TEN CENTS REDUCTION IN CITY TAX RATE

Aldermen Adopt Budget For The Year And Then Accept Library Site

Board Also Decides Not to Hear Any More Petitions For Erection of Filling Stations, Elects Preston Pierce Chief of Police, and Puts Finishing Touches on Several Other Matters Hanging Fire For Sometime.

Adopting a budget for the fiscal year that provided a reduction of 10 cents on the $100 property valuation, the Board of Aldermen last night met the popular demand for a decrease in taxation and started out on a program of thrift and economy in government that should have a far-reaching effect on the life of the city in the future.

The session last night was one of the most outstanding in months, being featured by the disposition of a number of questions that had been hanging fire for a period of several weeks or more. The aldermen started work at eight o'clock and the session of the clock pointed away past the midnight hour when they settled the final matter.

Aside from the budget, among the most important questions settled last night were the acceptance of the Evans street school property as a site for the Sheppard Memorial library, refusal to listen to any more petitions for erection of filling stations, election of a chief of police and fire truck driver, and several other things of a minor nature, but nevertheless, requiring considerable time in officially disposing of.

The budget for the fiscal year was explained in detail by J. H. Waldrop, chairman of the finance committee. He showed that the reduction of the tax rate was made possible through an economy program on the part of the city school system and the town government. The budget of the schools provided for a cut of five cents, this being made possible through a five per cent reduction of the salaries of faculty members and the realization of a larger slice of the equalization fund.

The town trimmed enough from its bond interest and sinking fund to make up for the remainder of the cut, this being made possible through decreased property valuations and by rounding up untaxed properties.

The total amount of the budget was $85,970, with a similar amount of revenue expected. The budget for the year was $77,980. The school budget covered a round sum of $10,000.

Again taking up the problem of the Sheppard Memorial Library, Mayor Lanier read resolutions from the board of trustees of city schools expressing their willingness to turn over to the city the Evans street school property to be used as a site for the Sheppard Memorial Library.

The gift of Mr. Harper D. Sheppard of Hanover, Penna., the resolutions from the trustees were the outgrowth of former resolutions from the aldermen calling on the school system to donate the site to the library commission for erection of the $50,000 library building.

In tendering the gift, the Board of Trustees indicated that it would be necessary for the legislature to pass an act making the transfer legal. It was explained that they had conferred with Attorney General Bennett regarding the matter, and that he had advised them that legislative action would be necessary if the transaction should bear the stamp of legality and set aside the possibility of eventualities in the future.

The trustees also attached a few minor conditions in tendering the gift, providing that when the property should no longer be used as a library site, it should revert to the school system, and that the city should provide for the maintenance of the library.

The Board of Aldermen accepted the gift with provisions that the library would be provided for as far as it was legally possible, and Mayor Lanier took occasion to express his thanks and appreciation to members of the school board for the generosity which they had shown in the matter.

The question as to the erection

MORE FLIGHTS ACROSS OCEAN NOW PENDING

Siberian Flight Already Under Way With Other Fliers Preparing Take Off

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Following closely upon the successful trans-Atlantic flight of the dirigible Graf Zeppelin, a new series of trans-oceanic flights by airplanes appeared in prospect today.

From Omsk, Siberia, five Soviet fliers took off today for the next lap of a 12,200 mile flight from Moscow to New York, via the Aleutian Islands. Their amphibian plane, The Land of the Soviets, made the first 1,368 miles at an average speed of 100 miles an hour.

Meanwhile, Dieudonne Coste and a Swiss flying combination of three men were preparing flights from Europe to New York.

Coste, whose previous attempts ended in failure, announced at Paris that he would take off tomorrow on a "long distance flight" it generally was assumed he would head for New York. Weather conditions over the Atlantic were said to be good.

The Trio of Swiss Apirmen, Kaeser, Tschopp and Luscher, left Le Bourget field, near Paris, yesterday for a take off for Lisbon, Portugal, to await a favorable opportunity for a take off. They said their plane, of French make, is capable of 50 hours in the air with an average speed of 100 miles an hour. They hoped to reach New York in 40 hours.

Experience Not Needed In Reflector Campaign

Today, the campaign department of The Reflector carried information blank which received a date showing it had been filled out on Monday Aug. 5th and had not been mailed until the night of the eighth. That coupon brings with it proof of the correctness of an idea the management has expressed before. It means the people who really want to enter the big 6,000 free gift distribution are putting it off.

Now just what is the reason? It is our belief that the principal cause for this uncertain attitude is the feeling that in order to win one of the four big automobiles it will be necessary to have had experience in salesmanship or other campaigns.

That is just as far from the truth as is possible. It does not take the slightest experience to be the biggest winner of prizes. This campaign is a spare-time opportunity for ambitious folks who care to make real money in a short period of time and without a single cent invested.

Is Part Time Work
If The Reflector had cared to propose something that required experience it would have hired professional salesmen to comb the territory for the renewal and new subscriptions to The Reflector. Instead of that, the present plan was put into effect, a plan which pays the big returns to our own readers and friends—local people who will practically confine their efforts to their own friends and acquaintances during spare time.

It is not a full-time undertaking. The Reflector wants busy people, people who are doing things right now, entered in its generous campaign. Idlers have no place in it nor would they accomplish much if they tried. It is a campaign for live-wires. It is your campaign and you cannot lose if you do anything with it.

Every active participant is guaranteed either an automobile or a cash prize, ranging in value from a few dollars to more than $1200.00 direct proportion to what you do. If you do more, you will receive more. But you cannot make more than $1200.00. Is that not a fair offer?

While the rain continued almost all day long, Jupiter Pluvius took pity on the merchants and closed his sluice gates about two hours yesterday afternoon. And while the gates were closed, the shoppers from afar took advantage of the situation and literally packed the stores that had advertised their offerings in a most liberal way. Clerks were busier than they had been in months and they moved an amazing amount of stuff in a comparatively short time.

SENATE WILL TALK TARIFF IN SEPTEMBER

Long Struggle Over Revision Scheduled To Begin On The 3rd.

Washington, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The Senate's long struggle over tariff revisions now is set to begin September 3, instead of August 19 as leaders originally planned.

The postponement effected through an agreement between Republican and Democratic leaders, was arranged after it became apparent that the majority members of the Senate Finance Committee who are rewriting the House tariff bill could not complete their work in time to submit their report on the earlier date.

Under the party leaders' agreement, the Senate will reassemble, as planned, August 19, but will take three-day recess thereafter until September 3, virtually eliminating the likelihood of a controversy developing on some other subject which might further delay the tariff legislation.

Democratic members of the committee, who are excluded from the bill drafting sessions in accordance with custom which gives that privilege to the majority in tariff legislation, will have an opportunity meanwhile, to study the decisions of the Republicans affecting the rate schedule in preparation for the debate to come.

The Republican leaders expect all of the rate schedules to be completed by August 19 but, they explain, the majority committee will need the additional time now allotted to consider changes in the controversial administrative provisions of the bill. These provisions encountered Republican opposition in the House and are understood to be unsatisfactory to some of the majority members of the committee.

ONE KILLED IN STRIKE OF N. Y. GRAVE DIGGERS

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—One man was shot dead when a crowd of striking grave diggers charged a bus load of strike breakers near the Calvary Cemetery, Queens today.

The strikers were gathered in a vacant lot, preparing to take their stations for picket duty when they saw the bus coming. Gathering missiles, they rushed for the vehicle. Zasadzinski dropped with Nunziato's first shot and the charge ended.

None of the strike breakers was injured by the stones that crashed through the bus windows.

Between 600 and 700 men were involved in the strike at the Calvary cemetery. First the grave diggers walked out and they were followed by members of the Funeral Drivers union.

The strike has been in effect for nearly a week and the grave diggers shortage has forced cemetery officials to place caskets, which average about 25 a day, into long shallow caskets pending the end of the strike when they can be moved into family burial plots.

Strike demands are recognition of the union and an increase of about 25 a day, into long shallow caskets pending the end of the strike when they can be moved into family burial plots.

Police said he was shot by Philip Nunziato, a foreman of the Calvary cemetery, who was on the bus with the strike breakers. Nunziato fired into the crowd of strikers when they started hurling bricks and stones at the bus as it neared the cemetery.

Nunziato was taken to the New-Corn police station. No charge was placed against him pending an investigation.

Train Does Movie Stunt
The Pas. Man.—The movies outran in real life: a passenger train arrives after a three mile dash through burning forests with flames shooting 50 feet high on both sides of the track. The dash was undertaken when the constant approach of fire threatened to destroy the train as it stood.

Big Zeppelin Changes Course Slightly Today; To Fly Across France

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Zeppelin officials today believed Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Europe-bound Graf Zeppelin, would turn somewhat northeast from his southerly course today and fly over northeastern France instead of retracing his westward journey by Gibraltar and the Rhone Valley.

Unfavorable winds reported prevailing between the Azores and Spain. Doubt was cast on reports that the Graf would fly over London on her way home, and the big airship was expected to hurry across France in order to reach here late Saturday night. The dirigible might pass over Paris if Dr. Eckener goes far enough north, though the usual route is up the valley of the river Loire past Nantes and possibly Orleans.

DOLLAR DAY BIG SUCCESS IN THIS CITY

Merchants Report Heavy Sales Despite Rain That Continued Most of The Day.

Despite rainfall that continued intermittently all day long, Dollar Day was one of the most brilliant successes of any similar trade event ever conducted in Greenville before in August according to members of the Merchant Association today.

The eighteen merchants who participated in the semi-annual bargain day sale, said this morning they had the best business they had had in many a day. Stocks that caused counters and shelves to literally groan under their weight were greatly depleted by the hundreds of shoppers who came to Greenville despite the rain and bought liberally of the offerings.

The bargains were the most extensive in years, goods that formerly sold from $10 to $20 going for the sum of one dollar. Shoppers who had never before attended an occasion of this kind in Greenville were hearty in their praise of the effort which merchants had put forth to give them the best to be had for such a small sum of money.

While the rain continued almost all day long, Jupiter Pluvius took pity on the merchants and closed his sluice gates about two hours yesterday afternoon. And while the gates were closed, the shoppers from afar took advantage of the situation and literally packed the stores that had advertised their offerings in a most liberal way. Clerks were busier than they had been in months and they moved an amazing amount of stuff in a comparatively short time.

Speaking of the success of Dollar Day, C. B. Rowlett, secretary of the Greenville Merchants Association, said he was satisfied that every merchant taking part in the great sales event was pleased with the liberal patronage. "In fact," the secretary said, "I am sure the occasion surpassed any other August event in years from the standpoint of attendance and amount of goods sold. We feel that Dollar Day was all that could have been expected under similar conditions and that it would have been even greater had not the rain prevented people coming from a greater distance."

ONE KILLED IN WRECK AT DANDELION TODAY

Greensboro, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Hugh Harwell, of Greensboro, was almost instantly killed, David Stedman, of Asheboro, was seriously hurt and several other persons slightly injured in an automobile collision in southern suburbs of Randleman today.

The child, a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Stedman, of Asheboro, was taken to a High Point hospital and treated for cuts and bruises about the head.

H. C. Heath of Gregory street, was hurt, but the extent of his injuries has not been determined. He was being treated at Asheboro.

SNOOK AGAIN ON THE STAND AT COLUMBUS

Killer of Co-ed Mistress Gives Picture of Last Tryst With Theora Hix.

Court Room, Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Under the last of a relentless cross examination, Dr. James H. Snook again today took the jury to his first degree murder trial through the intimate and tragic details of his last tryst with Theora Hix, the medic co-ed he slew last June 13.

Prosecutor John J. Chester, who started the cross examination yesterday, picked it up with the opening of court today and soon had the former Ohio state professor deep in the story of the fatal night. Chester demanded an elaboration of the account told yesterday in direct examination and at one time assumed the role of Theora Hix while he and the defendant, demonstrated to the jury just what happened at the time of the killing and immediately before.

Dr. Snook repeated his denial that he recalled cutting the girl's throat the fact upon which the state depends to substantiate its charge of premeditation which is necessary for a first degree murder conviction.

Chester charged Dr. Snook with having admitted during the questioning that he had cut the girl's throat "to relieve her suffering" after he had beaten her head with a hammer.

Dr. Snook denied it and Chester replied: "Then if we say you did, we are liars."

"Yes, you are," Dr. Snook responded.

Prosecutor Chester in his cross examination followed closely to the questions put to Dr. Snook while he was being held for examination. He made no attempt to base his examination directly on Dr. Snook's confession as such but held his questions to the conversations between the defendant and the city and county officers who obtained the confession.

The confession has been attacked by its defense as being obtained under duress and therefore outlawed.

THREE KILLED WHEN PLANE CATCHES FIRE

Pilot and Two Passengers Meet Death In Flaming Plane at Casper, Wyoming.

Casper, Wyo., Aug. 9.—(AP)—An airplane burst into flames, and fell several hundred feet here last night, killing the pilot and two passengers. The victims were Major D. P. Wardwell, 33, of Casper, Earl Holtz, 30, and George Cameron of Worland, Wyo.

Wardwell, a member of the Lafayette Escadrille in the world war and later with the United States air forces abroad, was the pilot of the plane. He had been engaged by two for a flight over the city.

D. C. Miller, who saw the ship fall, said it had been in the air a half hour when the accident occurred.

Wardwell came here with the United States Geological survey and while in that service organized the Wyoming Airways, Inc., of which he was manager. He is survived by his widow and four children.

REPARATIONS CONFAB NEAR BREAK TODAY

Private Conversations Today Hoped to Avert Impending Split.

The Hague, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The conference of the governments, called to arrange application of the Young reparations plan, appeared on the surface today to be dangerously near a break-up. The firm stand of Philip nowden, British cancellor of the exchequer, threatened disruption almost before negotiations began and to observers it appeared that the most dextrous handling by such statesmen as Aristide Briand and Dr. Gustave Stresemann would be required to avert a deadlock.

In the absence of any promise of British compromise adjustment of committee sessions yesterday was taken until tomorrow in the hope that those attempting to steer the conference through the troubled water of European post-war politics might find some method of easing the situation.

Private conversations today between M. Briand and other leaders were looked to as possibly affording some way out of the stalemate, which threatens the entire structure of negotiations seeking until final liquidation of problems growing out of the world war.

Mr. Snowden's statements yesterday were that Great Britain considers itself ill-used in the division of the German reparations under the Young plan and will insist upon a return to the percentages of division agreed upon at Spa.

"The Young committee had no right to interfere with the Spa percentages for the distribution of reparations," the British chancellor said. "The British delegation must have a decision on these questions before it can proceed any further."

"I have laid all my cards on the table; don't believe I am holding anything back. It is only fair to the commission that it be freely and frankly informed on these views. I have behind me the unanimous support of our government and the support of the House of commons, irrespective of party."

"I believe, also, I have the support of the whole people of Great Britain. On this matter I speak quite frankly. We cannot compromise."

Mr. Snowden's speech was made in the finance committee of the conference, while in other quarters the political committee, with M. Briand, Dr. Stresemann, and its members was meeting. The speech was a prelude to an offer of a resolution to appoint a committee to draw up a revised scheme to replace the Young plan.

This resolution was to be voted upon when the finance committee meets again Saturday, but there were indications today a vote would be averted for the present to give heads of the delegations more time to talk things over and attempt to soften the intransigence of the British chancellor.

Mr. Snowden's speech yesterday drew from Henri Cheron, French finance minister, the statement that France was just as firm as England with the regard to the Young plan. He declared it must be accepted without alteration and this sentiment was echoed by Albert Pirelli, Italian undersecretary for foreign affairs.

The situation gave rise to many reports. Among those current were rumors premier MacDonald would come to the Hague from London next week and that M. Briand had set August 22 as the limit of delay to reaching an agreement.

JOYCE DEFENDANT IN DIVORCE ACTION

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(AP)—James Stanley Joyce, the third of Peggy bands, was cited for divorce yesterday by his second wife, the former Mrs. R. N. Vail of New York. As in his first divorce, the bill charges cruelty.

Joyce and his second wife were married November 20, 1929, five years after his marriage to the former Peggy Hopkins had been dissolved. The first marriage lasted a little over a year.

The second Mrs. Joyce charges that Joyce's cruelty began when they were on their honeymoon in Nice, France. Joyce struck her when she charges, and a few months later in Paris he kicked her on the ankles and struck her on the back while they were eating in a cafe.

LOCAL GIRL MADE QUEEN

Miss Effie Mae Winslow Elected Queen of Junaluska Monday Evening.
Lake Junaluska, N. C., Aug. 9.—(Special)—Of the type gentlemen are supposed to prefer, Miss Effie Mae Winslow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Winslow, of Greenville, N. C., was elected Queen of Junaluska here Monday evening over eight rival candidates run by their respective state groups. She will receive her crown Saturday night.

Being a queen is not a new experience for Miss Winslow, for she was chosen by the student body to be May Queen at recent class day exercises of Earham College.

Announcement of the election was received with keen interest as North Carolina has not furnished a queen since 1926, when Miss Ella Ivey, of Charlotte, achieved the honor, which is considered one of the greatest distinctions of the Southern Assembly.

The race for queen of 1929 was probably the closest and tenser in the history of the assembly, and polled the largest number of individual votes of any previous year. Heretofore, the election of Junaluska's queen has been held in connection with the annual boat regatta and each boat entered was permitted to count as 100 votes for the choice of the entrant. In the recent election only individual votes were counted and more than 1,000 persons voted.

Miss Winslow, the queen-elect, after graduating from the high school in her native city, Greenville, attended Agnes Scott College at Decatur, Georgia, for one year, and completed her college work at Earham College, Richmond, Indiana, from which institution she was graduated in June, 1929. She has done further study at the Junaluska summer school affiliated with Duke University, during the present summer.

In the "Sargasso," 1929 annual of Earham College, Miss Winslow is described thus: "Effie Mae is like a birch tree—tall, graceful, and silvery. Pose and charm are so beautifully conveyed in North Carolina brogue."

With the election of the queen safely out of the way, plans are going merrily forward for the boat regatta next Thursday evening; the water carnival Saturday afternoon, and the grand climax to the week's gaiety in the coronation of the queen, Saturday night, Aug. 19.

Miss Winslow will have in addition to other friends whom she will invite to be maids of honor at her coronation, the eight popular young women who were nominated by representatives of their home states for the queenship. They are: Georgia: Miss Christine Quillen, daughter of President and Mrs. W. F. Quillen, Wesleyan College; Kentucky: Miss Evelyn Saunders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Saunders, Flemingsburg, Ky.; Alabama:

Miss Margaret Patterson, Montgomery, Alabama, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Patterson, and herself elementary Sunday school superintendent of the Alabama Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South; Tennessee: Miss Leola Page, Franklin, missionary volunteer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Page; Florida: Miss Elizabeth Barrett, Lakeland, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. R. Ira Barnett; Texas: Miss Johnnie Marie Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brooks, San Angelo; West Virginia: Miss Blanche Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan, St. Albans; South Carolina: Miss Martha Miller Hoiler, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Hoiler, Rock Hill.

Miss Adelaide Bendfeldt, of Richmond, Ind., a classmate and house guest of Miss Winslow; Miss Elizabeth Walker, Little Rock, Ark., and Miss Elinor Estes, Orlando, Fla., will be included in the queen's court for the coronation ceremonies which promises to be elaborate and imposing.

PUTS BAN ON DUEL AMONG ITALIANS
Rome, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Duelling, once one of the favorite peace-time pastimes of the Italian armed forces particularly among the officers, henceforth is going to be much harder to get away with, under the fascist regime.

The minister of war, navy and aviation, all named Benito Mussolini, have combined forces in the issuance of a circular prescribing a lengthy process for the settlement of chivalrous differences between military men.

In effect, it amounts to compulsory arbitration. In its last resort it does not actually prescribe the duel, but warns the two contestants that if a jury of honor decides not to intervene, they remain responsible for their own acts before both military regulations and the penal laws.

Evacuate Old City
Budapest, Aug. 9.—(AP)—In the old historic Roman city of Aquincum known as the Tabor Hill, a mummy, believed to date from the second century A. D., has been excavated.

The mummy, believed to be that of the wife of a rich merchant, suffered considerable damage after it was exposed to daylight. The embalming was done with resin and is so perfect that experts attribute it to an Egyptian who had been summoned from Alexandria for this purpose.

Jewels, food vessels, and various toilet articles were found in the stone coffin.

Aquincum in the days of the Roman empire was a vast cemetery. The excavations are to be continued. Something like fifty houses will have to be pulled down.

WIND SAVES SETTLEMENT FROM FOREST FIRES
Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 9.—(AP)—After a battle of many hours to save the little town of Rennie, Man. from destruction by forest fires, a shift in the wind late yesterday brought relief, shooting the flames away from the settlement.

Roaring through brushland, the flames had reached within half a mile of Rennie, forcing the fire fighters back foot by foot as the women and children of the town prepared to depart on a special train made up after a warning had been issued by forest rangers.

ONE DIES IN BLAST ABOARD OIL TANKER

Eleven Injured When Standard Oil Boat Is Converted Into Flaming Torch.

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—One man killed and eleven injured in an explosion this morning aboard the Standard Oil tanker William Rockefeller at Another-off Bayonne, N. J. The tanker, a flaming torch, was pushed by tugs away from the oil docks and toward the lower bay in New York harbor.

The detonation could be felt in Staten Island, lower Manhattan waterfront, all along the New Jersey waterfront. Burning oil was spread over the water through which tugs, attracted by the scene, had difficulty in finding a clear passage to rescue the eleven injured members of the crew.

Th vessel, one of the largest of the carriers of the New Jersey company, carried a crew of between thirty and forty men. The fate of the others was not immediately ascertained but it was believed several of them if not all the unaccounted for were ashore.

Officials said an attempt would be made to ground the burning tanker on the mud flats off Bay Ridge, Brooklyn.

Editors in bulletin make tankers name William Rockefeller.

Chester Smith, general manager of the Standard Oil plant at Bayonne, said the tanker had 125,000 barrels of crude oil aboard when the explosion occurred. Workmen were pumping the oil off at the time.

The dead man's body was found about 200 feet out in the bay. At the Staten Island hospital where eight of the injured were taken it was said that none was in a serious condition.

Evacuate Old City
Budapest, Aug. 9.—(AP)—In the old historic Roman city of Aquincum known as the Tabor Hill, a mummy, believed to date from the second century A. D., has been excavated.

The mummy, believed to be that of the wife of a rich merchant, suffered considerable damage after it was exposed to daylight. The embalming was done with resin and is so perfect that experts attribute it to an Egyptian who had been summoned from Alexandria for this purpose.

Jewels, food vessels, and various toilet articles were found in the stone coffin.

Aquincum in the days of the Roman empire was a vast cemetery. The excavations are to be continued. Something like fifty houses will have to be pulled down.

LOWER TAXES GRATIFYING

News of the lowering of the city tax rate ten cents is indeed gratifying to our citizens and should bring forth commendation for the city government for its action in making this reduction possible. There has for some time been a doubt in the minds of some as to what could be accomplished along the tax-reduction line in view of our rapid pace of growth adding new burdens to our city government almost daily, but Mayor Lanier has often expressed confidence that, despite our rapid growth, efficient management of the city's affairs would mean lower taxes, and this year we are to reap the first benefits of his prophecies and efforts. Let's keep the good work going. An efficient and at the same time economical city administration is bound to meet with the approval of all our citizens.

UNWORTHY BUSINESS

Rev. C. A. Upchurch, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League in North Carolina, yesterday was taxed the costs in Greensboro court for giving a worthless check to the amount of $5.00. At the time of his arrest, Mr. Upchurch explained that his bank balance, without his knowledge, had been depleted by the fact that a check which he had deposited to his own credit had gone bad.

The whole business has the appearance of an attempt to humiliate a man whose very duties, naturally, have antagonized a considerable element. If such was the purpose of it, the aim will miscarry a long ways. The result will be to attract a great measure of sympathy for the Anti-Saloon official even among the element that would like to see the whole Anti-Saloon League as an organization wiped off the map. There is a sportsmanship even among bums.

The incident, however, may be worth while if it concentrates attention on some of the obvious abuses of the bad check law which it has developed from time to time, has been used and is being used, through the agencies of constables and policemen, magistrates and police courts, to collect debts.—News & Observer.

ABOUT TOWN

Outlining requirements as to head lamps and auxiliary driving lamps, the revised edition of the North Carolina Motor laws has the following to say:

"The head lamps of motor vehicles shall be so constructed, arranged, and adjusted that, except as provided in sub-section (C) of this section, they will at all time mentioned in section 47 and under normal atmospheric condition and on a level road produce a driving light sufficient to render clearly discernible a person two hundred feet ahead, but shall not project a glaring or dazzling light to persons in front of such head lamp.

"Head lights shall be deemed to comply with the foregoing provisions prohibiting glaring and dazzling lights if none of the main bright portion of the head lamp beams rises above a horizontal plane passing through the lamp centers parallel to the level road upon which the loaded vehicle stands and in no case higher than forty-two inches, seventy-five feet ahead of the vehicle.

"Whenever a motor vehicle is being operated upon a highway, or portion thereof, which is sufficiently lighted to reveal a person on the highway at a distance of two hundred feet ahead of the vehicle, it shall be permissible to dim the head lamps or to tilt the beams downward or to substitute therefor the light from an auxiliary driving lamp or pair of such lamps, subject to the restrictions as to tilted beams and auxiliary driving lamps set forth in this sub-section.

"Whenever a motor vehicle meets another vehicle on any highway it shall be permissible to tilt the beams of the head lamps downward or to substitute therefor the light from an auxiliary driving lamp or such lamps subject to the requirement that the tilted head lamps or auxiliary lamp or lamps shall give sufficient illumination under normal atmospheric conditions and on a level road to render clearly discernible a person seventy-five feet ahead, but shall not project a glaring or dazzling light to persons in front of the vehicle, provided that at all times required in section 47 at least two lights shall be displayed on the front of and on opposite sides of every motor vehicle other than motorcycle, road-roller, road machinery, or farm tractor. No city or town shall enact an ordinance in conflict with this section."

"Pitt county people who failed to attend 'Dollar Day' in Greenville yesterday missed some of the best bargains in years, declared a shopper today.

"It is true that it was raining and altogether unfavorable for an event of this kind, but those who attended were well rewarded for doing so. They found bargains galore, goods they would have paid much more for at any other season of the year. 'Dollar Days' do not come but twice a year, and Greenville Merchants outdo themselves in an effort to see which can give the trading public the best bargains for the price of one dollar. This has been the case for years, but each season finds values improved and more of them.

"It was a pity it rained yesterday, but this failed to detract from the enthusiasm of those who braved the unfavorable elements and bought liberally of the splendid offerings.

"Twenty-five more members by Monday night is the goal set by the local Post of the American Legion," observed a member today as he cast about to find somebody to report for membership.

"This is a rather ambitious program for such a short time, but with all members of the organization working with this end in view, it is no reason why we should not be able to carry it out.

For the Love of a Lady

By JEFFERY FARNOL

SYNOPSIS: Murder and revenge! Titus Oldcraft and his two men riding with Richard as their ignominious prisoner, are suddenly confronted by two ominous pistols in the hands of that notorious highwayman, the Galloping Parson, he whose father was sent to the gallows, unjustly, by Oldcraft. The two sides flee and Oldcraft cowers wretchedly. But like a flash the next moment, he whips out his pistol, fires and misses, then drops dead, the Parson's bullet in his heart. The highwayman cuts Sir Richard's bonds; then rides off—his father's murder avenged!

Chapter 41 ANOTHER RESCUE

Before the dismal inn sat the landlord, his helper Sam and a rough man whose garments smacked of ships and the sea, all drinking ale. "Fifteen golden guineas, Sam." "Lord, Master Tucker, a load of money it be!" "And a right, proper gen'man he be—eh?" "For sure, Sam, ain't he a lord and a vi'-count?" "E sure du seemed in mighty 'lurry!" "And no wonder, wi' such 'and-some erretur waiting, I never seen a finer young woman."

"No, no, 'twere madness!" And here her hands stole up to creep and clasp themselves about his neck. "You would be seen and—if they took thee again!" "Twill nothing matter. For to-night, Helen, if all goes well—" A hoarse voice bellowed loudly from the road. "Oh, God pity me!" gasped Helen. "They are back... the Viscount."

Hand clasping hand they crept from the room, and so to the front of the tavern whence they might peep down at the road. A horse cropped the grass before the inn, while immediately below the lattice, wherefrom they peeped, stood the tall, unlovely figure of Jonas Skag. Sir Richard peered down, measured the distance with his eye, and squeezing through the casement, had vanished before Helen might stay him. She heard a hoarse cry, and looking down beheld two figures that writhed and twisted... Shrinking from the lattice she covered her face, and in that same moment she heard a cheery voice calling her name; so she fled from the room and down the stair out into the soft twilight.

"Richard—ah, how could you?" she wailed. "We needed the fellow's horse," he explained. "The poor beast I rode is well-nigh foundered." So saying, he swung to saddle and reached her his hand. "Up with you, child—your foot on my toe—now!" Mutely she obeyed and next moment was seated before him in the crook of his bride-arm. "Lord, mate, and wo' o' pore Jonas—ave ye killed him?" asked a dolorous voice. "Nay, the hangman shall do that for him one day, belike. The rogue will be cursing lustily anon."

"Well, mate, you've the luck on 't—but if only them lily-souled boys—" But Sir Richard was off and away, riding at furious pace and with sombre eyes watching the gathering dusk, and yet supinely conscious of the lovely face so very near his own, of the silky tresses that tickled his neck, his ear, his cheek with such determined persistence, and of all the warm, soft, yielding, extremely feminine tenderness of her.

"Alas, thy poor face!" she murmured, so tenderly that instinctively his arm tightened about her. Then they rode silently again, Richard ever pressing the horse for added speed. At last my lady spoke: "Why must we hurry so?" "The evening falls apace. 'Tis some miles to the Moat House. There is much to do."

Helen smiled slyly and spoke: "They—why not do it, Richard, and be done?" "Because what is to do, if all goes well tonight, is to be done at the Moat House."

"Why there, Richard?" "Because my two best, my two 'lubberly dogs."

"Look... at this!" panted Sir Richard, showing a small, silver-mounted pistol. "Lie where... you are or—" "Lord love ye, mate—I don't want to move. I'm a lamb! But if them lily-livered dogs—" But Sir Richard was off, stumbling up the dark and narrow stair. "Helen!" he called, and was answered by a cry wildly glad and eager.

"Richard... Oh, Richard, pray—oh, pray come to me... they've locked me in... Oh, Richard—" He backed away and hurled himself against the door, yet thrice thus he battered the stout oak ere it swung wide. And then, almost before he knew it, she was in his arms, laughing and sobbing, shivering and clinging to him in a very fervent passion of thankfulness.

"Hold me, Richard," wailed she, in small pleading voice. "Hold me fast, fast—oh, Richard!" She moaned and clasped him the tighter, and he was stroking the lovely head that pillowed itself upon his raveled coat with such unwonted and most delightful humility. "Oh, Dick," she sighed, "Oh, Dick, Frollo-love, thou'rt very damp!" "A bucket of water!" he explained. "And thou'rt very dusty, Dick!" "I shall spoll thy finery."

"Then—pray spoll it... Thy heart beatheth very fast, Dick." "I... I've been busy." "Indeed, I heard you—'twas like thunders and earthquakes." "Come... shall we go?" "Av, but whither?" "To the Moat House."

most faithful friends await me there. "And what is to do there, Richard?" "A matter that something toucheth my future welfare." "Pray, Richard, what matter?" "That which shall, I hope, prove the faith of friends in me no vain thing."

"Who?" she asked. "Who are these so kind and faithful friends?" "Madam the Duchess, your aunt, and Mistress Camlo, the gypsy—" "They sound friends strangely assorted. And are these so marvelous faithful?" "Beyond expectation!" he answered.

"Oh? And why must you so stress so emphasize and harp upon the word? What mean you by faithful?" "Merely that such as kept their faith in my innocence all undimmed were very few."

My Lady Helen stared at Richard curious, but smiling, started to speak, thought better of it and instead nestled herself closer against his body. And thus with no more said, but clasping and clasped, they galloped homewards through the lengthening shadows. Copyright, 1928, Jeffrey Farnol

What is this mysterious business which Richard will not reveal to Helen? It is disclosed in tomorrow's chapter.

COTTON MARKET

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Cotton opened barely steady today at a decline of 8 to 14 points under a continuation of the selling movement which developed after the publication of the government crop report yesterday. Bearish sentiment was encouraged by relatively easy cables from Liverpool but the initial offerings were quite readily absorbed by covering or trade buying and prices stiffened up a few points during the first few minutes. Increased offerings were encountered however, after the posting of the water map showing in the Texas Panhandle, and by the end of the first half hour, October was selling around 18.21 and March 18.71, or 9 to 12 points net lower.

gradually ease the stringent monetary conditions. Call money renewed unchanged at 8 per cent with time money rates firm around 9 per cent. No immediate change was made in the open market rate on bankers' acceptances as a result of the action of several Federal Reserve banks in reducing their buying rate for bills from 5 1/4 to 5 1/4 per cent. Directors of the Kansas City and Philadelphia Federal Reserve banks made no change in discount rates. No announcement was from the Chicago Federal Reserve bank directors although it was intimated that authority for an increase to 6 per cent might be given by the Federal Reserve board after the close. Previous requests of New York and Chicago banks for a higher rediscount rate have been refused. Auburn Auto suffered the largest decline, breaking 26 1/2 points. General Electric dropped 16, International Silver 15 1/2, American Telephone 15 and Aitchison, Westinghouse Electric, American and Foreign Power, Allied Chemical, American Can, American Power and Light, and North American Co. fell 10 to 15 points. Nearly two score others, including Packard Motors, National Cash Register, Consolidated Gas, American Tobacco Issues, Montgomery Ward, American International and New York Central sold 5 to 10 points lower. U. S. Steel common opened at 216, rallied above 217 and then fell back to 214 for a loss of nearly 7 points.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Evening up of accounts so as to prepare for the government crop report due after the close led to late upturns in wheat prices today. Good sized purchases of flour at Minneapolis tended also to lift the wheat market. Export business in North American wheat however, was slack, and bulges in the price of futures deliveries here met with increase in selling. Wheat closed steady, 1 1/2 off to 1 1/2 up, compared with yesterday's finish; corn closed at 3 1/4 decline to 3 1/4 advance; oats unchanged to 1 1/4 setback and provisions a shade to 12 down.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The Federal Reserve's latest thrust at securities speculation—an increase from 3 to 6 per cent in the New York bank rate—brought about one of the sharpest reactions today in the history of the New York Stock Exchange. Prices of leading stocks broke 5 to nearly 30 points in the public's mad scramble to get out of the market, with indications that the day's sales would run around 7,000,000 shares. The increase in the rate, which coincided with a gain of $60,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers, loans to a new high record about $66,000,000, took up Wall Street completely by surprise. While the recent action of the market, with spectacular advances in many of the public utility and high priced industrial stocks, had drawn warnings from conservative bankers and commission house, few traders were prepared for such a sweeping decline. There had been a rather general feeling in the financial district that an increase in the federal reserve rate, previously characterized as "the last resort" of the Federal Reserve board by Chairman Young, would be preceded by a higher rate by the Bank of England, which has suffered a serious decline in its gold reserves as a result of heavy shipments to France. Consequently, when the London rate was announced as unchanged yesterday, no increase was looked for here. Blocks of 5,000 to 25,000 shares changed hands at frequent intervals in the early trading, with initial declines in most issues ranging from 2 to 15 points. As soon as the first break rally developed, which sent several stocks 1 to 10 points above their opening quotations, the buying quickly dried up, however, and a fresh wave of liquidation swept over the market at midday which carried U. S. Steel common, Westinghouse, Aitchison and many other heavy stocks down. This "secondary reaction" undermined speculative confidence as several of the large commission houses had advised their customers that the opening quotations probably would remain as the lows of the day, if not for some time to come. The higher Federal Reserve rate brought no immediate change in the credit situation although it was generally believed that the sharp deflation in security values would

Ten Cent Reduction In City Tax Rate

(Continued from Page One) of the library then came up for consideration, and J. S. Ficklen and Dr. R. L. Carr explained that the building committee was ready to begin work immediately, that the $50,000 gift of Mr. Sheppard was already on deposit in a local bank to be used immediately if necessary. Mayor Lanier expressed opinion that it would not be necessary for the building committee to wait until ratification of the act by the next legislature two years hence, and stated that he saw no reason why the deed should not be transferred to the city at once with the resolutions of the trustees properly drafted and signed by the chairman and members of the board. Mr. Ficklen and Dr. Carr said they would confer with the building committee immediately and get everything straightened out preparatory to getting the structure under erection. E. G. Flanagan explained the position of the school board, and said he would also convey the expression of appreciation from the Board of Aldermen to the members of the school system. The power of the Board of Aldermen to lend its approval or disapproval to the erection of filling stations in residential districts flared up anew last night and produced enough oratorical fireworks to last the board many months. It came about in the presentation of a petition of bona-fide property holders protesting against the proposed erection by the Standard Oil Company of a filling station on Fifth street in front of the East Carolina Teachers College. A delegation of citizens headed by C. W. Shuff, presented the petition with Mr. Shuff acting as spokesman. It was explained that a filling station in this district would endanger the lives of school children attending the public school on the other side of the college, and also impair the appearance of the residential section. A petition was also read from members of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, in which they deplored the erection of a filling station across the street from the college. The fact that such action would be detrimental to the neighborhood was set forth in vigorous style. The Standard Oil Company was represented by Judge Albion Dunn, who at the outset told the board that they had no legal right to say whether or not a filling station should be erected in any particular district. He read several letters from ministers and business men of Norfolk, Va., in which it was stated that Standard Oil filling stations did not detract from the appearance of the church or residential districts of that city, or did not form the slightest kind of a nuisance. Judge Dunn cited the board to rulings of the Supreme Court in such cases, showing that filling stations had been erected in Goldsboro and Clinton despite vigorous protests from property owners. Alderman Waldrop offered vigorous protest against the erection of the filling station near the college, declaring that that institution had spent millions of dollars in the development of the college site and he thought it unfair to them that a filling station should be erected in proximity to the seat of learning. He made a motion that the board pass an ordinance making it illegal to erect a filling station near the college, but the motion was lost. The board also entertained a motion to postpone action on the question until the next meeting, but Alderman John Ivey Smith said it was folly for them to continue hearing station delegations when they had no legal power to act in the matter. He mentioned that the board absolutely refuse to listen to any more petitions concerning the erection of filling stations, and it was adopted almost unanimously. Preston Pierce, deputy sheriff of Pitt county, was elected to the office of chief of police, filling the vacancy that has been held temporarily by Assistant Chief Jess Whichard. The names of both Pierce and Whichard were presented for consideration and when they were put to vote, three voted for Whichard and three for Pierce. The mayor broke the tie by voting for Pierce, and the officer today assumed the duties as chief of police of the city of Greenville.

Berry Sumrell was elected as the third fire truck driver, giving the fire department sufficient men to man the trucks in case of emergency. Alderman Boyd told the board that contract for the sale of the city garbage had been awarded to J. R. Williams at a price of $720 a year. The mayor authorized the contract to be closed at the price. The zoning of the city which came up for discussion at a previous meeting, again came up last night, but no definite action taken in the matter other than the appointment of Aldermen Waldrop, Hollingsworth and Brown to investigate the proposition and report at the next meeting. A delegation of ladies representing the King's Daughters, headed by Superior Court Solicitor D. M. Clark, appeared before the board in behalf of the reclamation of poor children of the community. It was stated that numbers of children were in an impaired state of health because of the need of operations for tonsils and adenoids, and the board was asked to help defray the expenses of these operations. Mrs. McGee and Mrs. Hortense Moyer explained the situation after it had been presented by Mr. Clark, but the board was forced to decline giving to the cause owing to the fact that they had made no provision for such cases in their annual budget. Aldermen Smith and Waldrop assured the ladies that they were in sympathy with the movement and would gladly contribute personally to the cause when called upon to do so. B. B. Sturz, local tobaccoist, was elected to the board of trustees of city schools, filling the position which was tendered to H. A. White sometime ago, but who declined to serve. The mayor read an offer from the Tolar Jewelry Company regarding the upkeep of the town clock. The clock for years has been repaired by C. E. Rountree, but the board decided to offer it to Tolar's at a contract of $50.00 a year. Action was also taken to permit the operation of a ball throwing stand on Dickinson avenue, providing the place should be set back sufficiently far from the street as not to interfere with traffic, and with the understanding that the operator erect a barrier to separate his place from the street. The fire department was authorized to purchase 500 feet of hose to supplement its present supply. Representatives of two hose concerns had offers to present, but the board, pressed for time, decided to split the order and give each concern an order for 250 feet of hose each. The mayor was authorized to proceed with plans to collect delinquent taxes, and to take legal action as provided by state law wherever it was found necessary to insure collection. The mayor and clerk were also authorized to take necessary steps looking to collection of back money on cemetery lots. It was stated that the city was owed a considerable sum from purchasers of lots, and to offset this condition in the future the clerk was instructed to rectify all undertakers that entrenches to the cemetery before proper arrangements for the purchase of lots hereafter would constitute a trespass and would be prosecuted as such. Representatives of the cemetery and street committees were authorized to meet with members of the Woman's Club regarding the upkeep of Cherry Hill cemetery and to see if that place could not be gotten in better condition. Taking up the question of congestion created by buses stopping on Third street near the postoffice, the board passed an ordinance making it unlawful for buses to stop anywhere in the fire zone to take on or discharge passengers. Mrs. Chappesberger, assistant to the city clerk, was authorized to take a two weeks' vacation, one week with pay, the other being granted as leave of absence. New lines for Elizabeth street are recently completed in a survey by Henry L. Rivers, was adopted by the board with instructions that the city take over the property in question and lay out the street in accordance with map lines. The board postponed the election of a superintendent of streets until the next meeting. The position at this time is held by Manley Sellers.

distribution plants of the organizations with heating and pre-cooling facilities to meet government requirements for treatment of fruit which has been exposed to the fly to prevent spread of the larvae into unaffected regions. The request of a group of Florida citrus marketing associations for several million dollars for organization purposes, meanwhile has been held up pending the working out of a permanent, more unified cooperative program by them, and the board turned its attention today to the problem of cotton organizations which have asked for financial aid. The cotton grower's marketing problem is regarded in many quarters as urgent in view of the 15,543,000-bale crop indication in the agriculture department's August 1 condition report. After considering the cotton growers' appeals, the board plans to take up the problems of the wool producers. WRIGLEY CONSIDERS BUYING MOBILE BALL CLUB Mobile, Ala., Aug. 9.—(AP)—A report received here from Reading, Pa., is to the effect that William Wrigley, owner of the Chicago National league club is considering buying the Mobile, Southern Association franchise and transferring it to either Knoxville, Tenn., or Jacksonville, Fla.
