STILL PROBE THE MURDER OF COLLEGE GIRL

Dr. Snook Again Grilled By Detectives Tells Of Taking Key From Dead Woman.

Columbus, Ohio, June 20.—(AP)—W. G. Shellenbarger, chief of detectives, said today that Dr. James H. Snook has admitted that he got a key from the key ring of Miss Theora K. Hix, slain Ohio States co-ed at the spot where her body was found last Friday. The key to the room which they shared jointly and which Snook surrendered to the landlady shortly before the girl's body was identified Friday.

Shellenbarger said that such a report was made to him by Detective Otto Phillips, who was in the room with County Prosecutor John C. Chester where Dr. Snook was questioned.

Phillips said he was questioning Dr. Snook about the key which was missing from the ring. Dr. Snook said, replied that he had gotten the key from the girl Wednesday and returned it to her Thursday.

Then Phillips asked: "Where did you get that key before you turned it in Friday?"

Phillips quoted Dr. Snook as saying: "You know where I got it from."

"At the body?" Phillips asked. And he quoted the professor as answering: "Yes."

Phillips said the questioning was dropped there and Snook was taken back to jail.

Shortly after Shellenbarger and Chester left the police station explaining that they were going to breakfast. Instead, they drove directly to the county jail and went to Snook's cell.

Snook's explanation of the incident was taken into the industrial session at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and was confronted by questioners who remained with him from that hour.

"I asked Dr. Snook if he had any explanation for the blood spots on his car," County Prosecutor John C. Chester said. "He replied that they might have been caused by a dog. Then I asked him if he ever had a dog in his machine, and he admitted that he never had. He was unable to offer any explanation of the spots."

Snook served in the university veterinary clinic until dismissed. The stains were analyzed as blood by C. H. Long, a chemist, in a report delivered to authorities yesterday.

The prosecutor was aided in the examination by Police Chief Harry S. French.

Announcements from Snook's examination room indicated that Chester and police were following closely the former professor's statements in support of his denial of knowledge of the slaying.

He admitted taking two pairs of pajamas and a pair of women's slippers from the room and burning them in the furnace of his home Saturday, investigators said, adding that previously Snook's wife had told them they were burning rubbish.

The long session was the first occasion on which Snook had been faced with officials seeking to solve the slaying. Previously he had been allowed to occupy his cell undisturbed, and his only statement had been given out through newspapermen.

Talking Pictures Given As Antidote For Domestic Strife

Omaha, June 20.—(AP)—Talking pictures of wedding ceremonies were devoted today by District Judge Herbert Rhodes of the Court of Domestic Relations as an antidote for domestic strife.

Two Omaha couples announced intention pictures would be taken of their weddings. The Rev. Frank G. Smith of the First Congregational church said "Talkies as reminders of the marriage vows in later life might help. I make my vows pretentious, so if they saw and heard themselves taking them again it would be a good reminder of the seriousness of the covenant."

Judge Rhodes said: "They are taking a step in the right direction. I think such action would save the institution of marriage. It would save out a lot of wrinkles and make the wife take their marriages more seriously. The pictures should be shown when a rift appears in domestic life."

SEVERE HEAT WAVE STILL GRIPS NATION

Disastrous Electrical Storms Cause Many Deaths In Many Parts Of Country.

New York, June 20.—(AP)—From coast to coast, virtually the entire country today continued in the grip of the severest June heat wave in years.

In the east, disastrous electrical storms that caused many deaths, brought a drop of 20 degrees in temperature at some points but the mercury again started a steady climb.

On the Pacific coast, from San Francisco south and in the mid-west the highest temperatures for June in years were experienced.

In New York City the temperature rose to 92 degrees, the highest in the weather bureau's annals for the date, and but slight relief was afforded in the late afternoon by a brief thunder shower.

The electrical storm was especially severe in Pennsylvania where lightning bolts killed four persons, but power lines out of commission and damaged barns and trees. Temperatures in the storm area dropped ten to twenty degrees but after a few hours started to rise again.

The temperature at Newark rose to 94 degrees. In upper New York state the rainfall was so heavy that it washed out bridges near Dickens Center, marooning a two-coach passenger train of the New York Central.

Prospect of an early end to the heat wave in the east was seen in reports from New England where the descent of cool northeastern winds from the Grand Banks brought a slight break in the torrid weather.

Thundershowers in the mid-west failed to provide any adequate relief.

Kansas City had a high temperature of 88; Cincinnati 86; Milwaukee 84; and Chicago 80.

The Pacific coast reported such temperatures as 98 in Los Angeles; 84 in San Diego and 84 in San Francisco. The heat wave extended into the southwest with 108 at Phoenix; 90 at Oklahoma City and 80 at Denver.

Income Tax Collections Show Increase In U. S.

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—A material increase in income tax collections has boosted the government's total revenue for the current fiscal year to $3,790,141,977 as of June 18, giving a present surplus of $101,795,855.

The Treasury's daily statement today reported that income tax collections for June 18 amounted to $239,802,300 one of the largest single day's collections ever made.

It raised the total for the month to $389,971,340 or $130,534,951 more than collected in the same period of last June.

PROHIBITION CONTROVERSY MORE ACUTE

Verbal Bullets Flying In All Directions As Enforcement Body Tightens Up.

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—As the tightening up process in dry law enforcement proceeds, the controversy over the prohibition issue becomes more acute with verbal bullets flying in many quarters.

Shooting by dry officers, the plans of the Hoover law enforcement commission on the opening of warfare on the Detroit river between federal government agents and rum runners all have their places in the headlines with a possibility suggested of some complication with Canada if innocent persons come to grief on the international line.

The Senate went its temporary way from Washington leaving behind a sizeable closing day bulk of debate on the subject during which Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia charged that the administration was "submerging" prohibition in the law enforcement inquiry.

Such other stalwart dries as Senator Jones of Washington, rushed to the defense of the President, and before the day's discussion had ended there were charges from dries of both parties that shootings by enforcement officers were being exaggerated as part of a wet propaganda drive.

While the Senate was talking, information was made public that federal agents, embarking upon a new scheme of enforcement, had camped for a week in the woods of Maryland and in that period had dried up the channel through which thousands of gallons of moonshine would have flowed daily into the National Capital.

The agents made a number of arrests and confiscated a dozen or more stills, the largest with a capacity of 800 gallons a day. It was indicated that this campaign had been so successful that others of a similar nature would be inaugurated.

As the discussion over the shootings by dry officers continued unabated, police chief J. L. Beavers of Atlanta, issued orders to his men that they must stop using firearms against persons even though known to be carrying contraband liquor.

"Your pistol is to be used in defense of your life or that of another citizen," his orders said, "and is not to be discharged at people whom you suspect or even know to be carrying whiskey."

As the rum war broke out on the Detroit river, with federal and smuggler's crafts engaging in a lively exchange of gun fire, police chief James D. Proctor of Sandwich, Ontario, announced that he had called to the attention of the secretary of external affairs a Ottawa "that some innocent person may be hurt or killed if it (the firing) continues."

He was referring however not to the newest outbreak, but to a recent shooting in which he said an American government patrol boat opened fire with a machine gun on a suspected rum craft.

ASKS REPORT ABOUT RUM SHIP INCIDENT

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Secretary Stimson has asked the Treasury Department to give him a full report on the firing on a customs patrol boat on the Detroit river by rum smugglers.

Demonstrating How To Shoot Burglar, Mothers Kills Son

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—"I'll show you how I'd shoot a burglar," laughed Mrs. Jeannette Anzalone to a group of friends at her home last night.

"Please don't," shuddered one of her guests.

"Oh, it isn't loaded," smiled Mrs. Anzalone.

But it was, her three-year-old son, Leonard, died early today in a hospital, a bullet in his head.

"This particular boat is the most dangerous on the river," Walter S. Petty, acting collector of customs at Detroit, said. "Once we have captured it a lot of our troubles will be over. We have enough men and our boats are fast enough to do that."

Assistant Secretary Lowman at Washington said the firing on the patrol boat indicated the desperate class of men with whom the customs service has to deal. He said the treasury cannot send unarmed men against such criminals and does not intend to disarm customs agents.

Hammer Murder Is Reported At Chicago, Illinois

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—Casimir Litnickas was slain by blows that crushed his skull. After police found his body they questioned his neighbor, Anthony Kazullo.

"I killed him," they quoted him as saying. "With a hammer; while he slept."

"Why?" asked Police Lieutenant Thomas Duffy.

"Because he said it was too old to live. It's a lie. I'm only 37."

"A jury might say he was right, at that," mused the lieutenant. "You know the penalty for murder in this state?"

"What is it?" said Kazullo.

"Death," replied the policeman.

NO VIOLENCE REPORTED AT WARE SHOALS

South Carolina Mills Return To Work Without Interference From Strikers.

Ware Shoals, S. C., June 20.—(AP)—With only a few strikers hanging around outside the gates, operations at the Ware Shoals Manufacturing Company went ahead again today without any show of violence. Machine gun and infantry units from Columbia and Greenville, were still on guard as well as special police and state constables.

Those strikers on hand, between 60 and 75, could hardly be called pickets. They gathered across a street fronting the mill property and contented themselves mostly with looking on. Once in a while some one would jeer at a returning worker but no threats of violence were heard.

In contrast with yesterday's opening, few guards were posted at the gate. One squad rested inside the gate. The others remained in their tents or congregated in small groups inside.

Company officials said their full day force of 900 workers were in the plant yesterday and were on hand again today. Union officials claimed they had signed up 800 members but only about 300 attended a meeting late yesterday.

LIQUOR GANG IS SOUGHT BY PATROL BOAT

Customs Officials After Gang That Fired On Patrol Boat On Detroit River.

Windsor, Ont., June 20.—(AP)—United States customs officials today were seeking a gang of rum-runners from east side Detroit whom they accuse of attacking a customs patrol boat on the Detroit river.

Occupants of the rum craft opened fire with pistols on patrol boat No. 4101 off the downtown waterfront of Detroit yesterday morning. Several shots struck the prow of the patrol boat, but none of its crew was lost.

A running fight ensued as the customs men returned the fire, and started in pursuit. The rum-runners, keeping up their fire, escaped into Canadian waters as the patrol boat abandoned the chase at the international line.

The rum-boat was described as a mahogany colored craft with a wide white stripe above the water line.

"This particular boat is the most dangerous on the river," Walter S. Petty, acting collector of customs at Detroit, said. "Once we have captured it a lot of our troubles will be over. We have enough men and our boats are fast enough to do that."

Assistant Secretary Lowman at Washington said the firing on the patrol boat indicated the desperate class of men with whom the customs service has to deal. He said the treasury cannot send unarmed men against such criminals and does not intend to disarm customs agents.

Reports that Ontario provincial police had been ordered to search all rum boats for fire-arms were denied by district inspector Arthur Moss. Who said he had issued no such orders and did not intend to do so.

BISHOP CANNON LOSES HEAVILY IN WALL STREET

N. Y. Paper Prints Story Of Minister's Transactions In The Stock Market.

New York, June 20.—(AP)—New York newspapers today printed lengthy accounts of dealings in stocks by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, leader of the anti-Smith forces in the Democratic party and chairman of the Anti-Saloon League legislative committee at Washington.

The transactions were with the now bankrupt brokerage firm of Kable and Company, the officers of which are under indictment for using the mails to defraud. The firm's books indicate that between August 14, 1927, and April 30, 1928, Bishop Cannon with an investment of $2,500 bought and sold stocks at prices running into five and six figures. Had he closed his account before the firm's books were seized he would have made $6,100.

So far he has made nothing and is out his $2,500. The ledger shows purchases of $158,284 and sales of $66,000 in one month alone.

The World, which printed a facsimile of the ledger sheet carrying the bishop's account, quotes the bishop as admitting the stock purchases but saying he believed he was buying stock for investment on the partial payment plan.

Disclosure of the bishop's stock dealings was made by Judson Campbell, attorney for Charles H. Kable, after United States Attorney Chas. H. Tuttle had refused him access to the firm's books.

The Kable firm filed a voluntary petition of bankruptcy in April, 1928, but no action has yet been taken in the case. Assistant United States Attorney Ella Marie Fallon said the delay merely was due to the press of more important cases.

After the filing of the bankruptcy petition, indictments were returned against Kable, who Campbell maintains was a mere figurehead in the firm, and Harry L. Goldhurst, whom Campbell alleges was the actual owner.

Bishop Cannon told the World he made the stock purchases through Goldhurst.

"I thought I was buying stocks for investment, buying on the partial payment plan as any man may," he said. "I did not know there was any gambling by the company. I did suppose, and I suppose now, that the company found itself in debt and failed."

"I cannot see why these transactions are of public interest. The only reason for printing such things I suppose is that I occupy a public position in trying to get the prohibition law enforced. I do not feel that I did anything wrong in buying stocks, on the partial payment plan, and I certainly did not intend to gamble. I hoped to finish my payments and so invest my money."

Boulder Dam Bill To Be Effective During Tomorrow

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Information at the White House today indicated that President Hoover tomorrow would issue the necessary order to place the Swine-Johnston Boulder Canyon Dam act in full effect.

Under terms of the act a six-month period was provided to enable negotiations with a view of Colorado river basin states forming a seven-state compact.

This time will expire tomorrow. No agreement has been reached and the law now provides that the states may proceed with a view of establishing a six-state compact.

Arizona has been the dissenting state. Recent conferences in Washington failed to work out a plan acceptable to it.

Patient Operates Ahead Of Doctor

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—"What you need," said Dr. F. Seifried Jackson, examining a transient patient at his office last night, "is to have tonsils taken out. 'I'll operate tomorrow.'"

"And I," said the patient, drawing a pistol, "will operate now."

Somewhere in Chicago today there was a man with $210 of Dr. Jackson's money and a pair of tonsils that needed taking out.

SUSPEND INCREASE ON PAPER RATES

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today ordered suspended from June 21, 1929, to January 21, 1930, proposed increase in freight rates on news print paper and other paper articles from points in Canada to New York, Chicago and a large number of other cities in the United States.

Tariff Question Holds Attention At Capital

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—The Senate finance committee stood guard at the deserted capital today to toll over the mass of figures involved in the pending tariff measures while the other members of Congress enjoy a vacation.

For two months the committee will hear witnesses and work over the voluminous tariff measure passed by the House and then the Senate will return on August 19 to begin consideration of this last recommendation of President Hoover remaining to be acted upon at the special session.

The recess was taken last night after a day of vigorous debate in the Senate revolving principally about prohibition and a few hours of discussion in the House over the administration proposal to postpone the maturity date of the $400,000,000 French war supplies debt. The latter was approved by both chambers before adjournment.

The Senate prohibition debate hinged on the resolution of Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, proposing appointment of a joint congressional committee, as requested by President Hoover to study the advisability of transferring the prohibition agencies to the Department of Justice. The long round of discussion forestalled action and the resolution went over as the unfinished business before the Senate to be taken up after the recess.

The final hour of the session found the Senate again reverting to its dispute with President Hoover over the export debenture farm relief plan. Senators Norris, Nebraska, and Johnson, California, leaders of the Republican independent group which supported the debenture proposal, assailed published stories which they said cast aspersions on the motives of Republicans opposing the President on that issue.

In contrast to statements that some Senators had voted against the President because of failure to get patronage, Senator Norris declared he understood considerable "pressure" had been brought to bear on Republicans to win their support for the Hoover viewpoint.

The Nebraska said one Senator had told him he had been offered "the world with a fence around it" if he would oppose the debentures. However, he said he did not make any accusation of improper activities by Mr. Hoover himself.

Senator Johnson said the newspaper accounts demonstrated the king of "propaganda" sent out when members of the Senate attempted to act independently. The particular story which aroused the discussion was one published by the United Press Association.

Although both the House and Senate adopted the French debenture resolution yesterday, the House rushed away to its vacation before Speaker Longworth could affix his signature. The opinion was expressed both at the capital and at the treasury, however, that President Hoover would be warranted under the circumstances in allowing a postponement if France ratifies the agreement before August 1.

STOWAWAY IS ON WAY HOME FROM FRANCE

Arthur Schrieber, Who Beat Way Over On Yellow Bird, Leaves Paris Today.

Paris, June 20.—(AP)—Arthur Schrieber, stowaway on the French trans-Atlantic monoplane Yellow Bird, left Paris today for the United States. His departure was unhealed and only one of the plane's fliers, Armeno Lotti, Jr., accompanied the youth to the Levathan boat train.

Schrieber seemed contrite and somewhat anxious. He shook hands with Lotti before photographers and, French style, they kissed each other on both cheeks.

"I am glad to go home, but I am sorry I cannot go with a little different story," the youth told Lotti as they parted. He had not taken part in receptions planned for the fliers in recognition of their negotiation of the Atlantic.

"I did a fool stunt and I am heartily sorry for it," he said. "The only consolation is I have found such a good friend Lotti, one of the men who suffered from my foolishness."

Schrieber, who is from Portland, Me., made the passage with the Frenchmen last week by stowing away in their plane. The fliers on their take-off from Old Orchard, Me., discovered the youth, they said, when they investigated the reason for the plane's failure to gain altitude. They attributed their failure to reach Paris on a non-stop flight to the extra weight of the youth in their plane.

HOOVER FINDS CONGRESS IS HARD-BOILED

President's First Experience With Law-makers Anything But Encouraging

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—President Hoover has had his first experience in dealing with Congress and found the going anything but easy during the first part of the special session he called to enact farm relief and tariff revision legislation.

After much maneuvering and an open controversy with the Senate, he got about the sort of farm relief measure he wanted, but just how close the tariff bill will come to his views, remains for the future. The measure passed by the House is regarded by some of his friends as not being in accord with his ideas of either limited or necessary revision.

Although Republican majorities in both houses were increased in the election which swept Hoover into the presidency, he found a situation on Capitol Hill similar to that faced by his predecessor, with the Republican independents of the Senate able to wield the balance of power as between the regular Republicans and the Democrats.

Early in the session it was found that the independents and the Democrats were standing together for the export debenture plan of farm relief which the President denounced as "dangerous to agriculture, but the big surprise to many came when both Senator Borah of Idaho, and Senator Brookhart of Iowa, came out for the debenture proposal.

These two Senators were prominent in the campaign, standing the agricultural west in behalf of Mr. Hoover and the Republican party platform, which the President held to be interpreted in the administration farm relief measure.

As some political observers have concluded, the chief executive was obliged to look to the House for the bill he wanted, and at his suggestion it finally permitted the debenture plan to come to a vote there despite the possibility of a not-far-embarrassment to some of the western representatives standing with the administration, and it was overwhelmingly rejected.

President Hoover has made no public expression regarding the House tariff bill other than to refer inquiries to his message to Congress at the opening of the session. In that he used a limited revision in the industrial schedules to meet changed conditions since the present law was enacted and a general revision of agricultural rates.

The House received and passed a general revision bill, with changes in duties affecting hundreds of commodities. The Senate declined by the margin of a single vote to limit the finance committee in its work to agriculture and related schedules.

Besides the farm bill, the President obtained one other measure which he desired providing for postponement of the House and the taking of the next session, but was blocked in the Senate in his effort to postpone the coming into force of the national origins quota provisions of the immigration act and it will automatically become operative July 1.

Compensation Is Favored For Fruit Growers

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Legislation to provide for a partial compensation to fruit and vegetable growers for losses resulting from efforts to combat the Mediterranean fruit fly is favored by Secretary Hyde of the agriculture department.

A draft of a bill, similar in many respects to one introduced by Rep. Drane, Democrat, Florida, was transmitted by him to the House agriculture committee.

The proposed measure would recommend an appropriation of $10,000,000 for this purpose.

Reimbursement to the growers would not be permitted to exceed amounts determined by the secretary of agriculture as adequate to cover the maintenance costs of citrus fruits and other orchards or fruit vineyards, and, in the case of vegetables, the actual costs of planting and care up to the time of destruction.

HEAD OF STATE MERCHANTS TO SPEAK IN CITY

Secretary Of Organization Also To Attend Quarterly Meeting Here Tuesday.

The quarterly meeting of the Greenville Merchants' Association will be held at the Rotary building next Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, according to announcement made this morning by the secretary. The meeting will be featured by the usual banquet and speeches dealing with the progress which the organization has made during the quarter.

Dallas Holloman, Raleigh, president of the State Merchants' Association, and W. L. Dowell, secretary, will be present to discuss important subjects relative to work now in progress throughout the state. Several local men will speak briefly on subjects affecting the Greenville organization, and the secretary will present his report made to the state convention and covering activities of the association over the past year.

The local association, it was stated, today has experienced the greatest growth in its history from March the first to the present time. The report to the state convention showed that the increase in membership, compared with the report to the convention, 1928, was just three short of doubling the membership.

Members of the association attended the Hickory convention fully determined to carry off honors in the membership campaign, and while they offered serious opposition, they failed to capture the honor for this distinction. Another organization in a much larger town walked away with the honor with Greenville and several other towns crowding them hard for first place.

Much interest is always centered about the quarterly meetings of the association here, and that this time is no exception, the secretary stated this morning. The visit of the state president and secretary is of outstanding importance and what they will have to say will be listened to with interest by every member of the organization.

MANY APPLICANTS FOR FARM BOARD JOBS

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—More than 400 names have been submitted to President Hoover for the eight places on the federal farm board.

Mr. Blalock is manager of the North Carolina Cotton Growers' Association and his friends said he had the endorsement of practically all of the cotton organizations of the country.

HOME GROCERY CO. OPENS SECOND STORE

The Home Grocery Co., Inc., recently organized and at that time began the operation of their first store on Dickinson avenue, has already won the approval of the public to the extent that they have opened their second store, and both are enjoying a wonderful patronage from those who know to recognize and appreciate real values in their grocery purchases. The second store is located at the intersection of Pamlico avenue and Fleming street.

There are several features connected with these new institutions in Greenville's mercantile life that deserve the consideration of the public. First, they are owned and operated by local interests and people who have made a life study of the grocery business. Second, buying quality merchandise through correct channels enables them to mark their goods at a close margin of profit, equal to that of any store. In order to render their patrons every service required and expected,

Postal delivery numbers in the Greenville area will be mailed to the Dickinson avenue store, and these are available each day with additional deliveries on Saturday.

GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

PEEBLES: Luce bravely married to Jerry with a murder accusation hanging over him.
 Deacon drops the charge, convided that Dillon is the murderer. A mysterious telephone call—Dillon—who is he?—flashes a challenge to Peebles over the wire. Peebles speeds back to Torridity to meet Ogden's slayer.
 As he steps from his car, a bullet whistles over his head. He goes to the deserted Lundy saloon, finds a light in the "secret room" on the second floor. Entering the room, he starts to inspect its contents when a terrifying command booms out: "Drop your gun and reach!"

Peebles' pistol roared first—Dillon fell—it was Luther MacNair.

Chapter 48
THE LAST ILLUSION
 The shrill command smote me like the blow of a fist. I did not move. The automatic hung slackly from my hand and I knew better than to raise it.
 "Drop it, ye two-legged varmint!"
 the voice screamed passionately. I dropped the pistol. "Face round whur I kin see ye!"
 I swung slowly on my heel. Before me was the storeroom, which I, like a fool, had forgotten. At first I did not see Furie, for he stood within the shadows of the room, but the barrel of a Colt, then the angular hand that held it, and finally, as he emerged, the old desert-rat himself.
 His appearance at that moment was the picture I was to retain of him until the end of my days. The wild rage of his face transfixed me.
 His lips were froth-flecked and it came upon me overwhelmingly that the man was murderously insane and that I was nearer death than I had ever been.
 "Well, I cooched ye!" he shrieked.
 "Was it you who fired on me?" I inquired. He seemed to have accustomed himself to the loss of his eight-sided fem.
 "Twar!" he shouted. "Pity I didn't plug ye! Ta o' been saved the trouble o' doin' it now. Whur'll ye have it—in the belly or the head?"
 "But what have I done to you?"
 I demanded casually.
 "Whut have ye don?" he screamed. "Whut—whut—whut—" Speech left him. He shook his fist at me, waved the pistol in my face.
 His rage, indeed, finally pitched him over the summit of his emotions and for perhaps three seconds, his strength spent, he stood and simply quivered and glared at me.
 In that moment of silence I heard the creak of a board. Some one was coming up the stair. I had been groping about in my mind for the explanation of Furie's insane rage and suddenly I found it; and I also saw as clearly as if a ray of light had pierced my brain what had been prepared for me. It was diabolically clever, as any scheme of Dillon's would be—and the creak of a board had betrayed it to me.
 Furie got his wind again. "Yer one o' them police cops! I knowed it yesterday mornin'. Yes, after the ambre as killed that thievin' Andry Ogden and yer got it in yer fool head I'm the lad as done it! An' yer fixin' to bring me into one o' them crookit co-rts whur a slick lawyer kin make a old cuss like me say he killed his mother! Yer fixin' to stretch me neck."
 I raised my hand.
 "Shet up, or I'll stake ye out for the buzzards!" he screamed. "Hain't I been told if ye ain't six foot under the skull by sun-up they'll be makin' me swear I killed Andy Ogden when I didn't, an' crackin' me neck fer it?"
 Obviously Dillon had been talking to him. Anything I might say, then, would be of no avail. He'd finish me in a minute or so. Desperately I sought for some means of overcoming him, when a thought struck me. Dillon was outside, listening, waiting, and it offered the barest chance of success, but I'd try it.
 "Furie," I said casually, "here is your eye-piece. Don't you want it?"

 His eyes became almost sane in their expression; his pistol hand dropped to his side, and he reached for the lens.
 It was then that I caught him neatly under the point of the chin.
 He doubled up at the knees and as he toppled forward I caught him and laid him out on the floor.
 Scooping up my automatic, I spun around, expecting Dillon to come pouring into the room, preceded by a fusillade of shots. But he didn't, although I knew he was standing out there, waiting, listening. He evidently didn't know what had happened. Well, I knew what Dillon was waiting for! I had saved my life, but I wanted him to commit the overt act. I wanted him to attack me.
 My eyes fell on the dummies and all at once I knew what I was going to do. Imitating Furie's high-pitched voice, I shrieked:
 "Yes head or yer belly—whur'll ye have it?"
 I was peeling off Furie's incredible shirt.
 "No, no! For God's sake, no!" I cried in an agonized voice. "Don't shoot! Don't!"
 The shirt was off. I was slipping it over Napoleon's head.
 "Furie!" I pleaded. "They'll get you. They'll track your neck!"
 The shirt was off. So was the astonishing hat. I toppled sitting Bull into the shadows against the north wall, lowered the light, scooped up the pistol.
 "Furie!" I screamed. "Don't shoot!
 Dillon lied to you!"
 I fired once, twice at the ceiling.
 As I staggered back and sank in a heap against the south wall, the door flew open and Dillon rushed in hand in hand. A glance at my limp body, and he fired, once, twice, three, at the wax figure in the absurd straw hat. Then a long, throaty cry of rage broke from his lips and he lunged toward the straw-hatted figure.
 I had risen silently.
 "Hands up, Dillon."
 He was whirling on his heel, his still smoking pistol leaping up at me. I shot him once, twice, through the heart and his own weapon blew a hole in the floor. My last shot had spun him around so that he faced the door through he had burst to enact his pretense of avenging my supposed death. I shall never forget the almost comic look of bewilderment frozen on his swarthy face. He crumpled at the knees, and pitched through the door into the blackness of the gallery.
 My legs gave way beneath me and I dropped to the floor; the pistol slid from my hand. I could not have moved or uttered a word to save my life.

 The blare of motor horns broke the desert stillness. There was something about my name was called;
 but I took no notice. Feet pounded on the floor. Lights flashed; exclamations of horror arose, and a body of people poured in upon me.
 Deacon and Lucy and Jerry, Nathan Hyde and Roy Hammond, and Thompson, the police detective.
 "Uncle John, Uncle John, Uncle John!" Lucy sobbed. She had drawn my head to her breast and was bathing my bald spot with her tears.
 "That—that man out there!" Deacon shouted unsteadily.
 "Dillon," I mumbled.
 "Dillon!" he roared, as if he were beside himself. "I tell you it's Luther MacNair!"
 "And who is Dillon but Luther MacNair?" I asked wearily.

GREENIES WIN INITIAL GAME FROM EAGLES

Kinston, N. C., June 19.—The shipping Eagles dropped a fourth straight today, Greenville beating them 6 to 3. The game was more pitifully one-sided than the score indicates.

The visitors outbit the locals and were much more in the game field. They connected for 15 safeties, although only one was of the extra base variety.

Freshour held the Eagles to three hits in the first five and one-third innings. He fanned five men in a row. He did not maintain control, however, and was lifted for Garbee, who was plenty good.

The locals got the bases loaded with one down in the eighth, but the best a pinch-hitter did was to bunt the ball down before the plate to force a runner out. The next man in to the infield.

One of Kinston's runs was a freak homer. The ball was lost in short left. It was a clean two-bagger. Fulghum scored when he saw the left fielder couldn't locate the ball. The box score:

Columbia Makes It Six In a Row

Atlanta, Ga., June 20.—(AP)—The Columbia Comers, latest sensation in the South Atlantic Association, hammered thirty base hits hither and yon in a double-header with Greenville to win 12 to 3 and 14 to 1, making six victories in a row. In both games, the Spinners were mastered by Comer pitchers.

Heavy hitting in three innings, fourth, fifth, sixth, netted Macon all of its runs and 10 to 8 win over Knoxville. The Tigers became restless in the ninth, but Richardson relieved Patton on the mound and retired the side in order after two runs had been scored. Augusta fielded brilliantly behind Pitcher Alter to defeat the Asheville Tourists, 6 to 4.

A downpour in the third inning halted the game between Spartanburg and Charlotte. At the time Charlotte was leading 3 to 0.

CUBS MOUNT TO THE TOP IN NATIONAL

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN (Associated Press Sports Writer)

The National League riot struck a new high note of tumult yesterday and when all the debris had been cleared away the unruly Cubs were found clinging to the top perch by the margin of their finger-nails. The men of McCarthy slammed the Cardinals generously by scores of 7 to 3 and 11 to 3, running their string over the champions to three straight. The Pirates stayed off two Cincinnati rallies to win by 5 to 5, and in company with the Cubs stepped to a position one game ahead of the Cardinals, erstwhile leaders.

The Bruins and the Buccaneers joined hands gaily in one of those "virtual ties," but the Chicago victory stood five percentage points forward through the time-honored process of having lost fewer games. The Giants, meanwhile, were winning two from the Phillies, 15 to 14 and 16 to 6.

The clan McGraw remained three and a half games behind the Little Bears, but with important difference that the Little Bears had stepped into first place as related. Steve Swetonic seemed not to know what to do with a six run lead in Cincinnati yesterday and to save himself from heart failure Donie Bush rushed Carmen Hill to the mound in time to shade the Reds at the finish, 6 to 5.

The Giants won two games from the Phillies, as reported, but the New Yorkers were in serious difficulty through most of the eleven-inning opener before finally pulling it out by the bat last score of 15 to 14.

Melvin Ott hit his sixteenth and seventeenth home runs, and Chuck Klein of the home team his 13th, which tied Hafey for the league lead. The Giants won the second game by 12 to 6.

The Boston Braves won a pair from the Brooklyn by 8 to 4 and 9 to 0.

The most important action along the American League front was the return of Babe Ruth to active campaigning at the Yankee Stadium and Lou Gehrig's 19th homer at the same inclosure. The Yankees defeated the Red Sox, of course, by 18 to 2, and so reduced the margin of the idle Athletics to seven and one-half games. But this questionable success was tempered by the announcement that Henry Johnson would be unable to pitch in the big series against the leaders. Johnson, inactive since June 9, is suffering from a strained back.

Detroit defeated Cleveland by 3 to 3 in a six-inning game halted by rain, and the Browns won from the White Sox by 8 to 3 in other American League engagements. The Senators and the Athletics were idle.

American Horse Loses In England

Ascot, England, June 20.—(AP)—Invershin, winner of the Ascot Gold Cup last year, repeated his performance today at Royal Ascot. Reign Count, Mrs. John D. Hertz's American colt was second in the field of 13.

Invershin, owned by Reid Walker, won by two lengths from Reign Count while the American colt finished three lengths in front of Palais Royal II, which was third. The 1928 gold winner was quoted 8 to 1 in the betting while Reign Count was a 4 to 1 favorite. Palais Royal II paid 10 to 1.

Reign Count's performance in the Ascot Gold Cup culminates his turf career in England, where he was sent after winning the three-year-old championship of the United States last year. He started in five races, finishing in the Coronation Cup, second in today's mixture and out of the money the other three times.

Yale and Harvard To Row Tomorrow

New London, Conn., June 20.—(AP)—Up the old Thames, in lanes bordered by the luxurious pleasure craft of millionaires and flanked by the picturesque Connecticut hills, Yale and Harvard will row for supremacy tomorrow in the classic of American college regattas. From 25,000 to 50,000 persons are expected to witness the event.

Although Poughkeepsie has stolen the championship lustre that in ancient times associated itself with this historic regatta no other college event in the country has the glamour, thrill or color of this duel. They represent the 62nd time Yale and Harvard eight-oared crews have met.

Experts have established Yale as a strong favorite in the four mile varsity race that will bring the regatta to a climax around 7 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Twins Climb To Second Place

Winston-Salem moved into second place in the Piedmont League standing yesterday by trouncing Durham, 3 to 2, behind the fine pitching of Sullivan. Reid twirled well for the bulls, but was touched at critical times. Only four Twin runners reached first and three completed the circuit. The other was forced out.

While the Twins were climbing into the challengers position, the Patriots continued their fast pace at the league top, defeating Salisbury, 5 to 4. Young scored the winning counter for Greensboro in the ninth inning on Parrish's double. Henderson cooped the other Piedmont game from High Point, 4 to 2. Hust's home run, with two aboard in the fifth proved the winning margin.

Goldsboro and Rocky Mount maintained their status quo as the one, two clubs in the Eastern Carolina League by splitting a doubleheader. The Buccaneers slugged a 10 to 8 decision in the opener, but could get to Heller for only three hits and lost the nightcap, 1 to 0. Greenville batted Hawkins and Quigley hard to win from Kinston, 6 to 3.

COTTON MARKET N. Y. STOCK LIST

New York, June 20.—(AP)—The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of 3 to 8 points, with the active months soon showing net losses of 6 points under liquidation combined with some commission house selling inspired by relatively easy cables and a favorable view of the weather news. July eased off to 18 1/2 and December to 18.75, but there was considerable covering at these figures, and the market was quiet at the end of the first half hour, with prices showing rallies of 3 or 4 points from the low. Further switching from July to later months was reported as widening differences with July about 30 to 31 points under October. Private cables reported that local covering and some trade calling had been supplied by continental liquidation in Liverpool.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—Highest prices that the wheat market has reached in a number of weeks were attained today, with buying greatly broadened. The chief reason was fresh reports of crop damage in Oklahoma and Kansas, some estimates on the wheat yield in the latter state being as low as 140,000,000 bushels, compared with the government's June estimate of 161,000,000 bushels.

Wheat values today are up about 8c a bushel from figures current 48 hours ago.

STOCK MARKET

New York, June 20.—(AP)—The recovery in stock prices was resumed today after an early period of heaviness as a result of the growing speculative belief that the mid-year credit stringency will be considerably less severe than expected and that a gradual easing of credit conditions is in prospect after the turn of the month. Poise resumed operations with confidence in a select assortment of public utility, food, chain-store, automotive and electric equipment shares, a dozen of which were lifted to new high levels for the year.

Call money renewed unchanged at 7 per cent and seemed destined to stay at that figure all day despite rumors intimations of bankers that the rate would go higher in mid-week. While there was little in the over-night news to influence the price movement, a much more cheerful feeling regarding the market was apparent from the start of trading.

Houses with western connections were heavy buyers of the Public Utilities. Pacific Lighting being marked up more than 3 points to a new high at 91 1/4, Pacific Gas & Electric climbing nearly 5 points to a new peak at 69 7/8, and Southern California Edison moving up more than 3 points. Brooklyn Union Gas and Public Service of New Jersey advanced 3 and 4 points to new highs at 206 1/2 and 103 5/8, respectively.

Concurrent strength of Childs Co. which ran up more than 6 points, and Frank G. Shattuck, which advanced more than 1 to a new top at 171 3/4. Revived rumors of a possible merger of these restaurant chains. Royal Baking Powder, Fleischmann, Corn Products, National Dairy Products and Wesson Oil were marked up 2 to 3 points.

Electric equipment shares continued to respond to reports of rapidly growing business. Allis Chalmers jumped 9 points to a new high at 225 1/2. Westinghouse Electric ran up nearly 7 to a new peak at 174 1/4, and General Electric advanced 4 points above yesterday's final quotation.

Commercial Investment Trust jumped 5 1/4 points. Baldwin Locomotive advanced 1 1/2 points on reports that a meeting of directors to act on the proposed stock split-up had been called for a week from today. International Business Machines, Columbian Carbon and Wright Aeronautical also recorded substantial gains.

There were a few soft spots. Case Thrashing Machine Certificates dropped 6 points to a new low at 28. Glass Bottle dropped 3 points and Gimbel Bros. sagged 1 to a new low at 51.

In April at Ravenna, Italy, the automobile driven by Miss Reburn struck and killed Thomas Minguzzi, 70 year old, as he tried to pass with his bicycle to the left of a car. The authorities exonerated her after an examination.

In yesterday's accident Miss Reburn's sister Frances, and her aunt Mrs. Frances Reburn Van Etten of Little Rock, Arkansas both were

Second Attempt To Set Flight Record Ends In Failure. Minneapolis, Minn., June 20.—(P) Lack of oil caused the second attempt of Gene Shank and Owen I. Haugland to set a new world's airplane refueling endurance record to end in failure today. Shank and Haugland, in their plane, "Miss Minneapolis," landed at Wold Chamberlain airport. Their oil supply leaked out while flying over a triangular course between the twin cities, Northfield, and Hastings, Minn., they said.

They took off yesterday at 2:55 p. m., and had been in the air 13 hours. Shank said they would take off later in the day in a third attempt to break the record of 172 hours.

Second Attempt To Set Flight Record Ends In Failure. Minneapolis, Minn., June 20.—(P) Lack of oil caused the second attempt of Gene Shank and Owen I. Haugland to set a new world's airplane refueling endurance record to end in failure today. Shank and Haugland, in their plane, "Miss Minneapolis," landed at Wold Chamberlain airport. Their oil supply leaked out while flying over a triangular course between the twin cities, Northfield, and Hastings, Minn., they said.

They took off yesterday at 2:55 p. m., and had been in the air 13 hours. Shank said they would take off later in the day in a third attempt to break the record of 172 hours.
