MORE ARRESTS IN GASTONIA STRIKE ISSUE

Strikers To Bring Men Like Clarence Darrow To Defense Of Those Accused.

Gastonia, N. C., June 10.—(AP)—Strike leaders and union officers today went ahead with plans for the defense of 60-odd strikers from the Lora Mill held in connection with the fatal shooting of O. F. Aderholt. Gastonia chief of police. Meanwhile officers continued to sound up and jail additional strikers who were about the headquarters of the National Textile Workers' Union last Friday night when Chief Aderholt and three patrolmen were wounded by gunfire from within the building as they attempted to approach it. Aderholt died Saturday morning. Alfred Waganknecht, national secretary of the Workers' International Relief, announced that James Reid, president of the National Textile Union, would arrive today or tomorrow to assist in the strikers' defense. Miss Juliet Stuart Poyntz, secretary of International Labor defense, said her organization would come to the defense of those jailed. "We will bring attorneys like Clarence Darrow and Arthur Garfield Hays here to aid them," she said. Tom P. Jimison, Charlotte attorney, who defended strikers arrested some time ago for violating Gastonia's anti-parade ordinance, has been engaged by the local union chapter as a member of the defense council. "There were a few more" they wished to apprehend, but declined to name them. Most of those arrested so far have been charged with "assault with a deadly weapon." Several men believed by officers to have been those who actually fired on the police and have been spirited from the jail here in order to avoid possible mob violence in the wake of Aderholt's death. Among these is Fred Ervin Beal, southern organizer for the National Textile Workers' Union. He was arrested in Spartanburg, S. C., Saturday on a warrant charging "conspiracy to murder."

OCEAN FLIER FORCED DOWN IN ICELAND

Captain Ahrenberg, Bound From Sweden To N. Y., Lands 150 Miles From 2nd Stop

Reykjavik, Iceland, June 10.—(AP)—Pushing his trans-oceanic plane, The Sverige, to the last inch of its endurance, Captain Albin Ahrenberg landed just before midnight at Skaptarok, southeast Iceland, just missing sighting in the wave-tossed Greenland Sea. The forced landing put him down 150 miles short of his destination, this city, which was to have been his second stop on a trans-Atlantic flight which had its beginning at Stockholm, Sweden, and began its second lap at Bergen, Norway, yesterday. Captain Ahrenberg's original intention had been to refuel here and speed on toward New York, stopping next at Iqvit, Greenland. Brief radio messages received here from the plane indicated at least some small repairs would have to be made which would delay its arrival here and perhaps cause postponement of the trans-Atlantic venture. News of the plane's trouble was flashed to the world by its radio later in the evening after it had passed over the Faroe Islands, midway between the mainland and the island. The plane asked air, saying a gasoline feed pipe had burst. Previous dispatches had said cold adverse winds were holding back the flight. A message received at 11:23 p. m. (6:23 p. m. E. S. T. Sunday) said the plane had been forced down at Skaptarok because of engine trouble. Skaptarok is on the sea on the far southeastern edge of Iceland.

Jones Resolution Favorably Reported

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—The Jones resolution to carry out President Hoover's recommendation for a joint congressional committee to study the reorganization of prohibition enforcement agencies was reported favorably to the Senate today by its Judiciary committee. The committee would be composed of three senators and three representatives. Specifically, President Hoover recommended that the committee study matters pertaining to the proposed transfer of the prohibition bureau to the department of justice. The resolution was introduced by Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, author of the law increasing the maximum penalties for prohibition violations, shortly after the president's special message recommending such action had been received at the capital.

Father Foch Dies At Home In Paris

Paris, June 10.—(AP)—Father Germain Foch, Jesuit priest and younger brother of the late Marshal Ferdinand Foch, died today, less than three months after his soldier brother passed away. Father Germain died in the hospital of the Brothers of Saint John, where he has been ever since he was brought to Paris from his home in Montpellier on March 21, dying on the same day the marshal died. He was 80 from a long standing heart affection he was not informed of his brother's death until the next day.

INTREPID MOUNTAINEER FALLS TO HIS DEATH

Innsbruck, Austria, June 10.—(AP)—telling he was going to faint and to cover a cliff Paul Seidel, intrepid mountaineer, climbing the "Speckspitze," yesterday with a comrade, Rudolf Reider, commanded Reider to sever the rope which held them together. Reider obeyed instantly and the hero mountaineer tumbled 900 feet to his death.

Woman Pilots Plane On Her First Trip Up In The Clouds

Galveston, Tex., June 10.—(AP)—A woman who was riding in an airplane for the first time piloted the craft here yesterday while her brother hung beneath it working desperately to repair a strut that was damaged in the take-off. The thousands of international pageant spectators that watched the monoplane circle lazily over the beach were unaware of the plight of the ship with its three occupants. The skill of Lee Rausinger, 23, pilot and the calm courage of Mrs. D. A. Jung and her son, D. A., Jr., 7 year old, triumphed. While a little group on the east beach that knew of the flier's plight watched with abated breath, Rausinger hurriedly instructed his sister in the manipulation of the controls and swung himself out a window. Throwing a rope around the dangling strut he worked it up an eighth of an inch into its socket and regained his seat at the controls after his sister had carried out his instructions almost precisely.

Warren Asks For Waterway Survey

Washington, D. C., June 10.—Congressman Lindsay Warren introduced a bill in the House Saturday of the greatest importance to North Carolina and Virginia and to shipping interests generally. The measure calls for an examination and survey of the waterway from Norfolk, Va., to the Sounds of North Carolina, including the Dismal Swamp Canal. Under the bill the District Congressman hopes to get recommendations from the engineers to Congress regarding the water level in Lake Drummond, the weir at the head of the feeder leading from Lake Drummond, the feeder canal itself, the widening and deepening of the Dismal Swamp Canal itself, the construction of new and larger locks at both ends of the Dismal Swamp Canal, with the motor sills at a lower level, and the transfer of the Dismal Swamp Canal from the Inland Waterway from Norfolk, Va., to Beaufort Inlet, N. C., of which it is now an adjunct, to the project, waterway from Norfolk, Va., to the Sounds of North Carolina, of which it is a link. The United States recently took over the Dismal Swamp Canal as authorized by Congress Mr. Warren's measure would make it one of the first class waterways of the nation.

Dutch Authorities Take Action Against Bandits After Attack In Curacao

The Hague, Netherlands, June 10.—(AP)—The Dutch authorities moved promptly today to deal with the situation created at Willemstad, Curacao, Saturday night when a force of 600 men described as Venezuelans, overcame the military police and seized the store of arms in the police barracks. Information was sparse, but from such as was obtainable it appeared that a body of armed men, alleged to be Venezuelan Nationalists, Saturday night took charge of the waterfront, maintaining complete mastery of the docks for several hours. Several police were killed and others wounded in an attempt to oust them. Finally the governor, the garrison commander, and several soldiers were placed aboard the small steamer Maracaibo, of United States registry, which was in the harbor. The ship put out to sea and to an unannounced destination. Sunday evening the Maracaibo returned to port with the governor general and garrison commander aboard. They said their captives had landed some miles north of La Vela, Venezuela, about 200 miles west of Curacao, capital of the country. The Maracaibo was left in their hands for return, none of them being any the worse for their experience. The general explanation was that the men, who were said to be led by a general Urbina, planned some sort of a movement in Venezuela and took the officials, here with them to prevent reprisals until they had landed on the mainland. Nothing has been heard here of the sequel in Venezuela. Willemstad, Curacao, Dutch West Indies, June 10.—(AP)—The governor and garrison commander of

TWO DIE IN SUICIDE PACT IN NEW YORK

Bodies Of Actor And Actress Found In 51st Street Apartment Yesterday.

New York, June 10.—(AP)—Margaret Lawrence, stage star and widow of Wallace Edinger, was shot to death in her East 51st street Pent House apartment yesterday. Sprawled beside the bed on which her body was found was the body of Louis Bennison, stage and screen star. Both had been shot through the left breast. On the bed was a heavy calibre pistol. Police said Bennison evidently shot Miss Lawrence then killed himself. A suicide agreement was hinted in two notes found in the apartment. One note pinned on a door said: "The sunset has a heart. Look for us there." The handwriting of this note was identified as that of Miss Lawrence. It was signed "Tianna." The other note was on one of the twin beds in the room where the bodies were found. It was unsigned and read: "Please notify Mr. Mussen at the Lambs' Club at once." The bodies were found by Mrs. Gertrude Chalmir, a friend of Miss Lawrence, who left herself into the apartment after no one answered her ring. Miss Lawrence was in a night gown. Brown fur brae feet, Bennison was fully clothed. "Finger" liquor bottles and glasses were strewn about the attractively furnished apartment. Benigno Mussen, author and actor, identified the pistol as one belonging to Bennison by the initials "L. B." on the handle. He said the actor was subject to a suicide mania after periods of drinking. Mrs. Chalmir said she had called at the Pent House last Wednesday and while she was visiting Miss Lawrence, Bennison came out of another room waving a pistol. "This will finish us both," Mrs. Chalmir quoted the actor as saying. She said Miss Lawrence remonstrated with him and he put the pistol in his pocket. Miss Lawrence was in her fortieth year. Bennison was 45 years old.

J. F. Brady Dies In Belvoir Section

J. F. Brady, age 54, died at his home in Belvoir township last night at nine o'clock following an illness of more than a month. Funeral services were conducted from his late home this afternoon at three o'clock by Rev. M. A. Woolard of Winterville. Burial followed in the Spain graveyard about a mile away. Mr. Brady was a member of Gum Swamp Free Will Baptist Church. He lived his entire life in Pitt County and was engaged in farming. Besides his wife, he is survived by three children and one half-sister.

Hold Son For Father's Death

Bryson City, June 10.—(AP)—Returning at midnight last night from Phymers' Ferry, where the little Tennessee river was dragged in vain yesterday for the body of Charles Davis, missing for several days, Sheriff Patterson brought back with him Davis' son, Macu Davis, aged about 20 years—the third arrest in the case since last Tuesday when the finding of a pool of blood, empty rifle shells, and Davis' hat led to the belief that the man had met with foul play. The missing man was last seen on Friday evening, 10 days ago, in a quarrel with the son, witnesses have said. The two were said to have been in a controversy as to whether the elder man's daughter should be permitted to continue to see Flynn Birchfield, Birchfield and a friend, Homer Taylor, were arrested and jailed in Bryson City. Mack Davis, brought here last night, was jailed with the other two. Failure to find the body leaves the officers with little evidence. Yesterday being the ninth day since Davis' disappearance, it was hoped by authorities that it would rise to the surface of the water. When they failed to locate it, Sheriff Patterson expressed fear that it had been placed in the river, weighted with rocks. Nets were placed along the river, however, and Sheriff Patterson today expressed hope that the body might be found today. Preliminary hearing for the three men was set for next Saturday morning.

Torch Murder Principal On Trial In N. J.

Elizabeth, N. J., June 10.—(AP)—Henry Colin Campbell, alias Close, today went on trial before Supreme Court Justice Clarence E. Case for the murder of Mrs. Mildred Mowry, of Greenville, Pa., with whom he became acquainted after a brief correspondence through a matrimonial agency, and later married bigamously. Francis A. Gordon, counsel for the prisoner, was prepared to offer a plea of insanity. Campbell was said to have confessed he shot Mrs. Mowry in his car shortly before dawn February 21, and that he dragged her body to the roadside, poured gasoline over it, and set it afire. Through a pair of shoes on the woman's feet she was identified.

HOUSE MARKS TIME WHILE SENATE WORKS

Debuture Plan Of Farm Relief Comes Up For Consideration Today.

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—The Republican quarrel over farm in the Senate, flared forth in a bitter exchange today when Senator Borah, of Idaho, challenged President Hoover's opposition to the export debuture proposition and Senator Allen, of Kansas, asserted that the Idahoan had failed to advocate the plan before the Republican convention last summer. "No man will hesitate to support a proposition," he said, "that can be demonstrated will bring effective and immediate relief." The special session, he said, was called entirely because the farmer needed assistance. He added that the farmer was competing with the cheapest labor of the world because of the low tariff on the commodities he produced.

Plan Settlement Of Church-State Strife In Mexico

Mexico City, June 10.—(AP)—Conferences beginning today between President Emilio Portes Gil and emissaries of the Roman Catholic Church generally are expected to bring an agreement between the two, permitting re-opening of Mexican churches. While the President said Saturday the Mexican government would consent to no change in its religious laws, clauses of which led to the Mexican Episcopate suspending services in the churches almost 3 years ago, it was felt a different or more lenient interpretation might eventuate in the next few days which the church bishops would find acceptable.

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—Paul J. Baker, Atlanta banker, convicted June 9, 1927, for using mails to defraud, has been paroled.

Engineer Dies

San Antonio, Tex., June 10.—(AP)—Henry C. Harrison, 79, engineer who conducted the original survey for the Pacific-Atlantic canal across Nicaragua for the United States government before decision was reached to build the canal through Panama, died today.

New British Minister May Visit Washington

London, June 10.—(AP)—Possibility that Premier Ramsay MacDonald shortly would go to Washington for conversations with President Hoover was advanced today with intimations from two quarters that such a trip was probable. The conversations, should they eventuate, would include not only naval disarmament but the entire scope of Anglo-American relations. Since Canada's interest in the outcome would be vital Premier Mackenzie King, of the Dominion probably would be asked to participate. Most authoritative word of the proposed trip appeared in the Daily Herald, the labor organ, which said the prime minister desired personal consultation with President Hoover on Anglo-American relations and was willing to go to the United States for that purpose. The paper said the prime minister was willing to take the first opportunity for this direct contact with the American chief executive

Atlantic Fliers Plan To Hop-off Sometime Tuesday

Old Orchard, Me., June 10.—(AP)—Unless an unexpected storm develops over the Atlantic today, a take-off of the motoplanes Yellow Bird and Green Flash for Europe tomorrow morning appears probable.

GOVERNORS TALK ABOUT OIL SAVING

Wilbur Speaks At Conference On Conservation At Colorado Springs.

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 10.—(AP)—Secretary Wilbur today outlined to the governors of the oil producing states the belief of the federal government that "some form of co-operation between the states and the national government would be the most effective method of eliminating waste and conserving our limited oil supply." Speaking before a large assembly of state, federal and oil company officials who had accepted the invitation of President Hoover to gather here to consider the possibility of an inter-state compact designed to eliminate over-production of oil by limiting and controlling drilling, the interior department head declared that uniform state legislation and uniformity of enforcement should be the aim of the conference. This identical conservation legislation, he said, could be created by a simple compact of the states ratified by Congress. "It is important," the secretary declared, "that there be stability of uniform laws over a period of years with such flexibility as is possible through the activities of an informed joint commission which would enforce such laws intelligently."

American Citizen Killed In Mexico

Mexico City, June 10.—(AP)—Dispatches from Tampico today said Joseph H. Ross, an American, whose home in the United States is unknown, was killed in a fight with two men last night. His assailants, described as "objectionable individuals," attempted to force their way inside the Southern Cross hotel, of which he is manager. Ross was struck on the head and plunged down the stairs, dying shortly afterward. His assailants were arrested.

Afghanistan Not Recognized By U. S.

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—Afghanistan has been added by the state department to the list of nations toward which the United States maintains a non-recognition policy. The regime of former King Amanullah, who recently fled to India when a revolution swept his country, was recognized by President Harding's administration in 1921. State department officials said today, however, that the apparently chaotic conditions throughout the country will preclude recognition by the United States of the regime of the new king, Habibullah, known to his people as "the Water Boy."

New Index System Is Completed Here

Installation of the new index system in the department of real estate conveyances of the register, of deeds office of Pitt county was completed today. The work of preparing the new index has been under way for the past eight months. Twenty-two volumes are included in the index. The work was done by the Mae Feagar Hall Indexing Company and is known as the "Cottico Family Name" system. The twenty-two volumes are arranged in such a way as to greatly speed up the work of persons desiring to obtain information relative to real estate transactions. The same system will be installed in the office of the clerk of court of Pitt county and it was understood that work in this department would begin today. This system of indexing is now being used by 75 per cent. of the counties in North Carolina.

SIXTY STORES TO CLOSE ON WEDNESDAYS

Half-Holiday For Summer To Become Effective Next Wednesday Afternoon.

The half-holiday for employes of stores and other business houses of the city will become effective next Wednesday at 12 o'clock, it was stated by the soliciting committee today. Approximately sixty stores and other business establishments of the city have signed up to observe the regular closing hours on Wednesday afternoons throughout the summer months. Several more names are expected to be added to the list by Wednesday. Members of the Ministerial Association endeavored to have the closing date changed to some other date, it being contended that the closing on Wednesday interfered with prayer services on that evening. Those who had charge of the closing arrangements stated, however, that Wednesday was being generally observed by other towns throughout the state, and decided to do as the others are doing. The following stores have signed to close: Pitt Shoe Co., Carolina Gas Co., J. C. Penney Co., Greenville Supply Co., Tolar Jewelry Co., Dad's Barber Shop, Proctor Hotel Barber Shop, Miller & White, Inc., A. B. Flington & Co., Palace Barber Shop, Star Barber Shop, W. E. GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

SYNOPSIS: Jerry Ogden tells his father's story of the night which changed Alex Peterson, picturesque gambler, into Andrew Ogden, wealthy philanthropist. Peterson's younger brother had been sentenced to hang for robbery by a miners' trial. Peterson, defying the mob, locks his brother into the Two Brothers mine and demands that the hanging be delayed until morning. "Jerry," the brother, admits stealing Joe Lundy's gold and Peterson foresees in Lundy's invitation to play poker some ghastly proposal, probably a gamble for the life of "Jerry." Desperate, Alex accepts.

Chapter 37 PAINTED LADIES.

Jerry's voice had broken with emotion. His face was haggard. "Lundy's eyes were as hard as rock drills. MacCoy and Richey were staring out of their inhuman faces at him. Dad was asking himself: Would the minters back him up if he won? They might, if the issue were put to them in a sporting light.

Peterson's heart stopped—the fourth queen was staring at him!

Lundy's play was said to be crooked. MacCoy's and Richey's were known to be. But dad had never yet met a crooked player he couldn't trip. What should he do? Suddenly he made up his mind.

"This goes for the three of you," he said threateningly. "One crooked play and I'll give you a gold filling."

Lundy slapped his holster. "Yuh'll play?"

"Dad nodded and Lundy's eyes blazed. He asked if there was any limit. Dad said there wasn't and Lundy's teeth clicked together.

"They looked at each other, dad and Lundy, with complete understanding in their eyes. Dad knew that he was in for the biggest hour of his life and I guess Lundy felt much the same about himself.

"Lancy spread out half a dozen sealed packs of playing cards on the table and sat down opposite dad. MacCoy sat on dad's left, Richey on his right. Lundy took off his glasses, saying he didn't suppose dad'd mind if he changed them for his other pair. These were for distance."

"Dad had nothing to say. Everybody knew that Lundy was near-sighted and that he used a second pair of steel-framed glasses for card playing and reading. He took them out of a case which he kept in the breast pocket of his gray drill shirt and put them on. The lenses of this pair also were eight-sided, but they were much thicker and they magnified his eyes.

"Meanwhile, dad had picked out a deck at random, glanced at the seal, broken it, and drawn out the cards. He counted and shuffled them and spread them out face down. The backs were covered with an intricate design of red and white lines, circles, and flourishes. Apparently they were all right and he pushed them towards Lundy.

"Dad always carried a fair-sized roll with him in those days and he peeled off $500 in $5's and tossed it down in front of Lundy. MacCoy and Richey pushed across similar amounts. They had a great deal of money on them.

"They agreed that one another's checks should be honored. Lundy shuffled, dad watching the flash of his hands and the fall of the cards. "Cut!" Lundy grunted.

"MacCoy did it. Richey slid forward a blue chip. Lundy dealing meanwhile. Dad followed the deal closely, but the cards appeared to come straight. Dad held three nines, an ace, and a jack. He discarded the odd cards. Richey asked for three, dad for two. MacCoy for one. Lundy took one himself.

"Dad found a three and a six in his draw, but he felt fairly safe and when Richey dropped he shoved forward a stack of reds. MacCoy saw the bet Lundy flung his cards down in disgust, exposing a couple of pairs. Dad's three nines were good over the three fours in MacCoy's hand and he drew in the pot.

"For a minute or two dad had been aware of feet moving behind him and as he glanced over his shoulder he saw that half a dozen men, Rich and Webb among them, stood around the door. There were many more behind them and he could hear others coming up the stairs. They must have sensed something of the significance of the game, he said, for none of them moved towards the table. Were there men to see the greatest victory of his life—or his ruin?

"Richey shuffled, Lundy cut, and Richey dealt. The men at the door were quiet now. You could feel the tension quicken, as dad said.

"On Richey's deal dad got two jacks which he drew to. MacCoy asked for three cards, Lundy for two. Richey too three himself. Dad had caught another jack and on the strength of it bot stack of reds. MacCoy raised the stack. Lundy meditated, narrowed his eyes at dad for a moment, then saw the raise. Richey dropped and Peterson contented himself with a call. But dad's jacks had gone back on him—Lundy had filled a straight with his two-card draw.

"Dad said the pressure outside had forced several of the men into the room. The room began to reek of cut plug and burning kerosene and sweat. There wasn't much talk. Dad won the third hand. The fourth went to MacCoy, the fifth to Richey. On the sixth hand dad bluffed with a couple of sevens. MacCoy and Richey dropped out, but Lundy had bet $2,000 before he drew back and dad reaped the pot. At the end of an hour Lundy had lost around $4,000. Richey was about even, MacCoy was a little ahead.

"Lundy allowed himself to look disturbed. He leaned forward, drumming on the table. 'We ain't gettin' nowhere.'

"Dad nodded and they stared at each other in silence. Lundy's eyes were hostile, but the look of complete understanding in them was more evident than ever. Lundy leaned back.

"Let's get at it, then."

"Dad couldn't mistake his meaning. Lundy didn't look at either Richey or MacCoy. Dad, of course, had long since realized that they were as unrelated to the issues of the game as the wax figures Lundy had confiscated two weeks before.

"MacCoy cut and Lundy laid down five cards to each. Dad had three queens, a trey, an ace. He had a feeling that the game was coming to a head. His eyes leaped to Lundy's, then dropped to his cards again. Richey discarded three, dad the ace and the trey, MacCoy three.

"Standin' pat, eh?" MacCoy whispered.

"I reckon these'll do me," Lundy's voice shook.

"Dad drew the two cards towards him, wondering what was Lundy's pat hand? The chances favored a full house. A flush was likely, but not to be feared. A straight flush was mighty rare.

"And then dad slipped the index corner of his draw carefully into sight and his heart stopped dead for a second. The fourth queen was staring up at him. He had a hand that was within two of being unbeatable! With the aces broken, only four kings and a straight flush could top him. Standin' pat wasn't an indication of fous and it wasn't likely Lundy had that rare bird, a straight flush. No, dad argued, Lundy's pat hand was either a lower hand or a bluff. And he'd like to see Lundy bluff his four painted ladies!"

Blades-Laughinghouse

Memorial Wedding conducted in Memorial Baptist Church.

The Memorial Baptist Church was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock when Miss Eliza O'Hagan Laughinghouse became the bride of Mr. Lemuel S. Blades, Jr., of Elizabeth City.

The church never presented a more perfect setting than on this occasion. The altar and choir loft were covered with white and surrounded by a trellis fence intertwined with roses. At the rear of the altar was an open gate and similar gates marked the seats within the ribbons. The scene presented a lovely rose garden and was lighted by the soft glow of many candles.

Prior to the ceremony, Prof. J. Henri Bourdelaes, of New Bern, most beautifully rendered an organ program using a number of appropriate selections. Mrs. Knott Proctor, becomingly gowned in white beaded chiffon, and wearing a corsage of roses and sweet peas, appeared in the gateway and sang in her lovely soprano, "Oh, Promise Me," and "Lobsterstern."

As the ushers opened the gates and pulled the runners, Prof. Bourdelaes softly played "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the bridal party entered. The ushers entered singly and proceeded down opposite aisles. They were: Wesley Harvey, John Hassell, Jr., J. Bryan Grimes of Grimesland, and Jas. D. Rogers. They were followed by Swanson Graves, Jr., of Washington, who scattered rose petals in the path of the bride, and Dall Laughinghouse, Jr., who carried the ring in a cala lily. They both wore black Lord Fauntleroy suits.

Proceeding the bride was the Maid-of-Honor, Miss Elizabeth Morton, prettily gowned in a bouffant frock of blue and pink taffeta with slippers to match and carrying an arm bouquet of pink roses and blue delphinium.

The bride entered on the arm of her father and never looked prettier than in her beautiful gown of ivory satin, draped with ruffles, forming a bow in the back with bouffant effect. Her train, also of satin, was appliqued with satin roses and caught at the shoulders with orange blossoms. The veil of rose point lace and tulle was becomingly worn cap effect and the illusion face veil was caught with orange blossoms and embroidered with pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of cala lilies.

She was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, William Houtz, of Elizabeth City. The bride's pastor, Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, performed the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony, while soft strains fell from the organ. Lohengrin's March was played as the bridal party left the church.

The bride's mother wore lavender chiffon with a corsage of roses and valley lilies, and the groom's mother wore black lace with a corsage of roses and valley lilies.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Laughinghouse, of this city. She is pretty, attractive and accomplished, and is prominently connected in Eastern Carolina. She received her education at East Carolina Teachers College and Duke University. For the past year she taught at Currituck.

The groom is the youngest son of Dr. and Mrs. L. S. Blades of Elizabeth City. He is popular among a large circle of friends. He received his education at Duke University and Wake Forest College. He is a member of the Sigma Chi and Sigma Upsilon fraternities. He is practicing law in Elizabeth City.

The bride and groom left for a wedding trip to the western part of the state, after which they will make their home in Elizabeth City. The bride wore for traveling an ensemble of gray and blue with close fitting blue hat and gray fur.

Immediately following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Laughinghouse, parents of the bride, entertained the bridal party, out-of-town guests and a few close friends of the bride and groom at a buffet supper at the Woman's Club. The spacious dining hall was appropriately decorated with cut flowers. Misses Mary Lipscomb, Margaret B. Hassell, Elizabeth Ferguson and Frances Morton assisted in serving.

The out-of-town guests here for the wedding were: Dr. and Mrs. L. S. Blades, Mr. and Mrs. Evans Blades, Mrs. Camden Blades, Mr. William Houtz, Mrs. Clay Foreman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Derickson, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Melick, Misses Billie and Suzanne Melick, Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Viehe, Frederick, Philip and Ellen Viehe, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Foreman, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Foreman, all of Elizabeth City; Mr. and Mrs. Melick Blades and daughter, of Apex; Miss Muriel Comber, of Rutherford, N. J.; Mr. D. W. Perry, of Nashville, N. C.; Dr. Henry B. Best, of Wilson, N. C.; Mrs. Eva Mason and Miss Patsy Mason of Durham; Prof. and Mrs. J. Henri Bourdelaes, and Mr. Robert Pugh, of New Bern; Miss Elizabeth Wood, of Edenton; Dr. and Mrs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, of Raleigh; Mr. and Mrs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, Jr., of City Point, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Graves, Mrs. Jas. H. McClure, Miss Louise McClure, Mrs. Horace Roland and daughter, Mrs. C. H. Richardson, Mrs. Junius D. Grimes and Miss Eliza Hill Grimes, all of Washington; Mr. Alston Grimes, of Raleigh; Mr. J. Bryan Grimes, of Grimesland; Mrs. W. S. Dunn, of

COLLEGE WILL BEGIN SUMMER TERM TUESDAY

Enrollment Expected To Be Smaller This Session Than In Previous Years.

The twentieth summer session of East Carolina Teachers College will open tomorrow, Dr. L. R. Meadows, director of the summer school, in a recent interview, gave out the information that the summer school will be attended by fewer pupils than in former years. This is probably due to the attitude set up by curtailment legislation. The college will probably have one vacant dormitory during the summer.

At a recent meeting of the Alumni Association, a donation of $500 was made to the college to be used as an additional students' loan fund. The association reserved the right to change the purpose of the donation in case the time should come when it would not be needed for student loans.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors, tentative sketches and plans for the new buildings to be erected soon, were submitted by the architect and approved by the board. These plans included an additional unit to be built to the training school. Also, they included the first unit of the new class room building in which will be housed the department of science and home economics. A new fire-proof administration building is included in the plans, and also an infirmary with a capacity of fifty beds. This building will replace the old infirmary which has a capacity of twenty beds. The old infirmary will be converted into a dormitory.

The college has been forced to curtail in the teaching personnel for next year on account of the retrenchment policy followed by the last Legislature. One teacher has been dropped from each of the following departments: Physical Education, Science and Music. Further curtailment will probably be necessary among the officers and administrative staff.

Harry Thaw's Mother Dies A Pittsburgh
Pittsburgh, Pa., June 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, philanthropist and mother of Harry K. Thaw, died at her home here yesterday of pneumonia. She would have been 87 years old June 14.

Two of her four children, Harry K. Thaw and the Countess de Perigny, of Paris, were at her bedside. Another daughter, Mrs. Geoffrey G. Whitney, was on the way from Boston. Mrs. Thaw's other son, Josiah Copley Thaw of New York, is in France.

After Harry K. Thaw killed Stanford White in New York, his mother was reputed to have spent several million dollars in the successful fight to save him from the electric chair.

Wednesday has been set tentatively for the funeral.

have paid our money to a representative of the power companies and what we are to get in return is advice to sell our power plant to them if we want to get any industries because the power companies through their "influence and friendships," control the situation and without their sanction we can get no industries.
The FINAL $125.00 to pay for the survey was forwarded to the Craig P. Gilbert Company, of Washington, D. C., on May 15, and here is the letter that has since been received by officials of the Merchants Association and the mayor of our city.

After acknowledging receipt of the final payment, one short paragraph of the letter is devoted to an industry which could not be secured for Greenville. Then the writer gets down to business with advice to sell our power plant, as follows:

"It has occurred to me, Mr. Rowlett, that much outside interest would be secured for Greenville if her public utilities were owned by parties who purchased them with the idea of further expansion.
To cite you an example I know of a city of 30,000 population where the power was owned locally, and this city had so many advantages that for years her people wondered why industrial development there was so slow.
"Later outside interests purchased the utilities, and within two months announced an expansion program calling for an initial investment of $30,000,000.00 for a vast power project. The company has since invested large sums for the development of new industries to use this power, and the city now enjoys a wealth of benefits which would never have come to her otherwise.
"By representing capital which will gladly come to your city if the city will sell them its public utilities, the power franchise at least.

"What connection has the city of Greenville with the great public utility interests which are out to make the Southeast an industrial empire? What chance has Greenville in competing for the bigger industrial projects against the prestige, friendships, business relations, advertising, and other influences which are rightfully exerted by public utility companies for the extension of their business?
"By what advantages would accrue if Greenville's utilities were owned by such interests? The answer is simple, Greenville would then be on the inner track of big business, and would have a "Hundred to One" better chance of capturing some of the really big, and worthwhile industrial plants.
"By putting forth our very best efforts for Greenville and are confident that we shall be able to accomplish something within a reasonable length of time. However, big influence would be brought to bear if big influence had capital invested in your city.

"If you should list all of the cities with municipally owned power plants in the South with those cities in the South whose utilities are owned by big well managed companies you would be surprised at the comparative difference in industrial development shown by the two groups.

It must be remembered that our municipal electric light plant has sufficient power to furnish any industries that might want to come to Greenville, and our rates compare favorably and in many instances are lower than in those sections where the power companies have control, but such conditions do not count when it comes to getting industries because of the influence of the power companies, according to Mr. Gilbert, who signed the above letter. When Mr. Gilbert's representative was in conference here regarding the contract for the survey he must have been aware that our city would not consider the sale of its plant. ditions are as stated in Mr. Gilbert's letter, why were we not so informed at the time in order that we could have saved our $500.00 by not having the survey made?
Our answer to Mr. Gilbert and the power companies is just this: If we must give up our rights and let the power companies get a strangle-hold on our people for the sake of industries, we will do without the industries. In our opinion, we do not need the industries had enough to sell out to the power companies. We are not afraid of the big stick you wield.

ABOUT TOWN

"Baseball enthusiasts should refrain from directing objectionable remarks at visiting ball players," declared a local man today, deploring a practice which has become too frequent at the local ball park.
"Unkind remarks do not get us anywhere and only tend to produce a spirit of ill-will between the visiting players and the people of this community. The majority of Greenville people are not in sympathy with this practice and do not uphold those responsible for it.
"The fact should be remembered that the ball players are human just like everybody else, and while they may act contrary to good judgment at times, it is not the duty of the public to attempt to correct them with cutting remarks. That's what the regular method may be begun, if umpires are on the ground for let-necessary. In some of our own

If you would grow big cabbages like I. A. Nichols, of Beaver Dam township, mentioned a prominent grower today, "use home-made fertilizer.
"Mr. Nichols has one of the finest cabbage patches to be found in the county and he didn't use an ounce of commercial fertilizer. He utilized the fertilizer from stables and chicken coops and obtained a richness of soil that enabled him to produce a bumper crop of large cabbages.
"One of the cabbages brought to this city last Saturday afternoon weighed exactly fourteen pounds, and was only one of several hundred from the patch of the thrifty citizen of Beaver Dam.
"Money spent in Greenville real estate is invested soundly," said a business man today speaking of the many new homes under construction in desirable residential sections.
"Residential property has advanced considerably during the past two years, and especially in those sections where growth has been most pronounced. People who have built in these localities have investments that will yield them good returns in years to come, but the majority did not build for speculative purposes but to provide themselves with homes.
"If you have any extra money and want to invest it wisely, Greenville real estate offers a splendid opportunity."

PIRATES AND GIANTS LOSE OUT SUNDAY

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associate Press Sports Writer.

The week-end campaign in the Major Leagues found both the Pirates and the Giants arriving at the end of their spurts, but giving their opponents no guarantee against an immediate resumption. Red Lucas pitched one of his best games of the season to shade the veteran, Jack Scott, and the Giants won by 2 to 1 at Redland field yesterday as the Pirates crumpled before an eighth-round assault at Ebbetts field where the Robins took a 9 to 6 decision.

The defeat of both of the teams currently rated as the most dangerous in the National League enabled the Cardinals and the Cubs to improve their positions a bit. The Red Birds had some difficulty with Claude Willoughby, but bunched their hits in such a way as to win by 5 to 4. Jess Haines was tight in the pinches, and had to be as the Phils' outfit Willoughby's opponent in Chicago, and the Cubs won by 2 to 1 only because Jack Wilson nicked Cantwell for a home run in the seventh after Hornsby had walked.

The Cards climbed to within half a game of the Pirates and remained on a contest ahead of the third-place Bruins. The margin between the Pirates and the Giants was unchanged at three and one-half games.

With Babe Ruth in the stand as a spectator, the Yankees stomped the Browns by 17 to 2 in the series opener yesterday. Lou Gehrig and Bill Dickey led the early assault with home runs, Gehrig with two and Dickey with one, and after that the Yanks coasted, hitting everything that was served to them.

The victory sent the Yanks into second place, seven full games behind the leading Athletics. The Browns trail by no more games, but concede eight percentage points to the Yanks, who have lost fewer contests.

Gerig's two homers sent his total for the season to 14, giving him the lead in his own league and sending him into a tie with Klein of the Phillies and Hater of the Cardinals in the inter-league race.

With the Athletics and the White Sox idle, awaiting the anticipated feast of the Mackmen this week action along the rest of the American League front was confined to Boston and Washington. George Uhle, who won nine games before losing one, met his second defeat of the season when he weakened toward the finish at Braves field, permitting the Red Sox to score six times in the last two innings to gain a 7 to 6 margin.

Ad Liska, the promising recruit from the American Association, pitched up to his best advance notices in turning back the Indians by 5 to 2 at Washington.

Augusta Franchise In Hands Of League

Augusta, Ga., June 10.—(AP)—The Augusta baseball franchise of the South Atlantic Association was today in the hands of the league and J. Marvin Wolfe, former president and owner of the club, was temporarily in charge of the team, according to word received here from Judge W. G. Bramham, president of the league.

Judge Bramham also announced that the recent sale of players Gribble, More and others by Troy Agnew would not be approved and that the men would be ordered back to Augusta. He said that he expected to be here Friday to investigate the affairs of the club and discuss the situation with Wolfe.

Art Gribble, southpaw twirler, who was sold to Columbia for $529, and Ned Moore, who was given his release after waiving his salary, have already been ordered to report back to the Tigers. Gribble, who was here yesterday, remained in the city, and Mr. Wolfe sent to Ninety Six, S. C., to get Moore who went there last night. Grady McClain, Tiger right-hander, traded to Charlotte for pitcher McPhaul and infielder Boggs, with the agreement that the Hornets pay his back salary amounting to a little more than $200, will be returned to the Augusta club, the move announced. Other deals recently announced by Agnew will also be investigated, Mr. Bramham said.

SAILORS WIN FINAL GAME WITH LOCALS

It was too much for them, and he story is briefly told. Fanning's souppaw was a puzzle to the Greenville batters Saturday and the score ended 4 to 2 in favor of the Sailors. Ludke, making his first appearance in a local uniform, did the mound duty for the home club and pitched a class of ball that creditably would win.

Neither club was able to do much hitting. The box score:

Ruth Attends N. Y. Ball Game

New York, June 10.—(AP)—Babe Ruth may be too ill to play baseball these days but he can't keep away from the game that made him famous.

With his wife, the former Claire Hodgson, the Babe attended yesterday's game between the Yankees and the Browns. The famous slugger didn't go near the Yankee bench but sat in a box along with right field stands.

He stood up and cheered when his friendly rival, Lou Gehrig, hit his 13th home run and was dissuaded only with difficulty from tossing away his expensive hat when "Columbia Lou" shot his 14th into the right field bleachers later in the game.

Still a bit weak from a severe cold Ruth was able, nevertheless, to talk a good game of baseball. "I hope they keep up this hitting against the Browns and the Tigers," he said. "I'll be back to help them against the Athletics the only team we have to beat."

The crushed body of Mrs. Virginia Patty, 28-year-old wife of Frank Patty (right), Los Angeles banker, found in a Los Angeles apartment house caused police to hunt for William Tallman (left), radio operator and intimate friend of the woman. Tallman was arrested aboard ship and then disappeared.

SPORTS SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor)
New York, June 10.—(AP)—When Babe Ruth returns to the game, as he believes he will shortly, he intends to take care of himself, on as "w" as off the field.

For perhaps the first time in his career, Ruth, in his present illness has been brought face to face with the fact that at the age of 35, after more than 15 years in the Major Leagues, he has reached a point where he cannot run the risks he once felt he could do and laugh at. Not so this time. The Babe is serious when he says:

"I've done a lot of foolish things in my life but this is a good lesson for me.
"I'll take care of myself from now on."

"How much longer will the Babe last?" one hears this question asked on many sides.
In many respects it is a marvelous achievement for the Babe to have kept his top form as long as he has. He rose to as spectacular heights as he has ever known in the world's series last year as he closed his fifteenth season. Yet actually he was in weakened and injured condition, sufficiently so far many an athlete to have stayed in bed or on the bench.

"I can't help playing hard when I am in there," declared Ruth. "I've got to give everything I have to the game."
One day last winter, the Babe, in gym suit, growled as his trainer massaged and punched his mid-section.

"Remember you once told me you figured to be still going strong at 40? Do you still feel that way?" he was asked.
"Sure thing!" shot back the big fellow. "I may slow up a little, but I still will be in there socking 'em as long as I can get up to the plates."

That perhaps sums up the case. There is little doubt Ruth still would be "socking 'em" if he had to be wheeled up to the bat.

There will be no dissenting voices

TASTE!

TASTE above everything

There's a natural flavor to Chesterfield, a spicy, delicate aroma, that no ordinary cigarette can offer.

It's a taste just due to the proper blending and CROSS-BLENDING of pure, aromatic tobaccos. But because we put taste above everything, and because the Chesterfield blend cannot be copied, you'll find their mild richness nowhere else.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, June 10.—(AP)—Cotton opened barely steady today at a decline of 5 to 12 points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and private reports of generally clear west-end weather in the south, except for some rains along the Atlantic coast. Trading was fairly active with some trade buying of July reported at the decline but the demand otherwise was limited and prices sagged off another few points after the call. July declined to 18.47 and December to 18.80, the active months generally showing net losses of about 10 to 12 points at the end of the first half hour.

Private cables said that some local and continental buying in Liverpool had been supplied by realizing on the better weather reports of the south and that business in cotton cloths was slow in developing with order lists running down.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, June 10.—(AP)—Pronounced setbacks in the value of wheat were witnessed today, largely owing to the flattering outlook for a big wheat crop in the United States, better moisture supplies in Canada affording at least temporary relief from likelihood of drought, also tending to send wheat prices down. Farm relief came in for less attention than of late. A decrease of 1,940,000 bushels in the United States visible supply failed to act as a counter-balance, the total being still 94,587,000 bushels, compared with 47,689,000 bushels a year ago.

Wheat closed heavy, 3 3/8c to 3 7/8c net lower; corn 2 1/4c to 2 7/8c down; oats 7-8c to 1 3/4c off, and provisions varying from 17c decline to a rise of 5c.

STOCK MARKET

New York, June 10.—(AP)—Highly erratic price movements again characterized the stock market today. Prices opened irregularly higher, turned heavy before midday, rallied briskly in the early afternoon and then became spotty again as fresh selling developed in some of the public utilities. Trading continued relatively light in volume, indicating an absence of any extensive public participation.

Call money renewed unchanged at 7 per cent but the supply was only nominal. Wall Street expects heavier money with the approach of heavy mid-month payments, and this is having a deterrent effect on speculative operations for the advance. Short selling also is expected by the fact that a large short interest already has been built up in several of the speculative issues, making further "bear" commitments rather hazardous in the event of any organized buying support suddenly making its appearance.

The drop of 123,500 tons in the May unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation was somewhat less than generally expected in view of the high rate of operations last month. Steel shares failed to make any appreciable response to the announcement, U. S. Steel common, sagging a point to 167 on light trading after the news became public.

Oils showed a tendency to advance on the first report of proceedings from the Colorado Springs Conservation conference, but the organized buying was limited to the relatively unimportant issues. Houston and Indian Refining each ran up about 4 points and American Republics 3, but the Standard Oil issues, Sinclair, Skelly, Pan American and other leading producers failed to exhibit any great amount of enthusiasm.

Wide fluctuations took place in some of the high-priced Public Utilities. Commonwealth Power sank nearly 5 points to 178 1/4 and then shot up to 201 1/4 at the expense of an over-crowded short interest. American Water Works sank 2 points to 121, rebounded to 126, a new high record, and then sold off again. Philadelphia Company broke 9 points and American Power & Light and Detroit Edison lost about 3 each.

Commercial Solvents slipped back 3 points to 398 and then ran up to a new high at 404 7/8. Boston & Maine, Electric Auto Lite, U.

British Monarch Reported Better

Windson, England, June 10.—(AP) The condition of King George once more is showing a marked improvement.

A bulletin issued by his physicians this morning said:

"His majesty, the king, is making progress. The abscess at the incision in the lung is diminishing in size. His general health is good."

WELL KNOWN NEGRO TO WED HERE WEDNESDAY

Jack Boyd, well known negro of this city, will be married at the colored Methodist Church here, on Wednesday night. Jack says that a large number of his white friends have expressed interest in his approaching wedding and it is his desire for as many of them as possible to attend. Special seats for them have been reserved. He said: "After the wedding ceremony there will be a wedding reception at Gorman's warehouse."

Statue Stops Lava Flow

Naples, Italy.—A statue of St. Anthony is believed by peasants of the village of Terracino to have stopped the flow of lava a few yards from their homes during the recent eruption of Mount Vesuvius. Residents of the district are flocking to the village to see what is believed to be a rough reproduction of the statue in the hardened lava.

Would Bare Owners

Senator Lawrence Phipps, chairman of the senate post office committee, is author of a bill to provide for disclosure of the "real ownership" of newspapers as result of the federal trade commission inquiry.

Millions For Toys

New York.—Edward W. Browning, husband of Peaches, has some misgivings about his plan to spend the millions he will receive from the auction sale of all his real estate holdings in establishing a foundation to supply toys for children. So he has asked the public to suggest other worthy causes.
