PLAN TO CALL RAYON STRIKE NEXT MONDAY

Union Men at Elizabethton Vote Walk-out Unless Differences Are Settled

Elizabethton, Tenn., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A vote on a proposal to strike will be taken next Monday night by the Elizabethton Textile Workers Union, unless differences of the union with the American Seaboard and Glanzstoff Rayon Mills, which it charges with maintaining unfair working conditions and discrimination against former strikers, are settled by that time.

After routing an appeal for intervention of the United States Department of Labor in the dispute, a mass meeting of union members voted unanimously last night to decide finally Monday whether a walk-out will be called.

The local union set forth to the department of labor its claim that the Textile Corporation has not fulfilled the agreement which ended the 1928 strike and that "the government should see to it that the company honors the agreement."

The previous strike caused closing of the plants and was accompanied by violence between union and non-union factions.

Paul Aymo, president of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, and Frances Gorman, international vice-president of the United Textile Workers of America, specifically set forth to the mass meeting the complaints of the union, as failure of the plants to re-employ about 150 workers active in the strike last spring, that women workers are subjected to "petty persecution" in the mills, and that former strikers have been "victimized" by the management.

John Stocks, charged with driving while drunk, paid a fine of $50 and cost and had his license revoked for 90 days.

Two Men Held In Jail As Suspects In Diamond Fraud; Officers Investigating Case

Arrested in this city late yesterday afternoon in connection with what officers believe to be a diamond and jewelry fraud, Lou Dietrich and "Jezzy" Cohen were being held in the county jail here today while officers completed an investigation of the case. Although no actual evidence had been secured in the case, officers were of the opinion that something of a definite nature in the next several hours.

Trouble started for the two men when Dietrich applied at local jewelry stores and banks for a loan of $1,500 on a four karat perfect blue white diamond. He told the jeweler and bankers that he desired to obtain the loan for the purpose of standing the bond of two of his companions who had been arrested by federal officers on a charge of transporting liquor. He said they had been arrested near Greenville, but failed to state on what highway when closely questioned.

Refused by the jeweler and one bank, Dietrich made his last application at the Greenville Banking & Trust Company. He showed the cashier to Herbert Waldrop, assistant cashier, and also displayed a bill of sale for the ring from a Kansas City jeweler. It all sounded very plausible, but the banker had heard of a bank in the western part of the state being fleeced out of a considerable sum of money in a fake ring deal, and he was questioning Dietrich closely when Sheriff Whitehurst and a police officer walked in and took Dietrich into custody.

Shortly afterwards Cohen appeared at the sheriff's office and inquired if he might see his friend Dietrich. The officers immediately searched Cohen and are said to have found an expensive bracelet in his possession. He was locked up along with Dietrich and the two spent last night in jail while officers continued to get a line on the men's activities in other sections of the county.

Dietrich is said to have been driving an expensive Packard automobile when he came to Greenville and this was also being held by officers while they conferred with police departments of other cities attempting to determine the status of the suspects.

Finger prints of both Dietrich and Cohen were taken last night, and it was said that Dietrich positively refused to submit to such procedure until officers convinced him that it would have to be done. The prints were being compared with those of the criminal element in the hands of county and city officers, and also were being mailed out to other police departments to see if they compared with anything so far on record.

Dietrich is said to have confirmed suspicions of the officers when he first represented himself as a bootlegger and then as a jewelry salesman. While attempting to interest the jeweler and bankers in the loan he was a rum runner, but when he found himself in custody of the law he is said to have declared that he was a jewelry salesman.

Cohen was quiet following his arrest, but he will be held along with Dietrich until something definite has been determined in the case.

ARREST TWO IN WHISKEY CONSPIRACY

Large Withdrawal of Liquor from Government Warehouses Starts Investigation

San Francisco, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Fruitful withdrawals of large quantities of bonded liquor from government warehouses today had resulted in the arrest of two men and a search for another man and a woman alleged to have conceived the scheme for the conspiracy.

Warrants charging conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws were issued against the four accused persons. They are Mrs. Agnes A. Cress, confidential clerk for a large wholesale liquor company; Daniel J. Cottrell, former cashier of the United States customs service here; Charles Schmitz, customs broker; and R. W. MacWilliams, proprietor of a pharmacy.

Cottrell and MacWilliams were arrested by agents of the department of justice. Schmitz could not be located.

Mrs. Cress, officers said, had vanished. She was said to be in a sanatorium recuperating from an alleged attempt at suicide made after the liquor plot was discovered.

United States Attorney George Hatfield declared investigation had revealed that the scheme to divert the liquor with forged permits had been evolved by Mrs. Cress. The scheme, Hatfield said, was based on the fact that the prohibition laws permit masters of vessels to obtain liquors for their ship's medicinal stores. Such liquors are obtained through an application, of which five copies are signed by various officials.

The accused persons were alleged to have inserted a sixth copy by carbon, and with the extra copy, properly signed by the officials, the conspirators were charged with obtaining huge quantities of liquor which was diverted into bootleg channels, according to Hatfield.

Four Separate Probes Of Tessnair Flogging Get Underway Today

Widow of Slain Man Says Only One Man Assisted Husband in Fight On Crime

Kings Mountain, N. C., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Four separate investigations of the flogging early yesterday of Cleo Tessnair of Baltimore, organizer for the national textile workers union, and dynamiting of a platform used by union speakers, latest of many acts of violence accompanying strikes in North Carolina textile centers, were underway today.

The flogging was the second within ten days, three union members having been kidnapped and one of them lashed by a mob early last week.

Governor O. Max Gardner sent Townsend here to make an inquiry and also requested L. S. Spurling, solicitor of the district, to make "a diligent search and prosecution" in the flogging and dynamiting here. Sheriff Irvin M. Allen of Cleveland county, launched an investigation yesterday.

Sheriff J. F. Wright of Gaffney, S. C., also began an investigation upon evidence that Tessnair was carried across the state line into South Carolina before the actual flogging. Officers admitted there were no definite clues to the identity of Tessnair's assailants.

The union organizer, could give but a brief description of the three men who he said took him from his home in the Bonnie Mill village shortly after midnight, carried him across the state line and flogged him.

Cleveland county officers expressed belief that the destruction of the union speaking stand was not the work of the same men who kidnapped Tessnair. It was destroyed by an explosion which shook Kings Mountain about twenty minutes after the time Tessnair was taken from his home, and officers said there was no evidence of a time fuse had been set off.

The platform was on a lot rented by the union and used as a meeting place. It had been erected to raise the speaker above the crowd.

GANG WARFARE BREAKS OUT IN CHICAGO, ILL.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Double kidnapping that boded double murder started the dirty stew of Chicago gang outlawry boiling again today.

Two men, driving on South Parkway near 42nd street, last night, were epithets and abductors used as "squawkers" and "stool pigeons" were epithets the abductors used as they yanked their victims from a sedan and loaded them into a touring car.

The automobile drove away before a cab driver, who witnessed the kidnapping, could notify police. There was little doubt in the mind of Deputy Police Commissioner John Stege that the two men had been "taken for a ride" and killed.

The cab driver, who begged police to withhold his name, drew alongside the two cars while the automobile accident which occurred in Selma last night. FIND SUSPECT IN MURDER OF DIS. ATTORNEY

Widow of Slain Man Says Only One Man Assisted Husband in Fight On Crime

Borger, Texas, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Charges of the young widow of District Attorney John A. Holmes, murdered from ambush last Friday, that local officers had not assisted him in his fight against crime because they were afraid, were followed today by Sheriff Joe O'Connell's announcement that he "located" a suspect but would make no arrest until more evidence had been obtained.

After the rangers asserted they had affidavits in their possession concerning an alleged plot, between city and county officers, Mrs. Holmes declared to newspapermen that only one man, whom she did not name had made any effort to aid her husband in fighting crime in this tumultuous oil boom town.

"The rest of them," she said, "were afraid. When there is no one to help, you have to play a lone hand. He (Holmes) never had any fear. He (Holmes) was all I had and now they've taken him."

The rangers, in discussing the affidavits, declared they knew the motive for Holmes' slaying and indicated that they expected to make an arrest soon.

District Sheriffs Jim Crane and Col. Bird deplored the tone of the rangers' announcement concerning the conspiracy affidavits.

"If rangers can make up such a statement in their investigation of the murder of Johnny Holmes, regardless of what reflection it will cast on us, I am willing," Crane said, "What I'm personally interested in is seeing the murderer caught, either by myself or by someone else."

Baird said, "I've worked with most of the rangers here for ten years. While I don't think their statement, which automatically blankets the entire forces of the county and city law enforcement staffs, is just, if they see fit to have this impression on the public I'm willing, if it will do any good in finding who killed Johnny Holmes."

Chief of Police Crabtree said that his department was actively engaged in assisting the sheriff's department run down the murderer.

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Sharp conflict of opinion flared up in the League of Nations disarmament committee today when the British delegation moved to reopen the question of considering trained army observers in seeking the basis for general disarmament.

Lord Cecil presented the British proposal and was supported by the German delegation, but encountered quick opposition from the delegations of France and Italy and Japan.

RAIN QUENCHES FOREST FIRES IN CALIFORNIA

Passenger Train Service Disrupted By Washouts in Fire-Ravaged District

Los Angeles, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The rain storms which quenched four major fires, including the disastrous $3,500,000 Ventura county conflagration had washed out railroad tracks and stalled passenger trains today.

Efforts of fire fighters to quell the blaze which blackened 25,000 acres of Ventura county watershed, destroyed 126 oil derricks, five school houses and scores of homes, were successful when the storm wrapped a heavy blanket of moisture over the scorched countryside. A large section of the Ventura triangle track bounded by the cities of Santa Paula, Ventura and Ojai, became a sodden mass of wet ash and steaming embers. Two hundred men were required to battle the flames; 200 remained to guard the smoldering remnants. Two hundred and fifty persons chiefly oil workers and their families were homeless.

Three other brush and range fires which had assumed major proportions, one in San Diego county and two in Riverside county, were put out by the rain.

Four trains were marooned temporarily by washouts on the Southern Pacific railway line between Niland and Mecca in Imperial valley. Torrents of water rushed by the Chochole mountains tearing up trees, rails and ballasted roadbed, and carried away culverts. One gas train the right of way was fifty feet long and twelve feet deep.

MRS. ANGE IN ROCKY MOUNT HOSPITAL

Mrs. A. W. Ange, of Winterville, is in a Rocky Mount hospital where she underwent an operation. Her many friends wish for her an early recovery.

Progressive Bridge Club. Farmville, Sept. 18.—(AP)—On Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. J. Y. Monk as hostess, the Progressive Bridge Club met for the second game of the fall and winter series, with every member present except one, Mrs. G. H. Webb being invited to fill this vacancy. Six lively progressions were followed by a delightful salad course, in the serving of which Mrs. Monk was assisted by Mrs. P. E. Jones and Mrs. A. S. Bynum.

Lovely red and yellow flowers were used in profusion, emphasizing the autumn season.

Mrs. Satterfield Hostess. Farmville, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Mrs. I. E. Satterfield was a charming hostess on Tuesday afternoon to members of her bridge club and several additional friends, entertaining at her home on Contentnea street.

The tables were placed in the living room amid a colorful setting of early fall flowers. A delectable salad course with iced tea was served after five progressions and the novel match stands which had made attractive nut cups were given as favors.

D. A. R. CHAPTER HAS BARBECUE LUNCHEON

Farmville, Sept. 18.—The members of the Major Benjamin May chapter D. A. R., enjoyed a delightful barbecue luncheon in the Rotary dining room at their regular meeting this week. Red dahlias, scarlet sage and other decorations added warmth and color and were decided contrast to the gray dreariness of the weather outside.

Mrs. C. E. Moore, of Wilson, had charge of the opening exercises, after which a short business session was held, the regent, Mrs. T. C. Turnage announcing the divisional meeting, which is a miniature national congress composed of several southern states, and which will be held at Greensboro in November.

The interesting program consisted of the reading of the president-general's monthly message by Miss Annie Perkins, the address of Secretary James Goode on "Respect for the Law," delivered at the last National Congress, and read by Mrs. M. V. Jones. Mrs. J. P. Parrott, regent of the Moseley-Bright chapter of Kingston, and state chairman of Old Roads and Trails, was present and made a delightful talk on the placing of the twelve "Madonnas of the Trail" on the national highways. These inspiring figures will represent a national memorial to Motherhood.

Guests of the chapter at this time included Mrs. G. S. Vought, a Suffolk chapter member; Mrs. A. W. Tucker, of Raleigh; Mesdames J. F. Parrott, W. D. LaRoque, John Dawson, and C. A. Jeffries of Kingston.

D. A. R. Meeting. Farmville, Sept. 18.—(AP)—An interesting meeting of the Col. Alexander McAllister chapter D. A. R., devoted wholly to business, was held at the home of Mrs. J. I. Morgan on Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. J. W. Parker as joint hostesses. The home was most attractive with a lavish arrangement of roses, dahlias and other autumn flowers.

Mrs. W. B. Murphy of Snow Hill, regent of the chapter, cordially welcomed Mrs. W. A. Barrett of Farmville, as a new member, and reminded the members of the district meeting to be held in Snow Hill October 24. An announcement was read of the re-interment of Mary and Ezekiel Slocum's bodies at Moore Creek battleground on September 26th. Members were urged to visit local schools and make short talks in the interest of patriotism. This chapter decided at this time to change the date of meeting to the Friday after the 3rd

Sunday of each month.

Mesdames J. W. Parker, Harvey, Carol, and Anderson were appointed as a committee to develop a play or pageant based on some historic event of local happening. The chapter made plans for marking Hull and Nigger Hood roads and subscriptions of the D. A. R. magazine were taken, beginning with the September issue which carries a picture of the memorial exercises sponsored by this chapter last year.

Mrs. T. C. Turnage, state treasurer and regent of the Farmville chapter, was present, and made a few remarks. Other guests included Mesdames G. S. Vought, R. H. Knott, G. A. Rouse, G. M. Holden, T. E. Joyner, and Miss Tabitha De Visconti.

The program was omitted on account of the lengthy business session.

During a social period a delightful salad course was served.

"A Smart Place to Shop"

We Have Been Asked Numbers of Times, Why We Changed From the Serial Building and Loan Plan, to the Running Stock. We Could Not Enumerate All the Advantages That Prompted Our Change. We will Endeavor to State a Few:

- 1—You can purchase stock any time during the year. Our stock is on sale every day.
- 2—We charge no withdrawal fees on stock withdrawn.
- 3—We charge no fines.
- 4—You pay once a month instead of every four weeks.
- 5—We pay 5 per cent interest compounded semi-annually and credit same to your account.
- 6—You can withdraw all installments paid in by you plus your interest.
- 7—You may withdraw any part of your savings without paying interest on it.
- 8—Thirty shares or $3000.00 in stock will cost you $30.00 per month, you may pay $30.00, $50.00, $100.00 or as much as you like, we will pay interest on the total amount.
- 9—We will allow you 11-12 years to pay a mortgage loan, you may retire it however, as early as you like. A $5000.00 loan will cost you only $50.00 a month, including interest.
- 10—The payment paid in by you on a mortgage will be credited to your note every 6 months, thereby reducing your mortgage.
- 11—A schedule worked out by the Insurance Department of North Carolina shows interest on a mortgage loan from us costs only .033 per cent.
- 12—We know we can render a greater service to the people of this community, by offering the most practical, modern and flexible form of Building & Loan Stock ever sold in Eastern Carolina.

Space will not permit us to enumerate more of the advantages of the Running Stock. We will predict that 80 per cent of all associations in Eastern Carolina will be using the Running Stock plan in two years.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK COMING

October 6 to 13 has been set aside as Fire Prevention Week. During that time public and private organizations and authorities will make an effort to instruct citizens in the fundamentals of doing away with our terrible fire waste.

In past years the fire rate
has always gone down during the week, only to rise again to "normal" immediately after. It is the old case of a lesson going in one ear and out the other.

Fire is perhaps the greatest single menace to progress we must face. Every year it destroys property, which, in terms of monetary value, would support whole governments, cover the country with paved highways, provide greater educational facilities or do any number of other great services. And on top of this must be placed the still greater destruction in human life.

During Fire Prevention
week we will learn of the danger of neglected wiring, carelessly disposed of cigarettes or matches, piles of refuse, poor building construction and so on. But unless our citizens carry the lessons learned through the other 51 weeks of the year
nothing will be gained.
Make Fire Prevention
Week the start of a Fire Prevention Year.

ABOUT TOWN

"I don't know how much Senator
Simmons' appeal to President Hoover is going to have on bringing about relief of the tobacco growers of this section, but if it has any at all, the people of Pitt county will be mighty appreciative," said a citizen today, speaking of the story carried in the columns of the Reflector
yesterday afternoon.
"Senator Simmons told the president that low prices of tobacco brought this part of the country
face to face with a period of bankruptcy, and he didn't miss the mark very far at that. The situation is really serious and deserves as much recognition from the government as some of those other sections that have been receiving attention of our lawmakers for years past.
"With the cotton crop virtually destroyed by the boll weevil infestation, tobacco is the only thing this section is depending upon, but there is little chance of salvation in prevailing prices.
"Senator Simmons did not exaggerate conditions in the slightest sense of the word, and if he is able to bring about the slightest action to improve the situation he has rendered a real service."

"Looks like you people are trying to do away with bootlegging completely," observed a visitor to Greenville yesterday.
"Your officers are to be commended for the splendid manner in which they have gone after the traffic, and it would be a fine thing if the officers of all other communities would start similar drives.
"Illicit whiskey is doing more to undermine present day civilization
than any other thing I can imagine,
and the salvation of the people lies

holy in complete law enforcement with a view of doing away with so much of the liquor traffic.
"You people ought to have more peace from the liquor traffic from now on and especially if the officers
keep continually on the alert for violations of this kind."

"My, but that is a writing thing," declared a visitor to the Reflector
office today, referring to the Associated Press leased wire typewriters in the windows of the business office.

"I always wondered why the Reflector was able to print so much about things occurring after the noon hour every day, and now I understand. You have plenty of speed and should be able to cover everything of importance in this and other sections of the country.

"The leased wire typewriters have certainly revolutionized newspaper work in this country, and have made it possible for one section to keep in close personal touch with other sections all through the day.
"I shall feel sure hereafter that I am getting everything when I read the Reflector and that I am several hours ahead of the game."

"We may be troubled by tight money," said a business man today,
"but there is one thing we have to be thankful for, and that is the lack of strikes and disorders resulting therefrom.

"With parts of the western section of the state in the grip of Communist, featured by death and destruction of property, people down here in eastern Carolina are able to go about their usual daily work
free from anything more annoying than money troubles. When we consider that the strike sections have disorders and money shortages combined, we ought to thank our stars that we are free from agricultural section that we are free from labor dissension and such like.

"Times may be hard, and things may look mighty blue, but every cloud appearing in this section in the past had a silver lining, and judging of the future by the past,
it is presumed that many silvery linings are left."

"In electing new officers the other night the local post of the American Legion heard an earnest appeal in behalf of ex-service men who have not received any compensation from the government," said

a former veteran today.
"The Legion should be taking up the cases of such men and seeing what can be done about their compensation. Some of the boys know better how to go about such things than others, and if they would put their knowledge to work in the interest of the boys without compensation it might be they would get good results."

"Some of the lads were disabled
during the war, and times are hard with them at the best. If they could get some compensator life would be made easier for them, and members of the post would feel better if having been able to render a service of this kind."

Seize 3,000 Quarts of Choice Liquors At Brunswick, Me.

Brunswick, Me., Sept. 19.—(AP)—
More than 3,000 quarts of choice liquors, valued at $35,000, which officials said were imported for distribution in New York, Niagara Falls and Pittsburgh, today reposed behind steel doors in the Brunswick jail while authorities sought to uncover further ramifications of an import ring believed to have operated from this section all summer.

One man was in jail in connection with the seizure. George E. Albers, alias Brittan and Barnes, of Calais, was arrested after officers said he admitted he was caretaker of a cottage at Gun Point, the Harpwell Shore, 10 miles from here, where the liquor was found last night. Deputy Sheriff William B.
Edwards of Brunswick, led the raiding officers.

Federal authorities regarded the seizure as one of the most important in the state in years. Seth May, prohibition administrator, said he believed another large cache, seized in Boothbay Harbor two weeks ago
had been part of a shipment distributed from the Gun Point cottage.

Evidence taken during the raid included letters and telegrams from persons in eastern cities ordering liquor shipments. Officials believed the orders were from members of the distributing ring and, pending investigation, no names were disclosed.

Parents Protest Against Prices of School Books

Raleigh, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Parents of school children from various parts of the state are writing Dr.
A. T. Allen, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, protesting against the profiteering of school book dealers.

Recently Dr. Allen issued an ultimatum
in regard to the school book profiteering and requested the parents of dealers who were overcharging to communicate directly with the State Department of Education if the practice continued.
Each day now numerous complein-ing letters are being received.

In some cases it is stated that dealers mark out the prices fixed and printed in the books and write in their own, usually increasing the prices from 15 to 20 cents.

"The situation will apparently correct itself," Dr. Allen said today, because in practically every instance a competitive dealer in the same place has stepped up, saying he will be glad to sell the school texts at the fixed price if only he will be allowed the school trade monopoly."

Continue Fraud Hearing Against City Councilman

High Point, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The case against Councilman W. A.
Davis, charged with election fraud,
has been continued for ten days.

Immediately after the case was ordered continued by H. M. Robbins, Asheboro attorney, referee in the hearing a motion to be allowed to appear before Judge Thomas J.
Shaw and argue for the enlargement of the complaint and bill of particulars was granted.

Attorneys for the defendant then made a motion to be allowed to appear before Judge Shaw and argue the merits of a demurrer presented by them Monday. They contend the case does not have any place in the courts and that it is a matter which would have to be heard before members of the city council. This motion also was granted

Charge U. S. Cutter With Firing Upon Canadian Motorship

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 19.—(AP)—
Charges that United States coast guard cutter shelled the Canadian motorship Shawnee 28 miles off
New York were made by her master,
Captain John McLeod today.

The Shawnee arrived here with shell holes in her port quarter and part of her rail carried away.

Captain McLeod declared he intended to file a formal protest with the Dominion government.
He said his vessel, enroute from Bermuda in ballast, was off New York last Friday night when the United States coast guard cutter 145 came up without lights and without warning fired five shots at the Shawnee.

After the firing, McLeod said, the cutter hailed him asking the identity of the ship.

The cutter then signalled for the coast guard ship Gresham to relieve the 145, Captain McLeod said.
The Gresham remained with the Shawnee until noon Saturday, when another coast guard vessel relieved her. The Shawnee increased her speed from 10 to 12 knots an outdistanced the American patrol craft.
Marine records show that the Shawnee cleared from Bermuda

August 5 for St. Pierre.

The RIVERSIDE PUNCTURE-PROOF INNER TUBE

FOR years engineers and tire experts have battled with the idea of a "punctureproof tire." We have tested over 25 different ideas... everything from solid rubber tires to steel plates in tire casings. All of these, however, had the disadvantage of destroying the easy-riding qualities so necessary in any tire.

Two years ago, success crowned our efforts.
We solved the problem... with Montgomery
Ward & Co.'s exclusive RIVERSIDE Puncture-Sealing Compound, which is applied to the inside of our Molded Circle Inner Tubes in such a way that you enjoy the same riding comfort as with other tubes—without having to worry any longer about punctures! You ride on air just the same as ever, and you inflate the tire to normal air pressure exactly as with any other tube.

In principle this tube is as simple as ABC.
When the tube is in the tire on your car,
this scientific chemical preparation automatically seals all punctures caused by anything from a tack to a three-inch nail. Air pressure inside the tube forces the compound through the puncture and forms a dry, flexible plug between tube and casing, which instantly stops the air-leak, and prevents the tire from going down. This enables you to continue without the delay and bother of tire-changing... in fact, you never even know you have a puncture until you see the nail in the tire and pull it out!

RIVERSIDE Puncture-Sealing Compound
is not injurious to rubber, but actually preserves it. It does not dry up and rot the fabric—will not cement the tube to the casing—never becomes hard or lumpy—and when car is in motion, remains evenly distributed in the tube. It will last the life of the tube... or until, for some reason,
the tube is destroyed by blowout.

These tubes have passed the most rigid technical and practical tests in our laboratory, and today thousands of motorists throughout the U. S. A. ride on them with never a worry about punctures! They are also used and endorsed by famous racers,
Federal Secret Service men, and tire, valve and car manufacturers. Yet the prices are no higher than you would pay for many inner tubes which are NOT puncture-proof
... in fact, the cost of a whole set for your car will not compare with the expense and annoyance of changing a single tire on a crowded highway.

Why not visit our store and inspect these tubes? Have them demonstrated for you.
Then order a complete set and know that it is to be FREE FROM PUNCTURE WORRIES
FOR THE NEXT THREE YEARS!... Remember, also, that you cannot purchase the RIVERSIDE Puncture-Proof Tube from any stores in America except those of Montgomery Ward & Co.

August 5, 1929.
Have used Riverside Puncture-Proof Inner Tubes on my car and driven over 15,000 miles on them without a flat. We pulled out nails and tacks which had penetrated through the tire and tube, without loss of air, and the sealing compound sealed the punctures perfectly. Am well pleased with my Puncture-Proof Inner Tube.

CUBS BECOME CHAMPIONS OF THE NATIONAL

By defeating the Robins at Wrigley Field last Sunday, the Cubs reached a point where one more victory would give them the national league pennant beyond the last mathematical doubt. The energetic Bruin still is sniping here and there in search of the victory, but they nevertheless have become champions, almost without knowing it. The coronet was clamped upon the brow of Joseph V. McCarty just before game-time in Chicago yesterday when the Braves downed the Pirates 5 to 4 at Forbes Field in the first half of a double-header.

The new champions of the elder major circuit were allowed to enter their game against the Giants without the knowledge that the Braves had ended the struggle for them. Otherwise they might have done better against the Giants, who opened the series with a 7 to 3 triumph behind Carl Hubbell's fine pitching. The clan McGraw pounded Sheriff Fred Blake and Art Nehf with the same vigor that has marked many recent assaults upon the peaceable young men who earn their money serving them up for Joe McCarthy. If these unprovoked outrages continue, experts and in-experts alike will have to place some credence in Mr. McCarthy's plea that his pitching defense consists of so many paper hoops.

Guy Bush, it is true, has been hitting the bumps; but so has Bob Grove. With more than two weeks to get ready for the ordeal, the rival pitching corps may be depended upon to make base hits dear and after October 8, many a "wrecked" hurling staff in the past has suddenly reassembled itself upon reaching the world series, with the scent of important money in the air.

Presuming that the Cubs' twelfth pennant had been taken for granted—as Chicago fans took it—the most interesting development at Wrigley Field yesterday was Roger Hornsby's feat in scoring all three of the Bruin runs and so lifting his total to 146, two beyond the modern National League record set by Kiki Cuyler in Pittsburg in 1925.

After Kremer and Sweetonic had dropped the pennant-deciding first game to the Braves at Pittsburg, the Pirates came behind—Henry Meine to take the nightcap by 5-2. Jim Frey, Nashville recruit, gave the Phillies 13 hits in his Cincinnati debut, but won his game by 9 to 5. The contest was notable for the fielding performance of Horace Ford, Cincinnati shortstop, who cut in with eleven put-outs and three assists. He fell short of the major league mark of nineteen chances accepted by a shortstop but equaled the put out mark established by William Fuller of Andy Freedman's Giants in 1895. Danny Richardson of Washington made the mark for total chances accepted in 1892.

Under the pounding of Yankee home run bats, the Indians just escaped from New York with their lives yesterday, all visions of second money vanished from their minds. Led appropriately enough by the home run twins, Ruth and Gehrig, who got two apiece. The Yanks bombarded the Indians out of two games by 9 to 7 and 12 to 2. Tony Lazzari added a credit blow for good measure, and the Sewell brothers performed for Cleveland. Ruth Ruth ran his total to 46, by far the

PECULIAR NAMES STILL WORRY SPORTS WRITERS

Chicago, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The Osterbaans, Mitterwainers, and Ukkelbergs, whose names worried headline writers and gagged radio announcers, have gone, but the big ten has plenty of trick names to replace them.

Ohio State offers Blueschenschuss, Ujhelyi, Kazmerchak, Wiragos and Erf, which Indiana matches with Magnabosco, Antonini and Hojnacki among others. Wisconsin's treats to easy football conversation are Lubratovitch and Ketalara which are not so bad when Minnesota presents Pulkrabek, Kakela and Oja.

Illinois has Nussipckel and Yanusuk up against Unevick or Purdue, didendorf of Chicago and Captain Truskowski of Michigan.

highest in either circuit, and Gehrig mounted to 34, second best in the American league. The least said about the pitching the first game the better, but there was nothing wrong with Roy Sherid in the nightcap. Wesley Perrell in this contest slumped far below his usual form.

PATSY MILLER HAS BIG TASK WITH DEACONS

Wake Forest, N. C., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A monumental task confronts Patsy Miller, new head coach of the Wake Forest Demon Deacons if he steers his proteges out of the cool, damp atmosphere of the "big five" cellar this season.

At that the situation at Wake Forest is not as bad as it might be. The material is not bountiful, but what there is sizes up pretty well. Few of the regulars were lost via the graduation route and those that remain will have had the benefit of a year's experience of varsity play.

What the new coach fears most of all is the morale. Several consecutive years of reverses have had a depressing effect on the Baptist campus and Miller believes that he has a long, hard fight ahead to combat this evil.

The new mentor is starting under somewhat of a handicap. Stan Goff, all his predecessor resigned in mid-summer and Miller was placed at the helm with very little time left in which to devise new systems, formulate new plans and inaugurate a campaign of missionary work that would tend to offset the prevalent feeling that the Baptists are destined to spend their remaining years wallowing around in the slough of the second division.

Miller is sending a fairly large squad through two practice sessions daily on Gore field. Fundamentals and calisthenics are in order with scrimmages due to start probably the latter part of next week. Fred Emerson, who starred for the Demon Deacons when the Garrity-coached Wake Forest teams were the talk of the south, is assisting Miller and Phil Utley, former head coach and now gymnasium director, also is lending a helping hand.

The back field likely will be built around Walter Hipps, former Oak Ridge star, who showed well last season, while Miller expects to bolster up his 1928 line by promising colts from last year's yearling squad.

Chief among those hopefuls are Williams and Webb, two hefty tackle. They have been looking good in early workouts and give promise of developing into first class men before the season is over. Both scale well over the 200-pound mark. They are very fast for big fellows.

Ehmke Hopes to Get One Shot at Chicago Bruin

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Howard Ehmke, the Athletics' veteran right-hander with the temperamental arm, is hoping to get one shot at the so-called devastating Chicago Cubs in the world series. Reports are that an injured shoulder which refused to yield to treatment may force Ehmke to retire after this season, but he wants to meet the Cubs and see just what he can do to them before he decides definitely to withdraw.

"Of course I want to beat the Cubs in a series game," the pitcher told the Associated Press today "but as to my announcing my retirement at the close of the series, why that is something else. I have not yet made a definite decision about retiring."

Ehmke said he didn't know just what happened to his shoulder. It seems to have gone out of gear for no reason at all, he added.

"I haven't been able to pitch a real fast one since 1926 without pains shooting through my shoulder," he said. "I've been like a Ponce de Leon seeking the fountain of youth. I've seen a bone setter and while he helped me he could not cure me. I've gone further—to California, Hot Springs, Texas and Detroit. No one has effected a permanent cure."

"Maybe I shall retire. Who knows? If I do decide to quit it will be soon. I can't think of a better way to leave baseball than to retire from a world championship team. That's what the A's will be after they meet the Cubs."

BIG THREE IS IN MIDST OF GRID LABORS

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Eastern football season still is several weeks away and at many of the leading colleges the practice period is barely underway, but the first touch of football weather yesterday brought some real progress in the matter of developing teams.

Still in its first week of drill, Yale inaugurated the scrimmage sessions of the "Big Three" colleges yesterday by staging a seven minute session of real football. Mal Stevens is sending the Elis along at a great rate and already has chosen a first squad of 28 men. Seventeen of its members have won their letters in previous years.

Princeton and Harvard are trailing behind their principal rival still devoting their time to the preliminaries and the big job of sorting out the material.

Most of the colleges which were not held back by the Sept. 15, starting of the old big three have been at an early opening game, spent a lot of time in actual play while its neighbor, Syracuse, returning from its training camp, initiated its new Hendricks Field plant with a scrimmage session.

Pennsylvania went through its paces under the eyes of its former coach, John Heisman, who have enthusiastic praise to the work of the Red and Blue ends, Sydney Gervin and Joe Olexy.

Both service schools had plenty to do in preparing for their hard schedules. Army, with several line positions to fill, went through a long offensive drill which was calculated to bring out the best the forwards had to offer. Navy found some hard propositions in its powerful plebe eleven but got a touch-down by the passing route. The Midshipmen had their troubles on the defense and the first year men were able to get through the line for long gains.

Endurance Plane HAS BROKEN STABILIZER

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Unless the pilots of the big monoplane "Buffalo Evening News," nearly 8 days in the air in an attempt to set a world's refueling endurance flight record, can repair the broken stabilizer wire which threatened to end the flight yesterday, Dale Dryer, chief mechanic of the venture, will undertake the job himself today.

Yesterday, as Dryer was about to go aloft in an open cockpit Waco Bi-plane, Jack Little and Merle A. Moltrup, the endurance plane pilots, messaged that Little, working from inside the fuselage, had repaired the brace wire temporarily. It became known today, however, that the makeshift would render flying extremely hazardous in heavy weather.

If Dryer goes up today, he will descend to the "News" at a height of from 6,000 to 10,000 feet by an 80-foot rope ladder.

Your Children ... is their food safe?

YOU, as a conscientious mother, buy the best food for your children, prepare it with scrupulous care and cook it correctly.

But even the best food becomes unsafe unless it is kept at the proper degree of cold, which medical authorities agree should be 50 degrees or less—always.

There is only one way to be sure that your children's food is fresh and healthful—correct refrigeration. There is one refrigerator that assures you of scientifically perfect refrigeration at all times—the General Electric.

The General Electric Refrigerator has a simple mechanism which you never need to oil, mounted on top of the cabinet and hermetically sealed in a steel casing. It has an accessible freezing regulator, makes a generous supply of ice cubes, creates no radio interference. It has the only all-steel, warp-proof cabinet—easily cleaned, sanitary. Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 6 points with December contracts selling off to 18 7/8 or into new low ground for the present movement. Under further liquidation and southern selling, which was evidently influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables and more favorable view of the weather news.

The decline to the 18.3-4 level for December appeared to bring in an increased trade demand, however, and the market steadied up on covering. Early losses were just about recovered by the end of the first half hour with the active months selling a point or two above yesterday's closing quotations.

Liverpool cables said there had been calling supplied by some heading and Bombay selling in the Liverpool market, but reported a maintained demand for cotton, cloths from India and further buying for South America.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-4 lower; corn closed 1-2 to 3-4 down; oats 1-4 to 1-2 off, and provisions varying from 10 decline to a rise of 5 to 7.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The lowering of call money rates and favorable trade news provided the back ground for another advance in prices in today's stock market. A number of high priced specialties were whirled upward in spectacular fashion, while the general list moved up 1 to 8 points under the leadership of the public utilities.

Call money renewed at 10 per cent but the supply became so plentiful that the rate was dropped to 9 and thence to 8, indicating the passing of the mid-month credit stringency. Retention of the Bank of England 5 1/2 per cent discount rate, removing fears of a further drain on credit here, had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment, as did the announcement of another huge bank merger involving the National City and Corn Exchange banks.

Commercial Solvents was the spectacular feature, soaring 106 points to 700, as contrasted with the year's low of 225 1/4. But it quickly fell back to 660 on profit taking. Oil Elevator soared 20 3/4 points to 468 3/4. Air Reduction 11 1/2 to 217 3/4 and Anchor Cap Preferred to 140, all new high records.

There were several soft spots scattered throughout the list. Auburn Auto, which rallied 29 points yesterday, broke 14. Vandium Steel dropped 3 1/2. Simmons Co. 3 and Baltimore & Ohio, Allis-Chalmers, International Business Machines and Texas and Pacific sold down 2 points or more.

BULL FIGHTER WOULD STAGE BLOODLESS FIGHT

Madrid, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Sydney Franklin, Brooklyn bull fighter who wants to display his art in his old home town, is considering an offer to appear in "bloodless" bull fights in America.

The details haven't been worked out, but the matador plans to visit his parents next month and then arrangements may be completed for introducing the Spanish national sport to American fans. The success of the venture would depend upon Franklin's skill, and upon the bull entering into the intended spirit of harmless fun.

Death Treasure

By R. A. J. WALLING

SYNOPSIS: Two fugitives captured by Laxton in Belgium! But strangely enough, Laxton does not arrest Tom Grenofen and Somerfield. For the detective is anxious to make a trade, to drop the charge against Grenofen in exchange for the contents of the black bag. Laxton, however, apparently does not know of the jewelry treasures. The three men agree to work together to solve the mystery of Roger Pell's death and Veronica's entanglement in the enigma. Laxton reveals his first connection with the Pell case—the arrest of an old friend, who was scheduled to meet Pell at Blackwater, to give him a certain date and for this service he was to receive a large sum of money. The date was June 24—just about the time Pell was insisting on publication of the Fotherbury discoveries!

Chapter 34 PELL'S TRAIL

I eyed Laxton speculatively while Somerfield fired questions at him. As he had heard of Pell before the tragedy he must have made inquiries. But Laxton would go no further. He never stated theories till they worked.

"Didn't you say yourself," he said to me, "that until we unearth Pell's past we shall never know how or why Pell was killed?"

"You see, Grenofen?—he's got the idea!" cried Somerfield.

"What idea?" Laxton asked.

"We worried it out," said I, "that if Pell was shot through the keyhole he couldn't have been aiming at it."

"Ah," said Laxton, sitting up, "you saw that?"

"And that if he wasn't aimed at, it accounted for the seeming inexplicable fact that the ghost pell was going to produce so proudly to Seabroke and Marling and the rest shot Pell himself."

"Ah!" said Laxton again. "That is, if the shot was fired by Pell's ghost."

"By the man who knocked you out at any rate."

"If Pell accidentally got in the way of a shot it must have been meant for somebody else. That the idea?" asked Laxton.

"Yes, Somerfield worked out the positions. A shot fired through the keyhole could only have hit Marling."

Laxton sat bolt upright with his hands on the chairarms for a full minute, looking intently in front of him.

"Marling!" he repeated. "That's a light—if you're right we add one to the people concerned in Pell's past."

"But you knew Marling was acquainted with Pell's past," said I.

"Ye-es," Laxton looked speculatively at me. "I knew just what Wayne told me and you told him about Pell denouncing Marling at the moment of his death."

"Oh," said I. "There was a little more than that." And I related what Marling had said about Pell having been in prison.

The effect on Laxton was extraordinary. He jumped to his feet. "The dam scoundrel!" he cried. "Who—Pell?" asked Somerfield.

"No—Marling! Don't talk for a second. Let me think."

Laxton paced the room, looking from one to the other of us with sharp excitement.

"Does anybody know how Marling came to Blackwater?" Laxton asked.

Somerfield said he heard that Fotherbury brought him down as chaplain when he opened up New-place and restored the church.

"Was it shut up when Fotherbury bought?"

"Yes," said Somerfield. "The last Redslade was so poor he couldn't live in it. When he was at Blackwater—which wasn't often—he lived in Grenofen's house, at Woodcot. Then he sold the whole thing just before he pegged out."

"Marling—Fotherbury—Pell," Laxton recited, striding up and down again. He pulled up in front of me.

"What'll you bet Marling's not a padre at all? He's not in the registry, but I put nothing on that—till now. Marling—Fotherbury—Pell—one other—Three years ago—it suggests nothing to you? You two have been quite candid?"

"His look flitted between us."

"Yes," said Somerfield, "but you haven't. You made a mystery of Pell, but it seems you knew all about him. For instance, that he'd been in prison."

"No," Laxton exclaimed. "I knew nothing certain. I surmised."

Suddenly I recalled Marling's last visit to warn me against Laxton.

"Did Marling know you surmised?" I asked.

"How can I tell how much he guessed? It looks as if he may have double-crossed everybody."

Then I told him how Marling had given me the information about my possible arrest. I thought Laxton would have exploded.

"That settles it!" he cried. "Now if you two will help, we shall have Marling like this—he squeezed his thumb on the back of a chair—and there'll be no more mystery about Pell. Are you on?"

We nodded.

"But," said Somerfield, "to clear everything up, we ought to tell you we saw you shadowing Miss Vandenessen across the Square."

"Ah! You two've got sharp eyes. And no doubt you saw she wasn't alone. Did you happen to know the man?"

"No," said I. "He was walling away from us. We couldn't see his face."

Laxton's eyes penetrated me as I spoke.

"Ah, well, leave that," said he. "Now, so long as you don't compromise Miss Seabroke, are you willing to join up in a rear search for the murder of Pell?"

We were.

"Right! Then I wash out the warrant. You're free. I want to go to Ostend tonight, and probably catch the morning boat to England. You two carry on where I leave off, and we'll tear the whole thing open before long. I'll save you the trouble of chasing up Miss Vandenessen. Here's the address where the Seabroks lived in Brussels before they went to Blackwater—take a note of it: Rue Rogier, 39 bis."

"It got more out of Mrs. Fairfax than you did. I was going there tomorrow. You won't find the Seabroks within miles of it now—and better not. It's Pell you want—Pell and his associates. There's a personality behind all this that haven't found yet. When we get him—well, you may get him or may. We'll see. Is it a deal?"

We said it was.

"You want neither to conceal a murderer nor to hide a robbery. It's part of the undertaking is to produce what Mr. Somerfield called a boodle when I call for it? Very good. Then let's work out a scheme."

RELIEVED CAUSE OF SEVERE HEADACHES

Painful Symptom of Constipation Disappeared After Her Use of Black-Draught.

Baton Rouge, La.—Many a man or woman has found relief from headache, when a condition of constipation was the underlying cause, by taking a simple, powdered preparation of selected medicinal leaves and roots, known far and wide as Theford's Black-Draught.

Here is an instance of how Theford's Black-Draught proved of benefit to a Louisiana lady:

"About two years ago I was suffering from constipation," writes Mrs. F. Guidry, of 620 North Street, this city.

"I would have severe headache and would have to stay in bed a day or two at a time. I tried different remedies; did not get relief. I read of Black-Draught, and decided to try it, and have never been sorry I did, for it gave me relief quicker than anything I have ever tried."

"And now, whenever I feel the least symptom (of constipation) I take Black-Draught, and that keeps off the headaches. I am much better since I began taking it, and I gladly recommend it to my friends."

Costs only 1 cent a dose.

BULL SALE TO BE HELD HERE ON SEPT. 27

Local Banks and Merchants Association to Sponsor Sale Here Next Week

An effort is being made to interest farmers in diversifying their crops. The dairy cow is the starting point in this diversification. She is the main source of the fields into cash, stabilizing and increasing the income of her owner. Wherever she has taken her rightful place, farm prosperity has replaced poverty that characterizes one crop farming. The hog and hen keep her company, forming a trio that bring home grown food for the family, feed for live stock and fertility for the soil.

When introduced into the south, where she belongs, she will bring milk for a people who have long done without this best and cheapest of foods. Unbroken doses of good milk and butter make the best medicine in the world for the ill to which an undernourished rural population falls ready prey. She can cure the one crop farming disease that has kept the south in rags and its fields white with cotton. But if Pitt county farmers are to milk cows commercially, the quality of the cattle must be brought up to the point so that low yields, which are always disappointing and non-profitable, may be overcome.

Figures compiled by the dairy division, United States Department of Agriculture, through dairy herd improvement associations, show that cows producing an average of 100 pounds of butter fat annually, returned a labor income of $14.00 per cow, while cows producing an average of 500 pounds of butter fat annually returned a labor income of $176.00 per cow. In other words a cow producing 500 pounds of butter fat annually gave a net income of 127 times that of a cow producing 100 pounds of butter fat.

An examination further into figures compiled by the dairy division shows that when a good dairy sire (out of a tested high producing dam) is used in a herd of five cows, producing an average of 366 pounds of butter fat annually, his daughters produced only 245 pounds of butter fat, a loss of 123 pounds or 34 per cent annually.

On all records available it was found that when good dairy sires, out of tested high producing dams, were used on average producing cows the average increase in butter fat production in their daughters was 121 pounds annually.

In order to improve the quality of milk cattle in Pitt county, a sale of good purebred Jersey Bulls will be held at auction in Greenville on Friday, September 27. This sale is made possible through the cooperation of the North Carolina Jersey Breeders Association, the local banks and the Merchants Association, the office of Dairy Extension, Raleigh, N. C., the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, and your county agent. Farmers and dairymen are urged to attend this sale. See your county agent still further about this sale.

SUNDOWN STORIES

THE CLOCK TALKS

The little black clock and the children rode along on the Indian's swift-moving horse. After they had traveled over a good deal of prairie land, the little black clock whispered to the horse.

Instantly they stopped and the wind, which had seemed so wild before, was very quiet.

The little black clock jumped down and Peggy and John did the same. The horse turned back toward home, racing for all he was worth.

"What are we going to do?" asked Peggy.

"Why did you let the horse go?" Jehn asked.

It seemed rather dreadful to be left alone on a great prairie, with only the little black clock. The legs of the little black clock were not particularly strong looking, nor did he look as though he could do much to keep them if danger should come that way.

The little black clock motioned to each of them to sit down, and putting one of his runny hands on each, he said:

"Don't be frightened. I will never, never, never let harm come to you.

"We have had so much excitement with the wonderful dance the Indians gave that I thought we'd rest here while I tell you just a little more about myself and of all the good times we can have together."

As Peggy and John looked at the jolly, happy, friendly face of the clock they knew they need never be frightened again.

"It was long before either of you were born that I stopped going," the clock said. "It was a little before 7 one evening when I was wishing I could go back to a very nice afternoon I had had, that I was offered the magic."

"But I had to choose between time at all except the regular time," keeping the regular time or any "What was the person like who brought you the magic?" John asked.

"Won't you tell us?" Peggy asked.

"Why did you let the horse go?" Jehn asked.

"Why, yes—I will!" the clock told them.

Tomorrow—"The Magic."

Enright Accepts Square Deal Party Nomination in N. Y.

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Richard R. Enright, former police commissioner, formally accepted the Mayorality nomination of the square deal party last night on a platform of law enforcement.

He said he stood with President Hoover on the issue and charged Mayor James J. Walker and Tammany Hall with responsibility for what he termed the complete breakdown of law enforcement in this city.

Charging that vice and graft have been widespread under the Walker administration, he declared graft paid for protection by the 32,000 speakeasies in the city amounting to $83,000,000 a year.

He called upon Governor Roosevelt to appoint a justice of the Supreme court to investigate the Rothstein murder case, which he termed "the most astounding failure of public justice that has ever stained the mottled criminal annals of this city."

"When the full story of this case is told," he said, "it will shake the political and criminal circles and some classes of society to their very foundations." He promised to tell at least part of the story before the campaign is over.
