SIXTEEN KILLED IN FIRE AT DETROIT

Night Club In Theatre District Wiped Out By Flames During Morning

Fifty Persons in Hospitals as Result of Injuries Sustained When Flames Sweep Up Main Stairway of Study Club, Cutting Off All Means of Escape; Several Victims Dead Upon Arrival at Hospitals

Detroit, Sept. 20. (AP)—Sixteen persons were killed and more than 50 others are in hospitals with injuries suffered in a fire which gutted the Study club a night club on the edge of the downtown theatre district, early today.

One hundred and thirty patrons and 40 employees, including entertainers, were in the night club when flames broke through the wall at the first floor and swept up the main staircase, cutting off the only means of escape.

Patrolman James McGuire, who discovered the blaze, ran to a nearby fire box, and returned to find the flames and smoke rising up the staircase. Before patrons and employees were aware of their danger, the fire was upon them. A cigarette girl was suffocated by the hot fumes, as she stood in the center of the dance floor and dropped her tray. Her body was found by firemen.

Many patrons rushed for safety into a small dressing room, seven by fifteen feet, in the rear of the building. Thirty of them were found piled unconscious in the tiny space when firemen broke into the room, several of them were dead. Others were badly injured.

The interior of the building was ruined, but the exterior presented an almost unblemished appearance save for broken glass and a fire escape which hangs useless, a mockery to those who ventured to trust it as an exit.

Marty Cohen, proprietor of the club, and Robert Jackson, master of ceremonies, were closed with police this morning.

Cohen attributed the fire to rivals in business. The Study club had been operating about a year. Situated on Vernor highway, about six blocks from the heart of the city and just off Woodward avenue, the main north route of Detroit, it had acquired a wide reputation.

Cohen was not in the place at the time of the fire.

Firemen who tried to enter the building through windows, found that the window openings had been covered on the inside with wall board.

As firemen and volunteer rescuers carried out victims, taxicabs, which had been parked in a lot next to the building took them to hospitals, squads of ambulances arrived soon after the fire apparatus.

At Receiving Hospital 20 men and 30 women were checked in within an hour after the outbreak of the fire. Other hospitals in the city cared for other injured. Nurses, internes and physicians were sent to Receiving Hospital to aid in treating the injured. Many with slight burns and superficial injuries were given first aid and sent home.

Some of the victims were dead on arrival at the hospitals most of the fatalities, physicians said, resulted from suffocation. Identification of the dead was difficult because of the badly burned clothing and the disfigurement which follows suffocation.

State and city fire commissioners investigating the blaze with the police declared they could find no evidence of incendiary origin. Draperies and light flimsy decorations, they said, accounted for the rapid spread of the flames. Ventilating fans and the architecture of the building sped the flames on their mission of death and devastation.

The bodies of five women lie in the county morgue unidentified, two others have been identified.

Of the men that were killed eight have been identified. Some of the patrons of the establishment found their way to the roof of the rear section of the building and were carried down by firemen, or becoming panicky, jumped to the ground.

Many suffered broken legs. The building is three stories high in the front and a two-story addition had been built in the rear. The main dining room occupied most of the second floor. The kitchen was on the first floor.

TWO MEN ARE RELEASED IN FRAUD CASE

Men Arrested in Alleged Diamond Fraud Given Liberty Under Bonds

Lou Dietrich and "Izzy" Cohen arrested by county officers last Wednesday afternoon in connection with what was believed to be a diamond and jewelry fraud, were still being held today, although they were released yesterday afternoon with their Packard automobile and $2,400 diamond ring being held as bond by the authorities.

Members of the sheriff's department were still conferring with authorities in various sections of the county in an effort to learn something about the records of the two men out at an early hour this afternoon. It was said that nothing of an incriminating nature had been received.

Dietrich was arrested while conferring with an assistant cashier of the Greenville Banking & Trust company regarding a loan on a four karat diamond ring, and Cohen was detained when he inquired about the same ring at the sheriff's office a few minutes after the arrest.

Dietrich first represented himself as a bootlegger and then as a diamond salesman. He is alleged to have told bankers that members of his bootlegging crew were being held for bond by officers on a nearby highway, and that he desired to raise $1,500 on the diamond ring with which to stand the bond and effect their release.

It was while he was making an explanation of this kind at the Greenville Banking & Trust company that Sheriff Whitman and another officer informed Dietrich that he was under arrest. The man protested his innocence, declaring that he was a diamond salesman and actually showed a bill of sales from a Kansas City jeweler for the diamond ring in his possession.

It was indicated by officers this afternoon that the two men in all probability would be released within the next several hours in case nothing of an incriminating character was obtained in the case.

SAYS SHEARER INSTRUCTED TO GO TO GENEVA

Head of Shipbuilding Concern Tells Senate Committee of Shearer's Actions

Washington, Sept. 20. (AP)—A senate investigating committee was told today by Clinton L. Bardo, president of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation that three American shipbuilding concerns entered into a verbal agreement to send William B. Shearer, naval propagandist to the 1927 Geneva naval limitations conference as an "observer."

Bardo, the first witness, said an agreement with Shearer was entered into in New York in March, 1927.

Greatest Interest Shown In Circulation Campaign

Every indication is pointing toward a greatly increased interest and more determined effort on the part of candidates in The Reflector campaign.

Workers, bearing in mind the fact that the all-important first period now ends in just a little over a week, are settling down to genuine effort and many predict they will have better results to show for it than in any time of the same duration of the election so far.

It is a certainty that ultimate car winners are going to be able to show strength between now and Sept. 30. Monday night, the last day of the first day of the first period. It is a battle now against time for the big-

Trial Of Six Unionists Ordered Concluded When One Defendant Escapes

Marion, Sept. 20. (AP)—The trial of Alfred Hoffman, southern representative of the United Textile Workers, and five associates, charged with inciting a rebellion and insurrection against the state, was declared a mistrial this morning after it was discovered that J. Hugh Hall, one of the defendants, had sawed his way out of the jail and had escaped.

On learning of the jail delivery, Judge John H. Harwood of Bryson City, presiding, announced that the trial could not continue because Hall and the other defendants were under joint indictment. He said he would notify Governor Gardner and ask for a special term in which to try the men.

The trial was begun yesterday. The jury had been selected and the second witness was on the stand at adjournment time last night.

Hall escaped with three other men, the bars of the Marion county jail having been sawed off. With Hall in the jail delivery, were Ernest Browning, charged with fighting, Frank Wells, charged with making liquor, and Turner Harris, charged with temporary larceny of an automobile.

Hall was a resident of Marion, and not employed in textile mill work. He, with Hoffman, Lawrence Heron, union leader, was Foster, Will Russell and Del Lewis, strikers, were on trial as a result of disorders on August 19 in connection with a textile strike. Sheriff Adkins said a group of his deputies were attacked when they attempted to halt a group of organizers and strikers from moving a worker's furniture out of a house.

Although 54 were indicted, only six were called for trial this morning. Judge N. A. Townsend, executive councillor to Governor O. Max Gardner, was present in court after conferring with counsel for both sides called the governor by telephone and announced a special term of court to try the cases would be called for November 11.

Judge Harwood announced that a special venire of 100 men would be called from Rutherford county, an adjoining county.

When court convened Solicitor J. W. Pless, Jr., announced that the state was unable to proceed as to the defendant Hall but was ready to continue with the case as to the others.

Judge Harwood said the men were being tried under a joint bill of indictment and he doubted if the court could proceed with the trial unless all defendants were present.

The judge then announced that, upon the convening of court the solicitor announced that the defendant, J. Hugh Hall, on the preceding night escaped from jail. The court being of the opinion that the best interests of the public and the defendants now on trial in open court agree that a juror be withdrawn and a mistrial ordered. It is, therefore, ordered that a juror be withdrawn and a mistrial ordered.

Ministerial Association Commends Officers for Recent Campaign on Traffic

Activities of federal and county officers in connection with the recent campaign against the illicit whiskey traffic in this section have been commended by the Greenville Ministerial Association.

At a called meeting of the association today, its membership not only heartily endorsed the movement against the bootleggers, but voiced the officers that they had the unconditional support of the association in their work.

The statement issued by the ministers follows: The Ministers of Greenville desire to express their hearty approval and endorsement of the recent successful effort of our federal, county and town officers in rounding up a number of law violators in their endeavor to improve the morals of our county and community.

We wish to assure these officers and all who in any way contributed to the success of this law enforcement campaign that we are ready to support them in any further effort they may make; and will continue to do so until our citizenship shall have profound respect for the laws of our commonwealth.

We would also urge all good people of this community to assist our officers in every way possible, especially by encouragement and cooperation in their continued work for a better Greenville.

Signed, E. L. HILLMAN, W. S. HARDEN, Committee Ministerial Ass'n.

TWO MORE MEN ROUNDED UP IN LIQUOR RAIDS

White Men Held Under $1,000 Bonds Awaiting Preliminary Hearing

Two men have been arrested on charges of violation of national prohibition law and are out under bonds of $1,000 each awaiting hearing at the United States Commissioner Thos. E. Beaman.

Virtually fifty or more violations of national prohibition laws have been reported to federal and county officers during the campaign in this county during the last week and it was indicated that more arrests were expected within the next few days.

Commissioner Beaman stated that over sixty warrants had been issued during the campaign but all of them had not been served up to this present time. Numbers of bootleggers are reported to have fled from the county during the last few days in an effort to escape the dragnet which the officers have thrown out in all parts of the county.

The arrests cover practically every phase of the whiskey traffic, from the small bootlegger to the manufacturer. The majority of the defendants have already been given preliminary hearing and bound over to the next term of federal court under bonds ranging from $1,000 to $2,000.

PHILADELPHIA MAN IS SLAIN BY GUN MAN

Frank Whiteside, Landscape Artist of Great Fame, Shot Through the Heart

Philadelphia, Sept. 20. (AP)—Frank Reed Whiteside, 63 year old landscape artist of international fame, was slain by a mysterious gunman last night as he answered the doorbell at his quaint old two-story home at 1510 Waverly street.

Whiteside was shot through the heart and died almost instantly. The bullet which ended his life was found lodged in the door jam in the vestibule.

Women neighbors who heard the shot and found Whiteside's body slumped across the doorway of his home told police they had seen a shabbily-clad youth run down the quiet, tree-lined residential street in the heart of the city a moment after the shooting.

Canadian Supports Plan Of Britain For Hastening Disarmament Conference

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 20. (AP)—Sir George Foster of Canada, speaking as a voice from the North American continent, supported the British proposal for the hastening of a general disarmament conference in a vigorous speech before the League of Nations disarmament committee today.

The peoples of the United States and Canada, Sir George said, have revolved from the old idea of control by bureaucrats and dictators and insist that human life is of more importance than technicalities which stand in the way of limitation and disarmament.

A great change of sentiment has taken place in recent months among the 12,000,000 people in the United States regarding war and armaments, asserted Sir George.

"Are we giving sufficient attention to the sentiment of the people of that great nation which has almost infinite resources?" the Canadian asked the committee, adding that in Canada 10,000,000 people have revolved from the idea that human beings can be used as pawns in settling international disputes.

Sir George pleaded that technical difficulties not be allowed to delay a movement for a general agreement of limitations and reductions. He expressed belief that he reflected the sentiments of between 150,000,000 and 160,000,000 people representing "the not most backward folk on the globe."

Brokers' Messenger Disappears With Valuable Securities

New York, Sept. 20. (AP)—E. V. Hiscoe and company, brokers, notified police today that one of their messengers had disappeared with securities valued at $512,000.

Police said the messenger, Milton Alter, was sent to the bank with a check for $400,000 to get the securities. He was to wait for other clerks to escort him back to the office.

When his escort arrived, Alter already had obtained the securities, police said, and disappeared. No trace of him had been found two hours later.

MERCHANTS TO GIVE BANQUET ON SEPT. 26TH

Quarterly Meeting of Association Will Be Featured by Important Discussions

The quarterly meeting and banquet of the membership of the Greenville Merchants Association will be held next Thursday evening at the Rotary home at 6:30 o'clock, according to information given out today from the office of the secretary of the organization.

An interesting program has been provided for the occasion. It was stated, and plans are under way to make it one of the most important gatherings of the merchants in years.

Some of the principal topics to come up for consideration during the evening will be the "thirty day pay plan." Various members of the association have been assigned interesting subjects dealing with various topics of present moment and several musical numbers will be rendered.

One of the big problems to receive attention of the merchants will be that of the credit situation. This subject is of more than general interest to the business man at this time in view of the fact that "Pay Up Period" will be staged under the auspices of the association beginning October 1 and continuing until December 1.

This will be the most important meeting of the association in some time owing to the fact that matters of vital importance to the mercantile and professional life of the city will be discussed from every angle. Every member of the association is urged to attend the meeting and get himself in line for the program of activity during the next several months.

Cop Sentenced to Life in Jail At Columbia

Columbia, S. C. (AP)—Harold Mims, former Columbia policeman, who last night was found guilty of murdering W. B. Benson last May, today was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge S. W. G. Shipp in Richland county court of general sessions.

Defense lawyers gave no indication of filing an appeal. They have ten days in which to do so, however. This morning they urged a motion for a new trial but this was denied them.

Eight Persons Injured in Riot At Manila Today

Manila, Sept. 20. (AP)—Eight persons, including two American and one Filipino customs inspectors and five Chinese were injured in a riot that began here today when members of the Chinese crew of the British steamer Tascas tried to fight their way ashore.

Swarming over the side of the vessel, the Chinese attacked the customs inspectors with knives and clubs. The riot was quelled when two companies of military police and civilian police reserves were called into action. None of the eight persons was seriously injured.

HOOVER PLAYS LONE HAND IN NAVAL ISSUE

Chief Executive, However, Continues Negotiations Under Eye of Senate

Washington, Sept. 20. (AP)—Virtually playing a lone hand in his naval limitations negotiations with Great Britain so far, President Hoover nevertheless is under the eye of a watchful, if silent, senate, the court of last review on the contemplated treaty for armaments restriction.

Privately, and apparently sincerely, all factions in the senate profess a desire for success in naval limitations effort, and for this reason the members explain they are refraining from discussion at this time.

Mr. Hoover, however, will have to deal with some varying views in the senate on the subject, and whether he will follow the policy of President Harding in the 1921 naval conference and have the chamber represented on the American delegation in the negotiations is unknown.

While he consulted several times with Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee, on the subject of naval limitations in the early stages of the discussions with Premier MacDonald, the President apparently has conferred with none of the senate in the most recent developments.

Senator Borah an opponent of the 15-cruiser bill enacted at the last session, made it clear to Mr. Hoover that he was interested in a naval conference if some actual reductions were to be sought in the number of ships of Great Britain and the United States. The inference drawn from the Johns senator's position was that if limitation was to be accomplished without reduction in the present size of the British and American navies, he was not particularly concerned about the forthcoming conference.

Presenting a somewhat different view, the strong navy group in the senate, apparently has a considerable number of votes. Headed by Chairman Hale of the naval committee, and Senator Swanson of Virginia, the ranking Democrat, this force will be insistent that any agreement reached with Great Britain provided strictly for an equality of the two navies.

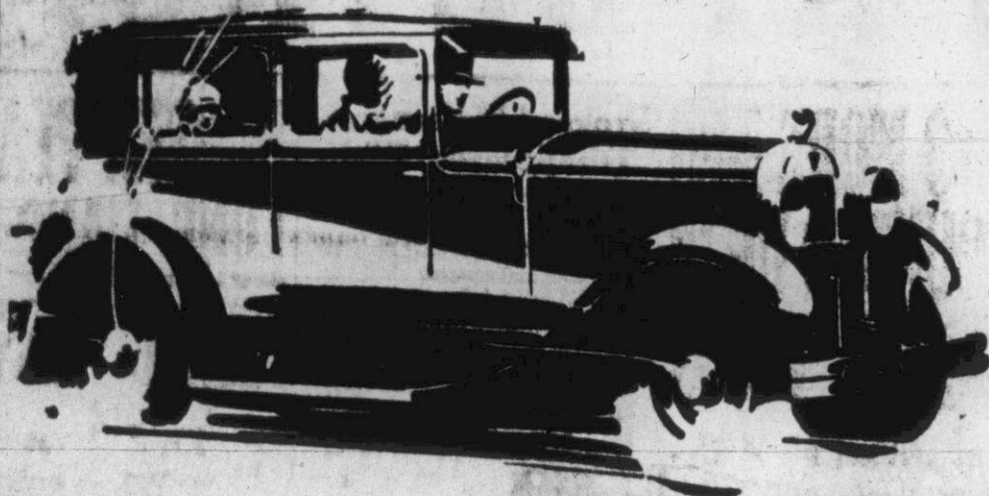

Without talking for publication, some of this group are frowning on the program discussed in London which would restrict the American eight-inch cruisers to 10. This problem is about the last point of difference so far between Mr. MacDonald and the president, and indications are that it may go over to the forthcoming conference for decision.

Should Mr. Hoover decide upon senate representation on the American delegation, he would undoubtedly turn to Borah, who would have charge of a treaty in the senate, and either Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader and a member of the foreign relations committee, or Senator Swanson of Virginia, the ranking Democrat member.

All three of the senators known as independent thinkers and workers, Borah, on the one hand, is not concerned primarily over parity with Great Britain. He wants Great Britain to sink some of her ships, if parity is necessary, and he wants smaller navies. Both Robinson and Swanson are strong defense advocates and among those who would insist upon a well understood basis providing for naval equality between England and America.

Greenville Scouts Hold Joint Meeting

Last night at the Methodist church, the Greenville Scouts held their initial joint meeting. The first part of the evening was devoted to outside drilling. The Scouts under the personal direction of Scoutmaster Totten, were given the different squad movements. Each of the boys was enthusiastic and interested in this parade work.

After the Scouts had received plenty of pure wholesome outdoor air, they were marched into the church where Dr. J. M. Barrett gave a very interesting talk on first aid. Since first aid is one of the many important principles of Scouting, all the boys enjoyed this talk and bandage demonstration which Dr. Barrett plainly and forcibly delivered.

All of the Scouts are now working on their different tests and much progress is now being made in Scoutcraft.

"A Smart Place to Shop"

The Lost Waistline

Is Found Again!

Changing fashion adds flounces and wide skirts... and demands that waistlines move higher to follow the natural lines of the body.

Paris has designated higher waistlines as the distinct innovation for Fall, 1929... and our collection of new frocks show this practical development in satin, silk crepe, crepe satin, velvet and feather-weight tweeds, coverts and woollens.

HOW DOES THE NEW SILHOUETTE AFFECT SPORTS APPAREL?

It is an occasion for tactful compromise. Paris has decreed a higher waist line and longer skirts. But, while afternoon and evening dresses may follow long, clinging lines, the active American woman will still wear sports apparel that affords free movement.

Our new sports things are slightly longer and a bit higher-waisted, in deference to the mode, but they preserve the crisp, youthful trimness that you like so much.

Frocks, one-two-and three-piece... coats, the newest tricks in head-size hats... hosiery... everything new and fresh and glamorous for the new season has been gathered here for fall and winter.

We hope to have the pleasure of showing you.

HOW'S YOUR CREDIT?

The local Merchants Association is advertising a Pay-Up Week for the near future in this city, and the matter is one that every person should give some careful consideration. According to reports from the association office, more than ever before, local business houses are asking credit information on shoppers, and the credit situation is coming in for a great share of discussion before each meeting of the business men.

There are, according to the association, hundreds of people in our community who are abusing their credit and in the near future will find themselves unable to buy except for cash, unless they take some steps to settle accounts, many of them long past due. Good credit is well worthwhile, and the people of our community would do well to heed this call from the business houses for settlement.

HIGHER TOBACCO PRICES OR CHEAPER CIGARETTES

Declaring that either the farmer should get a higher price for his tobacco or the price of cigarettes should drop, in keeping with the reduced cost to the manufacturers of the raw materials, Editor Carl Goerch, of the Washington Progress, has the following to say:

"Low prices are being paid for cigarette tobacco. Extremely low prices.

"Farmers claim that the money they are receiving for this year's crop will not pay the cost of production. The tobacco-buying companies, on the other hand, claim that there is such a large supply of tobacco on hand that they cannot afford to pay any more than they have been paying since the markets opened.

"Tobacco is selling very low. The logical effect of this should be a decrease in the selling price of cigarettes. If tobacco sells at a high figure, one naturally expects the price of the finished product to be high. But if tobacco sells at a ridiculously low price, shouldn't one also expect the price of the finished product to be ridiculously low?"

"Certainly! That's very good logic, any way you might wish to look at it. And so, knowing that the tobacco-buying companies and manufacturers are public spirited citizens, always ready and willing to do the right thing, we are going to live in daily expectation of reading advertisements announcing that the retail price of cigarettes has been cut twenty or twenty-five per cent.

"In case we should happen to overlook any such announcement, we wish our readers would let us know when they come across it."

ABOUT TOWN

"Pay Up Period is drawing near all the time," said a member of the Greenville Merchants Association today, "and the public should be making arrangements to settle as many accounts as possible while this event is in progress."

"The big event will open on the first of October and continue until the 15th of the month. This should be long enough for everybody to have the opportunity of settling up long standing accounts and it is to be hoped they do just that."

"The Merchants Association will compile a complete list of credit customers after the pay up event is over, and the man with a clear rating will be able to obtain credit with any of the responsible firms during the coming year. But the man that fails to pay up as he should will find it difficult to buy anything on a credit."

"Protect your credit by settling as many accounts as you can while Pay Up Period is in progress."

"The sale of pure-bred Jersey bulls to be held in the county the latter part of the month should be of interest to virtually all farmers," declared a business man today. "In that it holds forth the opportunity to begin the raising of pure-bred stock in this section."

"What this country needs more than anything else at this time is more cows, and the only way to get the pure bred kind is through the plan suggested in the bull sale."

"If you have any extra money on hand, Mr. Farmer, you could not invest more wisely than in the purchase of a bull. It should net you rich returns in the future and enable you to take your place among the front ranks of the independent growers of the territory."

"Think over the matter and the day of the sale go out, and buy at least one of the bulls."

"We have decided to open the curb market at 8:45 every morning instead of 8 o'clock as customary," said a member of the Board of Control today.

"This plan has been adopted in order to give mothers who have to carry their children to school a chance of going to the market and buying of the various farm products while there are plenty of them and before they have been picked over."

"This plan will be followed through the months school is in session and it is hoped the mothers will keep the change of the hour in mind so that they need not rush about their buying."

"The curb market is growing by leaps and bounds with additional farmers bringing their products here for sale, and in the course of a few months it is hoped virtually all housewives will be purchasing their needs from this source of supply."

"It is gratifying to note that the price situation is improving on the Greenville tobacco market," observed a well-known citizen today.

"The farmers need every cent they can get from the sale of their tobacco, and the stronger the market gets the better everybody is going to like it."

"Prices have been considerably below the same period last year, and the volume of sales has been much less, but with the advent of cool weather, it is hoped the situation is going to undergo an improvement that will carry joy to the heart of everybody."

"The Window Trimming contest conducted here Tuesday night under auspices of the Merchants Association showed that the stores have decorators of considerable ability," asserted a business man today who took an active part in promoting the contest.

"It takes skill to decorate windows just like it does for anything else and merchants hereafter should see to it that their decorators put forth their best efforts in producing creations that will prove attractive to the hundreds of people thronging the business district from day to day."

"More attention should be given to this business of window dressing now that the city has taken its place with the thriving young cities of the country, and the sooner this is realized the sooner we are going to see all the stores enlarge in keeping with the rapid development of the city."

Farmers Sell Your TOBACCO IN GREENVILLE

Greenville Tobacco Market averaged $14.64 Monday, which is the highest average we have seen on record for this season.

Prices stronger today.

We are selling tobacco daily from practically every county in Eastern Carolina and the farmers say it is paying them to sell in Greenville, even though some of them travel at least 125 miles.

Those in position to absolutely know, say we are highest market and have keener buying competition than any market in the East.

Since Last Season—

Three of the warehouses have made large additions, which gives the market increased floor space of about two acres. Some of the factories have made enlargements to their buildings, installing additional redrying facilities and other equipment. The Greenville tobacco market is decidedly in better position to handle, daily, larger quantities of tobacco than ever before.

Tobacco Warehouses—

Greenville tobacco market has nine (9) large and modern brick warehouses with close to 14 acres floor space, sufficient to accommodate 2,225,000 lbs. of tobacco daily. These warehouses are managed by men of years of experience.

Buyers and Factories—

Greenville tobacco market has four (4) sets of buyers, representing all the important companies in the world, using bright tobacco. Nine (9) larger and modern tobacco factories are located here, additions having been made to several of them since last season, while one new plant has been built.

Roads and Locations—

Greenville tobacco market is located in the heart of Eastern North Carolina. Seven fine hard surfaced roads lead into Greenville. Tobacco growers living 125 miles from Greenville tobacco market sell their tobacco in Greenville and return home same day.

GATORS SAID TO BE STRONG AS ALWAYS

Gainesville, Fla., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The 1929 model of the Florida Gators will be just as strong as the high-powdered machine which ran wild through Dixie last year, but whether it will make as much noise as the 1928 edition is something else again.

Coach Charlie Bachman can trot out the same ruffy backs and the same powerful line that kept his first Florida team in the headlines. The difference is that this year the Gators will be hurled against the elite of the football world, whereas last season they cut most of their capers against teams rated considerably lower in the gridiron blue book.

Bachman would have to be a confirmed optimist to expect his steam roller to function as smoothly against Washington and Lee and some of the other teams on the 1928 schedule.

This much is certain—Bachman is not going to show his hand until the game with Georgia Tech in Atlanta October 18. This is the high spot of the Florida schedule, and as the clash may have a lot to do with deciding the conference championship, the real strength of the team will be kept under cover until then.

Oregon and Harvard both loom large on the schedule, but Tech is the team Florida is gunning for. Bachman is teaching his men a lot of Brand new tricks for this game and, won or lose, the Gators are promising a show worth the money when they face the national champions.

Bachman is proud of his line, which will average 190 pounds or better, but his backfield is his pride and joy. Not even the loss of the mighty Brumbaugh, one of the axes of last year's "Phantom Four", has noticeably weakened the team, and that's saying a lot, as other conference coaches will agree.

The versatile Grabtree, a triple threat, is back again, more versatile than ever. Dorksett, a strap-ping 200 pound Sophomore, has Brumbaugh's old job sewed up and may turn out to be the surprise package of the conference, coaches think.

Goodbread and Cawthon, the other 1928 regulars, are having to hustle to keep from being displaced by Bethen and Sauls, two capable juniors who are tired of sitting on the bench.

The line is big and strong and aggressive, even without "Dutch" Stanley, last year's right end. Bachman can name his successor from among half a dozen letter men, but there are no Stanley's in the bunch. Other vacant line posts can be filled by thoroughly experienced reserves.

Last year the Gators broke loose with the gun and stayed loose, piling up a total of 336 points before Tennessee stopped them in the last game of the season. This was enough to win them the national scoring championship with room to spare.

"We'll not break any scoring records this season", coach Bachman says. "We'll be better than last year for we'll have more power and an added year of experience, but our schedule is too tough to roll up points as we did last season."

In addition to Harvard and Oregon, the Florida schedule lists six conference games. They are with Clemson, V. M. I., Auburn, Georgia Tech, South Carolina and Washington and Lee.

Cubs Still Out for More Honor

Chicago, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Cubs are in, but several desires remain to be satisfied before the closing of the national league season. Apparently on the way out of the slump that caused them to drop three games in a row just when they wanted most to win, Joe McCarthy's club is aiming at an even 100 victories for the season. To accomplish the job, Chicago must win six out of its remaining nine contests.

Rogers Hornsby and Hack Wilson have refused to take a few days of rest, hoping to win individual titles. Hornsby figures he still has a chance to win his seventh national league batting championship, and is certain he has a chance of winning the home run title, although he is two homers behind Wilson. Ott and Huck Klein, who are tied at 39.

Wilson is gunning for the home run championship and says he will keep playing until the matter is settled. Pat Malone's six-hit shutout of the Giants yesterday created more enthusiasm than the clinching of the flag Wednesday, and served to dispel some of the feeling that the Cubs were cracking.

There was no letting up of activity in the club offices where the task of filling ticket applications is nearly finished. The grab bag has not been closed, but less than 15,000 tickets remained for disposal today.

MICKEY WALKER WILL FIGHT ACE HUDKINS

Los Angeles, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Mickey Walker, middleweight boxing champion, was to be presented today with a contract to fight Ace Hudkins, Nebraska wildcat, at Wrigley Field on October 22.

Hudkins signed the contract yesterday but unless Walker signs within two days the Wildcat's signature will not be binding.

Olympic Auditorium officials and Ancil Hoffman, of San Francisco, are promoting the scrap. Hoffman holds an option on Walker's appearance.

Human Cannon Ball Injured in Act at Springfield Fair

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Heinrich Ackenhausen, who was substituting for Captain Wilno, the human cannon ball, was in a serious condition at Springfield hospital today as the result of an accident which turned a thriller act into a ghastly spectacle.

Thousands of spectators were in the stands at the Eastern States Exposition yesterday to see Ackenhausen shot from a cannon and land in a net.

There was a roar and puff of smoke as the powder charge was exploded, but the human projectile failed to appear. A moment later the performer, his face bleeding and torn, was seen to emerge from the muzzle of the gun. He hung for a moment then dropped from the elevated mouth of the cannon to the ground.

The act had been part of the daily program at the exposition this week.

The Roosevelt

A CAR FOR ALL MARMON-BUILT

Still on the Crest

Roosevelt Five-Passenger Sedan—the world's first straight-eight under $1000

NEWS of the new models is here. Many new values are claimed. The Roosevelt, with a great six months behind it, is still on the crest, without a rival in sight.

It, alone, offers eight-cylinders smoothness and performance at the regular six-cylinder price.

Powerful adjectives don't make a car perform better, but real advanced eight-cylinder engineering does. Until someone betters the Roosevelt it will remain the newest and most advanced automobile at anywhere near the $1000 price.

A Marmon-built Straight-Eight for Every Purse—Roosevelt, $995; Marmon 68, $1465; Marmon 78, $1965. Prices at factory. Group equipment extra. Convenient income-purchase plan.

RUBE WALBERG PUTS ONE OVER THE BENGALS

Whatever trepidation the strange antics of the Messrs. Grove, Bush, Carlson and others may have incited in the breast of Connie Mac and Joe McCarthy through the last weeks, these forthcoming world's series rivals could pick no flaws in the work of Rube Walberg and Pat Malone yesterday.

With a team of rookies at his back, Walberg whipped his fast one through the bright autumn air at Shibe park with such effectiveness that the hard-swinging bengals from Detroit were able to get only four safe blows. It hardly was a day for a speed ball as the game would not even have been close if Walberg had not given nine free passes. He won by 5 to 4.

Arthur Herring, who made such a fine start against Boston a few days ago in his major league debut, had a rough afternoon against the second-string A's, but escaped just in time to leave the defeat in Owen Carroll's lap. The Tigers tied the score with a run in the eighth, but the Macks untied it again with a marker in the hom heap of the same round while Mr. Carroll was in charge of the mound.

Since the cubs no longer need to win, they broke a losing streak yesterday behind the six-hit pitching of Pat Malone, who defeated the Giants by 5 to 0. Larry Barton was brooded for all of the Chicago runs in the first two innings before Jack Scott was called to the rescue. Scott allowed no hits in four and a fraction, but gave way to a pinch batsman and Ralph Judd finished without incident.

Boston continued its fast work in Pittsburg, defeating the Pirates by 6 to 3 in the third game of the series. Harry Siebold, the venerable recruit, got credit for the victory, but Johnny Cooney finished the game for him after a pinch batsman appeared for Siebold in the midst of the winning rally of the Braves in the seventh. The Bostonese now are one up in the three games. Burleigh Grimes was the defeated pitcher yesterday.

Ralph Kolp splashed the Phillies with a 5 to 0 coat of whitewash at Cincinnati, giving the Reds two straight and a tie for six place. The Reds have two more games against the Phils and must win both to pass Brad Shotton's team. Brooklyn and the Cards were idle.

Along the American league front, the most interesting secondary development, was Washington's further success in entrenching its forces in fifth place. The Senators took a thriller from the Browns by 2 to 1 as Detroit lost to the Macks and at nightfall Walter Johnson held the top lace in the second division by two and one-half games.

Fewer than 500 fans turned out to see the White Sox blank the Yankees by 7 to 0.

Milton Gaston pitched the Red Sox to a 3 to 2 victory over Cleveland at the Fenway in a close battle with Willis Hudlin.

SUNDOWN STORIES

THE MAGIC
By MARY GRAHAM BONNER.

"I was sitting, or maybe you'd say standing," began the little black c'ock, "on the desk in the back hall—just where I had been all my life."

"The afternoon had been a glorious one. It had rained."

At first Peggy and John began to laugh. Then they remembered some of the wonderful things that had happened on rainy days—games in the top part of the garage, for instance.

"The children—it was long before your time—were playing blind man's buff and they played right in the back hall, jumping over the lower part of the banister to keep from being caught. I had such fun watching them that I couldn't bear to go ahead with the time."

"It was then I made my wish. And it was then the choice was given me."

"I didn't take me long to decide. 'I will be willing,' I said, 'to stand quite still at 7 o'clock all my life, if I may have the power to turn backwards or forwards to any other time I choose.'"

"Then the magic was put into my works. So you see I can take you back to any time you wish—for we're going to be friends and have adventures."

"Oh yes," both children agreed, "as they sat beside the clock on the wide prairie."

"The one who brought me magic was a grandfather clock. He was very, very old and he was kept and loved—even if he couldn't tell the time. Something the way it is with me."

"You see, his great grandfather and my great, great grandfather had been friends in their childhood. They had been made in the same shop, and he wanted to do something for the great, great grandson of his old friend."

"Wasn't that fine of him?" John exclaimed.

"So you see how it happened," the clock nodded. "But listen! Let's play blind man's buff right now and I'll turn 'round and 'round. And when you catch me I'll stop at just that time."

"Tomorrow—"Blind Man's Buff."

Notice.

Two strange white boys, about the age of 12 or 15, came to my shop Wednesday while it was raining, about 1 o'clock, claiming they wanted to buy two second-hand bicycles; and about 2:30 o'clock I let them try the bicycles out and they have not been seen since. Descriptions of bicycles—one Cadillac, repainted dark red, new chain tire on rear wheel; new pedals; new Departure brake. One single frame painted black; black tread ironside tire on front wheel. Muesel brake. Skittletherpe Bicycle Repair Shop 20-2t.

Death Treasure

By R. A. J. WALLING

SYNOPSIS: Fugitives and pursuer become partners to solve the mystery of Roger Pell's death. Laxton does not arrest Grenofen and Somerfield in Bruges, but enlists their aid and they agree to deliver the contents of the black bag. Laxton is amazed by the discovery which Somerfield has made—that the bullet which killed Pell was intended for Parson Marling. But amazement turns to consternation when Grenofen tells of Marling's vicious story to the effect that Pell was an ex-convict, the parson's double dealing with Laxton by warning Grenofen of his impending arrest, and finally Marling's alarm when Pell threatened to produce a ghost, just a few minutes before Pell's death. The enigma of Blackwater resolves itself into a triangle—Pell—Marling—Fotherbury—a puzzle that the story of Pell's past alone can unlock.

Chapter 35

BANKNOTE DIPLOMACY
The express next morning landed Somerfield and myself in Brussels. We took rooms at the Hotel Terminus, as we had agreed with Laxton. Having lunched in the hotel restaurant, we went out on to the Place Rogier, and sat to take our coffee in front of a cafe bar overlooking the entrance to the station.

We had just begun to lay our plan of inquiry when we plunged into the middle of it. I was looking at the crowd pouring out of the station when I saw a woman hurrying to the narrow street by the side of the hotel. She was in sight only a few seconds, but I recognized Miss Vandenessen.

We dashed after her. She turned to the right around the hotel walkway, and made for the dome of the church of St. Marie. Her pace did not relax and she never turned her head; she had the air of being on an urgent mission.

We followed by a tortuous way, until she stopped at one hall house and rang. Somerfield and I entered into a doorway till she was admitted. Then we walked to the end of the street to look at the plaque on the corner. It was the Rue Rogier—the eastern section of it. No doubt the house Miss Vandenessen had entered was No. 39 bis.

a journey from Bruges to Brussels merely to warn No. 39 bis that two impertinent young men might be making inquiries and were to be told never.

However, here was a plausible excuse for calling. We could now ask for Miss Vandenessen. And when we rang at the iron-grilled door of No. 39 bis, that was what we did.

The concierge who opened was a little man with greenish-gray eyes and a rather obsequious manner. "We called," I said, "in the hope that we might catch Miss Vandenessen of Bruges."

The concierge said he was desolated, but Miss Vandenessen had called and departed already. Somerfield brought his diplomacy into action. He took out his pocketbook and began to handle the notes therein. His greenish-gray eyes followed the movements of his fingers with bright interest.

"Miss Vandenessen came to call on madame," Somerfield began. "Yes, monsieur, she called half an hour ago."

"What a pity we missed her!" exclaimed Somerfield. He turned to me. "Now we shall have to go to Bruges."

At this point we heard footsteps on the stairs to the right of the concierge, and a voice calling: "Joseph!"

A lady came to the bottom of the stairs.

"Joseph—who are these gentlemen and what do they want?" "They called expecting to find Mademoiselle Vandenessen."

"Tell them mademoiselle is not here."

This third-person treatment was amusing. The lady was within two yards of us, but pretended we were not there.

Somerfield flicked the notes in his wallet, and looking Joseph straight in his eyes said: "Ah, well, we shall have an hour to spare. Let's go and sit in the Botanical Gardens on that terrace in front of the grande serre, eh? Good-day."

We heard the lady's voice saying: "Shut the door, Joseph," and we were out in the Rue Rogier again. "No flies on madame," said Somerfield. "But I guess Joseph will fall for it. He has the bump of acquisition all right."

Somerfield's expectation was not disappointed. We walked along the front of the great glass houses to a terrace overlooking the park in the valley and sat on a bench. We should miss nobody who came on the terrace.

Within 10 minutes Joseph appeared, whiffing a cigarette as he strolled leisurely round the end of the grande serre.

He was, of course, immensely surprised to encounter us. He raised his hat very politely and passed along.

"Joseph!" Somerfield called. "Monsieur?" said Joseph halting. Somerfield made room between us on the bench and Joseph sat down, remarking that the day was very hot. Somerfield was suddenly seen to be playing idly with a pocketbook stuffed full of money. He did not delay his dive into the cross-examination of Joseph.

"You know Miss Vandenessen very well, Joseph?" said Somerfield. Joseph had that honor. Since long? Yes. Ever since the English captain's family lived in the Rue Rogier? Yes. They had lots of friends? No, only a few.

Madame Favaert, whom we had had the honor of seeing, was the owner of the house; she had an affection for Madame Seabroke. And Mademoiselle Vandenessen, an institutrice at the school in Bruges where Miss Seabroke was educated. Hardly anybody else.

No English people? Well, hardly any English people.

Somerfield slowly closed his pocketbook, having extracted one 50-franc note from it.

But there were some English people in the circle? Yes, one or two. The pocketbook opened again. Joseph had mentioned only ladies so far. Yes, that was true; but he did not know much about the gentlemen. What he saw was that one of the two had a love affair with Miss Vandenessen—oh, very serious, he assured you. And Miss Seabroke (a second note joined the first in Somerfield's hand) interested herself enormously in this affair.

As to the names of the gentlemen, Joseph could not recall them. But he could describe their owners. The lover of Miss Vandenessen was a tall, dark man. And his wooing—an impetuous man, this monsieur. But his friend, you could not have a cooler head—a veritable Englishman with his gray eyes that looked as if they saw behind your own, and his quiet manner of speaking.

I glanced at Somerfield. Here, indeed, we were on the track of Pell. Joseph described him exactly. But the other man—the lover of Miss Vandenessen?

Was it strange that Joseph did not know the names of these two messieurs? Joseph-eyed Somerfield's fingers as they extracted a third note from the wallet. No, it was not, because English names were hard to remember and he had seen those messieurs only three times, and he would not have kept them so clearly in his recollection as he did if in the last time had not been so extraordinary—and—yes, so painful.

When? About three years, perhaps more. A desperate affair—the English officer, monsieur the captain, who had come back from sea to live with madame and mademoiselle in the Rue Rogier, made a scene—and such a scene. He quarreled Miss Vandenessen's lover and he quarreled the lover's friend. Again Joseph's command of portraiture was wonderful. Seabroke lived before our eyes. The captain was of a fury.

The two messieurs never came to the Rue Rogier again, and in some months afterwards the captain and his family went away. Joseph had not seen Miss Vandenessen since until that morning, and as she still remained Miss Vandenessen it would seem that the affair of the heart had come to nothing—what?

That was all we could extract from Joseph. Perhaps it was worth the money. At any rate it had given us Fell at Brussels and an approximate date; Seabroke quarreling with Pell; Veronica with a passionate interest in a friend's love affair; a crisis in that affair. But nothing to connect with Blackwater and the tragedy at Newplace Abbey.

COTTON MARKET

New York, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of 4 points to an advance of 2 points, with demand becoming more active, and prices advancing right after the call. Bullish crop advices from the southwest and a private report estimating ginings to September 1st at 3,540,000 bales and claiming that the figures pointed a crop below the last government estimate, seemed to stimulate the demand.

Liverpool, which had eased off just before the local opening, steadied up again after trading here started, and the local market was about 11 to 15 points net higher with December selling at 18.90 by the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables reported continued buying and trade selling supplied by realizing in the market there and said there had been fair sales of cotton cloths to Egypt and the near east.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Faced by the renewed enlargement of domestic wheat arrivals at primary centers, wheat prices today went decidedly lower, especially in the late dealings. Talk was current that receipts were amounting daily to at least 20 cars more at various large terminals than could be readily absorbed. Steps are being taken to curtail receipts, but pending progress in that direction, the wheat market here finished at the day's bottom level.

Wheat closed heavy 1-1/4 to 1-1/2 under yesterday's close; corn 5-8 to 7-8 off; oats 3-8 to 3-4, down and provisions unchanged to a setback of 5c.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Price movements on the New York stock exchange lacked a definite trend today but major speculative operations were again on the up-side. Weakness in some of the recent industrial leaders tended to dampen bullish enthusiasm and while a score or more issues were pushed into new high ground, at least half a dozen, including Chrysler, sank to new low levels for the year.

Fears that the increase of $95,000,000 in brokers' loans last week in the face of declining stock prices indicated that stocks were passing from strong to weak hands naturally brought words of caution from several of the conservative commission houses, and tended to restrict the buying operations of small investors. On the other hand, Wall Street was pleased with the improvement in the weekly Federal Reserve statement showing a reduction in member bank borrowings and the volume of Federal Reserve credit in use.

Rumors of further bank mergers, stock split-ups and divided increases were widely circulated in the financial district. Erie, one of the first large railroads to report its August earnings, showed the operating income of $2,204,093 as compared with $1,891,753 in the same month last year. Industrial corporation reports also made favorable comparisons with last year.

Call money renewed at 2 per cent as against a high of 10 and a low of 7 yesterday, and there were indications that the rate would be maintained all day. Friday afternoon has become an uncertain factor in the money market because of the semi-weekly readjustment of reserves by the New York banks and the shipment of out-of-town funds here for employment over the week-end. Time money held firm at 9 per cent.

American Agricultural Chemical preferred Mexican Seaboard, Advance Rumely common, and Aviation Corporation sank to new low levels for the year. Columbian Carbon dropped 9 points and rallied 5. Westinghouse Electric sold down 6. Radio 4 1-2 and Allied Chemical and United Aircraft 4 each, but some recovery was made in the early afternoon trading.

Enters 169th Day With Hiccoughs

Milford, Mass., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Peter Gail, 46-year-old stone cutter, today entered the 169th day of an attack of hiccoughs. Since April 4, Gail, has been unable to work and has lost 80 pounds. He has been X-rayed and examined by specialists but so far no cure has been found.

Doctors have placed him in a small hut especially built so that he may have a maximum of fresh air. His physician, Dr. N. J. Capece, believes that stone dust in his lungs is the cause of the condition.

Plan Search for Two Planes Lost In the Northland

The Pas, Man., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Plans for an extensive search of the northland were under way today for two large cabin airplanes in which five men were due to arrive several days ago at Athabasca, in Northern Alberta.

Members of the party are Colonel D. C. H. McAlpine, president of the explorers company; A. Broadway, pilot-geologist; Alex Reading, geologist; and Capt. J. MacMillan and C. A. Thompson, pilots.
