SEND APPEAL TO PRESIDENT IN RUM CASE

Action Against Slayer Of Rum Runner Causes Sending Of Appeal To Hoover

International Falls, Minn., June 15.—(AP)—A contest between federal and state officials for the custody of E. J. White, border patrolman charged with killing Henry Virkula, loomed today as this Canadian border town waited for executive action from President Hoover to whom has been sent an appeal for relief from what citizens described as "arrogant lawlessness" on the part of patrolmen.

The message to the president was dispatched last night, following filing of charges of second degree murder against White, accused of killing the Big Falls confectioner last Saturday night while searching for liquor runners.

The patrolman's hearing has been set for July 2, and he was remanded to jail in default of $5,000 bond.

L. L. Drill, United States district attorney at St. Paul, announced that he had been authorized from Washington by Attorney General William D. Mitchell, to petition for removal to the Federal courts of the case against White, who since the shooting has been in the custody of Koochiching county officials.

Bitter resentment against the activities of patrolmen was expressed in the message to President Hoover. The telegram, following a meeting of prominent townsmen, was signed over the signature of county attorney, David Harburt, several town officials, and prominent businessmen.

"In our utter helplessness, terror and distraction, we are at last resorting to you and the authority you are capable of invoking," the message said, "for God's sake help us."

The telegram received recited that the patrolman had "haunted their selves given superiority to our local and state laws."

"While we would, when dealing with our own civilian citizens, enforce our laws with vigor, we have yielded to the arrogant lawlessness of these agents rather than submit our peace officers to the risk of slaughter," the telegram continued.

The citizens told the president that they appealed to him because other officers of the government, including "an assistant secretary of the treasury have failed us."

Citizens of this border town have given support to every legal method to enforce the prohibition laws in this vicinity," the message said.

Probes Reputation Of Hunt Testimony

Raleigh, June 15.—(AP)—Reputation by Jack Hunt of the testimony on which John Freeman was sentenced in Yadkin county to be executed for arson is being thoroughly investigated by Judge N. A. Town and executive counsel for Governor Gardner.

Judge Townsend today disclosed that Hunt, who is serving 10 years in connection with the burning of a house, barn, and garage of a Yadkin farmer, had told him that he not only gave false testimony against Freeman, but claimed to have been innocent himself, although he entered a plea of guilty to house burning before turning state's evidence.

Dock Caudill was tried jointly with Freeman but was acquitted. Freeman and Caudill both sought to establish alibi, but the jury returned a verdict of guilty without recommendation to mercy against the former, making the death sentence mandatory.

Freeman's conviction was upheld by the state supreme court in a three to two opinion filed Wednesday of this week, leaving the question of life or death for him up to Governor Gardner.

BAPTIST CONFERENCE TO CLOSE TODAY

Raleigh, N. C., June 15.—(AP)—The annual North Carolina Baptist Sunday School Conference, which is in session at Meredith College, was to come to a close this afternoon with an address by Dr. B. W. Spelman, pioneer leader in the modern Sunday school movement among Southern Baptists. The sessions this year, according to Perry Morgan, State secretary, have been the best ever held at Meredith. The attendance has been larger, he said, and every section of the state is represented.

Tobacco Curing In This Section Gets Under Way Today

Evidence that the bright tobacco crop of this section will be ready for market earlier this season than is usually the case was made known today with reports from B. B. Barrow, of the Vanceboro section, that his first crop of tobacco was being put in today. The report also stated that many growers in the Vanceboro section would begin to put in their first crops early next week. The curing season in this section usually does not begin before early in July.

FIVE LIVES CLAIMED BY HEAT WAVE

Mercury Stood At 90 Degrees in New York Yesterday; Many Prostrations.

New York, June 15.—(AP)—Severe electrical storms along the Atlantic seaboard, accompanied in this city by hail, had brought virtually no relief today to the period of torrid weather.

The mercury mounted to 90 degrees in New York, making it the hottest June 14 in 37 years. Five persons died of the heat and seven were prostrated. Beaches were crowded and many spent the night on the sand to enjoy the cooling ocean breeze.

A 15-minute rain shortly after dusk brought with it hail stones that rattled and bounced in Times Square and low leakage in the city parks. During the storm a bolt of lightning struck the new 13 story French hospital in west 30th street, tearing a 500 pound terra cotta ball from the roof and ripping a ton of bricks from the roof sun parlor wall. The 126 patients and visitors were thrown into excitement but none were injured.

Two persons were killed by lightning in upper New York state, while considerable property damage was done throughout the state and in Camden and Newark, N. J.

A lightning bolt that struck five trees in the yard of Howard Baker at West Glens Falls, N. Y., plowed a furrow thirty feet long in the ground, entered the side of the house and after passing over four of the Baker children struck and killed another son, Franklin, age 12. At Malone 14-year-old Jenny Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Holmes, was killed by a bolt as she hurried home to escape the storm.

At Camden a single bolt knocked one man unconscious, killed a dog and shattered a flag pole atop the Broadway Merchants Trust Company building.

High winds that accompanied the storm at Newark damaged several airplanes at the Newark Metropolitan air port and prevented the landing for 20 minutes of a plane from Boston carrying eight passengers. The pilot, Raymond Wosey, kept the plane at an altitude of 1,200 feet until the storm subsided.

FRENCHMEN WHO FLEW ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

Texas Senate Condemns Wife Of President For Entertaining Negress

Austin, Texas, June 15.—(AP)—The Texas Senate was on record today as condemning by resolution Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the President, for entertaining Mrs. Oscar DePriest, wife of a negro member of Congress from Illinois, at a White House tea last Wednesday.

Miss Margie E. Neal, Democrat, only woman of the upper house of the Texas legislature, introduced the resolution which was adopted with only two dissenting votes.

The Neal resolution was accepted instead of one offered by Senator T. J. Holbrook, which was aimed at both Mrs. Hoover and the Texas Democrats who supported Hoover at the election last fall. The resolution adopted did not concern the Hoover supporters but pointed out that in the campaign they were "warned of the danger of racial equality recognition at the national capital through the election of the Republican candidate."

President Hoover Signs New Farm Relief Bill

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—President Hoover with a stroke of the pen today placed in effect the new farm relief policies which his administration had drawn to alleviate the ills of agriculture.

Climaxing months of campaigning, pre-inauguration activities, and congressional controversy, the president with ceremony appropriate to such an event, wrote his name across the farm measure and thereby placed it upon the statute books.

The signature was affixed in the presence of a group of congressional leaders which included Vice-President Curtis, Speaker Longworth, Secretary Hyde, of the department of agriculture, and a number of farm leaders of the House and Senate.

Weeks of work by agriculture committees of the two houses, days of dispute between two determined bodies, and countless hours of debate were closed late yesterday with the Senate finally accepting the bill without the export debenture plan so steadfastly objected to by Mr. Hoover.

After this final action at the capitol the measure was rushed to the White House so that no time would be lost in its presentation to the chief executive.

The new farm law embodies an authorization for an appropriation of $500,000,000 to be used by the federal farm board in an effort to solve the surplus crop situation through a series of stabilization corporations and commodity councils.

The farm board will consist of nine members, eight to be appointed by the president, while the secretary of agriculture will make the ninth. Speculation already has been going the rounds over whom the chief executive will select and a number of names have been mentioned for the posts.

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—The farm relief bill demanded by President Hoover and obtained from Congress after prolonged controversy in the Senate was on his desk today for signature, exactly two months after the special session was convened primarily to enact this legislation.

The export debenture proposal, the major point of controversy between the administration and the coalition of Democrats and Republican independents in the Senate, was out of the bill and the President's approval, after the compliance with custom by submitting it this morning to the Treasury and American Ambassador To Britain Presents Credentials To King George.

London, June 15.—(AP)—General Charles G. Dawes, new ambassador to Great Britain, presented his credentials to King George at Windsor Castle shortly before noon today. In doing so the former vice-president, having only yesterday landed at Southampton after a trip from America.

Windsor, Eng., June 15.—(AP)—The reception for the majesty occupied a brief half hour and passed without unusual incident.

The former vice-president, who was believed to be bearing an invitation from President Hoover to Prime Minister MacDonald for a tete-a-tete on Anglo-American affairs, was accompanied to the ancient seat of royalty by Mrs. Dawes, Ray Atherton, embassy councillor, and Arthur Henderson, secretary for foreign affairs in the MacDonald cabinet.

State carriages drawn by high-stepping white horses met the party at the train which brought them from Paddington station and conveyed them to the castle. After the formal official greeting of the British sovereign to the new American political representative the envoy and his party returned to the railway station and left for London, from where he expected to leave shortly to visit Mr. MacDonald in Scotland.

"I find the king delightful," the ambassador said after the ceremony. "I don't know what the usual ceremony is, but I just presented my credentials to him. I found his majesty looking very well. After the ceremonial he asked me to stay and for a half hour chatted with me on various subjects."

The new ambassador was introduced to King George by Foreign Minister Henderson, the brief ceremony taking place in the audience chamber of the castle.

Seven hours later Alice and Beatrice Dustin, sisters, who roamed with the girl near the university hospital, identified the body through personal effects after notifying the police of her absence. The features were unrecognizable.

Police learned that the girl had gone to the hospital Thursday night to inquire about part-time employment there to defray expenses at the school of medicine during the summer semester.

At 7:45 o'clock she left, telling Bertha Dillon, switchboard operator, that she had to keep an engagement and that she would return before ten o'clock.

She failed to reappear at the hospital or her home, but it was not until late yesterday that alarm was felt for her safety, the girl's roommates believing she had spent the night with friends.

Paints Modern Fish Trap As Deadliest Weapon In North Carolina Streams

The modern fish trap is one of the deadliest weapons used in the streams of North Carolina, Charlie Moore of Washington, assistant state game warden, told members of the Greenville Kiwanis Club in regular twice-a-month session at the Rotary building last night.

The address was the night light of a program dealing with the fish industry, put on by George Woodward, and brought out many interesting facts concerning the North Carolina Department of Conservation in its effort to conserve the rapidly diminishing fish and game supply.

Aside from enjoying the usual supper, the club accepted an invitation of Miss Ethel Nice, Pitt County Home Demonstration director, to take supper with members of the 4-H clubs at Camp Leach next Thursday night. While it was not determined how many would attend, a committee was appointed to look after the matter and to report to Miss Nice in ample time for her to make arrangements for the crowd.

Parnell Picklesimer, member of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, was received as a new member of the club. He was presented by Carey Mayo and accepted by Frank Harrington, the latter stressing the ideals of the club in a brief but appropriate talk.

COLLEGE GIRL MURDERED AT COLUMBUS, O.

Mutilated Body Of Pretty Co-ed of Ohio University Found Last Night.

Columbus, Ohio, June 15.—(AP)—Merion T. Myers, employee of the state department of agriculture, and Prof. James H. Sinook, of the Ohio State University School of Veterinary Medicine, were held on formal charges of investigation of Columbus police today after they had been questioned in connection with the hammer killing Thursday night of Miss Theora K. Hix, Ohio State co-ed.

Theora Hix, 24, pretty post-graduate student at Ohio State University whose mutilated body was found on a rifle range and identified last night by school companions who had known her as a quiet, studious co-ed, was the subject of intense police investigation today as search was made for an unknown person with whom she had a "date" on the night of her death.

Two boys found the body yesterday when they went to the rifle range to practice. The head had been "punctured" seventeen times. The throat and body bore deep slashes.

Seven hours later Alice and Beatrice Dustin, sisters, who roamed with the girl near the university hospital, identified the body through personal effects after notifying the police of her absence. The features were unrecognizable.

Police learned that the girl had gone to the hospital Thursday night to inquire about part-time employment there to defray expenses at the school of medicine during the summer semester.

Dogs are dying by the thousands in an epidemic of canine typhoid in England.

The plane in alighting here disappointed thousands who waited at LeBouquet for it until late last night. Assolant, who married a New York girl only five days ago, brought the ship to earth on the pebble strewn beach at Cape Oriamere, west of here, completing 30 hours and 32 minutes of flying over a course of about 3,500 miles. Take-off was at Old Orchard, Maine, Thursday at 9:08 a. m.

Assolant blamed the presence of the stowaway from the fuel shortage and consequently the failure to land on French soil, explaining it had been necessary to release some of the precious petrol from the tanks as soon as Schriber was discovered aboard, in order to gain height.

"I had not counted on the extra weight when I estimated our fuel load," he said.

The aviators seemed to have developed a real fondness for their uninvited guest, and he for them. The stowaway crawled from his hiding place shortly after the flight had started. He shared with the aviators carried with them, and he spent less night with them at the local hotel.

He apparently was laboring under great emotion as the plane landed and expressed complete joy when he set foot on solid ground.

This little town, containing but a few hundred people and decades ago the rendezvous of the Spanish royal family who came here for sea bathing, gave the aviators a tumultuous welcome.

The plane was not damaged in landing. It needed only fuel and a new "strut" for the landing gear in order to take off and continue its flight. The original "strut" had been broken in the course of their flight in order to prevent the plane after discovering a broken board.

An official reception was hastily organized the aviators' flight submitted graciously. After stemming the tide of orators they were then taken to their hotel where dark haired women crowded around them with flowers.

Assolant got in touch with the governor of Santander province at Santander 30 miles east of here, on the Bay of Biscay and asked him for 125 gallons of gasoline with which to continue their flight in Spain.

The governor gave orders that it be brought from the fuel depot at Asierro, near Santander, together with lubricating oil and a fuel tank.

At Madrid the Spanish dictator, Primo De Rivera, ordered that a facility be accorded the Yellow Bird and that the landing gear apparatus be repaired at the local airport.

GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

SYNOPSIS: Peterson rushes to his mine to help Jerry, his brother, escape, but finds him dead in the tunnel. Dillon, who had been guarding the mine entrance, is missing, but Peterson concludes Jerry killed himself. With a characteristic gesture, Peterson dynamites the mine entrance to seal Jerry to his tomb forever. As he flees over the mountains from Skull Valley, he decides to adopt the name "Andrew Ogden," and the career of Alex Peterson, gambler, ends.

Chapter 42
BEHIND A MASK

The throbbing beat of Jerry's voice ceased on the final word and he sat in silence again. Lucy was weeping softly. I had to dab furiously at my eyes, and Henry blew his nose more vigorously than usual. We had lived through an emotional experience of great intensity. The end of the drama had plunged us, emotionally exhausted into the depths.

The precision with which the fragmentary evidence MacNair and Deacon and I had discovered fitted into the various parts of Jerry's story was amazing. Our evidence had suggested much, but it actually had revealed little, and this exquisite dovetailing of cause and effect fascinated me. Even now my experience in the "secret" room had become clear. Wax figures, indeed! I had not missed the patches of Furie's devotion to his Bull and Nap. For 30 years he had guarded and cherished them! No wonder his terror that they might be destroyed or taken from him had driven him to deceive me! Poor Furie! I gave Bull and Nap credit for saving what sanity was left to him.

Our case was far from complete, however. Jerry, I believed, had more to tell us.

"And so," Henry muttered, breaking the silence, "that was the poker game that cracked the town?"

Jerry nodded, his eyes brooding.

"Torridity was abandoned shortly afterwards... I wish I could have put it in the way dad did."

"You have," I told him gently.

"I never felt as if I really knew him," the boy went on.

"Perhaps you thought of him as wearing a mask."

"That's it!" he exclaimed. "A mask, yes. But sometimes the mask slipped. It's a queer thing to say about one's father."

I nodded understandingly, but Lucy shook her head.

"It was the real Uncle Andrew shining through the mask," she said with deeper insistence than ours. "That awful name, and finding Uncle Jerry dead—they must have done dreadful things to him. Poor Uncle Andrew!"

"It meant changing his speech, his mode of living, his outlook on life," Henry observed thoughtfully. "But fundamentally he remained the same."

"Only sometimes the mask wore thin," I added sadly.

Jerry shut his eyes. "When I think of the way I harried him about opening that mine!"

It was hard to really find one's father and lose him in the space of an hour or two and I started up, intention to dash my arm over his shoulder, but Lucy was before me. Sliding onto the wing of his chair, she gently drew his head to her breast and ran her fingers softly through his dark hair.

"You had better tell me the rest of it, Jerry," I said quietly.

He nodded. "Dad had no trouble about the mine. It was never claimed. He waited a few years, then he transferred it to his new name. Queer, what happened to the transfer and the check, isn't it? If Lundy didn't leave the room between the end of the game and when dad shot him, neither did the transfer and the check—unless Lundy passed them on to some one else, which doesn't seem likely."

"His mind is a blank about what happened to him that night," I said. "He won't know what he did with the papers. He must have hidden them so well that nobody has been able to find them."

"The transfer may have been found," Deacon suggested, "and nothing been done about it."

"Hmm," I said. "In my opinion the transfer and the check are still where Lundy put them. I've an idea several people have been looking for them. But go on, Jerry."

"Dad stopped payment of the check he had given Lundy. He came up here and put everything he had into land-and-water development. You know what happened. Everything he touched prospered. He had wanted to erase as much of the past as he could, but he knew that somebody was bound to recognize him as time went on. Of course he didn't figure on blackmail. But Dillon had, and about five years after Dad came into the San Felipe, he turned up and demanded $5,000 a year to keep his mouth shut about the killing of Lundy."

"Dad paid him. It wasn't cowardice, of course. He always doubted Dillon's ability to make the charge stick. But Dad had married. I was born, and mother was in delicate health. If Dad had kicked Dillon out he would have involved himself in a nasty mess and the shock would probably have finished her, so he paid. After mother's death, 10 years ago, he shrank from opening up the case on my account."

"Dad had made a barrel of money and $5,000 a year meant nothing to him. Dillon sent him a poker chip every year to remind him the money was due. A month ago Dillon overplayed his hand. MISS MARY WRIGHT HOSTESS TO SODALIS WESLEY CLASS. Friday evening Miss Mary Wright was hostess to the Sodalis Wesley Class. The devotional service, which was led by Miss Marie Hardie, consisted of a discussion of Mark 4.

After the business was concluded the girls were given a spelling lesson. They were all supplied with paper and pencil and given a list of ten most often misspelled words. The results were astonishing. Those who thought they had learned to spell in the fourth grade, changed their minds. Several games were played. Much fun was derived from charades.

The hostess served an attractive salad course. The meeting was well attended and all of the members were urged to hold in mind the date for the picnic.

Miss Gay McLaren, who will give an attractive program of dramatic readings, has given delight to large audiences of both college people and the general public. She is one of the most popular of all the readers appearing before the public today, giving sketches, presenting plays rearranged for one person that make one feel as if he had been to the show, coming out in impersonations that delight the audience, and doing all kinds of clever things that make her program preferable to the theatre for many people.

Miss McLaren's program this evening was arranged for this evening as a special treat for the first Saturday evening of the summer.

Long Island, Va.—"I have often told my family that I wished other sufferers could know what a fine tonic Cardui is," says Mrs. Leslie C. Arthur, of this place. "My health improved so much after taking it, that I feel it is my duty to recommend it, when I see a woman suffering from weakness."

"I took Cardui first in 1906. I was feeling miserably weak and listless. I felt every day that I would have to give up and go to bed, but my family cares were such that I had to keep going."

"I had just about reached the end of my endurance when, fortunately, I heard of Cardui. One of my friends asked me why I did not try it. I thought it might help me, from what I had read, so I began taking it. I was quite surprised to find my appetite was picking up, and I was feeling much stronger after I had been taking Cardui only a short time. I was so pleased with my progress, that I kept on with the medicine until I felt like I had been made over."

Miss Lillian Moore is expected from Richmond where she has been visiting her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kittrell left today for Detroit where Mr. Kittrell is a delegate to the T. P. A. convention. They will also visit Canada before returning home.

Misses Flossie Wilson and Ruby Peacock returned to their homes in Rocky Mount today after a visit in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Cobb and son, Charles, will leave Monday for a trip to Washington and New York. Enroute home they will spend several days at Virginia Beach.

Pinebluffs, June 14.—The Methodist Episcopal Church was the scene of a beautiful wedding Wednesday evening at nine o'clock when Miss Lillian Louise Moore became the bride of Mr. Thomas Franklin Taylor of Lakeand, Fla., formerly of Greenville, N. C.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion in a green and white color scheme. The altar was of white, decorated with ferns, palms and Queen Anne lace. On each side of the altar were standards holding lighted tapers. The pews were decorated with flowers, tulle and shepherd crooks.

Preceding the entrance of the bride party, a program of music was rendered by Miss Suidie Gay of the piano. Miss Nancy Lane of Stanthonsburg, dressed in Nile green taffeta, with slippers to match and wearing a corsage of sweet peas, gave a violin solo, "To a Wild Rose."

Mr. Frank R. Hufty of Wilson, noted voice teacher, also voice teacher of the bride, sang, "Because," and "All For You."

Promptly at nine o'clock the ushers, Mr. B. A. Stedman of Pinebluffs, and Mr. W. C. Taylor of Greenville, entered and took their places at the altar. Next to enter were the groomsmen, Mr. Benjamin Davis of Pinebluffs, Mr. Raymond McGowan of Plymouth, and Mr. David Moore of Greenville.

Then came the bridesmaids, Miss Elizabeth Adkins of Wilson, wearing a rose orchid chiffon taffeta dress, with slippers to match, and carrying an arm bouquet of yellow roses and sweet peas tied with tulle to match her dress; Mrs. B. F. Dunn of Pinebluffs, sister of the bride, wearing a dress of robin's-egg blue chiffon taffeta with slippers to match. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas tied with tulle to match her dress; Mrs. E. B. Davis of Kingston, sister of the groom, wearing a Nile green chiffon dress trimmed in wide lace, with slippers to match, carrying an arm bouquet of red roses with snapdragons; Miss Ayla Taylor of Greenville, sister of the groom, wearing a pink lyalene chiffon dress, with slippers to match, carrying an arm bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas. The bridesmaids entered in pairs, crossed at the altar and took their places.

The junior bridesmaids, nieces of the bride, entered next. They were Miss Dorothy Stedman, who wore a peach georgette crepe dress trimmed in lace and Miss Jane Lane, who wore a yellow georgette crepe dress trimmed in lace. They carried arm bouquets of sweet peas.

The ring bearer, Edward Stanfield, nephew of the bride, dressed in a white satin suit, carried the ring on a white satin pillow. Along with him came the flower girl, Mary Jewel Porter of Grimesland, niece of the bride. She wore a dress of pink georgette crepe and taffeta, and carried her flowers, sweet peas, fern and roses, in a white basket tied with green tulle.

Preceding the bride came the name of Honor, a sister of the bride, Mrs. W. E. Lane. She wore a dress of orchid chiffon taffeta with applied lavender and pink trimmings and silver slippers. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow and white roses tied with tulle to match her dress.

The bride entered the church with her brother, Mr. Samuel R. Moore, who gave her in marriage, and was met at the altar by the groom who had as his best man, his brother-in-law, Mr. E. B. Davis of Kingston.

The bride was never more lovely than on her wedding night. She wore a gown of Duchess satin with tulle. The silk net veil was edged in princess lace and held in place by a platinum pin, the gift of the groom. Her cap was of net, with a bandeau of pearls. She carried a shower of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. She wore an old-gold brooch seventy-five years old, which had belonged to her grandmother.

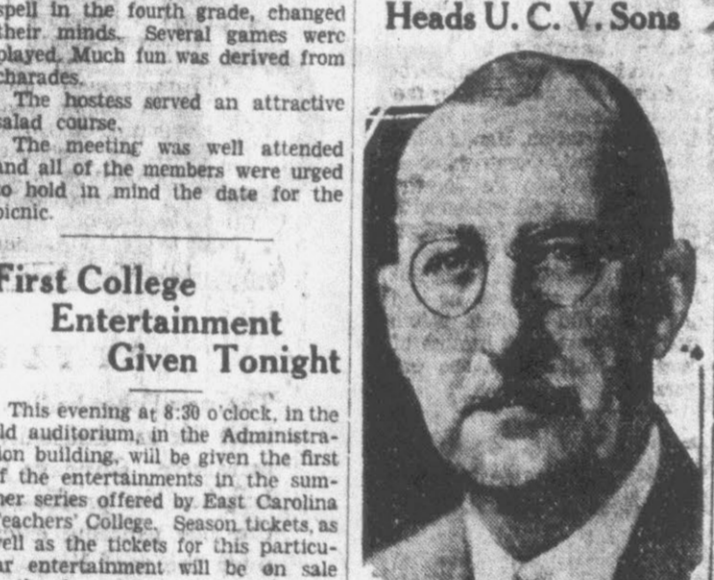

During the ceremony "Love's Response" was played. For the processional, Miss Gay played Lohengrin's bridal chorus. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was used for the recessional.

The ceremony was followed by a brief informal reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Lou D. Moore. Immediately after the reception Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left for Wilson where they boarded a train for Washington, New York, Niagara Falls and Canada. After July first they will be at home in Lakeland, Fla. For traveling, Mrs. Taylor wore a brown flat crepe ensemble with accessories to match.

The bride is one of Pinebluffs and the state's most popular young women. She was one of the beauty queens at the Exposition in Rocky Mount in 1927. She is very likeable and enjoys a large number of

Since our editorial yesterday in which we urged abandonment of the site across the river as a dumping ground for trash and rubbish, we have been informed by the mayor that such action was taken some time ago and that for several months no garbage had been carried to this site. We were not aware that the dump was not still being used and naturally it is gratifying in this instance for us to learn that we were in error. Now that there will be no more trash dumped on this site, what we would like to see is some movement for getting rid of what has already been placed there in full view of travelers along the highway. We reiterate, it presents anything but a pleasing approach to our city.

Just what action will be taken in regard to the stowaway aboard the French trans-ocean plane we do not know, but no doubt, like the one who stole his passage across on the Graf Zeppelin, he will be made a hero and receive large offers from the movie or vaudeville syndicates. As we see it, a person who will hide away on a plane that is already loaded to capacity, thereby endangering the lives of all on board as well as himself, is committing a criminal act that should merit punishment. Let's hope that the reception the stowaway receives at the hands of the French people followed by a similar attitude on the part of our own people, should he return to this country, will be such as to assure him and others inclined to repeat his stunt that such an act is considered a crime rather than an accomplishment.

WE NEED CHRIST

By The Rev. George A. Buttrick, D. D. (Pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York) The thoughts of Jesus were invariably more among men and women than external events. We need Him to restore emphasis on human values. Our ancestors could progress no further than a horse could take them; now we have steel horses. Our forebears, steeped in ignorance, could only kill one man at a time, while we in our enlightened age can kill thousands with one little cloud of gas. This array of inventions is no doubt very wonderful, but we must pay more attention to the persons behind their conception. Civic pride is promoting the growth of industries and civic heresy is almost more diabolical than theological heresy, but the world has grown by its heresies; so it is necessary to ask: Why not be more concerned about how we act than about factories and industries?

ABOUT TOWN

"Don't forget that Sunday is 'Father's Day' throughout the nation," reminded a citizen today, as he made preparations for buying an appropriate present for his dad. "This is an occasion that ranks next in importance to 'Mother's Day.' Both seasons should demand the attention of everybody whenever they approach, because the mother and fathers are the very foundation of this great land in which we live.

"Don't forget your father tomorrow. Buy him a gift of some kind. It will make him feel better and cause you to feel better in the long days to come when the hand of the grim reaper has claimed your dad."

"Greenville business houses were a little bit slow getting their flags out yesterday morning in observance of National Flag Day," commented a business man, "but after they got them out the business scene presented a splendid appearance.

"Flag day is of especial significance to the American people, in that it causes the average citizen to get a keener realization of the importance of the colors of his nation and a keener appreciation of the high principles which the flag represents.

"We should not be forgetful of this occasion in future years, but should have our flags ever handy ready to display to the world at any moment when it is in demand."

"Two straight victories over the Rocky Mount Buccaneers, for a long time leaders of the league, caused Greenville people to have more confidence in members of their ball club," declared a fan this morning, mentioning some of the outstanding features of the last game which Greenville won by an overwhelming score.

"The tobaccoists not only demonstrated the fact that they can field cleanly under trying conditions but that they also can hit the ball sufficiently hard and consistently to win most any old game. The final game was a veritable hitting spree and caused the Bucs to use some of their pitching material to stop the slaughter.

"With this kind of stick work, it should be a matter of only a short time before we find ourselves in the position now occupied by the Bucs. The old saying about turn about being fair play, is certainly as applicable to a ball club as anything else."

"We are proud of the fact that we have been able to double our membership during the last several months," declared a member of the local Junior Order U. A. M., following the banquet held Thursday night.

"Every one of the old members did splendidly in the membership drive. They were untiring in their effort to build up the club so that its future will be filled with greater possibilities. "We shall continue these membership drives from time to time, believing that as we grow in numbers, we shall also grow in usefulness."

BOY FARM CHAMPS VISIT HOOVER

"More decided interest was manifested in the cultivator demonstration yesterday than anything of the kind ever before held in the county," declared a member of the farm department this morning. "The first demonstration in the Ayden community was attended by at least sixty of the most thrifty planters in the county, and that in the afternoon drew a similar number. "Pitt county growers are interested in the improvements which manufacturers are making in the cultivators they are marketing today, realizing as they do the important part which the implement plays in the life of the farm. "These demonstrations are expected to draw more interest from year to year, and as interest increases we expect to see attendance do likewise." "Hot weather has come at last and the average business man is turning his attention to vacation time," reminded a reader of this paper today as he told of the leaving of one of our prominent bank-

WIFE OF FRENCH PILOT TO SAIL FOR PARIS

New York, June 15.-AP)-Mrs. Jean Assolant, the bride of five days whom the pilot of the Yellow Bird left on the beach at Old Orchard, Me., was preparing today to sail for Paris to rejoin her husband. The 22-year-old wife, who was Pauline Parker, a New York chorus girl, expressed her joy and relief at the news the fliers had landed safely in Spain. Mrs. Assolant said some one had suggested that she stowaway in the plane, but added that she would not have thought of such a thing as it would have endangered the lives of the crew. She said the number "13" apparently was lucky for both of them and pointed out that in addition to the fact that the plane took off on the 13th day of the month, here were 13 letters in her name and they were married 13 days after their meeting. She said their brief courtship had been carried on with the aid of French-English dictionaries, and gestures, as she does not understand French and Assolant's English vocabulary consists of three phrases, "show me, "shut up," and "O. M."

Jimmy Gets Wise.

New York-Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt is on her way home, probably chucking now and then over some wise-crack by Mayor Walker. At least she laughed heartily at farewell ceremonies under the trans-Atlantic plane. Bremen in the Grand Central station. Handing her a bottle of Atlantic Ocean water to be dumped into the Pacific, the mayor shook it cocktail fashion with a look of bliss on his face. Then he said he was about to cheer when he heard she was leaving town. But he added with a sad look, he had learned she could be back before the middle of next week because of the new air mail system she was inaugurating.

For Economical Transportation CHEVROLET

The Chevrolet Six offers all the Distinct Advantages of BODY by FISHER

STYLE QUIETNESS The new Fisher bodies on the Chevrolet Six are unusually smart and attractive. Concave front pillars lengthen the profile-the effect of the side paneling extends well up over the roof line-and all rear quarters are artistically molded. COMFORT In comfort, too, these new Fisher bodies represent a marked advance. The seats are deeply cushioned. Upholstery is "built-up" for added luxuriousness. And the driver's seat is easily adjustable, forward and back. STRENGTH Another outstanding feature of these new Fisher bodies is their sturdy construction. Built of selected hardwood and steel, they provide a measure of strength, endurance and safety that is unapproached in any other low-priced car. APPOINTMENTS All hardware fittings on Chevrolet enclosed bodies are designed and built by Ternstedt. Door handles are of the remote control type-window lifts are smart and convenient-and all exterior bright metal parts are chromium-plated. FINISH No single feature of Chevrolet bodies has created more widespread comment than their beautiful finish-made possible by the superlatively smooth surface of the steel body panels. Applied against this silken surface, Chevrolet finishes are uniform, lustrous and permanent.

LOCALS WIN SLUG FEST AT GOLDSBORO

Greenville, N. C., June 14.—Greenville jumped on Raket, Goldsboro twirler, in the eighth and ninth innings here today, clouting out nine hits and scoring seven runs to sew up an 8 to 4 victory. Up until the fatal eighth, it was a pitcher's duel between Raket and Ludke, with the local moundman holding a slight edge.

Hiller, former Bug infielder, led the attack for the Tobaccoists with three hits out of five times at the plate. He was most ably assisted by Clemons, who got two for five and drove in three runs. For the Bugs LaFleur continued his fine hitting, getting a double and a single out of four times at the plate. Jimmy Teague got two out of two.

Altogether the Tobaccoists got 12 hits off Raket's offerings, while the Bugs were gathering in 10 off Ludke and Jefferies, who relieved him in the eighth.

BATTLE OF MUD IS SPECTACULAR FOR AMERICAN DERBY

Chicago, June 14.—(AP)—Another battle in the mud is the almost certain prospect for the $50,000 American Derby which will be decided among three-year-olds over a mile and a quarter at Washington Park tomorrow.

Three days and nights of heavy rain had churned the course into a quagmire.

The track's condition has made Clyde Van Dusen, which splashed through the mud to win the Kentucky Derby, an overwhelming favorite. He was quoted at 8 to 5 with indications the odds would drop to 7 to 5 or less by post time. Several other speedy mud runners are entered and their stock, too, skyrocketed. Among these are African, Windy City, Karl Eitel and Paul Bunyan.

FRANK O'DOUL CONTINUES TO LEAD BATTERS

New York, June 15.—(AP)—Frank O'Doul, the Philadelphia battering ram, continues at the head of the national League batting class for the week ending last Wednesday, according to averages issued today and including games of that date. O'Doul has an average of .382, and also is taking a hand in the home run race where he is tied with Melvin Ott of the Giants for second place. Each has twelve homers against the fifteen stolen by Chuck Klein, of the Phillies, and Chick Hafey, of the Cardinals, tied for the lead.

Frank Frisch, of the Cardinals, holds three crowns as follows: Total hits, 76; two base hits, 8, and three base hits, 6. Teylor Douthitt, his team-mate, sets the pace in scoring with 51 runs, while Hafey, co-leader in home runs, tops the field with 60 runs batted in. Kiki Cuyler, of Chicago, breaks the St. Louis monopoly by leading in stolen bases with 13.

Other leading regular batters after O'Doul are: Herman, Brooklyn, .380; Frisch, St. Louis, .373; Stephen, Chicago, .370; Terry, New York, .368; Hafey, St. Louis, and Bancroft, Brooklyn, .364; Comorosky, Pittsburgh, .267; and Klein, Philadelphia, and Hendrick, Brooklyn, .362.

The uprising of the Giants in Pittsburgh last Wednesday all but snapped the string of Burleigh Grimes at ten straight, but the big spit-baller, while missing his eleventh victory, also avoided his first defeat. In addition to leading the league in yards won and lost, Grimes also is at the top with 115 innings pitched and is tied with Red Lucas, of Cincinnati, at ten complete games. Sylvester Johnson, of St. Louis, with six victories, and Irvin Brann, of Pittsburgh, with five, followed Grimes in pitching table, and complete the list of the undefeated. Jess Haines, of St. Louis, is next with eight victories and only one defeat.

Philadelphia leads in team batting with .312, followed by Pittsburgh with .302. The Cubs are the best in team fielding with .974, one point more than the Giants.

CARDINALS WIN FROM THE BRAVES

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN, Associated Press Sports Writer
 After two days of vain battling against rain squalls, the Cardinals settled themselves yesterday to the more pleasant task of beating the Braves. The Red Birds celebrated the delayed opening of the Boston series by shading Judge Fuch's tribe, 4 to 3, and so regained first place by the precarious margin of half a game, or two percentage points. The Giants paved the way for this Cardinal advance by turning back the Pirates, 7 to 2, after taking two Buccancer poles on the chin in the two preceding afternoons.

With the Bostonese imprisoned in Sportsman's park for three games in the next two days, Billy Southworth entertains high hopes of consolidating the advanced position of the Cardinals, but he may have to fight hard for any advantage he gains. Led by the veteran Harry Siebold, the Braves gave the league champions a severe argument yesterday. The visitors went so far as to propel Wee Willie Sherdel from the box in a most undignified manner in the seventh, while scoring three times to come within one of a tie.

Sylvester Johnson saved the day for Sherdel, who got credit for the victory. Jim Bottomly helped tremendously with his eleventh home run.

The Pirates can't win them all. And this becomes particularly evident when a pitcher like Larry Benton achieves his highest form. Benton gave the hard swinging Buccaners just seven hits, and seldom was in any danger after the Giants knocked Jess Petty from the box in the first inning. It was Petty's second knock-out in two days.

Brooklyn committed three misplays in the ninth at Cincinnati yesterday, enabling the Reds to score three times and tie, but re-won the game in the eleventh when Rhiel walked and scored on Frederick's double. It was Brooklyn's second straight victory over the Reds.

With the limit of the trading season only hours away, Jim Welsh once more finds himself in the regalia of the Braves, while Eddie Farrell again is a Giant as a result of a straight trade yesterday. Boston in the Welsh deal, and Farrell moved to Boston in the transaction which made Larry Benton a Giant.

The Athletics and the Yankees won their customary victories yesterday, maintaining the eight-game gap by which the Athletics lead.

The Macs humiliated Cleveland a second time as Bob Grove turned in fine ball to win by 9 to 0, and the Hugmen stampered the Tigers, 15 to 4. Grove gave just six hits in winning his tenth of the season and his seventh in succession. He has lost only once this season.

The Yanks had another fine hitting afternoon, raking George Uhle, George Smith and John Prudhomme for seventeen blows, including Lou Gehrig's sixteenth and seventeenth home runs. These two drives sent Gehrig into the unchallenged lead of the two majors.

Waite Hoyt held the Tigers to nine hits, and gave the impression that he could have done even better had the occasion demanded.

The defeat was Uhle's third in succession and was the hardest battering he has experienced since breaking his run of nine victories. Twelve Yankee hits, including both of Gehrig's homers, were gained upon him in the official innings, none being out when he was removed in the third.

Washington about faced and defeated the White Sox by 4 to 1 and the Browns nosed out the Red Sox by 7 to 5.

Far West's Young Coaches Pester The East

This is the far-west coaching trio that keeps the east guessing. Templeton handles Stanford's track and field affairs. Ebright is crew coach at California. Ulbricksen has a similar position at Washington.

By JAY VESSELS (Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York (AP)—Three young western athletic coaches, none of them much over thirty, are adding new wrinkles to the furrowed brows of eastern chieftains.

"Dink" Templeton's Stanford university track stalwarts on their way home from Philadelphia with their third successive national intercollegiate championship met another group of western invaders heading east.

This was a double-barreled Pacific coast threat consisting of the powerful California and Washington crews, skippered by "Ky" Ebright and Al Ulbricksen, respectively. The second far west inva-perienced outfit has impressed most of the rowing experts as having an edge on the field.

Washington, the other half of the far west's twin threat, is a dangerous outfit in any race. The only time the Huskies finished worse than second at Potzkeepsie in seven seasons was last year and then they were third. Washington was first in 1923, 1924 and 1926 and rated second in 1922, 1925 and 1927.

That is the Washingtons' record. Ebright's outfit, by winning at Poughkeepsie and sweeping through to the 1928 Olympic championship, did more for California than all of the other Bear crews combined. And that's pertinent information since the crew is virtually intact for this year's struggle.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET N. Y. STOCK LIST

New York, June 15.—(AP)—The cotton market showed further declines today under a renewal of realization or liquidation which was supposed to reflect disappointment over the failure of recent bullish features to have a more calculating effect on demand. Offerings were absorbed by covering and home buying on prospects for showers over Sunday but closing prices were at about the lowest of the day with the tone barely steady at net declines of two to nine points.

New York, June 15.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 2 points.

The market met considerable realization or liquidation which was promoted by the failure of prices to advance yesterday on the consumption and boll weevil reports. This was sufficient to supply the early demand and cause reactions of several points. July sold off from 18.55 to 18.45 and December from 18.87 to 18.81 during the early trading. Business was quiet at the decline and prices showed rallies of two or three points from the lowest at the end of the first half hour.

Private cables said the decline in Liverpool had been checked by good trade calling. The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week estimated at 52,000 bales against 74,000 last year.

STOCK MARKET

New York, June 15.—(AP)—Extensive week-end readjustment of speculative accounts brought about some irregularity in today's market but major activity was again on the upside with the rails and copper in the forefront of the advance. Extreme gains in the active issues ranged from 1 to 5 points, with Adams Express, making its first appearance on the tape this week, soaring 24 points.

Wall Street generally looks for fairly comfortable call money rates until next Wednesday when the mid month disbursements are expected to cause temporary stringency. Recent imports of gold, though moderate in volume, and the gradual easing of time money rates, have helped to revive bullish enthusiasm. Increasing purchases of government securities and commercial paper by the Federal Reserve banks also have helped to create a more cheerful feeling despite official intimations that it indicated no change in credit policy.

Rails were under fairly steady accumulation in the belief that the majority of the first half year state debts would make excellent comparison with the same month last year. Pere Marquette ran up 6 points, New Haven common, 5. Paul preferred and New York Central about 2 each, and at least a dozen others advanced a point or more.

Commonwealth Power extended its gain to 6 points by touching a new high at 246. Bohn Aluminum, Air Reduction, Motion Pictures, Inc., National Distillers common, United Aircraft and Simmons sold 7 to nearly 5 points above yesterday.

Coppers continued to respond to the favorable May statistics of production and consumption, Greene Cananea moving up 3 points and Anaconda 2.

Montgomery Ward again dropped below 110, or about 8 points below the high established yesterday just prior to the announcement of the issuance of New Stock subscription rights. General Electric and American Water Works yielded at least 3 points each on profit taking. The closing was firm. Total sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

fore the enthusiastic kindness of the people who trooped up in ever-growing numbers as the news spread—a lone Frenchman among them acting as interpreter. The town's civil guards formed a cordon around the plane to save it from souvenir hunters as the four adventurers left it for town and dinner—something more substantial than the bananas and oranges on which they had subsisted in crossing.

The Spaniards plied their with innumerable questions which they answered as well as they could through their interpreter. They said they were satisfied with their trip although they wished to get on to Le Bourget as soon as possible.
