WAGE FIGHT FOR LARGER REPARATIONS

Ramsay MacDonald Approves Action of Britain, France, Italy and Belgium.

The Hague, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Philip Snowden, Great Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, waged his fight with France, Italy and Belgium today for a greater share of German reparations with the complete endorsement of Ramsay MacDonald, head of the British government.

This endorsement was contained in a cablegram received here yesterday by the chancellor, its contents reported from London as follows: "In view of the statements so widely read on the Continent that Mr. Snowden was bluffing, I want to make it perfectly clear that the claims he is making that Great Britain has now reached the limit of bearing unfair burdens had all of our support."

"I stated that that was so, irrespective of parties."

London dispatches also said Lloyd George, leader of the British liberal party, had telephoned London from his home in Wales, saying:

"I fully approve of the stand taken by Mr. Snowden and am firmly convinced he will stick to it."

Importance of the two endorsements to the future of the conference of the governments seeking to make the Young plan effective could not be minimized.

Since the chancellor's first speech stating that Great Britain would not be able to accept any alteration of the Spa percentage division of reparations the conference has looked to Mr. MacDonald for a sign the government would not hold to its stand beyond a certain point.

Although outwardly there was today a slight lessening of tension between Britain on the one hand and the delegates of France, Italy and Belgium on the other particularly France, in the light of developments well believed the crisis in the affairs of the conference, averted Saturday, could be long postponed.

Outwardly ill feelings aroused by Mr. Snowden's use Saturday of the English words, "grotesque and ridiculous" with reference to a summation of Britain's position, by Henri Cheron, French finance minister, has been allied with fact apologies by the British chancellor. Mr. Snowden contends the words were used often in the British House of Commons, and no unsavory significance in, he did not know the French equivalents were constructed any differently.

By an informal discussion lasting two hours and half and attended by representatives of the leading powers at the conference, Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, and Japan was reported to have said:

"I have often been accused of having the tidiest tongue in Parliament, and it has also been said having the bitterest tongue in Paris, people have gotten angry with me but they never stayed angry."

Textile Mills Resume Work In South Carolina

Greenville, S. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Following two weeks of idleness in many mills all textile plants in this section were back on full time schedule today.

There will be no more curtailment in August and probably none the rest of the summer, mill men here believe. They point out that there is a possibility of curtailment the first week in September if the market undergoes sufficient improvement this will be avoided.

The majority of textile plants in this section are operating both night and day shifts and it is expected that this schedule will continue without interruption.

Italian Burned In Balloon Fire

Chicago, Aug. 12.—(AP)—It wasn't so funny for Tony Nororella. "Buy a balloon" Tony cried, as he moved slowly down St. Louis avenue carrying the gaily covered rubber balloons, round and buoyant with the illuminating gas with which he had inflated them.

An automobile whirled alongside the 14-year-old balloon vendor. One of its occupants leaned out and shouted: "Watch the fireworks, folks! let's have some fun."

And he flicked his lighted cigarette squarely among the balloons.

There was an explosion. The taylor colored balloons were bits of burning rubber. Tony Nororella lay screaming on the ground. Doctors later said he would be scarred for life.

The one who tossed the cigarette stepped on the accelerator and sped away, laughing.

MAN AND WIFE DIE IN NEUSE NEAR RALEIGH

Henry Ellington Attempt To Rescue Wife and Both Are Drowned.

Raleigh, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The treacherous waters of Millburne Race at the Neuse river claim six miles from here, today counted among their victims Henry Ellington, 56, of Raleigh, and his wife. Both were drowned yesterday, Ellington while trying to rescue his wife who had slipped into the water over her head. Neither could swim. Ellington, who has but one arm, was standing on the bank watching his wife and two Raleigh girls, Omie Cross and Elizabeth Phillips, wade. Mrs. Ellington stepped into deep water and called for help. Fully clothed, he dashed into the river, but was caught by the rushing waters and drowned. Both bodies were recovered. Four persons have been drowned in the Millburne Race in the past three years.

Gift Plan Means Ready Money For All Entrants

When the management of the Reflector decided to give away $6,000 to automobiles and cash in the great gift distribution, it was thought that the prize list was so liberal that hundreds would get in and carry on serious consideration. Yet what are you really doing—hunting around for reasons to excuse yourself from making more in the next few weeks than you probably do in two or three years, and more, certainly, than most people actually save in years and years.

If you have a home or a car, if one of the big cars does not appeal to you, the cash they represent ought to make a very genuine appeal. With $1275, $1000, $658.00 or $625.00 you can do much. You have that home you have wanted for so long. You have funds to carry on your present undertaking.

How can you sit idly by when Opportunity is knocking so loudly? How can you possibly keep out? Everybody wins something. You are assured at the very least of 10 per cent in cash on every dollar's worth of subscription you produce. You know you can win big.

Means Real Money

You young married men and women, you business men—just consider this: Right now when everything is as it is, isn't it good business to go out among your friends and neighbors and make some real money by doing them a favor? By subscribing or extending their subscriptions to the Reflector the people win too, in more ways than one. You get the world's news and the news of the state by telegraph. You get the most comprehensive district and suburban news by staff writers and special correspondents. Yes there are features, unexcelled society and comic strips. "Every inch a newspaper," the slogan of the Reflector.

Are you too big to consider real money? Are you too big to have a place for $1,300 or more dollars. Can you honestly excuse yourself for not helping—benefit financially?

The Reflector will absolutely and positively award each and every one of the grand prizes and pay a cash commission of 10 per cent on all active candidates who do not win one of the grand prizes.

Maybe you have been scared out. Maybe old Dame Rumor has been whispering to you. There will be talk and talk. You can get scared if you want to. If you have been considering entering this election you owe it to yourself to know all there is about it.

ZEPP TO START AROUND WORD TUESDAY NIGHT

Dr. Hugo Eckener Advises Crew of Giant Dirigible to be Ready at Midnight.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin expects to start during the night of Tuesday-Wednesday on the second lap of its round-the-world trip. From this port to Tokyo.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, the dirigible's commander, has asked the crew of the airship to be ready at that time, adding, however, that various considerations may cause postponement until the following night.

The dirigible has been placed in perfect condition for its long flight. Engineers say the ship's newly installed motors are good for 1,000 hours more.

Two courses have been plotted for the trip. One is a northern route across Siberia and the other a southern route.

The distance of each is about 6,000 miles.

This distance Dr. Eckener expects to cover in about 120 hours, or five flying days, time which, if attained will represent an average speed of 30 miles an hour. The average speed on last week's eastward crossing of the Atlantic was more than 75 miles per hour.

Both northern and southern routes at Chita, Siberia, where the Zeppelin probably will turn southward to pass over Peiping, ancient Chinese Imperial capital, before heading out across the Hwang-Hai, or Yellow Sea, to Tokyo.

Observers pointed out multiple hazards in the flight project probably exceeding in danger anything the Atlantic has offered the Zeppelin. Virtually no weather information will be obtainable on the Moscow metropolitan district.

Siberia and northern China is uncharted from the airman's point of view. Should the huge ship meet disaster in parts of Siberia the fact probably would go unreported for days. A single railway line, the Soviet Transiberian Railway, traverses the vast country.

The single sizeable stretch across open water will be that from Inland Peiping to Tokyo, above the Yellow Sea.

Parts Of Five States Rocked By Series Of Earth Tremors Today

(By The Associated Press) A series of earth tremors, varying considerably in intensity, and length of duration, rocked portions of five eastern states and one Canadian province today.

Quakes were reported at intervals from as far east as Springfield, Mass., and Norfolk Conn. west to Ashabua Ohio, south to various points in Pennsylvania, and North to Toronto, Ont.

In most cases the effects of the shocks were confined to the awakening of sleepers and the rattling of windows and dishes, but in Western New York, where the tremor appeared to have reached its maximum intensity, considerable damage was done.

Seismographic readings at Canisus College, Buffalo, fixed the time of the principal shock at 24 minutes, 55 seconds after seven a. m., eastern daylight saving time, the main tremor lasting 2 seconds and being followed by minor shocks at intervals throughout the next six minutes.

Reports of shocks from other points, however, fixed the time as early as three a. m.

In Canandaigua, N. J., where the tremors lasted nearly three minutes, large apartment houses were said to have swayed noticeably, and police and fire departments were besieged with telephone calls from terrified householders.

In Elmira, N. J., a woman reported that her bed broke down from the force of the quake, Hornell, Corning, Addison, Canisteo, Watkins Glen, N. J. and Sayre, Pa., also reported shocks of considerable intensity.

LOCAL YOUTH FATALLY HURT IN ACCIDENT

James Bracy Dies of Injuries Sustained When Run Down by Car at Rich Square.

James Bracy, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bracy, of Greenville, died in a Tarboro hospital early yesterday morning as result of internal injuries received when he was run down by an automobile in Rich Square Saturday evening about 7 o'clock. The death car was driven by Hugh Holloman, of Aulander. The accident was declared to have been unavoidable.

The child had just left the automobile driven by his father and started across the street when he was hit by the car driven by the Aulander man. Both wheels of the car passed over the child's body, inflicting injuries of an internal nature. He was rushed immediately to the Tarboro hospital where all effort to save his life proved futile.

Funeral services were conducted from the Bracy home on Seventh street this afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. Thomas E. Beaman, pastor of the Free Will Baptist church. The body was taken to Martin county for burial.

TWO LAWYERS INJECT FUN IN SNOOK TRIAL

Prosecutor and Defense Attorney Stage Verbal Clash In Courtroom Today

Court Room, Columbus, Aug.—12.—(AP)—The tragic business of the trial of Dr. James H. Snook, former Ohio state professor for the killing of Theoris Hix, his co-ed sweetheart, was overlaid with comedy today.

John F. Seide) of defense counsel, who was on the stand as a defense witness, teamed with Prosecutor John J. Chester Jr., to regale the judge and jury with a sparkling account of their verbal clashes during the period that Dr. Snook was being questioned before his arrest.

The prosecutor crossed him before the man who had fought with him before the former professor confessed and who opposed him in the murder trial since its beginning last July 24.

Time and again the judge, the jury and the courtroom were moved to laughter by the cutting exchanges between the two attorneys.

Seide described his connection with the case, told how he had been ordered out of the room where Dr. Snook was being questioned, and declared he saw the marks on Dr. Snook's face left by the vigorous cuffs the prosecutor admits he inflicted on the defendant while he was trying to get him to confess. "E. O. Ricketts, another defense attorney, followed Seide and testified that he also saw the marks.

Defense counsel were indefinite whether they will call John H. Berry, superintendent of the Athens State hospital for the insane, and Dr. George W. Hefner, of Circleville, the two alienists who examined Dr. Snook at their request.

If the alienists do not take the stand, the defense appeared to be nearing the end of its direct testimony which he prospect that it would rest today.

Prosecutor Chester has not revealed how long his rebuttal will be, but if the expert testimony as to Dr. Snook's mental condition is eliminated the duration of the trial will be appreciably lessened.

Bodies of the truck's occupants were found for several hundred yards along the track, most of them

TWO MEN DIE IN FLARE UP OF OLD FEUD

North Carolina Mountain Girl Also Injured When Clans Meet Near Marshall.

Marshall, N. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Lancers boys met four members of the Stanton clan on a narrow mountain road yesterday. Before they parted two men were killed and a 12-year-old girl wounded in a flare-up of their mountain feud.

Arthur Stanton, 36, his daughter, Aenes, 12, his brother, Hubert, and Albert King, 35, were riding down the road in King's car when they met Arnold and Sampson Lancers in a truck. The two cars stopped. Arthur got out. Then, so Hubert says, the Lancers boys started shooting. However, a tourist whose car was struck by several bullets, says Arthur fired the first shot.

In the exchange of gunfire, Arthur Stanton and King were killed and Aenes was shot in the head. She is in an Asheville hospital where physicians said her condition was serious.

After the shooting the Lancers have taken to the brush, Sheriff D. Ramsey found them at home last night and arrested them. Police took Hubert Stanton into custody pending an investigation. The three are held in the county jail here.

Mountaineers of the area are said to have had been "at blood" between the Lancers and the Stantons for some time.

FOUR KILLED IN ACCIDENTS TO AIRPLANES

Three Killed in Crash at Clovis, N. M.; Brazilian Flier Killed in Florida.

Clovis, N. M., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Search for the air for a cockpit vent cover blown from an airplane at the take-off ended fatally for the pilot-owner of the ship, and two passengers here yesterday.

Lieut. O. I. Stephens, who was at the controls, and Thomas E. Scully, 32, and Philip Berry, 29, officials of the Clovis Transcontinental Airport, were the victims.

Observers said Stephens attempted to bank steeply for a turn over a dry lake bed at an altitude of 100 feet when the plane went into a side-slip and fell to the ground. The pilot's body was found lying on the motor. Scully and Berry, who were in the 4-passenger compartment of the ship, were pinned in the cabin.

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 12.—(AP)—While his comrades of the air dived over Pensacola Bay and tugs skimmed the water's surface, continuing search for the body of F. P. Cardiero Farias, Brazilian aviator, an official of the Brazilian embassy arriving from Washington today was expected to report officially the cause of the flier's fatal plunge.

The plane while flying high along the shore line Sunday, wavered suddenly and went plummeting into the bay. A rescue detail from the Pensacola naval air base where the Brazilian was taken a special training course at the request of his government, recovered the plane from 38 feet of water, but found no trace of the aviator's body.

Examination of the craft has been ordered to determine cause of the plunge. Naval officers withheld any explanation of the fall until the plane is examined. They expressed their belief, however, that Farias, unable to right the craft, jumped at the last moment.

The Brazilian came here July 4, and soon wasted have completed the special course arranged between the Brazilian and American governments. He was a qualified aviator in the Brazilian navy, but sought advanced training in the American air fleet. The flier's young widow was prostrated. With her two small children she awaited news of every development in the search for the body.

Seek Lost Flier In Canadian Wilds

Toronto, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Charles A. "Duke" Chiller, Canadian flying ace, was being sought today in the wilds along the northwest shore of Hudson's Bay after no word had been received from him since his take off two weeks ago on a prospecting flight.

Search by an airplane for several days has revealed no trace of the party and the northern aerial minerals exploration company, which employs Schiller as a pilot, has decided to dispatch a second plane today from Sioux Lookout to join in the search. Schiller was accompanied by Jack Humble, mechanic, and Tom Creighton, a prospector.

Schiller achieved wide prominence in August, 1927, when he announced plans for a non-stop flight from Windsor, Ont., to Windsor, England, with Phil Wood, of Detroit, a brother of Gar Wood, the speedboat racer. The plane made three false starts, one from Windsor, Ont., then from St. Gregory, Que., and then from Old Orchard, Me., after finally landing at Harbor Grace, New Foundland, the flight was abandoned.

This squad will testify to the readiness of the camp and its equipment, and meanwhile the trusty culinary department, Willie and Sam, will be making ready to do themselves and the camp in general more than proud.

Tomorrow's noon will see the camp formally opened, with the arrival of girls on pleasure and health bent. Congregating at the high school at 9 a. m., they will proceed by auto to the site of Camp Kiro, on the Morehead City road beyond New Bern, arriving in time to dispose of their accoutrements, become settled and at home, and enjoy a dip in the water before dinner.

Any girls who desire to have their names added to the camp roster should communicate this evening with Mr. R. L. Totten, phone 642-J, to make the final arrangements.

PONTIAC AUTOMOBILE DESTROYED BY FLAMES

A Pontiac automobile belonging to H. W. Martin of Greenville was destroyed by fire on the highway near the Cotton Mill Friday. Mr. Martin escaped unharmed.

The fire is believed to have resulted from a short circuit, and rapidly spread to all parts of the car despite efforts of the owner and two or three other people to extinguish it.

Two Boys Killed By Lightning; One From Pitt County

Two boys of the Free Will Baptist orphan home at Middlesex were killed by a bolt of lightning yesterday, according to information reaching this city today.

One of the boys was Joseph Griffin, 17 native of Pitt county, whose people live in Ayden township, although officials of the institution had not been able to get in touch with them today.

The other victim was Wiley Watson, 10, of Wilson county.

The young men were engaged in housing stock when the lightning struck a barn where they were standing, setting the structure on fire and killing the boys instantly. Another boy was said to have been badly injured.

Services for young Griffin will be held from the Free Will Baptist church in this city tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be made on the Marshall Evans farm, about six miles from Greenville.

Coal Oil Rickey.

Washington—The coal oil rickey now is possible, if illegal. Also synthetic manufacture of alcohol from petroleum may affect the duty on blackstrap molasses. The Senate committee learns a West Virginia concern has produced 48,000 "proof gallons" of industrial alcohol from petroleum and opponents of a higher duty on Cuban molasses assert it would now fall to force the wider use of corn, as argued by proponents.

OVER TWO THOUSAND CLAIMS MADE FOR COMPENSATION

Raleigh, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Two thousand and twenty-four claims for compensation in accordance with the provisions of the workmen's compensation act, which became effective July 1, were filed with State Industrial Commission during the first month of operation of the law, J. Dewey Dorsett, member of the Industrial Commission announced today. Only 585 cases were closed during the month.

Of the 2,024 claims filed, 249 were declared to be non-tabulatable, that is the injuries of the persons filing the claims were not serious enough to entitle the injured people to compensation. Medical fees were allowed 330 of those injured.

INJUNCTION DELAYED IN STRIKE CASE

Burnsville, N. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—When the question of making permanent the temporary injunction forbidding striking employees of the Marion Manufacturing company to picket the mill came up in Yancey Superior court here this morning, the proceedings were delayed when an argument developed between attorneys as to the date the papers were served on the strikers.

The hearing was temporarily halted, until the original papers in the case could be brought from Marion, where the injunction was granted by Judge John H. Harwood.

It was expected that the hearing would be taken up again at the afternoon session of the court.

SLOWER MARKETING, HIGHER PRICES

In the agreement on the part of the buying companies to keep full corps of buyers on the markets throughout the season in order that they may be no need of tobacco growers glutting the markets by rushing in their products the minute the markets open is in our opinion a good move and if the growers co-operate by marketing the crop slowly we believe that they will be well paid for it in the long run. When growers rush the markets and get all the factories filled to overflowing in quantities of tobacco at the buying companies not possibly handle because some of it deteriorates, it tends to reason that the demand is bound to fall off unless the factories can catch up naturally the growers receive a lower price during low demand periods following a glutting of the markets.

TOBACCO PRICES UNSATISFACTORY

The News-Dispatch has a hand information that growers of the North Carolina border are not pleased with the average of the South Carolina tobacco markets prevailing during the past week and if there is any redress they would like to know it. It is that the golden harvest for the golden weed is so golden after all and the average prices on the North Carolina markets averaging but little, if higher than the disastrous season last year—that is to 15 cents per pound. It is true that practically all the weed offered to now has "sand lugs," first or second primings, but that has been of excellent quality with the roseate picture had been painted of the prospects upon the opening ten days developments have been very disappointing. While prices on warehouses Saturday had a tendency ever so slightly up, the North Carolina growers want to know why the official reports from the South Georgia markets for the first week showed an average of 19 1-2 cents, while it is five cents less per pound for the same quality of tobacco, and we have been led to believe that no tobacco in the world is better than the bright leaf that is grown right here in North and South Carolina. There is evidently something wrong somewhere. The warehousemen cannot be blamed for the higher the price and the more money received by the farmer, the more he receives as his warehouse commissions and charges. It looks like a combination in restraint of reasonable values if not in restraint of trade and something ought to be done about it by our agricultural departments, who have an excellent opportunity just here for some real constructive work that will justify their existence.

Or, better still, why not refer the whole matter to this newly created farm board of Mr. Hoover and let's see what kind of "relief" they have to offer? There can be no doubt "relief" is needed if the economies of the whole situation are studied and the farmers are of the opinion that "now is the time for all good men to come to the relief of the party."—Wilmington News-Dispatch.

ABOUT TOWN

"Frank Harrington knows the law, but when it comes down to the value of steamboats and such like, he hasn't any more sense than the average man has about the kind of perfume his wife uses," firmly declared a prominent Kiwanian today. "The other night down at Bay-view Pamlico were good enough to let Mr. Harrington and some of his friends look the boat over. When the crowd reached the top deck, Frank glanced speculatively from one end of the craft to the other and remarked that he believed the boat cost at least four or five hundred thousand dollars.

"One of the sailors standing by, looked at Frank and then look at some other members of the crowd as if he thought the versatile clerk of court was losing his mind.

"Why, man, this boat cost a million and a half dollars, and not a cent less," the sailor exclaimed disgustedly.

"Frank didn't have time to respond for about that time a siren cut loose nearby and started everybody so much that they remained in a nervous state until they had returned home and found themselves tucked peacefully between the covers, preparatory to a long night's sojourn with Morpheus, mythological

"I am delighted to note that they have started work on the new highway from Bethel to Oak City," said a well known business man of this city today, discussing the possibilities which the opening of this road will mean to people in this section of the country.

Aside from shortening the distance between Greenville, Richmond and Norfolk, the link will make it easy for the thousands of people around Oak City to come to Greenville. Being the home of the second largest bright leaf tobacco market in the world, it is perfectly natural that the people of Oak City and community should desire to come here more frequently when the good road is completed.

"It is impossible to estimate the results obtained by the various communities from the build-up of hard surfaced highway, throughout the states. It places people closer to one another than ever and they can carry on commerce with greater facility and ease than ever before anticipated.

"The Oak City road will be of inestimable value to the people of that community, and Pitt county people congratulate them upon the beginning of such an important link to highway 11.

"Greenville and Pitt county will extend a cordial welcome to Dr. Clem Ham, of Georgetown, S. C., who has just taken charge of the Pitt County Health Department," said a citizen today.

"Dr. Ham is a comparatively young man, but he has seen sufficient service in the public health field to make him adequately competent to handle the duties in this county. He comes to Pitt county from his Georgetown health de-

DEATH FROM ALCOHOLISM ON INCREASE IN AMERICA; RUM CONSUMPTION MOUNTS

(Continued from Page One) of 61 per cent for beer from 1913 to 1928, "accompanied by a similar reduction in deaths from alcoholism and arrests for drunkenness" is contrasted with the opposite trend of such manifestations in America.

From this, the association draws the conclusion that the American death and arrest rates are "irrefutable evidence of a steady rise in liquor consumption."

Confining its study of the illicit production trend to federal figures on seizures of liquor, apparatus for making it, and materials, because "state reports of seizures are not available," the association finds evidence of a steady increase. Disilling apparatus seized in 1920, it says, amounted to 15,416 pieces, compared with 261,611 in 1928, while liquor of all kinds seized totaled 153,735 gallons in 1920 and 32,474,234 gallons in 1928, and mash seizures amounted to 8,356,695 gallons in 1923 and 26,594,533 in 1928.

Death Treasure

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Walling's thrilling mystery romance "Death Treasure," which starts in this newspaper today, was published in book-form under the title, "Murder at the Keyhole," and is being serialized for the first time.

Chapter 1 VERONICA SEABROKE

My acquaintance with Veronica, and therefore my entanglement with Roger Pell, began on a June afternoon on the Holland Bay road. At 15 minutes to four I had never seen Veronica. Before 14 minutes to four I found myself embracing her tightly and she had clasped her arms about my neck. Veronica is a very charming girl. She has a slight athletic figure, a mop of light brown hair, blue eyes, fiery red lips and a perfectly wonderful complexion. The sort of girl one likes to embrace.

It happened thus. I had been sketching and was walking back to Blackwater. A mile from home I heard a frantic clinking of hoofs ahead. Round the bend of the road came a little roan horse at gallop with a girl sprawled on his back, and on the point of falling every moment. I dropped my easel and paint box and stood in the middle of the road with arms stretched out. As I caught at the bridle, the girl shot off and landed in my arms. Fortunately I did not fall; there had been just a moment to notice how blue were Veronica's eyes.

"Well, I'm blowed!" said Veronica. "What happened?" I began, but never finished the question. Another clatter of hoofs precluded the appearance round Herod's-foot Corner of another rider—he was a very short man and his tubby little body bobbed about on the saddle. Then I perceived that the rider wore a black beard and a ferocious expression.

At the moment I failed to understand the special ferocity with which he glared at me. Having persuaded his horse to a standstill, he shouted, "What does this mean, and who the devil are you?" I glanced at Veronica. "Are you acquainted with this gentleman?" "Slightly," she replied. "Allow me to introduce him. My father—my deliverer."

Veronica explained how I had checked her runaway steed. Then the cause of the little man's ferocity appeared. He had come round the corner expecting to find Veronica dead or missing. Instead, he had found her with an unknown person and her horse standing by as if waiting for her to mount again. He suffered an angry revulsion of feeling and leaped to the conclusion that the runaway had been got up by Veronica on purpose to annoy him. The language he used was so rich in variety and pungent in quality that I really regretted Veronica's intervention with:

"Now, Bill! You know the rules. I'll tell mother if you don't stop." Whereon he stopped.

This was the manner of my first acquaintance with Commander Seabroke (retired) and Miss Veronica Seabroke. I had to name myself—Tom Grenofen, who had lately come to live at Blackwater.

I suppose that I must sooner or later have become involved in the mystery of the keyhole in Fotherbury's library door and the travesty of Roger Pell. But when Commander Seabroke first mentioned Pell's name to me, I was very busy absorbing the beauty and charm of little Veronica.

For some unexplained reason, Seabroke seemed to resent my very presence in Blackwater. "Why do you come here, eh?" he asked, rudely.

Looking upon Veronica's quizzical face, I carefully explained that my father having died three months before, my mother had wished to leave her house to avoid reminders of her loss. We had bought Woodcot because it had a large garden.

The commander was making vague noises, and I turned to see a fiercer frown on his face. "Can't see why the devil anybody should come to live in that mucky hole," said he, with mere aggressiveness. "Are you mixed up with 'hat chaps Pell?"

"Pell?" I exclaimed. "Who is Pell?" It was the first time I had heard the fateful name. If only Veronica and I could have foreseen what Pell would mean to us. However, my denial of any knowledge of Pell failed at once to appease the suspicions of Veronica's fiery parent.

and entertaining sketch of the commander. His account of Miss Seabroke was vaguer and more constrained. It was on Mr. Fotherbury and Newplace that Pell enlarged most freely. Newplace had been abandoned by its ancient owners. Mr. Fotherbury had bought it three years ago when the last of the Redslades found himself compelled to part with it.

The Redslade family, who had owned Newplace, became poorer and poorer in late years, and finally could not afford to keep up the establishment at all. This very house at Woodcot was the fergue for the last Redslade, reputed to be a gambler who had died a suicide.

Mr. Fotherbury, some time after entering into possession, had found the substratum of Roman remains. Pell himself was interested in Roman things, and fond of digging, he had come down to lend Fotherbury a hand.

Then there was a vignette of Dr. Eastley. And, of course, Fotherbury's chaplain, Mr. Marling, whose church and house were inside the walls of Newplace. And thus and thus. Evidently he was trying to make an amiable impression on my mother. He did. She even invited him to stay to lunch. He had the decency to refuse. (Copyright, 1929, Wm. Morrow Co.)

Tom Grenofen learns more of this mysterious visitor, Roger Pell, in tomorrow's chapter.

"Red" Cleveland To Pilot Greenville's Tobacconists

In an effort to drag the Tobacconists away from the yawning chasm of the basement of the Eastern Carolina league, officials of the Greenville club stated this morning that they had signed up "Red" Cleveland as manager of the local club. It was understood that Cleveland would appear with the Tobacconists when they open the series at Fayetteville this afternoon.

Negotiations for Cleveland's appearance with the Tobacconists were completed at a conference between the new manager, President Guy Smith and Gus Forbes in Norfolk yesterday. It was understood at the time that Cleveland should take over the club immediately both as pilot and player.

Cleveland is a former catcher and third-baseman of the Charlotte club of the South Atlantic league. He has seen considerable service on the diamond and comes to Greenville with a long record of victories made possible through the might of his bat. He is said to be a player of outstanding ability, and has had sufficient managerial experience to make him fully competent to bring the Tobacconists to life again.

Cleveland will be remembered by numbers of the older baseball fans of Greenville as having played with Ayden in the days of the old Coast Line league. In fact he caught Dave Roberson, reputed to have been one of the finest hurlers in this section of the country at that time.

This is the third manager the Tobacconists have had since the opening of the season last April. Lester Bangs, veteran Virginia leaguer, was the first pilot but he was cut loose before the season had advanced very far. He was succeeded by Dan Pasquella, who at the present time is catching for Goldsboro. Pasquella resigned several weeks ago, and since that time the club has been under the direct management of President Guy Smith with "Chuck" Nailbock acting as field captain.

While the club had a phenomenal winning streak that carried them to first place in the standing of clubs, they began slipping several days ago and so far have been unable to throw of the constantly pursuing jinx. Club officials are hopeful that the veteran Cleveland will be able to inject new life into the club and enable them to finish nearer the top when the curtain is officially rung down next month.

In hiring the new manager, club officials let it be known that the financial status of the club was decidedly disappointing, and urgently appealed to the public to attend the remainder of the games played on this diamond. They are hopeful of being able to furnish a brand of ball that will be well worth the money and of relieving the financial strain to which they have been subjected the past weeks.

HOMER WINS FINAL GAME FOR SAILORS

Wilmington, Aug. 12—Delivering the necessary punch in latter innings behind the superb pitching of George Powell, Wilmington, this afternoon, came from behind to defeat Greenville 5 to 3 in 12 innings, the longest game ever played here.

Robins' home run in the twelfth with Rainy on base broke a deadlock that had existed since the seventh when Ralph Williams hit for the circuit to tie the score at 3 all.

Wilmington seemingly threw the game away in the third inning when the Greens scored three on two bases on balls coupled with two Pirate's miscues.

Skelton wilted in the seventh, however, under the intense heat and after the Pirates had hit twice in succession to score one he was yanked and Ludke sent to the hill. Williams, first to face him, parked the ball to knot the count and it was a battle royal from then to the twelfth. Powell gave only four hits.

LEADERS MAKE EVEN BREAK IN THE AMERICAN

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)
The reported cracking of the Philadelphia pitching staff seems to be gathering force in the west but the crash will have to assume a much louder tone before it becomes audible to the Yankees across a chasm of ten and a half games. The leaders and their pursuers both broke even over the week-end as the Cubs picked up one and one-half games on the Pirate by winning twice while the Buccaneers were dropping the odd game in three.

The week-end in the American league was notable chiefly for Mose Grove's third failure within a week to spear that elusive eighteenth victory and for Babe Ruth's 499th and 500th home runs of his major league career. Ruth larrupped his 499th on Saturday to put the finishing touch on a 4 to 2 Yankee victory, and pounded Willis Hudlin for his 500th in the second inning yesterday when the Indians eventually won by 6 to 5. Lou Gehrig also got his twenty-seventh of the season yesterday.

Ruth's sabbath drive placed him in a tie with Hack Wilson of the Cubs and Met Ott of the Giants for second place in the interleague home run derby and left him only three behind Chuck Klein of the Phillies, who has 33.

Grove seemed headed for his eighteenth victory on Saturday after a wait since July 25, but finally had to give way to Young Bill Shores just before Al Simmons' second home run of the day brought the A's a 6 to 5 victory. George Earnshaw undertook the task of taming the Tigers yesterday and succeeded famously until the ninth when he inadvertently served a home run Edmonds to Jones. Struck out by Skelton, 6; Ludke, 2; Powell, 2. Base on balls: Off Skelton 3; Ludke 4; Powell, 5. Hit by pitcher: By Skelton, McCary; by Ludke, Rayne. Passed ball: Carson. Hits of Skelton, 2 runs and 6 hits in 6 2-3 innings; Ludke, 3 runs and 4 hits in 4-2-3. Losing pitcher: Ludke. Umpires: Holloman and White.

ball to Red Hargrave with two batters on base.
Hargrave's drive sliced the margin of the Mackmen to one thin run, and brought old Jack Quinn to the box. Three singles and an error tired the score at 8 to 8, and Ossie Orwoll emerged from the bull-pen. Ossie got by until Johnson hit a homer in the eleventh to win for the home boys by 9 to 8.

The Red Sox and the White Sox divided two games at Chicago over the week-end, the visitors winning on Saturday by 10 to 7 and the home team by 6 to 3 yesterday. Al Thomas permitted only five hits in the Sabbath game, one a homer by Jack Rothrock.

Washington cleaned up two games over the Browns, winning by 4 to 2 on Saturday and by 7 to 5 yesterday.

The National league week-end was marked by the wall of the late Christy Mathewson's life-time record of 372 games. Grover Cleveland Alexander held the Phillies to two hits in the last four rounds on the 11 inning second game on Saturday, and got credit for the 11 to 9 victory pounded out by the Cards. The 373rd of his 19-year career.

The Cubs won two hard-fought games in Boston, by 4 to 1 on Saturday and by 3 to 1 yesterday. The Pirates the while were dividing a Saturday bargain with the Robins at Ebbetts Field and absorbing a 5 to 3 tap on the chin yesterday. Remy Kremer seemed to have Ray Moss out pointed on Sunday, but Fredrick, Hendrick and Basomette reached the Pittsburgh Star for home runs in the eighth inning to pull the decision out of the fire.

With pitching such as they are receiving in Boston, the Cubs can do with less hitting out this fact is making no impression upon Rogers Hornsby, among others. The Rajah got a single, a double and his twenty-fifth homer yesterday to boost his average to .365.

Red Lucas trimmed the Giants by 7 to 2 on Saturday, but no-hit Carl Hubbell returned the compliment to the Red-Legs on the Sabbath. The score was 6 to 1.

Net A "Yes" Man
Kitchkas, U. S. S. R.—Col. Hugh L. Cooper, American engineer in charge of the world's largest hydro-electric project here, isn't a "yes man." "The present government regime 'Soviet' is all wrong and I have told Stalin and Rykoff so bluntly," he said to a visiting delegation from home. Stalin and Rykoff just about run Russia.

PLENTY DOING IN FIGHT RING DURING WEEK

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The coming week should go far toward determining just what part Victorio Campolo, Argentine giant, is to play in the merry chase for a heavyweight champion.

The six feet seven inch South American makes his second American appearance at Ebbetts Field Wednesday night when he tackles Tom Heeney.

There have been definite signs Heeny is on the down grade. The lazing Gene Tunney gave him did him no good but the New Zealander should be able to bring out whatever fighting capabilities Campolo may have against Arthur Dekuh, ended in a draw. The Argentine's first test, foul before Campolo had a chance to demonstrate his wares.

The Ebbets field card also will include ten rounds between Ted Sandwim and Phil Mercurio, and Angus Snyder and Jack Roper.

New York Arenas tonight offer the following:

At Dexter Park, Joe Sekrya, of Dayton, O. and George Larocco of New York, in ten rounds; at Starlight Park, Arthur Dekuh and George Cook, Australian heavyweight, in a ten rounder.

Al Singer, Bronx lightweight, heads the card at the Queensboro Stadium tomorrow. The recent conqueror of Andre Routsis meets Gaston Charles in a ten round match. Harry Ebbets, Freeport middleweight, engages Niek Palmer in the semi-final and Alf Roges, of Suain, battles Ben Jeby in another ten.

Another heavyweight contender, George Godfrey, Leipersville, Pa., negro has a ten round bout with Long Tom Kawkins, San Diego negro, at Los Angeles Tuesday.

Cleveland offers a "crack light" weight card on Tuesday. Billy Wallace, of Cleveland, and Tommy Grogan of Omaha, meets for ten rounds. Lope Tenorio Filipino and Mike Payan, California Indian, meet in the semi-final.

Ray Miller, Chicago, clashes with Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle negro lightweight, for ten rounds at Philadelphia tonight.

Other bouts on the National schedule include:
Hunt, Ponca City, Okla., vs. Murray Gritz, New York, heavyweights, ten rounds.
Tuesday—at Cincinnati, Midget Mike O'Dowd, Columbus, vs. Johnny Datto, Cleveland, featherweights, ten rounds; at Portland, Ore., Willie Feldman, Bremerton, Wash., vs. Joe Anderson, Covington, Ky., middleweights, ten rounds.
Friday—at New York, Conny Island Stadium, Ruby Goldstein, New York, vs. Joey Kauffman, New York, welterweights, ten rounds.
At Hollywood, speedy Dado Philipines, vs. Tom Hughes, Cleveland, flyweights, six.

COTTON MARKET

COTTON New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 3 to 8 points on a fairly steady Liverpool cable and a private report placing July consumption of cotton in this country at 543,000 bales against 570,000 in June and 439,231 for July last year. Some selling appeared on reports of light rains or showers in the southwest, but it was considered doubtful whether these were sufficient to benefit dry sections and the market at the end of the first half hour was holding about 5 to 8 points above Saturday's close. December was selling at 18.32.

Private cables reported continental and Bombay buying on the drought in Texas and more optimistic feeling toward the settlement of labor disputes in Lancashire, but said liquidation had been encountered on reports of rain in the southwest.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Wheat prices fell nearly 60 cents a bushel today to the lowest level reached since July 13. Selling on a big scale here resulted from an unlooked-for upset of wheat quotations at Liverpool ascribed largely to rains over drought-stricken areas of Argentina and Australia. A huge increase of 18,626,000 bushels this week in the entire United States wheat visible supply acted also as a decided factor in plunging the market downward, the total being now 156,015,000 bushels against 72,053,000 bushels a year ago.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Speculative confidence in the Stock Market, which has been badly shaken by the sharp break which followed the raising of the New York Federal Reserve discount rate to last Thursday. Apparently had been fully restored today as bullish operations were resumed with considerable vigor in a wide assortment of issues. Grain in the active shares ran from 2 to 15 points, with many of the leaders going above the prices recorded just prior to Friday's break.

The credit situation has not yet revealed the effect of a higher discount rate and a lowering of the buying rate on bankers' acceptances. As call money renewed unchanged at 8 per cent, and there were no changes in the rates on other necessary accommodations.

High Eggs

Atlantic City—There hasn't been any sensational rise in food prices here but Jack Brogan, of Mays Landing has the biggest egg on record. It was laid by his pet hen while being taken in an airplane sightseeing tour. Brogan claims no exceptional virtues for the already noted (locally) breakfast food and will not crack it to investigate.

For the Love of a Lady

By JEFFREY FARNOL

Chapter 43
LOVE FINDS A WAY

For two weeks Sir Richard had worked with fiery zeal; today the hedges showed trimmed and even. Another 24 hours and this revered piece of earth would be as it was when trod by his long-dead mother.

Though the day was hot, he was digging and toiling with a certain grim fury. Presently pausing to take a breath, he walked to the paddock nearby, where Gregory was burning a very mountain of weeds and briars.

Gloomily, both stared at the fire, then began to speak thus:

Sir Richard: I understand Captain Despard is at last out of danger.

Gregory: And was out o' doors yesterday.

Sir Richard: I rejoice to know it.

Gregory: Leaning-upon my lady Helen's arm!

Sir Richard: She... also nursed him, I hear.

Gregory: Samson vows she saved his life, and but for her most gentle care—

With look of wonderment, Gregory began to beg for a new life. Captain Despard to be the no-bringer hither the third volume of Montaigne's Essays.

Gregory: Eh—here, sir?

With look of wonderment, Gregory left and presently returned with a large open volume, disclosing a thick wad of manuscript. The upper most bore this inscription:

"Hereinunder, proofs showing Captain George Despard to be the notorious malefactor and highwayman known as—Captain Archer."

"So you have read this?"

"I have," answered Gregory, his gaunt features grimly resolute.

"Then you will forget it. Give me the papers."

"Wherefore?" demanded Gregory.

"To burn 'em."

"You mean... sir... Consider, reflect—but for this man she would be thine."

"She? Nay, 'tis her fortune you mean—ha?"

"No, no, but for this one-time rogue, her heart would turn towards thee, Richard—I know it, boy!"

"Give me those papers—"

Sir Richard leapt and seizing Gregory in compelling grasp, took from him the closed volume—next moment those fatal papers were blazing in the very heart of the fire.

A flash of small brown legs, a sheen of glossy black curls and there, slim finger beneath pointed chin, stood little Shuri.

"Brother, here, quick!" said she and held up somewhat grimy paper. Sir Richard lifted her high, set her upon his shoulder, opened glossy tresses—and yet none brighter than the tears that gemed her lashes.

"Twas for thee—all for thee, Hadst but come this afternoon, 'twas my desire to plight thee my troth before all those had so doubted thee—even as I doubted—though always was I thy friend, Richard, because this friendship of mine, as I do know at last, was very love—So Dick Full-o'-love, if thou'lt have me..."

He swept her up to his heart, he bore her to the ancient marble seal—she was in his arms, on his knees—clasped fast against his heart.

"Helen... Oh, Helen!" he muttered. "I never knew... never guessed how much I loved thee: what life would mean... without thee until I thought thee lost."

"Beloved man!" she murmured, touching his moist eyes with tender fingers. "Ah, my dear, my Dick full of love, from the night I struck this dear face with my hateful whip—oh, most odious me!—knew myself thy very own—thine forever, guilty or no—But tonight—may I pray thee, kiss me not yet—tonight 'tis joy far beyond my poor telling to know myself so truly loved by one so brave, so honourable, so proud a gentleman as my—Cult-ford o' Wear! And now—now, my Dick Full-o'-love..."

(THE END.)

BAGS NEW KIND OF GOLF BIRD

St. Louis, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Bill Medard, North Hills, star. Has bagged the rarest bird in Golfdom and wants a name for it.

One under par is a birdie, two below is an eagle and three sub-par is perhaps a pterodactyl, much more sought than even the eagle or the hole-in-one variety.

Medard's 250 yard second shot with a driving iron on the fifth at Westwood Country club rolled into the cup. Par is 5. He tied the course record at 68, four under perfect figures.

FLIER KILLED IN CRASH NEAR PITTSBURGH PENN.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Harry Smith, 26, Akron, Ohio, airplane pilot, was killed instantly today when his plane fell on the Pittsburgh-McKeesport boulevard near Bettis Field. He had taken off 15 minutes earlier from Bettis Field and was believed to have become confused in a heavy fog.

The plane, owned by the Middle-States Air Line, was used in the Pittsburgh-Akron Air Line, service begun a few weeks ago. Smith had left on the one daily flight from Pittsburgh. There were no passengers in the ship.
