 3 to 10 points and sold about 6 to 10 points net lower during the early trading. July declined to 18.73 and December to 18.70. The set-off was evidently promoted by reports that fertilizer tag sales for April had been very heavy as compared with last year and by private reports of beneficial rain in Texas. Initial offerings were quite readily absorbed by covering at the decline, however, and the market was comparatively quiet with prices holding fairly steady at rallies of a few points from the lowest by the end of the first half hour. Fertilizer tag sales in the 13 southern states showed an increase of 44 per cent for April as compared with last year, according to a report published this morning, and for the December-April period are with 3.6 per cent of sales for the same period last season.

STOCK MARKET

New York, May 9.—(AP)—Extreme nervousness over the credit situation was reflected in the highly irregular movement of prices in today's stock market. Prices started upward at the opening, turned sharply reactionary before mid-day and then made irregular recovery. Much of the day's selling is believed to have been inspired by the cautionary advices of some of the large commission houses, which suggested the possibility of a large increase in brokers' loans and a higher rediscount rate.

The mid-day selling movement was checked by the reduction in call money from 14 to 12 per cent, the first change in three days. Wall Street had been looking for easier money all week with the return to the banks of the May 1 disbursements. New York bankers have hesitated to provide the market with additional funds by taking advantage of the rediscount privilege, and out-of-town banks have sent little money here, probably because of increased local demands because of the recent sharp drop in the prices of some of the basic commodities.

Except for the increase in the annual dividend on U. S. Realty from $1 to $5 and the publication of another series of favorable earnings statements, there was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement. Professional traders seemed inclined to await the outcome of today's Federal Reserve meeting before extending their commitments, and small traders were scared by the continued high money rates which involve heavy carrying charges on marginal accounts.

High priced specialties for which there is a thin market were the hardest hit. Case Threshing broke 17 points, Union Carbide 8 1/2, United Drywood 6 1/4, Montgomery-Ward and Johns-Manville 4 3/4 each and U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Bethlehem Steel and probably two score others dropped 2 to 4 points. These issues were slow in showing any signs of recovery. On the other hand, radio, which dropped 3 3/4 points, quickly rallied 3 points. General Electric snapped back from 282 1/2 to 290 and United Aircraft from 150 1/4 to 155 1/2.

Utilities were in the forefront of the early afternoon rally. American Power and Light quickly moving up more than 3 points and American and Foreign Power 1 1/4.

Rails failed to make much response to the excellent current earnings and tariff reports. Lacka-

Black Mountain Girl To Be Presented To Court of Queen Mary

Black Mountain, May 9.—(AP)—Miss Lillian Emerson, daughter of Mrs. Frank S. Terry, of Black Mountain, who with her mother has been spending the winter months in Europe will be among the eight Americans to be presented at the first Court of Queen Mary at Buckingham Palace tonight. Mrs. Ray Atherton, wife of the American Charge d' Affairs, will be Miss Emerson's sponsor.

This is not Miss Emerson's first visit to Buckingham Palace when she was a small child she toured Europe with her mother and as an aesthetic dancing had attracted wide attention, she was invited to dance before the Crowned heads at Buckingham Palace.

Mrs. Terry and Miss Emerson have been in Paris for several weeks but recently went to London to prepare for the debutante to be presented at the court of Saint James.
