TELLS ABOUT $5,000 PAID TO CHRONICLE

Augusta Newspaperman Describes International Deal With Harold Hall.

Macon, Ga., Aug. 23.—(AP)—W. S. Morris, Jr., auditor of the Augusta, Ga. Chronicle, today testified in U. S. District court that $5,000 advanced the paper by the International Paper and Power Co. after the suit for the control of the newspaper was filed by Harold Hall, was necessary to protect its interest and preserve public confidence. Morris told of the advance yesterday under court examination by attorneys for William Lavarre against whom the suit was filed by Hall. The auditor on redirect examination today, said the funds were used to pay prizes in a subscription contest and that if these awards had not been made public confidence in the paper would have been endangered and its financial standing hurt. This was the only advance made, he testified.

The witness said when the suit was filed in superior court of Richmond county, Georgia, he was employed as bookkeeper for (1) paper, but at Hall's request he was made auditor and his salary raised.

A signature from the Georgia Railroad Bank of Augusta bearing the names of Hall, Lavarre and Morris is authorized to sign checks on the Chronicle was entered as evidence. Morris testified that after the Federal Trade Commission began its investigation of financing of various newspapers by power companies, Lavarre went to the bank and scratched the names of Hall and Morris from the card substituting the name of George A. Cass, general manager, but the bank refused to recognize it on the grounds that it had not been authorized by the board of directors.

After the injunction asked by Hall restraining Lavarre from interfering in the management of the paper had been granted and Thomas J. Hamilton, the editor, resigned temporary receiver for the stock and assets, Morris said Hamilton, J. C. McCauliffe, associated editor and secretary of the Chronicle Publishing Co. were authorized to draw checks, pending settlement of the suit.

Hamilton was the next witness called and testified concerning negotiations for the sale of Chronicle of which he was editor and publisher to Hall and Lavarre and said that Lavarre at one time referred to Hall as his partner saying "I have been looking many months for just such a partner as Hall."

Many Villages Are Flooded By Rampaging River

Bombay, India, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Reports from Karachi today said the flooding river Indus, swollen by 30 hours of rain since a dam broke on the upper part of its course, was submerging many villages along its bank and carried the dead bodies of many villagers, cattle and even wild animals.

Negro Murderer Electrocuted At Montgomery, Ala.

Montgomery, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Lester Cover, negro, died in the electric chair at Kilby prison shortly after midnight for the murder of Jack Hines, young Eufaula, Ala. mechanic, on the night of July 10. He entered the death chamber at 12:12 a. m. and was pronounced dead at 12:26 a. m.

Buoy made a lengthy statement before the court was turned on. He admitted shooting Hines to death but denied having attacked Hines' young woman companion, which he was said to have admitted also shortly after his capture.

Britain Rejects New Compromise Proposal At Hague Conference

The Hague, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, this afternoon rejected the new compromise proposals offered him by the other four principal creditor powers to satisfy the British demands for an increased share of German reparations.

The Hague, Aug. 23.—(AP)—New hope that an agreement eventually may be found at the reparations conference was raised today with the announcement that tomorrow's full session of the conference, which had been expected to be the last, had been postponed.

Postponement of the full session was announced after this morning's meetings of the groups seeking a compromise between Great Britain and the four other creditor powers. The delegates, who had begun to despair of an agreement on the Young plan, felt hopeful again inasmuch as the final break-up of the conference had been put off.

Premier Briand of France, Foreign Secretary Henderson of Great Britain, and Foreign Minister

Stresemann of Germany, all of whom had counted on leaving The Hague after tomorrow's meeting, which had been expected to be decisive, now are understood to be making arrangements to prolong their stay here and to continue their efforts into the middle of next week.

During the day the four creditor powers and Germany met and discussed the situation. They heard the report of Premier Jaspars of Belgium, on his talk with Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, last night and decided to give somewhat added precision to their offer which was said to approximate 75 per cent of the sum demanded by Great Britain.

Premier Jaspars was delegated to see the British chancellor again and made a hasty trip to Mr. Snowden's hotel. He came back with a report on his second interview whereupon the five powers adjourned to meet again later in the day.

The four powers interested in the occupation of the Rhineland held a half-hour session and then adjourned without having arrived at definite results.

Tomorrow Is Report Day In Reflector Campaign

Candidates Should Report Before Eight O'clock.

Yesterday we printed a list of all candidates entered up to Wednesday night in the Reflector $6000.00 campaign. This list did not show the active candidates. Monday we will print the first vote score. This will include all reports made up to eight o'clock tomorrow night. This will give the candidates who as yet have not had an opportunity to report a chance to get what subscriptions that have been promised them in the campaign office to be included in the first vote score. These candidates, who have not produced subscriptions to date realize they must do so in order to come in for one of the wonderful prizes and judging from the amount of business turned in so far it will not take many subscriptions to lead the first count Monday.

Monday's score will tell a story—it will tell who's who—it will show the candidates that are out to win who realize that this campaign is a real money making campaign. Ten candidates will make in the next few weeks anywhere from $100.00 to $1275.00 that must be interesting to all. These ten candidates are no doubt listed among those entered and it will be interesting to learn just who will be the successful candidates as all have such an equal chance and honors so far are even.

All the world loves a winner and everyone follows the leader as the saying goes. We know what it means to be successful in a campaign of this nature to say nothing of the financial gain. As for leading the list we can only say that candidates stand a much better chance of getting the support so necessary to win if they can show their friends that they are really doing it their share. To these candidates it is unnecessary to say that the more business they get in tomorrow night the better their standing.

Tomorrow will be more than a report day it will see the candidates already entered trying to maintain their position and reports from all others entered who realize that no one has turned in enough business to "clinch" a prize.

We expect to hear from each and every candidate entered. Whether or not you have subscriptions. In other words we want to know who's who. To the candidates who have entered but for some reason or other have not had the chance to report we have this to say. This is the best money making proposition that has ever been sponsored by a Greenville organization. All have an equal chance at the very best prizes. Votes and votes alone will win one candidate has as good a chance as the other if they go after the business. Some four candidates will win four nice new autos in exchange for their spare time effort. Who will these four candidates be? May be the first vote score will tell who has the best chance it will at least show the leaders. Will you lead for a car Monday?

TWO HANGED FOR MURDER IN QUEBEC

Trapper and Mother of Eight Die For Killing Woman's Husband.

Hull, Quebec, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Philip Lefebvre, 32 years old trapper from the Gratiacene hills and Marie Viau, 42 years old, mother of eight children, were hanged today for the murder of the woman's husband seven months ago.

As the rain poured down in the jail yard, the trapper went to the gallows first, followed 16 minutes later by Mrs. Viau. She was the sixth woman in the history of the Dominion to be hanged. They were convicted of poisoning Zephyr Viau.

Although wooden screens and curtains had been placed about the scaffold to hide it from the curious, a large crowd milled about the walls of the jailyard during the double execution.

Two masses were said for the condemned before they were led to the scaffold.

Mrs. Viau was the more composed of the two as they waited in their cells. While she sat stern and unmoved, Lefebvre sobbed and fretted.

Although Mrs. Viau had expressed a desire to see him before they went to their deaths, he expressed no such wish. One of his last acts was to write a letter to his father asking forgiveness for what he had done.

The couple were arrested after authorities found poison in Viau's body. His sudden death and hasty burial aroused the suspicions of the village priest of Montpelier, near here, who communicated with authorities.

At their trial last spring neither made any attempt to deny the charges.

ASK POSTPONEMENT OF SCHNEIDER RACES

Rome, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Italy today officially asked England to postpone the date of the Blue Bird Schneider Cup races, scheduled to be held in England September 6 and 7, because of the death of Captain Giuseppe Motta, member of the Italian cup team and vice-commander of the school of high velocity at Desenzano.

Sino-Russian Situation Grows More Serious As Troops Continue Moving

London, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Rapidly increasing military activity on the Sino-Russian Manchurian frontier was held in certain quarters today to represent a more serious situation, one possibly portending actual hostilities.

Important troop movements were in progress, both in the U. S. S. R., and by the Provincial and Chinese governments, although there was nothing to indicate that, aside from minor border clashes, there had been an actual outbreak of fighting. Chinese sources maintained they had information of an impending Russian advance in strength, with the plan of battle given as advance on Pogranichnaya from two sides, after which Harbin would be taken, after which Soviet gunboats advancing down the Sugari river to aid in the fighting.

TWO KILLED IN GUN DUEL IN CLOVER, GA.

Father and Daughter's Admirer Shot it Out Before Gathering of Townspeople

Clover, Ga., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Two men who met in the center of town by "brist" to fight a duel with shot-guns at arms' length were dead today as the culmination of a father's objection to a married man's purported attentions to his daughter.

The duel, witnessed by a gathering of townspeople, marked the end of months of enmity between Pate Huddleston, 53, and Marcus Brown, 42, both farmers. The trouble between them was climaxed by the second alleged elopement of Brown, who was the father of eight children, with Huddleston's daughter.

The father sent a message to Brown warning him to desist in his attentions to his daughter. Brown, infuriated by the message, was said to have challenged the father to meet him at a designated spot on the town's principal street yesterday afternoon.

The townspeople had heard of the challenge and a crowd of men had gathered with hope of preventing the duel.

Huddleston already had arrived and was seated in front of the store when a shotgun on his lap when Brown came up also carrying a shotgun. Both guns were loaded with buckshot.

Huddleston followed Brown into the store. Brown stepped in the store and Huddleston went out through the back way and toward the front where he recognized his seat.

Brown walked out firing as if to pass down the street but suddenly wheeled, firing the lead of his loaded shotgun into Huddleston's chest. Huddleston, fatally wounded, fell from his leg. The charge taking effect in Brown's chest and causing instant death. The sun's recoil brought Huddleston to the sidewalk. He died a few hours later.

Ask English Mill Workers to Accept Half of Wage Cut

Manchester, Eng., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Lancashire cotton mill workers were asked today to accept a reduction of 6.41 per cent in their wages. Just half what their employers sought more than a month ago to impose.

The Arbitration court, appointed last week when the workers went back to their jobs after remaining away three weeks, stopping the mills, took only two days to arrive at its findings.

Its five members agreed the cotton industry was in an exceedingly depressed condition, but were not sure a wage reduction was the proper cure.

The employers previously had asked for a reduction of 25 per cent on the standard price list, which would have meant 12 1-2 per cent on the current rates of wages paid to more than 500,000 workers. The arbitration board decided to award a 13 1-2 per cent reduction on the standard list, which is about 6.41 per cent reduction in actual wages.

It was believed both employees and employers would accept the new scale.

After Hours Of Delay Zeppelin Resumes Long Trip Around The World

Kasumi, Japan, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Turning its nose eastward for the first night of an airship over the Pacific ocean, the Graf Zeppelin, mighty German air liner, left here at 3:10 p. m. (1:13 a. m. E. S. T.) today for Los Angeles.

For hours a north wind which made removal from the hangar dangerous had delayed the giant dirigible and at noon adverse weather reports were received which made it seem probable departure would have to be postponed until Saturday.

Shortly after noon, however, the north wind died down and in view of the unexpected improvement in weather conditions, Dr. Hugo Eckener, master, ordered passengers on board and had the ground crew draw the craft from the hangar.

A few minutes later at 3:13 p. m. the ship was released into the air. It made directly for the northeast and in seven minutes had disappeared in the direction of the open Pacific.

Aboard were a crew of 41, including one new member and a passenger list of 19. The members of the crew was the chief engineer, Karl Beurle, who came here from Germany to supervise arrangements for the zeppelin's voyage.

In addition to the 15 passengers who arrived here from Friedrichshafen with tickets reading to Lakehurst three new passengers were aboard. Lieut. Com. Pyounsuke Kusaka, of the Japanese naval general staff; Dofu Shirai, Japanese news agency representative, and Major Shinichi Shibata, of the general staff of the army. They replaced four others who left the ship here after the trip from Friedrichshafen.

Pittsburgh Woman Leading Air Derby

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Louise McPhedrae Thaden of Pittsburgh, maintained her lead in the National women's air derby by landing first at Tulsa Municipal airport today at 10:46:16 a. m. from Fort Worth, Texas. She was followed immediately by Thes Rasche of Germany.

Entrants remaining in the derby were reduced to 16 when Florence Lowe Barnes of San Marino, Calif., decided to withdraw after a thorough inspection of her damaged plane showed it could not be repaired in time for her to overtake her competitors.

OPPOSITIONS OF TARIFF ISSUE IN LIMELIGHT

Lines of Impending Attack Clearly Defined as Committee Begins Work.

Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Opponents of the tariff bill passed by the House and rewritten by the Republicans of the Senate Finance committee claimed the spotlight today as the lines of their impending attack on the measure became more and more clearly defined.

The Democrats of the committee, who have been excluded from the tariff-drafting sessions, were called to begin their study of the measure in preparation for the organized efforts of the Senate minority to combat many of the rate increases proposed, while leaders of the Republican Independent group were on record with statements expressing their dissatisfaction.

The committee majority, meanwhile, virtually was through with the bill until September 4, when a meeting of the full committee will be assembled to go through the formality of voting on a report to the Senate which will place it before that chamber later on the same day and initiate the long debate in prospect.

Apparently reflecting the views of a number of his fellow Democrats, Senator McKellar of Tennessee, holds that "whether you take the House bill or the Senate bill, it is a general tariff revision and in no sense limited, as requested by the 'residents'."

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, who attempted before the summer recess was taken to confine the finance committee members to revision of "imposts on agricultural and related products, this made it clear, meanwhile, that he has not changed his stand in opposition to general revision.

Asserting that the object of the special session was to act without delay to "restore economic equality to agriculture," he said:

"My examination of the bill reported by the Senate Finance committee convinces me that there is very little difference between the two bills insofar as they affect agriculture. If either bill (the committee bill or the House bill) is passed, agriculture will suffer the same inequality, the same injustice that we were pledged to remedy."

He declared that "those who have the interest of agriculture at heart and those who believe that the pledges made ought to be kept, are in duty bound to endeavor to change this bill in the Senate."

Pirates Get Into Court During Feast at Wilmington, N. C.

Wilmington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—"Swashbuckling" became too realistic at Wilmington's third annual "Feast of the Pirates," and half a dozen of those who entered too much into the spirit of the occasion drew "costs" last night in the court of Judge George Harris, city recorder.

It was the first night session ever held by the judge, but it did not come without warning. For Judge Harris had decreed early in the day that a display of painted faces and legs didn't signify permission to step beyond the bounds of decency and propriety.

"Blackbeard," "Bluebeard," "Captain Kidd," flappers and "cake-eaters" were warned that unseemly conduct would not be tolerated, and that while first offenders would be dealt with lightly, second infractions would be handled by unflinchingly to fit the crime, in straight sentences to the roads.

Today the participants in Wilmington's annual carnival visited Wrightsville Beach to engage in a series of aquatic sports, in which prizes were offered for prowess in seamanship.

Merchants today were awarding prizes for the best window exhibits. This was one of the features of the early hours, but a boardwalk revue, bathing beauty contest, and other lesser features supplemented the aquatic program at Wrightsville in the afternoon.

Tonight the climax of the "Feast" will be reached when a huge "treasure chest" will be opened on the main floor of the historical city hall building, resulting in the distribution of a panorama of the crowning of the queen, Miss Elizabeth Howard, elaborately costumed and attended by a half dozen maids in waiting.

Merchants today were awarding prizes for the best window exhibits. This was one of the features of the early hours, but a boardwalk revue, bathing beauty contest, and other lesser features supplemented the aquatic program at Wrightsville in the afternoon.

Death Treasure

R. A. J. WALLING

SYNOPSIS: Tom Grenofen's love for Veronica Seabroke had first entangled him in the mystery of Roger Pell. Now Pell was dead—seven men saw him killed; not one could tell who fired the shot. Inspector Wayne is dumbfounded by the story—no one has left the locked library, none of the spectators carries a pistol. Pell was slain as he stepped to unbolt the door to reveal a "ghost" for Parson Marling, the most bitter of his five enemies in the room. A startling theory is suggested—murder through the keyhole. Professor Laxton did not reach the fateful meeting to give his opinion on archeological treasures, which lured Pell to Blackwater. And Laxton is found in the corridor, unconscious. He is revived and Wayne quickly questions him—is Laxton the slayer?

Chapter II

THE GHOST OF PELL

Inspector Wayne was sadly disappointed by his questioning of Professor Laxton, whom he had selected as the most likely "ghost" to have fired through the keyhole. Laxton's account was quite simple. He had arrived in the morning, walking from Hampton, where his car had broken down, and learned at the gatehouse that Mr. Fotherbury was out. He had walked straight to the site of the excavations and had a look around. Then he had come to Brimston, had lunch there, driven back the car, how repaired, left it at the Lord Nelson and come on to the abbey. It was a little late when he arrived. There seemed to be nobody at the diggings, so he called at the house. He saw no servant in the hall but thought he had footprints in a stone corridor, walked along it and was passing an opening in the wall when he struck his head against something and struck it so hard that he was stunned.

other facts. The blow which struck Laxton was a punch on the point of the chin. The footsteps were those of the footman and myself going to the library. His assailant must have pulled the unconscious Laxton immediately into the passage, and both must have hidden there when the footman returned after showing me the way.

After this the man lurking in the dark had watched three people pass the entrance: Seabroke, Pell and Mr. Fotherbury.

Within the next few minutes he must have gone to the library door and removed the key. A view of a small section of the library could be got through the keyhole.

How or why he fired through it could not be guessed. But when the leap to the door took place and the hobnobbing began, the gun went off and it went off at the precise instant when Pell's head passed down as he stooped to the lower bolt.

Wayne spent a long time examining the keyhole through glasses. But he had to give up any hope of establishing the shot through it by local evidence. The door was two inches thick; the huge iron lock entered two inches. The hole pierced in the wood on the inside was rough and shapeless. A dozen shots might be fired in it without leaving any sign. Wayne did fire a blank through and the keyhole showed no sign of it.

If the murderer was Pell's "ghost," he might have shot Pell by accident in the attempt to shoot somebody else. If not Pell's "ghost"—well, Wayne had now handed the thing over to Scotland Yard. The hue and cry began for "The Keyhole Murderer."

The most curious thing in the case for me was the success with which two preparators got away without hit. Laxton, whose yarn about his movements that afternoon was an improvised invention, and Marling, who never said a word about his previous knowledge of Pell.

So far as Wayne knew, Roger Pell had no identity but his name. Fotherbury said he knew of him only as a casual stranger. Marling declared that he had no glimmering of Pell's meaning in those last wild speeches. Seabroke said Pell was undoubtedly mad. Royce and Somerfield knew Pell only through Newplace Abbey.

In Pell's effects at the Lord Nelson no hint could be found to trace him back beyond the day of his arrival at the inn. Pell was dead. In the public mind he was not only dead, but quickly forgotten.

For me, however, no sooner had Pell died than he began to live again, to dog my steps and haunt my thoughts.

It began with the very night of his death. We finished the business with the officials about eight o'clock, all of us undertaking to keep the police informed of our movements till after the inquest. I went home alone. My mother met me in the hall.

"Your ridiculous meeting lasted a long time," said she. "Dined? No? Good; I've waited for you. Meanwhile there's a visitor in the drawing room. Come and speak to her."

"My mother was not usually mysterious, and I wondered why she did not tell me at once who had called. However, I followed her into the drawing-room, and there was Mrs. Seabroke.

"How do you do, Mrs. Seabroke," said I. "What a lovely day!" "You needn't keep it up, Mr. Grenofen," she said. "I know all about it—it's all over the place."

along any moment—
She began, but did not finish a question. Instead she said: "I'm fairly tough, Mr. Grenofen. If there's anything to tell, you can tell me all about it."
I told her in a few sentences. She listened with horror in her eyes. Then she looked at me, seeming to hesitate on the point of speech. It came at last.

"Veronica says you're an understanding person, Mr. Grenofen. I wonder whether I could trespass on your friendship to break the news to her?"
"Tell her about Pell, you mean?"
"Yes—and that Commander Seabroke is coming home to dinner."
"Of course," said I. "Delighted. Shall I go right on now?"
"Oh, I shouldn't be so foolish as to ask you to do that. But Veronica's not home. I wondered if after you've dined, you would go along the cliff path and meet her. Veronica's been to Hollar Bay to see a friend and she's walking back along the coast. I expect her about ten. If you would—well, if she could know about it before she came in?"
It did not need a particularly lively understanding to perceive the peculiarity of Mrs. Seabroke's conduct and request. She had been on wires till she learned that her husband was on his way back from Newplace. Then she asked me to meet Veronica at 10 o'clock to tell her that her father would be home to dinner at half past eight. (Copyright, 1929, Wm. Morrow Co.)

A queer puzzle in Mrs. Seabroke's request leads to an amazing solution in tomorrow's chapter.

ABOUT HALF OF CITY ADVERTISING FUNDS HAS BEEN RAISED TO DATE

The soliciting committee of the Merchants Association continued their drive this morning for funds to carry on the advertising program for the city of Greenville, and it was indicated this afternoon that about half of the goal of $2,500 had been raised.

Members of the committee said there was still a considerable territory to be covered and that they hoped to be able to complete their work by next Tuesday. They said that the response of all business men to date had been very liberal and that they believed they could complete the work by the date set for the closing of the drive next week.

HOME FURNITURE CO. MAKES IMPROVEMENTS

The Home Furniture Co., of this city, is steadily striving to give its customers better service and better values each year. They have just completed some minor improvements in their store, adding a radio and phonograph repair department and some chair racks, giving them more floor space to show their furniture. They are showing a big stock, better displayed and better lighted than ever before. They extend to the public a cordial invitation to visit their store when you can make it convenient to do so.

To the tobacco farmers, they invite you to sell your tobacco in Greenville and make their store your headquarters. There you will find plenty of ice water to quench your thirst.

City Manager Plan Of Government Luded To The Sky

Chapel Hill, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Praises were sounded today for the city manager form of government by Professor E. J. Woodhouse in an address before the police school of the University of North Carolina.

Professor Woodhouse, a former mayor of Northampton, Mass., and a university specialist in government, stated that "the city manager form of government is the best we have discovered to date."

Concentration of power for skilled administration, and proper coordination of all activities of the government were pointed out by Professor Woodhouse at among the advantages derived from the city manager form.

"The theory of the plan," he said, "is that the commissioners or mayor or council, will determine the policies of the government and leave the administration to the manager, who should be an expert administrator selected as a civil service man, and entirely removed from politics."

Professor Woodhouse went at length into a discussion of the workings of the different forms of municipal government, and explained the manner in which the Massachusetts Civic Service Commission functioned. One of the features of the Massachusetts body is the fact that it certifies from its eligible list all candidates for the fire and the police forces of all cities and towns in the state. No permanent appointments can be made to these forces without the approval of the commission.

North Carolina's method of the handling of such appointments were declared by Professor Woodhouse to be decentralized because each city determines its own civil service if it has one.

CITY SCHOOLS WILL OPEN ON SEPTEMBER 16

Late Opening Caused by Inability to Finish Building on Third Street.

The Greenville city schools will open for the 1929-30 session on September 16th. This opening date is one week later than the usual opening date, and one week later than has been planned, but the change is made necessary because of the fact that the new building on Third street will not be ready by September 9th. This later opening of the schools will simply have the effect of causing the schools to operate one week later at the end of the session. Under the new arrangement the schools will close on June 6th of next year.

The chances are that the new building will not be ready for occupancy by September 16, in which case, it will be necessary to operate certain groups of children on half time for a short while. There will be only six groups on half time; namely, two first grades, two second grades and two third grades. All the pupils in the district of the new school will attend, for the time being the Model school on Cotanch street, with the exception of two groups who will use the high school building.

The faculty for the schools is just about complete and will be announced definitely in this paper shortly. There are very few changes in the faculty for this year. There will be no additions to the faculty. The increase in the enrollment of the schools has made it necessary over a period of years to add two or three teachers every year. This year the increased enrollment, which is certain to come, will have to be absorbed by the present teaching force. This means that some rooms in the system will have from forty to forty-five children in them, but school authorities and teachers feel that they can handle the situation.

FARMERS URGED NOT TO RUSH MARKET

Inquiries to some of the larger tobacco companies regarding a recent article in state papers to the effect that an agreement had been reached between the United States Tobacco Association and a number of the larger buyers to establish and stabilize standard grades and uniform prices throughout the entire season has brought forth denial from these companies of any knowledge of such an agreement.

According to these companies the newspaper article must have resulted from misinterpretation of a letter now being circulated by the United States Tobacco Association which urges against glutting the markets as soon as they open and points out that slower selling would not make it necessary for buyers at times to curtail purchases on account of overcrowding of their redrying plants, "which should result in more uniform and satisfactory prices."

In the hope of correcting the erroneous impression that resulted from the newspaper stories we print here-with the letter sent out from which the newspaper article apparently resulted:

The committee appointed by the Tobacco Association, and made up of an equal number of warehousemen and buyers, presented a resolution at the annual convention of the Tobacco Association at Virginia Beach, on June 28, 1929, which after discussion was unanimously adopted.

The purpose of this resolution was to call attention to the short time and the rapidity with which farmers offer their tobacco on the loose leaf warehouse floors, resulting in very rapid selling, often overcrowding the warehouses and re-handling plants, and causing conditions that are not considered to the best interest of the farmers and tobacco trade generally. A longer selling time, will give the buyers more time to judge the tobacco and not make it necessary at times for buyers to curtail purchases on account of the crowded condition of their redrying plants, all of which should result in more uniform and satisfactory prices.

The uniform prices obtained throughout the whole selling season of last year, extending several months into the new year, on the latest bright leaf tobacco crop ever raised, show that it is not necessary to sell in the very short time that is usually done to get satisfactory results and uniform prices.

We believe this suggestion will have the co-operation of the warehousemen and buyers, as at this meeting where this resolution was passed, were present practically the representatives of all the tobacco interests, and it is believed that the movement will have their hearty co-operation.

We trust that you will get in touch with your warehouseman and in order to send your tobacco in so it will not arrive on an overcrowded and congested market.

A copy of this letter is sent to all the warehousemen and buyers with the committee's earnest request that it will receive every help they can possibly give to carrying out these suggestions.

From the letter it can readily be seen that instead of a price-fixing agreement the Tobacco Association is giving some advice that the growers would do well to heed. Blocked sales and glutted factories mean less demand for tobacco with accompanying lower prices. A longer and less congested selling season, we believe, would mean more money to our farmers. We urge our farmers to adopt the plan of slower selling in the interest of better prices.

ABOUT TOWN

"Too many people are getting killed along our public highways because of reckless and careless driving," said a Greenville man today following his return from the central part of the state.

"With the general increase of automobiles there seems to be a tendency among people to drive recklessly instead of more sanely. The situation is alarming. Human life is far too precious to be jeopardized by the person that places such little value upon his own personal existence. It should be remembered that there are other people on the roads who have a mission in life, and do not care about having their lives shortened by the carelessness of other people.

"Take your time, you don't get killed but one time and when you do you are a long time dead."

"How about those weeds around your house?" questioned a citizen today, speaking of the campaign to do away with rank vegetation.

"Numbers of people have already complied with the request of the mayor to clean up their yards of rank growth of weeds, and he is now looking to you to help relieve your neighborhood of the unsightly growth of vegetation.

"It may be you haven't had time to get to this matter, but why delay. The busy season will soon be upon you and you will certainly have more time now than you will have then. Get busy and get the weeds out of the way and have the consolation that you are among those who are trying to keep their premises clean and pleasing looking."

"Remember the important part which advertising played in the life of the city in past months and see that you subscribe as liberally as possible when the campaign committee from the Merchants Association visits you during the week," urged committee members today.

"This is one of the greatest campaigns the city has waged in years, and when the desired sum is raised we will begin planning for an advertising drive that should have more direct results than all others in former years.

"It is imperative that the advantages of Greenville and community be put before the outside world, if we are to continue to expand in the future as in the past. There is only one way to do it and that is through the medium of advertising.

"Dig down into your pockets as liberally as possible when the committee visits you. You will have no regrets and you should certainly derive great benefit from your liberality in future years."

"I like the Reflector because of the splendid amount of county news carried in its columns from day to day," said a visitor from Bethel today.

"That column of news carried in yesterday's edition set forth practically every activity in Bethel over a period of the last two days. It showed how many people had been visiting in the city, and the number of social activities which the community had enjoyed the last few days.

"This is the kind of news people like to read. Bethel news is interesting to Ayden, Winterville and Grifton people, just like the news of these same places would be interesting to residents of Bethel.

"In fact, news from the various towns of the county keep the people in closer contact with one another and I know of no better medium of disseminating this information than through the Daily Reflector whose columns have been serving Pitt county people for nearly fifty years.

"I wish your correspondents in all of the towns would redouble their efforts and see how many interesting things they can send in from day to day. Their towns will get much publicity and they will have the consolation that they are doing something worthwhile for the community where they have lived for years and where all of their interests are centered."

"You can just tell the folks that we have contracted for one of the best bands in the country to furnish music for the Pitt county fair this year," said W. H. Dail, Jr., fair secretary, discussing some of the features of the annual attraction to be held in Greenville.

"Not only that, but we have an aggregation of midway entertainers that will surpass anything in recent years. The carnival company will have more different devices for entertaining the countless thousands of visitors than we have ever had before, and every day will be just another big day of fun and frolic.

"We are already lining up our exhibits setting forth the resources and possibilities of Pitt county and in a few days the premium list will be off the press ready for distribution among the hundreds of people throughout the county."

Says Religion Faces Crisis.
Yannis, Mass., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Professor A. Eustace Haydon, of the University of Chicago, declared today before the institute of world unity here that the Christian religion was facing the greatest crisis in its history.

NOTE ACTION IS HEARD IN CIVIL COURT

R. G. Jackson Sues J. C. Raspberry For Return of $2,500 Worth of Notes.

The civil term of Pitt county Superior court was in the throes of another long drawn out controversy today in the form of an action started by R. G. Jackson against J. C. Raspberry for the return of $2,500 worth of notes purported to have been given in the sale of a piece of land. The case came up for hearing yesterday morning, and indications this morning were that a decision would not be reached before sometime this afternoon.

Jackson claims that he deposited the notes with Raspberry in exchange for a piece of property in Ayden township and that the land had not been deeded to him as agreed. Raspberry had offered a deed, it is contended, but it was not for the same piece of land as first agreed upon.

The defendant, on the other hand, maintains that the piece of land named in the deed which he has offered the plaintiff is identical with that agreed to when the notes were exchanged, and has refused to return the notes as demanded by the plaintiff.

The case is the second lengthy controversy heard during the present session of court, and like the first has been featured by the introduction of a considerable amount of evidence on both sides. The two actions have consumed so much time that court has not been able to reach only a small number of other cases the majority of which were disposed of during the first day's session and before the taking up of the last land controversy.

The civil term is scheduled to come to a close this afternoon, and next Monday morning a one week term of criminal court will open with numbers of important actions awaiting consideration. As usual when criminal court sits, hundreds of people from all sections of the county all in attendance from day to day as witnesses and jurors, and the term is expected to be fraught with more than passing interest. Judge Midyette, who has been presiding over the civil term, will also preside at the session next week.

SCIENTISTS ATTEMPT TO HALT DEATH

Physiological Congress Hear Appeal For Study to Prevent Death Phenomena.

Boston, Aug. 23.—(AP)—A Challenge to the belief that death is inevitable was laid before the scientists of the thirteenth international physiological congress today by Eusebio A. Hernandez of the college of France, Paris.

He appealed for formation of a world-wide scientific organization to study means to "prevent the phenomena of death."

Proof already exists, he said, that death is not altogether an inescapable as fatalists have taught. Physiologists possess evidence to the contrary obtained by keeping single organs alive after death of the other parts of the body.

The first of these demonstrations, said Dr. Hernandez, was made by Prof. J. P. Heymans in 1912, when he preserved life in an isolated head for two or three hours. Recently there have been reports of similar experiments in Russia. A human heart has been kept alive for 30 hours after death by Prof. A. Koulibakko, Russian physiologist. Hernandez said that others have succeeded "to a certain extent in re-establishing the general circulation," and that he and Prof. Fugliese of Milan have obtained results not altogether negative in respect to the duration of a dog.

Seventeen years have passed, he added, since Haymans told the scientific world how to keep the dead alive, but no further progress has been made. "The fact of this delay," he argued, "lies not in lack of ability by present research workers, but in their impatience with the methods of old-time physiology."

ATHLETICS DROP GAME TO CHICAGO

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
All the big winners in American league history have felt, at least once in their respective seasons of super-greatness, the sting of as many as three straight defeats. The Athletics of 1929 qualified under this rule of baseball fate yesterday—presuming that the A's not only will win by a margin great enough to place them in a class with the Red Sox of 1912 and the Yankees of 1923 and 1927.

Jake Stahl's 1912 Red Sox blanketed Washington by 14 runs in one-half game at the finish, but had one run of three straight defeats against them. Huggins' 1923 champions had two strings of three reverses bunched on either side of a lone victory in early June to make up a slump of six defeats in seven engagements. The 1927 Yankees lost four straight just after mid-season, but otherwise never hesitated.

Connie Mack's first run of three straight losses for the current season was accomplished in Chicago yesterday when the White Sox nosed out Moose Grove in the ninth by 4 to 3. Grove ran like a red lion at his best, and was fortunate not to meet a 3 to 0 reverse as the White Sox booted three runs into the Athletic batbag in the eighth with three artistic errors.

The excessive heat in Chicago told upon Grove in the home half of the same round, and the Sox scored two runs to tie. In the Chicago ninth two singles placed men on first and third, and Grove paced the next man to make a foggy play at the plate. The great Shiner nullified this strategy with a single to left. Leons gave the Athletics only six hits.

The Browns batted hard against the Messrs. Hoyt Pincus and the Sox yesterday as Sammy Gray stopped the Yanks with seven hits to win by 10 to 0. The Browns got fifteen safeties. Braxton's clutching and Goslin's hitting enabled the Senators to down the Tigers by 6 to 1 at Detroit. Rain prevented action in Cleveland between the Indians and the Red Sox.

After ten days of more good pitching, the Cubs were forced yesterday to go through an afternoon of hard slugging. The Bruins adapted themselves to the job in hand, outdrew four Philadelphia pitchers for 21 hits, and won by 15 to 7. Fred Blake wilted under a five-run rally of Philadelphia in the fourth, and Mike Cuyler croaked in the eighth when Cy Williams hit a homer and two other Phillies walked. Guy Bush finished, allowing one hit. Mike got the victory for no particular reason.

GREENS TAKE FINAL GAME FROM SCOTS

The Fayetteville, Highlanders had the tables reversed on them today when Greenville took the last game of the series, 7 to 3.

The twirling of Fitzpatrick and the fielding of Kendall were the principal features of the game, the latter covering the left garden in all directions to make sensational catches.

Several times when the visitors threatened to score Fitzpatrick retired the third out with a strike-out.

Stephenson was not only wild but allowed the locals to hit safely with runners on.

Thinks Accident is Blessing
Elizabeth, N. J.—Francis A. Sheehan, hotel manager, is inclined to think an automobile accident in which he was hurt may be a blessing. The first time he tried to read after the accident his glasses obscured his vision. He took them off and found he could read without difficulty. An expert told him there was precedent for the correction of eye afflictions by a severe blow.

Macclesfield Blanks Fast Fountain Club

Playing airtight ball behind the steller pitching of Rose, Macclesfield blanked Fountain by the score of 3 to 0 in one of the most brilliant performances on the Macclesfield diamond this season. Both teams played spectacular ball at times, but the ability of Macclesfield batsmen to bunch hits at opportune moments enabled them to walk off with the big end of the score.

It was the concluding game of a two-game series between the two clubs Fountain having won by the score of 6 to 3 in the first game which was played at Fountain. Like the game at Fountain, hundreds of fans from both towns turned out to see the Macclesfield game, and they had many things to talk about after the final play had been made. Cheering was vociferous at times as the heavy bats of the visiting team started offenses that ended without runners crossing the rubber.

Rose hurled one of the most consistent games seen on the new Carolina circuit this season. He held Fountain at his mercy throughout the entire game, and only in one or two instances was he in danger of being scored on.

Rose was opposed by Pearce, who pitched a brand of ball which, under ordinary circumstances, should have won, but his teammates were unable to solve the baffling curves of the Macclesfield hurler and went in after inning without a hit.

Macclesfield and Saratoga are scheduled to play a double header at Macclesfield Saturday afternoon to decide second place in the standing of clubs of the circuit. The runner-up in the race will meet Lucama league leaders, in a post-season championship series, the date of which is to be announced later.

Interest in the playing of the various clubs of the new circuit is at fever heat today, and the concluding games next week will be attended by record crowds. It was believed by those in intimate touch with the situation. In fact, this is the first time in years, that this particular section has had the opportunity of witnessing such a fast brand of ball, and they are just as enthused over the prospect of each game as a body would be over a new toy.

Years ago Macclesfield, Pinetops and Fountain produced some of the best amateur players in the state, many of whom found their way to higher class ball, some as far as the Major circuits. The recurrence of the sport, therefore, has aroused more than passing interest and attendance has been as large if not larger than in many of the towns with faster class ball.

Bulls Shutout
Winston-Salem

(By the Associated Press.)
The Bulls trimmed the Twins 3 to 0 yesterday to square things at two games each for the week, while the Patriots downed Salisbury 6 to 4. The afternoon's proceedings served to preserve the status quo of the two league leaders with the Bulls two and one-half games behind the top-most Pats.

Weaver was right against the Twins, holding them to two hits. Brown and Sullivan each got a single.

The Patriots got off to a five-run start against the Colonials in the first three innings before Chitwood was relieved by McNeil. They did not score again until the ninth. Salisbury got one run in the fifth and rallied for three more in the sixth but could not get the tying counter.

Acosta pitched High Point to a 5-3 victory over Henderson. The Bunnies touched him for 11 hits, but he kept them well scattered. Stirling, Winston and Caviness all took a turn on the mound for Henderson, but none was effective.

Rocky Mount hit two pitchers steadily to defeat Kinston 11 to 9 with the advantage of six Eagle errors. Moss started for the Bucs but was pounded hard and gave way to Cohen who in turn was replaced by Vance.

Goldsboro and Wilmington engaged in a slugfest with the Bugs coming out on top 13 to 8 despite the fact they were out hit 17 to 16 and muffed six in the field to Wilmington's one misdeed.

Greenville licked Fayetteville 7 to 3 in the best game of the day in the Eastern Carolina. The Greenies nicked Stephenson successfully in the pinches.

Augusta Wolves Snatch Contest
From The Fire

Atlanta, Aug. 23. — (AP) — Odie Strani and his Augusta Wolves pulled victory out of the fire in the ninth with a two run stand to defeat Columbia 7 to 6 and maintain a half-game lead over Knoxville, conqueror of Greenville yesterday, in the Sally league race. A four run spurt in the eighth put the Augustans on even terms. Columbia scored one in the ninth and the Wolves climaxed the day in their showing.

Judge William G. Bramham, the league president, was a spectator to "Red" Bates' excellent pitching exhibition as the Knoxville Smokies trimmed Greenville 7 to 2, the sorrel top allowing but four hits. It was a big day for McNair and Boggs rival shortstops, as they fielded sensationally. Smith and Welch each hit two homers for batting honors.

Cliff Knox, outfielder, singled in the eighth to score two runners, effectively and well deserved the glory of stopping the losing streak. Johnny Allen limited Spartanburg to five hits fanned seven and hit a home run to give Asheville a 10 to 2 win in the series opener.

6 Things
Every Housewife
OUGHT TO KNOW ABOUT
Klim

1. CONVENIENCE — KLIM is pure, rich cow's milk in powdered form. It needs no ice to keep it in summer, and it will not freeze in winter. For cooking it may be used dry in the same manner as sugar, salt or flour.

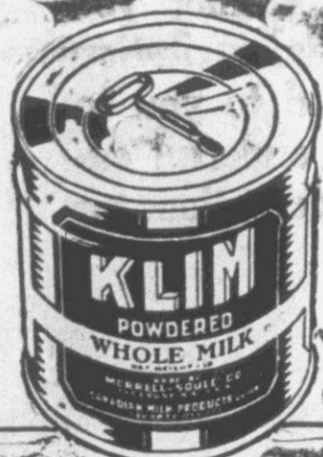

2. ECONOMY — KLIM is economical because there is no spoilage, it does not sour, you use only what you need and when you need it.

3. FLAVOR — The rich, natural milk flavor of KLIM is enjoyed by everyone and, used in cooking, makes food taste better.

4. HEALTHFULNESS — KLIM has all the well-known health elements of milk with the added benefit of easier digestibility.

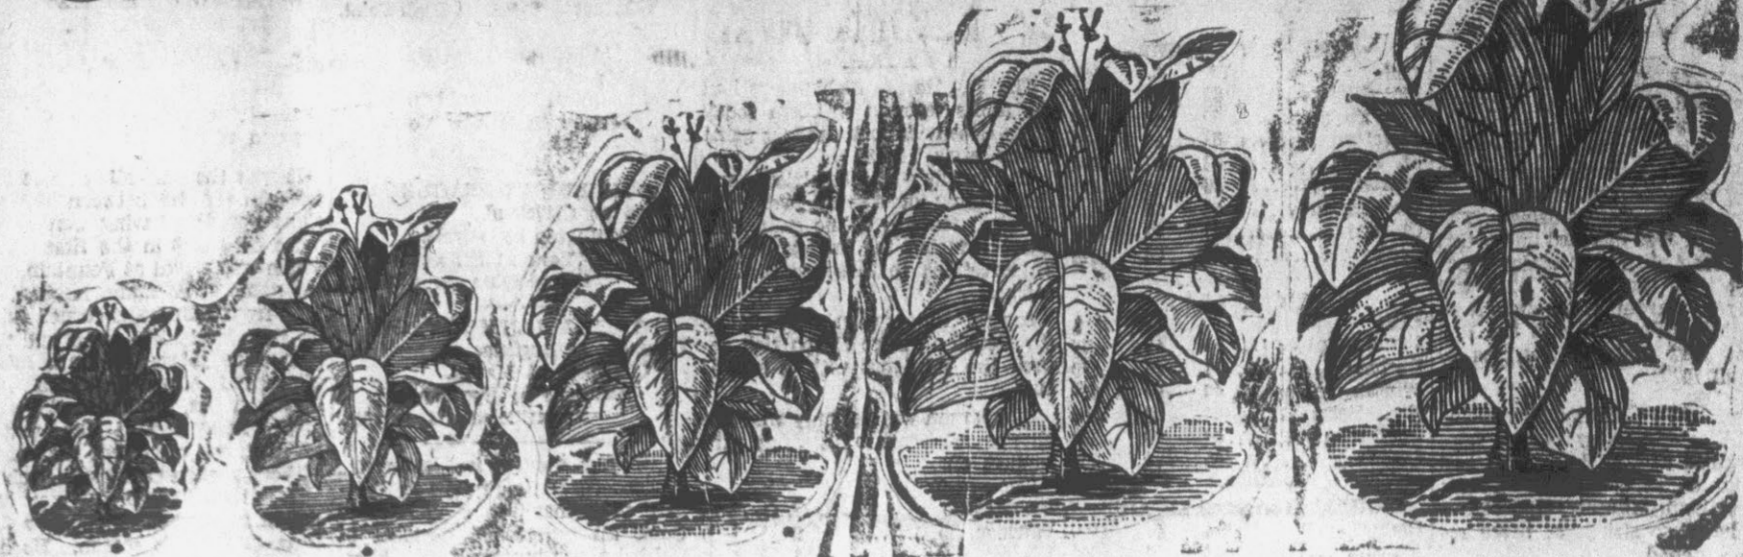

5. UNIFORMITY — KLIM is standardized for quality and purity, and you can always be certain of the same percentage of butter-fat every day.

6. VITAMINS — Highest technical authorities show that KLIM retains all the valuable health elements of fresh liquid milk including the vitamins.

Since Last Season—

Three of the warehouses have made large additions, which gives the market increased floor space of about two acres. Some of the factories have made enlargements to their buildings, installing additional redrying facilities and other equipment. The Greenville tobacco market is decidedly in better position to handle, daily, larger quantities of tobacco than ever before.

Tobacco Warehouses—

Greenville tobacco market has nine (9) large and modern brick warehouses with close to 14 acres floor space, sufficient to accommodate 2,225,000 lbs. of tobacco daily. These warehouses are managed by men of years of experience.

Buyers and Factories—

Greenville tobacco market has four (4) sets of buyers, representing all the important companies in the world, using bright tobacco. Nine (9) large and modern tobacco factories are located here, additions having been made to several of them since last season, while one new plant has been built.

Roads and Locations—

Greenville tobacco market is located in the heart of Eastern North Carolina. Seven fine hard surfaced roads lead into Greenville. Tobacco growers living 125 miles from Greenville tobacco market sell their tobacco in Greenville and return home same day.

COTTON MARKET

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 7 points under liquidation and some selling which was thought to be partly for southern account. General business was quiet, however, and the market steadied after the first few minutes in covering, while some buying for Liverpool account was also reported. December contracts sold up from 18.69 to 18.73 or within 3 points of yesterday's closing quotations and other months showed similar fluctuations.

There may have been some buying on reports that the tropical storm threat seemed to have disappeared, but some traders thought the rains reported along the Texas coast might possibly work inland. Cable advices said that liquidation and some hedge selling had been absorbed by trade calling and covering in the Liverpool market.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Sudden broadening out of European demand for wheat from the United States gave an immediate boost to wheat values today. Highest prices were sold toward the last. Helping to lift the market were adverse crop reports from Argentina and Australia, with semi-official figures today indicating recent estimates of the 1929 yield in France were much too high. All advices today from Canada continued to suggest a wheat crop far below that of last year.

Wheat closed unsettled 2 1/2 to 3 3/4 above yesterday's finish; corn closed 1/4 to 1 1/4 up; oats 1/4 to 7/8 advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 1/8c.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The stock market went on another "wild" rampage today in the face of a record-breaking increase in Federal Reserve brokers' loans. Thirty or more stocks were whirled up 3 to 17 points to new high records, the list including several representative steel, oil, railroad, and public utility shares. Trading was in fairly heavy volume, several blocks of 5,000 to 50,000 shares changing hands, particularly in the oil group.

Inasmuch as the sharpest gains were recorded by stocks of companies reporting unusually large current earnings, the Wall street regarded the rally as an indication that large operators had disregarded at least temporarily, the credit situation, and based their campaign on the excellent character and prospects of business. "Bear" operators, who have been selling stocks freely in the last few days on the theory that a large gain in brokers' loans would cause another sharp set-back, were forced to cover with large losses, or witness steadily mounting paper losses staring them in the face.

Call money renewed unchanged at 7 per cent and it looked as though the rate would be maintained over the week-end, instead of dropping back to 6 as it has in the two previous sessions. There was no change in other monetary accommodations.

Revival of speculative activity and strength in the oil shares based on the theory that the curtailment program is slowly bearing fruit, was one of the features of the session. Standard Oils of New Jersey and New York and Texas Co., three of the recognized leaders of the group, all moved into new high ground.

Westinghouse was the spectacular individual feature, climbing 15 1/2 points to a new high record at 232 1/2. The first preferred ran up 17 points to a new high at 276. Air Reduction was pushed up 15 points to 199 7/8. Dupont 14 to 220. U. S. Freight 7 1/2 to 110. U. S. Steel common 8 3/8 to 258 1/4. Warren Bros. 5 3/4 to 187 3/4. International Telephone 3 3/4 to 137 3/4 and Bethlehem Steel 5 5/8 to 138 5/8, all new high records. Republic, Inland, and Crucible Steels, Chicago Northwest-

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Just when Mrs. Mollie Mallory seemed fading from the picture, as a contender for major tennis honors, the veteran player has come back into the spotlight with a smashing, straight set victory over Betty Nuthall in the quarter finals of the National women's championship.

It may be that the familiar surroundings served as an inspiration to call forth some of the super-tennis that marked her heyday for Mrs. Mallory has won this championship oftener than any other player in the world, Helen Willis included, and always is at her best on the famous turf of the West Side stadium. Her record of eight national titles has yet to be equalled although Queen Helen at present is well on the way to her sixth.

Although she outdove and outmaneuvered the English girl who recently gave Miss Willis a hard battle, Mrs. Mallory was given the something less than one chance in a hundred to stop Miss Willis today. The champion has lost only two games in four matches, having smothered Mrs. Peggy Mitchell of England yesterday, 6-0, 6-1.

Miss Willis has held the Indian sign since 1923 when she dethroned the older woman in two quick and decisive sets in the final of the national championship tournament.

In the other semi-final today Helen Jacobs, America's second ranking star, faced one of the hardest tests of her career in Mrs. Phoebe Watson, the English woman

HEAT to every Room in Your Home

Circulation of heated air is necessary to winter comfort and fuel economy. You can eliminate those cold floors and corners and at the same time have the handsomest heating stove ever built if you install a—

COLE'S CABINET'S CIRCULATOR

The outer casing increases in an intensified manner air circulation, drawing the cold air to the base of the stove and forcing it upward and around the radiating surface. Then the heated air is thrown out into the room. That's why it heats every corner—why there are no cold spots. Louvers on sides and front assure warm floors. Yes, it's equipped with Cole's famous Air-Vac tube that burns the gas half of your fuel—the part that other stoves waste. This means that it will pay for itself.

Adds Beauty as Well as Comfort

Now you can have a heating stove that will harmonize with the furnishings of your home. The cabinet is made of heavy gauge steel beautifully finished in porcelain richly grained in natural mahogany. Install a Cole's Cabinet Circulator and know the joy of solid comfort and beauty combined.

SELL YOUR TOBACCO IN GREENVILLE AT The Farmers Warehouse

Knowing that we are your friends in the tobacco business, we wish to state facts—nothing more.

Long experience has taught us that "honesty is the best policy." Keel, Gentry and Young are well known by many of you, and lots of you don't know us so well. We want to get better acquainted with you. In order to do this, any time you are in Greenville, COME TO SEE US. When you get your tobacco ready for market let us sell it for you. The top of the market in prices is what you want, and that is what we guarantee for every pile of your tobacco if you sell it with us.

The Greenville Tobacco Market (last season) averaged $21.06 per hundred pounds. The Farmer's Warehouse averaged $21.96 per hundred lbs. That means $9.00 more per thousand lbs. for the farmer who sold at the Farmer's Warehouse.

If you don't need this extra money, hand it to the wife and babies when you get back home—they know what to do with it.

We have enlarged our warehouse this season and have room for you and your neighbor, both at the same time. This is the year that we need your tobacco, and you need every dollar that's in it.

Make the FARMER'S WAREHOUSE your selling place, and we will do our best to please you.

IMPERIAL TOBACCO COMPANY TO SPEND HUGE SUM FOR FACTORY ADDITION IN CITY

The South Carolina And Border Markets

Smith & Sugg have just returned from the opening of the South Carolina tobacco markets, and in view of the fact that Georgia markets opened the previous week at an average of between five and six cents more per pound than last year they were very much disappointed, together with the general public, at the opening prices this year in South Carolina. It would seem that prices this year were about the same as last year, possibly a fraction better. The reports we have received indicate that opening prices this year were averaging from 12 to 15 cents, whereas the opening prices last year were from a cent to a cent and a half lower. There seems to be some difference in opinion as to the quality this year as compared with last, but in the opinion of Smith & Sugg, who visited many of the markets on the opening, the quality this year is just as good if not better than the offerings on the opening in 1928.

Citizens of Greenville, and the community generally are delighted to know that the Imperial Tobacco Company will in the early future spend a huge sum in enlarging their mammoth factory at Greenville. Of course, no one knows just yet the definite amount they will spend, but it is believed that the amount will exceed $250,000.

Fine Spirit Shown by Mayor and City Aldermen.
In some of the property recently acquired by the Imperial for these improvements, was a street adjacent to their factory. Of course, authority for the closing of this street had to be given by the city government. There is no problem coming before any city government more difficult to solve to the satisfaction of all concerned, than the closing of a street; yet, in this instance, the Mayor and every member of the Board of Aldermen, together with the nearby property owners, joined in giving their endorsement to this particular street being turned over to the Imperial in exchange for another street close by. This goes to show that our citizens realize and appreciate the value of the Imperial Tobacco Company to our city and community. Unquestionably, the company is looking ahead, and perceives a greater tobacco market for us, and doubtless joins others in the belief that in a short while Greenville will be selling one hundred million pounds of tobacco, and be the WORLD'S LARGEST TOBACCO MARKET.

Route Number 11 Is Extended To Scotland Neck

We are delighted that the State Highway Commission has agreed to extend No. 11 from Bethel to Scotland Neck. This will shorten the route to our tobacco market for growers in and near Hassell, Oak City, Hobgood, Palmyra, and Scotland Neck, as well as other sections. Many of these growers are now selling in Greenville, and we are hoping that others will visit and patronize our market this season. Close observers say that we are higher on every grade. Some of the best tobacco in the East is in this section, and Smith & Sugg will safeguard your interests if you sell your tobacco with them. It is easy to lose a hundred dollars in a load of tobacco by not selling on the right market. Try Smith & Sugg at the Star Warehouse.

Added 14,000 Sq. Ft. Floor Space For 1929

Since last season, the Star Warehouse, which was already the largest in Greenville, has added 14,000 sq. ft. making it one of the largest warehouses in the entire state. This addition was made possible through the purchase of Mr. R. W. Dallis' property on Eighth street, and is built entirely of brick. The warehouse now contains 76,208 sq. ft. of floor space.

Cox Mill Road To Vanceboro Should Be Paved

Smith & Sugg are hoping that it won't be long before the Cox Mill road to Vanceboro will be paved. This is a very important highway, and while the State has taken over this road and considerable improvements have been made, yet during continuous wet weather, it gets in bad condition and interferes with free use. Millions of pounds of tobacco come over this road to Greenville from Craven, Carters, and other counties, and our Tobacco Board of Trade hopes that hard-surfacing this road will not be long delayed.

Let the oldest established tobacco warehouse firm in Greenville serve you and protect the sale of your tobacco.

NEW LICENSE TAX LAW IS DECLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Smith & Sugg are pleased to give notice to all tobacco growers, especially their distant patrons, that the law requiring treble license tax on trucks hauling tobacco, etc., 51 miles or more, has been held UNCONSTITUTIONAL by Judge Harris of Raleigh. Smith & Sugg were greatly concerned when they found that the legislature had passed any such law, and of course they took the view that an attempt was being made to keep farmers from selling their tobacco on markets of their own choosing. It is rather strange that such a law was slipped in. Every business man, if he has the

EXPORT LEAF TOBACCO CO. MAKES ADDITION TO FACTORY

Since last season, the Export Leaf Tobacco Company has greatly added to its facilities for redrying tobacco at Greenville by installing an additional redrying machine and enlarging its factory. It has been reported that these improvements cost about $100,000. The Export is a large buyer of Eastern Carolina's bright leaf tobacco and our market is delighted that the Company is making Greenville its chief center for this section. Every year in

NEW LADIES' REST ROOM BUILT AT STAR WAREHOUSE

Smith & Sugg, in enlarging and making various improvements at the Star Warehouse for the coming season, have built and equipped one of the nicest Ladies' Rest Rooms to be found in Eastern Carolina. Every day finds many ladies at the Star looking after the sale

Hard Surfaced Road From Fountain To Falkland & Bruce

Smith & Sugg and the entire Tobacco Board of Trade would like to see a hard surfaced road from Fountain to Falkland and connecting with hard surfaced road at Bruce. Some of our best tobacco growers live in this section, and we hope the Highway Commission will soon be in position to give this road their attention. More and more tobacco from this section is coming to Greenville each year. Business men and farmers from the Fountain section would greatly appreciate this road.

The Georgia Market

Opening prices on the Georgia market for 1929 were about five or six dollars per hundred higher than last year, due largely to the improved quality of tobacco. It will be recalled that last year, Georgia had a very inferior quality, and the government report shows that the average for the second week during 1928 was $14.08 for 17,683,368 lbs., whereas for the second week in 1929 the average was $21.54 for 27,905,103 lbs. From all information we have been able to gather, the crop in Georgia is being marketed more rapidly than ever before, and many tobacco men think practically all the crop will be sold by August 22nd.

Tobacco Ass'n. Pledges Buyers Will Remain On Market

The following letter has just been received by Smith & Sugg: Richmond, Va.

Gentlemen:
Pursuant to resolution adopted at our annual convention at Virginia Beach, we are now preparing to circularize the tobacco farmers in your section, calling attention to the pledge of the buyers to remain on the markets until the crop has been sold.
This resolution earnestly requested the warehousemen to co-operate with the Association in distributing this information by furnishing this office with a list of its patrons.
We are prepared to proceed with circularizing the farmers as soon as these lists are available. We trust, therefore, that you will furnish us, at the earliest opportunity, with a list of the names and addresses of farmers who sell tobacco over your farms.
Very truly yours,
R. T. CORBELL,
Secretary, Tobacco Association of United States.

7th Enlargement To Star Warehouse

The Star warehouse was purchased by Smith & Sugg in 1913. At that time it was a wooden structure. Since 1913, there have been seven additions to the building, including the present addition. All the wooden walls have been removed and replaced with brick, and it is now known to be one of the most modern tobacco warehouses doing business in Eastern Carolina.

WHY THE PHENOMENAL GROWTH OF GREENVILLE AS A TOBACCO MARKET?

The growth of the Greenville Tobacco market since 1924, the year it sold 26,000,000 pounds, until 1928 when it sold over 71,000,000 pounds, has inspired the praise of the tobacco trade all over the tobacco growing states and even in the general offices in foreign lands. There are many influences which are largely responsible for the unusual growth of the Greenville market, but there is one outstanding reason, and that is our BUYING ORGANIZATION and their facilities for handling tobacco. There is keener competition on all grades, and the growers have observed this in the sale of their tobacco. Naturally enough, they returned home and told their neighbors, some of them living 125 to 150 miles away, of the better prices at Greenville, and the fine spirit prevailing on our market. They have noticed the personal interest the buyers were taking in the market and in the welfare
