GARDNER NOT ABLE TO TALK TO COMMUNIST

Governor Tells A. P. He Does Not Know How to Talk to Such An Element

Raleigh, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Governor O. Max Gardner, in a statement issued today in reply to inquiry from the Associated Press if he expected to confer with communist leaders now in the state along the same lines that he conferred with textile executives Saturday, said that he "did not know how to confer with such a group, who themselves do not speak the language of law and order and their whole doctrine is fundamentally destructive and alien to North Carolina."

There had been some rumor over the state that the governor would convene his conference of Saturday in a similar meeting with leaders of the communist party, International Labor Defense, and National Textile Workers union.

Yesterday the governor talked at length with Arthur M. Dixon, president of the American Cotton Manufacturers Association; Stuart Cramer, a former president of that body; and J. H. Separk, president of the North Carolina Textile Manufacturers Association and the Gaston County Textile Association. All of the men are prominent Gaston county textile mill operators. After the conference the governor only announced that the party had discussed the situation in general.

"This morning in his statement, however, he added that meeting was most constructive and helpful. The textile representatives were in complete sympathy with my views that the supreme duty of the state is to prevent lawlessness, and they assured me of their full cooperation in every effort directed towards this end."

In his statement referring to a conference with the communists, the governor said, "There is no one entitled to the full and impartial protection of the law in the peaceful exercise of their rights, nevertheless do not themselves speak the language of law and order and their whole doctrine is fundamentally destructive and alien to North Carolina. If they believed in our form of constitutional government and institutions I could and would talk to them, but their whole teaching is against the American form of government and our most cherished institutions. I do not know how to confer with such a group."

Tobacco Markets of the Old Belt Get Under Way

(By the Associated Press.)
With prices varying from 13.50 to 18 cents, markets in the old North Carolina bright belt opened today. Floors were jammed.

At the Fuquay-Varina market in Wake county, 150,000 pounds of 200,000 pounds offered had been sold at noon. Average price was 18 cents.

At Henderson, some 250,000 pounds was on the floors, with an average price of 13.50 cents for the first hour, far more than farmers had expected.

Seven Durham warehouses reported three-quarters of a million pounds on floors, with two sets of buyers striving in vain to clear them. A half million pounds is expected to be sold today. About 800,000 pounds was offered at Oxford warehouses, with prices at mid-day averaging 15.50 cents.

Huntington, W. Va.—Jerome P. Leary, postmaster, apparently believes in cremation, at least for dead letters. Inspectors found he had burned some 400 pieces of undelivered mail.

Henderson, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The Henderson tobacco market opened today for the 1929 season with a break in excess of last year's opening sale, despite the drizzle in progress for the past two days.

A tabulation of the first hour's sale in one of the warehouses showed 14,870 pounds that sold for $2,027.50, at an average of $13.50 for hundred pounds, almost equal to the average for the opening day of last year. Estimates made the offering to be placed on the floors today at 240,000 pounds.

Opening prices were far above those expected by farmers due to somewhat lower prices at other markets than last year.

Raleigh, Sept. 24.—(AP)—With about 200,000 pounds of tobacco placed on the floors of the Fuquay-Varina market in Wake county, which opened today, about 150,000 pounds was estimated to have been sold at noon. An unofficial check at the time indicated that the tobacco had brought an average of about 18 cents a pound for what had been sold.

Succeeds Jadwin

Brig. Gen. Lytle Brown has been selected by President Hoover to be chief of army engineers succeeding Lieut. Gen. Edgar Jadwin.

Over Hundred Die In Elections In Mexican Cities

—Despatches to La Prensa from Mexico City, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Despatches to La Prensa from Jalapa, capital of the state of Vera Cruz, today reported that 130 persons had been killed and several hundred wounded in fighting connected with municipal elections throughout the state on Sunday. The nephew of Ortiz Rubio, presidential candidate, was said to have died in a riot in Vera Cruz City.

Russian Airplane Still Held at Attu

Seattle, Sept. 24.—(AP)—With rain and wind at Dutch Harbor on Unalaska Island in the Aleutians, the Russian monoplane "Land of the Soviets" apparently was still land-bound at Attu today, 52 miles away. The plane was to have been shipped off for Dutch Harbor yesterday on its 12,000-mile journey from Moscow to New York.

Coast guard cutters were at Dutch Harbor, ready to aid the plane in its flight down the west coast of North America.

Radio stations at Everett, Seattle and Bremerton had failed to receive any advices from the plane.

A low pressure area over the Bearing Sea, which started yesterday, was expected to force the four Soviet airmen to postpone leaving Attu until more favorable weather set in.

RICH ASHEVILLE MAN KILLED IN WRECK; BURIAL TOMORROW

Asheville, Sept. 24.—(AP)—A funeral service for Thomas Ray Byrd, one of the south's outstanding financiers, who died in an automobile crash near Statesville last night, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Asbury Memorial Methodist church on the Beavertown road.

DODGE BOAT WORKS TO BE MOVED FROM DETROIT TO NEWPORT

Detroit, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Plans to transfer the Horace E. Dodge Boat Works Inc. from Detroit to Newport News, Va., were announced today. A 100-acre tract of land has been purchased in the Virginia city as a site for the new plant, planned to be the largest pleasure boat factory in the world.

President of Shipbuilders Testifies He Did Not Know Shearer was Sent to Geneva

Washington, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation, today testified before a senate investigating committee that American shipbuilders first employed William B. Shearer in 1926 for work in connection with a merchant marine campaign.

This was brought out today as the committee continued its inquiry into the activities of American shipbuilders at the unsuccessful 1927 Geneva naval limitations conference at which Shearer represented three shipbuilding corporations as an "observer and reporter."

Ferguson said he knew nothing of Shearer's employment in 1926 although he had discussed the matter with him once.

It was about this time that shipping legislation was before congress and shortly thereafter the Jones-White Merchant Marine act was passed.

Ferguson, the first witness today, said that in 1926, a year after the Geneva parley broke up, the Newport News Corporation had given Shearer $2,000. He described this money as a "loan."

He said Shearer had represented himself as "broke," and three notes had been taken for this amount. Two notes were held by Frederick P. Palen, vice-president of the Newport News Corporation, for $500 each and one by himself for $1,000, Ferguson said.

In the fall of 1928, the witness said, Shearer had sought to represent the shipbuilders at Washington in behalf of legislation for the fifteen cruiser bill.

"I told him to stay away from me," Ferguson said.

"We live and learn, don't we?" Ferguson said.

"I told him to stay away from me," Ferguson said.

ATTEMPT TO CRUSH CIVIL WAR IN CHINA

Several Clashes Reported as Nationalists Try to Prevent Warfare

Shanghai, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Ching Kai Shek, president and commander in chief of the Chinese Nationalist government with other military leaders at Nanjing today continued strenuous efforts to suppress the threat of civil war in the Yangtze valley where clashes already have been reported.

China also is involved with new incidents with Japan and Russia in her north-eastern provinces. Japanese dispatches from Mukden described a serious conflict between Chinese police and Japanese railway guards of the South Manchurian railway 40 miles north of Mukden in which three Japanese guards were wounded. A battalion of Japanese rushed to the scene and they disarmed all policemen and arrested those responsible for the incident.

Soviet Russia threatens to adopt a policy of forceful action to settle the three-month dispute over administration of the Chinese Eastern railway. According to a Japanese newspaper which stated L. M. Karakhan, Soviet vice-commissioner who has been handling the Manchurian quarrel had declared that unless the present impasse was successfully negotiated within two months Russia would assume control of the strategic railway by force.

To the south in the heart of China, however, a more immediately serious situation may develop for although only yesterday Nanking authorities insistently denied reports of civil war, president Ching Kai Shek ordered a trusted division of troops into Nanking, while other troops, artillery and airplanes pressed on against the rebel general Chang Fah Kwei, commander of the redoubtable "Ironsides" of the 4th cantonese division.

Having refused to obey an order to move his command from Ichang into Shantung province, General Chang is reported to have crossed toward Kwangsi to join other disaffected nationalist government troops units.

Plan To Speed Up Trial Of Strikers Next Week; May Reduce The Charges

Charlotte, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Preparatory to the opening Monday of the murder trial of 16 textile mill strikers and strike leaders accused of slaying Gastonia Police Chief O. F. Adenolt, opposing counsel today indicated they were considering methods of procedure designed to speed the end of the litigation which has consumed nearly four months.

The nature of the legal courses taken under advisement by the attorneys was not made public and beyond the statement of Solicitor John G. Carpenter that he had "strong hopes of shortening the trial" coupled with similar remarks by defense lawyers, no other information could be obtained.

Speculation centered around the possibility of a reduction of the murder charges against some of the defendants to lesser offenses. The cut in preemptory challenges entailed by such a move would hasten the selection of a jury. Nine days were required to fill the jury box in a previous attempt to try the case.

The trial originally was set for hearing in Gastonia, but was moved to Charlotte on a change of venue. A mistrial was declared after a juror became insane after hearing evidence for three days.

Rewards for the apprehension and conviction of persons guilty of participating in the acts of violence accompanying the textile labor strike now aggregate more than $2,400. All have been offered by the American Civil Liberties Union with the exception of one of $400 announced by Governor Max Gardner in connection with the kidnapping and flogging of Cleo Tesenair, union organizer.

The other rewards include $1,000 for the slayer of Mrs. Ella May Wiggin, unionist, shot to death by a mob, and an indefinite number of rewards of $250 each for the arrest and conviction of accessories to the killing. The sum of $500 has been offered for information regarding the destruction of union headquarters at Gastonia and an additional $500 in the Tesenair case.

Governor Gardner said that he had offered a reward only in connection with the Tesenair incident because no arrests had been made while seven men face manslaughter charges arising from the shooting of Mrs. Wiggin. A coroner's inquest into her death is to be resumed at Gastonia tomorrow.

Roger Baldwin of the American Civil Liberties Union, conferred with attorneys yesterday regarding the filing of civil damages suits based on the labor disturbances. He said he would seek "to aid those who have been robbed of their rights."

A request by the International Labor Defense for the use of the Charlotte municipal auditorium for a "mass protest" Sunday against the Wiggin killing is to come before the city council tomorrow.

Stuart W. Cramer, widely known textile manufacturer, returned to Charlotte yesterday from a conference which he and two other mill operators held with Gov. Gardner on Saturday regarding the necessity of a special session of the state legislature to deal with problems growing out of the industrial situation.

The Charlotte Observer today quoted Mr. Cramer as saying, "The (the governor) urged everybody not to start any trouble regardless of what happens. He felt that retaliation would only make it worse and if any violence occurred it was bound to help the Communists. He felt that ignoring them from now on and refusing to be drawn into any rows would be the best solution and he appealed to us to urge that policy on all the mill men and among their friends. Of course, a great many things were talked about, but that was the only thing that came out as a definite result of the meeting."

Another stern warning was issued by the weather bureau today in the following advisory warning: "Advisory 10, a. m., in absence of vessel reports east of Bahamas this morning tropical disturbance apparently central about latitude 26 north, longitude 75 west, moving west or west-northward about 250 miles per day. This disturbance is increasing in intensity."

Alleged Killer in "Hex" Murder Commits Suicide

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Eugene Burgess, 53, who with his wife, Pearl, was charged with the "hex" murder of Mrs. Rita L. Fairchild, 33, hanged himself in his cell in the county jail early today. Both Burgess and his wife were scheduled to go on trial within the next two weeks.

The Burgess invited Mrs. Fairchild to their home last summer and then beat her to death. They feared the reputed power of the aged woman's "evil eye." Mrs. Fairchild, they said, was responsible for casting a "spell" over their daughter, Eugene.

Textile Workers Vote Against Striking At Elizabethton Plants

Elizabethton, Tenn., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Officials of the American Glanzstoff and American Bemberg textile mills here announced today that their day and night shifts had by an overwhelming majority voted against striking.

The vote at the Glanzstoff plant was 1,670 against striking and 128 for a strike. At the Bemberg plant 886 voted against striking and 69 voted to strike.

The vote was taken from the 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. and the 7 a. m. to 3 p. m. shifts this morning as one crowd left work and the other came on. Officials said the vote of the 2 p. m. to 11 p. m. shift would be taken this afternoon.

There are 300 of these in the Bemberg plant and 400 in the Glanzstoff.

This action came while union leaders prepared to place ballot boxes throughout the Elizabethton countryside in six districts for a vote upon a strike. The management then asked each employee to vote "strike" or "not strike" as the mill gates opened this morning. Counting of the ballots was under the direction of a workers' committee, the announcement said.

E. T. Willson, personal director of the American Bemberg and Glanzstoff corporations, addressed the morning and night shifts as they respectively came to, and departed from the plants.

In the first meeting for Glanzstoff employees, he called textile union charges of discrimination against leaders in last spring's strike "absolutely false." The union also had charged women workers were subjected to "petty persecution." Willson asked any of the approximately 800 workers present at the Glanzstoff meeting who upheld that contention to form a separate group. None moved. Balking then began.

Immediately after the Glanzstoff meeting, Willson went to the adjoining Bemberg plant and met workers there.

The workers were given perforated slips of paper marked on one side "Strike" and on the other side "Not Strike."

Willson instructed them not to mark their names or anything else upon the ballots. "We don't care how you vote and we don't want to know," he said. The day workers filed into their shops casting the ballots in closed boxes as they went. Those on the night shift voted as they left the shops.

Last night the textile union delayed a final vote, deciding to take ballots in each of six districts, union voting was set to begin today.

The shop committees elected by the workers supervised the balloting at the mills.

Fifty Cents Causes Family Lots Trouble

Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—There may be others who, like Mrs. Frances Gonzales, become exasperated occasionally with the family budget system.

Mrs. Gonzales was unable to account to her husband, David, for 50 cents of the $7 he gave her a week ago. She added, subtracted and let X equal this and Y that, but any way she computed she was four bits short.

Mr. Gonzales was indignant. He pointed out how at the end of 25 years a 50-cent a week shortage would amount to what-ever it would amount to, a lot of dough, anyway. Judge Joseph Burke spoke sharply to Mrs. Gonzales yesterday.

"You mean that if I don't be good I'll go to jail?" Gonzales inquired.

"Right," said Judge Burke. "It'll be good," said Gonzales.

Another stern warning was issued by the weather bureau today in the following advisory warning: "Advisory 10, a. m., in absence of vessel reports east of Bahamas this morning tropical disturbance apparently central about latitude 26 north, longitude 75 west, moving west or west-northward about 250 miles per day. This disturbance is increasing in intensity."

Japan, France and Italy May Get Greater Ratio At London Conference

Washington, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Any naval limitation agreement reached at the projected London conference of the five leading naval powers very probably will accord to Japan, France and Italy a greater ratio with respect to the United States and Great Britain in at least some of the categories of auxiliary craft than now exists with respect to capital ships and airplane carriers.

Whether this increase in ratio will apply to the largest type of cruisers authorized under the Washington arms treaty is a question for the conference to decide, but Japan is expected to ask for an increase in its ratio for all types of cruisers which would give it a strength in this category of 70 per cent of the

TAX REDUCING IS PLANNED AT NEW CONGRESS

Treasury to Recommend Substantial Cut, But What Form Not Determined

Washington, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Substantial reduction in taxes, favored by President Hoover, will be recommended to the regular sessions of congress next December by the treasury to become effective next March 15, but just what form the reduction will take has not been determined.

It was learned today at the treasury that the government financial condition in prospect for the coming year is regarded as warranting a slash in taxes, and with this in view experts will start work within a week to determine how much of a cut can be made and how it will be distributed.

The financial officials who have watched the government revenue this year, which at the close of business September 20 exceeded the collections for the first two and a half months of the last fiscal year by $118,936,480, pointed to continued prosperity and large income tax collections as the base upon which the tax reduction would be made.

Since July 1, the total government income has amounted to $221,237,506, while the income tax collections for the calendar year 1928 have totaled up to September 20, approximately $1,800,000,000, an increase over the same period of the previous year of approximately $271,000,000. In addition, the treasury expects to collect approximately $500,000,000 income tax when the December payments are made.

"Well continued business prosperity will keep on mounting and equal if not pass those of the last year. It has been the experience of the government that, each time taxes have been reduced, collections have been substantially increased through withdrawal of funds from tax-exempt securities and their investment in other lines."

While not predicting that the prospective tax cut to be proposed in December would be of the $300,000,000 variety, officials said it would be large, as general indications are that the government will end the fiscal year June 30 with a surplus of more than $200,000,000 as compared with $184,000,000 last year.

Income payments, which changed a predicted government deficit into a surplus last year, are counted on to continue high when the returns for this calendar year are received next March. Last year the income tax receipts amounted to $61,363,804. The June payments totaled $55,256,508 and the September payments up to September 20 have aggregated $491,238,627, with ten days yet to be reported.

More Violence In New Orleans Trolley Strike

New Orleans, Sept. 24.—A renewal of street car strike violence caused police to take added precautions today, while they simultaneously widened their campaign against "free ride" automobiles.

A South Claiborne Avenue street car was damaged badly last night by a charge of dynamite which was exploded beneath it. About two feet of track was torn up and a hole was blasted through the floor of the car. All the windows were shattered. However the car crew of two and three negro passengers were uninjured.

Pressing of the action against jitney operators followed the decision of the state supreme court late yesterday upholding the jurisdiction of the police in the matter.

Ferry Service Again Resumed Over Sound

Point Harbor, N. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Ferry service between this point and Kitty Hawk has been resumed on a basis of not more than three cars per trip, after having been stopped since Saturday night by low water in Currituck Sound caused by a northeaster.

Passengers had to be removed from the ferry Saturday night by the coast guard when the boat went aground. The water was so low the passengers could not be landed in the coast guard boat and a cart was driven out to remove them. Nine automobiles were on the ferry at the time.

Death of Woman to Be Probed by Washington Jury

Washington, Sept. 24.—(AP)—A District of Columbia grand jury today was to investigate the death of Mrs. Virginia MacPherson, who died of strangulation in her apartment here on September 13.

Policeman Robert J. Allen, who alleges the woman was murdered, will appear before the grand jury. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

A. A. Hurley of Chester, S. C., father of Mrs. MacPherson, said last night she had asked him to obtain police protection for her. He said his daughter complained of ill-treatment by her husband and was "afraid for her life." Police confirmed this statement that she had asked protection.

Miss Eleanor Sheppard of Washington, a nurse who was a friend of the dead woman, said Mrs. MacPherson had told her that her husband often struck her at a dance.

"My own is getting stronger and stronger every day," Allen said, while police reiterated their belief that the woman killed herself.

Governor Accused

Gov. Fiam D. Sampson of Kentucky is charged with receiving gifts from publishers of text books. He will go on trial in October.

LEGEE GIVES TESTIMONY IN PROBE TODAY

Chairman of Federal Farm Board Tells of Connection With Farming Industry

Washington, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Chairman Leggee of the Federal Farm Board today related his past connections with the farming industry and with the International Harvester Company before the senate agricultural committee, which began consideration of the nomination of board members who have been serving under recess appointments since the board was organized early in the summer.

This entire membership of the board was present at the committee session and file-in of the seventeen members of the committee were at hand. The two absentees, senators Norris, republican, Nebraska, and Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota, the former having notified Chairman McNary of his inability to be present and the latter being ill. In addition to the committee members Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, was present and was permitted to participate in the questioning of the board members.

In opening the hearing Chairman McNary explained that it was customary to call appointees for important offices to examine their qualifications.

Chairman Leggee then was called to testify, taking a seat at the end of a long table surrounded by the sixteen senators. In response to questioning by McNary, he said he had served as head of the International Harvester company and that prior to this work with that concern he had long been connected with agricultural pursuits, principally livestock. He said he held a small fraction of one per cent of stock in the harvester company.

He had said previously that the International had first become interested in newspaper financing when it purchased $250,000 in stock in the Chicago Daily News. He said the interest was taken to gain the good will of the Daily News and to help its newspaper business. He declined to say any effort to gain good will, other than from a standpoint of selling newsprint.

Attorney Hall next turned to the Federal Trade Commission's transcript of Graustein's testimony before that body on April 30. At that time Graustein testified that the International had acquired an interest in 13 newspapers over the country in order to bolster its newsprint business.

That four newspapers now involved in the litigation were named by him on that date.

POWER HEAD TESTIFIES IN PAPER CASE

President International Company Says They Are Not Connected With Morgan

Macon, Ga., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Under cross-examination in the Hall-Lavarre newspaper suit heard in federal court here today, A. R. Groussin, president of the International Paper and Power Company, said the International power group was not affiliated with the so-called Mellon or Morgan power groups.

Counsel for William Lavarre demanded to know all interests of any kind of the International group and Groussin, called to testify for Hall-Lavarre, said he could not give them off-hand. He supplemented his answer with the statement that the International Paper and Power, the New England Power Association and its affiliated firms were independent and not connected.

"The New England Power Association," he said, "does have a physical tie-in with the Mohawk Hudson Power Company in which I understand, from gossip, the United Gas Improvement has an interest."

"I also understand that both the so-called Mellon and Morgan groups are interested in United Gas Improvement, but as to interlocking directorates or other affiliations, we have none."

Handed a volume by Gifford Pinchot, entitled, "Power Monopoly," Groussin said he had never read it.

"Will you point out in the index of this book, where various companies are named, any companies, if there are any, with which your group is affiliated in any way?" Lavarre's counsel asked.

Groussin perused the index. "None," he replied. "I've scanned here in which we have an interest in any way and none of these people have any interest in our business, except as I have pointed out a physical tie-in with Mohawk."

"Now coming up to South Carolina," Attorney Hall of counsel for Lavarre said, "Has the Insull Power group any interest in your Santee River holdings?"

"No," Groussin replied.

"Asked if he knew whether the Duke interests had become affiliated with any of the large groups previously mentioned, Groussin said he did not know of any such affiliation and had heard no rumors of any. "Is there any?" he asked.

"I don't know," Attorney Hall replied. "I'm asking you."

Groussin next was questioned as to the time the International became interested in power and its relation to newspaper financing.

He declined to be specific.

"Isn't it true that your company took no interest in newspapers until after it had entered the water power field?" Attorney Hall asked.

"I should say yes," Groussin answered.

He had said previously that the International had first become interested in newspaper financing when it purchased $250,000 in stock in the Chicago Daily News. He said the interest was taken to gain the good will of the Daily News and to help its newspaper business. He declined to say any effort to gain good will, other than from a standpoint of selling newsprint.

WORLD TITLE AT STAKE IN BOUT FRIDAY NIGHT

Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The winner of the Tony Canzoneri-Eddie Mack bout at Chicago stadium Friday night, will earn a crack at one of two world's titles.

Promoter Paddy Harmon has a blanket contract with Sammy Mandell, ruler of the lightweights, for a title defense match and is seeking to sign Tod Morgan, junior, lightweight as possible opponent for the winner of the Canzoneri-Mack match. Both Canzoneri and Mack can fight at the lightweight limit, 135 pounds, and each is able to make 130 pounds, the junior lightweight poundage.

CHICAGO OMAN RESENTED BEING CALLED A "SHILL"

Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Charles Penikoff has a violent dislike for being called a "shill." No matter what it means, he doesn't like it.

It was three weeks ago, Penikoff said, that Samuel Kover called him a lot of names, but Penikoff waited until yesterday to complain to Judge Trude.

"He called me a thief, a rat, a crook and a shill," Penikoff said, "and I don't like that shill business. 'Why wait three weeks to complain?' the court inquired.

"It took that long to find out what a shill is."

"And what is it?" pursued the court.

It was explained that a "shill" is "someone who lured people into gambling dens and gets a profit on what they lose."

Judge Trude fined Kover $100 and told him to be careful what he called people.

MATTHEWS WIN $2,000 SUIT IN CIVIL COURT

Awarded Verdict Against Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co., Yesterday

Mrs. Maggie Zille Matthews and husband won a $2,000 verdict against the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company in the opening session of the civil term of Pitt county Superior court here yesterday. It was the only case disposed of during the day, and court started off with decks cleared for new business today.

The case is said to have been the outgrowth of failure of the insurance company to pay the full amount of a policy which the plaintiffs carried on the life of a deceased son, the company contending that they had allowed a premium to lapse.

The plaintiffs, on the other hand, contended that they had made payments on the policy as they came due and the jury returned a decision to this effect.

The calendar for this term contains over 30 cases of more than usual interest to various communities of the county and numbers of people will be attracted to the courtroom from day to day as the hearings continue. The session is being presided over by Judge Garland Midyette, of Jackson.

Compromise proceedings were ordered in the case of Lester Jones, former chief of police of Greenville, against S. T. Hooker, wealthy business man and landowner, when the case came up for hearing in the civil term of Pitt county Superior court today.

The nature of the compromise was not made known. The case originated several years ago and has been hanging fire in court since that time. Jones, is at present lieutenant of the State Highway Patrol, alleged that Mr. Hooker made slanderous statements about him while in the performance of his duty as a policeman and instituted court proceedings immediately afterwards.

It was stated that the compromise was effected outside of court and this fact was made known when the case came up for hearing today.

LOCOMOTIVE RUNS AWAY IN PENNSYLVANIA TOWN

St. Clair, Pa., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Wreckage littered a five-mile stretch of the Pennsylvania railroad between here and Pottsville junction today as a result of a wild dash down a steep grade last night of a runaway locomotive and 34 coal cars.

The train parted in three sections as it hurtled down the grade. Twenty-six of the cars were reduced into a mass of wreckage and a line of light and power poles were cut down, putting the town of St. Clair in darkness and causing a flooding of a coal mine by stopping the pumps. Orders given the runaway a clear track prevented a collision with other trains.

BAKERS PLAN TO PUT OUT NEW CRACKERS

Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Sweet cookies! What won't these bakers think up next?

The animal cracker is an established institution. Now, the American Bakers' Association proudly announces in convention here, comes the geometric and the geographic cracker, concocted for the education, education and (if one is not careful) indigestion of young America.

The geometric tidbits are in the shape of ellipses, hexagons, parallelograms, rhomboids and such like. Quod erat demonstrandum. The geographic cookies are in the outline of the outline of several states. A bright youngster can piece them together and make the entire United States, if he has the will power enough not to eat Texas.

Sharp Break On New York Stocks Reported Today

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The stock market broke badly in the last hour of trading today under a flood of selling orders in the high priced industrial and public utility stocks, many of which dropped $5 to $25 a share below the day's high levels.

The selling was influenced by fears that an increase in the Bank of England discount rate on Thursday would result in a withdrawal of foreign funds from New York, publication of a report that steel mill operations had fallen below the level of a year ago and the testimony of Alexander Legge, former head of the International Harvester Company, that the stock, of which he is a heavy holder, was selling too high.

SENATE ADOPTS TARIFF AMENDMENT

Washington, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The senate today adopted a committee amendment to the tariff bill to bar importation of goods manufactured abroad bearing American trade-marks.

The vote was 46 to 31. Party lines were split in the ballot.

The senate then adopted without a record vote another committee amendment to prohibit entry of foreign-made goods on which Americans won the patents.

Two Chicago Cops Accidentally Shot

Chicago, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Four suburban policemen, rushed to answer an alarm in North Riverside, met in the dim light of dawn today and failing to recognize each other, exchanged volleys with shotguns and revolvers.

Arthur Beltz, chief of police of North Riverside fell seriously but not mortally wounded. Firing as they crawled, the wounded pair made their way into the house from which the alarm had come and peered from a window to see their assailants.

"Who are you?" Chief Beltz called "Jisa and Cada," came the answer. The chief recognized them as Joseph Jisa, village trustee and volunteer policeman, and Stanley Cada, former policeman.

John Pederson, hearing a woman scream for help in the rear of his home, first called Chief Beltz and then, remembering Jisa and Cada lived nearby, summoned them. Beltz and Molkenstine arrived first, found nothing suspicious but as they emerged from the shadows met a burst of shotgun fire from the other pair. The two officers received heavy charges of buckshot in the face, shoulder and back. Physicians said they would recover.

SCHOOL CHILDREN ATTEND CLEVELAND FAIR

Shelby, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Tire-earning skies early today failed to keep thousands of school children from swarming through the gates for the opening of the sixth Cleveland county fair here today. All school children in the western counties of the two Carolinas are being admitted free today.

Early last night all the exhibit halls and booths were overflowing with a number of would-be entries failing to find space on the 36-acre tract.

Axe Killer Still Confined in Jail At Sanford Today

Sanford, N. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—James Spivey, 30, began his third day in the Lee county jail today formally charged with the axe-murder of his 20-year-old cousin, Betty Spivey, and denied bail under the findings of a coroner's jury. Held with him as a material witness was his close friend, William Morgan.

Miss Spivey's body with the head crushed was found near her home in the Tramway section of this county early Sunday, a short time after she and her cousin had left the girl's residence. Her sister testified at the inquest held by Coroner J. F. Foster that she had refused to accept Spivey's repeated proposal of marriage late Saturday night and had shown him a gift from another admirer.

Spivey, they said, returned to their home early Sunday and told the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Spivey, that he and Betty had been set upon by two men who killed her.

Physicians testified their examination of the body showed the girl had been attacked.

Funeral services for the young woman were conducted yesterday.

NEW STYLE GRID PLAY ON AT YALE

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 24.—Yale football has not followed the sensational trend of some of its sister institutions and will stick to the subdued blue of other years in its uniforms but the resemblance to the old days may end there. Certainly if the Elis' opponents do not force a recount, Yale this season will play a new brand of football.

A week's practice has first shocked and then enthused Yale supporters. The sight of blue backs spinning like tops on pivot plays, backs out just inside or outside the ends and the other modern developments of an ancient game seem strange on Yale fields. The coaches, however, believe the new style will yield more touchdowns than the old and most decidedly Yale is in the market for more and better touchdowns. The method is incidental.

Head coach Mal Stevens is still conservative even if his football has become radical. He refuses to suggest that a great season lies just ahead, but certainly he seems contented with the progress thus far made.

The four first string backs who are bearing the brunt of the intensive instruction accompanying the new formations seem to fit into the scheme of things. Able Booth, a freshman star of last year is a fragile piece of football bric-a-brac, but he can run with the ball and kick in any style if occasion demands. The other backs, Bob Wilson, Kemp Dunn and Herb Miller, are sturdy, Miller scaling well into the heavyweight class. Wilson occupies the quarterback position and Booth and Dunn are called halves, with Miller at full, although at practice Dunn seems to be about as much at fullback as at half.

Art Palmer, much rangier in build than Freddy Loser, has been installed at center, with Loser moving to guard to act as running mate for Captain Firpo Greene. Marting and Vincent, the baseball stars, will do a lot of playing at tackle. Hickok, boasting a great football name, and Walker, probably will star at the ends.

Yale is busy preparing for its first southern invasion, a visit to classic Athens to dedicate the new stadium of the University of Georgia, October 12. The Elis will take a big squad south, taking no chances of a shortage of reinforcements if the weather should prove enervating and the opposition exhausting.

The varsity squad, numbering a score and ten probably will include on this long trip a few extras from the reserves.

The material on the whole is encouraging to the coaches. The experiments now being conducted are among the most interesting in the football laboratory.

IN CONFERENCE THIS YEAR

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 23.—With sixteen lettermen back and a goodly number of reserves and sophomore prospects, the Tar Heels of the University of North Carolina hope to step out in a football way in the southern Conference this year.

The Tar Heels have a 10-game schedule, and eight of the games are with Conference opponents, namely, Georgia Tech, South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Georgia, N. C. State, and Virginia, and V. P. I.

The opening game is with Wake Forest college at Chapel Hill on Saturday, Sept. 28. This will give the fans their first opportunity to get a line on the new coaching system at Wake Forest and the new material at North Carolina.

The Wake Forest team is regarded as somewhat of a mystery outfit and, as a result, must be reckoned with in the heavyweight derby, regardless of the outcome of the 16-round elimination match this Thursday night between Jack Sharkey and Tommy Loughran at the Yankee stadium.

It was a great come-back for Scott, who was knocked out in one round at Madison Square garden in 1927 by Knute Hansen, floored for the long count by Paulino in Europe and close to being knocked out again in the first round by Campolo last evening.

The blond British giant had hardly had time to make a few preliminary gestures before he was doubled up and badly punished by a crushing succession of short rights to the body.

It took all of Scott's defensive instinct to survive that round, but from then on he gave a skillful exhibition of boxing skill and fine display of ring courage to outgeneral and outpoint his bigger, hard-hitting opponent.

SENATORS ARE PLAYING REAL BASEBALL NOW

For a large part of the current major league season, Washington provided one of the leading enigmas of the American league. Picked in the pre-season as a club to be feared and one which probably would finish well up in the standing, the senators put their backers to shame early in the year by starting badly and getting very little better as the season progressed.

At the traditional turning point of the season, July 4, the Senators had an average of .382. Ten days later, when they completed the first half of the season, they had won but 30 of the 77 games for a mark of .390.

Their upward climb did not start until the middle of August, too late to do much good. But since then they have been playing baseball of real championship calibre. They still are below the 500 mark but have a firm hold on fifth place and some hope of climbing higher.

Yesterday's victory over the Chicago White Sox set their record at 89 victories and 77 defeats for an average of .473.

It took two courageous rallies and a lot of steady slugging to pull out yesterday's game. The Senators got off to a one run lead, but Lloyd Brown weakened in the sixth inning and gave the Sox four runs. Washington rallied gamely to tie the count with three in the seventh and add a pair in the eighth, only to see another pitcher, Bob Burke, weaken and allow Chicago to tie in the ninth.

Then just as the few fans who turned out on a cold afternoon to see a game which had no bearing on the league race began to settle down for an extra inning contest, Cronin was hit by a pitched ball and Spencer forced him. Hayes sent him to third with a single and reached second as Spencer went out at the plate.

Judge took the finish into his own hands and slammed a double into deep center to bring in the winning run.

Only one other game was on yesterday's brief schedule. The St. Louis Cardinals opened their series at home against western opponents by battling out a 6 to 4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Chick Hafey decided the game in the eighth inning by driving out his 26 home run of the year with Bottomley on base. On the mound, Fred Frankhouse was more effective than Cincinnati's recruit, Ben Frey. The victory brought the Cards back to their usual place in the standing with a .560 average.

Betty Burns Says Her Daddy Proved Luck to Athletics

Philadelphia, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Should you care to know who really won the pennant for the Athletics, just inquire of a young sportswoman of this city. She will tell you it wasn't the tight pitching of Earnshaw, Grove or Walberg nor the big bats of Jimmy Fox and Al Simmons. Neither was the masterminding of Connie Mack nor the battling spirit of Mickey Cochrane.

The young woman's name is Betty Burns, 10-year-old, the eldest daughter of the veteran Major League George Burns, substitute first baseman who came to the Mackmen this year and she will tell you that just one person is responsible of the A's victory—her father.

"My daddy is the greatest ball player in the world," Betty says. "He was with the Yankees last season and they won. He's with the Athletics now and they've won. Wherever daddy goes the team wins. Mr. Connie Mack should know this. He should have brought daddy here before."

Betty knows her baseball but she doesn't know her statistics so well perhaps as Al Monroe Elias. Probably she couldn't give her father's batting average in 1918, nor could she recall that in 1926 he broke the record for two-base hits and was named the league's most valuable player. She does know, however, that he is somewhat of a "horse-shoe" to a ball club.

Betty's right there. Burns was with Cleveland when they won the pennant in 1920, and they haven't won any since. Toward the close of last season Cleveland wanted to send him to the minors, but the Yanks stepped in and bought him. And they won the pennant.

This year the Yankees were through with him and Connie Mack took him. And the A's won the flag. Pursuing the horseshoe angle further—Cleveland won the world series in 1920 and the Yankees in 1928.

PAT MALONE TO HURE FIRST IN WORLD SERIES

Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—A man who never loses his temper is endeavoring to teach first base art of temperance to one of the most temperamental pitching stars of baseball. Malone, who believes his team will be the new world's champion, is the manager of the Cubs in the series.

Manager Eddie McCarthy of the Cubs is the teacher. His pupil is Pat Malone, a fiery, husky Irishman who is invincible when calm and ineffective when angry.

There is no secret about McCarthy's world series plans for Malone. He wants him in the box for the first game and for another if he comes through. "Seemingly it all depends on Pat."

Temperance has been Malone's most destructive ailment since he came into baseball. Years ago he failed in a try out with the Giants and they dumped him to start off with the Cubs at the start of the 1928 season until he managed to forget about umpire's decisions and fans' razzing. This season, however, he has been successful, winning 22 games and losing nine.

Malone, who is 27, possesses probably the fastest ball in the major league hurling ranks, including Dazzy Vance of Brooklyn.

He mingles a good curve with his fast ball and has 154 strikeouts to his credit this year—38 more than the Dazzler. Repeatedly, he has had a game up on ice waiting for the frosting, however, only to become so disturbed over a decision that he loses control.

With the fall classic a fortnight away, Malone is the one big ray of sunshine in the Cubs' pitching staff. Except for Charlie Root, the others have been unsteady lately and McCarthy is not a little apprehensive about their condition.

Guy Bush has been batted out of the box on six successive occasions. Sheriff Blake still is in the no-control slump he has experienced most of the season. Hal Carlson, a slow ball pitcher who may cause the Athletics trouble, has a lame arm, while Artie Nehf, an experienced world series performer, seems to have lost his former cunning.

HUGGINS HAS SECOND BLOOD TRANSFUSION

Manager New York Yankees Is Resting Quietly Today; Condition Critical

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Another blood transfusion of the third since his illness, was given today to Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees, who is critically ill at St. Vincent's hospital.

Dr. Edward A. King, the attending physician, reported that the little baseball veteran passed "a comfortable night" and that his temperature had dropped one degree, now being 104.

Huggins was taken to the hospital last Friday when he developed an infection growing out of an attack of influenza and erysipelas. So serious did his condition become yesterday that Dr. Edward H. King, Yankee club physician, after a consultation with specialists, decided upon a blood transfusion.

There was little change in the little Yankee chieftain's condition for the first few hours after the transfusion. Then at 10:30 o'clock last night, Dr. King issued a bulletin which indicated that Huggins' condition had not shown any improvement. The physician, after announcing his patient's temperature had risen from 104 to 105 degrees, said his condition was "still critical."

The rise in temperature, Dr. King said, might be "due in part to the reaction of the transfusion and then again it might not."

News of the Yankee pilot's serious illness brought an immediate response from the baseball world. Yankee offices were flooded with telephone calls asking for news of the stricken manager. Members of the Yankee team, before they left for Boston to open a series with the Red Sox, sent flowers and telegrams of regard to the hospital. Huggins' brother and sister, Myrtle and Arthur Huggins, were constantly at the bedside.

Never in robust health, Huggins has insisted upon sitting on the Yankee bench, directing his team's play, which he should have been home in bed or under the care of a physician.

Ed Barrow, business manager of the club revealed yesterday that Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, had asked Huggins to take a rest as soon as the Philadelphia Athletics clinched the pennant on Sept. 14. Ruppert thought Huggins deserved a rest from the daily grind of sitting on the bench and perhaps could do more for the club by taking a vacation and laying his plans for the rebuilding of the Yankees next year. But Huggins refused to shift the responsibility to other shoulders until the Yankees clinched second place, toward which the Cleveland Indians had been making threatening gestures.

Huggins was born in Cincinnati March 27, 1880. He began his baseball career in 1898, entering the big leagues with the Cincinnati Reds in 1904. He vaulted into a manager's seat with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1913, coming to the Yankees in 1918. His Yankee teams won pennants in 1921-22-23-26-27-28 and world championships in 1923-27-28. In the latter two years the Yankees swept through the Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinal's National League representatives, for eight straight victories without a defeat to capture the world's title.

Lindbergh Reaches Paramaribo Safely; Return Tomorrow

Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, Sept. 24.—(AP)—After a conquest of time establishing a new air mail line and bringing the United States and the northeastern coast of South America 14 days closer, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh rested here today. His return flight, which will include courtesy calls to several South and Central American countries, will begin tomorrow.

The flying colonel arrived at Paramaribo at 4:20 p. m. yesterday, completing a 2,595 mile journey since he and his party, which includes Mrs. Lindbergh, took the air at Miami last Friday morning. The new air mail extension has taken him from San Juan, Porto Rico, its former southern terminus in the West Indies, over the leeward and windward group and down the South American coast for a total of 1,920 miles.

On the return flight, Lindbergh plans to circle from Port of Spain over the western Caribbean country before returning to Miami October 10. Eight days will be spent resting at Cristobal, Canal Zone. The entire flight from the Florida city and return will include nearly 7,000 miles.

Accounts of the flight are being given by radio sending apparatus installed in the plane, weather conditions, however, have made communications difficult for long distances.

Yesterday the colonel flew from Port of Spain, Trinidad, by way of Georgetown, British Guiana, where he made a scheduled air mail stop. Taking off early in the morning, he flew the amphibian plane across the narrow strait to the South American coast, skirting the Orinoco river delta and arriving in Georgetown about noon.

Just Five Days Left Of The First Period

Tomorrow is Report Day for All Candidates; Office Open Until 8 O'clock

Candidates in the Reflector's distribution are now entering the "home stretch" of the biggest vote period of the entire election, which comes to a close at 9 o'clock next Monday night, September 30th.

A subscription secured on or before September 30th, will count several times as many votes as it would at a later date in the campaign, therefore your opportunity to secure the maximum number of votes on subscriptions ends forever, September 30.

Readers who have promised a renewal and folks who are planning on giving a subscription in support of their favorite candidate are urged to do so within the next few days so that your candidate will receive the greatest amount of credit possible on your subscription.

Some of the candidates are expending great energy in an effort to cover as much territory within these next five days and in their rush it may be impossible for them to get to you personally, but your subscription may be the very one needed to put over the winning votes for one of the cars. In fact, your subscription, Mr. Reader, may mean a small fortune to your favorite candidate.

Still others lack confidence and ability in themselves to stick and win. Others try to bluff their way through. From all reports "Mr. Bluff" isn't a stranger in our midst. But work is the governing factor. Salesmanship too, helps. All candidates are on equal terms and the race has shaped itself into a sort of nip and tuck affair. Today any candidate with a few real subscriptions could sprint up and gain a clear lead over the rest of the field and today a new contestant could enter now and do the same thing in just a few short days. It is time then to WORK and THINK during these next five days. Subscrip-

The Old Sock is out of Date! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

That ancient prejudice which hoarded gold with the fanatical zeal of the miser has vanished. Under the sheltering wing of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE flourish thousands of banking institutions to which the individual safely entrusts his wealth.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful, corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation-No Cough.

TUNE IN—The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, every Saturday night, over a coast-to-coast network of the N. B. C. ©1929, The American Tobacco Co., Mfgs.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Death Treasure

By R. A. J. WALLING

SYNOPSIS: A shaft of light on the Pell mystery! Grenofen and Somerfield learn the rock- and gambler of Ostend and his companion were the men convicted in the Dover affair—Pell and the pseudo Cousin John. They return to England and find Laxton perturbed—Marling has flown. But Laxton has discovered that Pell's real name was P. E. Lincoln, friend of the Seabrooks, and an accountant in London, who had recently refused to explain a 12-month absence, the length of his prison term. Laxton, convinced that the escaped convict, Pell's "ghost," holds the key to the Pell enigma, asks Grenofen to write Veronica a request to inform "Cousin John" that all charges against him will be dropped if he returns to England. Then Laxton hurries an unexplained bomb-shell—the "ghost" at the keyhole was not involved in the murder of Pell!

Chapter 38—VERONICA RETURNS

So my mysterious Cousin John had not run away from the murder of Roger Pell!

"Don't expect me to say a word more," said Laxton, decisively. "Will you write the letter, Mr. Grenofen? Enclose it to Miss Vandenessen at the address in the Rue de la Grenelle."

"Of course I wrote the letter. I added words of my own which had nothing to do with Laxton's message."

"Now," said Laxton, "I want a black bag!"

"You can't have it," I replied. "It's burnt. It was burning in the garden while Hallett hunted in the safe."

"And the contents—carried away under Hallett's nose by Mr. Somerfield. I hope it's hidden in a dry place?"

"Why, professor? Rust won't corrupt that stuff," said Somerfield. "You said something like that at Bruges," Laxton remarked. "What stuff?"

"We gave him a sketchy inventory of the treasure, Laxton was a hard man to startle, but that gave him a shock."

"You didn't know about it?" I asked.

"About it—yes, in a general way. But that it was in the black bag—no. I expected to find a set of tools and an old book."

"The book," said I—"well your friend Hallett overlooked it in my bedside library. I'll go and get it."

Laxton was still shaking his head when I returned and handed him the manuscript of Abbot John Deacon in the binding that had belonged to Sheldon.

"Here's the whole thing," said Laxton, tapping the book. "Here's the cause why Pell and his friend went to prison, why Pell was killed and why we've all been groping about in the dark for two or three weeks."

"How do you make that?" asked Somerfield.

"That's one of the things that I'll not whisper even to my own pillow—yet," he answered. "Where's the stuff?"

"In Marley Wood," said I.

"Will you bring it down to the Lord Nelson tonight? Latish—say eleven."

It seemed a strange request, but what happened when we fulfilled it was strange. Somerfield and I paid an unobtrusive visit to the wood and came back with a camera case. Laxton was waiting for us in the road with a spade under one arm and a package under the other. He led us under the wall of Newplace to the little tourelle.

"Same program, Mr. Grenofen," he said. "And same silence."

A quarter of six hours later we stood in Mr. Fotherbury's diggings near the place where the "treasure" had been found. And in half an hour from the time when we got over the wall the contents of Laxton's package were nearly buried among the debris of the excavations. Laxton then led us back by way of the cloister. He paused there and made a little sound—"St!"

A shadow detached itself from the shadows and approached us.

"Nothing doing tonight, Hallett?" said Laxton in a whisper.

"All O. K.," said the shadow.

"You saw what we did? Never a moment without an eye on it. Good night!"

I hardly knew whether I stood on head or heels the third morning after, when my mother handed me Veronica's telegram:

"Will you meet me Hollam Bay Station today 12:10 train. Mina is with me—Veronica."

I walked to Hollam Bay. I engaged a big car to bring us back. The train came in at last. And Veronica shot out of a carriage into my arms. That is to say I had held out my arms to take her hand—luggage and in my eagerness had included her with it.

"Hello, Veronica!" said I, holding her for three seconds.

"Hello, Tom!" said she, not wrenching herself away with any great violence.

Afterwards we agreed that this was my formal proposal and her formal acceptance.

Out of the carriage behind her stepped Miss Vandenessen. I raised my hat to her.

"We've met before," I said. Veronica stared at me incredulously. Then she burst into laughter.

"My aunt!" she cried. "You must be one of the two awful policemen who scared her stiff that day in Bruges! Do say you are!"

"I am. I apologize to Miss Vandenessen. But it would take too long to explain. What about your luggage? I'll get a porter to look after it and send it out."

"Where are we going?" asked Veronica, when I had them both settled in the car. "Woodcot first? Oh, how lovely!"

"Woodcot first and last," said I. "Where else?"

"Well, Woodcot first anyhow. After—we'll talk about it."

Miss Vandenessen was a different creature from the puzzled and anxious school-teacher I had seen for a few minutes in the Rue de la Grenelle. A beauty, indeed—rather queenly, in striking contrast with Veronica's imish attractiveness.

Veronica did not give her much time to study scenery.

"I think we'd better tell him," said she. "I have the honor to introduce you, Mr. Grenofen, to Mrs. Redslade of Newplace."

"Redslade?" I asked. "But I thought the last of the Redslades was buried long ago."

"But me no buts! Just wait and see! We brought her husband in on the same train. He's got a little business to attend to, he'll be along presently."

A hundred questions were on my lips and never came off. The three of us burst upon my mother like a human whirlwind.

During the afternoon I got two minutes alone with Veronica. We sat on the garden seat behind the hedge of escaillon.

I turned and Veronica was looking me straight in the eyes, and those blue ones of hers were full of dancing lights and a little smile was on her face.

"I know," said she, "that you're dying to kiss me."

"I am," said I. "But I won't until you are, too."

"Tom!" she said and lowered the flag.

"Veronica!" said I. (Copyright, 1929, Wm. Morrow Co.)

The romance of Veronica and Tom has been sealed but the mystery of Roger Pell is still unsolved. Continue the story with tomorrow's chapter.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 12 to 15 points in the months sold 17 to 20 points higher after the call on covering and trade or commission house buying influenced by the correction made in the ginning figures after the close yesterday, relatively firm Liverpool cables and reports of rains in the eastern belt, December sold up to 18.78 and March to 19.00 on this advance but the market met considerable southern hedging or realizing and prices sagged off 5 or 6 points by the end of the first half hour.

The corrected figures made the ginnings in Georgia prior to September 16th 427,988 bales and the total ginnings to date for the belt 3,353,038 bales, a reduction of 300,000 bales as compared with the figures published yesterday morning. Private cables said Liverpool had advanced on local American and continental buying on the corrected ginning figures. They also said that India advices in the Manchester cloth market were encouraging with further business pending.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—With the world's available supply of wheat showing 21,521,000 bushels increase this week, wheat values today underwent a decided setback. Rallies failed to hold, and Chicago March delivered a wheat established a new low price record for the season. Good rains in Argentine improving wheat crop prospects there were an outstanding feature.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The stock market dipped sharply in the last hour of trading today, as the upward trend of the forenoon was reversed, and earlier gains of 3 to 10 points in several of the leading industrials, rails and specialties were largely wiped out.

U. S. Steel, after selling up nearly 5 points to 241 3/4, slipped back to 233, off 4 points net, and Radio sagged to 36 1/4, a new low for the movement. Several of the motors, including Studebaker, Nash and Willys-Overland, reached new lows for the year, and some of the high priced issues broke sharply. Case losing 39 points, Detroit Edison 26 and Commercial Solvents 22.
