COL. SKINNER PASSES AWAY AT HOME HERE

Former U. S. District Attorney And Congressman Buried This Afternoon.

Colonel Harry Skinner, former U. S. District Attorney and Congressman, and one of the best known attorneys in North Carolina, passed away at his home on Fourth street yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Death came after an illness extending over a period of several months. He was 74 years of age.

Funeral services were conducted from his late home this afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. W. A. Lillycrop, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church. Burial was made in Cherry Hill cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Active—Frank Brown, Ficklen Arthur, W. H. Dall, L. G. Cooper, F. M. Park, W. I. Skinner, B. E. Sugg, H. A. White.

Honorary—W. J. Bundy, Julius Brown, M. K. Blount, S. T. Carson, D. M. Clark, A. B. Corey, Albion Dunn, W. A. Darden, J. B. Euse, J. I. Everett, E. G. Flanagan, Louis Gaylord, J. L. Little, J. C. Green, J. C. Gaskins, F. C. Harding, P. R. Hines, J. F. Harrington, Dr. Hassel, F. G. James, J. B. James, Dink James, J. C. Lanier, R. B. Lee, R. T. Martin, (Farmville), B. W. Moseley, J. R. Moye, J. G. Moye, K. A. Pittman, N. B. Prescott (Ayden), W. G. Shepard (Farmville), W. M. Scales, J. H. Taylor (Farmville), Ray Tyson, Frank Wilson, William Tyson, R. Williams, W. B. Wilson, Burney Warren, W. L. Whedbee, S. O. Worthington, F. M. Wooten, O. W. Joyner.

Harry Skinner's position as president of the North Carolina Bar Association in 1915-16, not to mention the many other professional and public honors which he enjoyed, gave his career a special interest to the citizens of North Carolina, and especially to the members of the bar among whom he was prominent.

Colonel Skinner was born in Perquimans county, May 25, 1855, the son of James C. and Elmira Ward Skinner. He was a direct descendant of the large and influential family of Skinners from the Albemarle section of the state, whose character, means and influence have in a large measure shaped the history and development of that section. He was a direct descendant from Gen. William Skinner, of the Revolutionary War. His great-grandfather, Hon. John Skinner, served with credit in the Legislature and in the State Senate for many years. The grandfather, Hon. Harry Skinner, for whom the Greenville lawyer was named, also represented for many years his county and district in the Legislature and in the State Senate.

James C. Skinner, his father, was a man of great force of character and brilliant mind, and in antebellum days a large slave and landholder. He took a prominent part in public affairs, being a delegate to the National Democratic convention of 1860, at the time of the division of the Democratic party. He represented the First senatorial district in the Senate of North Carolina in 1870-72, and took part in the impeachment trial of Governor W. W. Holden.

Harry Skinner spent his boyhood in his native county, attending Hertford Academy. In 1873, at a time when the University of North Carolina was in eclipse, he entered the University of Kentucky at Lexington and was graduated from that school in June, 1875. In August of the same year he moved to Greenville, where he continued his studies under the direction of Major L. C. Latham. At the January term, 1876, of the Supreme Court he was licensed to practice law, and at once formed a partnership with his preceptor, under the style of Latham & Skinner. This continued until the death of Major Latham in 1894. The firm enjoyed a large and lucrative practice, the senior member being recognized as one of the best equipped all-around trial lawyers in Eastern North Carolina. After the death of Major Latham, Mr. Skinner formed a partnership with his nephew, the late H. W. Whedbee, which continued until Judge Whedbee's elevation to the bench in 1911.

The public service of Colonel Skinner was notable. In 1901 he was appointed United States district attorney, serving eight years. He was appointed for a second term, without having to file any petition, and sometime in advance of the expiration of his first term. His work as United States district attorney was characterized with such efficiency and with such a general satisfaction to the department of justice that it was generally taken for granted on the death of Hon. T. R. Purnell, United States district judge, that Mr. Skinner would be his successor. Factional differences in the party prevented his appointment.

Colonel Skinner was a town councilman of Greenville in 1878, was a member and aide de camp to Governor Jarvis from 1879 to 1886, and

QUIET HOLDS SWAY IN MILL STRIKE AREA

American Bemberg Mills Hum With Activity At Elizabethton; Troops On Duty

Elizabethton, Tenn., May 20.—(AP)—Quiet prevailed in the strike zone here today, as the spinning room of the American Bemberg Rayon Mill hummed with activity and workers who came down out of the hills under military escort, but were not molested by strike pickets. Officials of the Bemberg plant declared a full force on duty in the spinning room, but union leaders declared they held the upper hand in the strike which began five weeks ago, closing the Bemberg and American Glatstoff textile plants for some time.

Adjutant General W. C. Boyd, in charge of more than 300 national guardsmen along guard duty as state police, declared he believed the quiet was due to a pre-arranged plan of the strikers and that a demonstration in connection with the trial for contempt of 15 strikers in chancery court.

The 15 strikers have been arrested charged with picketing and intimidation in violation of an injunction granted the Bemberg and Glatstoff corporations at the outbreak of the strike restraining the strikers from interfering with the operation of the mills. The charges were by anti-strike leaders. Penalty on conviction is $50 fine, ten days in jail or both.

General Boyd said many families were warned last night by strike sympathizers to "keep the women and children at home tomorrow" and that some of the families had appealed to him for protection.

A few strikers gathering in town early this morning were in good spirits and declared "we have just begun to fight."

Hoover Studies Proposal For Revision Of Payment Of German Reparations

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—President Hoover and congressional leaders today were studying a proposal for revision of payments due the United States in connection with American army of occupation costs and the private war claims of American nationals against Germany. A new plan for these payments was outlined at a White House conference held last night after President Hoover's return from a week-end outing in the Virginia mountains.

The new program was outlined by Under-secretary Mills of the Treasury, and suggested a revision of the time-schedule for German payments to the American army of occupations costs. It was explained that this contemplated a spreading out over a longer period of these payments and also what was described by some of those present and an "inconsequential" piling down of the amount.

Included in the plan also is a suggestion for a re-alignment of the plan for payments by Germany to Find Hammer In Triple Slaying At Wascea, Minn.

Wascea, Minn., May 20.—(AP)—A blood-stained hammer with which Julius Schuck, 54, his son, Ernest, 9, and his daughter, Ida, 11, were beaten to death, furnished the only clue today to a crime committed apparently for the sole purpose of obtaining a worthless safe containing little of value.

Schuck and the boy were dead when found. The girl died late last night.

Footprints leading across a field appeared to have been made by two men carrying the 150-pound safe from the house. Elizabeth, 7, and Wilhelmina 15, daughters of the slain father, discovered their younger sister lying on the floor when they returned from Wascea Saturday night.

The bodies of Schuck and his son were found outside the farmhouse 500 feet apart.

COURT FAILS TO SUSTAIN R. R. RULING

St. Louis and O'Fallon Interests Upset Government Regulatory Provisions.

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—The St. Louis and O'Fallon Railroad succeeded in the Supreme Court today in upsetting the valuation the government has placed upon its rate making and other regulatory purposes.

Justice McReynolds, who read the opinion asserted that the law required the commission to give consideration to reproduction values and that this mandate of Congress must be enforced.

The methods used by the Interstate Commerce Commission in valuing the nine-mile-long St. Louis and O'Fallon were condemned by the court which reversed the decision of the lower court.

The bitter controversy, waged for years, over the valuations placed by the Interstate Commerce Commission on railroad property for rate-making purposes was ended in the court in a substantial defeat for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In ending the controversy the court overturned the valuations used by the commission for rate making and other purposes which are approximately eleven billion dollars less than claimed by the railroads. Under it the commission must scrap its valuation of years, conducted at great expense to the government, and prepare new valuations giving consideration to reproduction values.

The opinion will, according to the government, result in a rapid revision of rates, although counsel for the railroad during argument of the case emphatically denied it necessarily would result in higher tariffs. They asserted that the railroads would be controlled by what the traffic could bear.

Cost of reproduction at prevailing prices was accepted by the court as an element in railroad valuations. It stated that "such cost was an important item to be given consideration in determining valuations."

Justice Holmes, Brandeis, and Stone dissented from the majority opinion.

Great Grandsons Of Isham Harris Injured In Fight

Memphis, Tenn., May 20.—(AP)—Two great-grandsons of Isham G. Harris, Tennessee's Confederate governor, were in a hospital today seriously wounded and under guard while officers investigated the circumstances surrounding their altercation.

James Harris III, was suffering from a bullet wound and Isham G. Harris, namesake of the Confederate governor, was suffering from knife wounds said by officers to have been inflicted by his brother.

James Harris could not remember how he got shot. Isham declared James had been drinking and an argument ensued during which Isham said he had to shoot in self-defense after his brother had drawn a knife.

A spring pocket knife was taken from James while he was in the emergency room, and hospital attendants said it showed traces of blood.

Isham's explanation of the affair did not satisfy the sheriff's office. Sheriff Will S. Knight said charges of assault with intent to murder will be placed against both men as soon as they leave the hospital.

WOULD PROBE THE FAITH OF REV. H. SMITH

Presbyterians at Montreat Want To Know More About Little Rock Minister.

Montreat, May 20.—(AP)—The 69th general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States today voted to enjoin upon the Presbytery of Arkansas its duty to investigate rumors as to soundness in the faith of the Rev. Hay Watson White, pastor of the Second Church, Little Rock.

The motion to enjoin the Arkansas Presbytery was made by Dr. W. M. McPheeters of Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, Ga., as a substitute for the report of the committee on bills and overtures. The committee had received a bill from the Presbytery of Augusta asking the assembly to take some action in regard to "the alleged pamphlets of the Rev. Hay Watson Smith on evolution and other matters."

The committee, while affirming that the Presbyterian Church, with all evangelical churches, holds to the doctrine that God is the creator of the universe, reminded the Presbytery that any complaint against the teachings of a minister must be lodged before the Presbytery of which he is a member.

The assembly also turned down a proposal to elect deacons and elders for limited terms. The proposal was contained in a minority report on the committee on bills and overtures. The majority report, opposing the shorter term, was adopted.

Affirmative answers were given overtures from the Synod of Virginia, Presbytery of Abingdon and Presbytery of Montgomery, asking for the transfer of Mercer county, W. Va., and Presbyterian churches into the Synod of Virginia.

The minority report on the proposal to elect deacons and elders for limited terms was signed by the Rev. L. B. McCord of Orangeburg, and Dr. J. M. Vander Muelen of Louisville, Ky. The shorter term was asked by Birmingham Presbytery in an overture.

The majority report of the committee was presented by Dr. Harris E. Kirk of Baltimore, and recommended retention of the overture. Dr. Charles R. Hemphill of Louisville, Ky., argued in favor of the minority report, declaring it was thoroughly Presbyterian, constitutional and most desirable.

W. L. Frierson of Chattanooga, Tenn., declared the proposed change "would cause a much greater loss to our church than any possible gain it could bring."

Consideration of the question of union with the United Presbyterian Church and the Associated Reformed Synod of the South was set as a special order of business for consideration this afternoon.

SEVEN DIE IN PLANE WRECKS OVER SUNDAY

Eight Also Injured In Accidents In Different Parts Of The Country.

Six persons were killed and eight were injured, three seriously in six airplane crashes Sunday. One of the planes involved in the accidents was an army ship and another was a home-made monoplane.

BIG ZEPPELIN TO RETURN TO GERMANY SOON

Two New Motors To Be Installed And Big Ship Will Go Back To Friedrichshafen.

Cuers, France, May 20.—(AP)—Motors of the Graf Zeppelin were being repaired today to permit the dirigible's departure either Wednesday or Thursday under its own power for Friedrichshafen.

Two of its five motors were placed in commission yesterday, both upon testing emitted a tuneful drone, which delighted Captain Lehmann, left in charge at departure of Dr. Hugo Eckener for Germany. Two new motors arriving from Friedrichshafen will be installed as quickly as possible, with the likelihood the trip home will be made with only four engines functioning.

Investigation of the causes of the engine failures of Friday has not lessened the mystery attached to them. Three crank shafts were broken clean and sharp against the joint where they entered the bodies of the motor. There was no evidence of previous weakness.

"It is peculiar and strange," one of the French mechanics said. Jim Eling, a mechanic brought from Essen declared, regarding the first two motors to go dead.

"They might as well take an axe to these. I am sure I don't understand what happened to them." He added however, "we will get this music box singing within two or three days."

Those in charge continued, however, to decry charge of sabotage. The very word was taboo at the hangar. "Please don't say that, it will make us look so foolish," said Captain Hans Fleming.

"The motors just died out; that's all."

Once back in Friedrichshafen, preparations will go forward for the trip to America in lieu of that which failed last week, Captain Lehmann said. Dr. Eckener, prior to his departure for Friedrichshafen indicated this might take place within a month.

Thousands of townspeople and motorists from Toulouse and further away thronged the air base here over the week-end entering the hangar to inspect the dirigible. It was a friendly crowd and the cry of "Vive L'Allemagne" was heard several times, possible for the first time on French soil since the war.

Charles D. Cant, attached to the military police stationed on Bedloe's Island, the site of the Statue of Liberty, shot his 21-year-old wife, Jean, and himself as they waited for the ferry General Meigs, to make his first trip of the day. Their bodies were found by other soldiers on the ferry who had been awakened by the shots.

Near the bodies were three penciled notes.

French Plane Postpones Flight Across Atlantic; Two Other Flights Today

New York, May 20.—(AP)—The prospect of storms over the Atlantic for the next three days has forced postponement of the start of the French plane Bernard-191, on a proposed flight to Paris.

Amend Lott, Jr., sponsor of the flight, said it was unlikely that an attempt to start would be made for three or four days.

Rene Lefevre and Jean Assolant are the pilots of the plane.

Rogers W. Williams with Lewis Yancey and Kenneth Boedecker were preparing to take off from Teterboro Airport, N. J., today for Old Orchard, Ma., where they plan to start a flight to Rome. Williams had set tomorrow morning as the time for the start for Rome, but his take-off also was contingent upon weather conditions.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 20.—(AP)—The single motored monoplane Fort Worth was cruising over Meacham Field today in an attempt to break the re-fueling endurance record of 150 hours, 40 minutes, 15 seconds, established by the army monoplane Question Mark.

The ship, piloted by R. L. Robbins, commercial pilot, with James Kelly as co-pilot, took off at 11:33 a. m., yesterday to break the record, it must remain in the air an

President Hoover Gets a Black Eye

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—President Hoover today has a black eye, the result of a mishap which occurred in the course of his week-end visit to his fishing preserve in Virginia.

While walking along the bank of the Rapidan river, Mr. Hoover stumbled over a rock and the eye came into forcible contact with a low hanging tree limb. It was treated at once by Lt.-Col. Joel T. Boone, Mr. Hoover's personal physician who accompanied him to the preserve, but in spite of this, the discoloration developed rapidly.

TWO KILLED IN STAMPEDE IN NEW YORK

Eighteen Also Injured When Fans Rush Stairs At Yankee Stadium.

New York, May 20.—(AP)—Eighteen persons were in hospitals today recovering from injuries suffered in a stampede yesterday of bleacher fans at the Yankee Stadium in which a college girl and a teamster were killed.

Miss Eleanor Price, 17 years old, a student at Hunter College, and Joseph Carter, 60 years old, were killed. More than 60 were injured.

The stampede occurred when 3,000 fans, rushed from the south bleachers to escape a heavy rain which stopped the first game of a double-header between the Yankees and the Boston Red Sox.

The bleachers, where the accident happened in behind right field and was named Ruthville by the fans because it is into that stand that Babe Ruth usually hits his home runs. It is a favorite vantage point for boys.

When a slight drizzle suddenly turned into a deluge in the Yankees' half of the fifth inning the fans rose as one person and rushed toward the southernmost exit. This exit leads down 14 steep steps to a passageway.

As the pressure increased those first on the stairs were toppled down and those behind them fell on them, in a few seconds the stairway was a mass of screaming, fighting, panic stricken humanity while those in the rear, unaware of the crush in the stairway, pressed forward.

The crush was not stopped until police rushed into the stand and drove back the hundreds shoving toward the top of the stairs.

Wire netting enclosing either side of the stairway gave way under the pressure of bodies and scores dropped from the pile to the ground beneath the stand and escaped injury.

Miss Price and Carter were among those at the bottom of the mass.

Police called reserves and ambulances and set up emergency first aid stations in the players' dressing rooms. The injuries ranged from fractured skulls, broken bones and internal injuries to cuts and bruises.

Secret Movement Troops In India Cause Of Anxiety

London, May 20.—(AP)—A Calcutta dispatch to the Daily Mail today said general anxiety prevailed throughout Northern India as a consequence of reported mysterious secret troop movements and stringent precautions which had been taken for the safety of the viceroy, Lord Irwin, and other public officials.

The dispatch said reports had been received from the summer capital at Simla that the authorities were contending with serious developments of a nature not yet explained. The only definite matter in the dispatch was word of renewal in intensified form of Communist threats at the Great Lahore Railway shops.

There have been five outbreaks of fire in these shops within three weeks, attributed to the "Socialist Republican," the mysterious body which was believed responsible for the bombing of the legislative assembly at New Delhi April 8.

Police have been unable to trace the leaders but hold that the fires presage grave happenings. The public is demanding to be told the truth of the situation.

ATTEMPT TO IDENTIFY TORSO OF DEAD WOMAN

Los Angeles, May 20.—(AP)—Investigators of the Los Angeles county sheriff's office today were attempting to identify a woman's head and torso found separately in the Los Angeles river. The arms and legs of the victim, believed by the county autopsy physician to have been slain with a hammer, still were missing. The head was found partly buried in sand Saturday. The torso was found on April 4th.

LEVEE BREAKS REPORTED AT KENNETT, MO.

Hundreds Of Men Working To Check Flow Of Water In Mississippi Valley.

Memphis, Tenn., May 20.—(AP)—Flood waters of the St. Francis river flowed unrelated today thru a crevasse in the levee near Kennett, Mo., spreading over the adjacent farm lands. No loss of life was feared as dwellers of the lowland had been warned and it was believed they had evacuated the area. The levee break occurred shortly after midnight.

Hundreds of men worked desperately to check the ravages of the waters and at two other points in the Mississippi valley crews were engaged in bolstering stretches of levees battered by swollen waters.

The St. Francis river dyke gave way early today at the Overall plantation, six miles north of Kennett and this morning the flood water was flying over low-lying Duncan county farm lands through a 50-foot gap. It was estimated that approximately 50,000 acres of land will be inundated before the water finds an outlet through inland streams.

No large town is in the path of the flood and all of the residents of the threatened area are believed to have reached high ground or will have found places of safety before the waters spread.

The point where the levee broke was regarded as one of the least vulnerable points along the stretch of embankment north of Kennett.

Great apprehension was felt at Mounds Landing, Miss., where the Mississippi dyke went out with disastrous results during the 1927 flood. While no immediate danger of a break was seen by engineers, Gov. Theodore Bilbo of Mississippi requested the adjutant general to have state troops prepared to move into the area in case of emergency.

The Reelfoot levee, ten miles south of Hickman, Ky., was reported crumbling for a distance of 300 yards and men were using earth barricades in an effort to stop it.

GREENVILLE WINS FROM THE SAILORS

Greenville made it an even break with the Wilmington Sailors by taking Saturday afternoon's game by the score of 7 to 4. The visitors won the day before in one of the most spectacular games of the season by the score of 1 to 0.

Les Bangs and followers moved over to Goldsboro this afternoon for a two game series with the league leaders. They will return to their home lot Wednesday for a couple of games with Fayetteville.

Jeffries proved the undoing of the Sailors here Saturday afternoon. He held them to eight hits, while his teammates were piling up a total of eleven off Newberry.

Tom Young, hard-hitting Sailor center gardner, who was responsible for the victory of his club the day before, was one of the victims of the effective pitching of the Greenville hurler. Out of four trips to the platter, Young had three strike-outs chalked up against him. The fourth trip counted for a hit. Rainey was the only member of the club that got over one hit.

Pasquella and Williams led with the stick for Greenville, each getting two safeties out of three trips to the rubber. Nalbock was credited with three hits out of five times up, and Clemmons made it two out of four.

Both clubs played exceptionally fast ball, the locals getting by without a single bobble against the visitors' two. Brady, Sailor second-baseman, furnished the sensation of the day with several robberies that might easily have gone for hits.

Goldsboro Again Swings Into Lead In East Carolina

(By the Associated Press) Play last week brought a change of leadership in the Eastern Carolina League, but made no change in the status quo of the first two clubs in the Piedmont pennant chase.

Goldsboro, through winning three games against only two lost, took the Eastern Carolina leadership from the Rocky Mount Buccaneers. The Bucs won three and lost three. Durham maintained the leadership of the Piedmont with a record for the week of four games won and three lost. The second-place Greensboro Patriots had the same record for the week as did Winston-Salem. The other Piedmont clubs, Henderson, Salisbury and High Point, each won three and lost four.

Wilmington's record of four victories and only two defeats was the best of any Eastern Carolina club. The Fayetteville Birchlanders dropped three of their five contests and Greenville and Kinston each won three games and lost four.

This week's Piedmont schedule: Monday and Tuesday—Henderson at High Point; Salisbury at Greensboro; Winston-Salem at Durham. Wednesday and Thursday—Henderson at Salisbury; High Point at Durham; Greensboro at Winston-Salem. Friday and Saturday—Winston-Salem at Henderson; Durham at Greensboro; Salisbury at High Point.

This week's Eastern Carolina schedule: Monday and Tuesday—Greenville at Goldsboro; Kinston at Fayetteville; Rocky Mount at Wilmington. Wednesday and Thursday—Fayetteville at Greenville; Wilmington at Goldsboro; Rocky Mount at Kinston. Friday and Saturday—Goldsboro at Rocky Mount; Wilmington at Fayetteville; Greenville at Kinston.

New York, May 20.—(AP)—The jinx that seemed to beset the renowned Man O' War's and his illustrious line in quest of the most coveted of American turf prizes—the Kentucky Derby—has been broken by the victory of that superlative mud runner, Clyde Van Dusen.

Man O' War's sire, Fair Play, failed to produce a derby winner. The famous son of Fair Play, Mahubah, was himself denied the chance to compete in the classic at Churchill Downs in his three year old year, 1919, although later that year Man O' War conquered the derby winner, Sir Barton, in a special match race.

Bad luck, moreover, seemed to strike the off-spring of Man O' War as they came later to the races. A number started in the derby but none even broke into the money until Clyde Van Dusen, a gelding, came splashing home Saturday under a fine ride by "Pony" McAtee to beat 20 rivals and win nearly $54,000 for his owner, Horbert P. Gardner, of Amsterdam, N. Y.

Sired by Man O' War, named for his trainer, bred in old Kentucky but owned by an easterner, Clyde Van Dusen's victory was a dramatic addition to the long and colorful history of the derby.

Only seven geldings are among the derby winners but they loom conspicuously nevertheless. No victor was more popular or more renowned than Old Rosebud, the great gelding that set the derby record of 2:03 2-5 for the mile and a quarter in 1914. Then there was also Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Exterminator, familiarly known as "Old Bones" and "Old Slim," which won in 1918.

On the way back to New York, discussing the big race as calmly as though it was just an every-day gallop, Jockey McAtee said: "After that first turn I never felt any doubt about winning, though as the going was. Clyde Van Dusen was a cinch to handle and did everything I asked of him."

"I've been lucky enough to win twice in three years (McAtee was on Whiskery in 1927), and I would like to equal or beat the record of old Ike Murphy, who rode three winners."

Murphy, the only three-time winner and a negro, piloted Buchanan in 1884, then Riley and Kingman in successive years, 1890 and 1891.

On the basis of spring slugging, here's how an all-star major league team might take the field:
First base—Bill Terry, New York Giants.
Second base—Frank Frisch, St. Louis Cardinals.
Third base—William Kamm, Chicago White Sox.
Shortstop—Barney Friberg, Phillies.
Catcher—Hoving, Boston Braves.
Outfield—O'Doul, Phillies; Cuyler and Stephenson, Chicago Cubs.

YANKS LICK BOSTON SOX

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Although rain swept out the eastern schedule of the National League yesterday the Yankees managed to beat the storm by a hair at the Ruppert Stadium to defeat the Red Sox by 3 to 0 as the Athletics shut out the Senators in Washington by 7 to 0. The Yankee victory, the third over the Bostonians in two days, was a legal game only because of the early start made in view of the scheduled double-header.

The game was ended by rain after two New York batters had been retired in the fifth.

Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig raked Jack Russell for successive home runs in the third, and Fred Heilmann was turning back the Boston invaders with regularity. The Babe's blow was his seventh. Gehrig's his ninth.

Although the champions gained nothing on the victorious Mackmen who swept their Washington series, the Ruppert lines were established more securely in second place. The Browns finally ran into an afternoon of indifferent pitching, and saw the Cleveland Indians dash off with a 10 to 6 decision. That left the Browns one full game behind the Yankees.

The White Sox navigated the tables on Detroit at Navin Field, winning by 10 to 3, but the Chicago team lost the services of its star outfielder, Johnny Mostil, who snapped Columbia by 17 to 1. The Sox were fourth as he slid over the plate.

Lyons pitched for Chicago.

The final victory of the Athletics in Washington was made possible by the fine box work of George Walberg, who gave the Senators only seven scattered hits. The Macks hammered Burke, Hopkins and Marberry artistically and impartially to score their seven runs.

The Cardinals narrowed the National League fight for the top by shading Adolfo Luque and the Reds at Cincinnati, 2 to 1, as Burleigh Grimes pitched the Pirates to a 4 to 1 decision at Wrigley Field.

Grimes' victory was his sixth of the season, with a defeat yet to be entered against his record. The big spitballer leads his own circuit and stands second in the majors only to George Uhle of Detroit, who has won seven. Pat Malone and Arthur Nehf worked against Burleigh.

Sylvester Johnson had something of an edge over Luque in the battle of the Cardinals at Cincinnati but his superiority was registered on the scoreboard only in the eleventh inning when the National League champions manufactured a single run to win by 2 to 1.

The Giant-Robin postponement in Brooklyn was immediately rescheduled for today, originally an open date.

GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

SYNOPSIS: Lucy locks Henry Deacon, chief of police, into a closet, takes his auto and starts for the desert to find Jerry Ogden, her fiancé, accused of murdering her father. Lucy is waging a same fight against serious odds to prove Jerry innocent and is anxious to warn him of the charge before he is arrested. Her uncle, John Peebles, follows her to Torridity, ghost town in Skull Valley. Harassed by the blistering heat, Peebles searches the town for the pair but fails to find a trace of them.

Chapter 19
IN THE DESERT TOMB

It was close on four o'clock. Lucy reasoned, had got here about noon. She had found Jerry and they had left together at once along the main road, and by this time were probably approaching Shinbone Canyon on the west. Another couple of hours should see them back in San Felipe.

Lucy and Jerry—heads together—racing toward the open desert!

ably approaching Shinbone Canyon on the west. Another couple of hours should see them back in San Felipe.

Instead of following them I would remain overnight in Torridity and improve my opportunity by noting around Andrew's old haunts. Evidence of some sort was in my mind, but of what nature and how I was to find it, I hadn't the slightest idea. If I had known I wouldn't have planned so casually!

The sun was waning, but the street was still as hot as a boiler pit and I looked about for a temporary garage. The wide-open doors of a lively stable hinted of cooler regions beyond and I drove through them into the building. Stopping the engine, I tackled a pile of sandwiches and a bag of fruit. Refreshed, I went out again.

I had gone some 50 yards or so when I began to wonder if I were as completely alone as I had supposed. The odd feeling grew upon me and I wished I had brought a revolver.

Stopping in front of a sort of dance hall, saloon, and hotel, I concluded that it was a good place to begin my investigations. Most of the name on the building was obliterated. It consisted of three words and the last word seemed to be "Place." I also made out a "J." and "L." and a "D." The rest of it suddenly flashed upon me. "Joe Lundy's Place"—that was it.

"Joe Lundy's Place," I shouted. "Joe Lundy—that woman in black—the woman Andrew gave the check to!"

It couldn't be coincidence, of course. The woman in black was of course the wife of a man who had kept this resort 30 years ago! And Andrew Ogden had given her a check for $1,000! But why? And why had the swashbuckling Alex. Peterson become the staid and respectable Andrew Ogden? And why had Dillon blackmailed him?

Sick of mystery and bewilderment, I entered the resort, prepared for anything now. It must have been a pretentious place in its day. A dance floor occupied the middle of the building. At the upper end was a small stage. Along one side ran a bar. A stair led to a wide gallery which ran around the hall. Doors and booths flanked the gallery.

Broken bottles littered the sandy floor; tables and chairs lay in confusion. I thought of the boisterous mob that once had rollicked through the place. I heard the whirr of the roulette wheel, the click of poker chips, the rattle of dice, the clink of glass, the shrill glee of the women, the swish of milling bodies. And I thought of Alex Peterson swaggering, not stalking among a pay-night crowd, his gold-mounted guns on his hips.

In the dining room cheap cutlery and heavy crockery lay on the tables. Cues stood in their racks and lay athwart the poolroom tables. In the card room the roulette wheel waited. I spun it. Poker chips, cards, upstairs in the bedrooms were pillows and blankets. A flimsy red dress hung in a closet and slippers to match. Names were scrawled on the walls. And so it had stood for 30 years.

And yet, this wholesale abandonment to the contrary, I hadn't been able to rid myself of the feeling that I was not as completely alone as I seemed. Coming behind the bar where I had not yet been, I tripped over a bundle of soft stuff lying in the shadowy passage between the bar and the wall, and almost went headlong.

I picked up the bundle and found myself staring at Jerry's white flannel shirt.

him again? Why hadn't I brought a revolver! As I sprang, electrified, to my feet a sage green roadster flew past the open door and my conclusions collapsed. The car was Jerry's, and Lucy and the boy were in it, their heads together.

I stumbled outside. The roadster was 100 yards down the street, bound for the open desert and, I supposed, the Devil's Mouth.

COLONEL SKINNER PASSES AWAY AT HOME HERE

was a trustee of the University of North Carolina from 1898 to 1902. He was a member of the Legislature of 1891, elected by the unprecedented majority in those days of 1,076. While a member of the Legislature he served as chairman of the committee on internal improvements, educational and insane asylum committees and chairman of the house branch of the committee on redistricting the state. In this Legislature he was regarded as progressive. Among measures introduced were those requiring a docket of criminal and civil procedure, the establishment of an orphan's court, one presenting sale of land under mortgage or execution which did not bring 50 per cent of its tax value. With Hon. R. D. Gilmer he made the chief fight on the floor of the House for the bill providing for the establishment of the Industrial Training School for Girls at Greensboro. He advocated liberal appropriations to the Southern Soldiers' Home, for completing the governor's mansion, for the extension of the Atlantic & North Carolina railroad, and for a railroad commission, introducing measures prescribing duties of such railroad commission, also a committee for codifying the laws upon corporation and to make suggestions to the following Legislature whereby they might be relieved of the great bulk of private legislation. Mr. Skinner was tendered but declined in 1892 the nomination for governor and for congressman offered by the Populist party.

In 1894 he was elected to the Fifty-fourth Congress and in 1896 re-elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress. While in Congress he served on important committees, one being the public buildings and grounds committee. He introduced, advocated and put into the Congressional Record all the necessary data connected with the inland water way. He introduced the bill entitled Equal Protection, which had for its purpose the fixing a stable price for cotton, and also a bill establishing a land basis for national bank issue. He advocated an enlargement of the navy and the state of preparedness not for offensive but for defensive purposes. It is necessary to remember that these measures, showing the trend of his mind and thought, were advocated more than twenty years ago. The congressmen who are described as progressive have hardly taken a more advanced stand during the last five or six years. As a matter of fact, Mr. Skinner was perhaps twenty years in advance of his time, and largely for that reason his measures met with disfavor, though they have since been advocated by both parties and many of them have been written into the basic laws of the nation. As early as 1886 Colonel Skinner wrote an article entitled, "A Land Basis for our National Bank Issue," embodying the same pivotal ideas contained in the Federal Reserve Bank Act. His article also contemplated the rural credit system. This article was afterward published in Frank Leslie's Illustrated of issue November 30, 1889, under the heading "The Hope of the South." It is said his article was read on the floor of the St. Louis Convention and became the basic idea upon which the sub-treasury suggested by the Farmers' Alliance was adopted. The same idea was contained in a more practical form in a bill introduced in Congress by Colonel Skinner looking toward government control of the south's cotton crop. Apparently, therefore, the claims made for him have been well founded as originator of asset banking and as the first to suggest the government control of cotton crops in southern states.

Mr. Skinner was long prominent both in the North Carolina State Bar Association and the American Bar Association. In the state association he served several terms as chairman of the executive committee, and in the American Bar Association served two years as vice-president for North Carolina and three terms was appointed by the president of the American Bar Association the committee man from North Carolina on the important committee to resist the call of judges. His last appointment to by a State-wide eight months school. The time has come to quit talking of "poor counties" and "aiding" them, with a sort of dole as when public schools were called "poor schools" or "common schools." It will be well in these two years of transition to get ready to send these terms to a darker age. There are no schools "for the poor." The public schools are for all the children and every vestige of favoritism and paternalism must pass.—News and Observer.

ABOUT TOWN

We don't blame the members of the fair sex for trying to make themselves beautiful, but when it comes to such practices on the part of the men, that is a different matter. Rumor has it that one of the local sheiks recently was forced to spend a day in bed, the result of shock and exhaustion following the getting of a permanent wave. It's our opinion that it served him right except that he should still be in bed or have a guardian.

With the announcement of several proposed trans-ocean flights comes the realization that the time of year has again arrived when this form of accomplishment grips at the hearts of the daring. Of course we hope that every undertaking is successful, but at the same time we can't but feel that there is a great amount of pure, downright foolishness in these ventures and they should be attempted only when such is necessary in order to gain certain definite scientific data that will prove of benefit in making aviation safer and more practical.

COL. HARRY SKINNER
In the passing of Colonel Harry Skinner Greenville has lost one of its outstanding citizens and most brilliant lawyers. It is futile for use to endeavor in words to pay tribute to Col. Skinner. During his half-century of practice of his profession here he had heaped upon him honors by his fellow lawyers in the state and nation, as well as being honored by local, state and national public office. Such a record of the confidence and esteem in which he was held by all who knew him is, we believe, a tribute far greater than can be said in words, now that he has passed on to the "Great Beyond."

A DOLLAR'S WORTH FOR A DOLLAR
The news comes from the counties that the school authorities, aided by the interpretative opinion of the Attorney General, are busy seeking to make budgets that will come within the spirit of the law, to-wit: A dollar's worth of good schooling for a dollar. The question of overhead and administrative costs are receiving proper consideration. The exchange of experience as to transportation particularly has been helpful. To be sure this whole business of equalization is difficult. It is out of date, and in 1931 will be replaced

Lieut.-Gov. Fountain was right when he said "the farmer expecting relief from Congress is holding a bag with the bottom out," declared a member of the Greenville Kiwanis Club who heard the statement.

Congress may enact law affecting the farmer to a slight extent, but it is up to the grower as it always has been to work out his own salvation. Congress might pass all the laws in the world and they would accomplish little without the aid of the farmer himself.

"You might give anybody a bank full of money and they wouldn't have a cent within a week if they spent extravagantly. The trouble with this whole country is that we are spending too much for the things we don't need. When we get down to business and go to work instead of playing so much this part of the United States is going to have all the money it needs for taxes or anything else."

"I still insist that it takes hits to win a ball game," emphatically proclaimed a follower of the Greenville baseball club.

"For instance, consider the game with Wilmington last Friday. One little hit—a little measly grounder between first and second base would have tied the score and probably given us the game. As it was two runners were left on second and third and the Sailors walked off the ground with a 1 to 0 victory in their favor."

"It was hard to lose a closely contested battle that way, but it was fair. We simply could not connect for the required bingles at the opportune moment and lost the game."

"There will be many more games of this kind, but it is hardly likely the Greenville club will be found so short of hits. The time has come for more victories or in a few days it will be so far behind it will be impossible to catch up and offer serious opposition for the league lead at the end of the season."

"That field of cocclebur in the Grifton community offers something for state agriculturalists to puzzle over the next several weeks," said a Greenville man today after reading the story of the unseasonable appearance of the vegetation in the last edition of this paper.

"If a farmer who has lived in this world 70 years has never seen anything of the kind before then it looks like the experts of agriculture should be able to make some good findings."

"This kind of growth usually appears in the fall of the year shortly before the first frost. In fact, it was formerly taken to presage the coming of frost. There is certainly some confusion on the part of nature somewhere and I would like for some of the experts to explain the phenomenon."

"Pitt county farmers and business men generally should adhere to the proposed live at home program" suggested by Governor O. Max Gardner sometime ago," firmly stated a prominent agriculturalist this morning.

"This is the only way in the world the country is going to be able to work out the financial problem threatened upon every hand. The fact is, we must produce more of the things we need at home. We have been buying them from the stores at exorbitant prices when it would have been so easy to produce them at home with a little more attention to details."

"This live at home program would not affect the production of the usual crops. If anything, it would cause us to give more attention to every phase of farm work for then we should be able to see real results in a financial way."

"If you are a farmer, think the matter over and see what you can do for yourself next season."

Two Students In Serious Condition After Auto Wreck
Lexington, Va., May 20.—(AP)—Two Washington and Lee students remained in a critical condition this morning as the result of an automobile accident yesterday morning in which two students were killed and two others less seriously hurt.

Benjamin C. Eastwood, of New Orleans, and Virgil C. Jones of Jordonville, Va., the most seriously injured, suffered fractured skulls.

Irving H. Elias of Rockville Center, Long Island, N. Y., was killed instantly, and William A. Plummer of Portsmouth, Ohio, died before

The other two injured students, Rowland H. Walker of Portsmouth, Va., and Mosby B. Perrow of Lynchburg, Va., received minor injuries.
The party was returning from Natural Bridge, Va., early yesterday when the car skidded on a slippery road, struck a stone and overturned.
The car belonged to Eastwood and was being driven by Jones.
Memorial services, participated in by more than five hundred students, faculty members and friends of the dead youths, were held for the dead yesterday afternoon in Robert E. Lee chapel. Following the services the bodies were sent to the homes of the parents.
Elias was editor-elect of the university year book, "The Calyx," and a junior in the school of journalism. Plummer, a law student also was a junior, and had recently been elected vice-president of the student body.

Adult Education Body Meets At Hill

Chapel Hill, N. C., May 20.—(AP)—The American Association for Adult Education convened its fourth annual meeting here today with Morse A. Cartwright, executive director, as the first of a list of 50 speakers who will address the convention during its four days.
Mr. Cartwright, delivering his annual report this morning, told the association that the movement had developed into an integral part of the scholastic life of America, with thousands of adherents. Among them, he said, are the "most forward looking American educational leaders and social philosophers."
The association, Mr. Cartwright said, has served as a "clearing house for information" and in sponsoring and conducting studies, experiments and research in adult education. He denied the association of the mature American with scholastic education was paradoxical.
Approximately 150 delegates were here for the opening of the meeting. It is the first time the association has met in the south.

One Tire ran 15,000 Miles -its exact duplicate ran 20,000

AND the reason was TIRE SERVICE. Perhaps you've had tires than ran 15,000 miles when they should have run 20,000.

The other day a tire purchaser discarded a tire after running it 15,000 miles. Other tires, the exact duplicates of this one, on cars which we have serviced regularly, have run 20,000 miles and are still good.

By careful checking of wheel alignment, wobble or any condition that prevents a wheel from running true, and calling these things to our customers' attention, seeing that tires are mounted properly, advising as to proper air pressure, catching the little injuries and when you drive up for gas, you've seen the difference in tire wear and tire trouble.

When new tires are mounted here each one of these items is checked. Rims are examined and painted. The tire is tested to see that lugs are tightened evenly all around, so as to prevent uneven wear.

Why shouldn't YOU take advantage of this saving in cost and trouble? Drive in and ask us about it today.

STOCK MARKET

By STANLEY W. PRENOSH, Associated Press Financial Writer. New York, May 20.—(AP)—The stock market alternately blew hot and cold today, but the line of least resistance appeared to be downward. Pools succeeded in making up a few specialties in which favorable developments are pending, but rallies in the general list invariably attracted a fresh flood of offerings which carried a long list of issues down 1 to nearly 10 points below last week's closing quotations.
