R. J. REYNOLDS TRIAL REACHES AN ABRUPT END

Judge Discharges Jury When Foreman Is Seen Talking To Defense Witness.

London, July 25.—(AP)—The manslaughter trial of Richard Joshua Reynolds, the wealthy 23-year-old American, came to an abrupt and sensational end today. The judge discharged the jury and adjourned the case for re-trial when it was reported to him the jury foreman had been seen in conversation last night with two witnesses for the defense.

Justice Humphreys, the trial judge, said that under the circumstances the trial could not proceed. In stopping the Reynolds trial, Justice Humphreys exonerated the American defendant from any blame in connection with the incident causing the mistrial.

Justice Humphreys on taking his seat at the opening of today's session addressed the jury, saying that he had asked members on the first day of the trial to be very careful not to speak to any person connected with the case or allow any such person to speak to them.

"Do any of you desire to say anything to me on the subject," he asked.

The foreman of the jury replied: "I did see one witness last night. My name is Taylor. I am a friend of mine. I didn't discuss the case beyond his evidence." He added that he had known Atwood some time and that Atwood had spoken to him first. The foreman said that another witness named Taylor who had been with Atwood at the time also spoke to him.

"I only asked about the way Mr. Atwood spoke," said the foreman. "I did not discuss the case beyond his evidence." He added that he had known Atwood some time and that Atwood had spoken to him first.

Justice Humphreys said in a report of the constabulary official to the effect that he had seen the foreman yesterday afternoon in company with Taylor and Atwood. The justice said he was not there to interfere into the conversation which the foreman had had with the two witnesses but that "it must be serious to everybody what sort of ideas are produced in the minds of persons by jurymen seen talking to witnesses."

After ordering the jury to be discharged without a verdict and declaring that the trial would have to proceed before another jury at some other time, Justice Humphreys added:

"I desire to make it clear that there is no objection and no suggestion of reflection upon the accused. Not only is there no evidence but I am satisfied he had nothing at all to do with the improper conduct of the two witnesses approaching—if they did approach the foreman of the jury in this petty hearing case."

Norman B. Irrett, attorney for Reynolds, said he was grateful to the judge for completely exonerating the defendant "from this unfortunate incident."

Interest Focused On Next Meeting Of The Farm Body

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—The interest of those who fought for farm legislation to relieve conditions in the wheat belt of the middle west focused today upon the meeting of the federal farm board tomorrow in Chicago to get first hand information on what the farmers of that region believe should be done to help them.

More than thirty officials of the leading farmer-owned cooperatives and pooling agencies have been invited to appear before the board at this first meeting outside of Washington since its organization, and to give their opinions as to ways in which it "can best serve the grain-growing farmers of the nation."

While the question of stabilization of wheat has claimed first attention from those in touch with grain conditions, there was nothing in the board's announcement of the meeting to indicate that it intended to use the Chicago session as a vehicle for putting the stabilization actions of the farm act into operation.

FIND SERGEANT GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Fayetteville, N. C., July 25.—(AP)—A jury in Superior Court late yesterday found William P. Hendley, army sergeant from Fort Bragg, guilty of manslaughter for the death of Mrs. James S. McNeill, of Lumberton, who was killed in an automobile accident May 19. Judge Sinclair, presiding, deferred passing sentence. Hendley was the driver of an automobile that collided with the McNeill car. He contended the McNeill car was on the left hand side of the road and that there was no way he could avoid the accident.

PREACHER AND CHOIR SINGER ELOPE IN PENN.

Man And Woman Leave Their Families To Carry Out a Long-standing Love Pact.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 25.—(AP)—While authorities continued a search for the Rev. John Wesley Gable, pastor of the Ephraim Church of God, and Mrs. John Miller, choir singer, who disappeared from their homes Tuesday night in the pastor's automobile, both Miller and Mrs. Gable remained steady today to forswear the elopers in case they should return.

Mrs. Gable last night revealed the contents of a note left for her by the pastor in which he promised to send her money as soon as he has settled, she said.

Miller told authorities his wife threatened to leave because of the burden of caring for four small sons. He said his wife told him Tuesday, in speaking of the pastor: "I love him and he loves me."

The elopement became known when Miller returned from his work Tuesday night and was handed a note by one of his sons. It was signed by Mrs. Miller and read:

"I know you won't love me any more since I did this. Daddy dear please forgive me. Kiss all the boys for me every day and be kind. Bye, Daddy and boys."

Gable was a frequent caller at the Miller home. He had been teaching Mrs. Miller music. They frequently sang duets in church.

Paul Gable, New Cumberland, a son of the missing preacher, told police his father withdrew several hundred dollars from a bank Tuesday.

Gable is 46 and Mrs. Miller 33.

BOGIE SETS RECORD FOR RIVER TRIP

Dr. Leroy's Speedboat Clips 2 Hours And 43 Minutes From Record Of R. E. Lee.

St. Louis, July 25.—(AP)—Dr. Leroy's speedboat "The Bogie" docked at St. Louis at 6:34 a. m. today, clipping 2 hours and 43 minutes off the 59-year-old record of the Robert E. Lee, for a boat trip from New Orleans to St. Louis.

The record 1,154 mile trip over the Mississippi river was completed in 87 hours and 31 minutes, while the record of the packer Robert E. Lee, made in 1870, was 90 hours and 14 minutes.

Dr. Leroy ignored one scheduled refueling stop at Chester, Ill. in his dash over the final 50 miles of the stretch to reach the city wharf to set a new mark. The Robert E. Lee's record, which had stood despite many attempts to better it, was made in a race with the Natchez, which ended July 4, 1870.

The Bogie left New Orleans at 3:04 p. m. Sunday, in a race for St. Louis with the yacht Martha Jane, a cabin cruiser, but the latter was forced to quit at Natchez, Miss., because of motor trouble. Dr. Leroy's boat was piloted by him with Harry Brown and Robert Hunter aboard. The Bogie is a small open runabout built of mahogany.

BIG CROWDS AT CATHOLIC CELEBRATION

Thousands Attend First Emergence Of a Roman Catholic Pontiff At Rome.

Rome, July 25.—(AP)—Crowds—Romans, Italians, and Roman Catholics from all the world—flocked today to the plaza before St. Peter's Cathedral to witness the first emergence of a Roman Catholic pontiff from the Vatican since destruction of the papal state in 1870. In deference to the wishes of His Holiness, Pope Pius XI, the crowds were made to wait in silence and in the shade of the porticoes as they were made to witness at dusk one of the greatest events in the lifetime of the church and of the united kingdom of Italy.

Fifteen thousand Italian soldiers, several thousand Black Shirts and city police were stationed in the plaza as a precaution against outbreaks of enthusiasm which might endanger the procession. Marking the end of 60 years self-imposed imprisonment for rulers of the church, Pope Pius planned to leave the Vatican bearing the sacred host at 7 p. m., proceeding near the end of the long procession to an improvised altar on the steps before the cathedral. There, before a swelling multitude of between 250,000 and 300,000 persons, he planned to impart the benediction of the blessed sacrament.

The procession, as nearly as possible, was to be a reproduction of the Corpus Christi processions, in which the pontiff's mitre prior to the fall of the temporal power. A color guard of the pontifical gentlemen will open the procession in full uniform, followed by the colonel of the papal guard with an escort of trumpets and pealing church bells all over Rome were to produce their sound.

Various clerical denominations, including seminarians of which a number are Americans, have been assigned places between the color guard and the papal corps. The Pope's armed cohorts of the sword and the cardinal's following.

The Pope himself finally was to appear on the "Baldin" or platform, holding aloft the eucharist.

St. Peter's portion has been overhung with a series of magnificent tapestries for the event, as were the two wings of the colonnade for the entire length. These were the famous pieces given to Pius VII by Napoleon after his coronation in Notre Dame. The central tapestry, representing the scene of the last supper, serves as a background to the temporary altar erected on the topmost steps in front of St. Peter's.

In an effort to maintain a holy and solemn aspect to the ceremony from all angles, squads of airplanes patrolled the Vatican city to prevent other craft flying above while the service takes place. Ricard orders against cameras were invoked. It was believed nevertheless, some pictures would be obtained.

BANK CLOSURE TODAY

ORMOND BEACH, FLA. Ormond Beach, Fla., July 25.—(AP)—The Bank of Ormond in this winter home town of John D. Rockefeller, failed to open its doors today and was placed in the hands of state banking department by order of the board of directors.

It was understood that heavy withdrawals by out-of-town depositors had caused the suspension of business. There was a run on the bank, it was said.

Family Of Seven Perish Of Thirst On Desert Sands

Blythe, Calif., July 25.—(AP)—How a family of seven perished of thirst on the scorching desert south of here after having drunk the water from the radiator of their disabled motor car, was revealed to the police of Blythe yesterday by six American youths.

The boys reported that the bodies of the victims, believed to be Mr. and Mrs. Enrique Armenta and their five children, were found scattered in the vicinity of a disabled automobile, 33 miles south of Blythe.

The youths said the radiator of the car, a small sedan, was empty. A pair of pliers lay on the ground beneath and the tap was open—mute evidence that the last drop of water apparently had been drained from the machine by the family to quench their thirst.

The bodies were scattered at various distances from the car, with tracks leading in every direction.

Robin Still Sailing Through the Clouds At St. Louis Today

St. Louis, July 25.—(AP)—The endurance plane, "St. Louis Robin," piloted by Dale (Red) Jackson and Forest O'Brine, was still going strong as it neared the 300-hour mark this afternoon. Plane and pilots had been up 293 hours at 12:17 p. m. (C. S. T.).

Soaring toward the 300-hour mark in the air, the St. Louis Robin, continued circling above Lambert-St. Louis field today. Only the final wearing out of the motor was expected to cause Dale "Red" Jackson and Forest O'Brine to descend from the atmosphere which has been their home for approximately 12 days and which has brought them at least temporary fame as the pair who set a new endurance flight record. They eclipsed the old mark of more than 246 hours by the Angelino on Tuesday.

While Jackson had been confident before the flight started that if they set a new record they would go on and double the old mark, Major William B. Robertson, of the Curtiss-Robertson Company, sponsors of the flight, was not so optimistic. Yesterday he remarked on the increased life of an airplane motor compared with ten years ago and said: "It looks now as if the motor will function well up to 300 hours. Maybe longer. I hope it does. But I shall not be surprised if it reaches its limit around that figure."

That the men were losing weight on the long flight seemed foregone. Dr. A. C. Leggat, flight surgeon at the field, said he expected Jackson would lose about 20 pounds and O'Brine about 10. The latter weighed 138 1-3 at the examination before taking off, while Jackson tipped the scales at 154.

In a note asking about the sound of the motor, Jackson said he couldn't tell how it sounded. "We sleep by it and hear it wake up by it and on everything by it and around it and behind it. When we get through up here we will get a motor at home to sleep by."

The congratulatory messages poured in.

The flight has cost more than $10,000, it was estimated yesterday, including more than 2,400 gallons of gasoline and 110 gallons of oil. The mileage mark was around 17,000.

America and Britain Pave Way to Disarmament With Naval Reduction Pledges

Washington, July 25.—(AP)—Pledges of curtailed naval building from both Great Britain and America were hailed in Washington today as indications of an approaching agreement upon the troublesome problem of disarmament.

Even more significant, perhaps, was the new spirit of cordiality and co-operation that has entered the negotiations and has been interpreted by President Hoover as evidence that the two nations are no longer to be competitors in the construction of vessels of war but are to work together as friends in reducing their number.

With the promulgation of the Kellogg treaty relegating warfare to a place beyond the pale of the laws of nations came important pronouncements from London and Washington upon which are pinned the hopes of both governments that an agreement is not far away.

Addressing the House of Commons, Premier MacDonald announced that Great Britain and America had agreed upon parity, qualified by a degree of elasticity to meet the needs of both nations, as the underlying principle of disarmament discussions. He said further that work on two British cruisers was to be suspended, the construction of a submarine depot ship and two submarines canceled and dockyard work retarded. In addition he announced his intention of visiting the United States in October.

Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, said he "sincerely hoped that a program of reduction would be carried out to its conclusion," and added that it should be understood "that it will be carried out by all the nations involved."

LINDY TAKES PICTURES OF INDIAN RUINS

American Flying Ace Photographs Scenes That Were Old Before Cortez's Visit.

Santa Fe, N. M., July 25.—(AP)—Indian ruins that were old before Cortez and his armored band made their way into the southwest, have been photographed from the air with an ultra-modern aerial camera by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Colonel Lindbergh brought the films here yesterday and they were developed in the laboratory of the American School of Research.

With the announcement of the pictures, was revealed the latest invocation of modern science in the study of antiquity. Lindbergh's pictures destined for the Carnegie Institute and photographs taken from another plane for the American School of Research, were pronounced by Dr. E. L. Hewett of the board of research, the first successful application of aerial photography to archaeological purposes.

Photographs of entire districts from the air, taking a few hours, revealed all the formation which could be gained by weeks or months of travel over the same districts on horse-back or on foot. Dr. Hewett said. In addition, the aerial photographs reveal traces of ruins which easily might be passed over by a trained archaeologist on the ground.

Students of the University of New Mexico, under the guidance of Dr. Hewett, have uncovered a prehistoric stone tower, with underground passages and a huge kiva, an underground ceremonial chamber said to be the largest ever discovered in this state, at Chaco Canyon, in the Navajo Indian reservation in Chaco Canyon.

Indians of a long period, before the arrival of the Spaniard Cortez in the southwest, reared this community house, which is of excellent masonry. The school of research plane, piloted by Olaf S. Emblem and carrying Carlos Villar, the photographer, made dozens of pictures of the Chaco Canyon ruins, showing out the entire project which covers a ten mile site. Study of the pictures is expected to disclose evidence of the ancient civilization yet unsuspected by the archaeologists, and reveal details of sites upon which work already has been done, which have escaped their notice.

Aerial photography has been used in conjunction with archaeological research in England, Palestine, and in the Valley of the Euphrates, with notable results. But until yesterday, Dr. Hewett said, it never before had been tried on a large scale in the United States.

Whether Colonel Lindbergh's entrance into the field of archaeology is to be of any permanence, or the extent of his connection, if any, with the school of research, was not disclosed, and the flier refused to discuss the matter.

The trans-Atlantic flier and his bride, who landed on a dude ranch near Pecos, Tuesday night, at the guests of Dr. and Mrs. A. V. Kidder. Dr. Kidder is superintending excavations at the Pecos ruins, among the oldest in the southwest for Phillips Academy in Massachusetts. Mrs. Kidder and Mrs. Lindbergh are said to be old friends.

The colonel returned to Pecos last night after his visit here.

TOKYO FLIERS TO MAKE TEST FLIGHT TODAY

Tacoma, Washington, July 25.—(AP)—A test flight today was expected to make lieutenant Harold Bromly ready for his projected non-stop flight from Tacoma to Tokyo, 4,700 miles. If the test flight satisfies the aviator and if the weather permits he probably will start the long hop at dawn tomorrow.

Slaps His Mother And Goes To Jail

Chicago, July 25.—(AP)—John Marsh won't slap his 65-year-old mother again for at least 112 days. Judge Francis Allegritti has seen to that.

"He isn't bad, Judge," the 39-year-old son told the court. "It's just that he drinks. He didn't hurt me much, but the neighbors had to call police. Please let him off, Your Honor. I'll straighten him out."

It was the same plea that mothers have made for their sons, good or bad, through all the ages.

Judge Allegritti smiled kindly upon her. Then he whirled and in crisp tones addressed her 39-year-old son: "You'll serve 112 days in the house of correction. I have no sympathy for a man who slaps his mother."

CHICAGO LOOP IS ROCKED BY HEAVY BLAST

Many Windows Shattered By Bomb Explosion When Traffic Was At Its Peak.

Chicago, July 25.—(AP)—The loop, billion dollar heart of Chicago business, was rocked shortly before last midnight by a bomb explosion.

No one among the thousands of persons who were in the South End of the loop at the time was hurt, a circumstance which, police regarded as remarkable, for a glass rained from upper story windows for many minutes.

The bomb had been placed in an alley entrance of the Davis Company Department Store, less than 95 feet from Jackson Boulevard, swarming with homebound motorists, and about midway between two loop arteries, Wabash avenue and State street.

Philip Iwanski, a garbage collector, came upon the bomb, so neatly packaged that he believed it to be a bundle someone had dropped. He picked it up and one end of it was warm. His thought was that it contained sandwiches, and he put it carefully back where he found it, and walked away. A moment later, he told police, he decided to retrieve the package "before some one else did."

As he turned, the bomb exploded. Windows in the Davis store, the Lytton, Kimball and Steger buildings, the D. S. Finchley establishment, the D. S. Kohns & Company store and other shops on State, Wabash, Jackson and Van Buren streets were broken. Fifteen minutes after the explosion glass continued to fall to the street, parts of which had been roped off for the safety of the thousands attracted to the scene.

Towering walls of the store buildings became a sounding board which sent the blast echoing for more than a mile. It was at an hour when night traffic was at its peak, and the streets were choked.

Only a few minutes later a bomb exploded on 22nd street, between Wabash and Wabash avenues. Windows in the Equitable Trust Company building on Michigan avenue were broken, and 30 operators in the Calumet Exchange of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company were momentarily panic-stricken.

Damage from the loop explosion was estimated by firemen at $10,000, less from the 22nd street blast was only a few hundred dollars.

There was no motive for either bombing apparent to police early today. Davis Company officials said they knew of no trouble of any kind which might have prompted an attack against their store.

N. C. Shippers Begin Fight On Freight Rates

Raleigh, July 25.—(AP)—As the outcome of the meeting of North Carolina shippers yesterday at the call of Gov. Gardner, plans were going forward today for organization of a state association to fight freight rates alleged to discriminate against North Carolina in favor of other states.

The meeting yesterday, attended by 100 shippers, named a committee of 11 to formulate plans for the state organization. It is to meet on August 6 to complete organization of the association. A resolution adopted favored a state organization for the purpose of correcting freight rate inequalities in North Carolina and to co-operate with the Corporation Commission in its efforts to accomplish this purpose.

KELLOGG NOW AFTER NAVAL DISARMAMENT

American Statesman Thinks Disarmament Should Follow Anti War Treaty.

Washington, July 25.—(AP)—Naval disarmament among the nations of the world is regarded by Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state, as a natural step to follow the general treaty for the renunciation of war and one which should be pushed forward by the naval powers.

Mr. Kellogg, whose name is linked with that of foreign minister Briand of France in the popular title of the treaty came to Washington at the invitation of President Hoover and Secretary Stimson to witness the ceremony of the final proclamation of the pact for which he worked so strenuously while in office.

"At the outset," he told the Associated Press in an interview, "I want to express my full appreciation of the efforts of Foreign Minister Briand of France in the part which he played in co-operating in the final consummation of the effort toward the preservation of world peace."

"Mr. Briand first initiated the peace effort in his message to the American people through the Associated Press on the occasion of the anniversary of America's entrance into the World War a little more than two years ago. Since that time, we have seen the pact accepted by nearly all of the nations of the world and I am entirely confident that it will be accepted by all of the nations."

"Asked what he considered the most effective way of making the treaty a certain means of preserving peace, he pointed out that its value had been demonstrated in two major world disputes which have developed since it was signed in Paris last August. He remarked that it had proved a large part in leading toward an amicable settlement of the present breach between China and Russia and said he believed it also influenced the preservation of peace between Bolivia and Paraguay in their dispute last December over the Gran Chaco. The latter dispute, he observed, is now the subject of a commission of inquiry and conciliation meeting in Washington, while any immediate outbreak of war has been avoided in the Russo-Chinese controversy.

"Naval disarmament," he continued, "has been a subject in which I have always been deeply interested. I consider it a natural impetus to the anti-war treaty and a step which, if carried out, would be of tremendous moral effect upon the world. It is a moral effort of the nations in the right direction and one which should go on."

"One of the desires which Mr. Kellogg held deep in his heart was that the treaty should become effective while he was still in office. After Mr. Briand sent his message to the American people in April, 1926, he immediately began negotiations with the French foreign minister to extend the idea of world peace beyond that of mere declarations to a treaty binding upon the nations of the world. His suggestion to the foreign minister brought an immediate response, with the result that the treaty was signed by the representatives of fifteen original signatory powers on August 27, 1928. Mr. Kellogg personally went to Paris to sign the pact on behalf of the American government."

"Final effectiveness of the treaty was held up, however, by the delay of ratification by Japan, and since its terms required ratification by all of the signatory powers before it could become effective, Mr. Kellogg left office before it could be proclaimed in full force. Nevertheless, even while it appeared doubtful to Washington observers that Japanese ratification would be forthcoming for a long period, he maintained the spirit of hopefulness which was wholly justified when the treaty was proclaimed yesterday."

Liquor Exporter Sells Business To Rum Runner

Port Colborne, Ont., July 25.—(Canadian Press)—The largest liquor exporter at Birdridge has sold out his entire enterprise to a Detroit river rum-runner, it is authentically reported here. The runner in question owns and has been operating 18 launches. The reported sale, it is expected will result in hijacking and other troubles when the Detroit party arrives.

In the meantime, Birdridge export activities are continuing briskly. All manner of launches, speed boats and motor boats, and even skills and ordinary rowboats comprise the fleet which is carrying on business from the Jarvis street docks here.

United States coast guard patrols do not appear to be meeting with much success in checking the exporters and no recent losses to the fleet have been noticed.

For the Love of a Lady

By JEFFERY FARNOL

SYNOPSIS: Sir Richard Guyford, striving desperately to clear his name so that he may woo Helen D'Arcy, has disappeared from the circle of his staunch friends. At the D'Arcy home a brilliant lawn-fete is in progress when Titus Oldcraft, the option constable, brings news of an amazing discovery. The cat's-eye ring—seen by Julian on his slayer's hand—has been found at the Guyford Arms Inn—in the baggage of Captain Despard. Undaunted, the captain asks to see the ring and then most convincingly proves his innocence of the damning implications cast upon him—the ring is much too small to fit even his smallest finger.

Chapter 28 PRYING EYES

Sir Richard, seated in the secret chamber, glanced at the sturdy landlady's troubled face.

"I'm back again, John, though not for long," said he softly. "Captain Despard is hurt, eh, John?"

"Broke in arm, sir, and all shook up," said Doctor Samson, telling me. "Bout a hour ago, the pore gentleman trips and falls downstairs—and him nowise drunk, sir—which be strange."

But Sir Richard held up arresting finger and crossed softly to the judge in the corner and saw:

Master Oldcraft bowed and obedient to the Viscount's gesture, sat down at the table and helped himself to a glass of wine.

"And now, my lord, of t' matter, the business you spoke of this afternoon?"

"Don't shout, man, don't shout!" said the Viscount. He leaned across the table and spoke in rapid, hissing undertone awhile, then Oldcraft questioned him, whispering also:

plans all laid—eh, my lord? trustworth' fellows?—yet I must be officer o' the law—"

"Shure," cried the Viscount peevishly, "tis why I'm willing to in reason. I'll pay—" the Viscount whispered more softly than ever, "have her safely aboard!"

Master Oldcraft rose and crossing softly to an oak press in adjacent corner, came back bearing pen, ink, and paper. The Viscount hesitated, and finally, snatching the pen, wrote what was required, whereupon Master Oldcraft read it through, and folded it into a large pocket-book.

"Merely, my lord, as a matter o'—" he checked suddenly as Doctor Samson entered. The Viscount nodded, muttered and went out, clapping the door behind him.

"Hum!" quoth the doctor. "Pray

sir, what is your business with me?"

"Well, doctor," answered Oldcraft, "you attended Mr. Julian Guyford in his illness, I understand."

"I did, sir."

"And you were with him on the day o' the murder, doctor, how was he then?"

"Strange, sir very odd—remarkably so!"

"Pray how, doctor?"

"Well, he was highly feverish—his speech was rapid, his looks wild—as though he expected to die!"

"Ah!" murmured Oldcraft. "Expected to die—you left him at the stile leading into Fallowdene Wood. Now did he say aught of importance, give you any message—ha?"

"Well, he left with me his pistol. Give this, says he, 'to cousin Richard and bid him know there's more in it than meets the eye'—or some such nonsense."

"I must charge ye to deliver this pistol to me," Oldcraft ordered.

"Why, but I pledged myself to give it to Sir Richard—"

"The no matter, Doctor. Sir Richard being the suspected party, 'tis now your very duty to deliver this pistol upon to an officer of the law."

"Then so I will, sir."

"I'll call at your house for it, sir—say 10 o'clock tonight, sharp."

"John," said Sir Richard, "what time do you expect Black Nick, tonight?"

"Nick were 'ere an hour or more—in the cellar, sir."

"I must have word with him."

"Then, sir ta' care as nobdy spies ye."

"What matter, John? You forget."

"Ay, I do be gettin' that used to ee," nodded John.

So down the narrow stair they crept and along dim-lit passages they sped stealthily, until, rounding sudden corner, they beheld a faint glow, a soft radiance; and now landlady John whistled and there- after spoke in soft whisper:

"Tis only me, lad—Sir Richard and me."

Then Black Nick appeared and smiled in joyous greeting.

"Ecud, sir," he exclaimed, staring at Sir Richard. "You look like any—"

"Hist!" quoth John in sudden warning. "There goes the bell," and nodding, he vanished.

Sir Richard seating himself on convenient keg, clapped Nick on the shoulder, "this night I ha' business, and you can aid me if you will."

"Why, I'm your man, sir, now as ever."

Then, leaning near, Sir Richard whispered hi min such sort that Black Nick stared, smiled, chuckled and suddenly bent himself in a fit of silent laughter.

And thus at half-past 10 this same night, when Master Titus Oldcraft opened Doctor Samson's garden gate, unseen eyes watched him stride up to the door, knock, and be admitted; and when he seated himself thereafter in the doctor's cosy parlour, how should he know of the masked face that peered in at him through the ivy-girl window, whose lattice stood open to the summer night?

"So this," said Oldcraft, turning the silver-mounted pistol over and over, "this is it, eh doctor?"

"That, sir," nodded Doctor Samson, "that is the identical weapon. And I beg you'll handle it with due care, sir."

"It ain't primed," said Oldcraft, opening the pan. "And," he continued, testing barrel with ramrod, "no more it ain't loaded. Leastways, 'tis loaded wi' more than powder and ball. Ha' ye such a thing as a stout darning-needle, doctor; this ramrod don't serve."

"I've a probe, sir," answered the doctor, reaching a case of surgical instruments.

"Watch now, doctor!" quoth Oldcraft and, selecting a certain-shaped probe he thrust it gently down the pistol-barrel and, after some small difficulty, drew thence a tightly-rolled paper.

"Bless me!" exclaimed Doctor Samson, leaning forward in sudden eagerness as Oldcraft, laying aside the pistol, smoothed out this paper upon the table; he read it, scratched his head and pushed it towards the doctor:

"Dame, sir!" he exclaimed. "But it seems—no sane man wrote this!"

Doctor Samson, having scanned the paper, shook judicial head.

"The empty vapourings o' a fevered brain, sir!" he pronounced.

Master Oldcraft stared anew at these written words, scowled at them, cursed them beneath his breath yet very heartily, then, folding up the paper, set it away in his large pocket-book, thence the pistol into his girdle and took up his hat, and so Doctor Samson presently lighted him to the door.

Now it was a dark night, for the moon was not yet up, and thus, as Master Oldcraft took his way along the shady lane how should he see or be aware of the dim, stealthy shapes that crept after him, that closed upon him so silently—nearer . . . nearer yet. . .

Heat Wave Grips The Middle West

Chicago, July 25.—(AP)—The middle west steamed yesterday with the rest of the country in torrid temperature and excessive humidity. Government forecasters predicted even higher temperatures today for the most of this section. Occasional thunderstorms and showers served only to increase the humidity.

Chicago, which had experienced relief when lake breezes pushed the temperature down 20 degrees in a short time Tuesday, found the coolness of short duration and sweated again yesterday under a 91 degree temperature.

Madison reported 92 degrees. Wisconsin sizzled. Two deaths reported in that state and one in Illinois.

Phoenix, Ariz., where 106 degrees was recorded. High marks for the day: Evansville, Ind., 90; Bismarck, 96; Des Moines, 92 and Minn., 94.

Belasco Observes His 75th Birthday

Atlantic City, July 25.—(AP)—via Belasco, dean of Broadway theatrical producers, feels like a youngster of 21 today—his seventy-fifth birthday.

Although the thermometer in a backstage corridor of the Apollo theater, where his new play, "It's a Wonderful Child," is being tried out, registered 75 degrees, Mr. Belasco wore a black suit with a vest.

"Seventy-five degrees!" he exclaimed. "That is nothing at all. I feel like I was 21. I can run and jump and box. Just feel that arm."

Harmon Breaks Chicago Strike

Chicago, July 25.—(AP)—Nine thousand sticky, perspiring fight fans who assembled last night to watch Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, make his Chicago debut, were forced to stand outside the Chicago stadium while Promoter Paddy Harmon "broke" a strike of ticket-sellers.

The difficulty arose when Harmon insisted upon using his own ticket sellers, which caused employees connected with the Ticket-Sellers and Ushers Union to walk out. Harmon called upon friends for assistance in the emergency and after a short delay, the doors were opened and officials and friends of the stadium corporation conducted patrons to their seats.

Withdraws From Part In Defense Of Mill Strikers

Charlotte, July 25.—(AP)—Withdrawal from the legal staff of the defense in the Gastonia strikers' cases, involving charges of murder, was announced today by Judge Frank Carter, of Asheville, in a statement made public here.

Beyond stating that his action was "not related to pecuniary consideration," there was no reason for the withdrawal.

The statement said: "A situation has developed which constrains me, much against my will, to retire from the defense in the Gastonia strike cases. There could be no greater mistake, however, than to infer that this action imports any loss of my faith or interest in the cause of these defendants. On the contrary, my original impression that they are first victims of a brutal tyranny, rarely witnessed in the south, and that they are now dangerously menaced with still greater injustice under forms of law, has ripened into firm conviction."

"I see in this case a ruthless purpose, amazingly supported, to smother heresy, religious, industrial and political, in its own blood, which savors more of the fifteenth than of the twentieth century. While it is insisted that this controversy be held within the narrow confines of legal technicality, I see underlying the issue of blood guilt a fundamental challenge of human liberty, of equality of right as between the man who labors and that other man who makes commerce of his labor."

Mrs. Hargreaves Sues For Divorce

Los Angeles, July 25.—(AP)—Grace Bryan Hargreaves, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, has filed suit for divorce against Richard L. Hargreaves, Beverly Hills, Ca., bank president. She also petitioned for the custody of their four children.

The suit charged cruelty and general incompatibility. A property settlement was reached before the filing of the suit, Mrs. Hargreaves' attorney said.

First admission of difficulties in the Hargreaves family were made in May. Then it was stated the difficulty was "largely a difference in temperament." The couple separated, but later reunited.

Mrs. Hargreaves is wealthy in her own right, having inherited $250,000 from the Commoner's estate.

Senators Walsh, McKellar, LaFollette and other progressive Democratic and independent Republican Senators. Mr. Coolidge followed the Harding policy and, though Norris and others defeated his attempt, Muscle Shoals remains bottled up. Mr. Hoover, as member of the Harding and Coolidge administrations, presumably favored their policies. He has as yet said nothing since his inauguration. It is just to him to await the policy he will present at the next session of Congress.

The "News and Courier" is right in saying that "standing and weeping" will not remedy the situation, though it may call attention to the evil situation. It is essential for people who oppose monopoly to mobilize and fight, even under adverse circumstances, as Senator Norris and others have done and are doing. The people ought to rally to their courageous fight against the worst raid upon natural resources in our history.—News and Observer.

ABOUT TOWN

The unexpected happened. Rocky Mount came down here and won two straight games from us to go into a virtual tie for first place in the standing of clubs column. "Anybody in town would have bet that we licked the Bucs at least one time out of the series. They certainly slipped over a surprise on the whole league when they made a clean sweep of the entire series."

Quoting the above, the Charleston "News and Courier" makes comment, which upon first reading seems to be apt and to the point, but which is not as sound as it reads when the real situation in New York and other States and at Washington are taken into consideration. Our Charleston contemporary says:

"If the consumers in New York are silly enough to 'stand and weep' when they might enact a law to subject holding companies to supervision and regulation, the rest of the country will not weep with them. The people of no Commonwealth need be oppressed by a public utility company however great unless they shall lose the power to assert themselves and govern. When a community shall come to be politically impotent it would as well be the slave of a power company as of another master."

First, take New York State. Through the people in a direct vote chose Mr. Smith and Mr. Roosevelt as they stood against the exploit they stood against the exploitation of the natural resources for private enrichment, the unfair districting of the State gives the Republicans control of the Legislature. That party in New York is in favor of turning over the water power to the water power trust. This division by the parties make an impasse and the people are impotent. It is even worse at Washington. The taxpayers spent an hundred and fifty million dollars under Woodrow Wilson's administration to develop the great Muscle Shoals property for the good of the whole country. As soon as Harding became President, plans were put on foot to hand that great natural resource over to the Alabama Power Company for the use and behoof of the power combination. It was prevented only by the heroic and consistent fight of Senator Norris of Nebraska, powerfully aided by ing with the lean times which he was experiencing. Answering the question himself, the gentleman said: "I realize that money is tight, but I do not believe people are as hard pressed as they would have you believe. The whole trouble lies in the fact that they are living beyond their means and are eternally cramped whether times are good or bad. For instance when money is easy, they live up to the limit of their resources, and when the lean season comes along they simply can't meet their obligations. "Extravagance is at the bottom of all this complaining about hard times. Let the average man deny himself and his family of some of the things not necessary to existence and in the course of a few months you will see that same man and his family on easy street with money in the bank and no hard time plea to offer their creditors. "If you would enjoy freedom from hard times pay a little more attention to where those dollars are going. When you spend one see that it does full duty and that it goes for something necessary to existence. Cut out so much foolish spending and rest assured the rest will take care of itself."

Greensboro Still Maintains Lead In The Piedmont

(By The Associated Press) For a few minutes yesterday Durham held the Piedmont league leadership jointly with Greensboro, but before the Bulls were acclimated after their long second place stay they slipped back off the pinnacle. It all came about when the Bulls copped the opener of a double header from Salisbury, 8 to 2, while the Bunnies were battering their way to an 11 to 7 verdict over the Pats. The situation returned to its former status when Wood curved the Colonials to a 1-0 victory over Durham in the nightcap and Rube Green scattered six hits among the Bunnies to win the second game for Greensboro 3 to 1. It was a day of splits all around in the Piedmont, Winston-Salem and High Point dividing their twin bill 1-0 and 7-1. Conklin battled Mauney for 12 innings in the first before winning it for the Pointers. The Twins pounded out an easy win off Miller and Walters in the nightcap with the Pointers helping them along through five errors. Greenville staged a ninth inning rally to lick Kinston 7 to 6, and hold a narrow lead in the Eastern Carolina league. The Eagles piled on Skelton for two runs in their half of the ninth to take a one-run lead. The second place Rocky Mount Bucs kept step with the Tobaccoists by trimming Goldsboro, 2 to 1 as Alsbrook bested Heller in a mound duel. Wilmington banged out 13 safeties off Durham and Withrow and won from Fayetteville, 7 to 3. Ellison and Creswell divided the mound duty for the Pirates, holding the Highlanders to six hits. They were backed up by three double plays.

Greenville Snatches Game From The Fire With Kinston Eagles

Greenville continued to maintain a slim lead of the Eastern Carolina League by taking the first game of the series from Kinston here yesterday afternoon by the score of 7 to 6. It was anybody's old ball game until the ninth inning when Al Hiller cracked out a slashing two-base drive to center field to give his teammates the necessary run to break the tie score and win the game.

It was a thrilling finish to a game that had been featured by erratic fielding and terrific willow assaults of both clubs, and one of the largest crowds of the season cheered madly as Nalbock raced over the plate with the winning tally.

The Eagles fought hard to dislodge the Tobaccoists from their insecure perch at the top of the standing of clubs column but they were confronted by a defense that continued impregnable from inning to inning and a final offensive that blasted all Eagle hopes of leaving the diamond with another victory to their credit.

The Eagles, of course, felt confident of licking "Chuck" Nalbock and his crew. They had been able to do so the most of the season and actually expected to repeat the performance yesterday.

And while it looked as if they were going to do that very thing, by adding a one run lead in the ninth inning, the mighty bat of Skelton, Greenville pitching ace, came to the rescue of his teammates in their half of the ninth and ripped off a sizzling three-bagger to right field fence.

Galloway, Kinston, right gardner, raced for the ball before it hit the ground but he was too late. The sphere landed in the lap of old mother earth with a terrific impact, bounded past the racing fielder and came to rest against the fence several yards away.

And all the time this was going on the weighty figure of the Greenville hurler was circling the bases with amazing speed. When the ball had finally been retrieved, Skelton rested on the third base, panting like a race horse with an attack of influenza, but deliriously happy in the fact that he had the necessary run to tie the score just one leap from hope plate.

"Chuck" Nalbock, captain of the Greenville club, came to bat at this critical stage, and came through with a single that enabled Garbee, relief runner for Skelton, to go home with the run that knocked the score and caused Eagle feathers to stiffen for real battle.

Cox sacrificed Nalbock to second. With the grandstand and bleachers literally wild under the strain and excitement of the moment, Al Hiller sauntered leisurely up to the plate, and after taking two strikes and three balls, cracked the old sphere out between center and right field for two bases, enabling Nalbock to go home with the required run to win the game.

Wallie Brush, pitcher of the Tampa Southeastern association club, was sold to the New York Giants for a price of $12,500.

CUBS REGAIN TOP PERCH IN THE NATIONAL

By EDWARD J. NEEL, Associated Press Sports Writer. The Chicago Cubs, hard-fighting crew, are back in first place in the National League today. Prodded there by the toughest fighter of them all, Burly Hack Wilson.

For it was "Hackenschmidt," with an architectural style that resembles a quarter section of a fortress wall, who crushed the New York Giants with his big bat yesterday after even the elements had seemed to contrive to keep intact a slender one point margin of the leading Pirates.

The scene was set nicely for the graceful ascent of the Cubs into first place when things began to happen that called for strenuous, brusquer methods. For the second straight day, the malevolent Brooklyn Robins, going nowhere in particular but high, pugnacious, it, swarmed all over the Pirates and beat them, 6 to 4.

Everything was peaceful at Wrigley Field. With Guy Bush, ace of the Cub staff, going nicely, the Cubs ran up a lead of 4-0 on the Giants by the time the sixth inning rolled around. Rogers Hornsby, hit one homer off Jack Scott, his 29th of the season, and Hack got another, his 24th. Everything was under perfect control from a Cub standpoint.

Then the peaceful scene turned into a mild madhouse. The Giants rose and slashed Bush for three runs in the sixth, thunder and lightning swept the field, and the game halted while spectators and players rushed the downpour from flooded bleachers and dugouts. The sun came out and play was resumed. Bush was out of there. In a few minutes so was Art Nehf and before the interrupted sixth was over Pat Malone was hanging on the ropes and the Giants were leading, 7-4.

But John McGraw's ascarred chickens have a habit of coming home to roost on his neck—at such times as these. It was the master mind who sent Hack Wilson to Toledo in 1925, after three poor seasons with the Giants; Hack waited until the seventh when Heathcote and Hornsby singled and then smashed his second home of the day into the center field bleachers. These three runs evened things. A walk, sacrifice, and McMillan's single gave the boys from the pineapple orchard an 8-7 victory and first place by half a game.

The rampaging Robins, roughly espousing the Chicago cause, bunched their hits off Heinie Meene—while Bill Clark held the Pirates in check. Babe Herman weighed in with two vital triples. Lloyd Waner fizzled his chance to be a hero by flying out with three on and two out in the ninth.

The remainder of the National League battling was interesting but inconclusive. While the situation along the American League sector remained unchanged with both the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics winning the day's jousts.

The A's kept their ten game lead intact by downing Cleveland, 5-3, behind Big George Earnshaw's sterling hurling and the Yanks crept up from behind to edge out Detroit, 7-5. George Uhle, three against; Herb Pennock, the Yank southpaw, and both were hit hard. Jimmy Fox landed his 20th homer for the A's and Bill Dickey, Yankee kith catcher, his a homer and three singles.

McKenzie came back to the St. Louis Cards from the Rochester farm to reap his reward for managing the Red Birds into pennant last year and started off nicely. The Cards downed the Phillies, 6-4, when Wallie Roettger right fielder, hit a home with the bases full in the sixth and Jimmy Wilson got another with Roettger aboard in the eighth.

The Boston teams struck blows for the home folks, both home and afield. The Braves bested Cincinnati, 5-3, and the Red Sox took the St. Louis Americans, 9 to 7. Bob Burke won a pitching battle with Alphonse Thomas as Washington edged out the Chicago Americans, 3 to 2.

COTTON MARKET

New York, July 25.—(AP)—Cotton closed steady today at a decline of 5 to 10 points under renewed liquidation and some local or commission house selling influenced by private reports of rain in parts of Texas, relatively easy late cables from Liverpool and continued talk of probable high-end-July condition figures.

October set off to 18.62 and January to 18.78, making net declines of about 3 to 14 points on the new crop positions. There was covering at the lower prices, however, and the market steadied up a few points on the failure of the weather map to show as much rain as hoped for in the southwest. Part of the early selling was attributed to hedging by the southwest. Private cables reported trade calling in the Liverpool market supplied by continental selling.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, July 25.—(AP)—Wheat prices jumped by a bushel higher to 1.45, with Canadian crop reports suggesting virtual failure and with much of the American northwest expected to be little better.

Latest unofficial forecasts of wheat yield this season puts the Canadian prairie provinces at only 100,000,000 bushels, and the Dakotas, Minnesota and Montana at about the same figures. One dispatch received from Glendive, Mont., said drought and heat have destroyed 90 per cent of the wheat crop in that territory.

The day's top quotations were received just before the close. Wheat was extremely nervous at 4 1/2c to 4 3/4c above yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1 1/2c to 2 5/8c up. Oats 7-8c to 1 1/2c advance, and positions varying from 12c decline to a rise of 3c.

STOCK MARKET

New York, July 25.—(AP)—Pronounced reactionary tendencies developed again in today's stock market, although a sprinkling of issues continued to show independent strength. Selling embraced wide variety of stocks, including several of the recently popular rails and public utilities, with net declines ranging from 1/2 to 10 points.

The reaction generally was characterized as a further readjustment of a top-heavy speculative position. In some quarters, there was a tendency to attribute the nervousness on the part of the speculative public to the month-end credit stringency, the war clouds in the far east and recent bank failures which have not, however, involved any large institutions in consequence.

Call money renewed at 8 per cent but the supply of funds was light, and the rate was marked up to 9 in the early afternoon, with indications that it might work higher. Time money rates continue firm. Bankers hold little hope of any material easing or credit conditions in the near future, barring a sweeping reaction in stock prices, although the Federal Reserve is expected to increase the supply of credit available in order to facilitate the distribution and harvesting of crops.

American Telephone continued to show outstanding strength. Moving upon more than 5 points to another new high record at 282 3/8. Pacific Telephone soared 13 points to a new high at 218. Radio and International Telephone also pointed upward.

International Business Machines broke 10 points and Atchison 6. Declines of 2 points or more were registered by a wide variety of stocks, including General Electric, Consolidated Gas, Union Carbide, A. M. Coppers, Bendis, Simmons Co., Johns-Manville, Burroughs Adding Machine, General Railway Signal, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Union Pacific and Frisco, common.

Wall Street continues to be flooded with stock split-up and merger rumors. General Gas & Electric is expected to split up its stock 5 for 1. Baldwin cooperative, 4 for 1, and American Can is reported to have under consideration the declaration of a 50 per cent stock dividend later in the year.

CROP IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION FORMED

Raleigh, N. C., July 25.—(AP)—Accepting the advice of Governor Gardner, the State Farmers' convention yesterday organized the North Carolina Crop Improvement Association. Governor Gardner, in an address, suggested formation of such an organization.

Directors elected: J. T. Albritton, Calypso; W. L. Lyerly, Woodleaf; M. L. Aderholt, Lexington, and D. J. Lybrook, Advance. Three directors from the far west section of the state will be elected, August 16, at the field day to be held then at Swannana Experiment station. Officers will be chosen after election of all directors.

The association will aid in efforts to secure better seed for farmers of the state.

FRENCH CHAMBER DOWNS WAYS AND MEANS BILL

Paris, July 25.—(AP)—The Chamber of Deputies after inserting a clause making debt payments to America and England "exclusively" payable from German reparations to France in a bill providing ways and means for such payments, changed down the whole ways and means of his mind this afternoon and voted by 390 to 200.

The measure, which had been introduced by the finance committee, will probably be brought up later in another form.

GIRL KILLER PLEADS INSANITY

Columbus, Ohio, July 25.—(AP)—Insanity and self defense appeared today as the most probable defense pleas of Dr. James H. Snook, 49, former Ohio state university professor, in the questioning of prospective jurors at his first degree murder trial for the confessed slaying of Theora Hix, 24, his co-ed paramour.

Each venireman was questioned concerning his understanding of insanity by defense counsel, who also sought to learn the attitude of tallies toward justification for homicide where life was endangered, especially in the case of a struggle between a man and a woman.

Seven prospective jurors had been seated today. Four were women. They still face 16 peremptory challenges held by the defense and four by the state.

All the jurors expressed willingness to inflict the death penalty, and said testimony that Snook and the girl used narcotics would not influence them.

How's this for a hot-weather dinner?

One of these evenings, when you're exhausted from the heat and nothing tastes good, how would you like to sit down to a dinner like this? An ice-cold fruit cup, jellied chicken and ham, a salad of crisp lettuce with a stuffed tomato in aspic. And, for dessert, a strawberry sundae.

Now, in addition to all its previously proved superiorities, General Electric offers an all-steel warp-proof cabinet! There are now more than 300,000 General Electric Refrigerator users and not one has spent a single dollar for repairs.

Prices on the new all-steel models start at $215 at the factory. See them at our display rooms.

or two above that, bacteria multiply, foods become unsafe to eat—a menace to health. In the General Electric Refrigerator the temperature is automatically kept several degrees below fifty—always.
