CONFEDERATE HOSTS HONOR DEAD HEROES

Annual Ball Tonight And Parade Tomorrow To Conclude Charlotte Reunion.

Charlotte, June 6.—(AP)—Survivors of the gray-clad host of the Confederacy today paid honor to those who have passed away; transacted the business of the annual reunion and rested in preparation for the big events—the annual ball tonight and the parade tomorrow.

The dead of the Confederacy were memorialized at noon today in a service at the army with Dr. Albert Sidney Johnston, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, as the speaker. This afternoon election of officers and selection of the 1930 meeting place were to close the business of the reunion.

Wearing with the frolicking and play of the first two days many of the 3,500 veterans registered up to this morning, remained in their rooms during the day. Tonight they expected to take on a renewed taste of youth with the grand ball when the dances of the Sixties and Seventies were to be revived. The veterans were assured of having the dance floor to themselves for the first hour or so of the grand ball. Rules bar all men except veterans from the building until after ten o'clock when the sons of Confederate veterans and other men will be permitted to enter.

The excitement of renewing old acquaintances and being able once more to recount to comrades the experiences of 65 years ago brought to a few of the veterans to their beds. At least a dozen were in hospital and today J. W. Hancock, 88, of Eldorado, Ark., died at the emergency hospital of heart trouble. Most of the others were suffering largely from fatigue and over-excitement.

The veterans were expected this afternoon to select Blount, Miss., near the home of Jefferson Davis, for their 1930 reunion. Blount is the only city that has applied for the reunion and Capt. Edmund Wiley, commander in chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, who is managing the reunion, has announced that it undoubtedly would be chosen. Gen. R. A. Sneed of Oklahoma is the only candidate mentioned up to today for commander-in-chief.

British Ambassador Practices Preaching

Washington, June 6.—(AP)—The recently announced willingness of Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, to forego the diplomatic privilege of importing liquors into the United States apparently has been put into practice.

Although formal announcement was lacking today and attaches refused to confirm reports that the ambassador has decided not to import any more intoxicating liquors for his embassy, they gave inquirers to understand that such action was contemplated.

While such a course by the embassy would not be unprecedented, since several missions now are known to import no liquor whatever, while others use their importations solely for members of their staff. The entire diplomatic corps was considerably stirred over the reported action of Sir Esme.

Attaches of the embassy and those close to the ambassador said that such a move could be considered a logical one in view of his recent statement that he would be willing to forego the privilege if requested to do so by the American government. Similar sentiments were expressed by the ambassador's private secretary, Michael Wright, in a letter to James T. Carter, prohibitionist and lumberman of Lynchburg, Va.

Wright's letter was in reply to one from Carter urging that the embassy relinquish the liquor privilege and was interpreted as being the stand of Sir Esme on the liquor question. At that time it was explained at the embassy that Sir Esme believed the liquor privilege was a question to be discussed openly and to be dealt with as the head of a mission desired.

Prepare Another Sentence Against Harry F. Sinclair

Washington, June 6.—(AP)—The mandate of the United States Supreme Court under which Harry F. Sinclair and Henry M. Day will be sentenced to jail for jury shadowing will not be issued before June 20th.

The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia will issue the constitutional papers after receiving the mandate, which can be stayed only by order of one of the Supreme Court justices. Unless this takes place, the order is expected to be issued before thirty days for contempt of the Senate.

Japanese Steamer, Reported Burned, Arrives in Siberia

JAPANESE STEAMER
London, June 6.—(AP)—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Tokyo today said the Japanese steamer Ugo Maru had arrived at Kamchatka, Siberia. Authorities were said to be investigating previous reports the vessel had burned and its crew of 43 and 200 passengers lost.

The ship was under charter by the Soviet Fish Trust and was bound from Kamchatka to Vladivostok.

Girl Suicides By Jumping Out Of Window At Hotel

Chicago, June 6.—(AP)—Miss Barbara Cole, 25-year-old show girl, jumped 12 stories to her death last night, giving as her reason only this notation on the flyleaf of her diary: "I love Ed Page, 1200 Astor street."

The fashionable apartment from which the actress jumped is at 1220 North State street. A moment before her death she called switchboard operator, saying: "This is Miss Cole. I am going to jump from the window."

The operator rushed to the front of the building and looked out. The body of Miss Cole was there.

Edwin Page, a broker, lives at the Astor street address given by the actress. He said he had known her for some time. Yesterday afternoon, he declared, she telephoned, declaring he was growing "cold and distant" toward her.

"She threatened to jump out the window," Page said, "but I thought it idle talk and hung up."

Shoots Girl And Then Kills Himself

Spartanburg, S. C., June 6.—(AP)—C. H. Case, 18, shot and killed Dona Bradley, 20, almost within sight of her mother's home on Cove Mountain, near Saluda, N. C., today and then went to his home and killed himself by firing a charge from a shotgun into his head.

The young man, according to details of the story received here this morning by long distance telephone from Saluda, accosted the young woman as she was returning home after spending the night with her sister, Mrs. Clinton Case. Case had left his home an hour before, ostensibly to go squirrel hunting. He fired one shot into the girl's body, leaving her lying beside the road.

Relatives of both could assign no reason for the shooting.

Wanted For Murder, Radio Man Escapes

San Francisco, June 6.—(AP)—William Tallman, young radio operator, arrested Tuesday on board the steamship Admiral Benson, on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Virginia Patty at Los Angeles, was missing when the vessel docked here last night.

Investigation showed that the accused man had unscrewed the lock on his stateroom door with a piece of iron torn from a radiator. Not knowing the prisoner had fled, Captain Martin Shost placed a guard on duty outside the door.

U. S. Gunboat Runs Aground

Shanghai, June 6.—(AP)—The United States gunboat Luzon, 575 tons, was aground today at the breakwater at the mouth of the Hwang Pu Kiang, but was in no danger. It was expected to be refloated at high tide at 5 a. m. Friday.

The accident occurred where the Hwang Pu flows into the Yangtze Kiang, the ship hitting the breakwater at 10 p. m. Wednesday. Fleet flagship officers insisted today there was no danger.

The Luzon, which had been at the mouth of the Yangtze at target practice was in the hands of a civilian pilot when the accident occurred.

ONE KILLED BY BLAST AT NEW ORLEANS TODAY

New Orleans, June 6.—(AP)—A terrific explosion in the chemical plant of the Gulf and Valley Cotton Oil Company up the river from New Orleans at noon today was known to have killed one man and injured at least ten.

The force of the explosion blew an eight by twelve boiler through the roof of the chemical building four hundred feet into the air and through the roof of a river front warehouse. The chemical house was totally demolished and workmen were strewn over the place.

MANY CASES HANDLED BY LOCAL COURT

Violations Of Prohibition Law And Larceny Cases Predominate Session.

Robert Newton, charged with driving an automobile while drunk, was fined $50.00 and cost by Judge W. L. Whedbee, presiding over the two days session of Pitt County Court in this city. Newton's license was also revoked for a period of 90 days.

This was the first sitting of the court in several weeks by reason of the Superior Court session which came to a conclusion the latter part of last week. Several cases were disposed of. The charges consisted largely of violations of the prohibition law, giving worthless checks, larceny, and infractions of traffic laws.

Sam Clark, colored, charged with abandonment, was required to pay $5.00 a week to the clerk of court for support of his two children, and prayer for judgment was continued.

D. A. Winfree, charged with giving a worthless check, was given a 90-day sentence to the roads, but this was not to become effective until payment of the check of $6.13. The defendant filed notice of appeal to Superior court.

Jake Elks drew sixty days on the roads on a charge of larceny. George Baker, colored, was given 90 days on the roads following conviction of larceny.

Bruce Tripp, charged with receiving and transporting liquor, paid $100.00 and cost and given a suspended sentence of 12 months to the county roads.

Prayer for judgment was continued until September in the case of West Murphy, colored, appearing on a charge of abandonment.

Jarvis Parker, colored, filed notice of appeal to Superior Court following a sentence of 90 days to the county roads for driving a car while drunk. His bond was fixed at $200.00.

Johnnie Norris, colored, charged with assault on a woman, was sentenced to 60 days on the roads and ordered to pay a fine of $25.00 and cost, sentence not to become effective until payment of fine and cost.

Charlie Jenkins, colored, giving a worthless check, drew 60 days to the roads and ordered to pay $3.00. He filed notice of appeal to Superior Court.

David Strickland, charged with driving drunk, was fined $50.00 and cost and had his license revoked 90 days.

Johnnie Pierce, unlawful possession of whiskey, paid a fine of $25.00 and cost.

Charlie Sparkman and Lonnie Dupree, arsons, drew 9 and 12 months, respectively, on the county roads.

Jarvis Parker, colored, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest, was sent to the roads for 90 days.

Italy To Exchange Ratifications With Holy See Tomorrow

Rome, June 6.—(AP)—Exchange of ratifications of the Lateran accords between the Italian government and the Holy See will take place tomorrow in Cardinal Gasparri's own apartments in the Vatican.

It was announced today that the proceedings would be very brief, confined to the exchange itself and to the signing of the process-verbal attesting the exchange.

Immediately after the exchange of ratifications the Vatican gates and the new frontiers of the Vatican city will be closed by the Swiss guards. The famous bronze doors, which have never been more than half-open since 1870, will be opened wide, however.

President To Attend Lock System Opening On The Ohio River

By JAMES J. WEST.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Washington, June 6.—(AP)—President Hoover will attend the celebration marking the completion and opening of the Great Lock System on the Ohio river extending from Pittsburgh to Cairo and forming a part of the inland waterway system.

The ceremony, which will continue three days, will be held this fall at a time convenient to the president. It probably will be in October at which time the chief executive hopes to be able to visit other places in the country, including Texas and the Mississippi river flood district.

Hoover Would Transfer Prohibition Forces To Department Of Justice

Washington, June 6.—(AP)—Hardly had President Hoover's recommendation for a study a joint congressional committee of the transfer of the prohibition unit to the justice department been received by the House and Senate before a number of administration leaders indicated they were prepared to create such a committee immediately.

Mr. Hoover's message was as follows: "In order to secure the utmost expedition in the organization and concentration of responsibility in administration of the federal bureaus connected with prohibition enforcement so greatly needed to improve their effectiveness, I recommend that the Congress appoint a joint select committee to make an immediate study of these matters and to formulate recommendations for consideration at the next regular session."

"I shall be glad to appoint a committee from the departments to co-operate with such a committee of the Congress. The national commission on law observance and enforcement will also co-operate through their studies of the departmental organization."

"The subject involves the transfer of parts of various bureaus and agencies from certain departments to others and it includes as well the necessary for the unification and strengthening of our border patrols, both in connection with prohibition and illegal entry of aliens. As the question embraces numerous laws and regulations in several bureaus, it will require extensive consideration which if given jointly by such committees of the Congress and the departments prior to the regular session will save many months of delay."

Senator Jones, of Washington, author of the nation's newest and most stringent dry law, said he would be glad to offer a resolution in the Senate for appointment of the committee.

It was generally agreed at the capitol that legislation would be necessary to bring about such a transfer.

Some senator indicated they regarded the recommendation as the forerunner of a general reorganization of the prohibition service with a view to making a gigantic and determined, if undramatic attempt at enforcement of the law.

Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, announced his willingness to support the recommendation for a joint congressional committee.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, ordered a quorum call of the Senate to obtain a full attendance for the reading of the presidential message. It was received without comment from the floor.

President Hoover today recommended to congress the appointment of a joint select committee to study matters pertaining to the transfer of the prohibition unit from the treasury to the justice department, and other subjects in connection with the administration of the bureaus having to do with dry law enforcement.

While the session was behind closed doors, Mr. Mellon was understood to have mainly presented his views on the enforcement of prohibition and narcotic laws which come under the jurisdiction of the Treasury Department.

Called for its second series of meetings since its organization, it had a nine-room suite of offices in a building near the Department of Justice at its disposal, and scores of government surveys and statistical studies and hundreds of letters from all parts of the country for its consideration. Conferences with a number of government officials interested in its problems also had been arranged.

Until today the commissions have been pursuing their tasks in a single room in the Department of Justice, but the influx of documents and messages about their nationwide investigation of the breakdown of obedience necessitated into a speedy move into large quarters.

BALDWIN WILL LEAVE OFFICE NEXT FRIDAY

Prime Minister To Surrender Seal Of Office To King George Tomorrow.

London, June 6.—(AP)—Ramsay MacDonald, Britain's new labor premier, announced today that work on the problem of unemployment already had been started.

This morning Mr. MacDonald visited No. 10 Downing street and had a discussion with J. H. Thomas and Philip Snowden, two of his labor colleagues, who probably will have posts in the new cabinet. On returning to his Hampstead home this afternoon, Mr. MacDonald said: "I went to Downing street to set moving organization of the work in connection with the first real handling of the unemployed problem. The work has already begun."

London, June 6.—(AP)—Retiring Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and the ministers of cabinet probably will surrender the seals of their offices to King George tomorrow.

Ramsay MacDonald and his labor cabinet in such case will receive them Saturday, the function of intermediary in the transfer being one which only his majesty, can fulfill.

Although Mr. MacDonald was believed to have revealed names of those he was considering for cabinet posts to King George in the short formal conversation he had with him yesterday, their identity and allocation in the cabinet remained as much a mystery as ever.

Speculation continued, one report being that the premier himself would take over the foreign office portfolio, considering it the keystone of his administration. Another report was that Sir John Sanger, lord justice of the appeal court, would be named lord high chancellor in the new government.

Sir John called upon Mr. MacDonald at Hampstead yesterday, possibly relative to the forming of the cabinet. In 1919 he headed a royal commission to investigate the coal mining industry.

Continue Fight For Tariff Protection Of Southern Cotton

Memphis, Tenn., June 5.—(AP)—The south's fight for tariff protection for its long staple cotton and cotton seed oil products today was under way again at the direction of the southern tariff conference, delegates at the meeting here yesterday decided to hold another conference in Washington to place their views before the finance committee of the Senate, which is considering the tariff bill passed recently by the House.

Resolutions adopted by the conference stressed the delegates' belief that a high tariff should be placed on long staple cotton imports, and that Philippine coconut oil products should not be left duty free.

The resolutions complained that long staple cotton was left on the free list by the House tariff bill and approved "a national policy of protection that treats the products of all sections and all classes alike."

A committee was appointed to arrange a hearing before the Senate committee.

Fifty Buildings Wrecked By Fire

The Pas, Man., June 6.—(AP)—Fire fighting crews sent by airplane were battling today to save what remained of the mining settlement of Cranberry Portage, 51 miles north of here.

Flames which swept into the town from the forests Tuesday, destroyed 50 structures, including a score of dwellings, two hotels, the railway station, several stores and the hospital.

After being checked for a time, the flames blazed up again under a strong east wind and were threatening the older section of the town. Women and children, made homeless by the fire, were brought here aboard a rescue train and were being cared for by local residents.

Roy Brown, western Canada airway pilot, who took fire fighters in to reinforce the local crews, said the heat above the town was terrific as the flames leaped from building to building.

Another town of 600 was threatened with destruction by fire at Mile 83, two miles southeast of The Pas, where flames which originated in one of the houses, destroyed 16 homes.

FRENCH COUNT HELD AS HEAD OF BOOZE RING

New York, June 6.—(AP)—Count De Polignac, said to be of the old French nobility, was arrested by undercover prohibition agents today and charged with being the European agent of an international rum ring. Seven cases of whiskey were seized in his suite at the Plaza Hotel.

The count's arrest occurred in the general roundup of 37 men suspected of conspiring to violate the prohibition act.

William J. Calhoun, chief in charge of the federal prohibition roundup, said a pile of papers relating to activities of the ring were found in Count De Polignac's suite.

Another raid conducted on the headquarters of the ring resulted in the arrest of two other alleged leaders, William Bartels and Philip B. Gowen.

Bartels and Gowen occupied offices at 200 Fifth avenue, under the firm name of the "God-Bart Co. exporters and importers." Two other men arrested by the police were William B. Flynn and George Heath.

Count De Polignac was scheduled to sail Friday on the French liner Paris according to Calhoun, the count's planned departure led him to order the raids today.

The ring has been using warehouses to store its stock, Calhoun declared, and was fully organized with salesmen and delivery truckmen.

Europe Minority Taken Up By League

Madrid, June 6.—(AP)—Problems of Europe's minority peoples faced the council of the League of Nations, convening today as a special committee, for their consideration before its regular session June 10.

Questions before the session today principally were phases of difficulties peoples of various nations have had with the governments exercising authority over them; governments which for them, are controlled by people of foreign tastes and standards.

Planes Threatened By High Tides At Old Orchard, Me.

Old Orchard, Me., June 6.—(AP)—The huge French plane Yellow Bird, and the American monoplane Green Flash, waiting here for a break in the weather which will permit a take-off for Europe, almost came to grief late last night when a high tide threatened to wash them off the beach.

Fire department officials and volunteers, warned of the heavy sea, reached the French ship just as the heavy sea started pounding its fuselage. The Green Flash, standing beside the Yellow Bird, also was in danger. Ropes were attached and the planes hauled high upon the beach.

Weather conditions, while improving, will not permit the planes to take-off for another 24 hours, it was said.

HOUSE IN GRIP OF FIGHT OVER R CENSUS ISSUE

Senate Has Three Important Matters Up For Consideration Today.

Washington, June 6.—(AP)—The House today was confronted with the most difficult controversial situation it has encountered since the special session began, while the Senate had three on its hands.

Until two of the four are disposed of—the House controversy over re-appointment of its membership and the revival in the Senate of the issue over the export debenture plan of farm relief—all talk of a summer vacation for Congress is likely to be of tentative nature.

The Senate controversies had to do with repeal of the national origins basis for the fixing of immigration quotas and the demand of Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, for reconsideration of the nomination of Joseph P. Cotton, New York attorney, to be under-secretary of state, neither of which is on the administration's pre-vacation program for Congress.

The House entanglement was the obnoxiousness of its adoption of the "alien exclusion" and "force bill" amendments to the pending Senate bill to carry out the constitutional requirement of reapportionment of the House membership in conformity with population changes disclosed by each decennial census, and to provide for the 1930 enumeration on the basis at which it is proposed to make the first reapportionment in 1930.

The former amendment proposed by Rep. Hoch, Republican, Kansas, would exclude aliens from the census count of which reapportionment is based. It was opposed by eastern representatives and those from states having large urban and industrial centers, drawing support among the delegations from rural districts which stand to lose representation in a reapportionment, including some from the South.

The "force bill" amendment introduced by Rep. Trinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, would exclude from the count all citizens older than 21 who are not permitted to vote in the states in which they live and, while drawing support from the east, was opposed by most southern representatives.

Both were subject to another vote. The export debenture controversy was thrown back into the Senate, where the proposal was put into the farm bill over vigorous administrative opposition, by the decision of the Senate and House conferees to recommend its elimination after adjusting all other differences in the relief measures passed separately by the two chambers.

The House was called upon to act on the revised farm bill first, but little opposition appeared in sight there in view of the fact that it follows rather closely the measure passed by that chamber early in the special session.

The national origins contest, that has been in progress for several days, was expected today to reach a vote tomorrow.

The Colton controversy arose after the New York attorney's nomination had been confirmed yesterday in open session—the first open session confirmation of a presidential nomination in many years. Reconsideration was demanded by Senator Wheeler, who said he wanted time to consider some questions raised with respect to Colton's record. Protests, it was understood, were presented to the foreign relations committee on the ground that Colton was a member of William G. McAdoo's law firm when it was retained by Edward L. Doheny, the California oil man, who subsequently was acquitted of conspiracy with Albert Fall in connection with the naval oil lease agreements entered into while the latter was secretary of the interior.

Says Commission Should Conduct Open Hearings

Washington, June 6.—(AP)—A demand that the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission conduct its hearings in open rather than executive session was made today by Senator Hawes, Democrat, Missouri, who announced he would ask Congress to express itself in favor of such a policy if published reports of the commission's plans for executive sessions were true.

CONFEDERATE VETERAN DIES AT CHARLOTTE

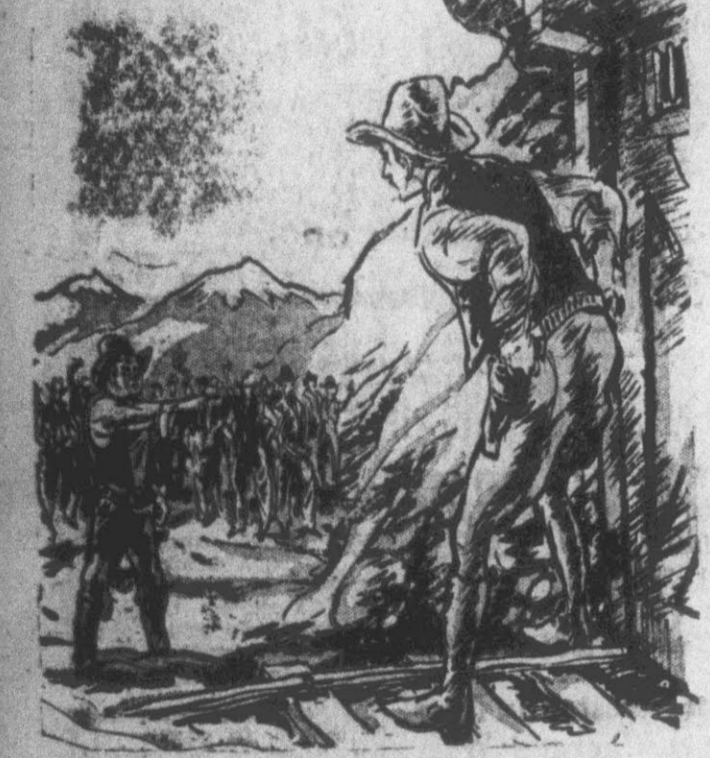

Charlotte, June 6.—(AP)—J. W. Hancock, 89, Confederate veteran of Eldorado, Ark., died early today at the Emergency hospital here, maintained in the tented camp of veterans attending the 39th annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans.

GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

SYNOPSIS: The fugitive returned Jerry Ogden and his fiancée, Lucy, are ready to face the charge that Jerry killed his father. With Deacon and Peebles listening intently, Jerry relates the story of his father's last six hours as Alex Peterson—six hours of grim horror that changed the gambler of Skull Valley into a dead Andrew Ogden—a story that Ogden first revealed to his son a few hours before he was murdered. Peterson's brother, Jerry, had been given a miners' trial and sentenced to hard. Breaking away from the men, he robed to his brother's shanty. Peterson locks his wicket into the Two Brothers mine and defies the meacing mob.

Chapter 34
Jerry's boyish eloquence had carried me back to the Torridity of

The mob swooped toward Peterson, but fear of his 45's stopped them yesterday. The man I had known as Andrew Ogden was before me, the evening sun glinting on the gold bullets at his waist and on the gold filigree of his gun butts. I heard the shouting of the enraged miners rushing at him.

"In those days a huge overhang of rock stuck out of the mountainside above the doc," Jerry was saying.

"The crowd swooped onto the mine property, making a fearful racket, but when they saw dad thumping his gun belt, they stopped and rolled on in a semi-circle, hem-hide near the safe, and if the thief showed up, step out on him.

"At this point in his story Lundy broke into cold-blooded laughter. Yes, he'd gone up to his office at sunrise. And the Flinkerton man? Lying on his back with his hands lashed to his legs and a gag in his mouth! The window was broken in and so was Lundy's tin-can safe and Lundy was out a matter of $10,000.

"According to Lundy's the description of the man who shot up the faro game resembled Uncle Jerry.

"Well, before Lundy had locked up the receipts Sunday morning he mixed a handful of salt with the gold dust. That afternoon he and a couple of prospectors had gone to Uncle Jerry's room and found a couple of bags of dust—and there was salt in them.

"That's the damndest lie your tongue ever let loose, Lundy," dad flashed at him. "I'll give you 10 seconds to swallow it!"

"It ain't no lie, Ten-to-One," he said. "I wish it was. We took the lad down to hall, gived him his trial fair and square, an—well, 300 citizens uh Torridity heard him admit he done it! That's right, boys?"

"Dad went sick at the roar the mob put up. I couldn't dispute the testimony of 300 witnesses—some of them his own men. What devilry had got into the lad?"

"Where's that Flinkerton man?" dad demanded of Lundy.

"But Lundy wasn't telling. Now, looky here, Ten-to-One," he argued. "There's a wad uh money missin' an' we got an idee Jerry had a pardner. If he had, the sharp may be able to rope the pardner in, too. The boy's admitted he done it. Ain't that enough?"

"A pardner?" Dad had jumped at that. It might account for Uncle Jerry's fool pay.

"God help you if you are lying, Lundy!" dad threatened. "Then he addressed the mob. 'Listen, men: I am going into the mine to talk to my brother. The door'll be open—you can rush us if you feel like it—but there's be 12 of you shaking hands with the devil!'"

"Dad unlocked the mine door and swung it open. Jerry was waiting for him on the other side of the door. Dad grabbed him by the shoulders.

"You heard what Lundy said?"

"It's true, Alex," Uncle Jerry groaned.

"Dad blew up, then. 'You damned fool!' he stormed. 'If you wanted more money why didn't you come to me?'"

"Dad stood at the door of the tunnel, staring off across the desert. Lundy and his gang quiet and waiting. Dad was thinking; Jerry was his kid brother. He shouldn't have brought the boy to this sink-hole. Yes, it was his fault.

"Scared, son?" he asked gently, facing Uncle Jerry again. "Let's hear about it."

"It appeared that before the first robbery 10 weeks back Uncle Jerry had lost a couple of thousand dollars. Dad was crooked, he said. Uncle Jerry had used the gold in the office and the money in the bank. Dad, and he'd held up the mine. Those jobs gave him him the money he'd lost but he'd had a couple hundred ounces of the clearest card sharps in the skul. They took $6,000 from him. Two thousand was his—or Lundy's—the rest . . . was dad's. There had been a couple hundred ounces of gold in dad's safe.

"You can imagine what dad felt. I think he'd sooner have had Uncle Jerry stick a knife in his back.

"Uncle Jerry went on with his yarn. He'd been going with a man who had drifted into the camp recently. This man had suggested pulling off something big—Lundy's holiday receipts, say. Uncle Jerry didn't want to go in that deep, but he had to put dad's gold back before Tuesday morning and, well, they'd done it.

"For God's sake speak to me, Alex!" Jerry begged, after finishing his story.

"Dad softened—he couldn't help it. 'It hits me pretty hard, son. Who was in with you?'"

"I'm not telling," Uncle Jerry said. "Dad nodded. 'A right.' I won't hold that against you. Here's one of my guns. Don't use it unless you have to. I'll do the best I can for you. I'll get you out somehow. I'm going to lock you up now and talk to the boys. So long, son."

"He gripped Uncle Jerry's hand and went out."

Much Interest In S. S. At Good Hope

Good Hope Sunday school at Pollard's schoolhouse, on the north side of the river, is undergoing a period of considerable growth at this time, according to officers.

The Sunday school was reorganized sometime ago with W. C. Dresbach, of this city, being elected as superintendent, and D. C. Creech, as secretary. The school meets at 3 o'clock every Sunday afternoon.

Attendance has been increasing steadily since reorganization, it was stated, and last Sunday there were forty people present. It was expected that crowds would continue to increase from Sunday to Sunday until the entire neighborhood has been enrolled.

Famous Onslow County Hams.

W. H. Allen will be on deck again tomorrow with the flag of the famous Onslow county ham flying in bright and golden colors. The finest of the season.

The doctors have at last proclaimed they are very easy hams to digest. One doctor's wife bought six last week to take to a summer resort.

Mrs. Judson Blount of the firm of Blount-Harvey Co. bought three of these large hams yesterday to take to Lake Junaluska. She says that these famous hams eat better up there than anywhere else.

Dr. James K. Hall, eminent neurologist of Richmond, Va., and a former North Carolinian and graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, writes his friend Jim Cherry—"the two famous Onslow county hams, sent me were the finest meat I have ever eaten in all my life."

Besides the aroma of its gravy on eggs, grits, rice, and many other things makes it so good the children and the old folks smack their lips with a charm that makes them want to embrace their loved ones and the whole family.

Don't forget that tomorrow I will be right on the job with the goods. Sold 300 pounds of these fine hams and bacon and 100 bags of meal to W. L. Dunn at Pinetops yesterday. Mr. Dunn is a cracker-jack and a go-getter when it comes to merchandising.

Sold 500 pounds of these famous hams in Farmville this morning, agricultural center of Eastern Carolina, to Mr. S. M. Chandler, wholesale and retail dealer, of that thriving city. Ten of these hams weighed 100 pounds. Mr. Chandler is one of Farmville's clever and wide-awake business men. Call

We must confess we don't know what the trouble with the ball team is, but whatever it is we wish those in charge would find out and remedy it. This business of staying in the cellar is not to our liking.

WHEN MONEY STUTTERS

In Germanw the popular American "easy-payment" plan is called "stuttering." The exact German word for it is "stottern," which has risen to good usage and is now to be given recognition in the dictionary as meaning both "to stutter" and to buy on installments.

America prides itself upon facility for coining words and phrases. Is not slang a synonym of the apt and happy speech which rolls so easily off the American tongue? Well, it appears this nation has a rival. Here is Germany fashioning a peculiarly pert and spicy term. Money talks, Americans say. The Germans are still more expressive. They say it stutters when paid out of the installment plan.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

ABOUT TOWN

"I don't know how badly crops have been damaged in this section, but I venture to say it is not near as bad as the majority think. We have some kind of a crop scare every year, and when all has been said and done, it isn't half as bad as the pessimists predict. That the excessive rainfall has damaged the crops to no little extent can not be disputed, but it is impossible to determine the full extent of the damage at this time. Before howling calamity as lots of people like to do the best thing to do would be to sit tight and await developments. In the final analysis, it will not be as bad as the blue picture painted at this time."

"That Eagle guiding the destiny of the Kinston baseball club isn't as peaked as he once was," observed a Greenville fan today, looking over the standing of clubs column and noting the rapid pace the Eagles have been making the last several days.

"This club stayed in the cellar consistently the first part of the season, but several days ago they developed a spurt that not only sent them out of the cellar but gave them a pretty good lead for fifth place. Of course, when they evacuated they did so in honor of the Tobaccoists from Greenville who have taken possession of the new home just like they mean to stay there indefinitely.

"But one can never tell about these ball clubs. They always do exactly what you expect they will not, and upon the basis of this assumption, I am still hoping Greenville will be able to stage a drive that will take them out of the atmosphere of the standing of clubs pit."

"It is to your advantage to keep tab on things back home while spending your vacation this summer," said the manager of circulation of this paper today.

"The best way to do this is to subscribe to the Reflector, the only daily newspaper published in the county. The columns of this paper contain all of the important happenings in the community every day, and you should be able to glean many points of information from its columns during the hot summer months away from home.

"Don't neglect this important matter—get in touch with the circulation department immediately and let them put your name on the Reflector's lists."

"The Tobaccoists will be on their home grounds the remainder of the week and the first two days of next week," mentioned officials of the club today.

"If you haven't been attending any of the games recently, why not go out and watch the boys pull out of their position in the cellar."

"Several new men have been added to the lineup and from now on we expect to have some baseball that will gladden the hearts of the hundreds of fans."

"With the college and city schools closed, Greenville people will now settle down to pass away the long summer months in the best way open to them," observed a citizen today.

"Numbers of the more fortunate will be leaving in a few days for the beach or mountains to spend the hottest days of the summer, while those "out of luck" will stay at home to do the best they can with the same old problems that have been confronting them day after day until they have become a part of their lives.

"But the summer is short at the best, and even the man forced to sit at his desk and work hard on the hottest days will find that time still has wings and flits by just as quickly as it always did. But the majority of us will miss the life of the fall and winter months, and mark time until the chosen season of the year rolls around again."

"Miss Louisa Hooker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hooker, is to be congratulated upon the splendid record she established in high school during the past four years," declared a patron of the school today.

"It is no small honor to win the highest honors of the class over a period of four years and then have added to it the record of the most outstanding student in history of the senior class."

"Next year this young woman will go away to finish her education at some higher school of learning, and Greenville people are expecting to hear of her winning even greater recognition. It is not often two separate and distinct honors such as those conferred upon her by the high school come in the course of such a short time and Greenville people are just as proud of the record as is the young lady herself."

BUGS ANNEX FIRST GAME WITH LOCALS

Greenville and Goldsboro opened a two-game series at the Fair Grounds in this city yesterday afternoon. The visitors won by the score of 4 to 3. The game contained two or three brilliant spots, but aside from that it was just another ball game with the visitors walking away with the big end of the score.

Rose, Greenville pitching ace, had the Bugs literally eating out of his hands until the seventh frame when they touched him for three safeties to send a similar number of runners over the rubber to win the game. It was a terrible jolt to the hopes of the thousand or more fans who realized that the victory had been snatched away from them despite all that could be done.

Rakel did the mound work for the visitors. He did it in such way that despite the handicap of his own wildness he was able to turn the locals back inning after inning without an increase to the three tallies. He allowed nine hits against his opponent's nine.

Nalbock, Greenville short-stop, proved to be the most outstanding player of the game. His catch of Bingham's line drive in the sixth that gave his club a double play was one of the most brilliant performances seen here this season. Patton, right fielder, of the visiting club, also came in for considerable recognition with a long run catch of Pasquella's drive in the seventh frame.

Both clubs were unusually erratic in the field at times. Greenville's third-sacker, usually the most reliable fielder of the club, was credited with three bad plays which resulted in scoring. Williams, at second base, got credit for the fourth one.

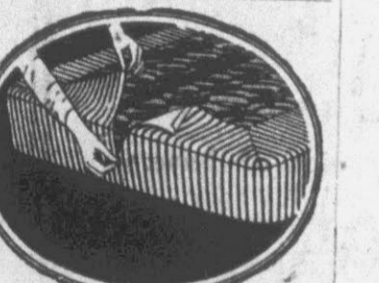

The Bugs will conclude the series here this afternoon. Tomorrow the Pirates from Wilmington will invade the Tobacconists' camp for a two-game series.

With several new men in the lineup, it was expected today that the remaining games of the week would be attended by large crowds.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET, N. Y. STOCK LIST

New York, June 6.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at unchanged prices to a decline of 10 points and sold about 5 to 11 points net lower during the early trading under liquidation and some local and commission house selling promoted by favorable weather reports. Better crop advices from the central belt, relatively easy Liverpool cables and unfavorable trade reports from Manchester were contributing factors but there seemed to be a fair demand at 10.30 for July and the market was quiet at the decline. Cable advices from Liverpool reported liquidation and a poor outlook in the cotton future market and said the cloth turnover for India and China was disappointing as the decline in silver was restricting business.

STOCK MARKET

New York, June 6.—(AP)—Stock prices continued to move upward today with new leaders being brought forward in the food, railroad, equipment and railroad groups. The buying continued to be rather selective in character with the outside public still showing little inclination to re-enter the market on a large scale.

Call money renewed unchanged at 7 per cent and appeared in fair supply at that figure. Wall street is still worried over the possibility of sharp surges in call money rates later in the month. Several new pools, which have been organized recently, are understood to have suspended the beginning of operations until next month on the theory that a definite easing of credit prospects is likely at that time.

Curtis, Marlin, Rockwell, Timker, Roller Bearing, Air Reduction and Treadwater Associated First preferred, were marked up four to five points.

The reported falling off in building construction last month had a tendency to restrict bullish operations in the steel shares, despite the excellent character of the May production reports.

REIGN COUNT WINS

Epson, England, June 6.—(AP)—Reign Count, American winner of last year's Kentucky derby, finally won a race today in his invasion of England, romping off with the coronation cup.

The race was over the mile and half up and down hill cove of Epsom Downs—the same over which the derby was run yesterday. It was Reign Count's fourth start on English turf and the first time he has finished in the money.

Running second to America's champion three-year-old of 1928, owned by Mrs. John D. Dertz, was Athford, owned by William Barnett of Ireland, whose Crago won the Epsom Derby yesterday. Ashford had previously taken the measure of Reign Count at Kempton, W. S. Sings' Plantago was third in the field of nine. Reign Count was quoted at 10 to 1 to win, 9 to 4 and Flamingo 5 to 1.

The Greenville Swimming Pool, on 14th street, is open every day. Water changed weekly, and continuous flow of fresh water at all times. A good place to make the hot days pleasant.

FEELS STRENGTH INSTEAD OF PAIN

Lady Says She Was Aching in Back and Sides, Before She Took Cardui.

Hones Path, S. C.—"I suffered a long time with my back and sides, before I knew about Cardui," says Mrs. J. B. Decker, of Harper Street, this city. "I was thin, and my color was a pale yellow. I was in awfully bad shape.

"I tried several things but nothing seemed to help me much. About five years ago, I just happened to be reading a paper which had an account in it of a lady who had been benefited by taking Cardui, so I went for a bottle.

"I was agreeably surprised to find myself much better after I had taken it. In some way I had strained my side by heavy lifting, and I had let it run on too long.

"Gradually I grew stronger; the periodic pains in my back and sides disappeared, and my color got over so much better.

"I am delighted with Cardui and can heartily recommend it. I have taken it several times since my first experience with it, and it has always helped me. I wish I could tell all suffering women to try it."

CARDUI USED BY WOMEN
FOR OVER 50 YEARS

Cardui is a hygienic remedy, should be used by women as a safe, effective detergent. 50 cts.

Now more than a MILLION FRIGIDAIRES have been built

WITH every department of the Frigidaire factories running at maximum capacity, with orders greater than at any time in the history of the business, on Thursday, May 16th, the Millionth Frigidaire was built

In both the household and commercial fields
Frigidaire leads in sales to customers

THERE are definite reasons why more Frigidaires are in use than all other makes of electric refrigerators combined; why it is the choice of home owners, of builders, of apartment owners, of architects and engineers, the choice of factories, railroads and steamship lines, the choice of hospitals, restaurants, hotels and florists, the choice of ice cream companies and soda fountain manufacturers.

Beauty, power and convenience

Frigidaire has surplus power that meets every emergency in the hottest weather, and yet operates economically always.

All Frigidaire household cabinets are beautiful in design. They are finished in gleaming porcelain enamel, or white Duco—clean and easy to keep clean. The mechanical part is completely enclosed and so quiet that you don't hear it start, stop, or run. Food shelves are elevated so that stooping is unnecessary.

Equipped with the famous "Cold Control"

And in addition to the standard temperature regulator which automatically maintains an ideal temperature in the food compartment, Frigidaire is equipped with the famous "Cold Control" that speeds the freezing of ice cubes and makes possible dozens of new desserts and salads.

It is these definite advantages that have made Frigidaire the choice of buyers throughout the world.

Low Prices

Because Frigidaire has achieved the million mark—because it is the overwhelming choice of the majority—the economies of quantity production have made prices so low that every model is an outstanding value and represents a tremendous saving to the buyer.
