SCORES DEAD RESULT OF HOSPITAL BLAST

CLEVELAND CLINIC HOSPITAL WRECKED BY BLAST AND FIRE SHORTLY AFTER NOON TODAY

Devastating Fire Follows Double Explosion In X-Ray Room; Victims Included Patients, Nurses And Doctors; Several Reported Missing As Police Make Frantic Effort To Check Tragedy.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 15.—(AP)—Eighty-eight persons are known to have lost their lives and scores were injured in an explosion and fire at the Cleveland Clinic Hospital here today. Police said the death list might run as high as 91. Most of those killed were patients of the hospital.

A few were believed to be nurses and doctors.

Two hours after the building took fire, all of its occupants had been removed and the fire had been extinguished.

Most of the fatalities were the result of fire, but many were believed to have been suffocated by poisonous fumes from burning chemicals. Some of the dead turned a ghastly green color when they were removed from the building, spectators said.

Hardly two hours were required to complete the tragedy. With the first alarm, all available fire apparatus in the eastern part of the city was rushed to the hospital which is located at Euclid avenue and East 93rd street.

Scores of firemen battled scorching flames while others donned gas masks and risked their lives inside the building in rescue work. Some of the patients were removed through windows. One group of patients, doctors and nurses were taken off the roof.

Some of the victims were burned horribly. Others were crying out in fright and bewilderment. They were rushed as fast as possible to nearby hospitals.

Scores of bodies were brought out of the building with the firemen unknowing whether the bodies were dead or alive. The majority were dead.

Many of those who remained living a few hours after the fire, were expected by doctors to be added shortly to the list of dead.

The scenes of the explosion and fire were ghastly. Some of the patients screamed horribly with fright as they saw deadly gas creep upon them while they lay in bed, helpless to move.

Tragedy stared them in the face and they were helpless. Some who were rescued broke into hysterical tears as they were carried from the building but many screamed with the pain of awful burns.

The agony of those stricken by the fire vied in aspect of horror with the convulsions of other patients and nurses who clutched at their throats and gasped for breath as they suffered the torments of poison gas.

A check by firemen revealed that the explosions occurred in x-ray films stored in the basement. Several tanks of oxygen, compressed by the heat, let go, adding to the intensity of the flames.

Upon the explosion bromide gas, compounded in the films, was released in dense brown clouds according to a pharmacist at the building.

The deadly bromide, which burns out the sensitive tissues of the nose, mouth and lungs, caused the victims to bleed profusely at the eyes, nose and mouth.

KING GEORGE RETURNS TO HIS FIRESIDE

British Monarch Regains Health During Long Stay At English Health Resort.

Windsor, Eng., May 15.—(AP)—King George came back to his own fireside in this ancient home of British sovereigns today like a conquering hero.

All Windsor and the surrounding countryside were out to welcome their monarch back after his long illness which for many weary months had kept him from them.

The king, accompanied by Queen Mary, had a remarkable reception throughout the two and a quarter hours trip from Craigwell House, Bognor, where the king had spent several months of convalescence. But it remained for the "old home town" to outdo all the others as it welcomed again its most prominent resident.

Bognor, Eng., May 15.—(AP)—After a stay of 13 1-2 weeks at Craigwell House, where he slowly regained his health after a long and serious illness, King George, accompanied by Queen Mary, left today for Windsor Castle.

The inhabitants of the district marked the occasion by a lavish display of flags and bunting along the promenade and streets leading out of the town. They turned out in crowds to bid good-bye to the royal visitor.

King George appeared in good spirits and smiled and waved his hat continually as the procession of three cars, containing Queen Mary and himself, his doctors and his nurses, moved slowly through Bognor and out to Windsor. The crowds cheered him continually.

At the grandstand at Bognor a short halt was made while a member of the town council made a short address wishing His Majesty good-speed and a complete restoration of health. The king replied to him briefly.

Almost the last action of the king and queen at Craigwell House was to distribute souvenirs to all the servants and marines who have attended them during their stay. Each man received either a pair of gold cuff links or a gold scarf pin with the royal monogram in blue enamel.

Paul Yelverton of Wilson, state secretary, was to make his report today also.

About 200 delegates were in attendance with Dan G. Shaw of New Bern, president, presiding. W. G. Jones of Nashville, was another speaker at the morning session.

An entertainment program will be given tonight, sponsored by the Salesman's Club. The convention will end tomorrow afternoon.

were members of the board of trustees. An eye witness story by Mrs. Irene Lentz of Parsons, W. Va., at the hospital waiting for a physical examination, described the approach of the ghastly brown wall of bromide gas as it trapped and strangled its victims.

Hunger Strike Ends At Citadel

Charleston, S. C., May 15.—(AP)—The cadet corps of the Citadel, the military college of South Carolina, dropped its "hunger strike" this morning at breakfast.

The cadets had protested, among other things, that "synthetic" eggs or egg powders were used in the scrambled eggs served them in the mess hall. This morning they were given hard boiled eggs and ate them.

"There was nothing synthetic in them," one of the officers declared.

Yesterday the entire cadet corps, even though it marched in and out of the mess hall as usual, refused to eat the food served as a protest against lack of variety and the kind of food served, the students said.

RUSSIANS TO GET FREEDOM IN RELIGION

Restrictions On Religious Worship To Be Removed In Soviet Centers.

Moscow, May 15.—(AP)—Constitutional restrictions on religion in Soviet Russia probably soon will be removed and the country made free for all religious practice. The move however will not so much that the country may gain such benefits as religions may offer as that the communistic war against them may be waged better when they are brought into the open.

The removal of the restrictions will be effected by means of an amendment to the Soviet constitution which Alexei Rykoff, chairman of the Council of People's Commissars, told the all-Russian Congress of Soviets yesterday soon would be proposed to them.

Decrees fighting religion have proved to bring harm as well as benefit, M. Rykoff commented, explaining that the Congress would be called upon to ratify an amendment providing for separation of church and state, church and schools, and granting all citizens the right of religious practice, as well as of anti-religious propaganda.

From his speech it was to be distinctly inferred that the Soviet was not abandoning its attempts to discredit religion but was seeking simply to proceed along different lines, by, in effect, removing the stimulus of persecution.

The Soviet government disestablished the church and appropriated certain classifications of its property by a decree of January 23, 1918. At first there were violent attacks on the Greek Orthodox Church, the prevailing religion of Russia, which the Soviet state considered one of its greatest enemies.

There followed a period of milder suppressive measure and finally indifference toward the practice of religions by the older generation, while the state concentrated on the spread of atheistic and materialistic doctrines among the youth.

Opposition To Proposed Agricultural Schedule Causes Grave Concern

Washington, May 11.—(AP)—The House ways and means committee Republicans who drafted the pending tariff bill were still concerned today with the objections raised against the proposed agricultural schedule by the representatives from ten western farm states.

Only five members of the group were heard at their first session yesterday under the plan to consider suggestions for changes and advance those found acceptable as committee proposals with privileged status after the measure is taken up for amendment late this week or early next week.

Many of the farm group members remained to be heard by the committee today, together with some eastern representatives who are dissatisfied with various provisions in the bill and the committee appointed by the group interested in cattle production and grazing to work for higher rates on livestock and transfer of hides and leather from the free to the dutiable list.

The rate increases proposed thus far by the farm group have to do with cotton, wool, casein, flax and flaxseed. Both the committee bill and the proclamation issued yesterday by President Hoover putting into effect proposals of the tariff commission under the flexible provisions of the present law provide for an increase in the flaxseed from 40 to 56 cents a bushel, but Representative Burton, Republican of North Dakota, urged that it be raised to 70 cents.

Take-Off Today Delayed, Graf Zeppelin To Begin Flight To U. S. Thursday

Friedrichshafen, May 15.—(AP)—The departure of the Graf Zeppelin for the United States was definitely set late today for between 5:30 a. m. and 6 a. m. Central European time, tomorrow (between 11:30 p. m. and 12 midnight Eastern Standard time, Wednesday).

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, reached this decision on the advice of the Berlin authorities who suggested that he should not seek to make a midnight start.

About the same time it was announced by Captain Von Schiller that Mrs. Mary Pierce, of New York, had cancelled her passage. She was the only woman on the passenger list, but had been begged by her husband and mother by transatlantic telephone and cable to give up her intention.

Paris, May 15.—(AP)—The French foreign office today said that the delay in granting Dr. Hugo Eckener a permit to fly the Graf Zeppelin over France en route to the United States was really caused by the French desire to assist the Zeppelin every way in mapping out the best possible course across France.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, May 15.—(AP)—Passengers and crew of the Graf Zeppelin, giant dirigible, loitered away a day at Friedrichshafen today, victims of a French aviation restriction.

Differences involving the German foreign office, the Zeppelin company, and the French government were believed settled at least temporarily, however, and at least there was hope that tomorrow the dirigible would cross France en route to Lakewood, N. J. Favorable weather was forecast.

Start, postponed from 6:30 a. m. today, was set for 5:30 a. m. (12:30 a. m. E. D. S. T.) Thursday. The French permit to fly over that country made mandatory that the crossing be completed by 9 a. m.

The presumption here was that French officialdom considered the early morning hours not so propitious for possible aerial observation, and photography of French military defenses as the later and brighter hours. There was no official explanation of the restriction.

Passengers and crew took the delay of nearly 24 hours with good humor, although the peculiar circumstances of the delay in receiving authorization to fly over France and the restrictions contained when the authorization did come excited some mystification.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, the dirigible's master, particularly was piqued. He said this was the third time he had had "Schweineerei" (piggy dealings) with the French.

"They delayed the permit for our first American flight and also for the second trip," he said.

Eckener claimed, despite Paris dispatches which said the permit had been forwarded long ago, not to have received it until after 9:30 p. m. yesterday, too late to assemble the ground crew necessary for the takeoff for Wednesday morning.

Sharing interest with speculation as to the circumstances of the French authorization incident were the arrival and subsequent actions of Mrs. Mary Pierce, of Park avenue, New York, who arrived early yesterday with a maid and chauffeur after speeding across Italy, Switzerland and Germany.

CHICAGO MAN TESTIFIES AT PAPER PROBE

Publisher Says He Discussed Proposed Purchase Of Papers With Power Co.

Washington, May 15.—(AP)—Testimony that he had discussed with officials of the International Paper and Power Company during the summer of 1928 proposal for the purchase of more than a dozen newspaper properties was given today before the Federal Trade Commission, co-owner of the Bryan-Thomson Newspapers, Inc.

Mr. Thomson, in his testimony, mentioned the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the Columbus, Ohio, Dispatch, the Kansas City Star, the Milwaukee Journal, the Detroit Free Press, the Cleveland Plain Dealer, the Cleveland News, the Newark, N. J., Evening News, the South Bend, Ind., News-Times, the Philadelphia Inquirer, the Indianapolis News, the Minneapolis Star, the Buffalo Times, "The Booth papers in Michigan, and the Star League newspapers in Indiana."

Appearing before the commission's investigation into the newspaper financial holdings of the International Paper Company is a subsidiary, Mr. Thomson at the outset of his testimony outlined his newspaper career and business partnership with John Stewart Bryan, publisher of the Richmond, Va., News-Leader, Mr. Bryan was a spectator in the commission hearing room.

Mr. Thomson testified that he had been business manager and later vice-president and general manager of the Chicago Tribune from June, 1918, to February, 1927. In February, 1927, he added, he became associated with Mr. Bryan and the "invested $650,000 in the Tampa, Fla., Tribune. He said they signed the contract for the purchase of this newspaper in February and took possession of it about March 13.

Questioned about his acquaintances with Joe Fearing, vice-president and sales manager of the International Paper Company, Mr. Thomson said Fearing came "to see me in Tampa in the early winter of 1928."

"He told me that the International Paper Company was interested in financing any newspaper purchased I might be interested in, providing they could get a long term news print paper contract," he testified.

The witness declared that he became interested in the purchase of a newspaper in Chicago which culminated in the buying of the Chicago Journal by the Bryan-Thomson Newspapers, Incorporated, soon after the purchase of the Tampa Tribune.

"I wanted to get into the newspaper business in Chicago as I had lived there all my life," Mr. Thomson said. He added that they purchased the Chicago Journal in May, 1928.

Under questioning Mr. Thomson testified that he and Mr. Bryan owned all of the stock of the Tampa Tribune except ten shares possessed by their attorney and a small block owned by E. R. Goebel, a Chicago advertising man.

Two Charged With Violating Mann Act

Danville, Va., May 15.—(AP)—A hearing before United States Commissioner C. T. Barksdale was to be given here today to Taylor Motley and Ernest Neff of this city, on charges of violating the Mann act.

Miss Martha Lee Gardner of Baltimore, and Miss Kathleen Vaughan of Clarksville, Va., in their complaint say the youths after promising to take them to a drug store near Averett College here, where they are students, sped across the North Carolina line with them.

They say they were put out of the car at four o'clock in the morning, forty miles from Danville, and told to walk home.

Motley and Neff deny the charge.

Zeppelin Plans Another Flight To U. S. In July

Berlin, May 15.—(AP)—While the Graf Zeppelin was awaiting her second take-off for New York, a third flight to the United States late in July was announced through the Hamburg-American Line today.

It also was stated that the return trip will be for American passengers the beginning of a round-the-world cruise of which Tokyo, San Diego and Lakehurst are now fixed landing points.

A third announcement was that a "midnight sun trip" will be made late in June over Lapland and the Norwegian coast to the Arctic circle.

HIGH SCHOOL TO STAGE TAG DAY THURSDAY

Effort To Be Made To Liquidate Debt Of The Athletic Association.

Tomorrow will be known as High School Athletic Day in Greenville. At that time an effort will be made to raise enough money to completely eradicate the debt of the Athletic Association. This attempt will be made by a group of the High School students who will solicit funds from local citizens all during the day.

Every person who contributes to the fund will be given a tag to wear to show that he is a loyal supporter of G. H. S. athletics.

A summary of athletic contests for the past three years shows that the High School has participated in 122 interscholastic athletic contests. Out of that number they have won 91 and lost 31. They have won the Conference championship in basketball, gone to the semifinals of the state championship in football, and defeated the Eastern champions in baseball. It is a record that every citizen of Greenville should be proud of and is worthy of better support than has been given the teams.

To finish off the day in a befitting manner, a conference baseball game between the locals and Kinston has been arranged. Kinston won the conference championship in baseball last year, and tomorrow's battle will decide the race for second place. The game will start promptly at 4 o'clock and it is hoped that enough people will take part in tomorrow's affairs to insure the starting of a new season free from all encumbrances.

Episcopal Church To Elect Officers

Henderson, N. C., May 15.—(AP)—Election of officers was on the second day's program of the 113th annual convention of the Diocese of North Carolina, Protestant Episcopal Church, here today with two business sessions scheduled and final adjournment set for 5 o'clock this afternoon.

At yesterday afternoon's business session the convention decided, after a lengthy debate, to make a campaign next fall for $12,000 to wipe out a diocese debt incurred by a gift to Sewanee University in Tennessee this to be directed by Bishop Edwin A. Penick.

The forward movement budget of approximately $77,000 was adopted, providing for missionary, educational and orphanage causes.

Henry M. London, of Raleigh, diocese treasurer, reported 98 per cent collection of the 1928 budget, and J. R. Wilkes, of Charlotte, treasurer of the forward movement, reported all obligations for that cause had been met.

Albert L. Cox and Gavin Dortch, both of Raleigh were re-elected trustees of the diocese for one year.

RAYON STRIKE SITUATION IS TENSE TODAY

Martial Law At Elizabethton To Be Considered By Governor Of Tennessee.

Elizabethton, Tenn., May 15.—(AP)—Interest in the rayon workers' strike situation here centered today in the state capitol at Nashville where a conference between Governor Henry H. Horton and Adjutant General W. C. Boyd on the advisability of martial law, was in prospect.

Public apprehension over the disorders yesterday which resulted in the arrest of more than 300 strikers was intensified last night with the explosion of two dynamite sticks in an orchard at the home of S. J. Bowling, midway between Elizabethton and Johnson City.

Colonel H. S. Roschell, who dispatched a detachment of guardsmen to the scene, said Bowling told him he had been warned by strikers that his home would be bombed if he allowed his four daughters to continue their work in the American Bemberg rayon plant here.

Bowling said he believed the dynamite was thrown from one of several automobiles which "passed his home last night. Little damage was done."

Colonel Roschell asserted that the situation here had become so acute that he thought it probable martial law would be declared.

A statement was given out from the office of Adjutant General Boyd yesterday saying he would confer with Governor Horton probably today regarding the placing of martial law over the strike zone.

Arrest of the strikers yesterday was on charges of intimidating employees returning to the two rayon plants here, and although most of them were released, Bill Peir, special policeman responsible for a large number of arrests was in jail charged with "attempt to commit murder" by training a gun upon the strikers. He was unable to give bond.

Fair said he arrested 150 of the strikers when they stopped buses filled with workers riding to the plants. The jail here was too small to accommodate them and they were held in the Carter county court house, being released two hours later by Attorney General Ben Allen after he had warned them to leave the other workers alone.

Today union leaders were anticipating the arrival of approximately 70 delegates to the annual convention of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, which has been in session at Knoxville this week, and which voted yesterday to come to this town in a body this morning to gain a first hand knowledge of the strike situation.

Operations at the Bemberg and Glangstoff plants were re-opened on a small scale last week with the announced plan of "gradual resumption" of activities until the point of full production is reached. Claims of officials of the rayon plants that sufficient workers were on hand to carry through this program continued to meet denial from union leaders.

Council To Hear "Yellow" Journal Charges Tonight

Chapel Hill, May 15.—(AP)—Action by the student council of the University of North Carolina on the charges of publishing libelous and indecent matter that have been brought against the 18 student members of the university chapter of Sigma Upsilon, national literary fraternity, was expected today to be taken at a meeting of the council called for tonight.

All testimony in the case was finished at a late hour last night. The council heard from individual members of the fraternity their part in publication of the Yellow Journal, annual scandal sheet of the fraternity in which the alleged indecent stories were published. The newspaper was issued last Friday.

The charges were brought against the fraternity group by 17 faculty members of it and the student council. The faculty members resigned after publication of this year's number of the Yellow Journal.

GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

SYNOPSIS: Nathan Hyde, antique dealer, finally admits that the famous Alex Peterson revolver, which he sold to John Peebles, was brought to him by Furie, desert-rat, who visited Andrew Ogden a few hours before Ogden was slain. Hyde then reveals the startling fact that Ogden had demanded to know what he had done with the weapon.

A coroner's jury charges the fugitive Jerry with killing his father, Henry Deacon, chief of police, makes an amazing discovery—another Peterson revolver, gold-mounted and loaded with gold bullets—in Ogden's desk.

Chapter 15. SHADOWS OF OGDEN'S PAST
I scarcely heard what MacNair said. Deacon's discovery had astonished me less than it had shocked my moral sense, for all day the strands of the evidence had been towards the conclusion implied by the finding of the pistol in Ogden's room. "You have given us another fact to build a theory on, Deacon," he was saying. "A fact hard and square, fast and real."

Alex Peterson—Andrew Ogden—one and the same man.

"The theory?" Henry demanded, bluntly.
"Very well," MacNair began. "Consider the facts. This man Furie calls on Hyde yesterday afternoon. Hubbard overhears Ogden shout the two words 'gold bullets.' Furie the same man."

Again he paused.
"I suggest, furthermore," MacNair continued ruthlessly, "that Dillon blackmailed Ogden because of something that happened when Ogden was Alex Peterson, that the man 'Jerry' was a close relative—a brother, perhaps—or close friend of Peterson's (so close, in fact, that Ogden called his own son after him); and that the poker chips and the deck of cards symbolize the indiscretion for which Ogden was blackmailed."
"Sounds reasonable," Deacon growled.
MacNair bowed ironically. "By the way," he resumed, "I wonder if either of you have forgotten the so-called legend of the 'poker game' that cracked the town?"
I jumped at this. "You mean that fool yarn about Peterson playing poker for a human life?" I stormed.
"My dear Watson! I was merely dropping a seed into the ground made fertile by our recent discoveries. If that poker game should prove to be a fact it might have had something to do with Ogden's death."

"It isn't a fact," I said doggedly. But I wasn't so sure, for he had carried me along with the sweep of his logic. "What about those pieces of quartz?" I demanded. "There should be motive enough for you."
"I was coming to them. One specimen was in Ogden's desk, the other was in Hyde's. I believe Furie could tell us something about them. At any rate, they bring Hyde into the affair—this lawyer, Roy Hammond, too, perhaps. For all I know Hyde may be Dillon, but it doesn't follow because Dillon blackmailed Ogden that he also killed him. But to return to the quartz. You told me something about this 'Two Brothers' mine of Ogden's. I wonder why Ogden called it the 'Two Brothers.' You said young Jerry wanted to open the mine and that Ogden refused to let him touch it. Interesting situation, don't you think?"

"You are trying to build their difference of opinion into a motive!" I charged.
MacNair grinned. "Don't fume so, Peebles. The cost of mining gold has gone down, but for this reason Ogden should have let his son open the mine unless he had a better reason for keeping it closed. He doesn't seem to have given the boy the real reason."
Henry nodded. "It looks that way to me."
"Now take these specimens of gold-bearing ore," MacNair went on. "Suppose they came from the 'Two Brothers'—perhaps from a new vein Ogden didn't know of—"

"That won't do," I objected. "The mine is closed. Half the mountain-side slid down in front of it years ago."
"There may be an exposed vein somewhere. Let us assume Jerry found it. Naturally, he would want to exploit his discovery. His father refuses to let him touch it and gives him no adequate reason for doing so. They become angry. Anger turns to rage and, well—there you are."
"Yes!" I exploded. "Nowhere at all. In the first place, if these two specimens came from a new vein in the 'Two Brothers,' Hyde, also, knows of that vein; in the second place, you yourself expressed the opinion that Furie was an old prospector and that he knew something about the specimens, too; in the third place, you haven't got rid of Dillon yet. I don't see why the greed motive shouldn't be as strongly operative in one man as in another."
"Neither do I," he said, "but unfortunately for your argument, which expresses my point of view so far as it goes, the other evidence implicates young Ogden and not Hyde or Furie. As for Dillon, I'll show you him dead or alive before I'm done. There's Mrs. Lundy, too. Ogden didn't give her $1,000 for nothings."

His arguments were sound, but before I could reply Deacon spoke. "There's sense in what he says, John. You might as well admit it. I'm sorry, but I can't get it out of my head that the boy did it. He may have come to blows with Andrew about the mine."
"He wouldn't have stabbed his father in the back while he sat at the telephone!" I retorted indignantly. "Get your hands on James Dillon and you'll have Ogden's murderer, Henry. And don't forget that Polyandria marked your man."
"Where is Jerry? Can Lucy and her uncle prove his innocence? Startling developments in tomorrow's chapter."

WRIGHT TELLS OF EDUCATION IN THIS STATE

Local College Head Says Schools to Run Just About Like They Have In Past.

President Robt. H. Wright talked to the student body this morning about the educational outlook of the state from the standpoint of teacher employment. He called attention to the liberal interpretations that has been put upon the Hancock law and expressed his belief that the people of the state are going to continue education of their children and running their schools just about as they have in the past few years.

He called attention further to the fact that about 25 per cent of the graduates for this year have been placed and that this is about as large a per cent of the graduates as were placed at this time last year. It is probable that a good many superintendents are waiting for further information from the Equalization Board or for approval of budgets to hire new teachers for the coming year.

Dr. Wright's advice to the students was to prepare themselves the very best possible for their profession and that the job would take care of itself.

Hams—Hams—Hams.

A golden opportunity for a famous Onslow county ham. Don't neglect. I am off today to the finest fields of these famous hams and will secure the best to be had if possible. Speaking about neglect and carelessness, I am forcibly reminded of an instance that happened in my career that was possibly a turning point in my life to my good and all that meant best for me. I don't care to be personal in advertising, but once upon a time, a charming, beautiful little widow when I braced up nerve and courage enough to ask her to be mine, she lowly whispered, "I will if you will only be true and good—by a little neglect and carelessness another fellow captivated her and I am lonely today without her and many times I have sighed for one glance of her eye."

About forty-five years ago I happened to be a freshman in Dr. Thomas Hume's class (professor of English), at Chapel Hill. Many a time, as others remember, I have seen him rap on his desk and speak out in thunder tones. You insignificant, careless, and neglectful freshmen, you are missing the golden opportunity of your life, by not having your recitations prepared. You owe it to your guardian and to your parents to awaken and be up and doing. You are missing the golden opportunity of your life.

Dr. Thomas Hume got 'em told of their golden opportunity, many of the best men of the state, namely, Gov. Charles B. Aycock, who fell in Birmingham, Ala., espousing the cause of education, who said that every child should have and take advantage of an education, regardless of financial conditions, race or color, to make North Carolina a great state; Dr. Charles D. McIver, who established the Normal Industrial Female College at Greensboro, the greatest female college in the state and probably in the whole south, who said that every mother, the head of a family should have an education. Last but not least, our own Dr. R. H. Wright, president of East Carolina Teachers College, the educational center of Eastern North Carolina, and our own Mayor, J. C. Lanier, all of them, Dr. Thomas Hume got 'em told of the golden opportunities of the state of North Carolina.

People of Greenville and Pitt county, the greatest bright leaf tobacco county in the world, although it may come from a humble source, if you have not acquired one of these hams, and when they are so delicious, so appetizing and so good, you are missing a golden opportunity. Call Everything possible is done to create a defeatist atmosphere. The wet press will take sides against the United States Government when such an incident occurs on the high seas as the sinking of the rum runner, "I'm Alone." In Chicago, New York and other cities the press bombardment against the enforcement of prohibition is so constant, so mocking and even so vicious in its bitterness that it would be extraordinary if city juries could be found willing to convict speak-easy proprietors, not to mention smart, breezy night club hostesses.

SUMPTUARY ANARCHY
 The hypothesis on which the organized opposition to prohibition is working contemplates eventual victory by the "fanatics" and the "fanciers" are expected to die in their beds. The "reasonable" drys are expected to be persuaded sooner or later that prohibition is hopeless and to join in an irresistible movement to revise the eighteenth amendment. In the meantime, the wets will do their utmost to break down enforcement laws so that the "reasonable" drys will be confronted with the actual collapse of the prohibition experiment.

The "reasonable" drys were not born yesterday, however. It is very obvious to them that a systematic effort has long been in progress to prevent the practical success of prohibition. This effort is not confined to drinkers and bootleggers. It has extensive and significant support among publicists, politicians and the press.

and nothing but nullification is within the power of the wets for years to come—no one knows how many. For, so long as the eighteenth amendment stays fast, no statute of restrictive regulation that is not substantially in accord with its principle could survive attack in the United States Supreme Court.

What follows from these premises? The war between wets and drys, on its present lines, means not compromise and appeasement but a dead lock between two sides that have dug themselves in. The wets may break down prohibition, but they will face sumptuary anarchy. For this reason, if for no other, law observance and law enforcement in sumptuary affairs are imperative—and that, too, whatever the law might be. In this business, law is the ship, all else is the sea.—Springfield Republican.

Prince To Play Hagen
 Leeds, England, May 15.—(AP)—The Evening News says today that the Prince of Wales will play a golf match with Walter Hagen Saturday or Sunday. The newspaper says that the Prince has expressed a desire to have a round with Hagen and it will be played on some southern course Sunday if Hagen reaches the finals in the Thousand Guineas tournament which are to be played Saturday. If Hagen is eliminated before Saturday at Moortown the match will be played then.

KINSTON WINS SLUGGING BEE FROM LOCALS

Anything may be expected to happen when Kinston and Greenville meet in baseball. This fact was amply borne out here yesterday afternoon when the Eagles made it two out of three by defeating Les Bangs' Tobacconists to the tune of 15 to 12.

Many an exhibition has been witnessed at the fair grounds, since the Eastern Carolina League began functioning two years ago, but none like this one will ever be seen again. It was a regular jamboree for both clubs, and the way they slugged the ball would have brought gladness to the hearts of some of the major league outfits where they are able to pile up only five or six hits a game.

Each of the managers exhausted his supply of mound artists in an effort to check the irresistible advance of the batsmen, but it couldn't be done. Manager Bangs sent the veteran ace, Deacon Joliff, to the mound in an effort to take the final game of the series from the visitors, but he was sent to the showers in slightly over one inning. Cherry, a recent acquisition to the pitching staff, was sent to the relief of the veteran, but he was wilder than the proverbial March hare and had to be pulled before he had gone much over an inning.

sacker, was sent to the rescue. Usually calm and unmoved with the bases full and a hit needed to score a winning run, Jones was as nervous as a young colt and his southpaw flings at the plate either made the batters hit the ground or take a walk to first.

Bangs found a way out of his difficulty in the sixth by sending the bespectacled Garbee to the slaughter pen. He, too, was wild and found it impossible to spike the visitors' artillery, but he was a vast improvement over his predecessors, and was at least able to give the batters something to hit.

Kinston started out with blood in their eyes. In the first two innings they scored five runs. Greenville tied the count in the second, and Kinston got busy immediately and sent four more tallies to the checking station. They added three more in the fifth and sixth. Greenville's runs continued dribbling in until the seventh when the count of 12 was tied by Bangs who stole home while the players were giving too much time to a play at second.

While the bombardment continued intermittently during the next game no runners were able to reach home. But in the ninth, Manager Roper sent in to the plate and dropped the ball over the centerfield fence, putting the game on ice for his club. His followers, however, had not gained sufficient revenge for the defeat here the opening day and hammered out two more runs before they ended their labors.

Greenville second baseman, drew much applause by somersaulting after a safe catch of a fly ball. The box score follows:

Would you—spend $1000 or more for the same value that $845 will buy?

Not if you knew the facts—you wouldn't.

- Not if you stopped to consider that De Soto is the only Chrysler-built six whose entire price range falls below $1000.
- Not if you understood and fully appreciated that the designers of De Soto Six are the identical group of engineers who created the first, and all subsequent Chrysler cars. The inference is plain and unmistakable.
- Not if you knew that the Chrysler principle of Standardized Quality continually operates to endow De Soto Six with features that enhance safety and comfort, and confer a performance ability comparable only with costlier motor cars.
- Not if you bore in mind that, as a product of Chrysler Motors, De Soto Six shares all the advantages of a common policy of engineering, purchasing, manufacturing and financing—and plainly reflects these advantages in the value it offers.
- Not if you followed the obvious and sensible plan of safeguarding your investment by permitting us to put a De Soto Six at your disposal long enough for you to prove to yourself that it represents a greater value at its price range than you could possibly obtain from any other source.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET N. Y. STOCK LIST

New York, May 15. (AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 7 to 12 points under selling promoted by relatively heavy Liverpool cables but soon steadied on apprehensions of an early renewal of rains or showers in the south. Covering was rather active with some of the buying attributed to expectations of unfavorable features in the weekly report of the weather bureau and after the initial decline to 18.63, July rallied to 18.54, while December advanced from 18.56 to 18.62. Orders seemed to be rather more evenly divided at these prices and the market was quiet at the end of the first half hour with the active months showing net declines of about 4 to 6 points. Private cables said the Liverpool market had been depressed by local, continental and Bombay liquidation on reports of better weather in the south and that Manchester business was slow in developing.

Table with columns: Jan, Feb, Mar, Apr, May, June, July, Aug, Sept, Oct, Nov, Dec. Rows for various commodities like Cotton, Grain, etc.

GRAIN MARKET

Table with columns: High, Low, Close. Rows for Wheat, Corn, Oats, Rye, Barley, etc.

STOCK MARKET

New York, May 15. (AP)—High call money rates again proved an insurmountable barrier to speculators for the advance in today's stock market. Although the recovery in prices, which started late yesterday, was resumed after the opening of today's market and continued in the face of a general rate of 10 per cent for call money, the subsequent advance in the rate to 12 per cent, due to the heavy withdrawal of funds for mid-month disbursement, caused a renewal of selling pressure. Recent strength of the so-called "Morgan stock," particularly General Electric, and the unofficial assurances from Washington that no increase in the New York Federal Reserve Bank was likely this week, tended to revive speculative confidence in the market which had been badly shaken by the scarcity of call money. Pools succeeded in marking up about a score issues to new high levels in the early hours of buying today, but the small speculators were reluctant to follow up the advance.

Pitt Negro Is Paroled Today

Raleigh, May 15. (AP)—Governor Gardner today paroled the following prisoners: Grover Biggan, white, of Vance county, sentenced in March, 1928, to serve two to four years for statutory rape. Josh Commander, white, Pasquotank county, sentenced in June, 1928, to serve two to four years for seduction. Albert Hall, negro, Pitt county, who had served nearly ten years of a 10 to 20 year sentence for manslaughter. The paroles were recommended by N. A. Townsend, the executive counsel.

TEMPERATURES FAVORABLE IN THE COTTON BELT

Washington, May 15. (AP)—The Department of Agriculture's weekly weather and crop bulletin for the week ended yesterday says in the southern portion of the cotton belt temperatures in general were rather favorable, but it was too cool in the north, while heavy rains were unfavorable in many places west of the Mississippi river, especially in the north-west district. In the eastern half of the belt the first part of the week was too cloudy and wet, with cool nights, but the latter part was more favorable, with considerable sunshine and warmer weather prevailing. Stands are mostly spotted and warmer weather is generally needed.
