CONFESSES MURDER OF THEORA HIX

University Professor Says He Killed Co- Ed Because She Threatened Family.

Columbus, Ohio, June 21.—(AP)—The confession of Dr. James H. Snook, 49, dismissed Ohio State University professor, that he killed 25-year-old Theora Hix, his pupil-paramour, was ready for the county grand jury today. Just one week from the day the girl was beaten and slashed to death. He killed her, he said, because she threatened the life of his wife and child.

The confession, announced at midnight by County Prosecutor John W. Chester, Jr., was held for the grand jury with Chester's prediction that a first degree murder indictment would be returned before long.

Coming to an end 23 hours of grueling examination, Snook lost his nerve that had carried him through six days of investigation and, sobbing like a child, told the prosecutor and police he is that he was ready to "tell everything."

The confession that followed declared that he had struck the girl on the head with a hammer during a violent quarrel in his automobile, parked at a lonely rifle range near her on the night of June 13, and that, realizing her skull was fractured, he took out his pen knife and slit her throat "to relieve her suffering."

The quarrel, he said, followed the girl's protests against his plan to take the city over the week-end with his family and her threat to kill his wife and two-year-old child. As the altercation became more bitter, the confession said, Miss Hix reached for her bag, in which at times she carried a small pistol that Dr. Snook had given her. Then followed the struggle in which Dr. Snook said he snatched up the hammer in the car and struck her on the head.

She continued to fight desperately and an increasing force were necessary to stop her," he said. "Realizing then, no doubt, that her skull was fractured, and to relieve her suffering, I severed her jugular vein with my pocket knife."

After he was convinced the girl was dead, Dr. Snook said he "proceeded to pick up the things that had been scattered during the struggle and hurriedly left the scene of the struggle, leaving her body at that point."

Dr. Snook said he then went home, locking the girl's handbag in the closet and as he drove over a bridge. The gun, he said, was not the purse.

The confession was made early yesterday afternoon, but Prosecutor Chester, following an agreement he had made with Snook, did not make it his official announcement until midnight. This he explained, was to permit Snook to arrange in his mind the facts for an interview at midnight with press representatives.

The prosecutor's tardy announcement of the confession ended a day of cross statements from investigators. W. G. Shellenbarger, chief of detectives, announced early in the day that Snook confessed after a day of more than sixteen hours of questioning at 8:30 a. m. Chester came promptly with a denial and throughout the day the conflicting statements stood.

Chester said that the actual confession had been made about 11 o'clock in the afternoon, and Shellenbarger amplifying his announcement said that he based his statement on an admission from Snook that he had taken a key from the girl's keyring when the murder was committed.

Arthur T. Meyers, a member of the university horticultural expert staff and a former suitor, was called in connection with the case after the body had been buried by two boys. He spoke of his friendship for Snook and two weeks held while authorities searched for evidence in the killing. Snook was released Wednesday, a day later Snook was taken to his home.

Bishop Cannon Criticized For Part In Politics

Norfolk, Va., June 21.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., militant episcopal crusader of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is vigorously criticized for "using his office as a bishop of the Methodist Church for the defeat of any candidate for office, whether qualified or not, purely on religious grounds," in a resolution adopted by the Knights of American Protestantism in the closing session of the convention here.

The resolution was announced yesterday by the national board of directors of the organization.

Following announcement at the convention of Bishop Cannon the resolution further criticized him for the infection of his own church into politics, "although we do appreciate the loyal sincerity and good work he is trying to do, but we do object to his attempting to control the destinies of the federal government."

Mr. Brewer was a Confederate veteran, having served in Company K, 1st N. C. Regiment. He was graduated from Wake Forest College in 1868. He married Bettie Joyner in 1873, she predeceasing him to the grave by three years.

He was principal of the Wilson Collegiate Institute from 1871 to 1881, president of Chowan College from 1881 to 1897, president of Franklin Female Seminary from 1901 to 1909, and president of Averett College of Danville until 1919.

Mr. Brewer was a grandson of Dr. Samuel Wait, one of the founders and the first president of Wake Forest College.

He was one of the two or three oldest living alumni of Wake Forest College. Dr. F. P. Gaines, president, said today.

Oppose Church In Politics

Richmond, Va., June 21.—(AP)—Bishop Colpins Denny of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has declared himself as emphatically opposed to the mingling of the church and churchmen in politics.

He gave his views on this subject yesterday in appearing in a conference of the Richmond district of the Methodist Church, in opposition to a resolution being sent to President Hoover, voicing the hearty support of the conference to the President's activities and pronouncements on law observance and enforcement.

"I feel very deeply about this," Bishop Denny said. "I do not think it is within the sphere of the church to do such things. I fear it means the ultimate division of the Methodist church for many will refuse to be dragged, as a church, into politics."

"Where do we get, as a church in church capacity, the authority to pronounce judgment on actions of civil officials? If we claim the right to approve, we can claim the right to judge. It is a question of propriety altogether."

Bishop Denny, however, was defeated in his efforts for the conference by a heavy majority votes to adopt and forward the resolution to Mr. Hoover. The resolution originating with Dr. Fred Chenevixt pastor of the Broad Street Methodist Church of this city, was adopted, as an amendment to the conference committee report on temperance and social reform.

Ware Shoals, S. C., June 21.—(AP)—Only ten South Carolina militiamen today stood guard outside of the gate of the Ware Shoals Manufacturing Company.

The third day of operation, since the mill resumed work, after a strike of more than two weeks, found only two companies of national guardsmen, and a dozen state constables and deputy sheriffs remaining on duty.

Major George Morgan, of Greenville, in charge of the Columbia and Greenville companies, posted the "guard of ten," and kept their companies in readiness, should trouble develop. However, there was no show of violence.

R. E. Campbell, president of the local union of the United Textile Workers, and four others, were to leave today for Columbia to confer with Gov. Richards.

George L. Googe, American Federation of Labor representative, who organized the union here, said the men would ascertain whether the state or the mill was paying the troops. Other than this, he declined to state what trend the conference might take.

Head Third Largest Bank

Washington, June 21.—(AP)—A letter by R. B. Waddle, postmaster at Somerset, Kentucky, charging Representative Robison, Republican of that state, with having demanded funds to meet campaign expenses and saying that Robison's statement of expenditures for the 1928 election showed that "no expenditures were made," was placed in the record of the Senate patronage committee today by Chairman Brookhart.

Another letter filed with the committee, this one by Sidney F. Bailey, of Madisonville, Ky., accused the postmaster in that place, whom he did not name, with having been "often drunk on duty." It said two inspectors had asked removal of the postmaster for "concealment of shortages," but that the case was "whitewashed thoroughly."

Other communications filed by the chairman concerned questions in South Carolina and Arkansas. The committee is investigating methods by which federal appointments are made in southern states.

Waddle's letter said he refused "certain illegal demands" of Robison and was not reappointed when his term expired.

Photostatic copies of letters, he said, had been received from the Kentucky member were furnished by Waddle. The first of these, dated August 5, 1924, said the expenses of waging his campaign that year in Waddle's county were considerable and he understood Waddle "did not help."

"As you have the best office in the district," the letter said, "I should be very glad if you would contribute $200. A member of Congress cannot run all the races and bear all the burden all the time." A postscript said the "man who was not appointed notice was busy and contributing."

Another letter said that Robison "did not want anything for himself" and that whatever Waddle gave, he "intended to turn it over to the few persons who put up the money for by campaign there."

"I understand," this letter added, "that they took care of the situation there, but I have never appointed anyone of them to any office and have not done anything for any of them. I felt that it was nothing more than right that those who had received the good appointments ought to help those who made the contributions and did not receive any appointments."

Waddle added he "failed to receive a reappointment" and was "of course, relieved from duty."

Of the other communications referring to Wallace Townsend, Republican national committeeman for Arkansas, was written by Russell D. Leas, treasurer of the Arkansas Republican committee, who at Brookhart's request, supplied a list of contributions by federal officeholders there. The letter was dated May 31, 1929, and showed a total of $845.39.

The committee today received an affidavit, signed by Joseph W. Tolbert, Republican national committeeman for South Carolina, who had been mentioned in previous testimony as a "collector" of contributions from postmasters. It declared that "it is obvious to any fair-minded person that there is no system of assessments in South Carolina."

In his affidavit Tolbert said that total contributions of 22 postmasters in his state "does not exceed $4,500 for years 1921 to 1928 or an average of $650 a year received by me from postmasters of South Carolina."

"This," he said, "averages $230 per postmaster per year or about $30 per year for each of the 22 who contributed to or through me." As contrasted with this I personally sent to the Republican national committee more than $5,500 for 1924 to 1928, or $1,000 more than I received from the 22 postmasters from 1924 to 1928.

He also answered charges of W.

Begin Probe
Of Crimes At Windsor, Ont.

Toronto, Ont., June 21.—(AP)—Alfred Cuddy, deputy commissioner of the Ontario provincial police, today was under orders to proceed to Windsor and make a report to A. H. Price, attorney general, on the crime situation there as revealed by episodes in which rum runners have participated.

While the provincial authorities maintain that the liquor export business brings these men to the Canadian side of the river and that the Dominion government is indirectly responsible for the conditions there. They claim they have been conducting campaigns to keep the district as free as possible from the undesirable element.

The deputy commissioner went to Windsor to investigate the abduction of the border activities star cameraman and the carrying of firearms by the rum runners while on Canadian territory. The attorney general also wants to know more about the recent shooting episodes around Belle Isle and Amherstburg.

Deputy Commissioner Cuddy is familiar with Windsor and the border territory. For some months he was at Windsor directing the reorganization of the city police department.

The attorney general, answering criticism by a Toronto newspaper of alleged inefficiency of provincial police in dealing with the liquor situation, said:

"If the Royal Canadian mounted police are so good, why doesn't the Dominion government send some of them down to clean up this situation at Windsor? The whole rum running question is a Dominion matter. The present situation is the responsibility of the Dominion officials."

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY. On Tuesday, June 18, at his home on Evans street, Herbert Hadley was host to a number of his friends celebrating his eleventh birthday.

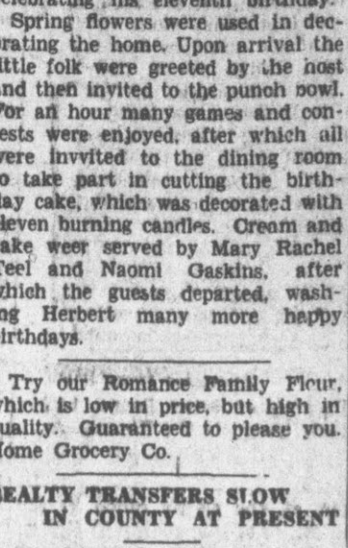

Spring flowers were used in decorating the home. Upon arrival the little folk were greeted by the host and then invited to the punch bowl. For an hour many games and contests were enjoyed, after which all were invited to the dining room to take part in cutting the birthday cake, which was decorated with eleven burning candles. Cream and cake were served by Mary Rachel Teel and Naomi Gaskins, after which the guests departed, wishing Herbert many more happy birthdays.

Miss Blue Bonnet Scores Hit Here

"Miss Blue Bonnet," a musical comedy in three acts, was presented to an appreciative audience in the administration building of East Carolina Teachers College last night. The entire cast was composed of local actors, who played their parts in a way that provoked constant and liberal applause.

The play was given in behalf of the building fund of St. Paul's Episcopal church, and is said to have netted a neat sum, although the crowd was not as large as expected.

The play was staged under direction of Miss Horne, of Atlanta, Ga. The leading parts were played by Miss Virginia King as "Miss Blue Bonnet," and S. F. Allen as "Barton Hills."

The chorus was composed of a bevy of young girls whose lively song numbers added much to the life of the attraction. The opening number was featured by the appearance of sixteen children, eight of whom were dressed as doctors, who scored a direct hit with a tuneful song, "Oh, Doctor."

Hail Does Damage Between This City And Lenoir Capital

While Greenville received only a slight rainfall from the heavy cloud appearing east and northeast of the city yesterday, other districts were visited by considerable hail. Hail was reported along the route between the western boundaries of this city and Kinston, several farmers reporting much damage to crops.

The Travis Hooker farm, on the outskirts of Greenville, suffered extensively from hail, but the full damage could not be determined. Other farms in that section might have suffered likewise, but if they did it had not been reported here today.

Predict Settlement Of Mill Strike

Greenville S. C., June 21.—(AP)—Early settlement of the strike at Mills' mill, which has been under way for several weeks, seemed barely possible today.

H. E. Thompson, secretary of the State Board of Conciliation, was here in the hope of bringing about a settlement. He arrived here from Spartanburg, where he went for a conference with H. A. Ligon, president of Mills' mill. No announcement was made as to the success of the discussion with Mr. Ligon.

Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, a branch of the American Federation of Labor, left Greenville early this morning for Union. Mr. McMahon had been at Ware Shoals, where a strike is in progress.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT TO GET SCREENS AT LAST

Raleigh, June 21.—(AP)—The state board of health is at last to have screens in the windows of its building. It was announced today by Governor Gardner. For more than a year health officer, Dr. Charles O'H. Laughinghouse, led a fight to secure the barriers to the state building. All last summer the State Board of Health worked in quarters that were unscrubbed, killing flies with swatters, while mailing literature daily to all parts of the state urging screening and explaining the benefits of screened buildings.

NOTER HARPIST TO APPEAR AT COLLEGE SOON

Salvi, the great harpist, will give a recital at East Carolina Teachers College on next Monday evening, June 24. This is the third attraction in the series of entertainments offered by the college. The first two, the dramatic presentation of a play by Gay MacLaren, and the concert by the famous duet singers, Tom Fuson and Ethel Wright, were greatly enjoyed by the college people and the few townspeople who attended. Both evenings were rainy evenings, so the audience outside of the college group was small. Season tickets will be placed on sale again on Monday evening, as the price of this is still less than the combined admission for the separate attractions.

The harp recital by Salvi will give the people of this community an opportunity to hear one of the greatest living artists on this instrument. The next attraction will be plays by the Coffey-Miller Players, two on successive evenings, July 5 and 6. The South Sea Island Quartet, on July 10, will be one of the most popular of the series. The Marmel Dancers, on the evening of July 23, will give a program of enchanting interpretative dances. The last feature will be a lecture, or talk, by a noted humorist, Sidney London, on August 8.

SAYS AIRCRAFT WILL NOT SUPPLANT VESSELS

Louisville, Ky., June 21.—(AP)—Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics told the International Association of Lions Clubs here today that "it is ridiculous to say that aircraft will supplant surface vessels either merchant or naval," in national defense, and added that "those who say so do so from ignorance."

"Aviation has abolished and replaced nothing," he said "It will not interfere with other means of transportation, railroads, car lines, buses, steamships and other maritime transport, but is supplemental to them. Similarly in national defense and especially at sea."

Outlining the development of aviation in the navy, Admiral Moffett urged the Lions to support the industry "in every way possible for your country's good in peace and also in war."

ABOUT TOWN

"Money is tight now," said a citizen today, "but the situation isn't near as serious as it was in the old days when parties were of frequent occurrence. I remember a time forty years ago when money was so tight that the banks wouldn't pay out a cent unless they were forced to and the majority of people did business on paper.

"Boy, that was a terrible time, but we got through none the worse for the experience, although the majority of us were scared half to death all the time. Money may get tight from time to time now, but it will be a long time before America faces such conditions as of old."

"Fishing down at Vandemere is the best I ever saw it," said a member of a fishing party who recently returned from a day's trip in that territory.

"I never saw such hungry fish in my life. All you had to do was to drop your hook into the water and pull. The fish were so greedy that occasionally we caught two at the same yerl.

"That sounds fishy to those who have never been down to Vandemere, but to the man accustomed to fishing with more than one hook on the same line it isn't so irregular after all."

"Don't forget that renewal to the Reflector," reminded the manager of circulation today," speaking of the number of new features to appear in the columns of this paper from time to time during the summer months.

"Another serial story will begin in the next several days. You will want to keep up with this narrative and the only way to do so is to see that your subscription does not expire before you are aware of it. Look at the label on your paper. If the date of expiration is near get in touch with us immediately and make yourself safe against missing a single copy."

"Every member of the organization is interested in the coming to this city next Tuesday of the president and secretary of the North Carolina Merchants' Association," said a member of the local trade body today, referring to the quarterly meeting at which the state officers will be present.

"Both these men are familiar with conditions prevailing in the business circles of the state at this time and what they have to say should prove more than ordinary interest. They realize that the business world is facing a certain situation in credits at this time and it is likely this great problem will be given much consideration.

"The record of the Greenville association this year has been one in which every member takes more than passing interest, and the annual report to be read by the secretary will be one of the high lights of the meeting."

"Well, it really looks as if the jinx has lost track of us," smiled a follower of the Greenville baseball club today, referring to the first game of the series with Kingston which the locals won by a comfortable margin.

"This was the first time we have been able to beat the Eagles in a long time, and from now on we ought to become a strong contender for the top of the column. We also had the pleasure of licking three of the league leaders before taking on Kingston, which leads to the conclusion that we have a team that should be able to stand the final pace of the season and turn in decidedly more victories than losses.

"The Tobaccoists will not play on home grounds any more this week but they will be back next week with a string of victories behind. If you have been holding back waiting for the club to hit a winning streak, you should be well rewarded for attending all of the games to be played hereafter."

"We visited the 4-H club boys and girls at Camp Leach yesterday afternoon and were treated to one of the best suppers in sometime," said a member of the Greenville Kiwanis club.

"This was the second time in two years the club has been guests of the boys and girls of this county and each time the meal was more appetizing than the former."

"The farm Aggregation students know something about what it takes to provide a supper that will appeal to the appetite of the hired business man and they threw all the skill of their training behind that meal last night.

"We have been one hundred per cent strong for the young men and women ever since the club was organized, and from now on we shall give them more consideration than ever before."

That old saying about forty days of rain, if it rains on the first day of June, seems to be working out to perfection now. Seems to us we haven't missed a day yet.

And speaking of the weather, if our ball team keeps getting rained out, the last half of our season will be all double headers.

NOT TO BE CENSURED
 Declaring that the recent tea party at the White House has placed the so-called Hoovercrats in a position of men without a party, and expressing pity for those individuals, the Washington Progress says:

Those poor, misguided individuals who, in their lofty zeal and altruistic endeavors forsook the Democratic party last fall and voted to put Mr. Herbert Hoover into the White House have been placed in an extremely embarrassing position as a result of what happened last week.

The case of Mr. and Mrs. Hoover and the wife of Oscar DePriest, Negro congressman, is too well known by this time to need any further explanation. The affair has been discussed throughout the land and criticism of the most severe nature is being directed against the Republican chief executive.

Those poor wives who thought that Mr. Hoover was such a great friend to the South, are now being ridiculed more or less. As a matter of fact, they should not be censured so strongly. They were misled last fall and they fell victims of one of the most vicious campaigns of propaganda that ever has been circulated throughout this country. By this time practically all of them deeply regret the foolish step they took at that time. Let us take them back into the fold again without making the situation too embarrassing for them.

"To give them due credit, they had no idea that Mr. Hoover would take such a direct slap at the South. Neither had they any idea that he held his Southern support in such light regard. He has plainly indicated that he doesn't give a rap for the so-called Hoovercrats and he has truly placed them in a position where they are mean without a party."

ATHLETICS TIE UP WITH YANKS TODAY

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, June 21.—(AP)—Another Athletic expeditionary force has arrived on the banks of the Harlem, but this time conditions are somewhat different. Cornelius McGillicuddy peers down from the heights as Miller Huggins toils to rally his broken forces. The burden of proof this time is upon the Yankees who lag seven and one-half games behind the Philadelphiaans.

General McGillicuddy deployed his troops before the Yankee Stadium today to fight five battles with the champions of the baseball world in the next three days, two today, tomorrow and one on Sunday. He gave the command to charge as 60,000 New Yorkers, not altogether friendly to the cause of Philadelphia, took up the march to the Bronx. New York, he is understood, is taking this clash as crucial, for all the seven and one-half games by which the Mackmen lead.

The patriarch of the Philadelphia dug-out planned to send Bob Grove out to play the role of Plank of a forgotten day. George Earnshaw was in reserve to impersonate Bender. Since the Yankees were known merely as "the other New York team" in the days of Connie's greatness, the champions might be said to have been cast in the heroic role of the Red Sox of 1912, who for a season stayed the surge of the Philadelphia flood.

As the Athletics marched into the stadium with colors flying, Miller Huggins was grooming Waite Hoyt and George Pipgras for a shot at the moon. The midget manager had the consolation of knowing that George Herman Ruth would be at his old familiar post in right field, that lanky Bob-Meusel, recovered from his illness, would await a call to patrol the left field sector. He was able to bank further upon the Yankee tradition of invincibility in a crisis.

The Athletics entered the engagement much better prepared in the box than the champions. Mr. McGillicuddy may call upon Rommel, Walberg and either Quinn, Orwoll or Shores after his two-aces take their fling. But Huggins must depend upon a faltering Penneck, Helmach and an uncertain Wells after his two leaders have their chance. Henry Johnson is out together, and the veteran Tom Zachary is a question, despite several fine innings against the Red Sox in the series just closed.

Even if the Yankees should win the series by three games to two, which is the greatest success conceded them, the Athletic march for the present, merely will have been slowed a bit. Four out of five for the champions would help, but what they need is five straight—and that is the last thing in the world to expect.

$100,000 Purse For Thoroughbred Races

Chicago, June 21.—(AP)—The American Jockey Club has offered a $100,000 purse and a gold cup for a race between champion thoroughbreds of England, France and America at Arlington Park next summer.

John D. Hertz, whose Reich Count finished second in the famous Ascot gold cup race in England yesterday, has carried the offer abroad and reported a favorable reception among English and French turf owners.

If the foreign owners consent to run their horses, Hertz said he would keep Reich Count in training for another year.

CUBS SHADE CARDINALS

(By The Associated Press)

The impending battle between the American League titans, the Athletics and the Yankees, tended somewhat to dim the fury of the National League battle yesterday, and caused the auxiliary campaign in the American League to miss all but passing attention. For all of this fact the rejuvenated Cubs shelved Grover Cleveland Alexander and others sufficiently to shade the Cardinals 7 to 6, for the fourth straight Chicago triumph.

The Giants whaled the Phillies by 11 to 6 and the Braves won another from the Robins, 4 to 2, in remaining National League fixtures. The Giants collected seventeen hits off Roy and "Ace" Elliott, running their total for three winning games to fifty-five, an average of 18 1-2 blows a contest.

The Pirates and the Reds were idle. Results in the National League gave the Cubs a somewhat more comfortable margin over the Pirates, and dropped the champion Cards further into the mire of third place. The rain of the Giants, except in regard to their immediate designs upon third place, was negligible.

The American League campaign yesterday consisted of victories for Boston, Detroit and Chicago. The Athletics and the Yankees, of course were idle. The Red Sox rallied to pull out a 6 to 4 decision against Ad Liska and Brown in Washington as McFayden checked the senatorial attack at eight hits. Young Ed Walsh pitched four-hit ball against St. Louis to win 5 to 3. The Indians in Cleveland and the Detroit Tigers hit hard to win 8 to 4, over the Indians in Cleveland.

The victory of the Cubs, the most important achievement in either circuit yesterday, gave the Bruins a record of twelve out of their last fifteen, including their run of four against the champions. Art Nehf was the winning pitcher yesterday, although he had to have the help of Charlie Root at the finish. Only two of the four starting Chicago pitchers in the St. Louis series finished, but this could be charged to well-grounded nervousness on the part of Joseph McCarthy.

The 7 to 6 victory yesterday was marked by Hack Wilson's 15th and 16th home runs, and by one from the bat of Andy High of St. Louis.

Bulls Push Twins From Second Place

(By The Associated Press)
A 24 hour stay in second place in the Piedmont League standings for Winston-Salem ended yesterday as the Durham Bulls trimmed them 6 to 3. Both clubs played listless ball, the Bulls earning only three runs and the Twins none at all. The Bulls pulled back into second place, the league-leading Patriots fell before the hurling of four Greensboro players hit safely.

At Henderson the Bunnies and the Pointers slugged away at the eight moundsman who took turns hurling the Bunnies winning 11 to 9. Each club used four pitchers.

The Eastern Carolina loop got in only two games, rain halting Kinston and Greenville. Simmons starred as Rocky Mount nosed out Goldsboro 1 to 0 in a battle that held the league-leadership at stake. The big hurler allowed the Goldbugs only five hits. The Wilmington Pirates fattened their batting averages at Fayetteville, walloping the Highlanders 15 to 1.

Fights Last Night

Dayton, Ohio—Cecil Payne, Louisville, knocked out Billy O'Brien, of Chicago, (3).
Milwaukee—King Tut outpointed Pinkey Kaufman, Hartford, Conn. (10); Russle Leroy, Fargo, N. D., and Joe Azarella, Milwaukee, drew, (6).

Congressman To Wed.

New York—Henry St. George Tucker, 76, congressman from Virginia, is to be married to Gulpepper, Va., next Wednesday to Miss Jane Williams, 60, superintendent of the Louise home for Southern Gentlemen in Washington. "You have courage to marry at your age," a colleague at a committee session here told him. "Remember," replied Mr. Tucker, "it was the spirit of '76 that made these United States."

HUNDRED KILLED BY EXPLOSION IN CHINA

London, June 21.—(AP)—The Exchange Telegraph Company said in a dispatch from Hong-kong today that nearly 100 persons had been killed in an explosion and fire in two vaults under the Compound Eastbound hospital at Canton. ## Athletics Win First Game

Yankee Stadium, New York, June 21.—(AP)—The Athletics pounded three Yankee pitchers including the once incomparable Penneck, for 16 hits before 65,000 fans here today to win the first game of the double-header 11 to 1.
Bob Grove hung up his eleventh victory as Al Simmons hit his fifteenth and sixteenth home runs. Haas also hit for the circuit.

Heavy Hitting In The Sally

Atlanta, Ga., June 21.—(AP)—Yesterday's round in the South Atlantic Association was one of heavy hitting and liberal scoring. Charlotte and Greenville hooked up in the only close affair the Spinners winning 5 to 2, both played errorless ball.

Asheville trampled Macon 19 to 3 for high score. The onslaught followed the raising of the 1928 pennant. Third baseman Nash led the attack with a home run, two triples, a double and single, both teams totaled thirty-eight hits.
Knoxville and Augusta each got sixteen hits but the smokies hit in the pinches to defeat the invaders 12 to 6. It was Bates' tenth victory of the season. Spartanburg hit out 19 safeties to beat Columbia, 10 to 4. The victories went on rampages in the seventh and eight innings, too swell the total.

Babe's Challenge Unheeded

Mamaroneck, N. Y.—A big fellow with a wallop who can't compete at Winged Foot next week, is inclined to think he would give rollers seeking the open title quite a rub. Bobby Jones, Johnny Farrell, Joe Kirkwood and Gene Saragen were having a practice tomorrow. From a nearby fairway another fellow halted them: "I'll take on all four of you." Mr. George Herman Ruth's challenge was not accepted.

Fried Gets New Home

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, June 21.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 5 points in response to lower cables and favorable weather reports. There was further July liquidation and switching from that delivery to later months and the July discount under Oct-Nov widened to about 40 points during the early trading.

Offerings of later months were comparatively light, however, and after showing no definite selling of 5 to 6 points until July selling of 3 to 4 points, and December 18 1/2 to 19 1/2, and December 19 1/2 to 20 1/2, the market steadied on covering. At the end of the first half hour prices were within a point or two of yesterday's close.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, June 21.—(AP)—European purchases of 2,000,000 bushels of wheat from North America did much to bring about a further advance in wheat values today. Although some reports from the southwest said winter crop damage was exaggerated, a leading authority went on record that Kansas would do well to obtain 12 bushels per acre.

Table with columns for High, Low, and Close prices for various grains like Wheat, Corn, Oats, Rye, and Barley.

STOCK MARKET

New York, June 21.—(AP)—A brisk demand for U. S. Steel common and Anaconda Copper, coupled with the buoyancy of a few high priced industrials, featured the resumption of the upward price movement in today's stock market. Trading showed a marked expansion in breadth and volume, which was construed as an indication of increasing public participation.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent but the supply at that figure was small, and there was a possibility that the rate might work higher. There was no change in time money and commercial papers. Despite the recent easing of time money rates, Federal reserve officials insisted there was no change in its credit policy, calling attention to the reduction in holdings of bills and government securities.
