

GRID TEAMS IN SCORELESS GAME HERE

Reversing the expectations of almost everyone, and overturning the dope bucket with a sweeping gesture, Greenville High yesterday played the highly touted Roanoke Rapids team to a standstill for one of the best high school games in many a day. Each team may perhaps count itself lucky not to have been scored upon, and still unfortunate in not making at least one touchdown. Four times did Roanoke Rapids possess the ball within the local ten yard line, and twice were within two thin yards of the coveted goal line, but Greenville held like a stone wall. Twice did Greenville have the ball near the ten yard line, and in the last three minutes stood on the 11-2 yard line with two chances to push the ball across, but the center of the invaders line held firm against Greenville's final line plunges, where perhaps had a more varied attack been offered, they would have scored.

In fact, they once carried the ball over the line, but the whistle of an official, perhaps too watchful this time, interrupted the play and brought the ball back to penalize Roanoke Rapids for offside. Had the horn not blown, Greenville could of course, have refused the penalty and accepted the natural gain of one play, in this case, from all appearances, a certain score.

Greenville kicked to Roanoke Rapids, who hit the line for no gain in three attempts and kicked a long punt. Dixon returned this for five yards, and Greenville proceeded to thrill the crowd by peeling off a first down and 16 yards simultaneously. Two more played netted four yards, and when the third failed to gain, Greenville punted back to the 30-yard line. Each side then attempted in generally unavailing attempts to gain with Roanoke Rapids once within easy scoring distance during the first half, but Greenville recovered the ball and went to mid-field before half time was called.

The second half, or rather the third quarter, favored the visitors strongly. Just after the beginning of the last quarter, however, Greenville had on the 20-yard line, and here began an offense whose unexpectedness, boldness and success electrified the rosters. Straight down the field, play by play, yard by yard, first down by first down, went wild with enthusiasm. Capt. Briley and Hodges thru the line, Smith around end, straight plays and fakes, with real which bewildered the defense and delighted the spectators. Straight down the line, from their own 20-yard marker past the line, until it seemed that time must be called or strength exhausted before that precious tally was possible. That score was never made, but the way in which Greenville outplayed the last year's conference champions in that final quarter gave to every Greenville follower a satisfactory only less than that of winning would have been. As a matter of fact, it constituted for Greenville, a real moral victory, and from now on Greenville will face every opponent with a feeling of confidence and success that has, until this time, been somewhat lacking among both players and the school at large.

The largest crowd ever to witness a G. H. S. football game was on hand yesterday, and at the present rate, still more will be expected on Nov. 1, when Farmville comes here. The best school spirit ever shown was clearly manifest, as well, and perhaps that may have had something to do with the game.

Ayden Tornados Suffer Defeat

The Ayden High school Tornados suffered their first defeat of the season yesterday, when they played Weldon on their fair grounds field at the Halifax county fair. Weldon scored in the first and second periods, and Ayden made their only score in the third period. The score being 12 to 7. There was about two thousand fans to witness the game, and all through the game the tremendous crowd boomed the decisions of the umpires, referees and head linesmen. According to reports it was 15 men to 11 men. The Weldon High school team, played a clean game, and are due credit for some good playing. At the start of the game one of Weldon's best players had the misfortune of getting his collar bone broken. The Ayden club gave him a big hand when he was carried from the field. This game does not count against Ayden in the class B championship series which will get under way within the next few weeks.

THREE ZERO CONTESTS IN CAROLINAS

By Associated Press
Three football games in North and South Carolina yesterday saw the victorious teams, Clemson, University of South Carolina and Guilford hang a zero on opposing teams.

Engaging Wofford six days before they meet the University of South Carolina in Columbia, the Clemson Tigers smacked viciously at the Terriers and won, 30 to 0, while the University of South Carolina Gamecocks exposed their spurs to Presbyterian College and tore the Blue Stockings to pieces, 41 to 0.

Guilford College, the over-victorious team, "nose-egged" Atlantic Christian College, 7 to 0, but Bunn's six yard smash over the Christian's line to a touchdown was sufficient, although Cheek kicked a goal.

Clemson and South Carolina exposed enough of their football secrets yesterday to make the fans fairly "itch" to see the teams in action in the big game next week.

Interest today centered in the clash between the University of North Carolina and University of Georgia. Booked for the Kenan Memorial Stadium, the game is calculated to draw a crowd of folks that will approach the record set by Virginia and Carolina when the stadium was dedicated a year or two ago.

"Catfish" Smith's toe is regarded as an important factor in the game, if the contest is a close one. Smith did some nice booting for the Bulldogs against Yale last week.

Davidson College and the Citadel will play at Davidson, and the game brings together two teams that are rated even in the advance "dope." The Wildcat's great showing against the Army last week has resulted in their stock mounting, while the Citadel has a well balanced team.

one that has a slight edge on Davidson.

Duke University will engage in an inter-sectional struggle with the Naval Academy team. Changes have been made in the Duke line-up in the hope that the Devils will be able to average the 6 to 0 trimming handed them last year. "Jan" Jankoe, Duke's star fullback, is slated to start against the sailors.

Chicago Minister Makes Address At Colored Schools

Rev. M. H. Herlihan, of Moody School, Chicago, was a pleased visitor at the colored schools Friday morning and gave some very timely and helpful remarks. He expressed himself as one of our white friends from the north, as in the days of old.

He talked upon the essentials of good character and gave us a contrast of God and the Devil. He stressed the fact that God is good and all good things must come from Him, truth, honesty, love, obedience and in fact all help comes from Him. "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and all other things shall be added unto you—this is the foundation upon which we build, and if our foundation is not the Lord, our building cannot stand. As to the building of strong character, he told us that a person who loves everyone is strong in character, and that a person cannot build character enough without the help of the Lord, to enter into heaven. Evil and the Devil is stronger than we are and it takes the Bible and God to overcome them.

Booker T. Washington's success was due to his strength in character and this through God helped him love his enemy.

The young men and women of today have before them a great problem, that of evil and the only solution is the Lord Jesus Christ. We are not blamed for having knowledge of evil, but blamed if we don't ask God for deliverance and persons who hate each other are Devil-like; persons who love are God-like.

The principal and teachers are trying each day to instill within the pupils those things which will cause them to think, do and say nothing which is evil. Remarks of this kind are always appreciated.

We will be glad anytime for our white ministers of the city to come and give us short talks of the same nature and, in fact, more of our white friends to visit us and see what is being done for the good of our youth.—Reported.

Giving a Good Account of Itself Read what Viking Owners Say!

ALTHOUGH Viking is a new name to the automotive industry, this General Motors product has achieved a measure of success in the medium-price field which stamps it a car destined to create new standards of motor car value as well as new heights of motoring enjoyment.

Already, hundreds of motorists in all parts of the country have written to Olds Motor Works expressing their appreciation of Viking style and comfort . . . their enthusiasm for Viking performance. These owners praise Viking's superior qualities on the basis of their previous experience with many types and makes of cars. Their words are doubly significant for that reason.

Because Viking has inspired so many owners to put into words their opinions of this new 90-degree V-eight, and because these words describe with unerring directness the superior qualities which Oldsmobile and General Motors engineers worked for four years to build into this car, we are reproducing a few of these remarks, word for word, to show how actual experience has judged the Viking.

"Being a 'sophisticated' car owner, having owned many, I wanted the Viking when I saw it. When I drove it, the car sold itself to me. The car I turned in was a good one . . . I was just sold on something so much better in the Viking. It's the same old story, in America sales are stimulated by creating better and better products."
—Salt Lake City, Utah

"I saw the Viking in your showroom here, and on looking it over I liked its roomy body, ample power, good brakes, automatic radiator shutters—and other features too numerous to mention. I am satisfied that it is the best car I ever had."
—Elba, Neb.

"Knowing Viking to be a General Motors car, and having had very satisfactory experience with Oldsmobile, I bought it as soon as I saw its good-looking body lines and heard its price. I have owned many different cars, but I think that anyone who buys a Viking will find it an ideal all-round car, comfortable, and especially good-looking."
—New Orleans, La.

"Am greatly pleased with Viking's beautiful lines. The car is easy to handle, easy riding, has plenty of power and quick getaway in traffic, and provides plenty of seating room."

The motor is simple and easy to get at for valve grinding and adjustments."
—Pontiac, Mich.

"I like the quiet performance of Viking's eight-cylinder engine. Viking rides like a Pullman car. And the finish and upholstery are as good if not better than higher priced cars offer."
—Tacoma, Wash.

"I'm particularly sold on Viking's V-type eight-cylinder engine—its roomy, adjustable front seat—large capacity gas tank—easy riding—81 horsepower performance—hill-climbing ability—and the good workmanship on its body, and its balanced chassis design."
—Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

"One of my friends in Milford who owns a Viking gave me a demonstration in his car. I was won over by its fine performance and good general appearance. I believe it is by far the best buy for the money."
—Milford, N. H.

These expressions of owner opinion, taken at random from the many received, are indicative of the splendid service which Viking is giving in hundreds of American families throughout the country.

Ask your own friends who drive Vikings to tell you about the thorough satisfaction their cars are giving. Then examine and drive the car yourself. Your own experience will tell you why Viking owners are so keenly enthusiastic about Viking's comfort, performance, dependability, and all-round excellence.

Referring to compulsory automobile insurance the speaker outlined the dismal failure the experiment has proved in Massachusetts. The only state where it has been tried. "Not only has it been a failure from a standpoint of preventing accidents, because it has really increased accidents but it has also been a complete failure from a standpoint of protection and cost to the public," he said. Increase of approximately 300 per cent in the cost of automobile liability insurance has ensued in Massachusetts since enactment of the law. Mr. Roberts said.

Table IV shows by years the cases reported, white and colored, and the deaths occurring in the county. A striking feature of this presentation is the preponderance of masses reported among the white population as contrasted with the deaths among white. Approximately two-thirds of the cases reported are among the white population, whereas only one-fifth of the deaths are among the white group.

DIZZINESS AND CONSTANT PAIN

Health Improved and Work Easier After She Had Taken Cardui.

McAlester, Okla.—"My work seemed a burden, and I never felt able to do my work with pleasure as I do now," writes Mrs. Ebb Halle, in telling about a run-down condition of health in which she found herself some time ago. Mrs. Halle lives at 524 West Cherokee Street, this city.

"I had constant pains in my head, and felt so dizzy I had to lie down most of the time," writes Mrs. Halle. "I had been reading how other ladies had taken Cardui and had been helped. I decided that it might help me. I have never regretted taking Cardui. After taking a few bottles, I was much improved. My health and strength were wonderful. Work seemed easy."

"Since that time, if I feel in springtime that I need a tonic, I take a bottle or two of Cardui with the same good results." For over fifty years, women who had suffered, or who had gotten into a run-down, weak condition, have been enthusiastic in their praise of Cardui.

STOLEN AUTOMOBILES.
 According to recent figures, 116,000 automobiles have been stolen in the past year. These cars were valued at $81,000,000.

When you reflect that an automobile represents from $500 to $2,500, on an average, that it is oftentimes carelessly parked and left unlocked by its owner, and that the thief not only does not "haul" it off but can ride away faster than ever, the wonder is that so few of them are stolen.

ABOUT TOWN

"I am glad to see the Star Spangled Banner floating proudly before our High School building," remarked a citizen today.

"Every boy should know the interesting history of the flag. It will encourage patriotism and love of country."

"We hope to make the mingled one of the outstanding home attractions of past years," said a member of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion, sponsors of the show.

"The young actors have already begun training and by Friday night, October 25, they will be able to play their parts in a way to elicit commendation from the minstrel-loving public."

"The attraction will be staged in the high school building and it is to be hoped the show will be greeted by a capacity audience."

"Grammar schools at Hertford have been closed because of a threatened epidemic of scarlet fever and diphtheria," observed a Greenville man today, speaking of the news report sent out from Hertford yesterday.

"This should cause the citizens of other cities to be on the alert to safeguard their children against similar epidemics."

"The Pitt county health department has been inoculating school children against diphtheria for several days. As this is the only way to immunize against the disease, it is incumbent upon the public to assist the department in every way possible."

"The greatest danger lies in the child under school age. The health department is powerless to reach such children without co-operation of the public-spirited citizen."

"Think over the matter, Mr. Citizen, and do your part in saving Pitt county from an epidemic like that threatening Hertford."

"If you will look over the names of some of the men attending the Home-Coming celebration in North Carolina you will see that they hold an enviable position in the world of business and finance," said a Greenville business man today, in speaking of the extent which the celebration has taken on at the capital city.

"These men are proud of the progress which their home state has made during the last several years, and have come home to express their appreciation of the achievements. They are men who have gone out into the world and made a name for themselves—names that have all the luster of stars in the world of politics, religion, finance and education."

"North Carolina is proud of these sons and hopes they will be able to return to home soil each year to join the multitudes in celebration of the greatness of the Old North State."

"Credit lists of the Merchants Association are being compiled, and persons who did not get an opportunity of settling up their accounts during Pay Up Period should make an effort to do so at once," said a member of the organization today.

"This credit list will show the merchants who pays and who does not, and the man that has neglected his honest debts will find it difficult to obtain recognition the next several months."

"Think over the matter, Mr. Citizen, and if you owe an account of long standing, get busy and close it at once and get your name on the favorable side of the credit list."

"Radio's Richest Voice"

THE LUXURY HUSBAND

SYNOPSIS: Barbara and Henderson are tired in a midnight treasure hunt, and the finale leads them to the deserted ruins of an abbey. Henderson suddenly takes Barbara in his arms and is making fervent love to her when Ray's voice breaks the quiet. Barbara manages to avert a clash between the men but when she and Ray return to their bedroom, a stormy scene ensues. Ray explains he has been playing in a London orchestra to earn enough money to pay his gambling debts. Both are desperately unhappy and Ray proposes that they return to New York. Barbara finally assents.

FAMILY
Several weeks later Barbara's Uncle Henry, otherwise Henry James Vandaveer Landon, was holding an informal court. He was entitled to do so, for he was the oldest and wealthiest member of the Landon family, being several times a millionaire.

The others, secretly hoping that some day some portion of his millions might come their way, came at his bidding, to flatter, to cringe, to obey—all except Barbara. She defied her Uncle Henry and she loved him.

"Barbara!" he exclaimed. "I never thought you'd marry a penniless fellow of no social standing whatsoever. I had thought, until now, that John had done wisely in leaving you in full control of your money. If you had to get married abroad, you might at least have bought a duke or prince when you were about 17!"

"I don't care to buy a husband, thanks," Barbara retorted furiously. "Great heavens! What else have you done? You can't tell me that you haven't bought this fellow when you pay all his bills, and house and feed him besides. I think that you might have chosen one who would have brought more credit to the family."

Barbara was flaming by this time. "Don't you, Uncle Henry, or I'll hit you," she cried angrily. "You don't understand Ray. He doesn't intend to live off me. He's going to work."

"At what?" he blurted. "Why, he's trying to put some of his songs across."

"Bah!" said her uncle with increased vigor. "How far does he think he'll get at that? Anyhow, what does he intend doing in the meantime?"

"He—he talks of getting a position in an orchestra," Barbara conceded reluctantly.

"Do you mean that he intends to get a job blowing that abominable saxophone of his?" Mr. Landon fairly shouted. "Fine thing for us to have a relative of ours playing in some cheap jazz band! You can't tell me honestly Barbara, that you think it suitable?"

No, Barbara had to confess that she did not. But he might be persuaded into doing something else, she suggested. Her Uncle Henry might place him in his own office.

"Hell! don't you think I've thought of that?" the older man demanded irritably. "I put it up to him the second day you both returned home. He was in his room blowing on that damned instrument of his—and instead of stopping when I came in, he had the nerve to say, 'Wait a moment, will you? I want to finish working out this tune that's running through my head.'"

"I sat there for some minutes while he made the most atrocious sounds I've ever heard. Finally I said, 'Shut up, young fellow. I haven't time to sit here all day listening to you.' He put aside his saxophone at that and said, 'I see you aren't fond of music.' We didn't seem to hit it off after that. I offered him a job, but he told me firmly that he hadn't any interest in stocks and shares and that he intended to stick to his profession."

"Preposterous!" said Mrs. Raymond Higgins, a widowed cousin who had expectations.

"Absurd! I never heard anything like it," said Mrs. T. Laurentz, who had received a lawyer's letter from her dressmaker that morning and was wondering how to broach the subject to dear Uncle Henry.

"These musical fellows never get anywhere," remarked George Landon, the youngest brother and owner of a crumby factory. "I went through college with one who practiced hours a day on his piano and now the poor goof isn't earning one-eighth of what I am."

"It isn't necessary for Ray to make money," Barbara pointed out, "but he's crazy with the notion of being independent. Maybe I could talk him into going in with you, Uncle Henry. At least I can try."

"Well, you can tell him my offer still holds good," said Henry James Vandaveer Landon magnanimously.

Barbara, being a woman and a very feminine one at that, was careful to place Ray at a disadvantage before she even began the argument.

She picked upon the hour before bedtime, when she was wont to sit curled on his knees. She had put on her daintiest negligee, a thing of chiffon and lace that had no warmth whatsoever unless you could call a ruffle of ostrich feathers some protection for the throat—a garment that intrigued Ray completely because it was so entirely feminine and unnecessary.

She perched herself on his knees, as usual, but there was a distracted air about her and she frowned.

He saw that something had upset her and finally inquired: "What's the matter, Barbara?"

It took him quite a while to persuade her to tell him and, when she did, she had the air of conferring a great favor.

"You've offended my Uncle Henry."

"Do you mean because I refused a place in his office? It was mighty kind of him, but you know that it isn't in my line."

"But I thought you wanted to be independent?"

He set his teeth grimly. "You bet I do!"

He did not add that, after three years of knocking around, he felt like a fish out of water in this elaborate establishment that his wife maintained. It was absurd—but, knowing that in no way did he contribute to its upkeep, he felt that it was an impediment on his part even to summon the butler for a glass of ice water. He had wanted to apologize to the man and hold the door open for him to pass out again.

"I tried out for two orchestras today," he remarked suddenly. "She clung closer to him. He liked the perfume on her hair."

"But I don't want you to go into a stupid old jazz band, Ray. I want you to go in with my Uncle Henry. Wouldn't you try it for a time, if only to please me?"

His arms tightened around her while he tried to argue with her gently.

"But I wouldn't be any use in business. I'd make a fool of myself. Even in college I hadn't any head for figures."

"You could try," she pouted. "You would try if you loved me."

"I do love you, Barbara."

"Then if that's the truth you'll stop all this nonsense about playing in a jazz band. You've no idea how humiliated it makes me feel. My relatives and friends laugh at it—I know they do. And you must see that it is absurd yourself. I believe you'll make me hate you, Ray, if you go on being so stubborn!"

she got her way. Ray was at a disadvantage when she was lying in his arms, her hands caressing his hair. Besides, he was sufficiently fair-minded to see, in a measure, her point of view.

"Very well, Barbara, I'll try it out—since you're so set on it. But I warned you that it wouldn't be a man's useless."

She cooed with pleasure, gave him one long, quick hug. "Ray, you darling thing. . . . I knew you'd end by being sensible."

But that night, as he tossed sleeplessly in his bed, he could not decide whether he had been sensible or just a poor, weak fool.

But business and joy don't agree. Continue the story with Monday's installment.

Farmers Sell Your TOBACCO IN GREENVILLE

Prices have shown a continued gain this week. The market sold 4,501,516 pounds, averaging $23.39 per hundred for all sold.

We are selling tobacco daily from practically every county in Eastern Carolina and the farmers say it is paying them to sell in Greenville, even though some of them travel at least 125 miles.

Those in position to absolutely know, say we are highest market and have keener buying competition than any market in the East.

Since Last Season—

Three of the warehouses have made large additions, which gives the market increased floor space of about two acres. Some of the factories have made enlargements to their buildings, installing additional redrying facilities and other equipment. The Greenville tobacco market is decidedly in better position to handle, daily, larger quantities of tobacco than ever before.

Tobacco Warehouses—

Greenville tobacco market has nine (9) large and modern brick warehouses with close to 14 acres floor space, sufficient to accommodate 2,225,000 lbs. of tobacco daily. These warehouses are managed by men of years of experience.

Buyers and Factories—

Greenville tobacco market has four (4) sets of buyers, representing all the important companies in the world, using bright tobacco. Nine (9) larger and modern tobacco factories are located here, additions having been made to several of them since last season, while one new plant has been built.

Roads and Locations—

Greenville tobacco market is located in the heart of Eastern North Carolina. Seven fine hard surfaced roads lead into Greenville. Tobacco growers living 125 miles from Greenville tobacco market sell their tobacco in Greenville and return home same day.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at decline 1 to 3 points, with active months showing net losses of 5 to 9 points, under a continuation of the recent selling which was probably promoted by the heavy movement of cotton into sight and expectation of large spinning figures from the census bureau next week. December contracts sold off to 17.84 and March to 18.23, but there was a considerable trade demand at 18-14 cents for March and the market was rather steady at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables reported Continental and Bombay buying but said the demand for cotton cloth was less insistent with buyers cautious. Cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 143,000 bales against 102,000 last year.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The dramatic decline in stock prices, that has seen in progress most of the week, culminated at a violent storm of selling during today's two-hour session, carrying the day's turnover to approximately 100,000 shares, a large volume for one day.

Fewer scores of leading issues were depressed from 5 to 20 points, and many broke through the low levels reached in the week earlier in the month. After a heavy opening, powerful banking support was thrown into the market for a time, causing in some of the so-called "margin" shares, but it soon withdrew before the onrush of sellers.

Today's action surprised sharply. With the previous days' week which were accompanied by week trading, the turnover for the first and last sessions averaging about 50,000 shares. This morning's drop gave evidence of a thorough cleaning out of weakened margin securities and the new test point liquidation of the week.

Saving operations were in evidence, and wild rumors were circulated to the effect that a powerful financial operator was in attendance, although they were promptly and emphatically denied responsive quarters.

The days news included the overnight announcement of the passing of the dividend on United Cigar preferred, and the stock exchange announcement that the ratio of member borrowings to the total market value of listed stocks rose during September to the highest level of the year, both rather unsettling developments. The week-end trade and business reviews indicated that fundamental condition remained stable, despite curtailment of activity in some of the major industries.

Several stocks reached new lows, including General Motors, United Corp. and United Gas Improvement. Auburn Auto, a rather mercurial issue, tumbled 25 points. U. S. Steel was supported for a time, but some turned downward and sold off more than 3 points. Johns-Manville was bid up more than 5 points, only to react sharply.

Withdraws Request for Judicial Aid in Pantages Case

Los Angeles, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Echoes of the recent trial of Mrs. Alexander Pantages, wife of the theater magnate, were aroused today by an announcement by Superior Court Judge Carlos Hardy that he had withdrawn a request for judicial aid in hearing the forthcoming probation application of Mrs. Pantages.

In the same statement Judge Hardy denounced the Rev. R. P. Shuler, militant minister, for "Pursuing a course of action which inevitably will tend to arouse a blind and deluded mob spirit in this city and county."

Judge Hardy interrupted the trial of Mrs. Pantages on a manslaughter charge to accuse Mr. Shuler and the Rev. G. A. Briesleb of contempt because of their pulp utterances about the trial while it was in progress. They were found guilty by three Superior court judges, including Judge Hardy, sitting en banc, and given nominal fines.

Later Judge Hardy requested the presiding judge of the Superior court to appoint two other judges to sit with him in the probation hearing. The request came soon after District Attorney Byron Pitts announced he was investigating a report that Aimee Sempie McPherson, evangelist, attended a conference at the Pantages home within an hour after a verdict of guilty was returned against Mrs. Pantages, and that the name of Judge Hardy was mentioned in the conference.

The connection between Judge Hardy and the evangelist which aroused interest was the impeachment of the judge last January, in which he was charged with illegally accepting $2,500 from Mrs. McPherson for legal advice while she was facing a conspiracy charge. He was acquitted.

Judge Hardy advanced no reason for withdrawing his request for aid at the probation hearing of Mrs. Pantages.

Arrest Four Men in Plot Against Cuban Government

Havana, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The secret police believed today they had stamped out a plot against the government of President Machado, with arrest of four Cubans, formerly prominent in the island's public life. Charges of sedition probably will be filed against the conspirators.

Charges of attempt to incite rebellion may be filed against 14 others, whose names were signed to a revolutionary manifesto seized by the government agents, the federal authorities said.

A signed statement by Colonel Carlos Mendieta, General Francisco Peraza, Colonel Roberto Mendez, and J. Munis Vergara, the first of whose names headed the manifesto, declared "the arrests provide irrefutable proof that a reign of terror exists in Cuba."

The statement further declared the alleged revolutionary manifesto merely "explained in a calm manner the plans by which we hoped to obtain restitution of public liberties to take the place of the dictatorial methods adopted by the government which has silenced opposition has adulterated the constitution."

The four men arrested and charged with conspiracy against the government were Alfredo Avila, plantation owner of Santiago de Las Vegas; Pedro Valdez Fernandez, Attorney; Dr. Antonio Beruff Y Mendieta, Havana attorney, and Sexto Aguirre Padron.

The secret police said the names of others were on the manifesto.

Woman Communist Ordered in Court on Contempt Charge

Altadena, Calif., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Because she wrote a letter asking Superior Judge Charles Allison of San Bernardino to "go easy" with six young persons charged with communist activities, Mrs. Kate Crane Garz, wealthy Altadena resident, was under summons today to appear before the jurist next Wednesday on contempt charges.

Judge Allison quoted Mrs. Garz as having asked him, in her letter, to "go easy with these young enthusiasts." Six persons were convicted of conspiracy in the operation of an alleged communist camp in Yucaipa Valley.

The judge charged Mrs. Garz with having "knowingly, willfully and unlawfully" written the letter "for the purpose of unlawfully influencing, coercing and prejudicing him."

Order Arrest of Seaman in Murder At New Orleans

New Orleans, Oct. 19.—(AP)—After dispatching a New York police officer to arrest Second Officer John McGouldrick as soon as the steamship Creole docks with him aboard, District Attorney Lauder Verrez today bent to the task of presenting evidence in the Kraft death case to a grand jury.

The Plaquemines Parish grand jury assembled this morning to receive the request of Mr. Perez for an indictment against at least one person, for the slaying of Jaek Kraft by a bullet in his heart during the progress of the steamship Creole up the Mississippi to its New Orleans dock ten days ago.

Last night the Plaquemines district attorney announced that lone Ord, chief and attractive companion of Kraft, New York pressman and adventurer, had told him who committed the crime. Before being silenced by the district attorney, Miss Ord said "that it couldn't have been anybody but Mac." Previously the girl had withstood the questioning of Perez and the operative of a private detective agency for days, claiming she knew nothing.

After his talk with Miss Ord, the district attorney spent several hours with Sam Epstein, steward on the Creole, and friend of Kraft, the girl and McGouldrick.

Kraft disappeared from the steamship's deck late one night, 53 miles below New Orleans in Plaquemines Parish. A few days later his body was found, the heart pierced by a bullet.

Indian Found In Serious Condition Near Capital City

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Ed Turner, a Cherokee Indian identified as the son of "Chife" Turner of the reservation in Cherokee county, was found unconscious today beside the railroad tracks at Method and is not expected to live. At a local hospital, where it was said he was believed to have a fractured skull.

Turner, according to Deputies Maddrey and Smith, who investigated the case, either fell off or was struck by a train sometime during the night. A partly filled bottle which was said to contain whiskey was found near the body.

Turner had been in Raleigh for sometime after leaving a wild west show which exhibited here.

CHEVROLET SIX

—the Car of Universal Appeal!

SINCE January 1st, over a million one hundred and thirty-five thousand six-cylinder Chevrolets have been produced. Naturally, this is an outstanding industrial achievement. But it is more than that. It is a great public endorsement of Chevrolet's policy of progress: to build a quality automobile whose design incorporates every possible feature of progressive engineering . . . whose beauty is distinctive, smart and satisfying . . . whose reliability is assured by fine materials and precision manufacture . . . and whose price is so low as to be within reach of the great majority of the people. We want you to know what this policy has meant in the development of the Chevrolet Six—the modern car of universal appeal. We want you to know that Chevrolet has brought within the reach of everybody, everywhere, all the advantages of smooth, six-cylinder performance. Come in today!
