CHINA AND RUSSIA PREPARE FOR WAR

China Declares Martial Law Throughout Entire Eastern Railway Area

Nationalist Government Dispatch Says Situation has Become Increasingly Grave by Derailing of Trains and Practice of Sabotage; China Orders Troops To Kirm Border to Stop Russian Raids.

Shanghai, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The Nationalist government semi-official Ta-hung news agency today issued a dispatch under a harbin date line saying: "Although no major developments have taken place on the Manchurian frontier during the past two days, both China and Russia are quietly preparing for war." The Chinese authorities declared martial law throughout the entire length of the Chinese Eastern Railway as a result of "the increasing gravity of the situation as well as because of a number of incidents also the railway such as the derailing of trains and the recurrence of sabotage by both Russian and Chinese communists."

The dispatch added that the Kirm Provincial government had ordered two artillery brigades to proceed to the eastern border of Kirm Province to oppose alleged raids by Russian troops. Telephone communications from Harbin to the Chinese have been interrupted and communist agitators are believed guilty.

Yfusen, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Dispatch to the London Daily Mail from Darton, Liaoting peninsula, said that while the Soviet and Chinese governments had bandied accusations and repudiations of Manchurian frontier raids the Soviet military administration had been quietly organizing its far-eastern army. Mobilization, the dispatch said, is now complete.

The supreme command has been given to General Gales, who under the designation of General Gallen was lent to the Chinese Nationalist government to advise in training its army. He has his headquarters with the skeleton seventeenth army corps at Novosibirsk.

The eighteenth army corps has been headquartered at Irkutsk under General Lapis, it consists of two divisions of infantry and cavalry brigades, with 40 airplanes, engineers and gas units.

The nineteenth army corps has been quartered at Khabarovsk under General Koroboff; it consists of two divisions of infantry, a cavalry brigade, and an aviation squadron. All of these divisions, concentrated at various points, are now being re-alligned along the Manchurian frontier.

There are many senior commanders among the army, many of them former czarist officers. One of the commanders is the former factory worker, Nitkin, who joined the Red army in 1918 and has developed into a fine commander.

YOUTH FAILS TO WIN OUT IN DAMAGE SUIT

Jury Fails To Sustain Damage Suit of $30,000 Against R. D. Harrington.

Daniel McVickers, youth of the Bethel community, failed to recover in his $30,000 damage suit against R. D. Harrington, wealthy landowner of this city, when a jury in the civil term of Pitt county Superior court shortly after the noon hour today returned a verdict declaring the defendant was not responsible for injuries which the young man received in the explosion of a dynamite cap in a building on the Harrington farm in the Bethel section. The jury was out only about five minutes.

The case was started Monday morning, and was probably one of the hardest fought battles witnessed in the local court room in months. The plaintiff was represented by Harding and Lee and Louis Gaylord, while the defendant was represented by Judge Albion Dunn. Attorney Gaylord made the concluding argument shortly before the noon hour and Judge Midyette, of Jackson, who is presiding in this term of court, immediately charged the jury, calling their attention to the many facts involved in the case. The jury received the case and within five minutes they returned with their verdict.

The suit was the outgrowth of injuries which young McVickers received when a dynamite cap exploded in an old house on the Harrington plantation. The youth lost a finger and an eye in the explosion in 1925 but suit was not filed until 1928, the plaintiff waiting until the full extent of the injuries could be determined. It was charged that the dynamite cap was left in the house through carelessness, but the defense contended it was not and that Mr. Harrington was not responsible for the injuries which the youth received.

The suit was filed by the father of the young man, Daniel McVickers, Sr., and was also prosecuted through him owing to the fact that the child was a minor.

Sun God Completes Trip Over Continent and Back

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Nick Mamer and Art Walker were home today after having pushed the glistening orange Sun God across the continent and back in a five day non-stop refueling flight.

The small biplane's landing gear touched the ground at Felt's Field at 5:59:40 p. m. (P. S. T.) last night, a minute less than five days after the ship was sent into the west towards San Francisco, the first refueling point.

Mamer brought the ship to a perfect landing and before it had been taxied into position near a temporary reviewing stand, Walker leaped into the arms of the mauling crowd that had broken through a double line of policemen and National guardsmen.

A few minutes later Mamer, his legs wobbly, and clothes oilspattered, climbed out of the tiny cabin of the plane. Both men were in good physical condition, but were unable to hear ordinary conversation.

Harvey White, American Legion commander of Kentucky, will be charged with entertainment of delegates to the national Legion convention at Louisville September 30 to October 3.

SMITH & SUGG MAKE ADDITION TO WAREHOUSE

Work is nearing completion on the new eighth street addition to the Star warehouse and is progressing very satisfactorily. This new addition is 91x181 feet and when completed will give the Star warehouse a total of 76,208 square feet. This will give them a modern and up-to-date warehouse in every respect.

One of the outstanding features of the improvements will be a ladies' rest room which has become very popular and is considered a necessity in every modern warehouse. The warehouse will have a new and larger entrance and driveway on Eighth street.

Rest and sleeping rooms have been built for both the white and colored farmers. Smith & Sugg look after the comfort and interest of their customers all the time. The Star is owned and operated by Smith and Sugg and is the oldest warehouse firm in Greenville. Smith & Sugg have owned and operated the Star for the past sixteen years and number their friends in Eastern Carolina by the thousands.

Pajama Dance.

Daytona Beach, Fla.—Pajamas are to be worn by both sexes at a dance under the auspices of the city recreation department on the boardwalk Monday night. No other attire will be permitted.

The new building program provides for erection and completion of units to the training school and class rooms, the erection of an administration building and infirmary. Plans for the buildings were completed sometime ago and notices for the receiving of bids were advertised for today. Contract for the plumbing and heating was also to be awarded today, it was understood.

It was not stated when work in connection with construction of the new buildings and additions would get under way, but it was presumed that it would be started as soon as possible after the contracts have been awarded.

Swiss Fliers Believed Lost In The Atlantic On Flight To America

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The same silence which has shrouded outcome of other westward trans-Atlantic flight ventures today cloaked the end of the attempt of two Swiss by aviators, Oscar Kaeser and Kurt Luescher, to reach New York from Lisbon.

Nothing has been heard or seen of the two airmen and their snow white plane, the Jungschweizerland or "Young Switzerland," since it circled a village on Terceira Island, Azores at 1 p. m. E. S. T. Monday and continued north and west toward New Foundland, Nova Scotia and New York.

There was scant hope that either the plane or its crew of two had survived the great adventure, and had not gone the way of other trans-Atlantic failures, to a silent mysterious disaster. "Somewhere out at sea."

Leaving Juncal, a village near Lisbon, Portugal, at 7:50 a. m. (1:39 a. m. E. S. T.) Monday, the young Switzerland was sighted by once, by the German steamship Werra, 175 miles west of Lisbon, before it reached the Azores, circling Praia Victoria, Terceira Island, 11 1-2 hours after its start.

The two aviators, maintaining their average speed of 90 miles an hour might have been expected to be in the neighborhood of Cape Race, New Foundland, at 4 a. m. E. S. T. yesterday, and at Halifax, where they had planned to stop for refueling at 10 a. m.

However, neither Halifax nor Cape Race reported any word of them. The entire coast reported skies and a heavy fog bank, which presented adverse flying conditions and hoping for their safety waned rapidly as the hours passed without news.

At Roosevelt Field, Long Island, the landing lights were kept on with the hope the plane might appear overhead after all, but after several hours a small crowd of Swiss nationals and other aviators dispersed convinced of the hopelessness of their vigil.

Ships at sea, nine of them in the course of the aviators, were asked to report any word of the plane but without result. If the plane came down on the Atlantic near a ship and the airmen were saved the ship could only have been one without wireless since otherwise there probably would have been some word of the rescue.

There was a chance that like the Bremen or Baron Von Huenfeldt, Captain James Fitzmaurice, and Captain Herman Koehl, the plane had reached the American continent and alighted in a desolate out of the way spot, but the chance was slim.

Dr. James H. Kimball, meteorologist, at the New York weather bureau, said the weather conditions were not altogether discouraging, but the overcast skies and heavy fog probably presented a serious problem for the inexperienced aviator, who was navigating the ship. They probably flew "blind" most of the way from the Azores. The usual adverse head winds prevailing.

The two aviators were the youngest and least experienced ever to attempt the dangerous crossing although made once by the German plane Bremen has come to be regarded by aviators as suicidal. Kaeser was 21 years old, Luescher 22. Both began flying in 1927.

Their plane was a French made Farman with a single 230 horsepower motor, a type of proven work Luescher, the navigator, confessed upon leaving Lisbon his knowledge of the mariner's science was limited but said he had "handled a sextant and knew something of making calculations" and expected he could get them by all right.

The plane carried no radio, but was equipped with a rubber life boat, rubber lifesaving belt, and an apparatus for distilling sea water. The plane itself probably could not remain afloat long if forced down.

DERBY FLIERS IN THE AIR AGAIN TODAY

Coroner's Jury Find That Marvel Crosson's Death Was Accidental.

Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Sixteen entrants remaining in the women's "air" derby from Santa Monica, Calif., to Cleveland, took off from here at 6:20 a. m. (M. S. T.) today headed for El Paso, Texas, approximately 190 miles away. Mrs. Edith Miller, of New Zealand, led the fliers, followed at two minute intervals by the others.

Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Caddened by the death of one of their number in a crash, 16 women pilots of the Santa Monica to Cleveland air derby had their ships on the line ready for the take off on the fourth lap today. The seventh and last remaining contestant was at Phoenix, planning to catch up today and join in the flight through New Mexico and Texas.

The body of Marvel Crosson, 25-year-old flier who plunged to a rocky, mesquite-grown Arizona hillside Monday under a partly opened parachute, was being sent back to her family home in San Diego, Cal. A coroner's jury found her death had been accidental.

Closely following the San Diego girl's death came insinuations and open charges, for the most part discounted by race officials pending investigation, that sabotage had been practiced on several planes entered in the contest. Claire Fahy, Los Angeles woman forced out of the race at Calexico, Cal., when stay wires of her plane were found severed. Reiterated her belief that her ship had been tampered with.

Thea Rasche, German aviatrix, who spent last night at Phoenix, after "foreign matter in her gasoline tank" had caused her to land with damage to her plane under carriage at Holiville, Cal., declined to say openly that she suspected tampering. She exhibited a telegram from the east signed "Levy," which warned her to "beware of Sabotage." The Los Angeles girl reported oil and gasoline had been intermixed in servicing her plane at San Bernardino.

The stir created by a series of minor mishaps, climaxed by the death of Miss Crosson, moved the district attorney's office of San Bernardino county to order a formal hearing today to investigate the handling of the planes at the San Bernardino airport Sunday night.

Most of the accidents occurred after the planes had left San Bernardino for the cross-desert flight to Yuma and Phoenix.

Dr. L. W. Ayres, chairman of the San Bernardino race committee, declared he "could not believe there was any tampering with the planes."

"I do believe, however, Dr. Ayres stated, "that there was woeful lack of preparation for the cross country race."

The race chairman reported that Miss Crosson had her motor had been heating, with reducing oil pressure, on the first leg of the flight from Clover Field, Santa Monica. Officials of the Pacific Aermotive corporation, servicing Miss Crosson's plane, said in Los Angeles, however, that the girl had made no report to them of any trouble.

Trans-Continental Flier in N. Mexico

Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Captain Roscoe Turner, with three passengers, landed here at 6:50 a. m. on his transcontinental trip to New York from Los Angeles. He refueled and departed for the east at 7:15. He reported his plane performed as expected. He averaged about 140 miles an hour on his trip here.

PAUL TURNER REVEALED AS OLD CRIMINAL

Raleigh, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Although identified as a two-terminer in federal prisons, the tall, dark-haired chap who called himself Paul Turner while doing "a bit" at state prison and treating radio audiences to his voice as the "mystery singer" is still a bit of a mystery to police.

Just now the chief mystery is as to his present whereabouts. The particular interest in them is on the part of police of Charleston, W. Va. If they could find Paul they would ask him to answer several charges of passing worthless checks that have been filed against him.

The musical former prisoner is shown by records at state prison to have served terms in Leavenworth and Atlanta federal penitentiaries under the names of "Ralph Courtney" and "Hayes Walker." His real name is believed at state prison to be Paul Schmidt and his home New York.

Turner as he called himself was released here June 21 after serving part of a term for grand larceny. He was convicted of killing a pedestrian with his automobile in Henderson county.

Turner, the musical convict admitted it was not his true name with the explanation that the alias was "to protect my family." He was a favorite performer from Raleigh's commercial radio station, singing and playing his own accompaniment.

French Flier To Attempt To Catch Graf Zeppelin In Flight Around World

Le Bourget France, Aug. 21.—which he recently attempted to cross the Atlantic from east to west will seek to make the distance from Le Bourget to Vladivostok, Siberia, in a single flight tomorrow.

He says he intends to refuel at Vladivostok and then to fly to Tokyo which he expected to reach by nine p. m. Saturday.

Roy Keene, executive of the Pantages theaters, is held as material witness in the case against his employer, Alexander Pantages, charged with a criminal attack on Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer.

GRAF ZEPPELIN IS ALL SET TO CONTINUE TRIP

Tokyo, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A windless and almost cloudless oriental sunset today pledged the element's assistance for the start of the Graf Zeppelin's flight across the great oceans from Tokyo to Los Angeles.

Just before midnight crew members completed the refueling of the ship. Stores, lubricants and food-stuffs were stowed away for the longest overseas flight yet attempted by any craft. The distance across the Pacific is estimated at 5,000 miles, requiring about 160 hours of flying.

LEADERS SET FAST PACE IN BIG LEAGUES

By HERBERT W. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The two major league races have developed almost identical situations, with the Philadelphia Athletics 12 games in front of their nearest American league opponent and the Chicago Cubs nine and one-half games to the good in the National circuit.

Although the Cubs got no better than an even break with the New York Giants they increased their lead by half a game as the Pittsburgh Pirates took another on the chin from the Phillies.

Both Cub-Giant games were pitchers' battles. Freddy Fitzsimmons outpitched Guy Bush in the opener and the Giants won by 4 to 1. In the nightcap, however, Hal Carlson blanked the Giants with six hits and the Cubs won 1-0.

Bush, losing his third game of the season as against 17 victories, was the victim of some poor fielding by McMillan and English. Wild throws by these Cub infielders paved the way for all four Giant runs. Fitzsimmons, however, would have had a shutout himself had not Bill Terry dropped an easy throw in the ninth.

Carl Hubbell gave Carlson a great argument in the second game, a triple by Hornsby and Wilson's single giving the Cubs the only run of the game in the fourth.

The Phils conquered the Pirates for the third time in a row by a 4-0 count. Brant was shelled for eight Phil runs in the first three innings but Petty and Hill held the Quakers scoreless thereafter. Lou Koussal pitched great ball until the seventh when the Corsairs scored five runs, three of them on Paul Waner's homer. Claude Willoughby rushed to the rescue and held the Pittsburghers unless the rest of the way.

Thanks to another brilliant pitching performance by Ray Moss, the Brooklyn Dodgers got an even break in two games with the St. Louis Cardinals. After Wee Willie Sherdel had outpitched Dazzy Vance to give the Cards the first game, 3-2, Moss blanked the Red Birds with four hits and walked off with a 4-0 triumph, his fourth successive win.

Red Lucas pitched the Cincinnati Reds to an easy 6-2 victory over Boston to record his 14th win of the season.

In the American league the New York Yankees picked up a game on the Athletics by beating Chicago 6-4, while the A's were losing to St. Louis 2-1.

Ralph Kress' homer with one on in the sixth decided a tight pitchers' battle between Alvin Crowder of the Browns and George Earnshaw and Jack Quinn of the A's at St. Louis. Crowder permitted only four hits.

Urban Faber, veteran Chicago right hander, was presented with various gifts on "his day" by 18,000 fans, but he could not check a heavy Yankee batting assault. The Yankee bunched their 11 hits to good advantage. Tom Zachary received credit for his ninth straight victory of the season although Wiley Moore was called to the rescue in the seventh.

Burke was knocked out of the box in the first inning by Cleveland but Mike Thayer stopped the Indians dead thereafter and Washington walked away with a 6-2 victory. Thomas came in with two runs over the bases filled and came out in the 3rd inning. He retired the side without further scoring and allowed only six hits all told.

The tamagone Boston Red Sox assaulted three Detroit pitchers for 14 hits and beat the Tigers 12-5. Charlie Ruffalo went the route for Boston although he was nipped for 12 hits. He aided his own cause with a double and two singles, drove in one run and scored two.

FOUNTAIN IS WINNER OVER MACCLESFIELD

In one of the most spectacular ball games played on the Fountain diamond in many a day, the strong Fountain club defeated Macclesfield yesterday afternoon by the score of 6 to 3. A crowd estimated between 1,000 and 1,500 people witnessed the game and cheered madly as the home team piled up a score which the visitors found impossible to overcome in the last frame.

Macclesfield led in the scoring by a one run margin until the eighth inning, when the Fountain artillery got busy and hammered out sufficient blows to send four runners racing across the rubber. Visitors made a desperate attempt to overcome the lead in the ninth but the rally fell short and the side was retired with the local club holding a three run lead.

The game was made the more colorful by the appearance of such characters as Mark Webb, one time Virginia leaguer and member of the old Eastern Carolina league, who did the first part of the hurling for Macclesfield. The big left hander looked like he meant to walk away with the game by a comfortable margin, but the Fountain rally in the eighth proved his undoing and he was driven to the showers in favor of Pace.

Forbes did the hurling for Fountain and while he pitched fairly good ball, he was relieved in favor of Pittman who held the hard-hitting Macclesfield club to a minimum of hits during the remainder of the game. Fountain obtained ten hits against Macclesfield six.

While there were numbers of bright spots connected with the contest, the heavy stick work of the Fountain club was unquestionably the most outstanding feature of the game. The hits bunched in the eighth frame provided an offensive that set the hundreds of fans wild and enabled the home club to walk off the diamond with one of the most thrilling victories of the season.

The two clubs will meet again at Macclesfield tomorrow. It was stated that attendance was expected to be equally as large as that of the game yesterday which broke all records for the season.

The score by innings:

R. H. E.
Macclesfield	0 20 100 000-3 6 2
Fountain	0 00 020 04x-6 10 0

Batteries: Webb, Pace and Sharp - Forbes, Pittman and Fulford.

PIRATES WIN DOUBLE BILL FROM GREENS

The Wilmington Pirates took a doubleheader from Greenville yesterday in games that were rather loosely played on the part of the locals. The scores were 11-3 and 6-2.

Skelton, for Greenville, outpitched the opposing moundsman in the second affair, but five costly errors by the local infield figured in a majority of the visitors runs.

Max Schmeling To Sail For Germany

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, whose license has been revoked by the New York State Athletic Commission for his refusal to meet Phil Scott under the promotion of Humbert Fugazy, has arrived in New York after an exhibition tour extending to the Pacific coast, and will sail Saturday for Germany. He plans to return to the United States after a brief vacation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT THE

OLD GOLD CONCEALED NAME CIGARETTE TEST

Ask us another if we haven't answered here every question ever asked about it

QUESTION: Does OLD GOLD publish the score of every public test taken?

ANSWER: Yes... win, lose or draw!

QUESTION: Is OLD GOLD always the same number?

ANSWER: No. In the actual tests there are no numbers on the cigarette tests. The smoker, himself, tears off the paper masks and finds out for himself which cigarette he has chosen as best.

QUESTION: Is the Concealed Name Test a "guessing contest" . . . does the smoker attempt to guess brand names?

ANSWER: Decidedly not! The smoker states only which cigarette tastes best to him, and does not try to guess the name.

QUESTION: Who conducts these tests?

ANSWER: Never the makers of OLD GOLDS, or their agents. The tests are conducted by certified public accountants, or officials of the organization or institution under whose auspices the tests are given.

QUESTION: Are all competing brands equally fresh and in precisely the same condition?

ANSWER: All four brands are purchased before each test at the same time in the same store out of retail stock, just as the public buys them . . . and the clerk who sells them certifies the purchase.

QUESTION: Does the official conducting the test know which cigarette is which while the smoker is making the test?

ANSWER: No! The cigarettes are arranged in sets of four . . . one each of the four leading brands. Then they are masked . . . their names completely concealed. When the official hands out these masked cigarettes it is impossible for him, or anyone, to know one from another.

NOTE: Why not make this test yourself in your own home? We'll be happy to send you a set of the brand name masks and complete instructions . . . Write to P. Lorillard Co., 119 West 40th Street, New York City.

They carried a heavy body into the room—it was Professor Laxton!

Chapter 9
ENTER THE PROFESSOR

The whispered words almost echoed in the stillness of the library—"It's a man—I don't know if he's dead!"

Wayne snapped an order to the constable:

"Go and see what it is, Sanderson, and report back here alone. Nobody else is to enter this room."

Wayne faced us across a high mountain of suspicion. If this was a trick, he seemed to sav, the tricksters should discover that he was not a man to be played with.

But it was no trick. The constable came back within a minute and said something to Wayne. The inspector answered:

"Very well, I'll go. Keep guard, Sanderson. These gentlemen are to stay as they are—Dr. Eastley will you please come with me?"

The minutes went on—two, four, five—

There was a shuffle of footsteps outside. Wayne's voice called to the policeman to open. Wayne came in first, walking backwards. He carried the shoulders of a heavy man. Eastley appeared holding him under the knees. They lifted their burden to the table and stretched him out.

"There aren't two corpses on our hands," said Wayne, as though to relieve us. "This man's not dead. He's got a bit of concussion. He was found in a small passage off the corridor outside, leaning to a wine cellar. How he got there the servants don't know. Your butler stumbled over him. And nobody seems to have seen him before. Do you know him?"

"No," said Mr. Fotherbury. "I've never seen him."

"And you, gentlemen?"

"But nobody knew the man on the table except me, and I remember that Laxton had asked me to keep his visit on Sunday night secret. I forgot that as I had met him a week before at the British Museum my denial must be confounded whenever his identity came out."

But I looked calmly down on Laxton's features and shook my head with the rest.

Eastley worked over the man with feverish haste, the inspector standing by fidgeting with a button of his coat. Presently he spoke to the constable.

"Sanderson, go and fetch the butler."

All of us save Eastley were looking at the door when the butler came in—a middle-aged man in black, extremely scared.

"You're the butler?" said Wayne. "Tell me what happened. Do you know this man?" But the butler did not know him.

"Where did you see him this afternoon?"

"Lying in the passage leading to the wine cellar. It's rather dark just there. I fell over him."

"Well? Go on."

"I picked myself up and went and switched on the light. Then I saw him. Thought he was dead. Ran out and called the footmen."

"And then you called me. I see. Now, Mr.—"

"Carter," said Mr. Fotherbury. "Now, Mr. Carter, how did he get into the house? Did the footman see him come in?"

"Ferris says 'No.' Nobody came into the house after you and the constable."

The butler had nothing else to tell. Wayne guided him out of the room.

The footman could tell the inspector very little more than Carter. But the little was important.

He had been on duty in the hall all the afternoon. He admitted the inspector and the constable. After them, nobody. The last before them was Mr. Pell.

The footman had not shown Pell to the library, as he knew the way very well. The others were familiar with the room and the minute or two necessary to take me to the library and to return was the only time the hall had been left unattended since a quarter to three. On his way back to the hall he had seen no one.

Although one could certainly enter the house through the kitchen or the conservatory at the other end from the library, no one could reach the corridor without passing through the hall. So that, it seemed proven, in the two minutes while I was being escorted to the library, two persons entered the house. One was Laxton, the other the person responsible for Laxton's present condition.

Wayne had a plateful—a murder and seven men any one of whom, in his suspicion, might have done it. And now an unconscious, unknown man, apparently the victim of another outrage.

Wayne dismissed the footman and turned to Eastley.

"What do you make of him?"

"Nothing serious, I think. He's taken a hard upper-cut fair on the chin. A basin of water and a teaspoonful of brandy—and that's that."

"Then for heaven's sake get him out of this. Here, Sanderson—help the doctor to carry him away."

Laxton was hauled off the table and carried out of the room. Wayne closed the door, and we were back again in the old posture of suspicion and defense, with the form of Pell on the floor before us, and the old oppression closing down.

Quite clearly Wayne did not know what to do.

I became aware that Somerfield had pulled a piece of writing paper out of a stand on the table and scribbled a few words on it before pushing it to Royle, who glanced at it and nodded. Wayne was also aware of it.

"I'll see that, please!" he rapped out in a voice that made us all jump.

"Surely," said Somerfield quietly, passing the paper to me. I handed it on. Wayne read it.

"What's the little game?" he asked. "You've written, 'He's forgotten the keyhole.' What do you mean by that?"

"Just that you've forgotten the keyhole," said Somerfield, "and nobody else has thought of it. I'm just guessing that Pell's message may have arrived from outside—that Roger Pell was shot through the keyhole!" (Copyright, 1929, Wm. Morrow Co.)

Has Somerfield stumbled on the solution of the murder? Continue the story tomorrow.

Sees Greater Need Of Supervision of Town Governments

Chapel Hill, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Greater supervision of municipal government by state authorities is needed in North Carolina, Professor E. J. Woodhouse, university professor of government and former mayor of Northampton, Mass., today told the University of North Carolina's school of police practice and administration.

"In the states of this country," said Professor Woodhouse, "there is little central supervision by the state authorities of the acts of officials of counties, cities and towns in carrying out state law."

Professor Woodhouse gave an example by pointing out that recently the people of Durham were under the impression that their mayor and city council had no authority to build an auditorium with the city's money, without submitting the matter to a vote of the people.

"The result of a lack of state administrative or executive forces, so which these citizens might appeal, resulted in them spending their own money for legal advice," Professor Woodhouse said.

"Irrespective of the expediency of building the auditorium," said the professor, "or of submitting the proposal to a popular vote, it is undoubtedly a defect in our state governmental system that there are no state officials specifically charged with the duty of seeing that the county, city and town officers carry out the state law."

Dr. Woodhouse called attention to law supervision in France and Germany, and ended his remarks by saying, "Creation of the state advisory fund and county government advisory commissions are not worthy steps in this direction."

Invisible Light Used in Medical Photography Now

Boston, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Infrared rays, the "invisible light" which the camera peers far into, is now being used in medical photography to photograph living tissue.

The Frenchmen exclude all visible light from the photographic plate which is specially sensitized to the infra-red emotions. They said that because of the extra length these rays penetrate into and reveal some of the outer portions of living cells. They describe photography in a kidney study that revealed organisms "entirely missing in the microscopic examinations by the eye."

Boys whose playmates tease them as being "crasy" when their legs fall to jerk at a blow on the reflex at the knee may some day know the scientific reason for the failure. Prof. Genichi Kato of Keio University, Tokyo, an authority on nerves, reported a theory to explain why a strong nerve impulse sometimes results in a weak reaction in a muscle, while a weak stimulus gives a strong muscular response. The theory is that the successive signals of the strong impulse tend to overrun and blot out each other. The scientific value of the theory concerns the unreachable central nervous system which physiologists are attempting to analyze.

In an interview Prof. Kato said the action of the impulse might be understood by a layman by reference to the knee jerk.

FIFTEEN ARRESTED IN RAID AT CHARLOTTE

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Fifteen persons had been arrested in and around Charlotte today within two hours after prohibition enforcement officials began a roundup of bootleggers and moonshiners. All were taken to the county jail. Officers working under the direction of Deputy Prohibition Administrator J. E. Kanipe were recent as to the extent of the raid. It was said that several dozen warrants had been prepared for service by United States Marshals. The raids it was said, were expected to extend into Gaston county.

DECLARE WAR AGAINST INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Swallows Diamond Ring

San Francisco, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Possession may be nine points of the law but it won't help Lawrence Morris if the police can obtain some desired assistance from physicians and an x-ray machine here today. Lawrence admitted taking a $900 diamond ring from the apartment of Mrs. Margaret Kelly, where he was sent to polish floors but said he swallowed it accidentally.

See The Big Show.

New York—One fellow with a mighty wallop likes to see another in action. When Cyril Tolley and three other British golfers arrived on the way to Pebble Beach, it was at first proposed that they see the women's national tennis tourney. They decided that Babe Ruth would be a better show. The Yanks beat away Rogers Hornsby was offered as a substitute. "He'll do," said the Britishers, and they watched the Cubs play the Giants.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The cotton market opened steady today with a decline of 10 to 17 points under realization of liquidation. The disposition to take profits was evidently increased by relatively easy Liverpool cables and a possibility that the rains in the north west might be south and relieve droughty conditions in Texas and Western Oklahoma. Early offerings were readily absorbed, however, and the market stiffened up on a continuation of the recent buying movement which was accomplished by talk of a probable bullish weekly report from the weather bureau.

October sold up from 18.45 to 18.62 and March from 19.04 to 19.14 with the market ruling 1 to 6 points net lower at the end of the first half hour.

Cable advices reported heavy Bombay selling and a falling in the Liverpool market.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Acute scarcity of storage room for grain at leading markets, Minneapolis and Duluth in particular, sent wheat values downward 6 3/8 a bushel here today. Lack of export demand counted as a further depressing influence, as did favorable weather conditions northwest likely to increase the movement of wheat from rural sources. Heavy selling on the part of holders of wheat future deliveries here was in evidence and meant that the absolute embargo against wheat shipments to Europe for export had been lifted and that a permit system had been substituted to get an offset for the downward swing of prices.

Wheat closed greatly unsettled at 1 3/8 a bushel under yesterday's finish; corn closed irregular at 1 1/4 net decline; 101 advices 1-2 to 1 1/8 off, and revisions unchanged to a setback of 5c.

October sold up from 18.45 to 18.62 and March from 19.04 to 19.14 with the market ruling 1 to 6 points net lower at the end of the first half hour.

Cable advices reported heavy Bombay selling and a falling in the Liverpool market.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Acute scarcity of storage room for grain at leading markets, Minneapolis and Duluth in particular, sent wheat values downward 6 3/8 a bushel here today.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The stock market, having experienced a almost-perpendicular advance since the drastic break of August 9, today showed signs of tiring under the steadily expanding stream of profit-taking and short selling. Ports succeeded in whirling up about a dozen high priced industrials and specialties, including U. S. Steel, common, Union Carbide, Westinghouse Electric and Bethlehem Steel, to new high records, but other recent favorites lost ground, giving the market an irregular appearance. Despite that the bulk of professional speculative activity was in the high priced issues beyond the reach of many small traders, the volume of business was relatively large.

Weekly iron trade reviews continued optimistic. Iron Age reported that "a tapering demand for steel is yet to be reflected definitely in mill operations, which are still at near capacity rate in most districts." It points out that shipments are cutting heavily into backlogs in some lines. Real Silk Hosiery dividends on the common stock after a lapse of two years, and there were a number of favorable earnings reports.

Call money was in plentiful supply and the rate dropped from 7 to 6 per cent, the lowest since Aug. 14. This had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment. There was no change in other monetary accommodations.

Estman Kodak ran up 11 points to 216. Union Carbide 8 to 132. Commercial Solvents 7 to 504. Commercial Investment Trust 6 to 203. Westinghouse Electric 5 to 258 7-8. Bethlehem Steel 5 to 125 1-2. United Aircraft 5 to 141, and U. S. Steel common, 4 3-4 to 252 1-2, all new high records. Sharp gains also were recorded by Allied Chemicals, Johns-Manville, Brooklyn Union Gas and Gillette Safety Razor.

Peoples Gas broke 16 points and Allis-Chalmers Case Threshing, International Telephone, American Power & Light and American &

THREE MINERS KILLED BY TIMBER GAS

Wallace, Idaho, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Three miners were killed and another was overcome by timber gas caused by smoke from nearby forest fires, in the cedar mining and development company's mine southeast of Mary yesterday.

The dead were Russell Lee, W. N. Welch and Harold Mathews. George Reese who made his way to the surface before he collapsed was expected to recover.

Bans Pajama Dance At Little Rock, Ark.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The realm of the pajama is the bedroom and not the ballroom, so it is ruled in an official pronouncement which has gone out here.

A local casino advertised a "pajama dance" for tonight. Women's clubs protested and yesterday Assistant Prosecuting Attorney E. G. Shoffner issued a manifesto to Sheriff R. A. Cook, notifying the officer he would be within his rights in preventing the event.

Whereupon Sheriff Cook announced pajamas were out as terno-scholar attire and that he would halt the scheduled dance.

Promoters of the dance took another view, and threatened to apply for an injunction today to prevent interference by the sheriff.

Nanchui stated that Soviet troops along the frontier were adopting a provocative attitude, apparently seeking to test public opinion regarding Russian military action. In the event of the absence of a hostile public opinion Soviet Russia is expected soon to launch a formal offensive against China.

This same agency issued another bulletin under a Mukden date saying: "It is learned that some Japanese military officers were found within the Soviet army. It is reported that the Soviet and Japan have entered an agreement whereby Japan promising to give up fishing rights in North Saghalien in favor of Japan. In addition it is believed that Japan is strongly opposed to the Powers' intervention in the Sino-Russian crisis which move the United States is believed to have attempted."

(Presumably this latter reference is to an identical aide memoire which Secretary of State Simpson sent to the powers interested some weeks ago. The exact terms of this aide memoire were not made public but Russian dispatches have stated that it suggested an international commission to operate the Chinese Eastern Railway pending settlement of the dispute.)
