SEVENTY-FOUR MISSING IN SHIPWRECK

Coastwise Passenger Ship Goes Down After Collision With Tanker

San Juan Sinks Five Minutes After Hitting Oil Tanker Dodd, About Sixty Miles From San Francisco; Several Survivors, Badly Injured, Rushed To San Francisco For Medical Aid.

San Francisco, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Radio advices from two rescue ships indicated that 74 persons may have perished with the sinking of the coastwise passenger vessel, San Juan, 60 miles south of here early today.

The San Juan went down in five minutes after colliding with the Standard Oil tanker S. C. T. Dodd off Pigeon Point, Cal. Although one side of the Dodd was stove in she lowered her boats and went to the rescue of the passengers and crew who were picked up by the S. C. T. Dodd.

Another ship, the Munami, turned from her course nearby and aided in the rescue work. Several hours after the Dodd was on its way to San Francisco with 27 survivors, some of them badly injured and in need of medical attention.

The San Juan left San Francisco last night for Los Angeles. She was an old vessel of about 1,700 tons, was operated by the Los Angeles and San Francisco navigation company and featured low rates for travel between the two California cities. Most of the passengers were from Los Angeles.

Survivors aboard the Dodd said they saw Captain Adolph F. Asplund go down with his ship. A heavy fog had hung over the Pigeon Point area since yesterday afternoon.

A list of passengers made public here by C. D. Nichols, an officer of the Los Angeles and San Francisco navigation company, owners of the San Juan, contained only 38 names. Nichols explained however, that the list was incomplete because those who bought tickets at the last minute were not represented.

Officers of the Los Angeles and San Francisco navigation company, owners of the San Juan, announced their latest information, showed there were 65 passengers aboard the vessel when she collided with the Standard Oil tanker, S. C. T. Dodd, in a thick fog at midnight. The crew of the San Juan numbered 45.

There were conflicting reports as to the number rescued. Aboard the Dodd were 27 of the San Juan's passengers and crew. Nine others were picked up by the steamer, Munami, which was still at the scene of the collision at 8 a. m. One report said there were four other survivors aboard the motorship Frank Lynch, but this could not be confirmed.

Rodriguez stations here reported that the Munami had renewed its search of the wreckage-strewn collision area at daybreak but that up to 8 a. m. it had not reported picking up any additional persons.

These advices, coming eight hours after the San Juan sank, led to the belief that few, if any, of the 74 missing would be found alive, although the Munami refused to give up the search.

San Francisco, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Revised figures on the number of passengers aboard the coastwise steamer San Juan when she sank off Pigeon Point south of here today showed that seventy four persons remained unaccounted for and may have perished.

OPERATE IN ATTEMPT TO SAVE FLIER

Lady Mary Heath, Injured In Wreck Yesterday, In Serious Condition Today.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Lady Mary Heath of Ireland, one of the contenders in the Cleveland air derby lay in Lakeside hospital today awaiting outcome of a cranial operation performed last night after her plane had crashed through the roof of a factory building, fracturing her skull and inflicting other injuries.

Possibility of infection, present for 36 hours after such an operation, still kept her in danger according to attaches at the hospital. She showed improvement immediately after the operation was performed, however, and her chances of complete recovery were reported good, provided she escapes infection. No danger of paralysis or blindness was seen.

Dr. E. C. Cutler of Western Reserve University and a brain specialist performed the operation, assisted by Dr. N. B. Wright. Lady Mary was in the operating room more than three hours.

The noted aviatrix, who made the most daring flights of all woman entrants during the National air races Tuesday, was landing at a test field yesterday. She was flying with Erwin Kirk, 26, a Cleveland mechanic. As she neared the edge of the field the plane struck guy wires to a chimney of the Mills company.

The plane was jerked sharply around and plunged through the roof. Kirk lost a finger and suffered minor injuries. He admitted that he was hazy about the crash, but said Lady Mary was flying full power. At the field, however, it was said she had turned off the motor to repeat practice landings for her "dead stick" contest landing at a mark without power at the races. The event was called off.

Lady Mary's most noted flight was from Croydon Field, England, to Capetown, Africa, by way of Bagdad two years ago.

South Carolina Crops Damaged By Hail Storm

Spartanburg, S. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Farmers of the eastern section of Spartanburg county today were making an accounting of the toll taken late yesterday by a hailstorm which swept an area of several miles entailing damage to growing crops, property and livestock unofficially around $500,000.

The damage of property from the storm was asserted to be the highest ever recorded in this county. Telephone communication was seriously impaired and reports from the district were meager.

The storm cut a path several miles wide from Greer on the Greenville county line southeast through the Reidville and Woodruff townships to Enoree on the edge of Laurens county.

Bridget Given Car New York—Bridget Parry, chambermaid at the hotel where Arnold Rothstein was shot, has received a mysterious gift on an automobile. Somebody—she doesn't know who—telephoned her to take a look in a certain spot, and sure enough there was the automobile. Bridget was in jail six months as a witness and then freed.

N. Y. FLINGS OPEN GATES TO ECKENER

City Turns Out To Honor Crew Of The World-Girdling Graf Zeppelin.

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The city flung wide its gates today to welcome commander Hugo Eckener, pilot and crew of the German dirigible, Graf Zeppelin, on their return from their latest trip around the world.

An official municipal welcome afforded an opportunity for the citizens of the metropolis to shout themselves hoarse acclaiming the German aeronauts whose exploit has captured the imagination and admiration of the world.

Dr. Eckener yesterday paid his respects to President Hoover at Washington and heard from the chief executive words of congratulation in behalf of the American people.

Police Commissioner Whelan as chairman of Mayor Walker's welcoming committee, ordered the city tug Macon to pick up Commander Eckener and his party either from a seaplane in the lower harbor or, on Staten Island if the commander's trip from Washington was made in a land plane.

With its commander the center of attention here, the Graf Zeppelin was being prepared in the navy hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., to continue its eastward flight to its home port, Friedrichshafen Germany.

Repairs to a crumpled rudder and replenishing supplies of fuel and lifting gas will be completed by 8 p. m. tomorrow, engineers estimated, making possible a departure at midnight.

The airship will make the last stage of its journey in charge of Captain Ernest A. Lehmann, while commander Eckener remains in the United States for about two weeks to attend to business.

Washington, Aug. 30.—(AP)—On the outermost edge of Washington, Dr. Hugo Eckener, 60-year-old master of the Graf Zeppelin's world-circling flight, obtained his hard-earned reward of peaceful sleep before striking early today to fly back to New York.

The commander of the great airship was given his choice of the "most gorgeous" suite of Washington's most luxurious hotel, or a quiet room in the secluded home of Dr. O. C. Kelp, German charge d'affaires.

"I'll take the quiet spot," said Dr. Eckener.

He had earned it. Twenty one days, 7 hours, 33 minutes of tension and tumult had preceded his strenuous triumphant return Thursday. Motor-thraps, crowds, speeches, photographs—live had moved swiftly for Dr. Eckener.

With characteristic thoroughness, he tied up all the little tag ends of his trip before he allowed himself to rest. He paid his courtesy call on President Hoover and expressed his gratitude for the cooperation he received from America. He thanked the navy for its weather reports, and for the man power in the Zeppelin ground crew. He visited the secretary of state.

C. O. Webster, of Shelby, is manager of Montgomery-Ward's store which will open at its new home on Fifth street tomorrow.

THREE OTHER DEFENDANTS GO TO ROADS

Manslaughter, Forgery And Crime Against Nature Cases Heard Thursday.

Found guilty of a charge of manslaughter, Spanard Moore, negro of the Bethel community, was sentenced to three years in jail by Judge Garland Midyette, of Jackson, presiding over the criminal term of Pitt county Superior court which convened in this city last Monday morning.

Moore was charged with the killing of another negro in the Bethel section sometime last fall and entered a plea of self-defense. James Williams, colored, of the Farmville section, was sent to the roads for two years on a charge of crime against nature. The case was one of the longest drawn out heard yesterday, and consumed practically half the day.

James Hood, Bethel negro, adjudged guilty of forgery, was sentenced to two years on the roads. He was charged with forging a check for $260 on J. W. Martin.

With the grand jury report yet to come, it was indicated at the noon hour today that court would not likely come to a conclusion before tomorrow. While numbers of cases have been disposed of during the week, there yet remained a considerable number awaiting hearing, especially jail cases, and it was probable that court would continue its sitting until the most pressing cases have been heard.

A Carnegie medal is sought for a four-year-old girl of McAllen, Texas, who saved a playmate from drowning.

Five Prisoners Escape From Pitt Jail Today

Five negro prisoners escaped from the Pitt county jail this morning about 10 o'clock and only one had been captured late this afternoon. Officers of the sheriff's department, augmented by township constables, were scouring the city and community in an effort to land the men behind the bars again, but all efforts had proved futile at last reports.

The dash for liberty occurred shortly after court convened this morning and was witnessed by numbers of people standing around the court house who did not know what the hurry was about until a howl was let up from other prisoners at the jail and pursuit actually got under way.

It was said at the sheriff's office that a deputy sheriff, while in a hurry, left the door unlocked to the negro department and that the prisoners immediately took advantage of the situation when the officer left the jail yard and entered the court house. Although the alarm was given immediately, the officers were able only to round up one of the fleeing men.

SIX JURORS SELECTED IN STRIKE TRIAL

Special Venire Of 200 Men Exhausted Today; Another Panel Coming Up.

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—The special venire of 200 men summoned at the outset of jury selection in the trial of sixteen National Textile Workers Union members and officials and officials of allied organizations, was exhausted shortly before noon today. Court immediately recessed until 2:30 p. m. when another special panel of 300 was to begin coming into court.

Although forty talesmen were examined this morning, attorneys were unable to agree on any of them for duty and the number accepted still stood at six. Most of those examined this morning either were excused for bias or opposition to capital punishment, the penalty asked by the state for the thirteen men on trial. The three women defendants are charged with second degree murder.

A carpenter, cotton mill employe and a news vendor were placed in the box yesterday with two farmers and a steel worker chosen the day before. In eliminating the other veniremen called yesterday, the state used five of its peremptory challenges, bringing to 21 the total used. It is permitted 58. The defense has used 43 of its 168 peremptory challenges.

Of 200 men called as a special venire, only 40 remained today to be examined, service never having been secured on some. Judge M. V. Barnhill, presiding, yesterday ordered another venire of 300 called.

The trial, which began last Monday with argument of preliminary motions, was moved to Charlotte from Gastonia upon the plea of the defense that a fair trial could not be obtained there.

Fred Erwin Beal, of Lawrence, Mass., Southern organizer for National Textile Workers Union, and 12 other union members or leaders, are charged with first degree murder in connection with the slaying of O. F. Aderholt, the Gastonia chief. He was shot and wounded fatally the night of June 7 when strikers from the lorry mill of the Manville-Jencks company refused him admittance to their tent colony on the outskirts of Gastonia.

Aderholt with other officers had gone to the tent colony, which was set up when the strikers were ejected from mill-owned houses, in answer to a telephone report that there was rioting there.

The state charges there was a conspiracy to murder the police chief and Amy Schechter, Vera Birch and Sophie Melvin, all of New York, strike leaders, have been indicted along with the 13 men for conspiracy to murder. The three women also have been indicted for second degree murder.

Germany has a network of 37,500 miles of motor buses.

FIVE JEWS DIE IN ATTACK ON TOWN OF SOFED

Arabs Set Fire To Buildings On Main Street; Troops Quell Trouble.

Jerusalem, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Five Jews were killed last night and twenty wounded when Arabs attacked houses of the Jewish community in the Ancient town of Sofed. Arabs set fire to buildings in the main Jewish street where oil was stored. Troops finally quelled the trouble.

Jerusalem, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Palestine today gradually approached tranquility with the strong arm of the British military enforcing peace where for five days turmoil and strife reigned.

Desultory fighting continued in the less populated sections and looting continued even in Jerusalem, but for the most part the riotous happenings of the last few days were on the wane.

Looters caught in the act were ordered shot forthwith and forces were on the watch for Mauauding tribes of Bedouins from southern Palestine and Jordania.

The Felahien—the Arab Peasantry—who fear the wild Bedouins almost as much as do the Jews brought their children as hostages of peace in the Jewish settlement Kiryath-Anavim.

The Jewish colonists were deeply touched by the sign of friendliness which served somewhat to cool the passions aroused by stories of Arab atrocities on Jewish girls and youth in other parts of the Holy land.

Today is the Moslem Sabbath with Musselmens gathering in their mosques and it was feared this might be a signal for renewed disturbances. It was believed that if the day passed peacefully the situation would grow steadily better.

Arab leaders arranged a huge assembly at the mosque of Omar in Jerusalem.

There were scattered scattered deaths.

Jerusalem, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Jewish telegraphic agency—fourteen Americans are among a group of 29 Jewish students of the Haifa Secondary high school, who are in grave danger in the Jewish colony Metuliah, near the Syrian frontier, said advices received today by the American Consul Paul Knaebenshue.

The students started a week ago on a bicycle trip to Syria. Efforts have been made by the consular authorities to arrange for their transportation to safety.

Several American Jewish families are leaving Palestine today embarking on a steamer leaving for Canada.

Opening Room of Mill Wrecked By Terrific Blast During Morning

TWO KILLED IN GUN DUEL PAW CREEK

Rural Policeman And Cotton Mill Worker Shoot One Another To Death.

Charlotte, Aug. 30.—(AP)—S. S. Rogers, 38, a Mecklenburg county rural policeman, and H. L. Luquire, a cotton mill worker, were killed early today in a gun battle at Paw Creek, 19 miles from here.

Luquire, according to Jenks Biggers, Rogers' partner, opened fire on Rogers and Biggers when they halted him as he turned his automobile in the business section of Paw Creek. Rogers was struck in the abdomen and died in a short time. Police from the ground after he had been struck, Rogers shot Luquire through the heart.

Rogers and Biggers had been assigned to the section around Paw Creek and Hoskins to watch for burglars who have been operating there for the last week. The post office at Paw Creek was robbed about midnight on Wednesday night in a filing station was robbed, and last week a drug store at Hoskins was looted.

Biggers said today that he and Rogers saw Luquire turning his automobile in a side street at Paw Creek this morning. Working up to the car, Rogers said: "We are rural police." Without comment Luquire opened fire the shot striking Rogers in the abdomen. Rogers returned the fire his one shot striking the man in the heart.

The bodies of Luquire and Rogers were brought here.

Entire Leaf Crop Of Ayden Farmer Destroyed By Fire

Fifty-five acres of tobacco, the entire crop of L. A. Griffith, farmer, residing about four miles west of Ayden, was destroyed by fire last night, according to information reaching Greenville today. The tobacco was stored in a combination packhouse and stable which caught fire from an undetermined origin and burned to the ground despite valiant efforts of farm hands to extinguish the blaze.

The packhouse was partially insured, but the tobacco was not. The total extent of the damage had not been determined this morning.

Al Smith Heads Company To Build N. Y. Skyscraper

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith has announced that he will head a company to erect the largest building in the world, an 80-story skyscraper, on the site of the old Waldorf Astoria hotel at Fifth avenue and 34th street.

The structure, to be known as the Empire State building, will tower above the street nearly 1,000 feet—equivalent to the length of five city blocks and about 200 feet higher than any existing building in Manhattan, Mr. Smith said.

Dynamiters Escape After Setting Off Charge; Nobody Injured; Three Strikers Held In Connection To Dynamite The Home Of Rev. J. N. Wise, Methodist Minister.

Marion, N. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—The "opening room" in the Clinchfield cotton mill here was wrecked by an explosion of dynamite early today. Deputy sheriffs on guard at the mill, where a strike is in progress, failed to catch the dynamiters.

Today's dynamiting was the first of a series of explosions and attempted dynamitings in connection with the walkout to cause any damage. No one was hurt. The "opening room" is the room in which the raw cotton bales are opened.

Three strikers are under arrest charged with attempting to dynamite the home of the Rev. J. N. Wise, a Methodist Episcopal church south minister. They are Bruce Stacy, Robert Perkins and George Styles. Date for their trial has not been set.

Efforts at arbitration of the difficulties between officials of the mill and members of the United Textile Workers Union were being continued today by N. A. Townsend, executive counsel to Gov. O. Max Gardner, B. M. Hart, superintendent of the mill, on Tuesday refused to proceed further with a tentative agreement to end the strike because he said that Alfred Hoffman, a National union official, was dominating the strikers and he refused to deal with him.

Troops called out ten days ago when strikers and sympathizers refused to permit the mills to open with non-union workers have been withdrawn and deputy sheriffs put on guard in their place.

Lindy Poses For Pictures At Cleveland

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has made friends with the newspaper photographers. He astounded an observation tower full of them at the National air races yesterday by walking the dusty field and asking a "photo" if he wanted to make a picture.

"I promised to pose yesterday but I was so busy I forgot about it," Lindbergh explained. "I'm sorry. If you want to make some pictures today go ahead."

The dumfounded cameramen recovered, grabbed their bags and made off across the field after climbing over each other getting down the ladder. Then Lindbergh posed before a navy fighting plane before taking the air to stunt for the spectators as leader of a "V" formations of the famous "high hats."

Movie Comedian Is Sentenced To County Rock Pile

Los Angeles, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Al St. Johns motion picture comedian has been sentenced to the county rock pile by Superior Judge Barnell for failure to pay alimony.

St. Johns was ordered to pay Mrs. Lillian St. Johns, his first wife, $1600 back alimony. St. Johns said he was supporting his parents, his present wife, Mrs. June St. Johns and their child, and because he had been out of work during the recent "equity strike" in motion pictures, could not make the payments.

Judge Barnell said St. Johns could "stay on the rock pile until he was paid, even if it is the rest of his natural life." The actor replied "I guess I'll have to stay that long."

DID YOU KNOW

That Pitt county farmers during the year of 1928 raised $950,567 worth of corn? They did almost as good in 1928, the figures being placed at $941,350.

Death Treasure

R. A. J. WALLING

SYNOPSIS: Amusement and surprise are mingled on Tom Grenofen's face when he first sees Veronica's fugitive, Cousin John Merryweather. But Cousin John's ragged clothes, hair cropped close to his head, unshaven features, demands for utmost secrecy and his mysterious black bag are not comparable to the shock Tom receives the following day. For the morning paper carries an astonishing headline: "Daring Escape of a Convict," and a description that leaves no doubt as to his guest's identity. More disconcerting is the news that the convict's accomplices included a woman—on the very morning of Veronica's unexplained absence from the home of a friend, whom she was visiting.

Chapter 17 THE CUB TALKS

Tuesday was a nasty day. Beginning with the shock of discovering the identity of Cousin John, it included the fussy business of the coroner's inquest on Pell, and it ended with two very disturbing incidents.

I had been on very good terms with Mr. Fotherbury. He liked my drawings and I liked his grand seigniorial style; it amused me and he was such a strange figure in the part. He interested my eye and I liked my humor.

When the long inquest was over, and the jury had given the police a clear field to run in anybody they chose, Mr. Fotherbury took me aside into his study. I thought he was a shade more formal than usual.

"Mr. Grenofen, do you know my son?" he asked, looking at me coldly.

"Yes—and no," I replied, feeling some embarrassment. "The truth is, Mr. Fotherbury, I hadn't met your son till last night, and then we had a well—a rather unfortunate introduction."

"I've heard about it. I am told the cause of it was a quarrel between you over Miss Seabrook."

"Perhaps it might be so expressed," I said.

"He is a fool to quarrel with anybody over Miss Seabrook. I do not approve of any advances by him to Miss Seabrook. I'll be quite candid with you, Mr. Grenofen, I've not a word to say against the young lady. I am aware that she has no part in the scheme—whose author I need not mention—for making her the heiress of Newplace. So that you will not misunderstand me when I say that I deeply regret and resent the violence you used towards my son last night."

The mere sententious words convey in real idea of the air with which the old gentleman made this pronouncement—it was nothing less. I told him he could hardly expect me to describe the details of the encounter or to admit I acted any way wrong from my point of view; but I was quite willing to say how sorry I was that his own feelings had been injured.

He answered with ineffable dignity.

"I put it all aside, Mr. Grenofen. But I am sure you will remember in future that Mr. Fred Fotherbury is my son."

We talked of other things, the waddy of Pell, the notoriety it gave Newplace. Several times Mr. Fotherbury seemed on the point of saying "my name" to anything more than, "I was going to ask—" but never finished.

The second incident—rather a sensation—occurred as I approached the gate-house on my way out of Newplace. Three men walked slowly in front of me down the avenue in close converse.

Marling, the cub, and Professor Laxton turned off by the church and went into Marling's house before I reached them and without seeing me.

But not before I had overheard two sentences—a question and an answer.

"Most remarkable," said Laxton; "and you've no idea where he went?"

"I can't be sure because I was a bit foxed," said the cub, "but I'm pretty content he went off along the cliff path towards Hellam Bay."

Perhaps it was not surprising that by the second day I had acquired a certain distaste for Cousin John. I defest furtiveness of all sorts, and Cousin John made me furtive. People learned—through Laxton, I suppose—that we had a relative staying with us, and remarked that they hadn't seen him. I lied glibly about the unfortunate influenza that had kept him in bed.

Laxton never saw me but he asked after my cousin's health. This lasted three days.

I saw Veronica only once during those three days. She said that as I had a visitor staying at Woodcot, I must necessarily be much preoccupied, and said it with a certain undertone. I did not seek out Veronica again.

But I saw far too much of Professor Laxton. He haunted Woodcot on any and every pretext. On Wednesday he was there twice. On Thursday he left us alone till supper time, and then suddenly appeared with an invitation for me to take an excursion with him on Friday to London.

I politely declined his suggestion without giving any specific reason. He seemed greatly disappointed.

I found it hard to divine what Professor Laxton was, but perfectly amenable to divine he was not a member of archeology. Some day I will write a book on the subject of that Sunday night and the subsequent hobnobbing of Professor Laxton and Marling, when put together, gave me an uncomfortable feeling that I had been fooled to the top of my bent.

In the same three days I saw a good deal, also, of Cousin John. In the quietude of the guest-room at Woodcot, he underwent a rapid change. He lost some of his ferocity. He civilized his appetite. He softened his voice.

When he had discarded the tramp's outfit in which he arrived and put on some of my clothes, Cousin John was a relative I need not have been ashamed to display to the whole village. But he firmly refused to be displayed to anybody except my mother and me.

He would not leave his room. He asked for books and read a good deal. He asked me to buy him a good pipe. He smoked my tobacco. He was glad to talk to either of us and would talk intelligently about everything but himself. On his own identity, on his past, on his intentions for the future, he was as dumb as a turnip.

The only spark of light I struck out of him by accident came when he let slip the fact that he knew Black water and the district very well. Having seen that I chewed this over, he tried hard to confuse my impression by displays of willful ignorance.

He asked for the newspaper each morning and studied it thoroughly. If he read the speculations which it printed about himself, he made no allusion to them.

It seemed on the third day as though Cousin John had been living with us a century and was likely to be there for a millennium.

But the total duration of his visit was only three days and a bit. It had begun sensationally; it ended in a burst of excitement far more intense.

Grimersburg News

Coming from Farmville on route 91—the first farm belongs to R. L. Davis and is known as the Jacob Joyner farm. On this farm right where you see the old red oaks, O. L. Joyner, of Greenville and D. C. Joyner, of Farmville, were born and brought up.

On the same farm, on the left or south side of the road, is a filling station owned by R. L. Davis and run by a bachelor, Tripp, who now closes at sunset as he is the man that was attacked by the negro who was this week sent to the roads for four years. South of the filling station is a large natural grove live J. W. Moye and family. The next house on the left lives Dexter Jones and wife and grandchild. The house on the right belongs to Charley Joyner who has ever lived on this land. It is known as the Tommy Joyner farm and has been in his family for a century. The next place where you see such nice yellow cannas on each side of the drive way, is R. L. Smith—Jesse Smith place.

The next farm on the right is Alfred Moore's home and this has been occupied by the Moore's continuously for over a century. The next house of importance is on the left and is owned by Hepburn Burnett. Burnett is a recent settler in this neighborhood. He owns the old Earl Williams house. Williams was for several years the banker of Farmville, as William Whitehead was for the country.

B. S. Smith owns, but does not live upon, the next farm on the left—a hundred years ago his grandfather, William Joyner, lived on it and his wife had the first kitchen and dining room connected to the main dwelling in the vicinity.

On the right and opposite B. S. Smith's farm, lives Johnnie Joyner, and wife, an Alabamian. Bertha Joyner, widow of R. L. Joyner, and a very attractive marriageable daughter. This farm is also an heirloom.

When we come to M. L. Moye's, Bill Flanagan place. Moye is the manor born, but he bought this place of Sheriff Flanagan's heirs. Just around the bend of the road lives A. J. Moye, the oldest person on the road. Next is the Dupree place, and then comes the Robert Turnage farm, owned now by his children and grandchildren. Turnage had four daughters, splendid girls, and no buggies.

L. A. Fulford is a recent acquisition to the neighborhood, who owns and lives upon the Matthew Carr farm. Aaron Turnage, Jr., lives where the old Moye school house, which all the children of the neighborhood received their education. At least most of them never attended any school of higher education until Prayther Hines opened an academy in what is now Horton's apartment house. On this farm stands the house from which General Tyson's father carried away his beautiful bride.

On the same side of the road in an oak grove resides A. P. Turnage, two years the senior of A. J. Moye, his wife, Carrie Speight Turnage, Lester and wife and children.

Near Lang's Cross Roads is Jesse Baker's filling station and menagerie. Baker's has not been robbed, if it is so reported in the papers. No, sir, Lang's Cross Roads is fortified against robbery, for Mrs. Jesse Baker surely sees to it that no one assaults Jesse and gets away with it. Why Jesse has a live wolf and an alligator and several other strange creatures on his school house property.

Right much preparation is being made for planting rye this fall.

Mr. Alfred Joyner intends to put in fifty bushels; Johnnie Joyner 25 or more; M. L. Moye is diskings his tobacco patches for the same purpose.

This road has a fair tobacco crop, an indifferent cotton crop and corn and hay are quite promising. Some tobacco is being graded and Howard Moye has housed several tons of hay.

A Mr. Rivers is cutting all the large gum timber on this side of the creek. He is sending it from Farmville on the train.

L. A. Fulford is one of the first six-months grand jurors? Should not the plan have been discussed in the Reflector before adoption by the county commissioners? I am not objecting, but I would like to be shown why the change.

Claude Gaskins Solves Problem Of False Teeth

Claude Gaskins, register of deeds of Pitt county, has not been able to find the owner of the false teeth displayed in the front window of the daily Reflector office, but he believes he can file them down so they will fit a friend of his who has been badly in need of a new set of dentures for an indefinite period.

As soon as Claude discovered that somebody had lost his teeth yesterday, he started an investigation at the courthouse that covered every male individual in the various offices.

He went first to C. C. Coppedge, county auditor, because he had seen Mr. Coppedge display his teeth in a most precarious manner at different times. Catching the auditor around the neck, Mr. Gaskins forced open his mouth and discovered that his teeth were all there. He did his teeth were all there. He did too everybody seemed to be in possession of all the teeth he was supposed to have in these days of ambitious dentists.

About the time he was preparing to give up the quest, he espied the portly figure of Frank Harrington coming from the crowded courtroom. Walking up to the affable clerk of Superior Court, Mr. Gaskins caught him around the neck and then proceeded to investigate his mouth.

Frank is just as big as Mr. Gaskins and a tussle ensued, but eventually the former's mouth opened, and there in all its single blessedness reposed a single front tooth.

Now one tooth is not enough for a court official, Mr. Gaskins avers, and if the owner of the false teeth does not show up within the next day or so, he proposes to take a file and a pair of pliers, extract Frank's single tooth, and replace it with the teeth now on display at this office.

It is the only solution to the problem of disposing of valuable lost property, Mr. Gaskins believes, and with this end in view he is patiently awaiting the arrival of the owner of the teeth or the beginning of operations looking to "fitting up" of the clerk of court.

Ballard's X Road News

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Pittman, of Kinston, were visiting at Mr. John Hemby's Friday.

Quite a number of our people have attended the meeting in the Christian church at Arthur. Rev. Barclay, of Wilson, is the preacher.

Mrs. Sheba Flanagan and daughters, Misses Myrtle, and Mrs. Leon Flanagan, of Columbia, S. C.; Misses Lida and Christine Tyson, Mr. Glenn Tyson and Mr. Robert Tyson, of Talladega, Ala., were guests at dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Tyson on Tuesday, the 20th.

Misses Lida and Christine Tyson are members of a house party at Myrtle Beach, S. C.

The Holiness meeting at the Cross Roads conducted by Mr. Turner, of New Bern, now in its third week, seems to arouse a great interest—large crowds attend every night. We hope much good will be the result.

The death of General Lawrence David Tyson casts a shadow here. He spent his early years in this township. His mother, Mrs. Margaret Turnage Tyson, was a sister of Mrs. Joseph L. Ballard. When a boy, he often visited this home. The Ballard house still stands, but the beautiful home of General Tyson's boyhood was destroyed by fire more than forty years ago.

Aged Judges Not Ready To Retire On Big Salaries

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Young men who aspire to quick wealth so they may retire at an early age and enjoy the fruits of their labors may obtain a lesson in service from three men on the government payroll, all over 70 years of age, who need only say the word to be retired at their present salaries of $20,000 a year.

The three are associate Justices Homes, Van Devanter and Brandeis of the United States Supreme court. Holding appointments for life, apparently all intend to die in harness, so absorbed are they in the work of the nation's highest bench, for there is no indication that any of them is even considering retirement from his frequently arduous position.

Chief Justice Taft passed his 70th birthday nearly two years ago, but falls by reason of another restriction to qualify for full pay retirement. Ten years continuous service as a federal judge is required preceding the 70th birthday, so the head of the bench will not be eligible until July 7, 1931, the tenth anniversary of his appointment.

Every chief justice since John Marshall to Taft has died in office, proving their appreciation of the position, and of these only Salmon P. Chase failed to reach the age of 70. The longevity apparently guaranteed to all who achieve the eminence is shown by the fact that the ten chief justices in the history of the court have averaged 14 years in that post.

COME TO GREENVILLE

Next Tuesday will mark the opening of the tobacco market here for the 1929 season and to the thousands of visitors who will be here for that occasion we take this opportunity in advance of extending them greetings and welcome to our city. Whether or not you sell a pound of tobacco or spend a cent in our stores next Tuesday, we want you to come and witness the opening sales at our tobacco warehouses and pay a visit of inspection to our stores. The slogan of our city is "Our Greenville is Yours If You Come." We urge you to visit our city and let us prove to you that our slogan is not just an idle boast.

JUST TWO MORE GAMES

With just two more baseball games on the local diamond after today, before the curtain is rung down on the 1929 season, no doubt there will be large numbers on hand for the contests tomorrow and Monday. As was the case last season, Greenville is finishing this season at the bottom of the column, or very nearly, but nevertheless we have had baseball and many hours of enjoyment have been derived during the months past as a result of baseball here. Of course, it is human for us to grumble about our luck and bemoan the fact that we have occupied the cellar the major part of the season, but we venture the prophecy that despite all this our fans will be ready to undertake another season when the sun begins to warm things up a little next spring. Of course, we would rather that our team finished at the top of the column but still we have had a lot of fun, and we can't get away from the fact that baseball is in truth our national sport and whether the boys play to suit us or not, we just can't resist the temptation and want some baseball in the good old summer time, and maybe next year we will be able to reverse the situation and finish on top.

Local people can render a real service next Tuesday by leaving their automobiles at home unless it is absolutely essential that they use them. There will be thousands of visitors here and we can make their visit more enjoyable by leaving all possible parking space for them.

Vote Score Will Change In Next Monday's Issue

Tomorrow Is Report Day For All Candidates.

Monday's tabulation will include all votes cast for publication up to eight o'clock tomorrow night. It is 'anybody's race' now and we know that the candidates who are really interested in holding their positions will not let report day slip by without doing something. More votes are given in the first period for subscriptions for that reason a little effort now will count many more votes than later. Not only do votes count more, but subscriptions are more plentiful right now than they will be later. Big votes and more prospects are two good reasons for activity this week. Much comment has been made on the vote score both by candidates and many readers. This score will prove more interesting as the time goes on. If a candidate can get the lead and maintain it it means more support from their friends who are also interested.

DISTRICT NUMBER ONE—Will include all those candidates residing within the corporate limits of Greenville. One or two of the cars and as many cash prizes as there are candidates will be awarded in this district.

Table listing candidates for District Number One with names and vote counts.

DISTRICT NUMBER TWO—Will include all those candidates residing in the territory outside of Greenville lying north of the Norfolk and Southern Railway. One or two cars and as many cash prizes as there are active candidates will be awarded in this district.

Table listing candidates for District Number Two with names and vote counts.

DISTRICT NUMBER THREE—Will include all those candidates residing in the territory outside of Greenville lying south of the Norfolk and Southern Railway. One or two of the cars and as many cash prizes as there are active candidates will be awarded in this district.

ABOUT TOWN

"With the bringing of the first load of tobacco to the Greenville market yesterday, the annual rush in the section's greatest industry got under way," mentioned a citizen today.

"From now on until the closing of the market sometime after the Christmas holidays Greenville will be a busy place both night and day as warehouses and factories attempt to care for the millions of pounds of bright leaf to be brought here from day to day.

"Not many people have any idea of the magnitude of the industry. In fact there are people living right here in town who do not know of the army of men who work night and day the busiest part of the season handling the great crop of golden leaf. They know probably that this is one of the greatest tobacco markets in the world but aside from that they are in complete ignorance of market activities.

"I wish everybody was more completely educated in this great industry for then they could really appreciate the greatness of the community that has been able to take such an enviable place in the world of tobacco."

"Bootleggers and manufacturers of illicit whiskey are having a hard time in Pitt county at this time.

judging by the number of captures made the last few days," remarked a citizen today, as he scanned the headlines of the Daily Reflector telling of the capture of three additional stills.

"With this kind of law enforcement the traffic ought to be considerably reduced during the fall and winter months. The movements of traffic members will be more surreptitious than ever in the face of the dragnet, and the amount of beverage reaching the towns and cities should be negligible compared with the past.

"The sheriff and his assistants seem to be determined to reduce the traffic, and it is needless to say that the majority of people are with them in the great undertaking."

"When Judge Midyette finishes criminal term of Pitt county Superior court the county roads forces will have enough material to last them at least several months," commented a court attendant today, who has been keeping in touch with the activities of the court.

"I do not know how many defendants have been sent to the roads during the one week term of court, but I do know that the number is larger than any other single session of court in years. When a defendant enters Judge Midyette's court on charges of stealing, gun toting, making whiskey, murder, etc., he might as well make up his mind to spend sometime on the roads if he should be found guilty.

"It takes this kind of action by the courts to bring the criminal element to its senses and to show it that crime of his kind will not be tolerated by the courts."

"The curb market will be moved to the Sam White Property on Dickerson avenue, adjoining Parkerson's Dining Room, next Tuesday," said E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt County Farm Department, speaking of market changes today. "Sheds are now being erected and everything will be ready for sales next Tuesday morning. The last sale will be held at the old location Saturday.

"We are making an effort to establish a permanent market for the sale of the various products of the farmers of this section. Sales amount to from $200 to $250 a week, and we expect to be able to bring about an appreciable increase within the next several months.

"Housewives of the city are offered fresh vegetables and country produce at regular market prices, and the more they patronize the market the more the farmers will be encouraged in bringing their products here for sale. "The experiment in the curb market plan is meeting with expected success and when we have found a permanent location we hope to see sales set a new high mark." "Don't forget the meeting of the Pitt County Supper club at the Rotary building tomorrow night at 7 o'clock," urged a member of the Pitt County Department of Agriculture today.

"This is one of the most important meetings of the club this year. The principal speaker of the occasion will be a member of the State Department of Agriculture who has studied the problem of North Carolina farmers and knows how to explain them in an interesting way.

"If you haven't made reservations for a seat, do so at once and assure yourself of an opportunity of taking part in one of the most interesting meetings in months."

PITTSBURGH AGAIN LICKS CUB OUTFIT

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN (Associated Press Sport Writer). The mark of Pittsburgh's Phantom Legion moves on through the darkness in a stubborn attempt to recapture a vanished hope. It all seems so impossible, but this return of Corsair Ghosts from the grave nevertheless is giving the National league, and all baseball for that matter, the only shred of a supreme moment the stretch run of 1929 can know.

The miracle may last no longer, but remarkably enough, has carried through three games in two days, to the utter amazement of Joseph V. Carthy and the Cubs. The third Pittsburgh decision was gained by 5 to 4 at Forbes Field yesterday.

This latest Pirate victory served only to reduce the lead of the Cubs to 11 and one-half games. The Dreyfuss Dragons need all the series, and all may be too little, but they at least hope that Brame and possibly Grimes can continue the spurt against Bush and Blake. Then, with the Bruin lead shorn to nine and one-half engagements, Mr. Jewel Ens might be permitted to wonder just how great a miracle was needed to accomplish what would be the greatest of all baseball miracles.

Bill Walker, the young giant southpaw, yesterday held the Robins hitless through eight rounds only to see them pick up four blows and two runs in the ninth. The Giants won the game by 6 to 2. Mel Ott helped with his 33rd homer. The Phillies scored twice in the tenth at Boston to nose out the Braves, who came back with one in the home half, by a score of 5 to 4.

The Athletics added half a game to their lead by shading the Red Sox by 7 to 6 at Shibe Park as the Yankees divided two with the Senators at the big stadium in the Bronx. Babe Ruth's thirty-seventh home run enabled the Yanks to save the opener by 5 to 4 after a circuit drive by Goose Goslin apparently had sewed up the decision for Fred Marberry and the Senators. Washington routed Hoyt in the nightcap to win by 8 to 4. Penneck was the winning pitcher in the opener.

Tim Lyons continued his rampage by sharing the ambitious Indians in Chicago by a score of 2 to 1. The Browns seized the Cleveland defeat as an opportunity to entrench the St. Louis standard more firmly in third place. Sammy Gray gave eight scattered hits as the Browns defeated Earl Whitehill and the Tigers by 6 to 0.

Greensboro Will Get First Game Piedmont Series
Durham, N. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Greensboro will get the first game in the post-season Piedmont league playoff to be staged between the Patriots and Bulls for the league pennant. The series will begin Monday, September 9.

The Pats were awarded the first game at a conference yesterday of W. G. Bramham, league president; Charle Carroll, Greensboro manager, and Dr. L. S. Becker, owner of the Durham Bulls.

The second game will be played in Durham and the other contests will alternate between the two cities.

With only eight more playing days, including today, left for the season, The Bulls and Pat appear safely in on the series. Winston-Salem, in third place, is eight games behind the Bulls while the Pats hold a half-game margin over Durham.

ROCKY MOUNT AGAIN LICKS THE GREENIES

Rocky Mount, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The Greens committed three errors this afternoon that helped the Bugs take the closing game of the series with Greenville at Bryles Field and the last afternoon home game of the season. The count was 5-2.

Anders held the Bugs to four scattered hits, one of which was a hard hit homer featuring Skipper Charlie Moore. One man was on base. Reis hit a triple in the third to score Brandes, who had doubled.

Greenville errors was responsible for another score by Brandes. He walked went to third on Anders' wild throw and scored when Jones threw wild to the plate.

Jones won the right to a free straw hat when he hits the first homer of the season over a clothing store sign in right field.

Reis and Vance featured the fielding of the locals while Kendall's running catch of Cohen's hit was the feature for the Greens.

IT ALL DEPENDS UPON THE LADY'S HANDS
Chicago, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Take, for instance, the cuticle on a girl's hand; if it is tough, the National Association of Cosmeticians was told today, the young woman is sure to be one of those independent types. Furthermore, if her skin is plain and thin, she is immediately catalogued as the clinging vine kind. It was not explained what cuticle indicated character or what skin had to do with temperament, but the delegates seemed satisfied.

LET'S SWAP TIRES... WE'LL GIVE YOU NEW SILVERTOWNS FOR YOUR OLD ONES

HOLD ON, there! Don't throw that old tire away! It's just like tossing good money out of the window.

For today you can swap that old, worn casing for a brand new Silvertown... and get an extra-generous allowance on it!

It's just like getting cold cash for rubber that's done its duty for you. We take it in... dispose of it to a used tire buyer... And you get a generous credit for the mileage that's left.

And these are Silvertowns we give you for old tires... famous Goodrich Silvertowns or Silvertowns De Luxe!

Tires built up on a carcass of stretch-matched cord, cured by the Goodrich water-cure process, and finished off with that famous Silvertown tread. You just can't beat them for quality.

So let's get together! Come in... let us see your old tires. And you take a look at what we've got!

You'll thank us for not letting you pass up such an opportunity! Come in tomorrow!

TOBACCO FARMERS—We want to thank you for your liberal support last season. We appreciate the patronage of the farmers who sold with us. It is always a pleasure for us to help you. We are ready for a new season. Our doors will open from next Saturday Aug. 30th until the market closes. We are ready to receive you and your tobacco.

Listen to a Few Facts and Reasons—You should sell tobacco in Greenville, because it has proven to be the best market in the State for the past three years.

A FEW REASONS WHY IT WILL PAY TO SELL TOBACCO WITH MOYE AND JUETT:

- 1st We are judges of tobacco and know how to protect our sales.
- 2nd We are not afraid to buy tobacco when it is necessary to protect the interest of our farmers. We back our judgment with our money.
- 3rd We have the respect and confidence of the buyers and farmers on this market which was proven last year by the volume of tobacco we sold. Our house was the only one to make a gain over the previous year, with two other houses added to the market.
- 4th We are not paying trucks and neighborhood drummers. Our money will be spent on our sales and everybody who sells with us will share alike. We have no pets. We try to get the full market price for every pile sold on our floor.
- 5th We have had years of experience both in buying and selling tobacco and are better equipped this year than ever before to protect your interest. We have a competent and courteous force and assure you good service, clever treatment and the highest market price for your tobacco.

Bring us your first load—We will try to sell your crop. If you have no tobacco opening day, come in to see us and watch our sales. You will like the way we sell tobacco.

Yours to serve.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The cotton market opened steady today, at an advance of from 2 to 3 points in response to steady Liverpool cables, the reported absence of further rainfall in the dry sections of the south, and bullish private crop advices. The advance met considerable realization which caused slight reactions shortly after the opening. But the buying continued and by the end of the first hour, active month were selling about 10 to 13 points above yesterday's closing quotations. December sold up to 18.30 and March to 19.57. Cables advised from Liverpool said the market there had been influenced by fair trade calling. Covering and local buying.

worry. Call money renewed unchanged again at 9 per cent with apparently a sufficient supply available to hold the rate at that figure, despite heavy midweek and holiday demand for funds. Buoyancy of the farm implement stocks was attributed to the excellent current earnings and prospects of leading companies. International Harvester ran up 15 1/4 points, Case Threshing 14 1/2 and Oliver farm Equipment 4 1/2. Steel shares moved upward under the leadership of U. S. Steel common, which was marked up nearly 5 points by early afternoon.
