SENATE WILL TAKE VOTE ON FARM MEASURE

Vote To Follow This Afternoon After Round Of Debate On Debutante Plan.

Washington, June 11.—(AP)—An intensive drive for votes was under way today in the Senate as a decision in the controversy over the debutante plan in the farm bill and on the bill itself. During the morning three Republican Senators, reported in the doubtful column, were named to the White House. It was expected afterwards that their positions still were in doubt.

President Hoover has expressed opposition to the expenditure plan and his position has been upheld in the House.

The Senate has been so closely divided that many believe a single vote may decide the outcome of the bill which will begin at four o'clock.

Senators Nye and Frazier of North Dakota, who voted for the debutante plan but they indicated later that they had not changed their attitude. Senator Couzens of Michigan, who has been counted upon by the Republican leaders to support the administration, was a breakfast guest of Mr. Hoover. He made it known yesterday that he was "on the fence" and was seriously considering voting against the conference measure which recommends elimination of the debutante.

Couzens declined to discuss the White House visit and announced later he wanted to hear the final arguments before making his decision.

Washington, June 11.—(AP)—A cloud of uncertainty which might be described as forming a large question mark enveloped the legislative situation in Congress today although there were grounds for a somewhat vaguely paraphrasing the weather bureau's classic line, "clearing and cooler tomorrow."

The Senate was under agreement to vote at 4 p. m. today, on acceptance or rejection of its joint conference report embodying the compromise farm relief bill after another round of debate on the recommendation for elimination of the export debutante proposal. That much was clear, but the outcome was conceded to be in doubt because of the closeness of the revived contest over the debutante plan.

The House, meanwhile, was called upon again to consider a conference compromise on the bill to provide for the 1929 census and reapportionment of its membership. Having rejected a report accepting the Senate's time for beginning the taking of the census—November—instead of its own preference, for May, the chamber was offered a compromise on April. Leaders saw little to arouse objections in the new report.

At the same time, plans for a summer vacation were resigned for the moment to the background. Sharply repudiated after the refusal of Senate Democrats to agree to the fixing of a date for disposing of the bill in the fall, as required for administration approval of an all-summer recess, the Republican leaders plan still contemplated a vacation beginning next week and ending about mid-August instead of mid-September. That, however, rested on the outcome of today's vote on the farm bill and the success of efforts to arrange for disposing of the census reapportionment bill and the national origins immigration quota dispute this week.

The outcome of the debutante contest was regarded as having been made more doubtful than ever by the clash yesterday between Senators Firth of Idaho, and Allen of Kansas, two of President Hoover's leading supporters in the pre-election campaign, the former advocating and the latter opposing the proposal to force the plan back into the bill.

The contest in the Senate over President Hoover's recommendation for suspension of the national origins basis was regarded as a somewhat less bulky obstacle to summer recess. Although repeated attempts have been made to obtain an agreement for a time to vote on that question, leaders expressed confidence that it could be disposed of this week and that the compromise on the census-reapportionment bill would be accepted, in the meantime, with little delay.

ENGAGEMENT OF WALES IS ANTICIPATED

Believe British Prince Is Preparing To Wed Princess Ingrid Of Sweden.

London, June 11.—(AP)—Belief is growing in some quarters here that an announcement of the engagement of the Prince of Wales to Princess Ingrid, daughter of the Crown Prince of Sweden, may be made within the next two weeks.

Two possible occasions are suggested, the prince's 35th birthday on June 23, and an elaborate ball which the Swedish embassy has arranged for the benefit of the prince's friends on June 14.

It is not the first time that there have been rumors that the British heir would marry his 19-year-old second cousin from Viking Land, but not before there have been the combination of circumstances and events lending weight to the reports.

Gossip called attention to various facts: When Princess Ingrid arrived in London May 15 for one of her numerous visits to her grandfather, the Duke of Connaught, uncle of King George, it was stated she would stay only a month. Her plans have been changed and it was understood today she would remain in England until the close of the London season several weeks hence.

Since her arrival her father, Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, Duke of Skane, and her stepmother, the former Princess Louise of Battenberg, both have joined her and are sharing in a round of social activity.

The Swedish embassy has issued invitations for a state ball for Princess Ingrid at the embassy June 14, which has been heralded as one of the most important events socially of the London season. The prince is to be a guest.

Friends recently recalled publicity the prince's statement to a friend that he would marry when he was 35 years old. He will be 35 years old June 23.

On Wednesday night of last week the prince gave a dinner at St. James palace, with the princess, her father, and step-mother as guests. Lord and Lady Astor and Mr. and Mrs. Winston Churchill were among other present.

In the speculation there are several negative factors. The prince and the princess have not been together noticeably at entertainments this year. Little, virtually nothing, has leaked out if such an engagement has been made.

HOUSE ADOPTS REPORT ON THE CENSUS BILL

Body Accepts April, 1930, as Compromised Date For Taking Census Of Nation.

Washington, June 11.—(AP)—The House today accepted April, 1930, as the compromised date for taking the census and adopted the conference report on the census bill with a record vote. The report still must be acted upon by the Senate.

Opposition to the report fixing the date at November, 1928, was appeased by the change.

Rep. Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, who had led the fight for a spring date, said he had opposed the entire bill but since it had been passed he would support the conference report with the April date.

State Merchants Meet At Hickory

Hickory, June 11.—(AP)—As the North Carolina Clothier Association today closed its annual session with election of officers and action upon a plan for co-operative advertising, Hickory welcomed the North Carolina Merchants Association, which opened its annual meeting during the morning.

More than 1000 delegates and visitors were expected to attend the annual meeting of the Merchants organization, which will open today with a welcoming session. Mayor George Lyrlly of Hickory was to deliver the address of welcome and M. E. Newsome of Durham recently elected president of Rotary International was to respond.

Last night the clothiers engaged in round-table discussions of reduction sales, advertising, sales promotion and merchant-manufacturer co-operation. Talks on Budgetary store management were also heard.

The meeting was presided over by M. S. Younts of Greensboro, president, who also gave a detailed report of the National Convention at Atlantic City last March.

J. O. Jones of Charlotte, H. B. Patterson of Charlotte and Baxter Miller of Durham were among the speakers last night.

Four Drown In Effort To Save Life Of Youth

Randolph, Vt., June 11.—(AP)—A father, mother and two sisters gave their lives last night in an unsuccessful attempt to rescue their young son and brother, Harry Beardman, who had been seized with cramps while swimming in a branch of the White river.

The dead: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beardman, Harry 15, Ona, 14, and Beatrice, 16. Three other children survive, the oldest of which is four.

Beardman, his wife and the two girls, all plunged into the swift current, fully clothed, when they heard the boy's cry for help. Another boy, who also had been swimming, sought aid. When he returned to the river the five bodies were floating in midstream.

WOMEN PLAY MINOR ROLE IN RUM SALE

Washington, June 11.—(AP)—Prohibition officials have decided that the "Bootleg Queen" is a myth. Only 35 women have been sentenced to federal institutions for bootlegging since January 1, a check-up by them showed today, indicating they said, that as bootleggers women were good stool pigeons.

"Women are the bootleg helpers," officials said. "They play their minor part answering telephones, keeping accounts, and occasionally as blinds in transportation. But none has been convicted for taking cargoes at sea, leading bootlegging or engaging in 'big time' rum running on their own."

One high official explained the situation by suggesting that in this as in other activities women are too new to the practice to lead it. Only since the organization of bootlegging as a business, he said, has there been opportunity for the leaders to engage in it without braving physical hazard. This development has made it conceivable that women should become leaders, but they have not done so.

Estimating circumstances reflected in women's applications for clemency reveal their practice of following rather than leading, it was said.

So little success have "Bootleg Queens" had, officials said, that they are not classified as one of the types of prohibition violators. No necessity for devising special tactics to apprehend and punish feminine bootleggers has been seen and the only occasions on which women are employed in secret work are when masculine agents need a woman companion to gain entrance to a scene of violation. Even this use of women, it was said, is discouraged.

Seek Silverware Thieves in N. Y.

Brewster, N. Y., June 11.—(AP)—State police today were seeking two burglars who stole $10,000 worth of silverware from the home of Thomas W. Lamont, then abandoned the job when their automobile was wrecked.

The silverware, a kit of burglar tools and a coil of rope were found in an automobile which was abandoned by its two occupants after it had been damaged in a collision with another car near here.

Shortly after the discovery, Mr. Lamont notified state police at Millbrook, Dutchess county, that her home had been entered and the silverware taken.

Mr. Lamont, who is a partner in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. is enroute home from Paris, where he was an alternate of the reparations committee.

Mrs. Lamont said she heard some one moving about in the house early yesterday morning and was afraid to leave her room, but looked out and saw one of them carrying a bag. The silverware found in the car included several valuable serving bowls, a rare tea set and numerous pieces of flat ware.

Hongkong, June 11.—(AP)—Hongkong Island, after unprecedented droughts, is suffering from a water shortage termed the worst in the history of the British colony. Water, which is dependent upon the rainfall, has been reduced to a scant month's supply.

Democrats Pleased With Outcome Of Big Dinner

Washington, June 11.—(AP)—Democratic leaders were inclined to be pleased today over the outcome of last night's dinner to J. J. Shouse, chief of the new party headquarters in Washington.

Among the 300 party leaders who attended, included 11 of the south's 22 senators, many were ready to interpret the reception given the address of National Chairman John J. Raskob, Mr. Shouse, and other speakers as clear indication that the party would enter the 1930 congressional campaign with a more united front than it presented in the 1928 presidential contest.

They were firm in the opinion that, instead of widening the rift in Democratic ranks which developed in the presidential campaign, as some had predicted it would, the dinner had served an opposite purpose. The party, they asserted, had been clearly assured, in the words of Mr. Shouse, of a "permanent vote in the compliment to Mr. Shouse, who has taken charge of the new headquarters as chairman of the executive committee of the national committee, had been the basis of predictions that a large number of southern Democrats in Congress would absent themselves as an expression of opposition to continuation of the "Smith-Raskob leadership."

Among the 11 southern senators who were not present, Swanson and Glass of Virginia, and Trammell of Florida, were at pains to make it clear that their previous engagements were real ones. The others were Simmons, of North Carolina, who had described the dinner as "inopportune." Smith and Blease, of South Carolina; George and Harris, of Georgia; Heflin and Black, of Alabama; and Stephens, of Mississippi, who was ill.

Mr. Raskob not only made it clear that he had no intention of withdrawing from the chairmanship but announced that Nellie Taylor Ross, of Wyoming, would become a member of the executive committee to assist Mr. Shouse by taking charge of women's activities, and that Charles Greenhouse, of Indiana, would continue as secretary, and James W. Gerard as treasurer.

Direct and indirect references to Alfred E. Smith, the 1928 presidential nominee, brought vigorous applause during the dinner. One such reference was made by Representative Byrnes, of Tennessee, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign committee, who charged that the Republican party was lacking in policies for dealing with many problems confronting the nation.

Another was made by Senator Overman of North Carolina, who has attended no night functions previously for a number of years. Declaring he was "a Democrat and an unrepentant one," he said, "No cold chills run down my spine at the mention of the leader of the Democratic party in the last campaign."

Chairman Raskob assailed Republican policies as leading toward a concentration of authority in Washington which he thought was threatening the establishment of "a power so colossal as to be unwieldy and incapable of administration" and ultimately might "well result in revolution."

The field was narrowed to three within 20 minutes, but it was nearly an hour before Miss Ahlberg was given a 4 to 3 decision over Miss Ohio.

STRIKERS TO GO ON TRIAL AT GASTONIA

State Calls Witnesses Preparatory To Hearing Set For Tomorrow.

Gastonia, N. C., June 11.—(AP)—The state today marshalled its witnesses for preliminary hearings tomorrow of strike leaders and three score of their followers held in connection with the fatal shooting of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia chief of police, last Friday.

Three officers who were with Aderholt when sudden gunfire from strikers' headquarters wounded them as they approached the building, are expected to be the principal witnesses. Two of them are still in hospitals, but their depositions are expected to be presented as evidence.

Another state witness is P. O. Polson, of 405 Mill street, who said he was present at the shooting. George B. Mason, city solicitor, with A. E. Woltz, city attorney, and John C. Carpenter, solicitor of this judicial district, will conduct the hearing for the state.

Tom P. Jimison, of Charlotte, is attorney for the strikers. He said last night that he intended to bring habeas corpus proceedings for the release of all those held who are not discharged after the preliminary hearing.

Fred Erwin Eeac, southern organizer for the National Textile Workers' Union, who is charged with complicity to murder, was located last night at the Union county jail, Monroe, N. C. Beal was removed from Gastonia by officers, who said they feared mob violence.

Beal refused to discuss the shooting of Aderholt with newspapermen who located him at Monroe.

Monroe, N. C., June 11.—(AP)—Fred Erwin Beal, National Textile Workers' Union organizer, today was once more "somewhere in North Carolina" after having been permitted to tell newspapermen last night the Lorry Mills strike territory's side of events leading up to the shooting last Friday night of Chief of Police O. F. Aderholt, of Gastonia, and wounding of three officers and a union man.

Beal was removed from the Union county jail, where he was brought from Spartanburg, S. C. to an unnamed destination, officers announced.

An alleged attack on a striker by an officer and throwing of eggs and rocks at speakers at the daily mass meeting at the tent colony preceded the fight with police. Beal asserted in an interview permitted last night. Handcuffed to an officer he talked freely but guardedly regarding events leading up to the trouble. He declined to talk at all of the shooting.

"I have never advocated force and have never told any one to attack any workers as that would drive them away from the union when we want more members," said Beal, referring to statements that he had instructed the strikers to go to the mill and drag workers in the mill protected by armed guards. How could a little group of 150 to 200 people go there and bring out ten times that number. We had reports that there were some workers in the mill who wanted to come out. We started to march from the tent lot to the mill but officers stopped us at Franklin street. Then we went back to the lot. All I can say is that I hope the public will withhold judgment until our side has been told."

GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

SYNOPSIS: One night, 33 years before, Alex Peterson ended his picturesque career to become staid Andrew Ogden. Ogden's son, Jerry, is retelling his father's story of that night of horror. Peterson's younger brother, also named Jerry, had been sentenced to hang by a mineral trial. He admits robbing Joe Lundy's safe, Peterson defies the mob, looks his brother in the Two Brothers mine and wins a delay until morning. Accepting Lundy's invitation to play poker, Peterson senses Lundy's diabolical plan to gamble for the life of Jerry. With gripping intensity the game moves toward its climax.

Chapter 38 A HUMAN LIFE AT STAKE

The drama of the weird situation held us in motionless attention. Jerry, visibly affected, continued in a hushed tone.

Lundy sat with his shoulders hunched up and his cards held close to his eyes. His eyes leaped from his own hand to the back of dad's; his lips twitched, grinning, and he mumbled them with the tip of his tongue. The men behind dad seemed to have stopped breathing, so dead still was the room, yet dad said the air quivered like a harp string. Somebody behind him whispered:

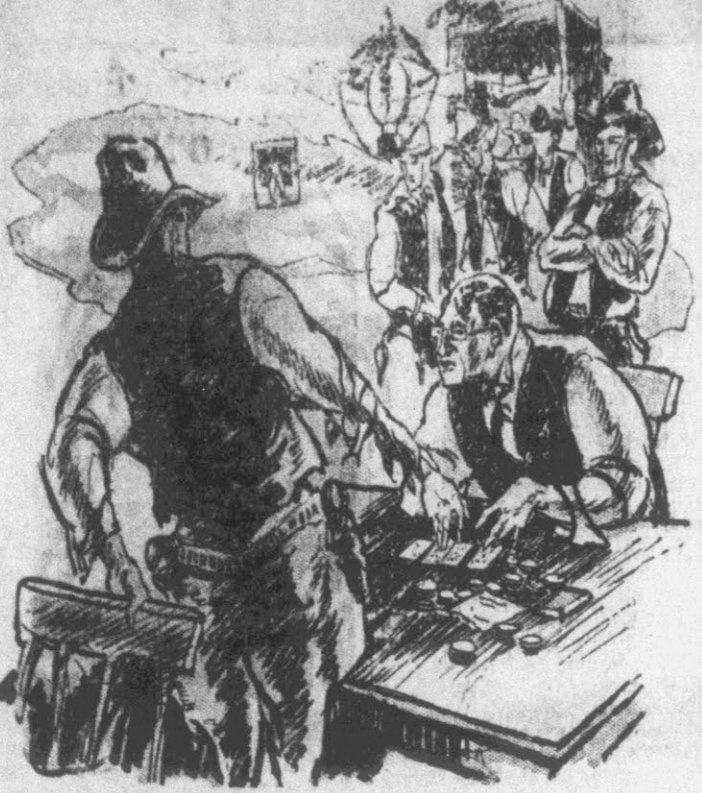

"Bet, yuh fool!"

"It seemed to ease the tension for a moment and Richey slid forward a stack of blues. Dad measured it with a couple more. MacCoy scratched his chin, thinking, then he matched the three blue stacks with another three. It was now Lundy's bet. His hunched-up shoulders almost paralleled the sides of his head and he blinked owlishly at dad, who was trying to fathom his expression. Lundy muttered something to himself, then he suddenly raised MacCoy a stack of blues.

"Richey skinned his cards, resisted, made a rapid calculation, and measured Lundy's four stacks with five. Dad saw the bet and raised it two stacks of blues. MacCoy dropped out.

"Lundy blinked at dad, peered at his cards, goggled at dad again, then shoved forward every ship, blue, red, and white he had left. Richey measured Lundy's bet stack for stack and raised it by another. The bet was dad's again.

"He knew instinctively that this was to be the final hand and for the first time since he had picked up the fourth queen he felt afraid. He wouldn't have minded if only the half million or so he was worth were at stake—but this was different. Jerry—his own flesh and blood—was sitting with a noose hanging over his head. The living stake—it was ghostly. But what else could he do? This was the only way and he had taken it. His head was buzzing like a mill saw. The room stank of those desert rats at the door! He got himself in hand again! Sit tight! That was it.

Lundy spread his hand slowly—a card at a time—a straight flush!

"Dad then pushed forward all his chips, topping Richey's bet by some $4,000.

"Lundy's eyes were like points of frozen light, dad said. He grabbed a writing pad off the desk and scribbled an IOU for $10,000. Richey reached for the pad. Then he stopped. 'No,' he muttered, 'I'm out.'

"Lundy looked at dad. Everybody looked at him. Dad thought he caught a gleam of mockery in Lundy's eyes. Dad said he'd have given $100 for a drink of cold water. Lundy was sliding the pad to dad on the table, blinking at dad like some beastly prowling animal. All at once, he seized the pad, wrote an IOU for $20,000 and shoved it on top of the others.

"Lundy grinned, calculated, or pretended to, and wrote again. The IOU was for $40,000.

"You couldn't hear the drawing of a breath now, dad said. The room was like a death house. Lundy wrote an IOU for $100,000.

"Dad said he forgot the stinking heat, Richey, MacCoy, the jam at the door. He only saw Lundy's fist.

to call me," Lundy whispered. "Dad said he had known it was coming, just as he had known it was Lundy's mad ambition to ruin his father's mine. He wondered if the thing were real. . . . If he weren't going mad. And then he saw that dark tunnel again and a white-faced kid listening and waiting, and he knew it was real. . . . Had Lundy the four kings or the straight flush? The possibility of his having the one or the other racked dad horribly for a moment, then he shoved it to the back of his mind and grabbed the pad and wrote a transfer of the mine property in Lundy's favor.

"That'll stick in any court," he said, tossing it over.

A gasp of admiration broke from the men at the door. Dad said it came to him in a twinkling, then, that the issue had been presented to the crowd in the proper sporting light and that if he'd won they'd probably back him up. But had he? MacCoy witnessed the transfer.

"Lundy began to laugh, then. It must have shocked even those toughs behind dad. Lundy kept it going until dad could stand it no longer—he'd been through enough to drive most men mad.

"Show your hand!" he roared, jumping to his feet.

"There must have been something in dad's face that old Lundy he was going too far. He shut off his bel-lowing and spread his hand—slowly, one card at a time.

"He had a straight flush—the ace, two, three, four, and five of hearts!" (Copyright, 1929, Wm. Morrow Co.)

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess Of Hydrochloric Acid Is Cause Of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we create sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea. He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy two tablespoonfuls of a glass of water before breakfast, and continue for a week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is imperative to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices. Lee's Laxative and Cathartic Compound is inexpensive, and is made from the purest drugs that money can buy. This harmless preparation is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results. THE ADVERTISING CYCLE

The president of the International Advertising Association has received the following message from President Hoover:

"The reiterated act of placing one's commercial aims before the public in cold type compels one to subject his own motives to a criticism as severe as that which he expects from the public scrutiny. Also, the agencies established by the advertisers themselves for checking up the truth of advertising in general have produced most beneficial results. The noteworthy advance in the ethics of business, easily perceptible in the last twenty years, is in no small measure due to the self-examination cheerfully exacted of themselves by business men in their practice of the art of advertising."

The President's words call attention to several related facts deserving popular notice. Honest advertising pays. Honest advertising necessitates honest products that have the qualities and do the work claimed for them. Honest advertising and honest products develop public confidence, and that in turn stimulates both greater consumption of advertised products and further improvement in them. It is a good cycle which benefits everybody concerned.

ABOUT TOWN

The new index system just installed in the office of the register of deeds of Pitt county is a big improvement," said a well known attorney today.

"In closing for our half-holidays on Wednesday we are only following the footsteps of numbers of other towns and cities throughout the state," said a prominent business man today.

Wednesday comes in the middle of the week and the half-holiday assists to no little extent in preparing the average worker for the remaining days of the week.

"Greenville has been observing the closing days on Wednesday for a number of years, and it seems to meet with the approval of the numbers of working people who benefit from it."

"Greenville has a ball club now that should be able to turn in more victories than losses," declared an enthusiast today, commenting on the way the club has come out since the employ of practically an entire line-up.

able to hit the ball hard when hits count for runs, but also field the sphere in a way that causes the grandstand and bleachers to feel confident of themselves at critical stages when poor fielding or lack of hitting would mean defeat.

"We got a bad start this year, but from now on everybody is anticipating seeing the club climb slowly up the standing of clubs column until they have reached the top."

"Looks like it will never get summer time again," complained a business man as he came up the street yesterday afternoon with his hands tucked deeply in his pockets.

"Some people may like this kind of offering of the weather man, but I do not. It is time for summer and the sooner it comes to stay the better I shall like it."

"The radical change from summer temperatures Saturday night has resulted in numbers of colds. This is always the case when unseasonable weather comes along, and for this reason if for no other it is to be hoped temperatures improve."

"Has your subscription to the Reflector expired?" questioned the manager of circulation today.

"Watch the label on your paper from day to day, and see that your renewal is sent in before the day of expiration. This will prevent your missing a single day and also save us time and trouble of changing the names."

"The Reflector has numbers of interesting features you will want to keep tab on during the summer months, so look after the subscription now and assure yourself of receiving the paper every day during the hot summer months."

"Keep your eye on all fruit and report to the proper authorities the first indication of fruit fly infection," is the advice sent out by leading health officials.

"The fruit fly has already made his appearance in one or two places in North Carolina, and there is no telling when he may be found again. The best way to avoid his getting a grip on the state is to carefully inspect all Florida fruit and if there is the slightest sign of infection report it to health officials."

"The country cannot be too careful in this instance, as keeping the fly on the outside will mean the saving of millions of dollars derived from the sale of fruit crops."

"Pitt county farmers are urged not to forget the importance of a live-at-home program now that the planting season is here," declared a well known planter on a visit to the city yesterday afternoon.

"Raising more of the things we consume at home is what we need to help offset the lean period of the year that has proved appalling to the general run of farmers for years."

"Suppose we raised most of the things we go to the stores and buy? It may be easily seen that we should save that money and have it to tide us over the periods of depression occurring during the summer months."

"I hope every grower will give the matter deserving consideration and do his best to produce more of the things he consumes instead of buying them directly from the stores at high prices."

"Next Sunday will be known as 'Father's Day' throughout the nation and millions of people will pay tribute to their fathers upon this occasion."

"Greenville has always observed this day, but it is expected the observance this year will be greater than ever before. Merchants have already placed on display hundreds of gifts for father, and the press and pulpit are preparing eulogies that will laud him to the skies."

"Greenville people are urged not to be forgetful of the debt they owe father. His figure stands out in bold relief against the background of high ideals of national life and we should honor him just as reverently as we honored mother not so many Sundays ago."

THREE CLUBS IN THE WEST GET IN RACE

By HERBERT W. BARKER (Associated Press Sports Writer) While the Philadelphia Athletics gallop along seven games in advance of the American League field, three western clubs are providing National League fans with one of the closest races in its history.

Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Chicago, which have taken turns in leading the race in John Heydler's circuit today were bunched so closely that a handkerchief could cover them all. The Pirates of Pittsburgh held the lead by a two point margin over the St. Louis Cardinals with Chicago's Cubs only a half game to the rear of the pace setters.

This condition of affairs can be accounted for by the fact that the Pirates picked yesterday to lose their second game in a row to the Brooklyn Robins, 7 to 6, while St. Louis and Chicago both were recording victories. The Robins should have taken the lead in the seventh inning. Johnny Morrison held the Pirates hitless and runless thereafter.

Another free hitting game at Chicago went to the Cubs by 10 to 8 over the Boston Braves. Chick Hafey's double, triple and 15th homer of the season helped the Cardinals subdue the fierce Philadelphia Phillies, 10 to 9.

John McGraw's New York Giants lost some more valuable ground at Cincinnati where they lost to the Reds 7 to 3. Behind the usual good pitching of Lefty Grove, the Philadelphia Athletics maintained their lead intact in the American League scramble by downing Chicago White Sox 3 to 1.

Waite Hoyt slightly outpitched Alvin Crowder at New York and the Yankees nipped out St. Louis 3 to 2. Detroit managed to beat the Boston Red Sox 3 to 0, but it took Charley Ruffing's wildness to give the Tigers their score. Hollmann singled in the seventh and then Ruffing walked the next three men to force in the only run of the game.

To Fly High

The Kinston Eagles came over to Greenville yesterday and helped push the local ball club further into the cellar by taking the opening game of the series by the score of 5 to 4. The contest was one of the longest drawn out affairs witnessed on the local diamond this season. Both clubs were badly handicapped by wet diamond and overcast skies. A chill wind whipped across the field and caused the normal sized crowd of spectators to shiver like they had the ague.

The day had been designated as "Ladies Day" by the management of the Greenville club, but inclement weather caused only a sprinkling of the fair sex to be in attendance. The masculine gender, however, was represented one hundred percent strong and "rooting" from both the grandstand and bleachers was vigorous at times.

Both clubs used two pitchers each but one proved as wild as the other as they made a desperate attempt to have a wet, slippery ball across the plate in an effective manner. A newcomer to the Greenville club by the name of Hawser started out on the mound but he was wild and ineffective and was retired at the end of four and a half innings in favor of Jefferies. The latter hurled superbly and managed to retire the hard-hitting visitors without further scoring.

Sullivan apparently had the situation well in hand for the Eagles until the third inning when he became wild and the Tobaccos sent three runners over the plate threatening to tie the score. Quigley was sent to the rescue and like the Greenville relief heater, succeeded in going the remainder of the game without a single tally chalked up against him. Both got in lots of hot water on account of the weather and the condition of the balls but they managed to pull out of ticklish situations without additional runs being checked up against them.

Nalbock led the hitting for Greenville. It was his mighty bat that accounted for three of the club's eight hits. He was credited with a triple double and single. Young, new center-fielder came in for next honors securing two wallops out of four times up.

KINSTON WINS FIRST CLASH OF THE SERIES

collected three safeties out of five times up. Parks, right-fielder, was the next highest with two hits out of five times at bat.

There was only one error to mar the day. Ins was charged up against Hawser of the local club. Considering the condition of the weather and the field this record was outstanding and members of both clubs were highly commended for the way they handled the sphere.

Kinston will complete the series here this afternoon. The box score of the encounter follows:

Babe Ruth Going A-Fishing Now

New York, June 11.—(AP)—Babe Ruth is going fishing. The big Yankee slugger has asked, and received, permission of his manager, Miller Huggins, to spend a week at a lake and golf course near Washington where he will rest until just before the Yankees' series with the Philadelphia Athletics, starting on June 21.

"I am going to fish and play golf," said Ruth. "Huggins said I might violate the club rule against golf in the playing season. I feel strong enough to go back into our lineup now, but the doctor says I can't take any chances and Huggins agrees with the doctor."

Ruth is nearly recovered from the severe cold that has kept him out of the lineup for the past ten days.

Von Porat Knocks Out Emmett Rocco

Chicago, June 11.—(AP)—Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, again demonstrated last night that his left hook carries pugilistic overtones. He knocked out Emmett Rocco of Elwood City, Pa., conqueror of Johnny Risko, in the eighth round of their scheduled ten-round battle in the Chicago stadium with a slicing left to the chin after he failed to keep Rocco on the floor with his right.

Knoxville Takes Macon In Tow

Atlanta, Ga., June 11.—(AP)—Knoxville defeated Macon yesterday 6 to 1 to stretch the string of wins of a half dozen and more within one game of tying the losers for third place in the Sally Association. Huggins, slugger first baseman, hit for the circuit.

Misjudgment of two high fliers proved costly to Spartanburg as Charlotte captured the opening game 2 to 1. Williams, doubled in one tenth to score a runner and give Greenville an 1 to 7 victory over Columbia. A four run rally in the eighth by Columbia tied the score. Asheville bounced hits in the fourth, sixth and seventh innings to counter six runs and vanquish Augusta 6 to 4.

Flint, Mich.—Del Fontaine, Canada, stopped Roy Williams, Chicago, New York, (10).

Newark, N. J.—Vince Dundee, of Baltimore, outpointed Izzy Grove, New York, (10).

Atlantic City—Joe Proctor, Washington, D. C., knocked out Frankie Brown, New York, (1).

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET N. Y. STOCK LIST

New York, June 11.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 4 points. Some selling appeared on favorable weather reports and a bearish view of the standard cotton cloth statistics for May, but the offerings were readily absorbed and prices soon steadied on covering and trade buying of near months. There was probably some commission house buying of near crops in anticipation of unfavorable features in the weekly report of the weather bureau tomorrow. By the end of the first half hour, active months were about 3 to 5 points net higher with July selling at 18.45 and December at 18.20. The cloth statistics for May showed sales equivalent to 81.5 per cent of production, an increase of 4.3 per cent in stocks on hand and a decrease of 11.1 per cent in unfilled orders. Private cables said trade calling and covering had absorbed liquidation in the Liverpool market.

STOCK MARKET

New York, June 11.—(AP)—The stock market turned upward after an early sinking spell today but trading continued rather dull. Feats of mid-month credit stringency kept small speculators out of the market and tended to postpone operations of professional traders except in a few issues in which special developments are pending.

Call money renewed at 8 per cent as against 7 yesterday. Banks called about $20,000,000 in loans during the morning, but new funds quickly appeared and no further advance in the rate was looked for during the day. Money was expected to go to 10 or 12 per cent later in the week.

Business news generally continued favorable. Burroughs Adding Machine directors announced a 5 for 1 stock split-up, and the stock broke nearly 12 points on the news. The quarterly dividend on American Brake Shoe & Foundry was increased from 40 to 60 cents.

Public utilities were again in the forefront of the advance. North American ran up 6 points to a new high at 125 1/2 and Federal Light & Traction moved up more than 4 points to new top at 105. Commonwealth Power converted an early loss of 3 points into a gain of 4 and American Water Works sold three points higher.

Steel shares assumed increasing importance in the afternoon trading. Crucible was marked up nearly 5 points to a new high at 90 7/8 and Youngtown Sheet & Tube moved up 4 1/2 to a new peak at 138 1/2. U. S. Steel common converted a loss of 1 point into a gain of similar extent.

General Asphalt common and preferred, U. S. Industrial Alcohol common, National Distillers preferred and Fleischmann moved into new high ground. It is reported in Wall street that National Distillers preferred will be retired shortly. Falls displayed a firm undertone, with New York Central, Atchafalaya, Chesapeake & Ohio and the Erie series all pointing upward.

In the early selling movement, Nash Motors, Leekawanna Railroad, United Fruit, Gillette Safety Razor, Hayes Body and Mullins Body sank to new low levels for the year. The decline of Rio Grande Oil was regarded as a mystery by the president of the company who stated that there had been no fundamental change in the company's position, and that April earnings were the best in its history. Mexican Seaboard also was hammered down more than 3 points.

THE NEW FORD ROADSTER

$450 (F. O. B. Detroit, plus charge for freight and delivery. Bumpers and spare tire extra.)

The New Ford Has A Remarkable Engine

THE engine of the new Ford embodies many new mechanical features. It is unusual in performance because it gives quick acceleration, smoothness, speed and power without sacrifice of reliability and economy.

The design of the cylinder head is just one factor in this performance. Others are the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, the carefully planned large valve diameter, the chrome silicon alloy valves, the aluminum pistons, the statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and fly-wheel, and the simplicity of the electrical, ignition, cooling, lubrication and fuel systems.

Of special importance is the manner in which engine vibration is absorbed before it reaches the chassis of the car, thereby preventing unpleasant vibration periods.

This is done in the new Ford through the introduction of a flexible front end support that is both simple and practical—a truly remarkable improvement in engine mounting developed after many months of testing and experimenting.

Drop in some day soon and inspect every detail of the Ford engine. You'll call it one of the sweetest mechanical jobs you've ever seen.
