CENSUS BILL HOLDS SWAY IN CONGRESS

After Disposing Of Tariff Yesterday, House To Take Up Various Issues Today

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—The Senate today passed the bill to provide for the taking of the 1930 and each succeeding decennial census and for a reapportionment of the House of Representatives based upon those tabulations.

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—Congressional activity veered to the Senate side of the capitol today, a fairly clear track having been prepared there late yesterday for a vote on the census-reapportionment bill while the House was disposing of its tariff measure.

The way to action on the census bill, which provides for the 1930 population count and reapportionment of the House membership on the basis of that showing, was cleared by the rejection of the amendment by Senator Sackett, Republican, Kentucky, to exclude all aliens from the enumeration and by an agreement to shut off debate after a 2 p. m. today, with discussion of amendments limited afterwards to five minutes.

The House having passed its tariff bill 264 to 147, was given an hour off today but was called to meet at 1 o'clock to take up miscellaneous bills.

Progress toward disposition of the farm relief legislation first on the administration program, was seen in the maneuvers yesterday of Republican leaders and administration figures. After a conference with President Hoover, Chairman McNary of the Senate conference committee, appointed to adjust differences between the measures passed by the Senate and House, renewed his expression of optimism over the outcome of the deadlock which has developed in the negotiations around the export debentures proposal.

It was clear that a compromise was anticipated. Revival of the ten year old Muscle Shoals controversy was before the Senate agriculture committee today in the form of the bill of Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, providing for government operation of the huge nitrate and power plants. The proposal was vetoed last year by former President Coolidge and reintroduced yesterday by the Nebraskaan.

The Senate manufactures committee was called to act again on the Kirtland bill which will recommend to labor conditions in the textile industry. It voted several days ago to amend the proposal of Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, so as to have the investigation conducted by the Federal Trade Commission instead of the Senate, and then reversed itself. Reconsideration of the reversal was requested by six of the eleven committee members.

J. D. Bellamy Defendant In Slander Suit

Rockingham, May 29.—(AP)—A suit for slander against John D. Bellamy former Congressman from the sixth district, and oldest member of the New Hanover County Bar, in which Mrs. Grace Stamp of Ellerbe, asks $50,000 damages, was expected to get underway here today before Judge Thomas J. Shaw. Judge Shaw is presiding over the current term of Richmond county Superior court, civil division.

The damage suit follows a criminal action last summer against Mrs. Stamp in which she was arrested and tried on a charge of theft. Mr. Bellamy swore out the warrant against the Ellerbe woman, charging that she stole certain articles from his summer home at Wrightsville Beach, while it was vacant.

Mrs. Stamp was acquitted.

In her complaint the woman charges the defendant with slanderous statements, detrimental to her character, and asks for damages in the sum of $50,000. The suit was filed here following Mrs. Stamp's acquittal in the criminal court trial at Wilmington and her return to her home in Ellerbe, nine miles from this city.

Law Enforcement Body Gets Down To Business

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—Called upon by President Hoover to give form "one of the greatest services to our generation," the National Law Enforcement Commission today stood at the threshold of its tremendous task of finding out the causes and causes of public disobedience of law in general and formulating recommendations looking to improvement.

Insisting that "prohibition is only one angle of our work," Chairman George W. Wickersham asserted after the initial meeting of the commission yesterday that "we will not avoid anything." And that if it found any federal law unenforceable it would so report.

The members of the commission—ten jurists and lawyers and one woman educator—plan to continue their sessions for the remainder of the week to lay the foundation for their undertaking. They devoted their time yesterday to receiving their mandate from President Hoover, getting acquainted and exchanging views to bring out the various angles of their task in which the various members were particularly interested.

They are expected to begin with a survey of reports and other data already available through the work of federal, state and civilian investigators, and then to proceed with their own investigation by dividing into groups committed to specific tasks. Special investigators also may be employed from time to time to assist the commissioners out of

NEGRO KILLER ARRESTED BY PITT OFFICERS

Two Others Wanted In Murder Of Rocky Mount Grocer Taken Here Yesterday.

Ernest Fox, 22-year-old negro, charged with the murder of mess Taylor, cripple grocer at Rocky Mount last Sunday night, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Tucker in this city yesterday. Two other negroes were also arrested in connection with the crime, although they were not believed to have been actual accomplices.

The arrest of the three negroes was kept as quiet as possible, and while officers declined to reveal where they were taken, it was generally inferred that they were carried to the state penitentiary at Raleigh for safe keeping.

Fox, a former employee of a shoe shine parlor at Rocky Mount, was traced through several Eastern Carolina cities and towns before finally being rounded up by county officials here. Had his automobile not given him trouble it is probable he would have remained at liberty much longer. After arriving in Greenville the negro left his car for repairs at a colored garage on Fourteenth street. When he came back to get his car and continue his trip sometime later he found Deputy Sheriff Tucker waiting for him.

Fox is reported to have vigorously denied connection with the murder, but Rocky Mount officers said they had built up a good case against him. The other two negroes, whose names were not divulged by the officers, were picked up on the streets of Greenville by Policemen Powell and Zimmerman, of the Rocky Mount police department who had tracked Fox through several communities since the murder last Sunday night.

Fox, who had been employed as a delivery boy for the Rocky Mount grocer, is said to have slept in the store with his employer several nights. Police claim that he slept on a pallet beside Taylor Saturday night and killed the young grocer while he slept with robbery as a motive. The day's sales of $97 were missing, although a deposit made for it was discovered by the investigators.

Law Enforcement Body Gets Down To Business

the $250,000 fund they have available for their work.

Pressed for a statement as to whether the scope of the commission's authority was broad enough to enable it to find the prohibition laws unenforceable, chairman Wickersham, a former attorney general, declared it was "intellectually possible, but I might add, improbable."

"The attitude of the American people toward law is not bound by prohibition," he said.

He emphasized that the commission would not act as arbiter between wets and dries. At the same time, he said it would consider on their merits such reports and data as any organization which has studied one of the problems before it may submit. It starts, he declared, "with minds open to consider on their merits all intelligent suggestions from unprejudiced sources."

Recalling that the president had charged the commission with finding out the causes of the American people's present attitude toward all laws, he observed that "discovery of this is the most difficult of all problems."

He estimated that the work would require "a year and maybe two." Whether its program will include open hearings remains to be decided, but Mr. Wickersham's "experience with public hearings is that you do not get very far with them."

"My idea," he remarked, "is to have the organization of law such that it will make it impossible for a person to violate the law without being speedily brought to book."

NEGRO HANGED BY MOB TODAY IN TENNESSEE

Almo, Tenn., May 29.—(AP)—A mob of about 100 men early today entered the Crockett county jail here, removed Joe Bowley, 19 years old negro, accused of attacking the wife of a justice of the peace, and hanged him on a tree four miles from town.

The negro had been arrested in Gibson county and placed in jail at Trenton, a crowd last night stormed the jail and knocked down the front door at the home of Sheriff C. A. Bradshaw.

Bradshaw and two other officers succeeded in splitting the negro away and bringing him to Almo. He had been in jail at Almo only about half an hour when fifteen or twenty automobiles arrived and a mob demanded the negro.

The key to the jail was hidden under the divan in the living room of the home of Sheriff Emerson. The mob beat upon the front door. Mrs. Emerson said, and finally the sheriff opened it to prevent its being battered down. They searched the house, located the key and got the negro.

The negro remained silent. Mrs. Emerson said and did not seem frightened. He had gone to bed before the mob arrived about 3:30 o'clock.

The negro was taken from the jail about four o'clock this morning and his body was found shortly afterwards. On the tree with the body was a cardboard on which was written: "Let this nigger hang here until 4 p. m., Thursday."

Wisconsin Signs Bill For Repeal Of "Dry" Measure

Madison, Wis., May 29.—(AP)—Governor Kohler today signed the bill repealing the state's prohibition enforcement act.

Reparations Conference Agrees On New Figures

Paris, May 29.—(AP)—The creditor reparations experts agreed upon a new set of figures for reparations annuities which were presented to the German delegation today. It was hoped a German decision on the proposal could be reached by tomorrow.

It was understood that the creditor's new proposal would extend the Dawes plan payments until September 1, after which the smaller annuities of the Young plan will become effective.

This would enable the allies to make a satisfactory reparation which they contend is not possible if they should grant the German's request to make the Young annuities effective from last April.

If the German decision on the new plan submitted today is favorable, the way then will be clear to tackle the conditions which Germany has imposed and the reservations made by the creditors.

SOLO FLIER STILL IN AIR IN CALIFORNIA

Herbert Fahay's Plane Lights Fail, But He Continues To Keep Going.

Los Angeles, May 29.—(AP)—Herbert J. Fahay, pilot of his Lockheed-Vega monoplane past the 27th hour of his flight at 7:43:05 a. m., today in his attempt to set a new color endurance record.

Los Angeles, May 29.—(AP)—Flying only by the light of the Los Angeles Metropolitan airport far below him, Herbert J. Fahay, test pilot continued his assault on the solo endurance flying record this morning. At midnight he was in his twentieth hour in the air.

The lights in Fahay's plane failed late last night. He dropped a message saying the failure apparently had been due to a short circuit and that he was afraid to attempt turning them on again because of the danger of setting fire to the monoplane.

Metropolitan airport was kept lighted and at his request mail planes were ordered to clear the field at a height of 5,000 to 6,000 feet to avoid the possibility of colliding with his darkened ship, which was keeping close to the 1,500 foot level.

Fahay took off at 4:43:05 o'clock yesterday morning in his second attempt to eclipse the unofficial mark of 35 hours, 33 minutes and 21 seconds established last February by Martin Jensen at Roosevelt field. The test pilot, who is employed by the Lockheed Aircraft Company, failed in his first attempt when he landed last Sunday after about 21 hours in the air.

Fahay took off with enough gasoline to keep him aloft about 40 hours.

TARIFF CHANGE IS UP TO THE SENATE NOW

Finance Committee To be Occupied With Revision Most Of The Summer.

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—Tariff revision is now up to the Senate, a task which is expected to occupy the finance committee most of the summer and consume several months of debate in the chamber afterward.

The House completed the major part of its work on the legislation late yesterday, passing by a vote of 264 to 147 the bill prepared by the Republican members of the ways and means committee to supplant the seven year old Fordney-McCumber act after adopting more than 100 amendments with their approval.

This measure, designed to give thousands of American agricultural and industrial products additional protection against foreign competition, will provide the basis for an extensive hearing to be conducted during the summer by the Senate finance committee. If the committee conforms to the history of the tariff legislation, it will then rewrite the bill and report it to the Senate with many changes.

Among those changes, Rep. Garner of Texas, Democratic leader, and other prominent members of his party in Congress, expect the Senate committee, and subsequently the Senate itself, to decide against the action of the House looking to the extension of presidential authority over the administration of the tariff and his powers to change rates.

Garner sought that end yesterday, through a motion to reconsider the bill to the ways and means committee with instruction to provide for abolition of the present tariff commission and elimination of the flexible provisions of the bill and for the establishment of a finding board responsible only to Congress.

His motion, which also sought to prevent transfer of authority to review valuation methods from the customs court to the treasury department and to bring about adjustment of rates "in all schedules so that the duties shall not exceed the actual difference between the cost of production in the United States and abroad," was voted down 254 to 137, a majority ten less than that record for the bill.

Henderson Man Dies From Too Much Turpentine

Henderson, May 29.—(AP)—W. Polk Garrett, 37, rural letter carrier in the Henderson post office, died at a local hospital today from the effects, according to physicians, of an overdose of turpentine which he took Monday night as a remedy for a cold. The turpentine caused a kidney trouble which resulted in death and also affected his breathing through a tendency to close the throat.

Garrett was married last Easter Sunday at Elon College to Miss Ella Keyser, and the wedding was kept a secret until a few days ago. Mrs. Garrett had not come here to join her husband but was called here by his sudden illness and was with him when he died.

He is survived by his widow and a number of brothers and sisters. Funeral services will be held at Mount Carmel Methodist Church tomorrow afternoon.

GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

SYNOPSIS: Nathan Hyde's silver snuff-box is found by Peebles and Deacon near the rich vein in the Oeden mine. Further exploring the tunnel, they stumble over the skeleton of a man, covered over by dust that apparently had been disturbed recently. Under the bones, Peebles finds a Torridity newspaper, dated 30 years before. From the top of the third page a strip had been torn—the message found in the cartridge of Alex Peterson's revolver! As Peebles and Deacon turn to leave, they are startled by the sound of someone entering the mine.

Suddenly the light flashed into the man's face—Roy Hammond!

Chapter 27 A MYSTERIOUS VISITOR

The light came from an electric flash and we saw vaguely the figure of a man in the darkness behind it. But his face was invisible and his body was so distorted by the leaping shadows that I could not tell whether he was large or small. Nearer came the light and we backed still further into the tunnel. The man turned the beam on the auriferous wall, but instead of focusing it on the gold vein he ran it up and down the wall and over the floor beneath it, as if he were looking for something. When he had done this for several minutes he stepped through the beam into the main tunnel and flashed the beam ahead of him over the walls and floor. The darkness behind the torch still concealed his face.

He proceeded down the tunnel and the darkness thickened again. "Who is it?" Henry whispered. "I don't know. I've an idea he's after that snuff-box." Henry nodded. "Get a look at his face. It may be Hyde. Don't show yourself." We waited, steeped in silence. The darkness began to retreat as the man returned. Brighter grew the light. He passed the small tunnel which concealed us, playing the beam before him. Coming to the slash, he stepped into it and again swept the auriferous wall with the beam. Deacon's hand tightened cruelly on my arm. I could feel him straining forward like a hound on leash. The man played the beam up and down, to and fro, still without revealing his face. Was it Hyde? Somehow, I thought not. We must see his face. But could we manage it without disclosing our presence? Deacon was on the point of rushing out upon him when the man suddenly turned the light straight upon him and full upon his own face. If Deacon's fingers hadn't been biting my arm like diamond drills I should have cried out in amazement. The man was Roy Hammond, the San Felipe lawyer! Deacon's breath blew gustily on my cheek and I knew he was as hard put to it to keep from rushing out on the man as I was myself. I had never cared for Hammond overmuch and as I stared at his meaty face he was less attractive to me than ever. He looked perplexed and dismayed, but as we continued to watch him his head inclined toward the gold vein and avarice also became a part of his expression. Then Hammond swung the torch downward and his face was again lost in shadow. Flashing the beam to and fro, up and down, he turned and made his way back along the slash. The light was completely gone before we permitted ourselves to speak or move. "Roy Hammond!" Deacon muttered in bewilderment. "Jerry, Furie, Mrs. Lundy, Dillon, Hyde and—Hammond." I couldn't help murmuring ironically. "Your field of investigation is widening, Henry. Shall you let him go?" He did not answer for a moment. "Yes, I think so," he said warily. "Where did you leave the car?" "In one of the sheds at the mine. He won't see it unless he goes up there. What do you think his game is?" "I don't know. Probably he was after the snuff-box. That couple with Hyde. Neither of them would want it found here. The thing's got me baffled, John." This delighted me. "An excellent state of mind," I said. "As soon as a man admits his fallibility he begins to get somewhere. What next?" "San Felipe. I am going to work on Hyde, Hammond, and Mrs. Lundy." "You haven't found her, yet?" "No. Queer, isn't it? A woman in that get-up. She must have changed it or be lying low. We'll find her, of course. Are you coming with me?" "Yes," I said. "I've had enough of Skull Valley for a while. I'll send a mechanic for my car. What about Furie?" "He'll be here when we want him. I doubt if he would survive anywhere but in the desert." As we made our way along the slash I dwelt silently on my own reasons for wanting to return home. My desire to see the children and to hear Jerry account for his extraordinary flight to Skull Valley was not the least of them. You may be sure. And I don't think I ever longed for anything quite so much as I did for the sound of their voices and the sight of their eager faces. And then, also, I wanted to relate my experiences to MacNair. How would his brutally logical mind interpret them to me? Yes, I had a good deal to look forward to. Neither Furie nor Hammond was in sight when we emerged into the canyon, but as we came out into the open desert I caught the flash of a windshield on the trail which led across the valley. Deacon had seen it, too.

"That'll be Hammond," he said. I nodded. "He's not going by Fitchfork. I'll bet he didn't come by it, either." Wheel tracks were visible in the gravel at our feet and it was evident that Hammond hadn't gone up to the mine. "Probably he doesn't know we are here," Deacon grunted. The sun was lustier than ever and by the time we reached the mine buildings Deacon was muttering profanely and mopping his face with a sopping handkerchief. He found nothing in the abandoned plant that interested him, and when we had each eaten a couple of sandwiches and refreshed ourselves of the warm water in the canteen, we set off. As Jerry's flannels were in the back seat there was no need to stop at Torridity and I was mighty glad to see the last of its huddle of buildings vanish over my shoulder, for the town had become nearer than I liked to burying my old bones. A crackling in my pocket reminded me of the newspaper we had found in the mine tunnel and I carefully spread it out before me. (Copyright, 1929, Wm. Morrow Co.)

ERROR IN SPEED RECORD OF MAJOR CHARLES TUTZ

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—The actual speed record for seaplanes set by Lieut. William G. Tomlinson, U. S. N., in the Curtiss trophy here last Saturday, has been placed by the National Aeronautical Association at 162.52 miles an hour. An error of the timer had previously set his speed at 175.01. The revised figure, however, is almost five miles an hour better than the previous seaplane mark which the late Major Charles A. Lutz, of the Marine Corps, set at 157.60 last year.

THE modern, high-compression, high-speed motor demands an oil that will stand up under the excessive heat generated and will function as near perfectly as is humanly possible under the conditions prevalent in today's motors. The problem has been to secure in one oil the best qualities of the finest paraffine and naphthene crude oils. In our laboratories we have perfected a blend of lubricating oil made from two crude oils. It has advantages only to be found in a two-base oil. Typhoon Claims Scores Of Lives Through Manila

Manila, May 29.—(AP)—The death toll in last Friday's typhoon in Southern Yeyete province was reported at 112 today as communication with that section was re-established. First reports of the storm, received here yesterday, gave the number of deaths at 10.

Some of the towns in the typhoon area still were isolated when the casualty list was compiled. The Philippine Red Cross undertook relief work and the executive bureau here authorized provincial officials to spend 1,000 pesos ($500) for the benefit of the sufferers.

Original reports said six villages in Yeyete province had been inundated by continuous rains. This account also indicated that the heaviest loss of life had occurred in the vicinity of Sogod and Antiguio.

DON'T FORGET THE FAMOUS ONSLOW COUNTY HAMS

To the people of Greenville and surrounding territory, I am due an apology for kidding them with the famous Onslow county ham in my former advertisements.

The name of Robert E. Lee in my advertisement gave me an inspiration to do my duty and speak thusly:—A gentleman by the name of T. J. Morton wrote me last week he had a lot of nice hams to sell and would be glad for me to come down and look them over. The name Morton is also an inspiration, knowing W. Z. Morton to be the best diplomat, as a tobacconist both with the farmer and the buyers in Greenville, in my estimation. I ran across him three miles from Jacksonville yesterday and I found this T. J. Morton was also a diplomat in putting up the finest hams I ever saw, the most beautifully smoked and preserved to my taste. So much was I impressed with these hams I bought his whole smokehouse, hams, shoulders, sides and all. It was the most beautiful lot of smoked hams I have ever seen during my past 25 years experience in Onslow county, and I have seen many.

Speaking of diplomats, I refer to both W. Z. Morton and T. J. Morton, not as crooks or schemers, but as men who are honest and reliable and know their business in their line, and everybody respects their judgment.

If you want one of these famous Onslow county hams, the most beautiful I ever saw, I am not kidding nor fooling anybody, but speaking straight from the shoulder, honestly and sincerely. Call

SHOE CONCERN WINS SUIT IN CIVIL COURT

Hamilton-Brown Co. Awarded $650.00 Judgment Against B. G. Abeyounis.

A jury sitting in the civil term of Pitt County Superior Court in this city yesterday afternoon awarded judgment for $650.00 to the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Company against B. G. Abeyounis, local Syrian merchant.

This was the only case disposed of following the mistrial in the Barnes' damage suit against the Atlantic Coast Line railroad.

The case against the local merchant resulted from an account which he is alleged to have owed the shoe company. He contended that a considerable amount of goods purchased from the company had been returned and that he had not received credit for it. The representatives of the shoe company tended that they had no record of such returns and produced a considerable amount of testimony to bear out the contention.

PREVENTING TYPHOID FEVER

On another part of this issue there appears a schedule of the typhoid treatment clinic to be held throughout the county. The prevention of typhoid fever is something that should interest every person in our county and it is to be hoped that these clinics will be well attended. The ever increasing efforts for the prevention of this disease in this county is resulting in a healthier and wealthier county and as time goes on we hope to reach the stage when a case of typhoid fever in this county will be unheard of. In order to help bring this about it is up to every citizen to see to it that he or she is inoculated and see to it that their neighbor receives the treatment also. It has been proven that typhoid fever can be practically eliminated if persons will take the preventative treatment and in the face of such facts it is pure downright foolishness to take a chance of contracting this disease when it can be prevented.

Let's strive to prevent even a single case of typhoid fever in our county during this summer. Being inoculated now is the surest way to accomplish this.

THE SOUTHERN TEXTILE STRIKES

The strike in the rayon mills at Elizabethton, Tenn., ends on terms which represent a distinct concession by the employers. The primary cause of conflict in the second phase of the strike lay not in wages or hours, but in the companies' resistance to unionization. Organizers were even deported by force. Now the companies agree not to discriminate against union members; they will take back all workers except those who have committed some act which reasonably justifies discharge; they install a new and trusted personnel officer, and they agree to meet a committee of strikers in order to adjust any grievances. Various other Southern strikes, some for wage increases and some against "speeding-up" have also succeeded.

But no gains in wages, hours or union recognition count for so much as the success of this Southern strike movement in calling national attention to the conditions in Southern mills, and in giving the workers some sense of unity and strength. These labor disturbances, involving 10,000 employes, burst out in widely separated communities in the Carolinas and Tennessee, and for widely different objects. Yet they occurred as if in concert, showing that in a number of States the labor movement had suddenly reached a new level. They are likely to leave their mark in State legislation—in South Carolina a legislative committee has already made a sympathetic report. They have gained the attention of the United States Senate. The Federal Council of Churches has just asked for a careful survey of the textile industry by some Federal agency. Employers of Southern operatives have had it impressed upon them that henceforth these workers cannot be regarded as "docile" under a just treatment. This spring's epidemic of strikes may yet be looked back upon as a landmark in the history of Southern labor.—N. Y. World.

ABOUT TOWN

"Greenville people should respond to the appeal of Mayor J. C. Lanier and buy liberally of the poppies offered for sale by the Auxiliary of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion today and tomorrow," declared a citizen today, as he watched the young women pin countless poppies upon people along main streets of the city. "The poppy is emblematic of the suffering which world war heroes endured on foreign battlefields and funds derived from the sales will go to the relief of suffering ex-service men at O'reen and other hospitals throughout many parts of the nation."

"Don't turn a deaf ear to the appeal, 'Buy a Poppy,' to be heard along all the busy thoroughfares today. Buy liberally and in that way show your appreciation of the services of those who paid the supreme sacrifice and those who today lie in some hospital battling against the inroads of disease resulting from participation in the great war overseas."

"The gathering of the tobacco warehousemen of Eastern Carolina in this city Saturday is looked forward to with more than passing interest by Greenville tobaccoists," said a well known member of the industry today. "This is the first time in five years Greenville has had the privilege and honor of entertaining the two hundred or more warehousemen of the belt, and it is a safe bet we are going to do our best to make the session one of the most outstanding."

"It is only appropriate that this gathering should be held in Greenville and Pitt county. The county is the largest producer of bright leaf of any county in the world, and it is natural that a meeting held in its midst should be one of unusual interest and importance."

"Important problems are to come up for consideration at this session of the warehousemen. They usually do at sessions of this kind because the warehousemen serve thousands of farmers and have to look out for their interests at these annual meetings."

"It looks like the creamery is going to become an actuality in Greenville," declared a member of the Greenville Merchants Association today, referring to the meeting of the first of the week when the project was again discussed at length. "Greenville has been in need of an enterprise of this kind for a number of years. Now that it is in sight every business should use its influence in making it possible. A creamery would not only offer a more complete supply of butter and milk to the people of this community but would also open up greater opportunities to the hundreds of farmers in this territory. In fact, it would enable the farmers to go into the 'cow' business to an extent never before contemplated in this locality. It would offer a source of consumption for thousands of gallons of milk and put the farmer in a new field of endeavor that should prove lucrative indeed."

"Attend the games played on the local lot and in that way show the boys you have faith in them—actually believe they are coming out with a big share of the glory of this old circuit hanging from their belts."

"With our lowered property valuation it certainly looks as if we might receive a much larger part of the equalization fund this year than last," asserted the visitor to Raleigh, speaking of the visit to Raleigh yesterday of the Pitt county delegation to the Equalization Board. "We only received $11,000 last year when numbers of counties with lower valuation were awarded several times the amount we received. It really didn't look fair, but from the basis of the board's figures, it was all that we actually deserved."

"With revaluation of our property which has taken place since last year, we are in line now for increased apportionments, and the proposition has been put before the board in such concise terms that they realize our turn has come to get more of the fund."

"We are going to need this extra money with the cut in school appropriations, and it should come in mighty good in keeping with Pitt county education somewhere near normal."

what comes after the oratory Frederick the Great once wrote to the Duchess of Gotha: "Heaven is on the side with the biggest battalions." Paraphrasing this epigram, we might say that sometimes in selling cars, "Heaven is on the side with the biggest adjectives." With the support of a heavy barrage of superlatives, even a weak car may take a customer by storm. But the real test comes after the oratorical barrage has lifted and the car must try to live up to the oratory—when it must speak for itself. Market Report

COTTON MARKET

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today as a decline of 2 points to an advance of 3 points. Relatively easy Liverpool cables were offset by reports of heavy rains in the southwest and expectations of bullish features in the weekly report of the weather bureau. Offerings were comparatively light and the market soon turned firmer with July selling up to 18.64 and December to 18.85 or 5 to 6 points net higher.

The advance met some realizing, however, and reactions of 3 or 4 points appeared by the end of the first half hour. Trading became quiet after the early spurt of buying had been supplied. Private cables reported covering and trade calling in the Liverpool market. A private report was published here placing the end-May condition at 70.3 and the indicated acreage at 45,490,000, an increase of 3.2 per cent. Private condition reports at this time last year ranged from 67 to 72.8 per cent and averaged 69.2 per cent.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, May 29.—(AP)—Big export purchases of North American wheat estimated at more than 3,000,000 bushels, did a great deal to turn wheat prices upward today.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-2c higher; corn unchanged to 5-8c down; oats at 1-2c decline to 1-2c gain, and provision unchanged to a rise or 17c.

STOCK MARKET

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Revised weakness of the firm immediate shares threatened to bring about another sharp reaction in the stock market today, but the selling pressure was checked by an unusually brisk demand for the rail and public utilities. Several of them reached new high ground. Trading was only moderately heavy in volume, indicating that speculators were showing little disposition to extend commitments over the holiday, particularly in view of the possibility of adverse developments in the credit situation or the Paris negotiations conference.

All money rates unchanged at 6 per cent and held steady at that rate throughout the morning with a fairly liberal supply of funds available despite the holiday currency demands of between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000. The shipment of $3,000,000 in Argentine gold to New York was announced during the day, but the metal will not reach here before late in June. With about a billion dollars in stock subscription "rights" coming due next month, together with heavy treasury, financing, interest income tax payments and large dividends, and interest obligations, holders are looking for another stringency in cash money.

There were several features in developments in the day's news. President Hoover of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation reported that second quarter earnings would be at least as good as the first quarter. Iron and steel prices were reported to be on the upswing, and the industry is expected to continue to expand. It adds that shipments continue at a high rate and iron production for May will show little if any reduction from that of March or April, completing the third month of virtually capacity operations.

Commonwealth Power, which is shortly expected to announce a stock split-up, ran up 1 point to an new high at 184 1/2. Commercial concerns jumped 3 3/4. Gains of 1 to 3 points were quite numerous in the industrial and public utility groups.

There were a few soft spots. Advances Rumely common, which sold as high as 104 7/8 last month, dropped 11 points to 94 and the preferred, which had been as high as

COTTON MARKET

119 6-6 dropped 10 points to 48 both new lows for the year. Industrial Rayon dropped 10 1/4 points to a new low at 79 1-2. American Express fell 1-4 and International Harvester 3/4.

Woman Claims Altitude Mark At Los Angeles

Los Angeles, May 28.—(AP)—A new altitude record for women pilots claimed today by Miss Marvay Crosson of Los Angeles, who apparently reached a height of 24,000 feet in a flight here yesterday.

Official recognition of the feat awaits the checking of the altimeter by the Bureau of Standards at Washington, D. C., under the supervision of the National Aeronautical Association by Miss Crosson, was set by Mrs. Louise McPhetrid-Thaden, of Oakland, Cal., at 20,270 feet, early this year.

Col. Lindbergh Still Secluded

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride today continued in the seclusion which swallowed them up half an hour after their surprise marriage.

The couple disappeared when they drove out of the estate of the Morrow's at Englewood, N. J., shortly after the ceremony Monday afternoon and have not been located since.

The nearest thing to a clue to their whereabouts was the colonel's Blue Falcon plane which stood

BUILT BY BUICK

SATURDAY

On this new automobile has been concentrated all of Buick's seasoned manufacturing experience gained through its long leadership in fine car building. The Marquette has the distinction you expect in the smartest of modern cars, with bodies by Fisher, and the added value you anticipate in a Buick-built product. But foremost among all its fine qualities is a type of performance never before achieved in any car of comparable price. See the Marquette when it goes on display this coming Saturday.
