HALL GOES ON STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Rebuttal Evidence Offered in Newspaper Suit at Macon Today

Macon, Ga., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Testimony in the Hall-LaVarre newspaper suit which began on August 29, in Federal Court here, was concluded today and five hours allotted to each side for arguments, which were to begin immediately.

A parade of witnesses and many documentary exhibits occupied Judge Deaver today as the case gained momentum and sped to a climax. Both Harold Hall and William La Varre, the litigants, took the stand in rebuttal and sur-rebuttal.

Hall is suing LaVarre for equal operating control of four southeastern newspapers, and La Varre has countered that Hall is an employee. The International Paper Company, subsidiary of the International Paper and Power company furnished approximately $670,000 with which the papers were purchased.

Macon, Ga., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Harold Hall took the witness stand here today in rebuttal in the Hall-LaVarre newspaper suit after his counsel had introduced a quantity of documentary evidence that Hall had "raided the International Paper Company files with W. M. Burdett" prior to the Federal Trade Commission inquiry of April 30. Testimony to the effect that Hall had made a statement about raiding the files had been offered by William LaVarre.

Practically the only documentary evidence offered today which had not been previously read in court was the correspondence file relating to the membership of the Augusta Chronicle in the Associated Press.

Explaining that the file was produced in response to a subpoena Duces Pecun, J. A. Sibley, attorney for Hall, said that the file pointed out that Hall and LaVarre had signed original membership blanks in LaVarre's name after Hall had signed a "partnership's consent" agreement to such membership.

Hall completed his direct testimony with a denial that he had intended to quit the newspaper deal.

Under cross examination, the defense sought to determine whether Hall or his family lived in Augusta since the latter part of May. Hall stated they had, part of the time, lived in Augusta. Objections were made repeatedly on the contention that the ground had been gone over before.

Hall is suing LaVarre for equal operating control of the four papers on the ground that he is an equal partner.

LaVarre has answered that Hall was an employee and hearing began in Federal District court here by agreement on August 22.

Attorney Ellsworth Hall pressed Harold Hall insistently as to items or advances by the Chronicle to Hall witnesses at this hearing. The witnesses were employees of the Chronicle. The items amounted to around $200. Hall identified the advances.

J. C. McCulliffe was the next rebuttal witness and he said he signed the minutes of the Chronicle as submitted to him by LaVarre, because LaVarre told him the minutes had been approved by George Barrett, Augusta attorney.

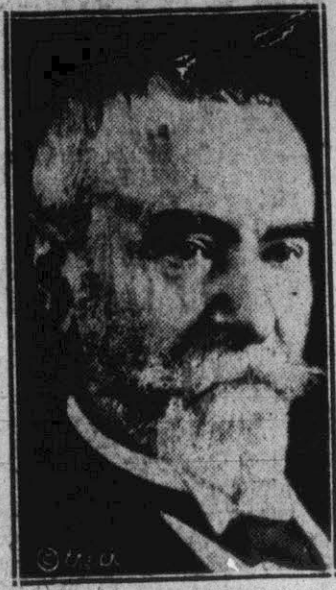

McCulliffe identified a letter he had written Hall, in which he said an editorial of the Columbia Record, entitled "Compromise" would cause the Record to be laughed at. He said his investigation justified the letter to Hall. Under cross-examination McCulliffe said a committee from the Columbia Chamber of Commerce had informed him of South Carolina public sentiment on the matter, as well as labor federation representatives.

T. J. Hamilton, editor of the Chronicle, was then recalled.

HIGHER RATES ANNOUNCED BY ENGLISH BANK

Bank of England Increases Rate to 6 1/2 Per Cent Replacing 5 1/2 Rate

London, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The directors of the Bank of England today raised the bank rate of 6 1/2 per cent replacing the 5 1/2 per cent level fixed February 1929.

The step was taken in order to protect the bank's gold stock, due to the continued outflow of gold which this week totaled over 3,000,000 pounds and which since the beginning of the year, totals 21,000,000 pounds.

For several weeks past market authorities had been anticipating such a raise and considerable uncertainty existed every week until last Thursday it was decided to keep the rate unchanged.

Business experts say today's rise will be a handicap to trade and industry but the authorities think it is necessary to attract to London some of the gold which has been drifting away.

It was thought by some banking authorities that yesterday's rise in the American dollar exchange would perhaps prevent the bank rate from rising but was not the case.

There was a larger crowd than usual in the corridor of the Bank of England today when the notice of the rise was given out.

ENDURANCE PLANE FORCED DOWN BY FOG

Flamingo Gives Up Test at Indianapolis After Being in Air 149 Hours

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Fog so heavy that the refueling plane could not be seen forced the Indianapolis Flamingo plane down at 5:40 o'clock this morning in its second attempt to establish a new refueling endurance record. The plane had been in the air 149 hours and 36 minutes.

Lieutenants Walter Peck and Lawrence Geebaro hovered over their home airport all night, fighting rain, fog and a low flying ceiling. Despite the murky weather, a contact with the refueling plane was made early this morning, but it was soon broken.

The Flamingo received little gasoline. The fog became thicker and the two pilots decided to land.

The Flamingo's pilots were successful in landing the plane at its home port without damage. The refueling plane became lost but was landed undamaged several miles north of Indianapolis.

FLOODS CAUSE MUCH DAMAGE THROUGH S. C.

State Highways Closed and Bridges Are Washed Away As Result Heavy Rains

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Heavy rains, approaching unusual proportions, swelled streams of this section today above flood stage, closing state highways and damaging crops and bridges.

Nearly a dozen horses of the headquarters troop of the Sixth Cavalry enroute from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., to Camp Jackson at Columbia, were drowned in an attempt by the 500 men of the organization to cross Ninety Six Creek near Greenwood. Four members of the troop were perched in trees along while frantic efforts were being made to rescue them. Eleven others troopers were fished out of the stream with ropes.

The troop had just passed over a one-way bridge across the narrow creek and plunged into water ten feet deep across the highway. Fourteen men and their mounts were swept down stream. Lieut. J. F. Ryan, of the headquarters troop, plunged into the stream to aid a private named Evans, who had become entangled in the stirrups of his saddle. Evans extricated himself and Lieut. Ryan and Evans and two other privates saved themselves by clinging to trees.

Rising creeks today had threatened the gas supply of Spartanburg. Officials of the Southern Public Utilities Company said they were momentarily expecting supply rooms to be flooded. Several cotton mills, which last year suffered heavy damage have built retaining walls to keep creek waters out, and were regarded as being out of danger.

Greenwood reported 5.61 inches of rain during the last 24 hours. Spartanburg 3.25 inches, and at South Pacolet, near Spartanburg, 5.30 inches. Several culverts on the Columbia-Spartanburg line of the Southern Railway were reported washed out, but without seriously impeding traffic. Rain continued today in many places.

The State Highway Department reported a number of highways closed because of high water.

Lindbergh Will Blaze Route to Venezuela Today

Port of Spain, Trinidad, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's huge amphibian plane today was poised for a take-off late this afternoon to trace a new westward air mail to Maracay, Venezuela. The flight is a comparatively short one, covering about 415 miles.

For his inspection of the mail line through that country, however, the flying colonel will stop figuratively from the role as air mail pilot, which he has assumed over the route from Miami, Fla., to Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, and back to Port of Spain, and will act in his office as technical adviser to Pan-American Airways.

Lindbergh, with his party which includes Mrs. Lindbergh and Juan T. Tripp, president of Pan-American Airways, and Mrs. Tripp arrived here from Paramaribo at 1:10 p. m., yesterday, after the famous pilot had out-maneuvered intermittent squalls of jungles and tree bound river deltas of coastal South America. The flight from Paramaribo was the first leg of the homeward journey of the 7,000 mile air mail exploration through the West Indies, South and Central America and Mexico.

The hop off yesterday from the Dutch Guiana city was at 5:15 a. m., and a brief stop was made at Georgetown, British Guiana.

The party will lay over at Maracay for a day, then will continue through Caracas, Dutch West Indies, Maracaibo, Venezuela and Barranquilla, Colombia on the route to Cristobal, Canal Zone, for an eight day rest before starting the return trip through Central America and Mexico to Havana and back to the terminus.

Corporal Killed As He Falls Under Truck

Sumpter, S. C., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Corporal Dellinger of the 16th Battery of Field Artillery, traveling from Fort Bragg, N. C., to Camp Jackson, was killed early this morning five miles east of Bishopville, when he fell under the wheels of a heavy army truck.

According to reports received here, the soldier had jumped from one truck and was attempting to climb on another when he slipped and fell under the wheels. He was taken to Bishopville but was dead before a physician could be reached.

The boy was started back to Fort Bragg immediately and it was impossible to learn the mans name.

Hurricane Believed To Be Headed Toward Cuba As Winds Lash Havana

Havana, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Local weather conditions took a sudden change shortly before noon today and there was some fear that the tropical storm had swung around and was headed this way.

Clear skies, moderate northwest winds and sunshine gave way to rapidly clouding skies, almost imperceptible swerving of 14 miles per hour winds to a southwesterly direction and storm cloud obscured sun.

No report was made by either the national or local observatory.

Fear was manifested in some meteorological circles that the Bahaman storm last night curved and missed the Florida east coast and angled headed into the Florida straits between Florida and Cuba, offering some danger to this island; danger at least of rising winds, heavy rains and a pounding sea.

The skies over Cuba at noon today were restful with scurrying storm clouds swept southeastwards.

Due to the change in weather conditions since ten o'clock this morning the Pan-American Airways, Inc., decided not to ferry ten planes back to Miami. The planes were flown across from Miami yesterday as a precaution against the storm.

The following advisory storm warning was issued at noon today by the Cuban National Observatory: "The cyclone of the Bahamas is apparently in the vicinity of the extreme northern part of Andros Island (west of Nassau and further south than formerly). Its movement is very slow and very uncertain. The most favorable thing for the extreme southern part of Florida Keys of the straits would be that the storm would re-curve in a loop around Nassau. Stripping in the straits of Florida and waters of the Bahamas, continuing to be extremely dangerous. Intensity of storm is cyclonic, but exact intensity is unknown due to lack of communication with Nassau or ships within the storm area."

Miami, Fla., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The population of the lower Florida coast turned with puzzled expectancy to the eastern skies today where a tropical storm yesterday lashed the Bahamas but had not put in its predicted appearance on the mainland.

The Washington weather bureau at 10:30 a. m., issued a storm warning stating that the disturbance had remained almost stationary during the last 12 hours with it center apparently a short distance northwest of Nassau.

The bureau declared it was likely that winds of hurricane force prevailed near the center of the storm and the world still was without word from Nassau which lost radio communications shortly after noon yesterday when the storm moved in the mainland.

New Providence issued at 10 o'clock this morning a weather forecast for Florida stating that winds would reach gale force on the southern coast tonight and Friday.

Practically stationary barometric pressure and fair weather prevailed along most of the shore line where last night's reports said the storm likely would strike after daylight today with hurricane intensity.

There was no relaxation of vigilance on the part of the inhabitants of the area between Miami and Jupiter, outlined last night as the probable hurricane area. Houses razed, boarded up and relief units, hastily organized on the basis of yesterday's warnings, stood by their posts.

The Tropical Radio Company still was endeavoring to raise its station on Nassau. Last night the company stated that it was unlikely that the Nassau station had lost its power but that it might be able to receive messages from the outside world.

Future course of the storm is uncertain, the weather bureau said. But no rapid movement in any direction was indicated for the next 24 hours.

Havana, Sept. 26.—(AP)—All storm danger along the east coast of Florida, which has made great preparations against a tropical disturbance which was yesterday centered in the Bahamas, was today thought to be over for the present by Cuban meteorologists.

Father Gutierrez Lanza of the Helen Jesuit College observatory told the Associated Press this morning that all traffic, both air and maritime, between Cuba and Florida could be resumed without danger this morning.

The center of the storm was said to be sweeping out over the waters of the Atlantic in a northeasterly direction.

According to Father Gutierrez Lanza, the Bahamas storm was unable to blow through a high pressure area which spread over the Atlantic seaboard from the north-eastern states yesterday and last night.

This high pressure area forced the storm from its westerly course out to the northeast, sending it away from the far Florida coast.

A fast rising barometer since 7 a. m., at the Helen observatory and at the National observatory indicated that the strength of the storm in the south was spent. North northwest winds were blowing in Havana this morning at a rate of 14 miles per hour. The sky was clear and forecasts were for moderate winds and possible light showers.

Shipping activity, which ceased yesterday, was resumed today in Havana harbor, though there were fewer fishing boats than usual to leave at dawn.

The only indication in Havana today that a storm of hurricane intensity had passed within a hundred miles was the spray that swept over the Malaeon or Sea Wall drive from unusually large waters.

Ten airplanes of the Pan-American Airways Flying Field at Miami, Florida, which had been brought into yesterday afternoon as a precaution, were made ready this morning for the return flight to Miami. Regular flights will also be resumed.

Avon Park, Fla., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Feeling a repetition of the disaster of last year many residents had moved from Clewiston and Moorehaven early today seeking the safer heights of the villages between Venus and Avon Park.

Roads were cluttered with every means of conveyance. Many were camping beside the highways, tourists camps were filled to capacity and rooming house accommodations were selling at a premium.

The exodus started with the first serious storm warnings, which were relayed to every outlying district of the Everglades section of the state.

Battle trap automobiles, jangling trace chains, creaking wheels of wagons, they all bespoke the fears of the populace, fleeing in the face of the storm.

Mothers with crying infants, hair bedraggled and multitudinous duties preparing to camp in unfamiliar territory, men staking their tents and belongings to safe moorings, and occasionally a whimpering dog awaiting the crumbs from the frugal boards made necessary by the sudden transition. All greeted the eyes along the highway between the cities on the ridge.

In the towns and hamlets it was little improved, except that the pre-storm refugees were being cared for indoors.

Should reports today indicate a change in the path of the storm these people—who mainly are simple farm folk—will return to their homes and fields. Otherwise they will stay until the danger has passed.

Cashier Rents Robbers. Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Three men bent on robbing the Cheltenham National Bank, just over the northern boundary line of Philadelphia, were routed today by John M. Brownlee, cashier, and his pistol. No one was hurt. The men got away and the only loss was some shattered glass. Nearly $50,000 to be used in making up payrolls, was almost within reach of the would-be robbers.

WILDER TELLS OF FUSS OVER W. B. SHEARER

Says Sharp Quarrel Developed Between Two Executives Over Shearer's Job

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—William B. Shearer's $25,000 assignment to observe and report the 1927 Geneva naval conference required a year later in a "sharp quarrel" between two shipping executives, Laurence R. Wilder said today before a Senate committee in relating his connection and interests with the shipbuilding companies.

Wilder, former president of the American Brown-Boveri Electric Corporation, testified he had quarreled with Clinton L. Bardo, president of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation, a subsidiary of the other company, over Shearer's assignment.

He said he had heard nothing of Shearer's work until twelve months had gone by and that he then had urged the shipping companies that they were in a "precarious condition and it would be better for all to publicly acknowledge the secret employment." Under questioning, he added Bardo had argued it would be best to forget the matter and "drop Shearer out of the picture."

Shipping activity, which ceased yesterday, was resumed today in Havana harbor, though there were fewer fishing boats than usual to leave at dawn.

The only indication in Havana today that a storm of hurricane intensity had passed within a hundred miles was the spray that swept over the Malaeon or Sea Wall drive from unusually large waters.

Stranded Ship Reported Safe

Miami, Fla., Sept. 26.—(AP)—A message from the British freighter Dormira grounded at Abaco Island, Bahamas early yesterday by hurricane winds to Tropical Radio at 10 a. m., today said the crew was abandoning ship in its lifeboats, but the captain, radio operator and one other were staying aboard.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The British freighter Dormira stranded on a Key off the Florida shore informed the tropical radio station here at 7:33 a. m. "We are alright now." The message said in part: "We are hard and fast west of Man of War Key. Weather moderating. Engine room flooded, not in any immediate danger unless vessel starts to break up."

The report of moderating weather, Tropical Radio officials said, gave hope for an early rescue by the Firebird, Bahamas government lighthouse tender, which they said, may be even now proceeding to the aid of the Dormira.

Man of War Key is off the south central shore of Great Abaco Island, Bahamas.

FALL TERM UNDER WAY AT COLLEGE

Between 800 and 900 Students Reported Enrolled at College Here

Registration began at East Carolina Teachers College Wednesday. Approximately 300 new students have registered. Yesterday was given over to orientation exercises for students who had not been at the College before. The program consisted of tours of the campus, address by President Robert H. Wright and other members of the faculty. The purpose of these addresses was to acquaint the new students with the regulations and requirements of the college.

Students who have been at the College before will register today. Reservations have been made for approximately 800 students in the dormitories. There will probably be some where between 50 and 100 students who live in Greenville and the surrounding community which will run the total enrollment up to 800 and 900 students. There are still a number on the waiting list that the College was not able to accept as students.

The following are new members of the faculty: Miss Elizabeth Toland of Kansas City, Missouri takes the work of Miss Ella Wilkes who is on leave of absence.

Six Prisoners Paroled Today

Raleigh, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Governor O. Max Gardner today issued six more paroles, one commutation and an order for a youthful prisoner to be hired to his father.

Among the paroles issued was one to Reuben S. Hart, Granville county man who on September 29, 1923 shot and killed Herman Talley, janitor of the Oxford high school. A married man who was alleged to have had an affair with Hart's sixteen year old daughter, Hart had served about nine months of a two to three year term given him for manslaughter in Durham county.

Hart's parole is effective when he pays to the clerk of Granville county the sum of $2,000 for the widow of Talley, and he has agreed to do this.

Other prisoners paroled were: Odell Schurlock, Randolph county man sent to prison in September 1928 to serve five years for stealing a car; William Parks, Wilks county, sent up in March 1924 to serve eight years for second degree murder; and Arthur Pace, John Pace and Ben Brodie, all Wilson county negroes, who were convicted jointly of second degree murder in February 1923 and sentenced to serve 15 years each.

The sentence of Paul Books, Irredell county white man sentenced in August to serve 15 to 20 years for larceny, assault with a deadly weapon and highway robbery, to a minimum of 6 and a maximum of 15 years. He also ordered Clifford Taylor, Graham county youth now serving six months on the county roads, to be hired to Taylor's father.

SUNDOWN STORIES

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"Back in your day," said the little black clock (and it made the children fall so nice and old and it was strange), they traveled a bit in the air; but they did not go in for air hotels.

"They came later on. People were more apt to make little trips in your day—traveling from place to place, carrying mail, or discovering how far they could go without stopping.

"Then came—in your day, too—people who tried to see how long they could stay up in the air.

"But all that was long ago. We're two hundred years ahead of your usual time now."

"And they have air hotels?" Peggy asked.

"Yes. You see the people on earth would get tired and want a change of scene, and they decided they didn't think any of the old places would quite do.

"So air hotels were built. They just stay right up in the air as those planes used to stay up in your day—only they stay longer, usually, and are very comfortable.

"There are air hotels where you can stay for a week, or two weeks, or three or four. You just write and say how long you want to stay, they send you to the hotel which is going to stay up that long."

John and Peggy looked all about them. The hotel was beautiful. There was even a swimming pool.

"Couldn't we have a swim?" John asked.

"Want to?" the little black clock asked.

"Do I?" said John. And Peggy said:

"I can swim too—not like John, but I can swim."

"All right," said the little black clock. "I'll fix it."

Tomorrow—"Swimming in the Air"

Several Cases Compromised in Civil Court Here

After catching up with its calendar during Tuesday and Wednesday through compromised actions, the term of Pitt County Superior court for the trial of civil cases, get down to business this morning with quite a number of cases still awaiting consideration.

It was stated that about ten cases were compromised during the two days, and court was able to enjoy quite a lengthy recess while waiting to take up the cases scheduled for the remainder of the week.

Most of the cases compromised were of a minor nature and involved disputes over accounts and other cases of a similar nature.

Earth Shocks Cause Concern in Hawaii

Hilo, Island of Hawaii, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Suspense and excitement gripped the populace of western Hawaii today after residents had been frightened away from their homes by a violent earthquake which was believed to be the forerunner of eruptions from the three big volcanoes nearby.

The most violent quake of a series of about 150 tremors that had kept the western half of the islands quivering for more than 24 hours came shortly after 8 o'clock last night. Walls and buildings in various parts of the island fell and residents rushed from their homes.

So violent was the quake that the seismograph at Kilauea was ruined. It was the most severe shaking the island has received within the memory of its oldest residents.

John Coolidge and Bride Continue to Enjoy Vermont Life

Plymouth, Vt., Sept. 26.—(AP)—John Coolidge and his bride continued today to enjoy the quiet of life in this little hamlet, whose chief claim to fame is that in one of its scattered handful of houses, the 36th president of the United States was born.

Thanks to the industry of 91-year-old Mrs. Harriet M. Moore, a cousin of John's grandfather, the late Col. John Coolidge, the honeymooners have added to their gifts another, whose sentimental associations will probably outweigh the monetary value of many more pretentious presents.

It is a braided rag rug which the aged woman started to make early last Monday, the day the former president's son took as his bride, Florence Trumbull, daughter of Connecticut's governor. Mrs. Moore presented it to the Coolidges at the ancestral home where they have been staying.

Situation Quiet in Chicago Negro District Today

Chicago, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Fear of trouble in the densely populated negro quarter of the south side was quiet today by the presence of several hundred policemen and National Guardsmen, stationed there following the slaying of a police officer William Gallagher, and J. Stephenson, a negro, yesterday.

Jesse D. Haults, one of the policemen wounded when officers raided the headquarters of the Moorish Holy Temple of Science of the World, lay near death today. He was shot seven times, three bullets penetrating the abdomen. The condition of the other wounded officer, Steward McCutcheon, also was serious.

Moses Jackson, known to other cult members as "the Sheik," was recovering from a shoulder wound. Sixty negroes, men and women, were arrested as police swarmed into the negro area.

It is recalled that a similar episode precipitated the race riot of 1920 when several negroes and white persons were killed.

Yesterday's affray was not followed by the racial uneasiness that police at first feared. It was explained that most of the negroes of the south side had no sympathy with the "Moorish Holy Temple" cult and its teachings that the negro is no an Ethiopian but rather the descendants of Moors.

A year ago Denemark was kidnapped and held several days for ransom. When he was released he declined to discuss the abduction or say how much, if any, ransom was paid. In one holdup he reported the loss of $25,000 in cash and jewels and in another he lost $2,500.

OFFER MORE TESTIMONY IN S. C. MURDER CASE

Laurens, S. C., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Additional testimony was to be offered by the State this morning in the trial of Lawrence Bolt, 43-year-old farmer, who is charged with murdering his wife at their home here last June 24. The case is being tried in General Sessions court with Judge Melvin M. Mann presiding.

Mrs. Bolt was fatally shot with a pistol and neighbors who reached the house in response to the defendants call found her body crumpled on the front porch. Bolt claimed she committed suicide.

The case was opened yesterday afternoon and six witnesses, including the physician who conducted the post-mortem examination, were heard. They testified as to the condition of the woman when they found her and the statements of Bolt at that time.

DR SUFFORD FOUND DEAD IN VIRGINIA

Hickory, N. C., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Meagreness of details today surrounded the death of Dr. Hilton M. Sufford, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sufford, of Hickory, who was found dead yesterday at Meadow Bridge, W. Va.

Sun-Tan Is The Fashion!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

False modesty is a relic of an ancient prejudice. AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has cut it away and, in behalf of better health and pure enjoyment, sponsors the fashion of sensible swimming attire.

"toasting did it" —

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation - No Cough.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Prince of Wales Biography Causes Gossip in England

London, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The breakfast tables of England revealed this morning in gossip about the Prince of Wales, a whole book of it, hot off the press, a new intimate biography with all the old stories and many new ones. Why the heir to the British throne doesn't marry, whether he will mount the throne and why he is shy, all this and more is discussed in a new book written by two young English journalists and produced. It is stated by an American publisher in London as his first venture.

The reviews fill big space in all the morning newspapers. The publisher stipulated with the authors that the narrative should be both correct and in good taste and before the book was published it was submitted to the Prince's secretary, Sir Godfrey Thomas, and thus bears the unofficial approval of St. James's Palace. Much new material was supplied from the palace. It is stated:

The result is an intimate character sketch of the young man upon whom the light of publicity beams as fiercely as if he already sat upon the throne.

The topic of gossip on five continents and seven seas, the Prince of Wales marriage, the authors say the Prince "Regards the sanctity of marriage so seriously that he will not be thrust into a marriage of convenience," and he is not yet in love.

Continuing their analysis of the state of heart and mind of the Prince, the authors say, "Retaining the best of so-called old-fashioned beliefs in his creed of modernity, the Prince is a firm disciple of the belief that there is no use in marrying without love. Because he has not yet experienced that emotion in its true intensity, the Prince does not get married. That is all there is to it."

Sets Aside Week in October for Fire Prevention

Raleigh, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Governor O. Max Gardner today issued a proclamation asking the people of North Carolina to observe the week of October 6 to 12 as fire prevention week.

The governor, in his proclamation, pointed out that the state suffered a total of $44,799,499 during the seven years from January 1922 to January 1929 but that even this staggering amount was under the national average. The fire loss for the state for the year ending December, 1928 was $4,912,925, or a million and a half dollars less than the seven year average. Also, during the last year, 272 persons lost their lives from fires in the state.

"The State of North Carolina has made wonderful progress along many lines but it has to its credit no more striking achievements than the results attained by the efforts of firemen, teachers, editors and other public-spirited and forward-looking citizens who have carried on for years a relentless warfare against public waste and its attendant loss of life and property," the proclamation said.

"I am glad to be able to say that there has been improvement year by year for the past seven years," it continued. "I attribute much of this improvement to the educational work done through the state annually during 'fire prevention week' which falls this year in the week of October 6 to 12. While we are proud of the progress made, the fire loss in 1928 was much too great for an enlightened citizenship such as ours, and I appeal to all good citizens to become vitally interested in lessening this economic waste."

Gin Cut Cotton Costly to Farmer

"Cotton coming through our classing department is showing an unusually heavy percentage of gin cuts," U. B. Blalock, general manager of the North Carolina Cooperative Association, has wired E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt County Farm Department today.

"Cotton is being ginned too wet and too green and ginners evidently are not giving due consideration to increased production in better staple length by reducing their speed. The loss on gin cut cotton runs from five to twenty-five dollars per bale all of which can be avoided by proper ginning methods. Our Carolina staples are showing up well this year and all extra staple length should command good premiums if properly ginned."

"Please cooperate with us by giving wide publicity to the seriousness of gin cut losses to all cotton producers."

SENATE FACES BIG FIGHT ON TARIFF ISSUE

Flexible Provision Expected to Bring About Lengthy Controversy

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The senate, with the opening attack of democrats and republican independents in mind, today faced the prospect of a lengthening controversy over the flexible provisions of the tariff bill, advocated by President Hoover and supported by the republican leaders.

Both sides were plunged into the task of rounding up and strengthening their forces, recognizing that the vote, when it comes, is likely to be a close one. The democrats were obviously encouraged by the evidence of support from the republican independent group given by the attack on the flexible provisions by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, while the republican leaders felt they could count heavily on the President's statement urging continuance of the policy they embody.

The fact that Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, a member of the finance committee, employed an agent of the Connecticut manufacturers' association as his secretary during his committee's consideration of the bill, meanwhile, has injected an element of diversity into the situation.

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee told the senate today, at his suggestion, Charles L. Eyanon, the man Bingham employed, and other secretaries of the republican members had been excluded from the committee room after they had attended several sessions. His statement followed a defense of Bingham's action by the Connecticut senator himself and republican leaders after it had been described as "biased" by democrats.

The democratic attack on the administration's position in favor of continuing the President's authority to raise or lower tariff rates upon recommendation of the tariff commission was led by Senator George D. Nye of Oregon, after La Follette had completed his denunciation of the bill and the seven-year record of its operation.

The President's statement on behalf of the flexible principle and his silence in other respects were interpreted by George as "indicating his acquiescence in all other matters in this bill". Mr. Hoover's only two pronouncements on important pending legislation—his pronouncement against the debarment plan of farm relief and his flexible tariff statement—were both, George contended, aimed against the farmer's interest.

Senator King, democrat, Utah, held that it was "significant that the President has failed to give any expression on the tariff until now, yet Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking democrat on the finance committee, has moved to restrict the executive power". Simmons' proposal, offered as a substitute for the flexible provisions sponsored by the committee republicans, would take away from the executive the power to change the rates, directing the tariff commission to report its findings to congress instead of the president.

Strange Malady Causes Man To Become Shorter

Los Angeles, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Physicians disclosed today that Joseph Mayott, 54, a veteran of the Spanish American war, residing at the soldiers home at Sawtelle, was affected with a rare malady which causes him to grow shorter in stature. "Doctors say I may live 50 years longer", Mayott said. "But if I do I'll be able to hid behind a shoe box. I was five feet, seven inches tall eight years ago, but now I'm but four feet ten". The disease, for which no cure is known, has been called Paget's disease. It is a strange ailment which gradually reduces the size Mayott, said the shrinkage might stop anytime. They asserted Mayott was in no pain and was in no particular danger of an untimely death.

Mrs. Pantages Found Guilty of Manslaughter

Los Angeles, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Lois Pantages, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of a Japanese gardener, after a collision of their automobiles, was under the care of physicians today. The theatrical magnate's wife fell to the floor in the court room where the jury's verdict was read last night and was carried sobbing and screaming from the building.

The five women and seven men who had heard three weeks of testimony concerning Mrs. Pantages' alleged intoxicated condition at the time of a fatal collision June 16, and the subsequent death of Juro Rokumoto, found her criminally responsible within 28 hours after the case had been placed in their hands.

Superior Judge Carlos Hardy set 2 p. m. tomorrow as the hour of pronouncement of sentence, which is fixed by California law at from one to ten years imprisonment. He permitted the woman her freedom under a $50,000 bond posted prior to the trial pending action on motions for probation and a new trial which defense counsel promised.

A prominent group of attorneys, including Max Steuer of New York, defended Mrs. Pantages.

Alexander T. Pantages, husband of the convicted woman, who himself faces trial October 1, on two statutory charges brought by Miss Eunice Pringle, a young dancer, sat through the final episode of the sensational trial with tears streaming down his face. The multimillionaire vaudeville impresario was unable to help his wife out of the court room after she became hysterical and fell at his feet.

Ask More Beds for Mentally Disabled World War Vets

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 25.—(AP)—A plea that the government begin at once a building program that will provide hospital beds for all mentally disabled veterans is made in the report of the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion, announced today at the Legion's headquarters, moved here temporarily from Indianapolis for the convention next week.

"There are at present 52,000 mentally afflicted world war veterans whose disabilities are connected with the service and for which they are now in receipt of compensation," says the report.

"Yet less than one fourth of these veterans—12,000—are now in Veterans Bureau hospitals, receiving government care and treatment."

"The condition of many of these 40,000 veterans is growing worse," the report continues. "Soon thousands of them will require hospitalization. It frequently takes from a month to three months or longer to secure a hospital bed."

Through the efforts of the committee a total of $4,117,225 was recovered for veterans and their dependants during the fiscal year ending June 30, says the report. This was said to be an increase of more than $1,500,000 over the preceding fiscal year.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 2 to 3 points on the weather news and relatively steady futures covering. Trade buying and selling was reported but the advance was checked by continued southern selling. There was some October liquidation following the relative firmness of yesterday. As a result, October sold off to 18.55 right after the call or 9 points net lower and the weakness of this position appeared to have a rather unsettling effect on later months. December sold off to 18.2 and March to 19.04 or within 5 points of yesterday's closing quotations, but trade interest bought October and the general market was steady at the end of the first half hour with prices showing net gains of 1 to 7 points. Liverpool cables reported covering and general buying on the rain news from the south but said the advance there had been checked by realizing and the increase in the Bank of England rate.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Rushes to buy ran prices up more than 50 bushels today for future deliveries of wheat, as compared with yesterday's bottom level. Export business today in wheat from North America was on a decidedly broader scale than of late, totaling today 1,250,000 bushels and talk was current that offerings of Argentine wheat at Liverpool were being withdrawn. Liverpool wheat prices made a surprising jump and there was talk that stocks of foreign wheat in Great Britain were much below normal.

Wheat closed strong 2 1/2 to 3 3/4 higher than yesterday's finish; corn closed 1 to 3 1/2 up; oats 1 1/4 to 2 1/2 advance, and provisions ranging from 5 decline to a rise of 2.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The stock market, which was in a state of despair bordering on panic yesterday, regained its poise today and prices rallied briskly. Extreme gains in the active issues ran from 1 to 10 points, with a few high priced specialties marked up 12 to 30 points.

Some uneasiness developed around mid-day when heavy selling broke out in the motor stocks, but buying support was quickly supplied and the statement of Walter Chrysler that current motor car sales and earnings warranted higher prices for automotive securities helped to restore confidence in that group.

Wall Street apparently had been prepared for the increase from 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 per cent in the Bank of England discount rate placing it at a premium of 1-2 of 1 percent above the New York Federal Reserve rate. Fears that the higher London rate would result in a heavy withdrawal of foreign balances from New York were set at rest by New York bankers, who pointed out that the volume of money loaned in the money market by British interests was relatively small.

Call money renewed at 9 per cent with indications that the rate would be maintained all day.

In view of the sharp decline in stock prices last week, traders naturally expect a decrease in Federal Reserve brokers' loans but the calling for payment of the Lehman corporation issues this week may upset earlier estimates.

Adams express soared 30 points to 460 on the announcement that it would include in a large investment trust but broke to 620 on profit taking. Columbian Carbon extended its gain to 18 1/2 points by touching another new high at 299. Warren Bros. ran up 14 points and National Biscuit, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Freight, Standard Gas and Electric, Union Carbide, A. M. Byco, American Water Works, Under-

HEAT to every Room in Your Home

COLE'S CABINET'S CIRCULATOR

The outer casing increases in an intensified manner air circulation, drawing the cold air to the base of the stove and forcing it upward and around the radiating surface. Then the heated air is thrown out into the room. That's why it heats every corner—why there are no cold spots. Louvers on sides and front assure warm floors. Yes, it's equipped with Cole's famous Air-Vac tube that burns the gas halves of your fuel—the part that other stoves waste. This means that it will pay for itself.

HUGGINS WILL BE BURIED AT NEW YORK CITY

Funeral to Be Held From Little Church Around the Corner Friday at 2 O'clock

New York, Sept. 26.—(AP)—If casualty lists were issued in baseball, we should see one this morning reading something like this: "Killed in action—Miller L. Huggins."

The mighty midget of the Yankees lies dead today when, on the word of Dr. Edward King, his physician, he might be alive if the stamina he devoted to the losing pennant battle of his ball team had been hoarded for the benefit of his own physical well being.

Fixed more and more by each succeeding baseball campaign, the miniature commander of the Yankees was drained of strength when he entered St. Vincent's hospital last Friday, and was easy prey for the toxins which ended his life at 3:16 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

All baseball will pay tribute to Huggins at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon when his funeral will be held at the Church of the Transfiguration, the "Little Church Around the Corner," just off Fifth avenue in East Twenty-ninth street. The limited space in this tiny house of worship will be far over-taxed by the baseball host which will be present to pay their respects and hundreds, if not thousands, will be forced to stand in the street outside.

Following the services here, the body will be placed aboard a train for Cincinnati where it will be buried on Sunday beside Huggins' father and mother.

E. S. Barnard, president of the American league, cancelled the schedule of that circuit for Friday evening as he learned of the funeral plans. It was discovered later that the only contest on the card was the Yankee-Senator engagement at Washington. The cancellation of this game will enable all club-owners from as far east as Boston and as far west as Cleveland and Detroit to be present at the funeral.

The national league probably will pay its respect to the man who won eight straight games from its clubs in the last two world series by observing a minute of prayer before the start of games Friday at Philadelphia and St. Louis.

After playing in Washington today, the Yankees will entrain for New York and will not return to the capital to resume the series on Saturday. The players will attend the funeral in a body.

Chief among the mourners at Huggins' bier will be Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, and Edward G. Barrow, business manager. Men of the world in the widest sense, surprised at nothing and affected by few events, these two friends of Huggins were visibly shaken yesterday by the news everyone had been expecting since just before noon when it became known that the Little Miller had fallen into a coma.

The owner of the Yankees, many times a millionaire, always wanted a winning ball team more than anything else, and he stood in awe of the magic with which Huggins brought him pennants. To Ruppert all baseball wars were real, and the commander of his forces was a super-general.

The feats of the Yankee manager are too well known to need re-chroning in any detail. Nine pennants and three world's championships can hardly be kept a secret, but the retiring nature of Huggins, with not a trace of showmanship in it, perhaps would have had it so. Huggins fell back from the limelight in favor of his players, in favor of Babe Ruth, the super-star whom he once fined $5,000 for insubordination, and against whom the fine stuck until remitted by Huggins himself after he had won all his points in his battle against the home run king. It took that row to cement the friendship of Ruth and Huggins, and of all grief-stricken Yankees, Ruth was the most severely shaken.

CUBS REARING TO GET CRACK AT ATHLETICS

Chicago, Sept. 26.—(AP)—J. J. McCarthy's hustling Cublets have read so much of the near infallibility of their world series opponents, the Philadelphia Athletics, that they are cracking with curiosity.

Hack Wilson, the distinguished Pennsylvanian Dutchman who specializes in home runs, is eager to see if he can slap one or more of Lefty Grove's portside slants out of the park.

Kiki Cuyler, who has pilfered 40 bases so far this season, wants to test the famed throwing arm of Catcher Mickey Cochrane.

Guy Bush, the leading pitcher of the Heydler circuit who gets a greater thrill out of a base hit for himself than a strikeout, wants to prove he is a dangerous man with a bat. (He got five hits last season).

Pat Malone wants to see if his speed ball is the best in his league.

"Murders' row", composed by Rogers Hornsby, Cuyler, Wilson and Riggs Stephenson, wants a chance to prove it can slaughter the best pitching in the American league as completely as in the national.

Stephenson wants to come up to bat with the bases choked and determine whether he can "swoop" 'em all in.

Not one of the Cubs plans to seek personal glory at the expense of team union, they insist, but they all want a chance to prove their specialties would be possible by them in the American league, which holds the edge on their circuit in gaining world's championships.

Each can be noticed any time studying Athletic records for this season. Each has his opponent closely analyzed except for Hack Wilson, who "likes to take 'em as they come along."

The pudgy Cub centerfielder, is polishing up a new willow for the fray and whether he slams homers or whiffs, he is certain to provide thrills for the thrill seeking crowd to see the world series.

"We're ready for those fellows right now", Hack said between puffs in a workout at Wrigley field. "I've read and heard so much about their great team it sounds like a fairy story. I'm interested to know if it's all true."

Hazel Leading Old Miss Out On Open Road

Oxford, Miss., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Homer Hazel, the old Rutgers-American fullback, is the modern Moses who is fast showing the University of Mississippi a paved road out of the football wilderness.

When Hazel came here as head coach five years ago Ole Miss hadn't licked its arch rival, Mississippi A. & M., in 16 long lean years and it had never scored a point against any conference opponent except the Aggies up to that time. But since then things have been popping.

Hazel's team held the Starkville Farmers to a six point margin the first year and has spanked them every year since.

Also, the first Hazel-coached team broke all the rules and scored seven points against Tulane. They have been manufacturing touchdowns against all comers ever since.

Ole Miss has been coming along so fast that this fall Hazel will parade his team up and down the big time just to let the boys know it is still in the conference.

In place of the neighborhood schools which used to come over to Oxford and whoop things up at the expense of the home boys, such powerful football teams as Vanderbilt, Tennessee, Alabama, Southern Methodist, Purdue and Louisiana State appear on the Ole Miss schedule.

"That's the hardest schedule we year."

Charlotte, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Today will find gridiron squads in the two Carolinas engaging in final scrimmage sessions before an even dozen games Saturday afternoon.

Tomorrow will be given over to light signal practice, and the youths will rest until the following day when the whistle of the referee will send them into action, many engaging in actual combat for the first time this season.

Wake Forest, Catawba, Elon and Davidson, in North Carolina, and Furman, Erskine, Clemson and Newberry in South Carolina, will be facing opposition for the second time this season, having inaugurated the season last Saturday.

In a majority of the twelve game's the teams will have to travel only a short distance to the scene of battle, but Furman University, Greenville, S. C., Duke University, Durham, and Mars Hill College will go a bit of sight-seeing. Furman goes to Chattanooga for a game with Chattanooga University. Dukes faces Mercer in Macon, and Mars Hill goes to Greeneville, Tenn., to play Tusculum.

University of North Carolina and Wake Forest clash at Chapel Hill in a game that will have a bearing on the state football championship, both of the teams being members of the "Big Five" of Carolina, Davidson, Wake Forest, State and Duke. The Deacons will be out to avenge an overwhelming defeat they suffered at the hands of Carolina last fall, after enjoying four successful victorious years over the Tar Heels.

Billy Laval, coach of the University of South Carolina eleven, will show the 1922 edition of his Gamecocks to the folks of Columbia and vicinity, by playing Erskin college.

Wofford college invades North Carolina to meet High Point, in High Point; Catawba plays Elon; at Elon; Campbell tackles Atlantic Christian at Wilson; Guilford meets King college at Bristol, Tenn.; and Lenoir-Rhyne opens its schedule with Presbyterian college at Shelby.

have ever tackled here," says Hazel. "but we've got the best football team we've ever had to tackle it with. I'm not expecting to win all these games, but any team that figures us a setup is likely to finish the afternoon on the small end of the score. If we are ever to play conference football, this is the year."

Former Ball Player Faces Jail Sentence for Slaying Woman

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Samuel (Red) Crane, one-time widely known baseball star, today is sentenced to 20 years in jail for slaying the girl for whom he sacrificed his diamond career.

He was convicted last night of second degree murder for the shooting to death of Miss Della Lyter in a hotel room here last August when he found her in the company of John D. Oren, a brick salesman, who had supplanted him in the girl's affections.

Crane also is under indictment for the slaying of Oren who attacked him with a ukelele after the baseball player had shot the girl. The verdict was a victory for the defense as it had asked the jury to return a second degree verdict. The state had asked for a verdict in the first degree. The defense contended Crane was so completely under the influence of liquor at the time of the shooting that he did not have normal control over his intellect. Crane who is 35 years old, received the verdict with no display of emotion.

The baseball career of Red Crane started in 1913 with the Greensboro club of the North Carolina league. Later he played with the Philadelphia Athletics, the Washington Senators, Brooklyn and Cincinnati. In the minor leagues he played with Richmond, Baltimore, Buffalo, Reading, Seattle, Minneapolis and Indianapolis, and became a shortstop sensation in the American association.

ABOUT

"Let the farmer produce more of the things he consumes at home and he will be forced to cut acreage of the principal crops," declared a prominent business man today.
"If this is done it would not be necessary for legislative action to bring about acreage reduction or the demand of merchants and bankers that acreage be cut before they render financial assistance.
"The farmer by this time ought to be convinced that he must protect his own interests and there is no surer way than to cultivate the things which he and his family use all the year around.
"It is the only way he can fight the organized seller and the organized buyer and the only way by which he can hope to reach the heights of financial independence."

"We want all members who can attend the quarterly meeting and banquet of the association tonight," a member of the Greenville Merchants Association said this afternoon, speaking of the gathering to be held at the Rotary building at 6:30 o'clock.
"This will be the decidedly the most important meeting of the year and it is the duty of the entire membership to be in attendance to see what can be done to improve the serious situation confronting the merchants at this time.
"Everybody knows what the credit situation is, and some plans must be worked out to relieve the business interests of the community.
There is only one way to do it and that is for the merchants to do it themselves. This question will be threwed out at the meeting tonight, so be on hand and find out what plan of attack is decided upon."

"Greenville is beginning to take on a festive appearance as decorators bedeck main thoroughfares with flags and bunting," observed a citizen today.
"This is the annual custom in advance of fair week and puts everybody in tune for the big season of festivities provided for people from all sections of the county.
"Fair week will be as great as ever this year. The carnival on midway will be the largest ever before playing in this city, and there will be numerous other attractions to hold attention of the thousands to visit the grounds from day to day.
"The fair will actually get under way next Monday night and from then on the county will be treated to a carnival of fun and frolic for every member of the family."

"The death of Miller Huggins, veteran manager of the New York Yankees, removes from the realm of major league baseball one of its most picturesque figures," declared a national sports fan today.
"Huggins made a career that has been equaled by no other man of his day, and his passing will be greeted with profound sorrow in all sections of the country where the organizer of one of the greatest clubs in the world is known.
"The loss of such a peerless leader will be felt keenly by the Yanks, many times champions of the American league and winners of the world championship, and it is impossible to say right at this moment who will take up where Huggins left off.
"It is a monumental task for anybody, and the outcome of his efforts will be watched with interest from all parts of the country, and especially by the members of the baseball profession."

"It is gratifying to note that an improvement has been made in sales on the Greenville tobacco market during the present week," declared a business man today.
"This information will be received with peculiar pleasure by both business men and farmers because the tobacco market affects them more seriously than it does anybody else.
"The improvement is not only reflected in the quality of the tobacco but also the price situation. Prices were said to have been stronger on virtually all grades yesterday, and it is the ardent hope of everybody that they will continue that way."

"Winter shopping has gotten under way in this territory," reminded a merchant today, "and numbers of people from miles around are coming to Greenville to see what our merchants have to offer.
"This is the case each year, and usually the visitors are sent home with splendid bargains bought from counters that literally groaned under the weight of their burden.
"The showing this season is as brilliant as it has ever been before, and the thrifty shopper is urged to come to Greenville and look over the offerings before purchasing.
"Greenville merchants have made it a point to attempt to serve the people of this great trade territory in an efficient manner and to do this they are providing values that compare favorably with the largest shopping centers of the country.
"Before doing your shopping make it a point to come here and see what we have to offer you, Mr.
Shopper."

something interesting on exhibit? To be sure there is something on every farm in Pitt County that would make an interesting exhibit at the fair. If you have not already arranged to have an exhibit at the fair, do so now.

Farmers would do well to heed the advice now being given regarding the proper handling of their cotton.
According to the information many farmers are losing $5 to $25 per bale on account of gin-cut cotton as a result of the product being ginned green. Be sure that your cotton is in proper condition for only in this way can you prevent loss to yourself.

RECIPES OF DESTRUCTION

Here are a few good recipes for destroying your home, factory or any other property:

Let your electric wiring go without repairs or inspections over a long period of time; leave piles of oil-soaked rags or other waste lying around in corners of your garage or basement;
don't use fire-resistive construction in building, because it costs a little more; drop lighted matches and cigarette butts wherever you may happen to be; light your fires with gasoline.

No one, of course, is going to consciously use these "recipes" of destruction, or any of the many others of the same nature. Yet it is safe to say that millions of Americans have equal fire risks in their homes or places of business. Laziness, carelessness, ignorance - these are the best friends of the fire menace.

Every time the fire engines dash out in their race against time it means that someone has done something or failed to do something that a little intelligent would have warned him against. We Americans are the most careless of people when it comes to fire, and the most wasteful.

Fire Prevention Week will shortly be here. It will be a good time to profit by the knowledge and teachings of the experts who are fighting the discouraging war against fire. Almost every great conflagration would be prevented if we spent a few more dollars or a little more time in guarding against risks. Begin now.

Farmers Sell Your
TOBACCO IN GREENVILLE

Prices continued to move upward last week, the sales for the week totaling three and a quarter million pounds for an average price of $13.31 per hundred.

We are selling tobacco daily fr om practically every county in Eastern Carolina and the farmers say it is paying them to sell in Greenville, even though some of them travel at least 125 miles.

Those in position to absolutely know, say we are highest market and have keener buying competition than any market in the East.

Since Last Season-

Three of the warehouses have made large additions, which gives the market increased floor space of about two acres. Some of the factories have made enlargements to their buildings, installing additional redrying facilities and other equipment. The Greenville tobacco market is decidedly in better position to handle, daily, larger quantities of tobacco than ever before.

Tobacco Warehouses-

Greenville tobacco market has nine (9) large and modern brick warehouses with close to 14 acres floor space, sufficient to accommodate 2,225,000 lbs. of tobacco daily. These warehouses are managed by men of years of experience..

Buyers and Factories-

Greenville tobacco market has four (4) sets of buyers, representing all the important companies in the world, using bright tobacco. Nine (9) larger and modern tobacco factories are located here, additions having been made to several of them since last season, while one new plant has been built.

Roads and Locations-

Greenville tobacco market is located in the heart of Eastern North Carolina. Seven fine hard surfaced roads lead into Greenville. Tobacco growers living 125 miles from Greenville to bacco market sell their tobacco in Greenville and return home same day.

Death Treasure

R. A. J. WALLING

SYNOPSIS: Veronica and Tom are engaged. But their betrothal dinner is interrupted when Laxton summons Tom to the inn to meet Mr. Redslade—who is the escaped convict. Cousin John! Redslade reveals a curious story that begins to pry open the mystery of Pell. Redslade and Pell became friends in the army. After the war, Redslade inherited Newplace. Abbey but could not meet the mortgage on it. He fell into the hands of Smithins, an unscrupulous firm of money-lenders, and lost Newplace to them. Pell saved him from attempted suicide but the report of his death was accepted. Then followed his million-franc coups, the Dover affair, their prison terms and finally Redslade's escape. Laxton halts the recital. He has arranged a meeting in Fotherbury's library for that very night—an inquisition that will solve the mystery of Pell's death.

Chapter 40 TINY THREADS

It was just half-past nine when we passed under the gatehouse of Newplace. On the bridge six men had silently fallen behind us, saying no word to anybody.

Inside the gate one dropped out and stood motionless near the door of Marling's house. The other five followed us. At the fork of the road two disappeared towards the chiefters. The remaining three accompanied us to the house. One of these walked around to the back porch. The last of the six entered with us and stood aside in the hall. We made a single file procession in the vaulted corridor, now lit up by electric bulbs, and issued into the library.

Mr. Fotherbury and the doctor were sitting by the center table talking. Mr. Fotherbury rose and came to Laxton saying:

"Ah, professor, you brought your friend who's going to show us a way through the maze? Will you all find chairs?"

Laxton stood aside and indicated Redslade.

"A little surprise for you, Mr. Fotherbury," he said. "This is Mr. Redslade, the former owner of Newplace."

Mr. Fotherbury's surprise was not so little.

"I apologize for my rudeness," said he, after a moment of silence. "Mr. Redslade! Has he risen from the dead?"

Laxton laughed a little.

"Substantial ghost, eh?" he said. "But truly a ghost. Pell's ghost, in fact."

"Pell's ghost! Poor Pell!" Mr. Fotherbury shuddered. "Shan't we all sit down?"

"Yes, Mr. Fotherbury," said Laxton, "here's the ghost Pell was about to conjure up in this room when he lost his life. I'm sorry some of the people to whom he wished to show his ghost are not here now—particularly one of them—Marling."

"Ah—Marling. You know—"

"Yes, Marling is no longer available—however, we proceed without him. This, then, is the former owner of Newplace. It is also Pell's

One stayed in the shadow of the ghost. It is also an escaped convict—"

"Good gracious!" exclaimed Mr. Fotherbury.

"Yes—but don't be alarmed. I have already presented to him a free pardon. He escaped from Dartmoor on the 24th of June. He also knocked me out in your corridor on the 25th of June."

"I suppose this is not an elaborate joke, Laxton?" Mr. Fotherbury observed.

"Absolutely Protean, isn't it?" said Laxton, with his heartiest laugh. "But no—it's not a joke. I hadn't quite come to the end. He is also the person who was found in possession of the book stolen from your library, Mr. Fotherbury. But he now restores it at my request, and here it is."

Laxton turned back the covers of Sheldon and took out the vellum-bound quarto of the Abbot John Deacon.

Mr. Fotherbury's eyes opened wide.

"I think it quite likely," said Laxton, "that this book is the little string to guide us out of the maze, Mr. Fotherbury. As you know, it's a manuscript history of Newplace by the last Abbot. The part that interests us is the last page or two, written, so they tell me, at the beginning of 1538, when he Abbot got word that good King Hal was going to send his famous visitor, Bishop Ingworth, to sell 'up the place. The bishop, when he arrived, found there wasn't much boodle in Newplace for his Majesty."

"Yet Newplace had been a rich abbey. There were legends of great gifts made to it and of much treasure stored. What'd you think happened to it, Mr. Fotherbury?"

"I haven't the faintest idea, professor."

"Then you have missed the little thread in the Abbot's book," said

Laxton, tapping on the open page. "Here it is—plain as a turnpike, to anybody who can read church Latin and understand a map."

He pushed the book into the middle of the table and we all bent over to look at the map. It was a ground plan of the church. Laxton's finger picked out a circle.

"This is the translation of the few words referring to the mark: 'and of the highly gifted and very revered Abbot Fortunatus, from the altar 11 feet and from the north wall nine feet, at a depth of nine feet.'"

"Mr. Fotherbury, you've never found the Abbot's grave because there never was such an Abbot. Doesn't his name, Fortunatus, suggest anything to you?"

"You mean—treasure?" Mr. Fotherbury's eyes opened wider than ever.

"Precisely—treasure: the stuff that Henry the Eighth failed to get away with—"

"Extraordinary!" Mr. Fotherbury exclaimed. "How do you make it out?"

Laxton smiled, but did not answer.

"It's easily got at from the context," he said, vaguely. "But that's hardly our job tonight. We're to clear up the puzzle of Pell. And one of the reasons why I regret the absence of Marling is that Marling knew or suspected the existence of this boodle of the Abbot John's."

"Marling!" Mr. Fotherbury seemed bewildered.

"Marling—certainly he knew. May I ask how you first came in touch with Marling?"

"Oh, soon after I bought Newplace, he came to look over the abbey ruins. And I liked him. He seemed a cultured man. And I offered him the job of chaplain."

"And you never thought of inquiring into his credentials?"

"Well, you know—a clergyman—you gave him too much benefit—he wasn't a clergyman at all," said Laxton.

"What! Oh, come now, professor—"

"No sir—pot within miles of being a clergyman. Marling was a body card in a moneylender's office in the city. And it was in the moneylender's office that Marling heard of the Newplace treasure."

Mr. Fotherbury shook his white head slowly as one unable to fathom a mystery.

"How could he hear of it there?"

"From Mr. Redslade, who had the misfortune to be a client of the firm. The firm of Smithins. Never heard of it?"

"Smithins! Good gracious!" Mr. Fotherbury cried. "Smithins of Bishopsgate? The people that brought Newplace to my solicitor's notice—"

EVERYTHING ALL SET FOR COUNTY FAIR

Annual Pitt County Attraction to Get Under Way On Next Monday Evening

You can tell the folks that everything is all set for the opening of the annual Pitt County Fair next Monday night, W. H. Dall, Jr., secretary of the annual attraction, said today.

The fair is being opened on Monday night this year in order to give the people of this great agricultural section more time in which to view the hundreds of attractions on display in the various departments, Mr. Dall said. "Heretofore we have been opening on Tuesday morning, but it was deemed advisable to move the opening up one day to carry out our purpose of amusing the people over a longer period than customary."

Mr. Dall said one of the outstanding of the free attractions to be offered by the fair this year would be the Honey Family. These actors appeared at the State Fair last year, and received such wide-spread approval that the secretary of the Pitt County attraction decided to bring them to Greenville this year. It is one of the highest priced acts to be seen free of charge during the six days the fair is in progress.

The agricultural exhibits will be one of the highlights of the fair this year as usual, Mr. Dall declared. The exhibits will be representative of the great section in which they were produced and will carry out the idea of farming as one of the principal occupations of the locality. The livestock department will be filled with splendid specimens of the animal kingdom, and will reflect to no little extent what is being accomplished in Pitt county in this direction.

Of course there will be school and home exhibits in abundance, and these will graphically portray the progress of the various schools, and especially institutions of the rural districts where phenomenal progress has been made in past years. Always one of the outstanding events of the fair, the horse races this year will be up to usual standards. Many of the fastest horses of the various race circuits will be seen in action from day to day and this event alone is expected to draw hundreds of admirers from this and other counties.

A band from New York will have charge of the bandstand in the main grandstand each afternoon and night, and special selections rendered by members of the organization. Vocal selections will be one of the highlights of the musical programs and singers of ability will appear on the program from time to time.

West's Shows feature their trained wild animal exhibits along with their educated horses, ponies, dogs, monkeys and other high class entertainment on the super mammoth midway "Joy Plaza," which at night time resembles a modern Coney Island with its many thousands of electric lights turning the circus grounds into a modern Fairyland for the amusement of the outdoor going show folks of this section.

Four hundred people with the big show travel on the special all steel double length rail road car show train and according to the show's advance man, many big red gaudy circus wagons carrying the shows "white tops," menagerie, free acts and other show paraphernalia as well as the big tractors used to haul the equipment to the grounds is on the train.

All the meats, groceries, baked goods, soft drinks and ice cream as well as the valet service both laundry and dry cleaning for the show's 400 people will be contracted for here in town, according to the show's agents, here in advance of the big show.

Prayed For Rain—Got It. Killis, Turkey—It is uncertain whether Mustapha Kemal had the advantage of a weather forecast, but is in strong with some Moslem fundamentalists here. There was a long drought. Orders came by wire one night from the capital for everybody to go to the mosques and pray for rain. The next morning there was a deluge.

Pitt County Fair. West's Shows Attractions

FUN ON THE FARM

West's World Wonder Shows furnishing the midway amusement features at this year's Pitt County Fair opening next Monday evening at 8 o'clock, will have several fun houses on their big midway, but the Fun on the Farm will no doubt be the mecca of them all due to the thrills derived while going through this attraction, according to the show's advance men last evening at Fredericksburg, Va., a crowd of local folks took a car over Indian through the fun house and it got to laughing so hard they had to lower it from the hay loft by the hay fork route. West's Shows' 400 people, traveling on 30 all-steel double length railroad cars, are scheduled to come here on the Atlantic Coast Line Railway sometime late Saturday evening.

MANY WILL VIEW WORLD'S SERIES FROM HOUSETOPS

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Residents whose house-tops, porches and upper windows afford a view of Shibe park, where the coming world series between the Athletics and Cubs will be played, today went ahead with their plans to care for series customers, despite an order of the director of public safety that the practice would not be permitted. The director's order was issued several days ago, but thus far it apparently has not been taken seriously by more than a score of house-holders whose roofs have been used as bleachers in other world series and during games with the Yankees, when the capacity of the park was over taxed.

World Spunk Apple Thieves Radcliffe, Eng.—Six boys who stole apples from orchards were sentenced to be thrashed by their parents in court, but the magistrate changed his mind. Some of the parents were willing; others objected and then the magistrates decided they had no power to decree such punishment, though having no doubt that they would do it their own sons were involved.

Montague Thomas Weds London—Announcement is made of the marriage of Leslie Montague Thomas, son of J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal, to Miss Ursula Owen, whose aunt was once secretary for Lord Northcliffe. It is explained that the wedding was not secret; that the cabinet minister knew about it.

Automatic Catcher Berlin—An automatic catcher of hit and run motorists has been invented. A device under the chassis of a car at the instant of impact throws a winking glare on the license plate and shows the car's speed.

SUNDOWN STORIES

The entertainment committee of East Carolina Teachers College announces that the program of entertainments for the college year of 1929-30 will open on October 15 with the Isadora Duncan Dancers, and that there will be at least one big attraction each month thereafter through March.

The United States Army Band, "Pershing's Own," fresh from honors won in the summer at the Exposition of Seville, Spain, will make a concert tour this fall, giving two concerts here on November 25, a matinee and an evening concert. Paderewski will appear on December 16.

Tony Sarg's Marionettes, with both a matinee and an evening performance, will be here in January. "Rip Van Winkle," the most popular of all their repertoire, is one of the plays they will give.

"The Barber of Seville," one of the lightest and most amusing of all the grand operas, and yet one of the most tuneful and attractive, is the opera chosen by the Festival Grand Opera Company as the one to be given here in February.

A concert by one of the glee clubs or musical clubs from a North Carolina College or university will also be given in February.

Count Von Luckner, "The Sea Devil," the most dynamic and popular man on the speaking platform today, will be here in March. The countess is planning to make the southern tour with him.

Arrangements have been made for an all-season ticket to be sold, which will entitle the holder to admission for all nine times, the seven evening performances and the two matinees. There will also be offered a fall season ticket and a winter season ticket, so those who wish only the ticket that includes Paderewski can be accommodated. Season tickets are at a reduced rate, with the all season lower than the combination of the two, fall and winter.

Holder of season tickets have a right to the best seats available at the time they present their tickets at the box office for their reserved seat checks whenever there are two prices offered and the special ticket is necessary. Whenever there is
