COMMUNISTS HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Eight Men At Charlotte Charged With Effort to Overthrow Government

City Officials Prefer Charges Against the Members of National Textile Union Captured as Result of Investigation by Judge Shaw; Case to Come Up in Superior Court During Afternoon.

Charlotte, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Charges of "conspiracy to overthrow the government" today were preferred by city officials against eight members of the National Textile Union, members of which were arrested here during the night.

The charges contained in a warrant sworn to by City Detective H. F. Joyner, allege that the men were distributing firearms for the purpose of the alleged conspiracy.

The warrant was read to the eight just a few minutes before the deadline set by Judge Thomas J. Shaw, residing on the Mecklenburg county court for charges to be filed against C. M. Lell and C. D. Taylor who were kidnaped last Monday by a mob and who appeared yesterday at an inquiry into the slaying of the mob set, late Monday, by the judge. Earlier in the day the eight men were taken to court and held in jail. Charges were filed against all eight by noon but would not be tried.

The men held are George Paul Sheppard, Taylor, Shotts, James M. Lel, John Gibson, Elly Rith, Lell and Taylor.

The warrant charges a state offense. It is returnable before City Recorder E. M. Currie for preliminary hearing, but attorneys representing the International Labor Defense were attempting to have a hearing this afternoon before Judge Shaw of the Superior court, who is sitting as a committing magistrate in investigation of mob activities.

Plans for a writ of habeas corpus later in the day if Judge Shaw could not hold a preliminary hearing.

At about the time the warrant was served on the eight men here, word came from Gastonia that a warrant had been issued there for Carolina Drew, Communist leader, on a charge of violating the prohibition law. Police, conducted a number of raids in Gastonia in search of warrants issued at the request of Chief of Police Carl Elliott, among the places searched being a saloon house where Miss Drew lived. It was alleged that a pint of whiskey was found in her room. The warrant served on the eight men charges that they "conspired, confederated and agreed together" to hold public meetings for the purpose of disseminating the doctrine of Communism in order to overthrow by force the existing government in the State of North Carolina in Mecklenburg and Gaston counties.

Robbers Make Off With Ex Jewels At Chicago, Ill

Chicago, Sept. 13.—(AP)—This is to advise concerning the ex-robbers, the ex-robbers, the ex-robbers, the ex-robbers.

Harry Ex is a broker who used to have $10,000 worth of jewelry. That was before he went home to dine last night and was met outside the door by two men with pistols. They persuaded him to take them inside the house where they were presented to Madame Ex as two friends Ex had brought home for dinner.

The bandits decided to postpone dinner, preferring to loot. They were leisurely, affable and talkative. When the Ex jewels had become ex-jewels, the robbers put the Exes in a cedar closet.

"You will not suffocate," said one of them. "Give us the phone number of a friend, and in ten minutes we will call him so that you may be released."

That was how the Exes exited from the closet.

"If they hadn't telephoned," said Ex, "I fear that Exes would have marked the spot, and all that sort of thing."

MAIL FLIER IS KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

New York to Atlanta plane crashes into a Radio Tower in Fog in Georgia

Atlanta, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The air mail plane from New York to Atlanta crashed into a radio tower at Fort McPherson early today in a fog fatally injuring the pilot Sid Molloy of Columbus, Miss. He died at 8:30 a. m. at the Fort McPherson hospital where he had been taken by soldiers who pulled him from the wreckage of the plane.

The plane crashed into the tower at 5:25 a. m. and caught fire. Officials of the Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., operators of the line, said Molloy, flying a few minutes behind schedule, apparently was trying to get his bearings so he could find his way to the landing field, not far from the fort.

Molloy had been making his home at Richmond, Va. since the New York-Atlanta air mail line began operations May 1, 1928. He flew the first mail from Richmond to Atlanta, and had continued on that section of the New York-Atlanta line since.

A soldier at the fort saw the plane crash, dragged Molloy from the wreckage and took him to the Army hospital at Fort McPherson.

It was Molloy's first accident of the mail line. Pitcairn officials were unable to say whether the plane's cargo of mail had been destroyed.

Molloy was well known throughout the South as an aviator and had spent several years in flying at Greensboro, N. C.

The plane left Richmond last night and was due here at 5:10 a. m.

W. E. Hooks Made Member of Board of Insane Hospital

It was announced from the office of O. Max Gardner today that W. E. Hooks, of Ayden, had been appointed as a member of the board of directors of the State Hospital for the Insane at Goldsboro.

In the past presidential campaign he rendered outstanding service to his party in a publicity campaign that resulted in an overwhelming Democratic victory in his territory.

Greenville Schools Will Open On September 16th; Big Enrollment Indicated

Greenville City schools will open Monday, September 16, at 8:30 o'clock. Advanced registrations practically complete now show that the enrollment this year will be the largest in the history of the schools. Last year the high school opened with 433 on roll on the first day. The high school which indicates an enrollment of 500 on the opening day this department alone. The registration in the lower grades has been correspondingly heavy. However, with the increasing enrollment there will be no increase in the teaching force. This is made necessary because of the policy of economy being practiced throughout the state. Most of the City schools throughout the state last year had a far greater number of teachers than were allowed under the Hancock law but in the Greenville City schools every teacher was allowed under the Hancock law. This proves that teachers in the local schools are handling far more children than is usual in City schools.

The schools will open on week later than usual this year and will therefore operate a few days later in June next year. The new building will be complete, ready for use on Monday morning. Indications now are that it will be three or four weeks before the building the building will be complete. To handle the situation Superintendent Rose has arranged a half time schedule for the grades one, two and three of the Old Model School district and the New Third School district. On Monday morning, all the children of both the Old Model School district and the New Third Street School district will assemble at the Old Model school where they will be taken care of until 10:00 o'clock. They will then be given detailed instructions as to their temporary organization. The school authorities wish to stress again the point that all the children in the New Third School district will meet at the Old Model School.

Attention to the patrons of the school is also called to the fact that no transfers from room to room or from building to building will be made except through the Superintendent's office and parents are urged to see that the children are carried to the right building on the opening day in order to avoid confusion. All the teachers have been given typewritten lists of their groups and have been instructed not to receive any child in their room whose name is not on the list which they have. Some of the teachers have already arrived and will be present at the general teachers meeting to be held at the High School Library Saturday morning, at 11:00 o'clock. The organization of the school is pretty much the same as it was last year. Mr. James A. Keech is principal of the high school, Miss Eva Keeler is supervisor of the elementary grades and principal of the intermediate school, Miss Louis Galphin will be principal of the New Third street school, Mrs. W. B. Herrin, will be principal of the West Greenville school, Miss Cleo Rainwater (Continued on Page Two)

TWELVE BOYS PRICES STILL ARRESTED IN ADVANCING ON N. Y. RIOTING LEAF MARKET

Negro Starts Riot at Higher Average than Preceding Day Registered on Local Market yesterday

With a pronounced improvement in the price trend, the Greenville tobacco market yesterday registered a higher average price than on the day before, according to official report of the market activities made public this morning by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales.

The market yesterday disposed of a total of 546,124 pounds of bright leaf for $29,468.40 at a general average of $12.72 per hundred pounds.

The report of the supervisor of sales also indicated that there was approximately 700,000 pounds of leaf on the floors of the nine warehouses today with prospects of sales being completed during the afternoon.

Better grades of tobacco, it was stated, reflected an improvement in prices yesterday, but there was a considerable amount of black tips on the floors of the various warehouses that held the general market average down to no little extent.

Joyner Will Case Holds Attention of Civil Court Here

Caveators to the will of the late Cornelius Joyner, of Falkland township, began a fight in the civil court of Pitt county Superior court yesterday that is expected to occupy attention of the court throughout today.

The caveators are contesting the will of Mr. Joyner which conveyed to a brother, Calvin Joyner, a farm of considerable value. The contestants are brothers of the deceased.

The case is expected to be one of the hardest fought and longest drawn out of the present session as a considerable amount of evidence is to be produced on both sides.

Woman to Teach Own Children; Defies Schools

Woodbury, N. J., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. E. Edward Boakes, graduate of Temple University and former Philadelphia school teacher, who insists that she will educate her seven children herself, said today she would ignore the order of the Woodbury board of education to send the children to the public school.

Mrs. Boakes had until today to comply with the order. In anticipation of a fight in the courts she retained J. Boyd Avis, recently appointed Federal District court judge, to represent her. Mr. Avis suggested to Malcolm G. Thomas, superintendent of the Woodbury Board, that the State Board of Education be asked to send an examiner here to determine whether the Boakes children were receiving the education at home that they would receive in the public schools and what their ratings would be at present time.

PRICES DROP ON NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

Huge Increase in Federal Loans Casts Pall of Gloom Over Wall Street

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Another huge increase in Federal Reserve brokers' loans cast a pall of gloom over Wall Street today, and prices tumbled sharply on the New York stock exchange. By early afternoon dozens of leading issues sold $4 to $10 below last night's closing quotations.

The action of the market was in sharp contrast to the nonchalance with which it had accepted sharply rising brokerage loan totals recently.

The increase of $120,000,000 in loans announced last night, was disappointing surprise in speculative circles, as the heavy liquidation during the past few days was expected at least to liberate sufficient funds to cancel the heavy requirements for new financing. Brokers generally attributed the markets renewed sensitiveness to rising call loans to an overbought condition, resulting from the rapid bidding up of high priced stocks during the past few weeks.

Several stocks were carried from about $39 to $50 below their recent levels. American Machine and Foundry dropped $10. American Telephone, which sold not long ago as high as $394, tumbled $8 to $280. Westinghouse Electric sold down $6.75 to $250.25, in contrast to its peak price of about $292.50. General Electric sagged $6 to $364.50, as compared to its record level of $403. U. S. Steel dropped $4.50 to $230.50. It recently sold as high as $261.75.

The market steadied in the afternoon, when the call loan rate, after rising at 8 per cent, sagged to 7.

Abandon Hope For Lost Ship

Chicago, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Hope was all but abandoned today for the missing gravel ship Andaste and its crew of 28. Coast guardsmen returning from a search for the vessel, three days overdue in Chicago from Grand Haven, Mich., said neither Lak Michigan nor the Michigan shore had given a single clue to the ship's fate.

Because of its load and its steel construction, the guardsmen said the boat would have gone down with little chance for Capt. Albert Anderson or any members of the crew to escape.

HOOPER FAVORS FLOODWAY DELAY

Washington, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Senator Hawes, Democrat, Missouri, said today President Hoover was sympathetic toward the suggestion that work on the Birds Point-New Madrid Floodway in Missouri be delayed pending negotiations for settlement to property owners along the floodway.

Woman Communist Faces Rum Charge At Gastonia, N. C.

Gastonia, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A warrant for the arrest of Carolina Drew, Communist leader, was issued here today after the alleged finding of a pint of whiskey and two empty whiskey bottles in her room at local Communist headquarters. The local police searched the headquarters today.

Miss Drew was in Charlotte today.

The search of Miss Drew's room, it was said at police headquarters, was incidental to a series of raids made by police today. One of a number of search warrants issued at the request of Carl Elliott, chief of police, was for search of a house at 512 West Airline avenue, where Miss Drew lived.

Two places, both located on Broad street, also were searched and it was said there were a number of other warrants.

President to Speak in Three Cities on Trip Next Month

Washington, Sept. 13.—(AP)—President Hoover will make at least two speeches on his visit to Cincinnati, Louisville, and Detroit, late next month.

Harris, chief of the theft bureau of the State Department of Revenue announced today, and during the month a total of 116 stolen cars were recovered. Ninety-two of the cars recovered were stolen during August and twenty-four in preceding months. Inspectors for the bureau recovered 26 of the cars returned to owners.

HIGH POINT FLIER HELD IN RUM CASE

High Point, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Charlie John, High Point flier, was arrested here today at his private airport by federal prohibition officers, who seized nine gallons of liquor in a nearby house. The officers asserted that they believed John had been using a plane to transport liquor here from southern points. He was held in jail at noon pending the fixing of bail. Prohibition officers yesterday took M. L. Boot into custody near here and seized 65 gallons of whiskey.

S. C. County Loses Through Neglect of Former Treasurer

Newberry, S. C., Sept. 13.—(AP)—An audit handed the Grand jury and made public here yesterday disclosed that Newberry county lost $181,885.92 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929, through what is termed the "crime of neglect of duty" by the late Claude C. Schumpert, treasurer.

Mr. Schumpert, who took his own life August 27, is charged specifically with the shortage of $181,885.92. The balance represents what the county lost through failure to discharge his duty as required by law, the audit set out.

It was recommended that a complete audit be made of the offices of the county superintendent of education, county highway commission and Newberry county hospital.

MORE MEN ARE TAKEN IN RUM RAIDS IN PITT

Two Stills and Considerable Amount of Liquor Also Included in Roundup

Continuing their raids against the illicit whiskey traffic of this county, federal and county officers succeeded in rounding up four more bootleggers, two stills and a considerable amount of whiskey during the last twenty-four hours, according to information given out today by members of the law enforcement organization. This brought the total number captured to 47, with other arrests expected momentarily.

United States Commissioner Thos. E. Beaman, continued preliminary hearings against the bootleggers captured in the recent raids, and it was indicated at the noon hour that the court would be in session until late in the afternoon. All of those so far given preliminary hearing were released under bonds ranging from $500 to $1,000 for their appearance at the next sitting of Federal court.

One of the outstanding captures of the last 24 hours was made by members of the sheriff's department while the Commissioner's court continued grinding away in the courtroom on the second floor of the post-office building. The raid netted two white men, Wiley and Willie Standell, 20 gallons of whiskey and two stills. The two men were being held in jail here today for preliminary hearing. The stills were said to have been found in close proximity to the Standells' home place in Belmont township.

The two other men captured by federal officers were Hyman Spil of Pactivas and Charlie Moore, resident of Farmville. Both were being held here today for $1,000 bond. They were captured in raids last night.

Federal officers were not only centering their attention on the capture of bootleggers today, but on an action looking to the arrest of those aiding and abetting in the liquor traffic. This included persons who furnish materials when they believe they are to be used in the manufacture and sale of whiskey.

Great Britain and France Take Joint Steps Looking To Lower Tariff Barriers

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Great Britain and France today took a joint step to bring about a world conference on lowering of tariff barriers, in the spirit of the comments by European statesmen while discussing last week Premier Briand's project for a "United States of Europe."

The delegations of the two nations recommended in the economic committee of the League of Nations that negotiations be begun between members of the league and non-members as well to promote a meeting at the earliest possible date.

The purpose of the meeting would be to frame "the first collective agreement for diminishing tariff barriers to trade and developing and facilitating economic relations by all practicable means."

The resolution of England and France also called on the States of the world not to increase their protective tariffs above the present level for a period of two years or to impose new protective duties or to create new impediments to trade during this period.

PREMIUM LIST OF PITT FAIR IS COMPLETED

$7,500 to be Paid Out in Premiums by the Annual Attraction this Year

The premium list of the Pitt County Fair, to be held in this city during the week of September 30th, was mailed out today, according to information given out this morning by W. H. Dall, Jr., secretary of the Fair Association.

The Fair this year offers $7,500 in premiums to be distributed among the various exhibits to feature the annual attraction. This is the largest sum of money ever offered by the Fair before, and a considerable part of the premiums will go to farmers of the county who have shown an active interest in providing interesting exhibits from year to year.

Mr. Dall stated that the Fair would begin Monday night instead of Tuesday morning as heretofore in order to give the people of this section one more day in which to take part in the county's greatest program of fun and frolic. Gates will be thrown open to the public Monday evening, September 30th, and from then on thousands will pass through the gates to view the hundreds of attractions provided along midway and in the various exhibit buildings.

Mr. Dall said work in connection with improving the Fair grounds and buildings had already been completed and that they were in better position to handle the crowds than ever before. A corps of workmen have been busy the last thirty days, conditioning the buildings and grounds and everything will be in A-1 condition when the gates swing open to receive the annual pilgrimage from various parts of the country, seeking fun and amusement.

One of the biggest carnival companies to ever come to this city will have charge of entertaining the crowds expected to elbow their way through midway from day to day, and far more attractions than usual will be in evidence. Exhibit buildings will be crowded to capacity with products of the home and farms and schools and the public will have a greater opportunity than ever of seeing some of the things produced by the deft hands of the county people.

The racing card contains the names of some of the outstanding horses in this section of the country, and lovers of this sport will be treated to one of the best programs in years. The free acts to be pulled off in front of the grandstand from day to day will be of exceptional merit, and a band direct from New York city will furnish music from the bandstand in the grandstand.

GRIMESLAND P. T. A. ELECTS OFFICERS

On Wednesday evening, September 11, the Parent-Teacher Association of Grimesland high school met to elect officers and to discuss plans of welcoming the teachers on Monday evening, September 16. There were other interesting points brought out as to what type of work to take up this year. Realizing at the same time that the association could not work out any money making schemes, due to financial conditions of the county and consequently, the most of their time should be devoted to child development in the home and in the school. Nevertheless, parents are looking for a splendid year's work. This fine spirit in the beginning should encourage every citizen in the community to come out and out their shoulders behind the wheel and help bring out of those boys and girls what God put in them. There is no person living that can predict what the future lives of these boys and girls will be.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. S. A. Porter, president; Mr. L. J. Worthington, vice-president; Mrs. W. F. Galloway, secretary and treasurer; Mr. W. H. Dineary, social committee; and Mrs. J. P. Wilson, serving committee.

AUXILIARY OF AMERICAN LEGION INSTALLS OFFICERS

The American Legion Auxiliary held the first meeting of the new year with Mrs. Walter Cherry at the home of Mrs. Hyman Cherry in Chatham Circle, Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Dennis, led in prayer. A few business matters were discussed and settled. Then the delegates gave their reports from the state convention at Raleigh, Mrs. Bowling reporting the business sessions, and Miss Hennie Whichard the social activities.

Greenville won two citations, one from the state department and one from national headquarters.

The next in order was installing the newly elected officers. Mrs. Walter Cherry led Mrs. Richard Stokes to the chair, and all others were duly recognized. The Auxiliary voted to give our retiring president, Mrs. K. B. Pace, a rising vote of thanks for her untiring efforts and efficient work for the past two years as president. Miss Hennie Whichard gave her report as treasurer, which was a wonderful report.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hyman Cherry and Mrs. R. D. Whichard, served delicious refreshments.

The new officers for the year are: Mrs. Richard Stokes, president; Mrs. C. A. Bowen, vice-president; Mrs. W. R. Jotter, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank Bendall, corresponding secretary and treasurer; Mrs. V. A. Ward, historian; Mrs. R. L. Humber, chaplain; Mrs. Wiley Brown, sergeant-at-arms.

Fate Worthington Has Big Corn Crop

L. F. Worthington, farmer, of the Ballard's Cross Roads community, who has the reputation of producing good cotton crops in spite of the boll weevil infestation, is gaining considerable recognition this year as a raiser of corn. Mr. Worthington brought three samples of his corn crop to the Reflector office yesterday. The ears are over a foot long and nearly twice as large around as the ordinary ear. The grain is of a rich yellow color and very healthy in appearance.

Mr. Worthington said he had thirteen acres of corn this year and that he expected one of the best yields in years. He did not plant any special kind of corn to produce this bumper crop, but used a general mixture of seeds.

IT'S YOUR FAIR

The premium list for the Pitt County Fair is out and the prizes offered for the various kinds of exhibits should be an incentive to our people to put something on at the fair.

GET THE BIG BOYS, TOO

A few more bootleggers were rounded up here yesterday and last night, and reports from adjoining counties are to the effect that the last few days have resulted in nabbing a number of liquor law violators in those counties.

ABOUT TOWN

Greenville and Pitt county have seen many whiskey raids in past days.

It used to be big news when the boys went out and captured a still and two or three operators.

The capture quite naturally created more than passing interest and brought to Greenville more bootleggers than have been assembled here at one time in many a day.

The wholesale rounding up of the bootleggers will have a salutary effect on the traffic cannot be doubted in the slightest sense of the word.

The capture quite naturally created more than passing interest and brought to Greenville more bootleggers than have been assembled here at one time in many a day.

It is had enough for a man to be nabbed on the charge of making or handling whiskey by local officers, but it is doubly so when they fall prey to government men.

We hope every member of the Association will take part in the Window Trimming cannot be conducted here next Tuesday, said a member of the Merchants Association today.

Two prizes have been offered for the best decorated windows. While the sums involved are not large, they are sufficient to stimulate interest and to cause numbers of merchants to take part.

"Get your window trimmer busy, Mr. Merchant, and see what kind of a creation you can produce for the day."

"I am more than gratified at the splendid spirit of co-operation exhibited by city and county officers in the recent raids on bootleggers launched in this county," declared P. L. Caudle, district prohibition commissioner, speaking of the splendid results obtained in the raids.

"Without the support of county and city officers it would be a matter of impossibility for government men to accomplish the enormous amount of work they do. The raid in this county was one of the largest we have conducted in some time and much of the credit goes to members of the city and county police departments."

"I believe the arrests will have a salutary effect on the community and show the bootleggers that their crime against humanity will not be tolerated by the citizenship."

"The premiums offered by the Pitt county fair should inspire our people to unusual effort in providing exhibits this year," said a business man today.

"The list covers a total sum of $7,500 and this will be distributed among the many products which our people offer for display during the latter part of the month."

"But the premiums are not the outstanding things about the attraction. There will be more amusements than have been offered local people in many a day and every day will witness new and popular attractions."

"Much attention has been given to agricultural products in past years and this year will be no exception. The possibilities and resources of the country will be set forth in an interesting way by products of the farm and home and people who like these things will not be disappointed in the slightest sense of the word."

"You can't be too careful with that automobile," warned a citizen today, speaking of the number of fatalities occurring in North Carolina each week as result of automobile accidents.

"It matters not where you are driving, you are in constant danger unless you keep steady nerves and a clear head. You may be driving along a road void of all traffic and then have an accident that will result in loss of life. The car must be kept constantly under control or your life will be in jeopardy."

"Try being a little more careful, it matters not where you may drive, and rest assured that this extra precaution will stand you in good stead at the most unexpected moment."

The Tobacco Market and Marketing Conditions. This space has been purchased by the firm of O. L. Joyner & Sons, proprietors of Joyner's Warehouse, for the purpose of placing before the tobacco farmers and all others interested, the facts as we understand them, about the tobacco markets and marketing conditions in Eastern North Carolina. While our purpose in buying newspaper space is to advertise our business, we want it distinctly understood that under no circumstances or conditions shall we publish anything in boosting our business that is not supported by facts. As an illustration of our purpose, we shall endeavor to convince everyone having tobacco to sell that Greenville is the best tobacco market in the state. This is the truth and is supported by facts and figures sworn to before a representative of the government, for government purposes as well as for the public information, during the past few years in succession. On the other hand, we shall not tell you that farmers appeared pleased with the opening of the market prices anywhere in the state, and while prices on the Greenville market are, and have been just as high, and higher in some instances than any market in the eastern section, they are neither satisfying to the farmers, nor as high as most of us expected they would be. In other words, we were all disappointed at the opening prices. But prices are advancing, and before very long we believe that they will be generally satisfactory. On all the better grades, prices are higher today than yesterday and we think will be higher next week than now, and with the elimination of the trashy, scrappy primings the market will continue to advance until, generally speaking, satisfactory prices will prevail. Before the market is a month older the buying interests will realize that Eastern North Carolina this year has produced the lightest crop per acre that it has produced since this section became an important tobacco producing country. We have 1st Sale—Monday, Sept. 16. We have 2nd Sale—Tuesday, Sept. 17. We have 1st Sale—Wednesday, Sept. 18. We have 2nd Sale—Thursday, Sept. 19. We have 1st Sale—Friday, Sept. 20. We know tobacco and know how to sell it. If you don't believe this, bring us your next load and believe you will keep coming. KENTUCKY HAS SMALL MEN IN GRID LINE UP

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 13.—(AP)—The battle between David and Goliath, which has charmed many a youthful listener for years past and doubtlessly has inspired small men to go out and do big things, promises to be waged all over again on the University of Kentucky football practice field this year.

There are several "Goliaths" and several "Davids" bidding for almost every position on the team and even Head Coach Harry Gamage admits that he doesn't know how the battle will result. The mentor is no respecter of weight.

The wildcat coach is enthusiastic, "with reservations," as he puts it. He says his material is good. Most of the men have played football in actual games but some have not had all the seasoning he would like. Coach Gamage plans to lose no time in giving his students actual football. Blocking, tackling and signaling constitute the routine twice a day with scrimmage scheduled for the middle of the week.

Right now the main worry seems to be the task of plugging a tackle and Gamage may re-vamp his football team before he finds one to suit. At present there are four or five candidates who can be shifted some backs into the line and vice versa. One aspirant of note is Walters, who played every position during the 1928 season. Just where he will be this year is yet unknown.

The battle of weight promises to start in the center of the line and spread across the entire front defense and permeate into the backfield. For instance, Williams, 205 pound pivot man, will be fighting for a position against Colker and Kleiser, both more than 30 pounds lighter.

The outstanding candidates for guard are Thompson, Forquer and Kistner, all hovering around 200 pounds, and Swede Johnson, 160-pounder and outstanding among the lighter aspirants. Pete Deury is almost certain to play one tackle but his running mate is to be chosen from a group of four. The wing candidates most likely from an early standpoint are Yates, who also punts and passes, and Bouham.

The backfield promises to be fairly light. Captain Covington, who weigh only 142 pounds despite of his six foot height, will pair at halfback unless Coach Gamage decides to shift him to quarter. There are a flock of likely huskies in line for backfield berth and from the group a formidable combination should be developed.

New Contender for Heavyweight Crown

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The German advance on the heavyweight championship vacated by America's Gene Tunney, seems to have come to a dead halt.

Max Schmeling, the Hamburg aspirant to the throne, fought his way into a contending position and then was rendered hors de combat by Edict of the New York State Athletic commission. With "Herr Mook" out of the picture, Dr. Ludwig Haymann, the German champion, took up the burden but dropped it with a dull thud last night when Gerald Ambrose (Tuffy) Grif, fifth of Sioux City, Ia., stopped him in the fourth round of their ten round bout opening Madison Square Garden's indoor season.

Haymann, who had had some success against several second-rate American heavyweights, found himself outclassed by Griffith. The Sioux City slugger tagged the tuetion with a hard early in the first round and Haymann was on the defensive all the rest of the way. After absorbing heavy punishment in the second and third rounds, Haymann ran into a right that droppd him for a count of nine in the fourth round. He went down again and then crumpled under still another right before the referee called a halt after two minutes, 35 seconds of the round.

Ted Sandwina, American-born German-heavyweight was outpointed decisively by Harold Mays of Bayonne, N. J., in the ten round semifinal.

BIG LEAGUE LEADERS ON STEADY RISE

The Athletics moved one game nearer their pennant yesterday by winning, but the Cubs advanced just as rapidly through a defeat as the Giants were thoughtful enough to smother the Pirates by 8 to 5. Each of the leaders now needs three victories, with the armistice in prospect by perhaps Sunday night.

The success of the arms of McGraw against the Dreyfus Dragons for a third time in two afternoons gave Jewell Ens further cause to wonder whether his forces can hold second place. The Pirates margin now is three and one-half games, with Carl Hubbell, the Pittsburgh Jinx, ready to try for four straight today.

The Giants won yesterday through the craft of Freddy Fitzsimmons in the numerous pinches and their own ability to bunch blows on Remy Kremer. Melvin Ott hit his thirty-eight home run, but failed to pull up even with Hack Wilson and Chuck Klein who hit one apiece in Chicago to preserve their tie an other lea of one over the Giant outfielder. Each now has thirty-nine.

After failing to defeat the Veteran Art Nehf in the opening game of the series, the Phillies went on a hitting spree in Chicago yesterday and gave Guy Bush his fifth trouncing of the season. Claude Willoughby held the Bruins to seven blows and was scored upon only because of Wilson's homer. Donald Hurst matched Klein's drive for the Phils.

A frek blow by Horace Ford for four bases with one Red on the paths enabled the Veteran Eppa Rixey to shad, Dazzy Vance and the Robins at Cincinnati by 3 to 2 in the second game of the series. The ball chased Babe Herman into the right field seats, and itself skipped merrily about outside for a home run as Herman tried to extricate himself from his predicament.

Rain in St. Louis built up a double-header today for the Braves and the Cardinals. After the White Sox had chased Babe Walberg from themouth with a two-run flurry which tied the score at 3 to 3 in the sixth, the Athletics pushed home one in the right to win by 4 to 3.

Eddie Rommel got credit for the victory, made possible by Joe Boley's pinch single. The Yankees finally broke the spell woven about them by the Browns, winning by 5 to 2 after five straight losses in their previous five engagements against the St. Louisans, but the runs came hard off Amny Gray. Roy Sherid was wild, but smart in the pinches. He had the help of a home run by Tony Lazzeri.

Walter Miller held the Senators helpless, and Cleveland won the second game of the series by 5 to 1. Arthur Herring, won shows some signs of being a pitcher despite his Detroit uniform. Tossed the Tigers to a 2 to 1 victory over the Red Sox in Boston, Ed Morris was the victim.

About Twenty Four Hours Left Of Opportunity Days

Nine o'clock tomorrow night marks the end of "Opportunity Days." Did they present a real vote making possibility to you? Of course they did, and if you have not as yet had a chance to "cash in" on the last bonus of the entire campaign, you have a few hours to do so.

A close as the race now stands—with so little difference between the leaders and the other candidates in the list—it seems that those candidates who are really out to win would take advantage of these extra votes this week and step out in a commanding position in the next week count.

Take a look at the combinations figured out for you on the campaign page. Votes DO pile up this week. Now compare them with the last week schedule and everything favors action during these last few hours. One subscription turned in this week is worth thirty-three turned in during the last week of the campaign. The odds are 33 to 1 in your favor this week. Some candidates may use the big votes this week to "cinch" the ear of their choice. YOU CAN WIN DURING OPPORTUNITY DAYS.

Ten or fifteen subscriptions this week make votes. When the campaign is over and the cars won't it be great to look back and say, "I had an easy time winding up my campaign as I worked when subscriptions counted the most." There are a few candidates who are still under the impression that there will be a chance later to cover up and win. To these candidates we have only to say that opportunity days present the only bonus votes of the entire campaign. A little action right now is worth more than all the regrets in the world after the campaign is over. Opportunity coupons show you a way to win. If you do not take full advantage of possibilities as presented, you are bound to be found wanting when the prize winners are announced.

Opportunity Coupons are important, use as many of them as you can this week. It is better to win by a million than to lose for the want of maybe just one more Opportunity Coupon.

Tomorrow is Report Day. It is more than Report Day—it marks the close of this all-important extra vote offer. We look for each and every candidate in the office tomorrow, and sincerely hope that the various candidates will be able to close all their prospects promised for this week, so that they may be able to take full advantage of THE LAST BONUS VOTE.

To Decommission Destroyers Washington, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Decision to decommission "A number" of destroyers because of their age was announced today by the Navy.

Death Treasure

By E. A. J. WALLING

SYNOPSIS: The mysterious black bag which is wrapped in a prison shirt is a bundle of staggering value—jewelry and priceless gems. Tom Grenofen burns the bag and returns to learn Somerfield has made another discovery under the pile of jewels—the much-sought abbey history, stolen from the Fotherbury library.

Chapter 29 A WARRANT

The officer and I were in my studio when I handed back a paper to the man. Somerfield having carried off his bluff, my pulse was quieter, and I looked at him quite calmly.

"The paper he had given me to read was a search warrant which asserted that 'information on oath had this day been laid before me that certain goods have lately been feloniously stolen and carried away out of the dwelling house of Bertram Fotherbury and that this informant hath probable cause to suspect that the said goods are concealed in the house of Thomas Grenofen of Woodcot.'

Wherefore I authorized and commanded Stephen Hallett, with proper assistance, to enter the house of Thomas Grenofen in the daytime and there diligently search for the said goods, and if the same should be found upon such search to bring the goods so found and also the body of the said Thomas Grenofen before His Majesty's Justice of the Peace.

"What an extraordinary thing!" said I. "What's it all about? It's hardly pleasant to have one's house under suspicion. I hope you'll be careful not to annoy my mother and to give the servants as little cause for gossip as possible. Otherwise you're at liberty to look anywhere you like for anything."

"Liberty," said he. "I don't want to annoy anybody. But you'll collect all the inmates of the house in one room, please."

His manner was unpleasant. "I don't know that I'll do anything of the sort," said I. "You can collect them yourself if they'll come. If you are a police officer you ought to know how to behave in another man's house. You can get on with the job. But handle my pictures carefully. I'll go and tell my mother the house is being searched."

"You'll stay here," said he. "I'll be hanged if I do! Does your warrant entitle you to order me about?"

But the door opened and my mother came in.

"Hullo, Tom," said she. "Good gracious, another! What are all these men doing about the place?"

"Men!" I cried. "Has he brought an army? Have they been annoying you?"

"Oh, dear, no!—merely amusing me. I was going out to the garden when a man said I couldn't go that way. He said he was a police officer. I went out by the front door, and there was another who said I couldn't go that way. So I thought I'd come and see you. What's it all about?"

"Heaven knows," said I. "Some outrageous official folly. This policeman has a search warrant. You sir, will you kindly do your job as quick as possible and leave? Mother, you had better stay here with me. He wants the cook and Millie in the same room. Do you mind?"

"No, of course."

My mother had come to my side and taken my arm. She squeezed it hard and I saw that she was looking at the safe. I gathered her under my arm to reassure her.

"If you touch that bell," said I to the police officer. "I will tell the cook and the maid to come here."

He pressed the button.

"You just missed Somerfield's mother," I said. "He's going to London this afternoon and down to Oxford tomorrow. Going to take that photograph I wanted of Tom Tower."

"Splendid," said she. "Oh, Millie, to the girl who came in, 'tell cook to come in here, and come with her yourself.'"

While we talked the police offcer, unhappy man, had been peering round the studio. It was a bare room and contained no potential hiding places.

"I'll have the key of that safe and the combination," said he. "I took not the slightest notice of the remark. His eyes began to glint."

"Did you hear what I said?" "No," I replied. "I never heard statements."

I treated the man abominably and was thoroughly ashamed of it. But I had to make an atmosphere and I made it. His confidence visibly wilted. Then my mother came to his rescue.

"I'm sure if there's anything private in your safe, Tom, the gentleman will respect it," said she sweetly.

Magic! The truculent policeman fell at her feet. He remarked: "I'm searching for one thing only, madame—the thing indicated in the warrant, and of course, I'm interested in nothing else, and if I see anything else I shall forget it."

He was a beautiful liar—in fact, we were all beautiful liars, and my mother the most beautiful of all.

I myself then opened the safe. It was quite small—with two shelves containing nothing but bundles of papers and a little cash-box.

Mr. Hallett gave one look inside and said: "Thank you, that'll do."

So began the police search of Woodcot. Hallett and one of his assistants went through the ground floor systematically, looking for the mysterious "goods."

It was not till I heard the policemen coming through the hall and going upstairs that I got my fright.

The book, I could not remember—in fact, I had not noticed whether Somerfield had put the book into the case with the other things. In the hurry it might have been left on the bed.

My mother saw the start I gave and looked her question. But in the presence of the servants I could not answer. There was nothing to do but sit perspiring, listening to the bumping about overhead, and wait. At the end of an eternal half hour we heard them coming down the stairs. Hallett entered the studio.

"Thank you," he said, looking at my mother and ignoring me.

"Oh, is it all over? And did you find what you wanted?"

I could not help tittering at this; he gave me a glance of hatred.

"Thank you," he said; "we've quite completed our job. And I'm sorry, madame, to have put you to any inconvenience."

"Oh, is that all?" said my mother, in tones of acute disappointment. "Aren't we to know anything about it? Do tell us!"

He gave her a sickly smile.

"So," said I, "the body of Thomas Grenofen is not wanted after all?"

"Not at present," he replied. "Good afternoon."

With which the belaguered army raised the siege and withdrew.

They had found neither bag nor book, nor prison clothes. But that book had given me a bad quarter of an hour. Somerfield must have stuffed everything into the camera case. Thank heaven!

"A narrow squeak, Tom," said my mother when they had gone.

"Tight enough. Somerfield got away on the very tick of doom."

"Oh!" she cried. "Is that how you did it? I was awfully nervous about the safe. Well, I've something to show your upstairs."

In my bedroom she walked to the little bookshelf and drew from it the copy of Sheldon's "American Painters."

"Look inside," said she.

When I opened the book the vellum-bound manuscript of Abbot John Deacon dropped out on the floor and the empty fardel remained in my hand. I was justified. (Copyright, 1929, Wm. Morrow Co.)

Klim is pure, delicious milk... powdered. Only the water is removed... Every nourishing element of fresh liquid milk is retained. And it's so much more convenient to use in cooking.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 14 to 20 points. The active months showed net gains of 17 to 21 points during the early trading on covering and local buying promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables and talk of too much rain in the south. December sold up to 19.14 and March to 19.36, and while the advance met some Southern selling, as well as realizing or liquidating, the market held within a point or two of the best at the end of the first half hour. There was considerable comment on the technical position following the recent decline of approximately a cent a pound and this may have been a contributing factor on the advance. Liverpool cabled that continental buying, trade calling and covering was responsible for the firmer tone there and said that the cloth demand was expanding.

$120,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans last week in the face of the sharp downward readjustment of prices that had taken place in that period. Today's selling generally was characterized as a further correction of a top heavy speculative position. The extent of the recent decline in some of the leaders presumably had seriously impaired many margin accounts, with the result that stock were dumped rather freely during the morning. The sharp rise in loans was attributed in some quarters to the calling for payment of stock subscriptions to new issues and construed by others as an indication that heavy distribution had taken place and that stocks had passed from strong to weak hands.

Copper shares turned soft on unfirm reports that the red metal again was being sold at 18 cents a pound, Anaconda dropping 5 points, Greene Cananea 4 1-2 and several others 1 to 3 points, but rallied with the rest of the list in the early afternoon.

In the morning break, Maud steel products preferred dropped 15 points, American Machine and Foundry 10, American Telephone & Electric, General Electric, Dupont, North American and Air Reduction 5 to 6 1-2 points. U. S. Steel common broke below 231 for an extreme loss of more than 4 points, but rallied later.

American and Foreign power led the afternoon recovery, soaring nearly 10 points to a new high at 176 3-4. Columbia Gas ran up 6 1-2 points to a new high at 109 1-2. Vanadium Steel extended its gain to 5 1-2 points, pullman to 5 points and Republic Steel to 3 1-2 by touching a new high at 139 3-8. Heavy buying of the Chicago Great Western issues carried the preferred up 3 points.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The stock market was subjected today to another bombardment of selling which carried most of the active issues to new low prices on the movement. The break, which ran from 3 to 15 points in scores of issues, was checked around mid-day by the lowering of the call money rate from 8 to 7 per cent, and a revival of pool activity in a selected group of public utility, railroad equipment and independent steel shares. While Wall street undoubtedly was surprised at the increase of
