City School Trustees Tender Evans Street Site For New Library

Resolutions for Transfer of Property to be Presented to City Aldermen Thursday Night; Legislature Must Provide Act to Make Proposed Change Possible, At- torney General Rules

Complying with a request of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Greenville that they donate a site for erection of the Sheppard Memorial Library, a gift of Mr. Harper D. Sheppard, of Hanover, Penn., members of the board of Trustees of City Schools, in regular monthly session Saturday night, tendered the old Evans Street school site with certain conditions set forth in resolutions to be presented to the Board of Aldermen at their monthly session Thursday night.

Before reaching a decision in the matter, the Board of Trustees conferred with Dennis G. Brummitt, attorney general, regarding the legality of the proposed transfer, and found that it would be necessary for the next session of the Legislature to provide an act to make the transfer of the property legal.

Should the Board of Aldermen accept the property under the conditions set forth by the Board of Trustees, the Evans Street school site, the oldest piece of property owned by the public school system, will become the home of a $50,000 library building given by Mr. Sheppard as a memorial to his father, a native of this county.

The resolutions passed by the trustees and the attorney general's ruling follow:

Resolved by the Board of Trustees of the Graded Schools that we do not record as being willing to donate the Evans School property to the town of Greenville on the following conditions:

1. That the legislature of N. C. give the Board of Trustees of the Graded Schools authority to convey this property following the usual procedure in such cases, to wit, offering it for public sale first.

2. That the property be deeded only on condition that the entire property be used for public library purposes, and that the grounds not occupied by the library building be kept in order and used for a public park, and should the time come when this property is not used for library site, the said property shall revert to the trustees of the Greenville Graded Schools.

3. That the proper municipal authorities guarantee a sufficiency of funds from either public or private sources to see to it that the library is properly and efficiently maintained both as to building and grounds and operation and maintenance of library.

The ruling of attorney general Brummitt follows:

1. Has this board the fee simple title to this lot?

2. If it has it, has it the authority to donate or convey it?

FIRST—We think the title to this lot is in the board of trustees of the graded school of the City of Greenville. It appears that as early as January 6, 1787, the General Assembly of North Carolina established an academy in the town of Greenville under the name and style of the "Pitt Academy." By that act trustees of the Pitt Academy were appointed. This body was a self-perpetuating body in that it was allowed to fill all vacancies. The statute appointed thirteen trustees and made five of them a quorum for the business.

On April 25, 1849, Thomas E. Nelson, in consideration of $50, conveyed to the trustees of Pitt Academy (naming them) the lot of land in question. The granting clause in the deed is: "To the parties of the second part, their successors and assigns forever." There are no conditions or restrictions attached to the conveyance, no trust is created. The conveyance is simply a fee simple deed in which the grantees are called "Trustees of the Pitt Academy." There was, therefore, no dedication of this property to educational purposes. It was simply an outright conveyance of the property to the trustees of the Pitt Academy. This was, therefore, a conveyance of this land in fee simple to these trustees. They remained in possession of the lot of land, probably using it for school purposes, for many years afterwards.

In 1903 the General Assembly of North Carolina passed an act to establish a graded school in the town of Greenville. Chapter 106, Private Laws of 1903. Sections 8 and 9 of that act are as follows:

Clean Up For Zeppelin

Lakehurst, N. J.—Arrival of the Graf Zeppelin was not applauded unambiguously by inhabitants of this station. Scores of Starlings, Sparrows and Pigeons which were wanted to make their homes in the eaves of the big hangar saw their nests swept away in preparation for the noted visitor.

Bishop Cannon Answers Charges Regarding His Stock Market Activity

Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—They time without any compensation, answer of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to the various charges which have been published against him recently was made available to paper today in a 15,000 word statement.

In it the bishop went at length into the charges of profiteering in flour during the war, the criticism of his stock market transactions, the charge that he had used funds of the Board of Temperance and Social Service of his church to further the election of President Hoover through organization of the anti-Smith Democrats of Virginia, and the contention that he has improperly used his church office.

He re-stated his denials of wrong doing in every instance, reiterated his opposition to former Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominee for president, and Chairman John J. Raskob of the Democratic national committee.

"Either Raskobism must be discarded and repudiated, or dry southern Democrats are of necessity permanently out of the party," the bishop also said he had been attacked by Senator Glass of Virginia, who he said, had declared in the Richmond auditorium:

"I was using my humble efforts in the interest of prohibition when Dr. Cannon was the paid agent of the Anti-Saloon League."

CHINESE WAR FLARES UP IN CHICAGO, ILL.

Killing of One China- man and Wounding of Another Causes Tense Situation.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Tong guns blazed in Chicago yesterday and the echo, heard in Chinese sections all over the United States, brought out apprehensive police details attempting to stop spread of the dread feud.

Chicago's Chinatown was thrown into confusion yesterday when a Hip Song Tongman, Yee Sun, was shot and killed in a crowded street and again last night when Kar Leong Wong was shot and probably mortally wounded. Police were informed Wong was a member of the On Leong Tong and they were working on the theory that his shooting was in retaliation for the slaying of Sun.

The mysterious "Grapevine Telegram" through which Tong members were informed of happenings in other cities evidently was functioning well, for police in other cities reported the streets in Chinatown were deserted and a tense and uneasy spirit prevailed.

Police could find no explanation of the Chicago slaying, although Sun was shot in On Leong territory, falling with three bullet wounds almost at the door of his rival Tong's headquarters. The killing in traditional Tong fashion, dropped the pistol beside the victim before he died in a crowd.

Joe Teek, member of the On Leong, was arrested upon the identification of a hip singer, Ding Wing, who said he saw the shooting, but police doubted that he was the actual slayer.

In the shooting of Wong, however, almost 12 hours later, police believed they had a real clue to the Sun killing. Wong denied, however, that he belonged to the On Leong Tong or that he had anything to do with Sun's slaying.

A few minutes after Wong had been shot, detectives arrested his nephew, Wong Toy, and took him to the hospital where Wong is expected to die. Before police could prevent him, Toy spoke to his uncle in Chinese and thereafter officers could not get either of them to talk. Nine Chinese were being held by police early today in connection with the shooting.

Soon after the disturbances started, Frank Mow president of the On Leong organization, and Lee Lov, acting head of the Hip Sines, appeared at the detective bureau and asked help in preventing further trouble. At their own requests they were both given detective escorts.

'ARMY FLIERS' AWARDED HONORS

Three Districts As Fully Explained in the Opening Announcement Saturday the Territory has been divided into three separate districts, inside of the city of Greenville and two outside. Each one of these districts must receive at least one of the automobiles awards and an equal share of the cash prizes. And any of the dis- tricts can get two of the automob- iles according to the inter-district competitive plan which is in force.

A timely admonition would be to urge every person to at least do himself the justice of fully understanding the plan of operation of this election.

Automobile Listed.

The Reflector has entered into this circulation campaign upon the psychology that the more valuable the prizes, the more while folks will be anxious to participate and there is no doubt but that will be the case.

In the list of four automobiles are listed such cars as a Hudson Coach, valued at $1,275.00 an Oldsmobile Coach, worth $1,000.00 a Chevrolet Coach, $638.00 and a Ford Tudor Sedan which delivers for $625.00.

Taken, too there are six awards of $100.00 in cash.

An unusual feature of the whole plan is the fact that everybody who actively participates in the election will win something, either cash or an automobile. This is made possible by the provision that every active non-prize winner is guaranteed 10 per cent commission upon every dollar's worth of business they may procure and turn in during the campaign.

HEBER BAKER IS KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Holiness Preacher Dies When Car Crashes into R. R. Bridge Near Willi- amston.

Heber C. Baker, twenty-eight year old pastor of St. Paul's Pentecostal Holiness church near this city, was almost instantly killed when an automobile in which he was riding crashed into a concrete support dividing the highway under a railroad bridge near Williamston Sunday morning about 12:30 o'clock.

The car was driven by Jake Williams, of Greenville, who escaped with only minor injuries. Williams is believed to have been asleep at the wheel when the crash occurred.

Funeral services for the victim of the accident were conducted from St. Paul's Pentecostal Holiness church this afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. I. H. Presley, pastor of the local Pentecostal church, assisted by Rev. T. E. Beaman, pastor of the Free Will Baptist church. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

The two men were on their way to Aulander where Mr. Baker was scheduled to have held services at a camp meeting of his denomination Sunday morning. They had been taking turns at sleeping, and the minister was said to have been sound asleep when the car suddenly crashed into the concrete pillar under the bridge as the car drove near the Williamston community. The minister suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries from which he died almost instantly. Williams was painfully cut and bruised, but his injuries were not believed to be of a serious nature.

The minister is survived by his wife, who was formerly Miss Minnie Tolar, and four children. He is also survived by his father, J. B. Baker, two brothers, "Lundy" Baker, of Greenville, and Lee Baker, of Palm Beach, Florida, and a sister, Mrs. Katie Hardee, of Washington.

Slightly Cool In New York

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Only week ago New York City was praying for relief from the most severe heat wave of the summer. Today topostats were in order.

The coolest August 5 on record in Metropolitan New York was registered today as the thermometer dropped to 56—two degrees below the existing low mark established in 1915. The low temperature was accompanied by a brisk northwest wind.

Man Electrocuted

Bloomfield, N. J.—Remarking that "some one may trip over this" George McLean, picked up a live electric wire to throw it out of the way of pedestrians. He died almost instantaneously.

Graf Zeppelin Completes Flight Across Atlantic; To Fly Around The World

Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The German dirigible was safe in its American port today after its third crossing of the Atlantic and Wednesday it will start back for Germany, a flight that will be the first leg of a journey around the world.

The Graf Zeppelin, largest of airships, left Friedrichshafen at 9:29 P. M. T. Wednesday night and was pulled to the ground here at 8:48 last night after 95 hours and 19 minutes in the air. The westward crossing last year took 111 hours.

Not that it was all favorable weather this time. "There was every kind of weather," Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the ship, said on landing. "It was a very interesting flight. We had no snow and no hail, but there was a storm close to us at the start and there were strong head winds for the last 14 hours in the air."

"We had a very enjoyable time," he told reporters. "At night we danced and sang and drank wine." There were other amusements, too. Passengers told of a bridge tournament and recounted how they had "kidded" themselves in face of the rule against smoking by carrying porcelain cigarettes which they "lit" with electric flashlights.

The eighteen passengers, including two women, showed no signs of weariness from the trip and said they had enjoyed perfect comfort. The Graf could have landed a couple of hours sooner but for a gusty wind of about 40 mile velocity. The dirigible first floated over the field here just as the sun was setting in a bank of gray clouds. The crimson rays made the silver, levitating of the air shine like polished metal, a sight that brought cheers

DEFENSE IN SNOOK CASE GETS BUSY

Protest Against Testi- mony of Cleveland Plain Dealer Repor- ter.

Courtroom, Columbus, O., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The defense in the murder trial of James H. Snook launched its attack today on the confession made by Dr. Snook last June 20 that he killed Theora Hix, 24 year old Ohio state co-ed.

The defense more came when the state put W. C. Howells, Cleveland Plain Dealer reporter on the stand to testify as an interview with the ousted professor the night before he confessed.

Immediately E. O. Ricketts, of defense counsel was on his feet protesting against the admission of any testimony relating to the admissions made by Dr. Snook on the ground that they were obtained under duress.

"The confession was not voluntary," he said. "The party (meaning those at the interview) was organized by the prosecutor, because he was afraid of the validity of the confession. Dr. Snook was acting on advice volunteered by those present. He was denied counsel and the effect of the confession was misrepresented to him. It was obtained through duress and fear."

Ricketts issued subpoenaed Harry French, Chief of Police, and W. G. Shellenbarger, Chief of Detectives in the Columbus police department. Both men took part in the 23 hour questioning that ended with Dr. Snook's confession.

Steamship Line To Promote Building Of More Airplanes

Lakehurst, N. J., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Dr. Leisler Kieper, manager of the Hamburg American line, one of the passengers on the Graf Zeppelin, today announced that the Hamburg American line "has decided to put its whole organization behind the project of building airships."

He said the performance of the Graf Zeppelin "proves that other ships could be built with stronger engines so that trans-Atlantic trips could be made with great regularity and speed."

American Alpinists Set Climbing Record

Milan, Italy, Aug. 5.—(AP)—A group of American Alpinists, headed by Albert Rand Herron, has accomplished an exploit never before achieved in reaching the summit of Mount Gullitschi, which towers in the Italian Alps nearly 14,700 feet above sea level.

Messages received here today said the party got to the top of the peak on July 25. The Americans slept Milan June 28 with the intention of completely exploring the mountain. When they had completed this they planned to attempt for the first time the ascension of Mount Elbrus in the Caucasus, the highest peak in Europe within altitude of 18,570 feet.

HILLMAN IS SPEAKER AT UNION MEET

Methodist Minister Speaks on "Discov- ery of Jesus at High School.

Describing Jesus as the most outstanding figure the world has ever known, Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, delivered the third sermon of the series of union services held in the new high school auditorium during the summer months.

While the spacious auditorium was only about half filled last night those who attended fully enjoyed the services and entered into the spirit of the occasion in a way that left no doubt as to its success. In the absence of J. H. Rose, superintendent of city schools, song services were in charge of Rev. W. S. Harden, pastor of the Presbyterian church. The Scripture reading and opening and closing prayers were conducted by Rev. A. W. Fleishmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist church.

Mr. Hillman's text was taken from the twenty-first verse of the twelfth chapter of St. John, in which the Greek went to Phillip and said, "We Would See Jesus." His subject was "The Discovery of Jesus."

Aside from being the most colossal figure in the history of the world the minister declared that Jesus was the most immaculate, the most courageous and sacrificial man that ever lived.

"He never thought of himself, this great Savior of mankind. His thoughts were always of others, and wherever he went he attempted to bring cheer and good will to the hearts of those with whom he came in contact. He tried to show them that there was only one way to eternal life and joy and that was through the teachings of the Bible."

Deploping the existence of drunkenness and immorality which gnaw at the hearts of civilization at this time, Mr. Hillman said he thought that sin-stained humanity might be able to "see more of Jesus" as the Greeks desired to do, and in that way lift themselves out of the depths of sin and corruption. He appealed to his hearers to accept the teachings of this leader of men and to live as near his matchless life as it is possible to live.

He told the story of a wayward son, who provoked with his mother because of her desire that he accept the teachings of Christ his imperfections, left home to escape her implorations. "One night while at sea" the minister said, "a great storm came up. It seemed that the boat would sink almost at any moment. The young man asked the captain if the boat would remain afloat five minutes longer. Being questioned why, the young man replied because in five minutes it will be six o'clock, and mother told me when I left home that she would be praying for me at that hour and I know the prayer for her sainted lips will save me. Sure enough the boat passed safely through the storm, and the young man returned home, and told her he would do as she desired."

It was a stirring story, brought in to illustrate a part of the theme, and was followed by a plea that men and women of today attempt to live closer to God and in that find joy and happiness which come from no other source.

THREE KILLED FIGHTING FIRE IN KANSAS CITY

Ten Also Injured When Walls of Drug Store Collapse Af- ter Explosion.

Kansas City, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Three firemen were killed and ten persons injured here today by falling walls of a burning drugstore.

The firemen were killed when an explosion occurred as a hose was being dragged into the building. Phil Hann, a nearby resident who discovered the fire, said the floor of the store appeared saturated with oil.

The dead firemen were Frank Loncar, Roy Rutherford and John Moore. Captain Emmett Fitzgerald, at the nozzle of the hose, was dragged to safety by his comrades after he was caught and imprisoned by falling timbers.

Those injured, none believed seriously, were firemen and persons who were watching the blaze, at six-ninth street and Prospect avenue, in the south side district.

An explosion was believed to have started the fire. Hann said he first noticed flaming papers in the rear of the store room. The building was destroyed.

Orlando Bank Fails To Open

Orlando, Fla., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The State Bank of Orlando and Trust company, capitalized at $100,000 and said to have been the oldest financial institution in Orange county, failed to open its doors today. A notice posted on the door said the bank had been closed for the protection of depositors and that it had been placed in the hands of the State Banking Department.

THOUSAND MEN FIGHT FIRES IN IDAHO FOREST

Frantic Stand Being Made Against Blaze at Sand Creek; Wat- er Shortage.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 5.—(AP)—An army of nearly 1,000 men today was waging desperate battle to check forest fires raging in northern Idaho. Lack of rain, heavy winds and inaccessibility of the fires made their task doubly difficult.

A frantic stand was being made against the blaze on Sand creek about eight miles from Sand point, Idaho, by 250 fighters of the Pend Oreille timber protective association. The town's water supply was endangered.

Another 250 fighters were working on the Stubbson Pack creek fire which has burned for several days and swept more than 7,000 acres.

Despite their efforts, the blaze was spreading before a high wind.

Lightning started 35 small fires in the Pend Oreille National forest according to forest service men, and timber protective association officials reported 45 fires in their territory. None of these covered more than ten acres, they said. At Lewiston all available men were conscripted to combat dangerous fires on Baldy mountain and Glover creek. The flames at the mountain had burned over 100 acres and were spreading.

A fire on Meadow creek in the Selway National forest which raged wild for several days and burned over an area of about 320 acres was reported under control.

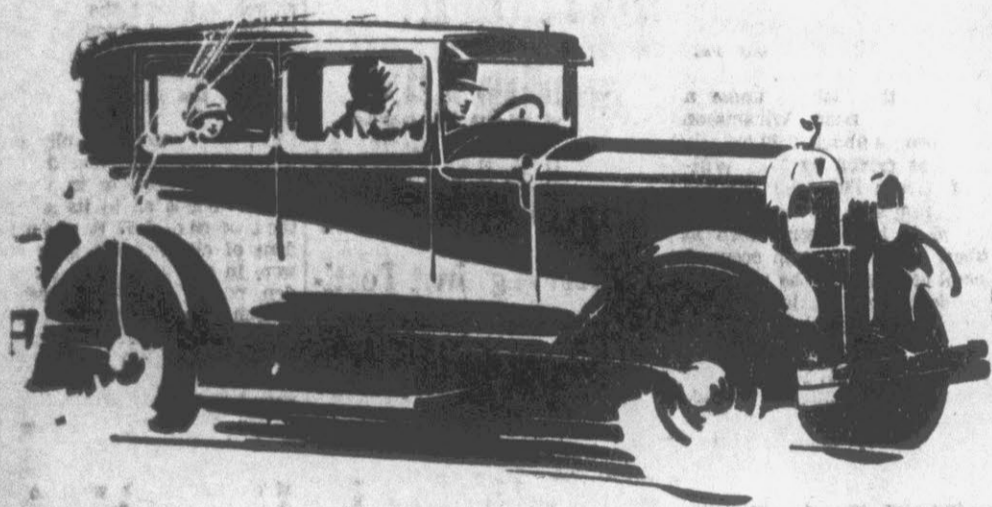

Other fires burning in the Selway and Clearwater National forests numbered about 45, fighters having extinguished 20 blazes.

NOTED HUMORIST AT COLLEGE TUESDAY EVENING

On Thursday evening of this week at East Carolina Teachers College, Sidney Landon, a noted humorist, will give one of his dramatic lectures, in which he brings to life literary celebrities by making himself into the speaking likeness of one after the other.

This is the last of the summer program, which has consisted of eight professional attractions, with an amateur thrown in as extra, making nine for the season. This has been the best series ever put on in the summer, and never before has the college given so many high class entertainments in one term.

The people who have taken advantage of the season ticket have had the very best entertainments to be had in the summer anywhere in the country. It is far better than the Chautauqua, for each one has been a star attraction, and these have been scattered out so that they have furnished recreation for the entire season.

In yesterday's New York Times was a picture of the Marmala Sisters in a dance which they gave here which they will present to metropolitan audiences this fall. The dance of Bach's "Tocatta and Fugue." Time and time again Greenville has enjoyed the distinction of having the same things that New York and other large cities get, but it has rarely had a chance to get the first chance at anything. It is interesting that the musicians in the audience considered this the most beautiful dance the Marmalas gave, and that the verdict from the Greenville audience is being used in the criticism presented to the public elsewhere.

Farmer Killed By Prohibition Agent

Poteet, Texas, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Tom Chandler, 43, was shot and killed by Charles Stevens, a federal prohibition enforcement agent, in a liquor raid on the Chandler farm near here yesterday. The officer claimed the shooting was accidental.

Stevens, who was accompanied by P. H. Hertzog, another federal prohibition agent, Andy Aneson, city marshal, and Robert Lotte, said Chandler was on the front porch when they approached his house. The officer said he called to him: "We are federal prohibition agents. Come out here."

Chandler, Stevens said, seized a gun on a cot and pointed it toward them. The officer declared he started to "rush" the farmer and accidentally fired his rifle when he stumbled. The bullet penetrated Chandler's heart.

For the Love of a Lady

By JEFFERY FARNOL

SYNOPSIS: A kidnapping—and a rescue! Helen, answering Titus Oldcraft's imperative summons, starts toward the village. Two rogues—Brockledge and his hirelings—attempt to abduct her, when Dick Pulllove, the spy's youth springs upon them. A vicious fight, the two abductors flee. Meanwhile, Captain Despard has received a challenge to meet Brockhurst that night at the old mill. Despard suspects treachery and confides in landlord John, who promptly informs Sir Richard. Realizing the captain's grave danger, Richard is determined to be at the mill to assist him.

A DEEP DARK POOL

Thus it befell that just before the church clock chimed 10, Captain Despard was cautiously approaching the old mill. In the stillness of the night he gazed upon its ruins and the deep, dark silent pool beyond it.

For some while he stood thus motionless; then hearing a faint rustle within his foreboding gloom he stepped forward, hand on sword. Suddenly form beyond leaped two dim forms with arms aloft, merciless arms that fell only to rise again.

Captain Despard reeled blindly uttered a groan and, swaying aside, plunged over and down—down into the hungry depths of that sombre pool. Upon the bank crouched two who peered at these waters that swirled, rippled, lapped sleepily and growing placid again, showed nothing to mar their deathlike serenity—save bubbles that rose and vanished.

A long, breathless moment and then the watchers turned from the ghastly silence of that murderous pool and fled in heading career, but even while the sounds of their flight yet filled the air, these sullen waters echoed to a second hollow plunge.

And after some while, above the grassy verge rose a desperate hand that clutched and clawed until it had secured firm hold and up—up from these merciless waters struggled a dipping, gasping shape that dragged behind it a heavy burden.

And there began a bitter contest between Death and Life, a battle that raged, grimly unremitting until at last was a faint sigh, a choking gasp a groan.

Thus then, outstreached upon mossy turf, bettered and all but drowned, Captain Despard came back to life and, opening vague eyes, stared up at a very strange face whose dragged, gypsy-seeming hair was oddly bunched upon one ear.

"How are you now?" "Alive!" gasped the captain. "Thanks to you. Your wig! Take care or you'll lose it, my dear Guyford!"

At this, though still somewhat spent with his recent exertions, Sir Richard contrived to chuckle. "Thanks!" said he. "Thanks, my dear Archer."

The captain drew a deep breath and closed pain-dimmed eyes. "So you . . . know, then?" "Ay . . . 'tis ugly blow you took here!" "Bludgeon work . . . And have you—Guyford, have you told . . . her?" "No!" . . . But rouse, man rouse—can you walk?" "I can . . . try. Yet first, Guyford, pray suffer me . . . a word . . . I am, may, I was 'Captain Archer' 'Twas but for one year . . . black year, I confess. I—I have striven to forget and . . . win back to honor, but . . . Julian surprised my secret, and now . . . you. Sir, I do most truly love—her. Therefore, may I beg . . . you will not tell her the truth until . . . I am gone . . ."

"Tush, sir!" exclaimed Sir Richard. "Why waste time? As for your secret, 'tis your own and shall remain so."

Reeling, stumbling, off pausing, they reached the stile at last. And presently they climbed the stile, a laborious business, and went on together, slowly and painfully, pausing ever and anon to sneeze violently and wholly unconscious of use eyes that watched and the hell of baffled fury they left behind.

Stolid John Bly, the landlord, stared and uttering a half-strangled exclamation, stepped from his shady lurking place.

"Sir Richard!" he gasped. "So there . . . y' are at last, John?" panted a horse voice. "Bear a hand, will ye? Get him indoors and to bed. Hot blankets and a compress to the cut in 's head, then send for Samson . . . Did the man Wentzelow come in?" "Ay, sir, the word was Followed Wood at 12 o'clock."

"Then I shall be late, it seems. . . . Can you manage him alone, John?" "Lord, yes, your honour. I'll have the poor gen-leman snug abed in no time."

Then, halting in the shadow of high hedge, Sir Richard watched sturdy John tramp on, carrying his burden with a surprising ease. He now turned back amid sombre trees and dense brushwood, hasting on his trackless way.

He had gone some distance, when from adjacent thicket an owl hooted. Sir Richard whistled softly and moved on until he reached a small glade, then Wentzelow hailed him softly.

"Lord, brother, such din! I hear ye 'alf a mile off, I doest!"

In patch of moonlight, perched upon a garled roof of the ancient tree, sat Truffen.

"Ah," sighed Sir Richard. "Kind friend, good mother, there's comfort in the mere sight o' thee! . . . there's a devil abroad . . . a thing desperate and without mercy—listen, friends!" And he spoke briefly and to the point, nor did either utter word until his narration ended.

"Here," sighed Truffen, "here is the bloody prophecy I foretold him! Ay, and here shall be more blood unless—bend closer!" Then Truffen began to whisper, quick-speaking and very softly; Sir Richard nodded and smiled grimly.

"And yet," said he, "there is ever a possibility I may be taken."

"Thou shalt come we us this night and sleep secure."

"Nay, Truffen, for though I lay secure, sleep I could not—knowing the threat to my lady growth hourly and I must be at hand. And now God bless thee, Truffen, noble friend!"

"So saying, he arose, turned and strode away, but glancing back saw old Truffen gazing after him with troubled eyes.

WILSON'S DRESS SHOPPE

And now, having much to think upon, he went at leisure pace, just in uneasy speculation of what the pregnant future should bring forth. . . . Another 24 hours and, if all went as planned, his innocence would be established, his honour vindicated.

He halted of a sudden, shivering violently, for a chilly breath seemed all about him, deadly cold yet intensely vital . . . He stared wide-eyed and found he stood upon a broad familiar path, dim yet dreadful to memory; for it was by this path Julian had walked to his death. A place of horror at such hour as this and cold—cold with this dreadful, clammy chill that suggested Julian's very self. Sir Richard stood appalled, striving to hold fast; his slipping reason . . . Suddenly leaves rustled behind him and, whirling about, Sir Richard saw a vague face, caught at shadowy arm, missed, staggered, was smitten to his knees, sank under a hail of blows—to be trampled buffeted inert and so, dragged most unheroically away.

DOLLAR DAY

Local business houses have designated Thursday of this week as "Dollar Day," and as usual the event probably will attract thousands of visitors to our city. Each one of these co-operative events staged by the merchants of our city has been more successful than former ones, and we see no reason why this week's event should not continue this record. Unusual values in every department is the slogan of every business house here on Dollar Day and it is this one thing that always attracts so many shoppers.

Plan now to patronize local merchants on Dollar Day for we are confident you will be well pleased with the great money making opportunities the day offers.

ACTION MEETS WITH APPROVAL

The action of the city school board in adopting resolutions agreeing to comply with the aldermen's request to turn over the Evans Street school property for library purposes no doubt meets with the hearty approval of the majority of our citizens and the tender should be accepted on the conditions specified by the board.

The matter of whether or not the old school site would be available for the erection of the new library has been hanging fire for several weeks pending information as to the legality of the school board donating this property for this purpose. However, in a recent ruling of Attorney General Dennis G. Brummit it set forth that only by a special act of the legislature could the school board make such disposition of this property but in view of the resolutions of the school board, to be sure, there will be no trouble in getting this special act passed by the lawmaking body and as we see it the matter is just as well as settled and the library will go where it belongs—on the old school site.

The Sheppard Memorial Library will surely prove a great asset to our city and surrounding community and the action of the school board, board of aldermen and individuals who have co-operated to provide us with such an institution, no doubt meets with the hearty approval of all our citizens.

Age 75—Learning To Fly.

But Sir Horace says he feels safer in the air than in his taxi.

ABOUT TOWN

The Act to require automobiles on side roads to stop before entering main highways is explained as follows in the revised edition of the North Carolina motor laws:

"That no person operating any motor vehicle upon any path, private or public road shall cross or attempt to cross, enter upon, or attempt to enter upon any hard surface or improved highway intersecting the said path or road without first coming to a full stop; provided, that this shall not apply to any road entering upon or crossing such hard surfaced or improved highway unless the road governing authority (whether state or county) controlling such highway shall erect on such road at a point one hundred or more feet from the point of entrance into said highway, a signboard not less than four feet from the ground on the right side of the road, twenty-four inches by twenty-four inches outside measurement, which shall be painted of yellow background with word 'Stop' in black letters eight inches high, to insure warning of the proximity of the crossing and notice to stop said motor vehicle.

"That this act shall not interfere with regulations prescribed by towns and cities. That no failure to stop, shall be considered contributory negligence per se in any action for injury to person or property; but the facts relating to such failure to stop may be considered with other facts in determining negligence.

"That any persons violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not more than ten dollars or imprisoned not more than ten days, or both, in the discretion of the court."

"We are planning to make Dollar Day, August 8th, one of the biggest events of the kind in the history of the community," said a member of the Greenville Merchants' Association today, speaking of the great selling even to be staged here on Thursday of this week.

"Dollar Day" has always held more than ordinary interest to the thousands of shoppers in this trade territory in past years because of the myriad bargains offered by city merchants, but this year we are expecting larger attendance than ever by reason of the great increase in bargains to be offered during the day.

"Greenville merchants have gone to no little trouble to provide patrons with special bargains on this occasion. Buyers have been sent to northern markets in many instances to make purchases for this occasion alone and when the day for the event actually arrives tables and counters will literally groan under the weight of splendid offerings.

"If you have not made it a point of attending Dollar Day in past years, be sure not to miss it this time. You will be highly elated at the brilliant offerings and will go home satisfied that Greenville can easily lay claim to being the principal shopping center of Eastern Carolina."

"We are expecting to stage the best fair in history this year," said Haywood Dail, secretary of the Pitt county fair today, speaking of the numbers of attractions which he has scheduled for the annual attraction the first week in October.

"Aside from enlarged exhibits of the farm, home and schools, midway will be entertained by one of the largest carnivals that has ever visited this city before.

"Promoters of the various departments of the fair are already at work arranging for extensive exhibits and when the date actually rolls around everything will be in readiness for the entertainment of the hosts of people from surrounding communities.

"Keep this date in mind—the first week in October—and make it a point to go out and see the resources of Pitt county displayed in exhibits of the farm and home and schools."

"Pitt county has certainly had her share of rain this summer," observed a citizen today, speaking of the heavy rainfall that visited this community late Saturday afternoon.

"Precipitation has been so regular that crop conditions are not near as good as they might have been otherwise and numbers of farmers are going to be short financially when harvest season is over.

"While some sections were seriously affected by the rain, others managed to get by all right and residents will produce sufficient crops to enable them to get by in the usual way.

"It is hard to have to confine one's attention to production of a crop all the summer to have it ruined by the elements, but it is one of those conditions over which we have no control and to which we must bow in complete submission. But every cloud has its silver lining, and maybe the rain clouds of the past and present will show a lining in the future that will mean bumper crops accompanied by good prices."

BUGS TAKE FINAL GAME OFF GREENS

Goldsboro, Aug. 3.—Emery's Goldbug bunched three hits and stole a quartet of bases in the eighth inning right under the nose of Mr. Skelton and took the closing game of the series from Greenville here today, 5 to 1, to tie with the Tobaccoists for second place.

Anders, who started on the mound for the visitors, was relieved by Skelton in the eighth when he gave signs of weakening. The Bugs immediately got busy and nicked the famed Greenville pitcher for three hits, stole four bases and scored two additional runs. Zip King, who has been taking lessons in base stealing recently, singled to right field in the eighth stanza and then proceeded to steal second base, third base and home.

Vaughn, Bug righthander, held the visitors to a quartet of bingles, three of which were bunched in the fifth inning to score the lone tally for the Greensies.

CUBAN DRAWS BIG CROWDS IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Gratitude in a prize fighter has come to be such a rare trait in these days of overthrown managers and overstuffed purses that the case of Kid Chocolate is almost too good to be true.

A little more than a year ago the flashing Cuban drifted into New York with his manager, broke and unable to obtain a match. Discouraged, he drifted out to the soldiers' camp at Mitchel Field where once a week the lesser lights of the leather tossing industry battled for coffee and cake money at a tiny fight club. He got his first chance there.

He immediately became a sensation and within a few weeks every promoter in the metropolis wanted the services of the 19 year old young ster.

Within the year Chocolate bound up the fistie tract, beating with ease every top notcher he faced in the bantam and featherweight division. His victories over Busby Graham, Fidel Labarba and V. dal Gregorio have left him almost in a class by himself. Promoters are pleased to set his night's wages around $15,000.

But Chocolate the sensation now, has not forgotten the days when only the doors of the Mitchel Field club were open to him. And this week he will keep a promise to return there for a few hundred dollars instead of the thousands he has come to command. The young Negro Wednesday night will box Tommy orenzo ten rounds in the week's most interesting match in the metropolis area.

Another negro, Baby Joe Gans of California, shares the New York spotlight. He will battle Sammy Baker, Soldier warrior, at the Queensboro Stadium Tuesday. Jackle Fields, the new welterweight champion, has promised to meet the winner of a tournament here in the fall.

In the ebb of the high tide of title battles that saw Fields take the 147 pound crown from Joe Dundee and Sammy Mandell maintain his lightweight supremacy over Tony Canzoneri, boxing has fallen into desultory ways throughout the land.

The leading heavyweight show brings Tuffy Griffith, of Sioux City, N. C. and Jack Murphy of Boston together in a 10 round match tonight at Peoria, Ill.

Other fights on the week's card include:
Monday—At New York, Starlight Park, Herman Singer vs. Al Rube Goldberg, both of New York, 8 rounds.
Tuesday—At Los Angeles, Wild Cat Carter vs. Goldie Hess, 10 rounds. At Cleveland, Eddie Anderson, Wyoming, vs. Coey Goldman, Cleveland 10, and Lope Tenorio, Philippines, vs. Mike Payero, California, 8 rounds, all lightweights.

COTTON MARKET

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 3 to 5 points on buying promoted by reports of continued warm weather in the southwest, but the demand was limited and prices soon weakened under realizing or liquidation.

October contracts sold off from 19.04 to 18.88 and March from 19.49 to 19.32 by the end of the first half hour, making net declines of about 6 to 10 points.

A private report was published placing the condition on the crop at 70.0 per cent and the indicated yield at 15,375,000 bales, which was very closely in line with the average of the private reports published last week.

Owing to the holiday there were no cables from Liverpool where the market will reopen for business tomorrow.

its spectacular advance by climbing nearly 11 points to a new high at 240, and the first preferred jumped 15 points to 230. General electric dropped 6 1/4 points. Hershey Chocolate common and preferred, International Silver, American Shipbuilding and American Can also topped their previous high prices of the year, the gains ranging from 1 to 8 1/2 points.

Establishment of a new top price for the year by New Haven at 117 and a break of 9 points in New York and Harlem were the contrasting features of the railroad group. Canadian Pacific rallied briskly after being sluggish a few weeks or more.
