Several Killed When Fast Train Plunges Into Colorado Creek

All Pullman Train Of Rock Island Line Goes Through a Bridge Into Raging Torrents Near Stratton, Col.; Twelve Persons Believed Drowned When Trapped in Car Under 15 Feet Of Water; Death Toll Expected To Reach 20 Or More.

Stratton, Colo., July 18.—(AP)—Plunged into a stream swollen by a cloudburst, a number of passengers on a coach of west-bound Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific train number 5 met death early today in the submerged car. An early report said twelve persons were believed to have lost their lives. A railroad report said seven passengers and a porter were in the car.

The train, carrying several hundred passengers hit a weakened bridge near here early this morning and after two locomotives had passed over the structure, a chair car plunged into the stream, which had become a raging torrent, ten feet deep and 100 yards wide.

From the sunken car, only one person emerged, one man broke a window and bleeding from many cuts, swam to safety.

Denver, Colo., July 18.—(AP)—Twelve persons were reported to have been killed when Rock Island passenger train number 5, west-bound from Chicago, plunged into Colorado Creek, near Stratton, Colo., 150 miles east of Denver, shortly after 3 o'clock this morning.

According to a report received by the Denver Post from its Stratton correspondent, the train plunged through a weakened bridge and two of the pullmans on the all-pullman train were submerged in the creek bed. First reports stated that 12 persons were known to have drowned and there were reports that this number probably would be increased to 20.

The creek ordinarily a dry wash had become a raging torrent during the last 24 hours as a result of extremely heavy rains during that period.

All physicians at Stratton, and Burlington, as well as Limon, Colo., have been summoned to the scene and wrecking crews have been dispatched from Colorado Springs, the western terminus of the road.

Morris Gest, theatrical producer of New York City, enroute to Denver was said to have been a passenger on the train.

One coach, in which passengers were trapped, was submerged. A highway bridge paralleling the railroad bridge was washed out. Ambulances and doctors from east and west of the wreck were being delayed in reaching the scene by high water.

Until the water recedes, rescue work will be difficult, said telephone reports. It was estimated that it would take four hours for the water to lower sufficiently to begin operations.

A hospital train was rushed from Goodman, Kas., the train was due in Denver at 7:25 o'clock this morning.

Only the train crew were awake when the train plunged into the raging torrent. Approximately 500 passengers were asleep in their berths.

The train, which is another passenger train from the east, carried 20 coaches, due to heavy summer tourist travel. Four of these, including the baggage car and the locomotive, went into the creek.

An automobile road which parallels the railroad for some distance, was five feet under water at the scene of the accident. This prevented anyone from reaching the scene immediately.

BISHOP TO ASK PROOF OF HIS STOCK DEALING

Methodist Church Leader Will Request Investigation Of All His Activities.

Greensboro, July 18.—(AP)—Full investigation of his trading in stocks will be asked of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., says in a message to church members published in today's issue of the North Carolina Christian Advocate.

The message included as part of a leading editorial in the paper which is edited by the Rev. A. W. Plyler, follows:

"Since the statement which I issued on June 21, indicating the source and purpose of the publication by the press of my personal business transactions, there have been almost daily attacks by hostile newspapers distorting and misrepresenting the testimony taken in the bankruptcy proceedings in New York City. I desire the church to know that I shall, at the proper time, ask for full investigation of all charges brought against me, even through instigation by enemies and distorted and misrepresented by hostile and wet press. Friends conferring with, think it unwise to ask for such church action until completion of the bankruptcy proceedings and trial of the bankrupt brokerage firm in United States courts which I understand will be carried through as expeditiously as possible. Meanwhile I simply state to my brethren that I have not violated any civil or moral law."

Court action against members of a New York brokerage firm which went into receivership recently revealed that Bishop Cannon had been dealing in stocks through this firm. The North Carolina Christian Advocate says the message was received from the bishop with a request to publish and after reproducing the message in its editorial column says: "This message will serve to remind the public that Bishop Cannon is subject to judicial procedure like every other Methodist minister and in due time the facts concerning his trading in stocks will be thoroughly investigated. A bishop is subject to the judicial machinery of the general conference just as a member of an annual conference is subject to his annual conference. These conferences pass upon a minister's conduct rather than leave so important a matter to a hostile or unfriendly press. The newspapers cannot try a man in this country. We must wait on the courts. That applies to Methodist preachers as well as American citizens."

$1,000,000 Damage From Seattle Fire

Seattle, July 18.—(AP)—Fire which destroyed the Union Pacific dock here late yesterday caused a loss of almost $1,000,000 and sent five firemen and a dock worker to the hospital burned or overcome by smoke.

A cigarette tossed away by an employee, was blamed by officials for the blaze.

U. S. KEEPING CLOSE TAB ON CLOUDS OF WAR

Feeling Of Apprehension Prevails Regarding Situation In China and Russia.

By RICHARD L. TURNER.

Washington, July 18.—(AP)—With mingled feelings of apprehension lest war be imminent in the Orient and hope that armed hostilities may yet be avoided, the Washington government is keeping close watch on the rapidly developing controversy between Russia and China.

Press dispatches and consular advices from Manchuria are being given detailed study in a search for the proper interpretation of the action of the Soviet union in breaking off diplomatic relations with the Nanking government and what it may presage.

While it was pointed out that war would not necessarily follow and circumstances were cited which were regarded as virtually compelling an amicable settlement, it generally was agreed that the diplomatic rupture had served at best to add considerable gloom to the outlook.

With America's extensive Far Eastern interests necessarily involved, the state department has kept in constant touch with the situation since its inception a week ago today in the seizure of the Chinese Eastern railway by the Chinese. President Hoover himself has followed developments with an interest induced not only by the gravity of the situation, but by an intimate knowledge of the places and conditions involved which he gained during years of travel in Siberia and Manchuria as a mining engineer.

By some officials, the severance of the thin thread of diplomatic intercourse that has kept Russia and China on speaking terms since the communistic outbreak in October, two years ago was accepted as logical. To them, it was the expected result of the stand taken by the Soviet government, its ultimatum and veiled threat of retaliation, and its interpretation of the Chinese reply as unsatisfactory.

Others, while not discounting reports of troop movements on both sides of the Siberian-Manchurian border, were of the belief that a series of economic circumstances would avert actual warfare.

They pointed out that both the Nanking and Moscow regimes are young as governments go, have yet to attain financial stability, and could be expected to prove extremely reluctant to undertake an expensive war. The food shortage in both countries also was cited, together with the difficulty Russia would encounter in transporting troops and supplies across Siberia and maintaining communication lines over such a distance.

World diplomats, it was felt, also would bring its influence to bear in favor of peace, primarily because of the manifold interests of the world powers in the Orient and anxiety lest an armed conflict with untold ramifications result. The Kellogg anti-war treaty of which both Russia and China are adherents was regarded as another important factor making for peace.

Senator Carraway Hopes Wickersham Intends To Resign

Washington, July 18.—(AP)—The prohibition enforcement suggestions advanced by George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's law enforcement commission, in his letter to the governors' conference in New London, Conn., have aroused vigorous objections in at least one section of the dry group. Saying the usefulness for prohibition enforcement be divided between the federal and state governments and that, if this were done, "the national and state laws might be modified so as to become reasonably enforceable," Senator Carraway, Democrat, Arkansas, "hopes" he will resign.

The Arkansas senator, long prominent as an advocate and defender of prohibition, holds that the latter bands the dry laws as "unenforceable" and gives "encouragement to the criminal world." It is the "worst blow prohibition has suffered," he declares, and "unless overruled in the letter," he expects Wickersham "to resign soon."

"The usefulness of the commission," he says in his statement on the incident, "already is destroyed by Wickersham's continued at his head. Nobody believes he is capable of an impartial survey of the prohibition question."

Presence of More Money Is Expected To Relieve Florida Bank Situation

Tallahassee, Fla., July 18.—(AP)—The state banking department announced that the State Bank of Bowling Green, Fla., had failed to open its doors today, bringing to 16, the number of bank failures in the state during the past two days. The capital and surplus of the Bowling Green bank were listed as $34,000; deposits, $300,390.55, and assets $425,168.41.

Bowling Green is located on the county line between Hardee and Polk counties, south of Bartow. Comptroller Ernest Amos yesterday declared he believed the primary cause of the failures was "unnecessary withdrawals, propaganda and a financial depression accentuated by the effect of the Mediterranean fruit fly and quarantine." Credit Taylor, deputy governor of the Federal Reserve Bank at Atlanta, said here that local bankers could "have all the money they need with which to meet the situation. $5,000,000 to be used here was sent to the First National Bank of Tampa. Meanwhile, in Daytona Beach, where two banks closed recently, the Daytona Beach News-Journal inaugurated a plan to bring financial relief to small depositors.

Tampa, Fla., July 18.—(AP)—Presence of $5,000,000 in cash sent here from the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank and promise of a federal reserve official of "all the money needed to meet the situation" was expected today to bolster Florida bankers and businessmen in their efforts to restore public confidence in the banking institutions of the state, of which 15 in this section closed yesterday. Twenty-three banks have closed in the last two weeks. Aggregated deposits of those which suspended business yesterday was estimated at more than $22,500,000.

Federal authorization for two $1,000,000 currency depots on the state—one here and one at Miami—and the expressed opinion of federal officials in Washington that the recent closing of Florida banks was due more to nervousness of the people because of the Mediterranean fruit fly situation than to any fundamental weakness in the banks was expected by local bank officials to aid what they said was increasing confidence of depositors in banks of the section.

DEBT ACCORD AGAIN FLARES UP IN FRANCE

Paris, July 18.—(AP)—The American tariff and American wealth were brought up in the Chamber of Deputies today by Deputy Jean Durand, speaking on the question of ratification of the Mellon-Berenger debt accord.

Durand spoke in favor of reservations in the ratification because, "France has the right to wish to remain free in the face of a prodigiously rich creditor."

He explained he did not mean that France was confronted with American colonization of Europe but that the United States was investing a formidable amount of capital abroad.

The deputy protested against the "imposition of American customs which investigates the finances" submitted by French exporters and declared the "prohibitive nature of the American tariff which has been strongly protested by Italy, Belgium, France and even some Americans."

He suggested that France adopt a similar procedure toward American exports. Durand applauded the idea advanced by Foreign Minister Briand some time ago for the federation of European states.

Jury Fails To Reach Decision In Murder Case

Columbia, S. C., July 18.—(AP)—The jury in the trial of A. B. McGraw, New Brookland policeman, charged with murder for shooting Henry Martin in the operating room of the Columbia hospital, spent last night locked in the jury room when it failed to reach a decision after several hours' deliberation. The case was given to the jury at 7:18 o'clock last night. Closing arguments for both sides were brief, three defense attorneys using only an hour and 35 minutes, while the prosecution consumed but one hour and 15 minutes.

EVERY PERSON HAS BIG PART IN GOVERNMENT

Ohio Governor Tells Conference Of Individual Responsibility Of Citizen.

New London, Conn., July 18.—(AP)—Each individual has a most serious part in the responsibility of government, said Governor Myers Y. Cooper, of Ohio, addressing the governors' conference today on "individual attitude towards government."

"The ideal attitude of the individual toward his government," he said, "should not differ materially from the attitude of the individual member of the family toward the family himself."

"Any member of a family who considers that the family and the other members thereof ought to exist solely for his benefit and pleasure does not have the best interest of the family at heart; and by the same token, the family that acts solely for the benefit and selfish interest of one or less than all of its members is not the ideal family organization."

A democratic form of government has been established on the theory that government exists for the benefit of the people, he said, but declared that too many people are asking the government to save them from themselves when the control of their destiny is in their own hands.

"There is a tendency to resort to legislation as a panacea for every moral, social and economic ill," he said. "The truth is that there has been an all too common disposition to legislate an ever-increasing number of regulations upon the theory of 'public good.'"

Governor Cooper declared that so many new laws are introduced at every session of every state legislature.

Law observance and enforcement is another important relation between the individual and government, he continued. "It is needless to say that one of the most important obligations imposed upon the government is that which has to do with law enforcement, and there is the corresponding obligation on each citizen of law observance."

"It is clearly the obligation of all good citizens to be obedient to the law and uphold those who are charged with the responsibility of its enforcement. Problems of law enforcement are for the private citizen as well as for the public official, and we should not become impatient if progress appears slow. We need to make it a popular thing to observe the law and we should not inadvertently popularize the breaking of the law."

FRUIT FLY IS CONSIDERED AT CAPITAL

Committee Confers With Marlett After Investigating Florida Situation.

Washington, July 18.—(AP)—The committee of specialists recently sent to Florida by Secretary Hyde to study the fruit fly situation, returned today and went into conference immediately with Marlett, chief of the quarantine and control. Their findings in the attempt to aid eradication of the fruit fly from Florida, were not disclosed, and the meeting with Dr. Marlett was behind closed doors.

Marlett had said research for methods to combat the fly menace had given encouraging results, with a possibility of a solution being reported in time for the next shipping season in October.

The survey conducted by the experts concerned both immediate eradication and further control of the fruit pest. Their report was expected to be scrutinized by the agriculture department with a view to early action especially in relation to the experiments being conducted for destruction of traces of the fly by refrigeration or by heat.

Three representatives of the fruit fly eradication project offices at Orlando, Fla., accompanied the specialists to Washington and were on hand to give data on the subject when requested. They were Dr. A. C. Baker, Dr. R. E. Montgomery and H. H. Hume. The agriculture department said no final report was expected from the committee of experts until they have had time to study the data obtained on their visit.

Soviet Russia Breaks Relations With China; Situation Very Grave

Russian Representatives in China Ordered Home as Railway Communications Between The Two Countries Are Suspended; Chinese Officials in Russia Told To Leave Immediately; Note Announces Soviets Action.

F. A. Gonnell of Clarendon, Va., has been appointed to serve on a committee of business economists to plan the first national census of distribution in 1930.

With the breaking of diplomatic relations by Russia, numerous troop movements by Russians and Chinese along the Siberian-Manchurian border were reported.

General Budenny, noted Russian general, was reported to have been recalled from a vacation. His program was understood to include the concentration of Russian forces including powerful air squadrons, cavalry and tank divisions on the frontier in addition to reinforcing the Leningrad and Moscow garrisons.

Chinese reinforcements also were reported headed for the frontier. Unconfirmed dispatches in the Chinese press stated that Russian forces had crossed the Amur river on the frontier but were repulsed.

The Russian consulate at Harbin was closed and the staff were preparing to return to Russia.

Moscow, U. S. S. R., July 18.—(AP)—Soviet Russia proceeded today to make effective immediately a complete break in relations with the Chinese Nationalist government. The action no longer possible, the gravest political consequences.

Russian representatives, both diplomatic and trade, in China were ordered home, railway communications between the two countries suspended and Chinese officials in Russia were told they must leave immediately.

The break came late last night, almost to the hour upon expiration of a three-day ultimatum given by Moscow to Nanking demanding restoration of the status quo in Manchuria where Chinese officials have seized the Russian owned Chinese Eastern Railway. The Russians allowed 24 hours for transmission and translation of the ultimatum.

A note to Sia Wen Sun, Chinese charge d'affaires, from L. M. Karakhan, vice-commissioner for foreign affairs, announced the Soviet action. It said that Nanking's answer to the Moscow ultimatum had been entirely unsatisfactory. Previously there had been reason to believe the Nanking answer would be considered as conciliatory.

M. Karakhan's note said that all means of reaching an amicable settlement of the situation growing out of events in Manchuria had been exhausted. Entire responsibility for all consequences were placed on the Chinese government, whose answer to its ultimatum was termed unsatisfactory in content and hypocritical in tone.

The note follows in part: "Desirous of restoring the legal basis of relations between the U. S. S. R. and China, disturbed by the Chinese authorities, the Soviet government advanced in its first note three absolutely necessary and perfectly moderate proposals. The Chinese government practically has rejected these proposals."

"Instead of restoring the Peking-Mukden agreement (that of 1924), the Chinese note sanctions a one-sided abrogation of the agreement thereby destroying the possibility of normal relations between the two countries. Instead of reversing the unlawful actions of the 'Union of the Chinese Eastern Railway' the Chinese note sanctions them, thereby justifying seizure of the railway."

"The Chinese note sanctions unlawful repressions against Soviet citizens and institutions and hypocritically attempts to justify them by false reference to mass repressions of China's citizens in the U. S. S. R. The China government is well aware repressions in the U. S. S. R. were employed only against a negligible group of spies, bribers, traders, deniers, smugglers and other criminal elements."

"The Chinese note evades the question of immediate summoning of a conference thereby relieving the Soviet proposal and preventing possibility of amicable settlement of the dispute. References in the Chinese note to propaganda as an excuse of the unlawful actions of the Chinese authorities is false and hypocritical since the Chinese authorities possess sufficient means to

ROBBERS MAKE BIG HAUL AT CHICAGO, ILL.

Race Horse Owner And Companions Held up; Deprived of $22,000 Valuables

Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—Three robbers, late yesterday stole $22,000 in jewelry and money from Frederick Grabner, race horse owner, Mrs. Grabner and Mr. and Mrs. Ruel J. Siegel, their companion.

The carefully planned and well executed robbery took place while the Grabners and Siegels were returning from the Arlington Park race track.

Grabner had just turned off the crowded main highway onto a gravel road to evade traffic congestion, when a large squad, bearing three men, blocked his path. Two men, brandishing pistols, got out of the car entered the tonneau of the Grabner machine, where the women were, and ordered Grabner to drive on. The robbers' car followed close behind.

One robber stripped jewelry from the women, while the other robbed the men. Mrs. Grabner set her loss at $10,000. Mrs. Siegel at $8,500, and Siegel a three-carat diamond ring valued at $1,500. Grabner lost $300 in cash.

Warning the party to make no outcry, the robbers directed Grabner to drive back into the highway still crowded with hundreds of machines. Siegel, despite the pistol probing his back, managed to open the car door with his foot and when the traffic procession was halted by a train, he leaped from the car and toward a bus.

"Has anyone got a gun?" he cried "Duck your heads. It's a robbery."

The two robbers jumped from the car, pistol in hand and pursued him but made no effort to fire. They then jumped into their own car, and were driven swiftly away down a side road.

Explosion Wrecks Store In Indiana; Damage $300,000

Hammond, Ind., July 18.—(AP)—A terrific explosion today demolished the Goldie Department Store, a new building in the foreign section of Hammond, with estimated damage of $300,000.

Witnesses said they believed labor trouble was responsible but were unable to ascertain the origin of the blast.

The explosion lifted the roof of the three-story building and caved in the walls, reducing it to a pile of debris. Nearby buildings were slightly damaged and windows for several blocks around were shattered. One was injured.

Foil Attempt To Kill Chancellor
Vienna, July 18.—(AP)—What was believed to have been an attempt against the life of Chancellor Stresemann was foiled this morning when a sentry knocked a revolver from a man's hand as the chancellor was about to enter his automobile in front of his office.

For the Love of a Lady

By JEFFERY FARNOL

SYNOPSIS: Helen D'Arcy is enraged and incensed by Sir Richard's cruel misunderstanding—for he believes that she killed Julian and placed Richard's ring beside the body to fasten guilt on him. Viciously, Helen strikes him in the face with her whip, but riding home with Gregory, she confesses her continued deep concern for Richard's safety. Meanwhile, Richard realizes that he has misjudged her and decides on a bold plan. Turning back towards the village, he hides in a hedge and overhears Helen's words of her regard for him. He vows that he will woo her speedily. Crossing to the inn, Richard spies a fast-moving shadow—and follows it.

Chapter 22.
A MESSAGE IN THE ARBOUR
The Duchess sat up in bed, very wide awake despite the late hour.

"And is it see him ye did, me sweet soul?" she demanded.
"Ah, dearly beloved," sighed Helen, frowning at the candle-flame. "I saw the odious wretch!" Helen turned away with gesture so superbly disdainful that the Duchess snorted.

"Tush, girl! Have done wi' your high tragedy airs, miss! Ye've seen him and he's disappointed you—tell me how, tell me why, and tell me quick!"

My lady's magnificent disdain wilted and she sank upon the great bed and hid her face.
"Oh, Aunt, she whispered, "he thinks me a . . . murderer . . . he thinks 'twas I killed his cousin Julian."

"Ay, course he does, yet sweet simpson! Ha, don't ye see? Here's the true reason for his flight. He fathers the crime, runs the hazard o' shameful death—for thee, Helen, all for thee! This Guyford o' Wear is noble gentleman, ah—and what's more, a very man!"

"Ah, belovedest, if this indeed be so . . ."
"Fest!" cried the Duchess, "if me no ifs, and proud ye should be o' such brave devotion, humble and thankful for the love of such a man."

"Humble? Oh, my dear, I—struck him—with my whip!"
"Ah!" sighed the Duchess. "So—a man perils his life for ye, and ye show your gratitude with a whip!"

Then the Duchess abruptly changed the subject.
"Your maid Betty's a sly mix and will bear watching—So I watched her! And, what's more, your devoted faithful creature can read and write!"

"Why, yes, aunt, but—"
"And me dear, she reads your letters and my letters, and writes to somebody she names 'dear T—'"
"Aunt!" gasped Helen.

"There's a letter writ to 'dear T' hidden in the arbour at this moment."
"Aunt, you never bothered to read the thing?"

"Every word, I'm wondering who 'dear T' may chance to be. Then Viscount Brocklehurst called this morning and mighty curious and insistent to know whither you had ridden and with whom."

"Is she with Despard?" says he, and sure the man was all of a silver. "Maybe," says I, and the man frowns and bites his lips. Afterwards, in shady corner, they didn't see me—your faithful devoted Betty told him something concerning yourself. I caught whisper also of Richard Guyford's name.

Once again my lady gasped, but this time in growing terror:
"Aunt . . . oh, aunt—the perfidious wretch!"

"Whereupon, your lord vowed 'twas time to act."
"To act how, aunt, how? What doth it all mean?"

"That mischief's foot. But bee the saints, we'll outwit 'em, thou and I. And now enough—kiss me good-night."

So they clasped and kissed each other and Helen, taking lighted candle, went to her room, but paused in her disrobing to draw the curtains, and to gaze down into the garden, a place of mystery. Now as she stood thus, awed by the deep and brooding stillness, her heart made a sudden leap and instinctively drawing the curtains about her loveliness, she stood breathless and wide of eyes, for amid those black shadows something had moved.

A tall figure it was, Sir Richard noticed, as he followed whither it noticed, as he followed (shrdshrd) led. So came they to the Most House garden and there to a rustic arbour wherein the figure vanished, soon to reappear and, crushing in the moonlight, unfolded a slip of paper to scan it with eager eyes; then Sir Richard recognized the reader and stepped behind a tree as the man thrust paper into pocket and hastened away, swift and silent as he had come.

For some while Sir Richard leaped there, then, moved by sudden thought, he stepped into the arbour and peered about. Passing his hands to and fro across the timbers until at last his care and patience were rewarded, something rustled faintly, and from behind one of the uprights, he drew a folded paper, and spreading this to the moon, read these words very plainly written:

"Dear B.—Do as I bid thee and our fortune is made. My L. is pleased with thee and I have lace for thee French point mighty fine. Should you hear aught of his whereabouts, haste to tell me, for naught is well till he be took. So be watchful to see and hear all you may and act when I give word. My L. is for the haunted mill and and its likely spot being so desolate. Tomorrow is the inquest, so no more until we meet, same hour and place. I've much to tell."
"The ever-dear T."

Sir Richard was still reading when a vague sound startled him and, glancing round, he espied a cloaked and hooded figure speeding to him across the wide lawn.
"Helen!" said he, in glad surprise.

Breathless she was with haste and now stood before him, panting a little, her face a pale sweet oval beneath drawn hood.
"What do you here, sir?"

"Tresspass, ma'am, beyond a doubt."
"And run deadly peril to come for STORY—TWO your—love-note!" And she pointed disdainfully at the open letter.

"Sir," said she, chin aloft, contempt and disdain in every line of her, "twas writ by my maid!"
"Aleck, madam!" he sighed.

"Can it be that you—are her 'dar T'?"
"Let us suppose it, ma'am, and what then?"

"There is no more to be said, sir."
"Nay, faith, ma'am, there is so much that we are like to talk until dawn."

"So will I bid you good-night, sir!" But even as she turned to be gone, he had her by the cloak.

"A good-night indeed," said he. "Tis a balmy air and kindly warm; this night we come to an understanding."
"Loose me or I scream!"

"Attempt it, ma'am, and I kiss you breathless."
"So you well deign me an explanation at last, sir?" she demanded. "What brought you here to-night?"

"Pure villainy," he answered lightly; "it crept before me all the way, it brought this letter, a misiv mysterious address 'Dear B' and subscribed 'dear T.'"
"Oh!" said my lady. "Tiwil be for Betty, my wicked maid."

"And T," nodded Sir Richard, "is for Thomas, Tom for short. 'Tom Pitt, my Helen; you saw him the night these eyes first looked on thee—'"

"Yes," she answered, coming nearer yet. "Now pray show me this letter."
"Yonder, 'neath the old cherry-tree—comes!" and, stooping suddenly, he swept her up in his arms before she might prevent.

JAPAN ADVISES FLIER TO GET PERMIT

Tokyo, July 18.—(AP)—The Japanese government has called the attention of the American embassy to the fact that Lieutenant Harold Bromley, American aviator who is planning a flight from Tacoma, Wash., to Tokyo, has not yet applied for a Japanese permit to fly over or land on Japanese territory.

While the Japanese emphasized that they would welcome the flier cordially, they declared that they wanted to avoid any irregular situation.

WASHINGTON RING IDOL VISITS CITY

The stage is all set for the Add Warren-Julian Weisse prize fight at Kugler Field, Washington, tomorrow night, and indications are that the affair will draw a large attendance from Greenville and the surrounding territory.

The spectators at the ball game here yesterday, judging by the big hand they gave him, got a big kick out of having Add introduced in front of the grandstand prior to the conclusion of the Greenville-Goldsboro game.

Having eighteen knock-outs and five decisions in major bouts to his credit, Warren, after much persuasion, decided to return to Washington, his home town, to give his friends a chance to see just what he has to offer in the ring.

Add's opponent in tomorrow night's fight is Julian Weisse, former sparring partner of Max Schmeling. Weisse, who has participated in a score of major contests, holds a record of never having been knocked off his feet. Whether or not Add will be able to upset Weisse and his record is a question that remains to be settled tomorrow night, but at any rate, the friends of the North Carolina heavyweight champion are hoping that he will be able to accomplish this feat.

In addition to the main bout of 10 rounds, tomorrow night's card also includes 22 rounds of fast preliminaries and fight fans who attend are assured of an evening of real entertainment.

Two City Laws Declared Void At Fayetteville

Fayetteville, July 16.—Two city ordinances of Fayetteville were held to be unconstitutional by Judge M. A. Sinclair in mandamus proceedings brought by Charles E. MacRae against the city of Fayetteville and W. F. Campbell, building inspector, to compel the municipality to issue a building permit for the erection of a gasoline filling station in an exclusive residential section. Judge Sinclair issued the mandamus, directing the city to give permit. The city's attorneys filed notice of an appeal, and the case will be carried to the Supreme Court.

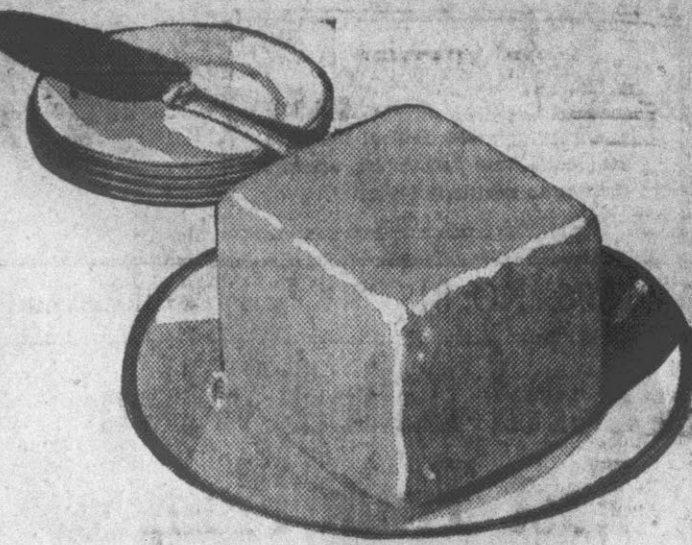

The case has claimed much attention locally. A similar action, brought by A. G. Murchison, is now before the Supreme Court, but the zoning commission has declared the property affected to be part of a commercial zone, and this cult may be dropped. In that case the MacRae case will decide the city's right to prevent the building of service stations in certain localities. The Standard Oil Company will erect the station in this instance.

Rose and Lyon, representing MacRae, argued that the city ordinance prohibiting a filling station in a residential section unless a majority of the residents on the block agreed, was unconstitutional because it subjects a man to the whim of his neighbors, and deprived him of the legal use of his property. The later ordinance, which says that a station may not be built within 250 feet of a residence, except in case of those already existing, is discriminatory and tends to create a monopoly, it is contended. Judge Sinclair stated that he was not ruling on where a filling station should or should not be put, but on a man's legal rights to the use of his own property.

TWO CROATS ARE SENTENCED TO DEATH

Belgrade, July 18.—(AP)—Two Croatian leaders, Anton Pavelich, leader of the Federalist party, and his aide, Gustav Pertcheff, have been sentenced to death for conspiring against the state with the Macedonian extremists in Bulgaria. Neither has been arrested.
The counts against the men were brought on charges of violating the defense of the realm act.

Wives To Get In Census.
Washington — Housewives who work outside the home will be included in the coming federal census on employment, if Mary Anderson, chief of the women's bureau of the Department of Labor, has her way. "Married women do not work for pin money," she said. "Their earnings go into the family budget."

Famous Onslow County Hams

The famous Onslow County ham ad. writer has appeared on the scene again.

"Lord! how are they increased that trouble me! many are they that rise up against me.... Selah!"

On my last trip to Onslow County I suffered the trouble of having my new Ford car and trailer wrecked in collision with a truck. It cost me $55 to get the damage repaired. I was lucky to save my bones and bacon. "Selah!"

I was on the scene yesterday and hams are growing scarce and hard to get. I managed to secure a full supply, the finest of the season.

On account of the advance in price I will be compelled to charge my customers 40 cents a pound. 20,000 pounds have already been sold and my obligations filled as to my former ad. I know the people of Greenville and surrounding community have a soul and conscience and don't expect me to sell anything below cost. Hence according to the rise I am compelled to make the price 40 cents a pound.

"TAN WITHOUT TEARS"

HOW are you going to acquire the rich natural tan that is so smart—and so becoming—without first suffering the agonies of sunburn? The answer is simple: use Dorothy Gray Sunburn Cream. Smooth this delightful creamy liquid over your skin before exposure to the sun. Then you won't burn, or blister, but will take on an even golden tan. Sunburn Cream isn't sticky, or greasy; it is quickly absorbed, leaving your skin smooth and lightly fragrant.

A bottle of Dorothy Gray Sunburn Cream costs two dollars and will ordinarily last you a whole season. You'll find it at our Toilet Goods Department.

Increase Interest in Camp Pitt

Many of the boys and girls of Greenville and of Pitt County will take advantage of the existence of a well ordered and directed camp, offered at a modest price, during two twelve-day periods next month. Camp Pitt is the successor of last year's Camp Greenville, a part of the town playground scheme which was in existence last summer.

Camp Pitt will comprise two entirely separate encampments at different times and places, but under the same associated management. The girls will go to Camp Kiro, on the Neuse River, near New Bern.

On August 13, and break camp on August 24. On the same day, August 24, the boys will pitch camp at Camp Leach, where they will remain until Sept. 4. This will make twelve days of real outdoor life, with all it connotes for health and happiness for both crowds of youngsters. Many are looking forward with impatient expectation to the opening day.

Several new features are planned for this year. One is a thorough, systematic course in American Red Cross Lifesaving, which will lead to a stiff examination for badges of honor. An all-day trip to the sound or ocean, for the whole camp, taken on a commodious yacht will be a delightful experience, and various new kinds of games and recreational equipment will be in evidence. Motor boats, surf boards and water polo will add much to the recreational and health activities of this most enjoyable outing.

There will be a demonstration of Kingan's F.F.V. and Reliable Hams at Home Grocery Store No. 1, Friday and Saturday. You are invited to come any time during these two days and taste the wonderful flavor.

RETURN FROM TOUR OF WESTERN STATES

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Goodson have returned from a month's tour of western states. Leaving this city the middle of June, Mr. and Mrs. Goodson went to Colorado Springs where Mr. Goodson was a delegate to an insurance convention. After the convention they visited several western cities, including Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Come to the demonstration of Kingan's F.F.V. and Reliable Hams at Home Grocery Store No. 1, Friday and Saturday.

Home Grocery Co. Opens Third Store

Since their opening a few weeks ago, the popularity gained by the Home Grocery Stores has no doubt been beyond that of any other mercantile interest organized in Greenville. This business began with one store on West Dickinson avenue, and met with such remarkable approval from the public, a second store was placed at the corner of Fleming street and Pamlico avenue. Then urgent demands from other districts of the city prompted the opening this week of a third store, this being located at the corner of Evans and Fourteenth streets.

The fact that the Home Grocery Stores are owned and operated by local interests has no doubt contributed much in the large volume of patronage they are enjoying, which has made continued expansion possible. Quality merchandise at a low margin of profit with unexcelled service stand out as the principal features in the operation of these mercantile establishments.

For the convenience of the people of the respective sections of the city which stores two and three serve each has installed a meat market that is in keeping with any other store, and low price and cleanliness are the important features.

Mr. W. H. Johnson, who has been engaged in the grocery business in Greenville for a score of years, is manager of the Dickinson avenue store which is located directly opposite Eldridge Drug Store. The second store is under the supervision of Mr. T. V. Strong, and the third by Messrs. Byrum and Stillman. Each of these gentlemen have had long experience in the grocery business and know how to serve the public to its satisfaction.

Offer Big Reward For Finding Woman

Fairfield, Cal., July 18.—(AP)—Sheriff John R. Thornton last night announced receipt of a telegram from a Los Angeles bank offering "a large reward" for the finding of a Miss Irene Wolfskill, 55, member of a wealthy California pioneer family, who disappeared from her pretentious ranch home here last Sunday.

Last seen by her maid, Miss Wolfskill, who has lived in seclusion on her ranch, left her home clad in light clothing and bare-headed. She told Mrs. Mathew Wolfskill, her sister-in-law, that she was going for a walk.

Tells Why Trotzky Was Barred From Entering England

London, July 18.—(AP)—Permission for Leon Trotzky, Bolshevik leader, exiled in Constantinople, to enter England was refused because of the difficulty the British government might have in securing departure if his presence ever became embarrassing. Home Secretary John R. Clynes said in the House of Commons this afternoon.

"The government's view is that of Trotzky were to come here persons of mischievous intentions would unquestionably seek to exploit his presence for their own ends, and if in consequence he became a source of grave embarrassment, the government could have no certainty of being able to secure his departure," Mr. Clynes explained.

As to the question of the right of asylum for political refugees, which some members of the House, chiefly Liberals, have raised in connection with Trotzky's case, the home secretary said the country had the right of granting such asylum when it saw fit.

"But on the other hand, no alien has the right to claim asylum in this country if it would be contrary to the interests of the country to receive him."

MARKETING A STATE

One of the most vital and important works carried on by the Department of Conservation and Development, of the State of North Carolina, and one of the first which Director Col. J. W. Harrison announced would be continued under his administration, is the program for the development of industry in the state.

This department, as an organization, cannot receive too much publicity and praise in return for the work it has done, is doing, and plans to do. It has done for its state what no other one individual or organization has done. State-supported, it works without local interest or prejudice or partiality. It works alone, or in harness with other groups having the welfare of the state at heart.

It is, in effect, a state chamber of commerce, free from the limitations that hamper chambers of commerce and possessed of a larger working force, greater facilities, and that peculiar prestige which accrues to any division of state or national government. And North Carolina, as one of the successful pioneers in this method of advancing her commercial rank among the states, should be the subject of careful study by all her sister states.

The South needs more state organizations of this nature, so equipped and directed as to have at instant command data and information on every matter connected with the state in question, no matter of how much seeming irrelevance; and these departments should be co-operative with each other and with any individual or group wishing important information regarding the South.

Few things could benefit the Southern States more at this particular time, and during the years to come. Other sections already have recognized the need for such concerted organization, and have active and effective institutions serving this purpose. The case of North Carolina proves that the South's growth would be multiplied immeasurably by such organization; zations; and the possibilities afford matter for serious consideration on the part of this section's leader—Holland's Magazine.

ABOUT TOWN

"Some days ago the newspapers of the state carried a story to the effect that the health officer in one of the towns of the state had ordered the discontinuance of all common drinking cups on the ground that he thought an outbreak of trench mouth in that particular town was caused by the use of the common drinking cups at the soda fountains," said a communication sent out today by the Pitt County Department of Health.

"Much has been said and written in the last few years about the use of the common drinking cup," the communication continued. "Whether or not the health officer had made any definite microscopic or other test to determine the accuracy of his conclusions, or whether or not he was merely expressing an opinion, the dispatches did not state. It is certainly possible for contagious disease germs of some types to be carried on the edge of the common drinking cup and passed from one patron to another when the common drinking cups are not properly sterilized after each individual use."

"The common cup has been banished from all railroad trains of the country, from most all large halls and public buildings, from all professional office buildings, and from the better class of hotels, but it is still found in many public places. Our druggist friends have opposed ordinances wherever such have been proposed which would banish from use the common drinking cup."

"Some of our druggist friends have explained that they did not want to be compelled by law to depend entirely on the so-called paper trust in the conduct of their fountain business. At this time, however, there are so many manufacturers putting on the market a cheap type of paper cup which answers every purpose, it seems to us that it is about time for the common cup to be entirely banished from all school buildings or other places where children are congregated."

"After all, the decision rests with the general public. If all of us would insist on being served, when eating and drinking at the soda fountains, in an individual cup, and if we would refuse to drink water from common cups in public places, it would not be long before the common cup would disappear entirely from public use."

"Greenville has been honored again in the decision of the secretaries and treasurers of the Federal Farm Loan Board to meet here during the month of August," said a prominent business man today.

"These men will be addressed by one of our own citizens, Judge Frank Wooten, who will acquaint them with some of the conditions prevailing in this immediate section of the state. As a lawyer and banker, Judge Wooten has had ample opportunity to come in close contact with the farmers. He knows their problems, and is able to tell the outside world about them in an interesting manner."

"Now that Mayor J. C. Lanier has called on the public to co-operate with the city in eliminating the rank growth of weeds and other forms of vegetation, the public should get busy and do all they can do to improve the condition," said a citizen today, commenting on the mayor's statement carried in the columns of the Reflector yesterday.

"By cutting down the weeds, the appearance of the streets will not only be improved but breeding places for the mosquito will be removed. Co-operate with the mayor, Mr. Citizen, and in that way prevent yourself from becoming accountable to the law for negligence."

"Well, the Sailors left Greenville no better off than when they came here," remarked a baseball fan today, speaking of the three hectic games which the Tobaccoists and Sailors played on the local diamond the first of the week.

"The first game was one of the most spectacular extra inning contests seen on the local diamond this season and ended with both clubs carrying a goose-egg to their credit. The next two games—a double bill—resulted in an even break, the Sailors winning the first game and Greenville the second. Both were good games, and the visitors, winners of the first half, fought like the dickens to climb out the basement where they have been since the beginning of the second half. Fighting to maintain the lead of the top of the standing of clubs column, the Tobaccoists, however, declined to yield an inch of ground and the Sailors returned home convinced

Durham Wallops Twin City Lads

(By The Associated Press.) Durham celebrated Winston-Salem's "Pennant Day" yesterday by walloping the Twins 5 to 3. W. G. Bramham, president of the Piedmont, witnessed the exercises attending the hoisting of the 1928 pennant by the Twins.

Greensboro got off to a good start against Salisbury, but the Colonial came back in the 8th, 9th and 10th innings to win 8 to 7. After scoring four in the eighth, the Cola slipped across another in the ninth, and then won in the extra inning. Gallagher's single scored Dyer from second with the winning marker.

Braddock To Meet Loughran Tonight

(New York, July 18.-AP)-The light heavyweight championship falls some 20-odd pounds per man and many thousand dollars short of being as big as the heavyweight title, but today it looks big enough to James J. Braddock of New Jersey. "Jersey Jim" has risen in a brief boxing career to the post of challenger for the 175-pound crown and tonight he pits the devastating wallop that has carried him to the top over the battered forms of such scrappers as Tuffy Griffiths and Jimmy Slatery, against the boxing skill of the champion, Tommy Loughran. Although the first is being staged in the Yankee Stadium, biggest of New York's open-air arenas, and is scheduled for the full championship distance of 15 rounds, it is not expected to be very profitable to either the champion or the challenger. So far it has drawn little more than passing interest despite a frenzied bidding, and only about 25,000 fans are expected. The battle starts at 10 p. m., Eastern Daylight Time. The show is for the benefit of the hospital fund of the Home of the Daughters of Jacob at princes ranging from $2 to $15. The gate is expected to be about $100,000. As for the fight itself, the eternal question of the flat world—whether a boxer is better than a puncher, is the question to be considered tonight. Loughran is the superlative boxer but his hitting ability is almost non-existent, while Braddock put his trust in a death-dealing right hand swing. All of his fame has come from that right.

Fitzpatrick Hurls Locals To 3 to 0 Victory Over The Bugs From Goldsboro

Hurling an invincible brand of ball Fitzpatrick, recent acquisition to Greenville club of the Eastern Carolina League, blanked Goldsboro in the opening game of the series yesterday afternoon by the score of 3 to 0. He really looked like the Bugs were going the entire route without a hit, but Payne, left fielder, hit a fly between first base and right field that went for a hit when the local first baseman and fielder failed to decide which one would take the ball out of the ether. As it was, the sphere dropped to the ground and the mistake caused Fitzpatrick to lose a well-deserved niche in baseball's hall of fame.

The game unquestionably was one of the most spectacular played on the diamond in seasons. In fact, it was the first time probably that Greenville people had the opportunity to watch one of their pitchers hold a visiting club at his mercy the entire nine frames allotted to a ball game. It was a masterful exhibition of slab work as Goldsboro batters at no time threatened to improve their percentage.

But all the glory is not on the Greenville side of the records. A young fellow by the name of Wickes, who dazzled like a star in his performance on the mound and was mainly responsible for the small score, which the locals were able to pile up. He allowed the Greenies only six hits, two of which went for extra bases. It really looked like the game was going to settle down to a pitcher's duel in the first three frames, but in the fourth Greenville got busy and for three successive innings a runner was shoved over the platter.

The barrage started when Kendall received a free pass to first. Edmonds, attempting to recede himself for a wild throw to the first corner in the first half of the inning, doubled to center field and Kendall raced home with the first tally. In the fifth, Nalbock doubled to centerfield and advanced to third on Cox's single. He later scored when Hiller laid a beautiful bunt down the first base line.

In the sixth frame Kendall lined the ball out against the right field fence for two bases. He advanced to third when Jones hit down the third base line and then scored when the pitcher threw wild to first in attempting to catch Jones.

Kendall led the local club at the bat, getting two doubles out of three times up, but the last hit in the eighth went to waste when his teammates failed to follow up. LaFluer, Goldsboro center gardner, provided the fielding sensation of the day in the eighth frame when he pulled a complete somersault on a drive by Hiller that looked like it was labeled for two or more bases. Hiller, himself starred at the second base for the Greenies, accepting several scorching liners which have caused one less stout pitcher to let them pass as real high base hits.

The Greens had two errors chalked up against them. Edmonds was out for both Greenville misplays. He threw wild to the infield. Wickes and Pasquella were charged with the visitors' errors.

The game was witnessed by a large as the day before. The body apparently went wild. Of course, there were those who fussed about Fitzpatrick not getting into the hall of fame, but they were in the minority. When the big heaver himself was satisfied with the way things had turned out.

The two clubs will complete the series here this afternoon and Greenville will go to Fayetteville tomorrow for a two-game series.

CARDINALS TAKE GAME OFF GIANTS

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN, Associated Press Sports Writer.

With the National League race threatening momentarily to become a strictly private affair between the Pirates and the Cubs, John McGraw deployed his forces upon the Polo Grounds from this morning in an attempt to stem the corsair rush. The impending series may be called crucial for the Giants alone; to the jaunty Buccaneers it constituted just four more ball games.

The Giants brushed up yesterday for their do-or-die effort by bowing to the fallen Cardinals, who came to life to accept the decision by 6 to 1. The Pirates got only an even break at Boston, but nevertheless remained not notches ahead of the Giants in the important column dealing with games lost. The Cubs profited from the Pirate slip by smothering the Phillies, 16 to 3, and so gaining half a game on the leaders. The Pittsburgh margin now is just two games.

The defeat of Donie Bush's boys in the first game at Boston was most unexpected. Burleigh Grimes was pitted against Harry Seibold, the veteran rookie from Reading, who held the Buccaneers to nine well scattered hits as the Braves dusted Grimes for a 7 to 4 decision, the big spit-baller's second defeat of the season. The Pirates came back in the nightcap to win by 13 to 5, behind Kreamer.

Charlie Root had a breeze in Philadelphia as 18 Chicago hits beat a merry tune against the outer ramparts of Baker Bowl. Rogers Hornsby helped Root with a home run and two other hits.

The victory of the Cardinals at the Polo Grounds gave the league champions the odd decision in five and their first series victory since they took four straight from the Phillies in June. It also was the first time in more than a month that the Cards had succeeded in extending a winning streak beyond one game.

Taylor Douthett continued his batting spree, with a double, a triple and a homer, which drove in four runs. He led a fifth-inning assault which earned four runs for the Cardinals and the rest of the afternoon off for Larry Benton. Hal had issued seven passes, but gave the Giants only four hits.

Brooklyn crowned three Cincinnati pitchers for 17 hits to win the final game of the series by 10 to 5. The result delayed the march of the Reds upon seventh place, and kept the Robins within four games of fourth.

The Athletics dropped another one to the Indians, who won by 5 to 2, behind Walter Miller's six-hit pitching. Young Bill Shores was the victim.

The Mackmen nevertheless remained eight games ahead of the Yankees who contrived to toss off a four-run lead in the ninth and permit the Tigers to win by 9 to 8 in the tenth. Babe Ruth's 22 homer and some smart pitching by Waite Hoyt, up to the final crash, went into the discard.

The big Detroit ninth, Hoyt, Combs and Bengough so inserted one error apiece in among three Detroit hits and a pass that four runs resulted. Then in the tenth the Yankees failed with the bases filled and Detroit ended the anguish by sending Sorrell home with the winning marjor in the home half of the round.

Sammy Gray gained an even break for the Browns in their series against the Red Sox by pitting five-hit ball yesterday to win by 4 to 0. The Senators won from the White Sox in the final game of the series at Chicago by a score of 6 to 2.

Leaders Lose Out In South Atlantic

Atlanta, July 18.—(AP)—Knoxville and Columbia, rubbing elbows for more comfort at the perch of the South Atlantic Association, went down in defeat in yesterday's play while the Macon Peaches came through in fine style.

After training for six innings, the Charlotte Bees hopped on Pitcher "Red" Bates for six runs in the seventh to turn back Knoxville 9 to 6. Three Smoke home runs failed to help the cause. Johnny Allen, was invincible, holding Columbia to six scattered hits as Asheville opportunely annexed the game 6 to 2.

"Buck" Newsome registered his 13th victory of the season as Tom Rogers' Macon Peaches canquished Greenville 5 to 3 to make it two in a row and the edge in the series. A flurry of hits in the second netted the winners four runs. Spartanburg bested Augusta free hitting affair 6 to 4 to capture the odd game of the series. Each team collected 11 hits.

COTTON MARKET

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 5 points to an advance of 9 points. A disposition to take profits following the sharp advance yesterday, was prompted by relatively easy cables, but the early offerings were readily absorbed by a further broadening of demand which seemed to come from Wall Street, western and commission houses sources. By the end of the first half hour, October had advanced to 18.10 and January to 18.50 making new high ground for the movement and net gains of about 10 to 15 cents.

Trading was active with buyers emphasizing the high temperatures reported in the southwest yesterday, the boll weevil menace in central and eastern sections of the belt and the possibility of crop deterioration between now and end of the month.

Private cables said covering and continental buying in Liverpool had been supplied by Bombay liquidation and profit taking.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—Big selling, largely to realize profits, extreme bulges in prices urged the wheat market downward today in the late dealing. The plunge to lower levels came after new high price records for the season had been attained.

Closing quotations on wheat were unstable, at or near the day's bottom figures, 2 7/8c to 3 1/8c under yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1 1/8c down; oats 7 3/4c to 7 7/8c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10¢ to 12c.

STOCK MARKET

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Uncertainty over the weekly Federal Reserve statement to be issued after the close of today's market accounted for the widespread irregularity in price movement in today's session.

Pool operations were resumed in about a score of specialties, which were marked up 2 to 9 points, but many of the recent favorites, particularly in the railroad group, yielded 1 to 5 points on selling by professional traders.

Call money renewed at 8 per cent and appeared to be in fairly plentiful supply at that figure. Time money held firm around 7 3/4 per cent.

No change in the discount rate is expected at the New York Federal Reserve meeting after the close.

Trade and earning reports continued favorable. Current prosperity of the railroads was reflected in the increased purchases of equipment which, in turn, stimulated trading in the equipment stocks.

Commission houses continued to stress the possibility of a sharp readjustment in security values and urged caution in the making of new commitments. With brokers' loans already close to the highest level in all time, fears were expressed by some houses that a sharp increase to a new high record today would have an effect on speculative sentiment.

Johns Manville, which has been mentioned in unconfirmed Wall Street rumors as the nucleus of a large building materials merger, ran up 1 1/2 points. R. H. Macy advanced 1 1/2. General Railway Signal 4 and Glidden, Radio, Gold Dust, Gillette Safety Razor, Columbia Graphophone, City Ice and Fuel, Fox Film all sold several points higher.

prevent and stop such activity, had it actually occurred, without seizing the railway and severing treaty relations existing between the U. S. S. R. and China.

The real object of the violent actions on the Chinese Eastern Railway end of the Chinese note becomes especially clear from the official press declaration of President Chiang Kai Shek, who justifies the unlawful actions on the railway and plainly declares:

"Our measures are designed to take over the Chinese Eastern Railway. There is nothing unusual in the measures to take the railway in our hands. We first want to take over the railway and then take up discussion of the other question."

"These statements leave no doubt as to the real meaning of the Chinese note."

The note added the Moscow government would reserve all rights arising from the Peking-Mukden agreement of 1924. This agreement established a joint Chinese-Russian board of control known as the "Board of Ten," for the Russian owned railway which was built in czarist days and is a most important segment of the trans-Siberian railway from western Russia to Vladivostok.
