HALF MILLION POUNDS LEAF IN CITY TODAY

Market expected to Finish Selling During Early Afternoon Hours

With half a million pounds of bright leaf on the floors of the nine warehouses here today, indications at the noon hour were that the market would finish selling by the noon hour according to information given out this morning by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales. The market yesterday disposed of 66,000 pounds of tobacco at a general average of $11.85. The total amount paid out to the farmers for this amount of leaf was officially estimated at $116,888.11.

The market opened yesterday morning with several thousands of people in attendance. As is customary on opening days, only inferior grades of tobacco were offered for sale, with a sprinkling of better grades being noticeable from time to time. The great amount of common tobacco always holds down the general market average, and that yesterday was no exception. It was believed by many that the offerings yesterday were of a poorer quality than in years and this had a tendency of playing havoc with the price situation.

While much of the tobacco showed color, it lacked the body and rich waxy appearance of the crops of former years. This condition is said to have resulted from incessant rainfall that visited this community while the crop was under cultivation, and while not all farmers were affected, the majority of them have poor crops.

It was estimated several weeks ago that the yield this season in Pitt county would not be over three or four hundred pounds to the acre, and this estimate was almost borne out yesterday by the light weight of the weed exhibited on the various warehouse floors. The yield under normal conditions is between 700 and 800 pounds to the acre, but occasionally some of the outstanding farmers succeeded in raising as much as a 1,000 pounds to the acre. The market last season averaged with a general average of $21.00 per hundred. Farmers are hopeful that prices will advance in that way this season, but they have no assurance that they will, and all they can do is to wait and hope for the trans-formation.

Premier McDonald Fails to Clarify Former Statement

Geneva, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Premier Ramsay MacDonald was asked today to clarify his statement that all three points were outstanding if the twenty or more to a complete Naval reduction accord between the United States and Great Britain.

A spokesman replied that he was unable to do so and explained that the premier was the only man in England outside General Dawes, the American Ambassador, who actually knew what was going on in the "naval conversations."

The premier's optimistic references yesterday to the nearness of complete agreement between the two great Naval powers was so mystifying to delegations of other countries here, and to the members of the British Premier himself.

President Sends Nominations To The Senate Today

Washington, Sept. 4.—(AP)—A group of nominations including those of the Federal Farm Board members, were sent to the Senate today by President Hoover.

Other nominations included those of John W. Garrett of Baltimore to be ambassador at Rome; Garrick John Dikema, of Michigan, to be minister at The Hague; George T. Summerlin, of Louisiana, as minister to Venezuela; Major John R. D. Matherson, of the Engineers Corps, to be a member of the California Debt Commission.

The President also sent the name of Albert C. Williams, of Texas, to be a member of the Federal Farm Board. This is a re-appointment.

SEVEN BODIES RECOVERED IN STORM AREA

Manila, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Philippine Executive Bureau announced today that the bodies of seven victims of the typhoon in southern Luzon had been found in Rizal province and that reports of a greater death toll were expected as soon as communications from the affected areas were restored.

The typhoon apparently wrought heavy damage to crops both to the north and south of Manila. The provinces of Misamis, Sorsogon, Camarines Sur and Camarines Norte were hard hit.

One report estimated that Camarines Sur lost 80 per cent of its standing crops. The rerun of the Birol river, which traverses the province and which grows hemp, coconuts and rice appeared to have sustained severe damage.

The extent of losses to the north were undetermined.

Loss of life incidental to the sinking of the island steamer Mayon in the bay was figured at six persons today. Offices of the Manila Railroad operators of the ship, received a message saving 22 members of the crew had arrived at Pasacao, accounting for 31 of the 37 persons aboard.

Joe Thinks Cubs Are "In" to Stay

Chicago, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Member Joe McCarthy has broken his silence regarding his Cubs' chances of winning the National League pennant. He thinks they are "in."

"I don't think there is any doubt about us mixing with those Athletics in the world series now," he admitted after studying the past month's record and the future schedule.

The Labor Day games are over and we are out in front by a good margin. The boys came back in great style after the Pittsburgh slump and now have won four in a row. That proves they have in the championship mettle and I think I can safely say we are "in."

Troops Ordered To Stop Searching Persons Going To Marion Mill Village

Marion, N. C., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Adjutant General Mettis, commanding the four companies of National guard on duty during the Clinchfield and Marion Manufacturing company textile mill strikes, gave orders today for the troops to cease searching persons entering the mill village unless they appeared to be suspicious characters.

General Mettis ordered following swearing out of a warrant by W. O. Ledbetter, Marion real estate man, for a private of the Lincoln County company charging him with highway robbery. Ledbetter alleged private C. V. Devinie held him up and took a pocket knife from him. Sheriff Oscar Adkins early today did not serve the warrant.

D. F. Giles, attorney for the United Textile Workers which called the strikes, contended in a letter written to civil authorities that the searching was in violation of the constitution and threatened to seek a federal injunction to halt it.

Eight of 79 strikers charged with rioting as a result of a clash with sheriff's officers Friday that caused the troops to be ordered to the mill villages were still in jail today, having been unable to make bonds of $100 each. The alleged rioters, along with 17 strikers charged with assault on R. W. Baldwin, president of the manufacturing company, and several others charged with assault on officers will get a grand jury hearing next week unless D. F. Giles, their attorney, is successful in securing a special term of court.

COMPLETION STRIKE JURY NEAR TODAY

Eleventh Juror Selected Today; Wealthy Planter Fined For Contempt of Court

Charlotte, Sept. 4.—(AP)—One juror in the trial of 16 members of the National Textile Workers, Workers Union for the murder of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia chief of Police, was still to be selected when court adjourned at 1 o'clock today for lunch, the ninth day of the trial. The eleventh juror, E. M. Stilwell, 47, farmer, of Matthews, was placed in the box this morning with 10 previously selected. Resumption of the trial was set for 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Charlotte, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Impatient with talesmen whose efforts to evade jury duty in the trial of 16 men and women accused of murder in connection with the death of O. F. Aderholt are obvious, Judge M. V. Barnhill in Superior court today fined F. A. Fowler, wealthy farmer of Matthews, $25 for evading questions.

The judge's action followed closely upon opening of the ninth day of the trial while attorneys were quizzing members of the "third special venire" called since jury selection started one week ago. The last venire was 150 men, one of 200 and another of 300 having been called previously and exhausted with the selection of ten jurors.

Powder, who operated a "12-horse farm," evaded questions of a question put by attorneys and the court. Finally, his patience exhausted, the judge held Fowler in contempt of court and fined him $25.

Landis Man Killed In Auto Accident; Two Others Injured

Salisbury, N. C., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Robert Osborne, 21, of Landis, was killed instantly and two brothers, Willie and James, injured critically in a highway accident one mile south of China Grove this morning.

The three young men were on the way to visit their father, J. D. Osborne, of China Grove, when their car careened off the highway and struck a tree. Robert's head was caught between the car and the tree and crushed. Willie and James were brought to a hospital here.

The young men worked in a Landis textile mill.

Lull in Wind Slows up Fire In Timber Land

Rhineland, Wis., Sept. 4.—(AP)—A lull in the wind and the prospect of rain brought hope to North Wisconsin today that its forest fire troubles were near an end.

Wearied men who had fought more than a score of blazes in eleven counties and hurried most of them, visioned in a heavy rainstorm the final assurance that endangered timber lands would be saved and their work finished.

The same feeling permeated upper Michigan, where state conservation officials were concerned about threatening fires in the western section and on Isle Royale, in Lake Superior.

URGE MODIFICATION OF FRUIT FLY QUARANTINE

Washington, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Further modification of the Mediterranean fruit fly in Florida was today urged upon President Hoover by Senator Fletcher of Florida, and F. O. Knight, Tampa citrus grower and business man.

Eight of 79 strikers charged with rioting as a result of a clash with sheriff's officers Friday that caused the troops to be ordered to the mill villages were still in jail today, having been unable to make bonds of $100 each. The alleged rioters, along with 17 strikers charged with assault on R. W. Baldwin, president of the manufacturing company, and several others charged with assault on officers will get a grand jury hearing next week unless D. F. Giles, their attorney, is successful in securing a special term of court.

Giles said last night he would ask for a special term of court to try all cases growing out of the strike.

Republican Tariff Bill Formally Placed Before Senate Members Today

Washington, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The revised House tariff measure formally was laid before the Senate today as it assembled for actual business after a summer recess.

For weeks the measure has been under consideration by the finance committee. With the time for its discussion at hand many members are at disagreement over its provisions and a heated contest is expected.

Most of the Senators were in their seats, and the galleries were filled comfortably as chairman Smoot submitted the bill.

Agreement was reached earlier in the day between the Republican and Democratic members of the finance committee that actual voting on amendments would be deferred until Monday, leaving the remaining days of this week for debate.

The first voting skirmish is expected when Republican independents and some Democrats move to confine the tariff increases solely to farm products.

As a preliminary to its formal introduction in the Senate, tariff bill was favorably reported by the finance committee by a vote of 11 to 8.

The ballot was along strict party lines. The Republicans voting for the favorable report were Senators Smoot, Watson, Reed, Shortridge, Edge, Couzens, Greene, Deneen, Keyes, Bingham, and Sackett.

The Democrats voting against were Senators Simmons, Harrison, King, George, Walsh of Massachusetts, Barkley, Thomas of Oklahoma and Connally.

The minority members remained after the vote was taken and held a meeting of their own.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican floor leader, and ranking Republican on the committee, said after introduction of the bill today a motion would be made to adjourn until tomorrow and if no Senators were ready with speeches the next meeting day would be Monday.

Chairman Smoot said little discussion preceded the vote but that the Democrats expressed themselves as favoring disposition of the controversial issue at the special session.

The Utah Senator added that no extensive explanation of the bill would be made by him on the floor as the majority report spoke for itself. He added that this was a Republican revision of a Republican law and therefore there would be no necessity for a long dissertation on the wisdom of a protection policy.

Los Angeles, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Major John P. Wood, wealthy air mail pilot and transport executive went to his death at the controls of his racing monoplane as it exploded in mid-air early Monday morning. His body was found in the wreckage today 25 miles northeast of Needles, Calif.

That was the message received today by Paul Richter, Jr., of the Aero Corporation of California, from Pilot Burrell Smith, of the search airplane sent from here.

CONSUMPTION OF CIGARETTES ON INCREASE

United States Smoked More "Fags" Last Year Than Any Country in World

Washington, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Women smokers aided materially in bringing the per capita consumption of cigarettes in the United States from $20 in 1927 to $26 for last year.

The Commerce Department announced today that 102,765,000,000 cigarettes were consumed in the United States last year which represented by far the greatest cigarette consumption of any country in the world. This represented a jump from 97,307,614,719 cigarettes smoked in 1927.

Cigarette smoking in this country, it was said, has increased steadily since the war and the consumption for last year was in line with the normal growth. Women smokers were credited with contributing heavily to the increase.

Consumption of cigarettes has more than doubled in the last decade. In 1917 the number smoked was 37,139,858,157, while the figure for 1918 was 45,228,706,768. Since then there has been an increase with the exception of 1920.

At the same time consumption of cigars has declined from 8,911,114,762 for 1917 to 8,036,711,162 for last year.

Cuba was said to be the lower per capita consumer of cigarettes the latest figures reported to the Commerce Department showing an average of 1,432 cigarettes smoked in 1927.

Unofficial estimates compiled by the Commerce Department placed Great Britain next to this country in volume of cigarette smoking last year. Germany was third with 90,000,000 and Japan fourth with 28,000,000,000.

SEES STORMY ROAD AHEAD NAVAL ISSUE

Secretary Stimson Believes Hard Work Necessary Before an Agreement Will Be Reached

Washington, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Retiteration that much "hard work" would be necessary before the United States and Great Britain could reach agreement on the question of naval equality was made today by Secretary Stimson.

Earlier in the day the State department head along with Secretary Adams, members of the navy general board and others closely connected with the conversations going on with the London government had conferred for two hours with President Hoover.

Stimson said the purpose of this gathering was to give further consideration to details entering into the question in an effort to work out further the basis for an agreement. Beyond this he declined to say what had taken place at the executive mansion.

Zepp Lands In Germany After Beating Her Own Record Across Atlantic

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Beating its round the world cruising record by more than a full day, the Graf Zeppelin, landed here from Lakehurst, N. J., at 8:52 a. m. (2:52 a. m. E. S. T.).

Church bells pealed and cannon boomed a salute as the huge ship, escorted by an honor guard of 12 airplanes, appeared over the city, circling the town hall before it turned back to its hangar at the Zeppelin works.

One of the largest crowds of Friedrichshafen history greeted it there, cheering madly as the ship lowered toward the ground. Within a few minutes of its appearance it was taken in hand by the ground crew and at 8:56 a. m. was walked into its hangar.

The 22 passengers were at the windows of the ship as it came to earth. Ground officer Hans Von Schiller was the first to emerge from the dirigible, passengers and members of the crew following after the ship entered the hangar.

With its landing the dirigible completed a round-the-world trip—Friedrichshafen to Friedrichshafen—in 20 days 4 hours 18 minutes. The Zeppelin previously had flown around the world from Lakehurst to Lakehurst in 21 days 8 hours 26 minutes, a time which was in itself a record.

The Zeppelin left Lakehurst at 7:18 a. m. (E. S. T.) Sunday Sept. 1, consuming 67 hours, 34 minutes in reaching here over an estimated course of 4,585 miles, against its own record crossing from Lakehurst of 55 hours 24 minutes, completed August 10 over a course of 4,200 miles.

Aboard the Zeppelin were 22 passengers and a crew of 40, headed by Captain Ernst Lehmann. For the first time in the history of the Zeppelin's major voyages its master, Dr. Hugo Eckener, was not aboard, he having remained in America on business after the world trip ended at Lakehurst.

Save for some wide maneuvering in the region of the Azores the trip eastward from Lakehurst was strikingly smooth, the ship striking for Cape Finisterre, Spain, from the Azores region, skirting the Spanish coast, to Santander, and head-

STRIKE TRIAL EXPECTED TO COST $25,000

Gaston County May Pay Over That If Trial Continues indefinitely

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Court officials here have estimated the trial of the sixteen labor leaders and strikers for murder of Police Chief O. F. Aderholt will cost Gaston county approximately $25,000.

The cost are mounting daily and if the trial extends itself indefinitely, it is pointed out, the total may exceed this figure.

The case was moved to Charlotte after defense attorneys argued a trial could not be secured in Gastonia, and this, too, is adding to the total amount to come from the pockets of Gaston county taxpayers.

Of course, when the new tax rate was decided upon several months ago, allowance was made for trial expenses. A program of economy had been adopted by the County Commissioner and plans were made to reduce the tax rate from 99 cents on the $100 to 92 cents.

Chiefly because of the trial, however, the tax rate was reduced only to 94 cents. The property valuation of Gaston county is placed at $97,000,000. Thus approximately $20,000 extra was allowed.

Each venireman reporting receives $1.00 a day until accepted or rejected. A total of 68 veniremen have been called and some have had to wait several days. In addition, the sheriff gets 50 cents for each venireman summoned.

But more expensive than that are items which include the Judge's salary, and Clerk's fees. Regular jurors receive $4.00 a day and expenses, a total of about $8. If the trial last a month, as predicted, this alone will make a big sum, running into several thousands of dollars.

Each state's witness gets $1 a day and mileage, and most of these witnesses must be imported from Gastonia, a distance of twenty miles.

Organized Farmers To Get Relief From New Farm Measure

It has been very definitely announced that only organized farmers can expect relief from the new farm bill and the board. The Progressive Farmer "hit the nail on the head" in an editorial in a recent issue when it said, in part:

"Not one thing everybody should be fully advised in the outset and that is this: It is up to the farmers themselves to organize if they are to get the services of the Board and its half-billion-dollar revolving fund. The Board is not going around trying to help folks who won't help themselves. On the contrary, the act specifically mentions in most cases that help must be extended through co-operative marketing associations. In other words, wherever farmers have enterprise, energy and Christian grace enough to pull together, and stick together regardless of occasional mistakes or failures, the Federal Farm Board will do its best to help. But its general attitude may be that which President Roosevelt said the nation should take toward the Negro, 'Help him if he stumbles, but if he lies down, let him starve.'"

Relief will not be handed the farmers as the result of new legislation, but through the new legislation plus effective organization, farmers may be able to achieve large measure of relief for themselves. Any other interpretation of the new so-called Farm Relief Legislation will be disastrous. It is really only an "Agricultural Marketing Act" as the title specifies, and farmers must co-operate if they are to get its benefits. Those farmers who have already organized and lined up with their co-operative association will be able to reap immediate benefits, but those farmers who have neglected themselves and their industry will be out of luck until they can organize and set themselves in order to deserve and use the services that has been provided for them under proper safeguards.

The North Carolina Cotton Growers Association is the only co-operative organization in this state that will receive help from the Farm Board at the present time, but some of the other smaller associations are making plans and getting themselves in line to meet the requirements of the Farm Board, which will put them in position to receive help later.

May I have a word to say about the Fall that comes our way? It makes the green hills brown-gray and sends the flowers and birds away.

I hate to see them go so bad. That it makes me very sad; For then I'll miss the birds that sing, Until the next new breath of spring.

But go dear birds, fly far away. To a warmer climate today. I hope to see you back next May. Thank you, that's all I have to say.

Aged Ernul Man Attends Opening Of Leaf Market

A. B. Willis, of Ernul, was the oldest tobacco farmer on the Greenville market yesterday. He is 84 years of age, and has been selling his tobacco on the Greenville market for many years, believing that he not only gets the best service but the best to had in the way of prices.

While Mr. Willis carries the weight of many summers on his shoulders, he is still young in spirit and vigorous of body, and takes as much interest following the buyers from sale to sale as the youngest farmer on the floor. He said he couldn't imagine what it would feel like to miss an opening day here and that he had been attending such occasions so long it had gotten to be a regular habit with him.

Mr. Willis saw numbers of his old friends from various parts of the country here yesterday, and he said he derived great pleasure from hours of reminiscing when not actively following the sales. Many a tale of the old days when the tobacco industry was young in this community passed between the veteran planter and his friends, and members of a younger generation listened with interest to the vivid narratives describing life of another era.

The aged planter is not only a good bacco grower but he is an optimist. He is looking forward to greater development on this market, and expressed hope that he might be permitted to attend sales for many years to come and be able to see some of the transformation wrought by time.

Bridge Party.

Miss Pattie Jenkins delightfully entertained a number of her friends at bridge Thursday evening. The home was artistically decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. Miss Elizabeth Page won high score prize for ladies, a lovely bracelet. Mr. Willis Whichard won the gentlemen's prize, a brush. During the course of the evening punch and sandwiches were served. The latter part of the evening was spent in dancing.

Miss Josephine Laane left Thursday for Holly Springs, where she will teach this year.

Miss Allie Louise Fountain returned Friday from Chapel Hill.

co belt, it is evident that the law of supply and demand is having nothing to do with what the growers receive for their tobacco.

ABOUT TOWN

"It is the purpose of the Highway Patrol to reduce the number of drunken drivers as much as possible," declared Lester Jones, lieutenant of the district highway patrol, discussing the numbers of arrests-made by his force the last few days.

"We have numbers of cases coming up for consideration in the various courts of the district the next few days, and many of them are for infringement of the prohibition law as it pertains to the driving of automobiles while drunk. Heavy fines and revocation of driver's license will do much toward improving the traffic situation in this section and save the public from the menace of the drunken drivers."

"Greenville people were glad to welcome the unnumbered thousands who visited this city yesterday to attend the opening of the local tobacco market," declared a citizen to-day, commenting on the remarkably large crowd thronging the tobacco market yesterday.

"This is always the case at this season of the year, and while we had the record crowd yesterday, it is a settled fact that the city will draw hundreds of people daily from other sections during the remainder of the season. People like to see what is going on in the tobacco market, realizing as they do the important part which the industry plays in the life of the community, and they do not come here merely through idle curiosity. Their interest is centered on the amount of money which the farmers are going to get for their crop, because this will largely determine the financial standing of the locality for the next several months."

"The gates of the city were flung wide open to the visitors. They will always find them open with the hitchstring on the outside, and when another season rolls around the same welcome will wait them on every hand."

"Farmers can rest assured of getting prompt service on the Greenville tobacco market this season," declared a business man yesterday afternoon as he watched the rapid disposition of the large amount of tobacco on the various floors.

"With increased facilities of factories and warehouses, this market is in position to give service compared with any other market in the country. Nine big warehouses and factories going at full blast night and day are sufficient to care for over a million, seven hundred thousand pounds of bright leaf daily, and it is not likely that the farmers will witness a block here any time soon."

"In fact the day of block sales on this market has about passed, and only under the most extraordinary circumstances will the farmer be unable to sell his tobacco and return home the same day, although he may live many miles from the city."

"This fact should be kept ever in mind by the farmers desiring the best service to be afforded by any market of the belt, and it is hoped they will take advantage of the situation and see the statement amply borne out."

"Prices were slightly lower than last year, but I am looking for them to show more strength as the season advances," a farmer who has watched developments on this market for years, told the writer of this column today.

"Like all opening days, yesterday saw an unprecedented amount of common tobacco poured upon the various warehouse floors, and again as usual, this played havoc with the general price average. Had more good tobacco been in evidence I have no doubt in the world but that the average would have been noticeably stronger."

"With our crop cut almost fifty percent, it is to be hoped the prices show an advance that will not stop until they go tangling with the stars. The farmers need it and they are going to fare badly during the next few months if they do not get it."

"I am glad that the building committee of the Sheppard Memorial Library is taking steps looking to the beginning of early construction work," said a citizen today, referring to an article carried in the columns of the Reflector, telling of the selection of an architect to draft plans for the new building.

"Everybody is interested in the $50,000 building the gift of Mr. Harper D. Sheppard, of Hanover, Pa., as a memorial to his late father, a native of this county. It will be a building that will take its place among the finest library structures of the state, and one that Greenville people may be justly proud of for years to come."

"The new library will open up a great source of treasure for the readers of the community and should be instrumental in greatly

JOYNER'S On Tobacco Market Conditions

The Eastern North Carolina tobacco markets have all opened, and while prices were disappointing to all the people of this great and best bright tobacco growing region in the world, we would say to the growers, do not be discouraged. Tobacco is going to sell higher, we believe, on the average, than in many years, and while the opening prices were lower than most of us expected, in the end, we believe, this will turn out to be a blessing to all. We are no prophets, but we assert our belief that this crop will prove to be the lightest yield per acre that has been produced in 20 years. It will not require very long for the tobacco trade to find this out and then farmers will realize satisfactory prices.

ROAD SENTENCES FOR RUM RUNNERS

In handing out a year's road sentence yesterday to a rum runner, we hope that Judge Will Whedbee has started something that he will continue to do and that other judges will follow suit. Not that we are any more interested in yesterday's case than in many others that have and no doubt will come up in court, and what we say goes for all. Our courts are getting nowhere when a rum-runner or bootlegger is let off with a fine. Such a practice is merely letting the offender pay a license for doing business and giving him opportunity to return to his racket with the hope that he will evade the law long enough before he is caught again to make enough to afford to give the court a small portion of his earnings as a fine. Road sentences, and long ones at that, we believe, will prove the most effective blow to the liquor business in this community, and such action on the part of the judges surely will receive the commendation and support of our citizens.

WHERE DOES FARMER COME IN?

On the heels of yesterday's opening tobacco prices of approximately a cent and a half less than the opening last year, comes the government report that during the past year cigarette consumption in the United States has increased from ninety seven billion to one hundred and two billion. In the face of these figures together with a short crop in the bright leaf (cigarette type) tobacco,

GRID WORK BEGINS ALL OVER NATION

(By The Associated Press)

The tough and tumble of the gridiron was taking its toll from the grizzled warrior and the novice alike throughout Dixie today, as the men preparing to add another chapter to the Southern Conference story groaned through the pain of strained muscles, bruises and the general tension of conditioning—a relaxed physique.

From Louisiana around the Gulf's rim, down in Florida, up the Atlantic Seaboard and wherever mobilization for the 1929 football machines was in order, came reports of additional men, many already of fame and others seeking, donning uniforms.

With practice assuming regular trend in practically all the 23 conference camps, words of hope and sighs—though soft—of despair were reverberating from many corners.

Down where the Mississippi takes its last leap for the Gulf, Tulane was going about things quietly, letting her public and her expect anything. Dalrymple, a great end prospect, joined the Greenlee Camp yesterday and several varsity men arrived to jump into logs for a fast pass defense drill.

Emanating from the Peninsula, where the Gators have commenced reconstructing their assembly plant, which last year was put together the greatest scoring machine in the country came a promising note fused with past strains of despair. Backfield coach Joe Holsinger said he had many fast and fine backs available for the Florida squad and that a wealth of material had reported.

Censorship seemed to prevail in the fortresses of Alabama's Crimson Warriors and the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech. No boasts came from the Tide-men, considered the outstanding potential title contender, and at the flats the Tornado quietly went about creating its 1929 storm. Wallace Wade was given his men a brisk start in fundamentals and Alexander-bused himself with filling the caps left by the absence of such among the football great as Peter Fund, "Father" Lumpkin, Drennon, Waddy, Speer and other lost stars of the championship team.

Just what is to be expected of the Bulldogs at the University of Georgia, gave the conference something to ponder over. Duke, a newcomer in the conference also advanced, no boasts or hard luck stories, and not a single groan or squawk had been heard from the Gamecocks roos at the University of South Carolina.

The dust was sent flying about the village of the plumes as Auburn's Tiger, once the fiercest of the fierce out a drowsy and tame cat or recent years, sharpened its claws to make a desperate try for a comeback. The team commenced signal drill yesterday.

Coach Obsters was applying the Rockne system at early practice at Washington and Lee. Thirty candidates reported yesterday at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and coach Andy Gustafson was expected to give training a brisk start today. At Charlottesville, the Virginia camp was elated over the arrival of Harry Flippin, one of the south's best flankmen. It was feared however, he would enter medicine and necessarily end his football career.

Over at Chapel Hill, coach Chuck Collins had a squad of 57, including 13 lettermen. The candidates went through stiff calisthenics yesterday.

Crossing over the Tennessee, the University camp at Knoxville held its counsel and Vandy at Nashville did likewise. These teams have treated considerable failure in recent years and some apprehension had by contenders who pondered at strength may be behind the veil of silence.

In all throughout the conference the Gridders had taken enough bumps and bumps to make just the

Sailors Defeat Bucs in Opening Post-series Game

(By The Associated Press)
While Wilmington was trimming Rocky Mount, 7 to 5, in the first of the post season contests for the Eastern Carolina league pennant, teams in the Piedmont circuit were going about the business of playing baseball merely to finish out the schedule.

Greensboro and Durham, first and second teams, respectively, will meet next week to play for the league championship, under a plan outlined by directors of the circuit.

The Bulls pulled up to within three points of the Pats by defeating Henderson, 7 to 5, while High Point was beating Greensboro, 7 to 4. Salisbury won the other game from Winston-Salem, 3 to 2.

Hal Weafer's home run in the ninth inning, with one on base broke up the Wilmington-Goldsboro game. The teams play again today in Wilmington.

fact of living a very unpleasant condition until nature put the Piskin Gladiators in shape for what is regarded as one of the most potential seasons in football annals.

ATHLETICS AND CUBS ALL SET TO WIN

By WILLIAM J. SHIPMAN.

With the two pennant races settled beyond the doubts of even the most hopeful Pirate and Yankee supporters, the Cubs and the Athletics now turn to a pursuit of the mathematical certainty. The chase should not be long.

A survey of the standing of the clubs shows that the Cubs need six more victories and the Athletics eleven to assure another Chicago-Philadelphia World's Series even in the face of a possible clean sweep by the runner-up clubs. The Mackmen have twenty-three more games to play and the Bruins twenty-seven. Since a defeat for a second-place team also counts toward the victories needed by the leaders, neither of the coming champions should require more than ten days or two weeks at the most to settle the argument. It is the first time in many years that both races have been in line for such early decision in the same season.

When George Earnshaw finally secured his twentieth victory at Philadelphia yesterday by 10 to 2 with the Yankees on the receiving end, he placed his team just fourteen and one-half games to the good. He also clinched the season's series against the Champions, as the third straight in the holiday engagement gave the A's a record of twelve games won, and only eight lost in play with the Yanks, with just two more to be decided.

Jimmy Dykes and Max Bishop helped Earnshaw with home runs, and Gehrig contributed his twentieth to the New York cause. After Pipgras and Sherod had been knocked from the picture, Waite Hoyt pitched four odd innings, marked only by Bishop's homer in the eighth. Earnshaw's twentieth victory, long sought, gave his the honor of being the first Major League pitcher to reach that figure this season.

With nothing whatever at stake, the Red Sox and the Senators played a spirited game at Boston, with the Senators on top by 10 to 5 at the finish. The victory gave the Washington clan the edge in the series by two games to one, with one more decision to be reached today. The game was won by Joe Judge, who hammered one of Ed Morris' fast ones into the left field bleachers with two on in the sixth to give Washington the runs which ultimately won.

Fred Marberry got credit for the victory, but gave way to Garland Braxton with three on and one out in the ninth. The Red Sox had reached Marberry for three runs in the eighth. Braxton put down the ninth-round threat with a loss of only one run.

All of the National League Clubs spent the day recuperating from the effects of an active holiday. The Cubs and the Cardinals had intended to go into St. Louis to play off a postponement, but an inspection of attendance figures at recent games led Sam Breadon to decide in favor of a double-header today.

Death Treasure

By R. A. J. WALLING

SYNOPSIS: Cousin John's furtive visit with Tom Grenofen ends! Warned by Veronica he is in danger. Cousin John flees with Tom Grenofen and they join Veronice at the sea side. The searching police are about to corner the fugitives. In a desperate effort to escape, the three commander Royle's speed boat and race across the Channel toward France. Early in the morning, they are approaching the French coast when a gunboat looms up behind and signals an order to halt. Veronica defies the command, opens wide the craft's throttle and speeds away into a narrow channel where the pursuer cannot follow—to land and escape for the mysterious Dick, also called Cousin John.

Chapter 21
CAPTURE
Cousin John attempted no more speeches of thanks. He had no purse and borrowed my loose cash a few pounds.

"That's a debt I'll repay, Mr. Grenofen," he said. "But I can't repay you for Woodcock. I want your mother to accept this as a little souvenir from me."
And he took out of his pocket a little golden cross outlined in rubies and peppered over with small diamonds.

I recalled before it. An angry expression came into his eyes. "What do you mean?" he began. "Take it!" cried Veronica, peremptorily.

I looked her in the eyes. Then I took it with a word of thanks. Veronica stopped the engine altogether and we glided alongside a steep sandbank several feet above the water.

Cousin John took off his shoes and socks and turned the trousers up to his knees. He steadied himself on my shoulder, stepped on the side of the sandbank and dug in his feet.

"Goodby, little Veronica," said he. "Nonsense!" cried Veronica. "Au revoir, Dick. My love to Mina."
"Au revoir, Cousin John," said I. He plowed up to the summit of the bank and went over.

"Get out on the cowing and hold her to the bank by the bow, Tom," said Veronica; "she'll swing—that's it. And yo, heave ho! for Black-water Bay or thereabouts."

Fiftiper's stern was swung round by the tide until she pointed seaward again. Veronica restarted her engine and we moved back along the buoyed lane to the open sea.

In the bay of St. Michel-en-Grevé the water was dead flat in spite of the fast tide. Veronica proclaimed herself as hungry as a starved dog. I crouched under the cowing and set about providing her with breakfast.

It was now past four o'clock. We could not get home before seven. I wondered whether Fiftiper would have been missed. How we should explain ourselves to Royle. How if called upon to account for my absence from Woodcock that night, I should do it.

Why I had been fool enough to accept that present from Cousin John. How—
But before any of these difficulties became actual there was another and an unexpected one to surmount—and that: not further than the end of the lane.

An exclamation from Veronica made me look up from the little stove and the copper kettle.

"Look there!" said Veronica. I stood to look through the screen. A long, black vessel with two fat short funnels lay motionless straight ahead.

"Do you think—"
"That he means to have a few words with us? Oh, yes, no doubt about that. See his signal!"

I could not read the flag, but Veronica knew them. We were requested to heave to.

"Are you going to?" I asked. "What say? Shall we? Or pretend not to know anything about signals and just show him our heels?"

I did not know much about the laws of the sea. But I expected it was bad form not to stop when a long, ugly warship asks you to do so.

"A neutral boat, but what?"
"Yes," said Veronica. "French destroyer-coast patrol from Cherbourg, or maybe Brest. We're doing no harm, and if we were it's no affair of his. What say, Ar? you game?"

It was a rather unfair question. I could scarcely refuse to be game for anything if Veronica was game for it.

Then began the exciting match over five miles between Fiftiper (owner, A. Royle; captain, V. Seabroke) and L'Anguille (owner, the French Republic; captain, Lieutenant F. des Halleaux).

The conditions of the contest were peculiar. The destroyer could not come within five miles of the shore, whereas Fiftiper had the whole bay open to her on the rising tide.

Veronica, with her eyes shining, took a sharp turn to port headed for the point at the western extremity of the bay, and opened out. Fiftiper began to move—25, 30 and quickly up to forty. We sank into the groove we cut, and the destroyer, now on our starboard beam, perhaps two miles away, was invisible because of the wave we raised.

But she did not let us forget her existence. There came over the water the loud shrieking of her siren. Veronica slowed down to take a look at her.

Clouds of black smoke poured from her funnels and the white blob at her forefoot showed that she moved quickly on a course parallel to ours, and across the arc of the bay.

"What a lark!" cried Veronica. "He's in a shocking bad temper! I suppose 25's his top speed. We shall fetch the point with miles to spare. Wish we had a siren; we'd play duets with him!"

Fiftiper's engine roared again and she settled by the stern till her rival was once more invisible. Veronica, shedding water from hat, face and olivisk, chuckled:

"Great, isn't it?"
Fiftiper was running at 50 and the sound of the siren weakened.

"Now, he'll see our heels!" said Veronica.
But he was not done with. I leaped to my feet at the concussion of a gun. Even Veronica looked startled.

But she said, "He really is in a temper, isn't he?" and pushed the throttle wide open.

Fiftiper took another knot or two but that was as much as she could do.

Veronica and I jumped nervously again; the gun boomed a second time, and on this occasion a shot dropped into the sea 300 or 400 yards ahead of us. Veronica throtled down at once.

"Anyhow, I didn't guess he was going to be as nasty as that!" she completed her remark.

Fast as Fiftiper was, projectiles were faster. The argument was over. We admitted that the conversation would have to take place. (Copyright, 1929, Wm. Morrow Co.)

RED OAK NEWS

One of the best revival meetings we have ever had at Red Oak came to a close recently. Sixteen members were welcomed into the church on Sunday night. Rev. P. J. Bamberg delivered the message, and he and Mrs. Bamberg endeavored themselves to the people of our community.

The Sunshine class gave a surprise handkerchief shower in honor of Miss Inez Forbes last Wednesday night. They met at the home of Mrs. B. L. Tyson, their teacher. The home was tastefully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. Mrs. Tyson and Miss Pattie Jenkins entertained with piano selections and Victrola music was also enjoyed. A delicious grape drink was served as a refreshment. The class will miss Inez and we wish for her success as a teacher in Currituck county.

The Junior class of R. O. S. E. had a delightful party at the home of Mrs. B. L. Tyson Thursday night. They had planned to go on a weenie roast, but due to the rain their plans were broken up. Several indoor games and contests were enjoyed, the most enjoyable being "Autumn Has Come." At a late hour they repaired to the dining room and after the class song and some vells, and a blessing by their teacher, Miss Ella May, they enjoyed a delightful repast of weenies, bread and other sandwiches.

We had a splendid attendance at Sunday school last Sunday and a great deal of enthusiasm was shown by those present. One man remarked that we all seemed just like a big family at Red Oak. It was suggested that each class try to have an average attendance of at least fifteen for the next four Sundays.

Folks, if you live close to Red Oak church, you don't know what you are missing if you don't go to Sunday school.

Farmville Market Has 500,000 Lbs. Leaf Opening Day

Farmville, N. C., Sept. 4.—Approximately 500,000 pounds of tobacco were sold here today in a very satisfactory market opening. Complete figures of sales and averages have not been ascertained as yet, but the average is estimated at around 13-3-4 cents. The bulk of the offerings consisted mostly of primings and inferior grades as is usual on opening day. The prices ranged about the same as on nearby markets being sold from $4 to $4 1/2 per hundred. Some farmers expressed disappointment regarding averages, saying that prices were as good as last year but the quality much better.

Trucks and wagons loaded with the yellow leaf continued to roll in from a radius of 30 miles all Monday and until sales time today. With 2 sets of buyers and auctioneers working, the floors of the 4 huge warehouses with ample space for handling a million pounds daily, are being cleared and will be ready for what is expected to be another heavy sale tomorrow.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET N. Y. STOCK LIST

New York, Sept. 4--(AP)--The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 5 points in response of relatively easy Liverpool cables while there also seemed to be some southern selling as well as realizing during the early trading. December eased off to 19.65 and March to 19.90 but the offerings were readily absorbed at these figures and the market soon returned steadier on a renewal of the recent buying movement promoted by continued dry weather in the southwest and reports of showers in the east. Expectations of bullish features in the weekly report of the weather bureau were also a factor and by the end of the first half hour active months were 3 to 6 points net higher with December selling around 19.72.

Chicago, Sept. 4--(AP)--An easier tone prevailed in the wheat pit today as a result of a sw demand and liberal offers at Liverpool coupled with indications of a break in the long drought in Argentina. Export demand remained sluggish and world surplus increased 9,738,000 bushels for the week. Rallies failed to hold. Despite easier prices for corn the underlying tone was firm, support developing on every decline.

Table with columns for High, Low, Close and rows for various commodities like Wheat, Corn, Oats, Rye, Beans, etc.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 4--(AP)--Extreme nervousness characterized trading in today's stock market, which ran into a storm of selling in the morning and then rallied briskly after mid-day. Early declines ranging from 1 to 10 points in the active issues were substantially cut down, and a sprinkling of specialties marked up 4 to 8 1/2 points to new high records. Credit conditions and prospects were the disturbing factor. Call money renewed unchanged at 9 percent but hopes that the return flow of Labor Day funds would cause a reduction in the rate began to look more dubious as the session wore on. Wall street is still uneasy over the possibility of a higher Bank of England discount rate tomorrow, and the possibility of further action by Federal Reserve authorities to restrict the flow of credit into speculative channels. Pears are also mentioned in some quarters that the mid-month credit pinch will be unusually severe, and that the terms of the new government financing will provide little incentive to bullish enthusiasm. Meanwhile, trade and business news continues generally favorable. Iron Age reports that August pig iron production was the largest on record for that month, but calls attention to a further tapering in pig iron and steel output in the first part of September although the rate of operations shows little change. Sears Roebuck reported an increase of 21.2 per cent in August sales over the same month. Directors of the U. S. Tobacco Co. returned the annual dividend from $3 to $4. Early selling was most effective against some of the high priced issues which recently have recorded sharp advances. Auburn Auto broke 10 points. American Machine and Foundry 3-4, and Allied Chemical, Atchafalaya, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, U. S. Steel common, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, E. I. du Pont, American Water Works, Johns-Manville, North American, Chesapeake & Ohio New York Central, and Stone & Webster all sold 4 to 6 points lower.
