

MONTANA MAN BEGINS FLIGHT OVER ATLANTIC

Aviator Diteman Hopped Off From Harbor Grace This Morning for London

Harbor Grace, N. F., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Without a word of warning to his intention, Aviator Diteman, of Billings, Mont., hopped off today for London, England. His destination did not become known until after his departure, when a letter to airport officials was opened.

The aviator carried only 165 gallons of gasoline when he took off. The letter said he intended to head over Cape St. Francis and set his course straight for London.

New York, Oct. 22.—(AP)—U. F. Diteman flew from New York to St. John, New Brunswick, early this morning, saying he intended to search family records in Carleton county in connection with an estate in which he was interested. At the time nothing was known of his intentions for a trans-Atlantic flight.

Dr. James H. Kimball, of the New York Weather Bureau, said weather conditions were "fairly favorable" over most of the Atlantic ocean.

Kimball, who has been in charge of the trans-Atlantic flight, said he had been in a Diteman's plans.

Billings, Mont., Oct. 22.—(AP)—W. F. Diteman, who hopped off at Harbor Grace, N. F., today for London, is better known here as a cattle man than as an airplane pilot, although he is a licensed pilot and has been flying for some time. He is 46 years old. The machine Diteman has been using was purchased at Kansas City some months ago when he took a shipment of cattle to market there.

Within the past month, Diteman flew to Winnipeg and Calgary, and had not returned here. His wife and two children were reported to-day to be here but could not be located. Diteman came here two years ago from Missouri and ranches in southeastern Montana and Wyoming.

Marshall, Mo., Oct. 22.—(AP)—The Bartine Low Wing monoplane in which W. F. Diteman today took off on a trans-Atlantic flight was not designed for such a lone course. Russell Nicholas of the Nicholas-Beezley Aircraft Company, builders of the little ship said today, Nicholas was surprised to learn that Diteman had attempted the hazardous voyage in the plane.

Diteman's plane is a two-place, open cockpit machine. It is a stock model, No. 3 Bartine and of all metal construction. It is the same ship in which D. F. Zimmerman last summer made a non-stop flight from Brownsville, Texas, to Winnipeg, Canada, a distance of 1,650 miles in 16 hours, establishing a world's record for a non-stop flight for a plane of its class.

When Diteman purchased the plane about three months ago it was equipped with a Warner Scarab motor, a seven cylinder radial type engine developing 110 horsepower. This was a more powerful motor than used by Zimmerman in his flight. The fuel capacity of the plane at that time was 156 gallons. The Warner Scarab consumes about six gallons of gasoline an hour. On this last Diteman would have gasoline enough to last about 27 hours, if he carried 165 gallons as reported. It has a cruising speed of 95 miles an hour, a wing spread of 32 feet, 10 inches, is 21 feet, six inches long, six feet 10 inches high and weighs empty 676-1/2 pounds.

Methodists Would Permit Ministers to Use Tobacco

Richmond, Va., Oct. 22.—(AP)—The Virginia conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, centers that ministers be permitted to use tobacco.

A memorial to the general conference was adopted yesterday by a vote of 170 to 132 over objections of many clerical delegates.

The Rev. Lee C. Crutefield spoke of the resolution as aiding in the effort to "tobaccoize the whole world and put a cigarette in the lips of our young girls."

The Rev. W. B. Jett said: "These arguments and this desire to repeal is the same sort as the desire to repeal the prohibition law. If we are to ask our young preachers to smoke why not have every woman smoke? I hear a motion to that effect. That we ask our women to smoke?" Bishop Collins Denny asked: "The Rev. Ernest Stephen argued: 'This is a condition and not a theory that confronts us. There is no inherent wrong in the use of tobacco. This is a matter of individual conscience, not a matter of morals.'"

Striker Arrested In the Death of Woman Communist

Gastonia, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Horace Wheeler, one of the two men ordered held with the seven already held in connection with the shooting of Ella May Wiggins, Bessemer City union member, killed by an Anti-Communist mob, was arrested here last night. He has arranged bond in the sum of $1,000 pending further action in the case.

The other man ordered held following a continuance of the coroner's investigation yesterday was Jack Carver, father of Dewey Carver, one of the four men released by a Cabarrus county grand jury on charges of flogging Ben Wells, British Communist leader.

Mr. Carver is now in Waynesville, his home. He was in Gastonia on a visit at the time of the shooting. He has not yet been served.

PRICES SHOW GAIN ON N. Y. COTTON MARKET

December and January Delivery Cotton Advanced $1.50 a Bale Early Today

New York, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Cotton for December and January delivery advanced more than $1.50 a bale at the opening of the New York market today.

The rise was attributed to a statement of the Federal Farm board yesterday to the effect that prevailing cotton prices were too low and that the board proposes to lend as much as $100,000,000 to enable growers to hold back the crop.

The firm resistance which developed in the last half hour of yesterday's 6,000,000 share session when scores of issues were swept to new lows for the year, was regarded optimistically by Wall Street.

Also a reassuring statement by Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City bank, just returned from abroad, vastly improved market sentiment.

"In a market like this, said Mr. Mitchell, fundamentals are the things to look for, and if you can show me anything wrong with the situation generally, then I would be concerned. Brokers loans, if better understood, would cease to be a factor. There should be nothing alarming about their present rise when you consider the enormous amount of rights which have been taken up during the past month." He added that the decline had probably overrun itself, and represented a healthy reaction from top heavy levels.

Although Mr. Mitchell favored an increase in the Federal Reserve's discount rate last spring, an action which was not taken until August, he said he now believed the lowering of the present rate is desirable. "It would help business, aid the bond and mortgage market and help generally to restore full prosperity," he said.

Bobbed Heads Taxed

Altford, Switzerland.—Bobbed heads have been taxed 12 cents each for a year in the Canton Uri, but so far as revenue is concerned the tax is a fizzle. Most women have refused to pay, dared the authorities to do their worst and asserted they have the same right to haircut as men.

President Hoover Speaks At Opening of Improved Ohio River Canal System

Eden Park, Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Standing on a towering bluff overlooking the Ohio river, President Hoover today dedicated a white granite shaft commemorating the completion of the lock system on that waterway from Pittsburgh to Cairo.

The chief executive paid special tribute to the long labors of Senator Theodore E. Burton and Speaker Nicholas Longworth on behalf of the improved waterway and he expressed deep regret that the Senator who was chairman of the first inland waterways commission, was ill and not present.

Mr. Hoover was presented to an audience of several thousand on the bluff, and untold thousands who heard the ceremonies on a nation-wide radio hookup. Governor Cooper of Ohio presented the chief executive. Governors Cooper and Conley of West Virginia had greeted Mr. Hoover here.

ROCKY MOUNT WOMAN TAKES HER OWN LIFE

Mrs. F. C. Brent Was Found Dead in Her Kitchen As Result of Gas Asphyxiation

Rocky Mount, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The body of Mrs. Gordon C. Brent, pretty 21-year-old wife of G. C. Brent, local tire store manager, was found dead in the kitchen of her home at 809 Marigold street shortly after midnight last night. The windows were tightly closed and all jets on the gas range were open. She died, according to the statement of Dr. H. Lee Lutz, city health officer from gas inhalation.

The body was found by her husband which he returned to the home about midnight. He notified police and the health officer.

A small baby was in another room of the house, and the doors and windows to the room were closed; the child was not affected by the gas fumes.

A hastily written note on the kitchen table gave explicit directions for the feeding of her tiny baby, but the note gave no indication of the causes that led her to close herself in the kitchen and turn on gas.

Her husband, who is a tire store manager, was out of town. It was learned this morning, until midnight.

Dr. Large stated that she had probably turned the gas on at about ten o'clock and had been dead for two hours when the body was found.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Brent are formerly of Wilson, N. C., and had not lived in Rocky Mount for very long. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Rankin of Wilson, and came from a prominent family. Rankin is a highway engineer.

Coroner J. E. L. Thomas of Tarboro will hold an inquest here. However, indications are that the inquest will be very brief.

Mr. Cox was well-known throughout the county. He had made his home in Greenville for the past five years and had gained a host of friends. He was employed by the Imperial Tobacco company at the time he left for the Sanatorium.

Funeral services were conducted from the home of his father yesterday afternoon. Rev. J. A. Brunson, pastor of the Christian church, officiating.

Local Tobacco Market Sets New Price Record; Monday's Avg. $26.78

The highest prices of the season held sway on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday, and the best price average so far recorded was contained in the official report of sales made public this morning by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales. The average was given at $26.78 per hundred pounds, and was over $1.00 a hundred pounds higher than the record price reported about a week ago.

With the heaviest sale of the season reported, the market actually disposed of 961,390 pounds of bright leaf for a total sum of $25,885.11, at the average stated above.

It was said that sales were light today owing to the heavy rainfall last night and early this morning, and indications at the noon hour pointed to completion of sales about three o'clock. This will enable the warehouses to completely recover from the block of the huge offerings yesterday, and sales will get away to a new start tomorrow morning with a clean slate.

The report of the supervisor indicated that prices on all grades reflected more strength yesterday than any other day of the season, and growers who had come here from a distance of many miles to dispose of their offerings were highly gratified at the upward trend of prices.

The price situation today was described as firm with competitive bidding showing as much life as any other day of the season.

NATIONALISTS FORCED BACK BY INVADERS

People's Army Reported to Have Broken Through Government Lines

Hankow, China, Oct. 22.—(AP)—It was officially reported here this afternoon that the Kuomintang, or "People's Army" led by General Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, has broken through the Nationalist line at Chengchow in their drive for Hankow and the other Wuhan cities.

The Kuomintang advance guard camped at Sincheng, fifty miles south of Chengchow in northern Honan province. Sincheng is about 150 miles north of Hankow on the Kinshan railway.

Earlier dispatches of the Kinshan railway said that fighting was going on along a wide battle front extending eastward of the Luangshai railway and centering at Chengchow.

Reinforcements for the hard pressed Nationalists were pouring into the area from the Hankow district by way of the Kinshan railway. Supplies, including 20,000 bags of flour and rice, and ammunition were sent northward today.

The fighting may prove the decisive battle in the campaign for the Wuhan cities.

Nationalist government officials here said the Kuomintang had massed 200,000 men in northwest Honan, outnumbering the Nationalists.

HOGAN MAKES FINAL ATTACK IN FALL CASE

Defense Lawyer Attempts to Sweep Aside Evidence in Government Case

Washington, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Launching a sweeping attack upon the testimony and documents through which the government seeks to convict Albert B. Fall of accepting a bribe of $100,000 from E. L. Dohney, Frank J. Hogan, defense counsel, today continued his closing argument to the jury.

Fall, secretary of the interior under President Harding, arrived a few minutes before court opened. Mrs. Fall, however, who usually sits in the front row of spectators was absent, confined to her bed with a severe cold.

On a table in front of the jury, Hogan placed the government exhibits. He read the indictment, after first telling the jury that "an indictment is nothing but a charge."

National security, Hogan told the jurors, "runs like a thread of gold" through all the negotiations for the Elks Hills lease. Dohney he said was appalled to see Rear Admiral J. K. Robinson to help the government after alarming reports had been given of a "Japanese menace" to the Pacific Coast.

"Don't you think that Dohney, entered at and vilified yesterday was just the man who would come to the government's aid?" Hogan asked. "I venture that despite all the injustice, that E. L. Dohney would go ahead to place that security out in the public despite all the gumballs in public office throwing away the public domain, through waste of oil by drainage."

He continued Fall's order of November 30, 1921, requiring all oil certificates be sent to the navy had put it out of his power to handle the lease and reviewed testimony of E. C. Finney, former assistant secretary of the interior, in which Finney said he had acted upon his own initiative and without consulting Fall.

Winston-Salem Leaf Sales Average $19.33

Winston-Salem, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The local tobacco market sold more than a million pounds of tobacco Monday at peak prices, an average of $19.33 per hundred, the highest of the season. Sales today were much lighter, but the quality of the weed continues to show a decided improvement over the offerings of the first three weeks of the season.

WOMAN AND 4 MEN HELD IN ROBBERY CASE

Chicago, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The holdup last February in which Mrs. Edwin C. Price reported the loss of $18,000 in furs and jewels, had resulted today in her arrest and in the arrest of four men she named as having conspired with her to defraud an insurance company.

Mrs. Price, 28-year-old wife of an elderly millionaire manufacturer, confessed to state's attorneys last night that the holdup was a sham, she said. She resorted to it, she said, to conceal a gambling debt from her husband.

The plot was conceived, she stated, by Morris A. Barnett to whom she confided her gambling debt dilemma. The lot was disposed of, the state's attorney was told, by Max Krakow, a manufacturing jeweler. The actual "robbers," Mrs. Price said, were Jack Baum and Ben Levin.

Mrs. Price said that Barnett suggested that she insure her jewels and furs for the sum required to meet her debts and that he would arrange to have her "robbed" and also would arrange disposal of the loot. The arrangement was not only to collect the insurance but also to share in whatever money was obtained from sale of the jewelry and furs.

The "robbery" was accomplished in the late afternoon of February 25 as Mrs. Price was leaving a dress shop on Goethe street. Two men stripped her of her jewels and furs and drove away as she rushed back into the shop to telephone police.

Mrs. Price's husband was visibly shaken by the charge against his wife. He sat in the state's attorney's office for six hours during the questioning of Mrs. Price and the four men.

FISH TARIFF COMES UP IN LOBBY PROBE

Committee Investigates Effort of Fisheries Corporation to Cut Tariff

Washington, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Advocated by the Atlantic Coast Fisheries corporation of a reduction in the tariff on fish was inquired into today by the Senate Lobby committee.

F. W. Bryce, president of the corporation, was called after the committee had been told that Senator Bingham's assistant, Charles L. Eyanson, a representative of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association, had urged a decrease in the fish tariff.

Bingham, a Republican member of the Senate Finance committee employed Eyanson as his secretary at the time the committee was considering the tariff bill.

Bryce testified he had sent out telegrams to fish dealers urging them to wire members of the Finance committee to reduce the fish tariff. "In the interest of consumers and dealers," he said he called upon Senator Bingham once.

Edward Cooley, business manager of the Massachusetts Fisheries association, testified yesterday he had been told he would have to "win over" Bingham and Eyanson to succeed in his efforts for retention of the fish tariff.

STRIKERS PLAN TO CARRY CASE TO HIGH COURT

Seven Men Convicted at Charlotte to Attempt to Escape Long Prison Terms

Charlotte, Oct. 22.—(AP)—A final session of the Mecklenburg county court in which seven men were convicted of murder of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia chief of police, was held this morning by Judge M. V. Barnhill.

Although the announced intention of the session was to permit the defense to make any motions, it might have the only business transacted was denial of Solicitor John G. Carpentier's request that the bond for the men who had been given lengthy prison sentences be increased.

He asked particularly that the bonds of Fred Erwin Beal, Clarence Mills, George Carter and Joseph Harrison, who must serve from 17 to 20 years in the state penitentiary, be raised from $5,000 to $10,000. "I don't believe $5,000 will ever bring them back," the solicitor declared.

"The bonds may be too low but I think I'll let them stand," the judge said.

All the defendants were convicted of second degree murder of O. F. Aderholt and of assault on three other officers.

Charlotte, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Convicted of second degree murder and three counts of assault in connection with the slaying of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia police chief, and wounding of other officers during textile strike disorders there, seven members of the National Textile Workers union today planned appeals to the State Supreme court in an effort to escape long prison sentences.

Four of the defendants who came to North Carolina from the East and led a strike at the Loray mill of the Manville-Jencks company which preceded the disorders, in which Aderholt was killed, were given sentences of 17 to 20 years in State's prison on the second degree murder count and sentences of 10 years, to run concurrently with the other sentence, on a count of assault. Prayer for judgment on two counts of assault was continued.

Those given the 17 to 20 year sentences by Judge M. V. Barnhill, who presided over their three week trial, were Fred Edwin Beal, Lawrence Mass, Clarence Miller, New York; Joseph Harrison, Pascic, N. J., and George Carter, Mizpah, N. J.

Three Gastonia strikers tried and convicted along with eastern labor leaders received shorter sentences. William McGinnis and Louis McLaughlin were sentenced to 12 to 15 years each in State's prison on the murder charge and to 5 to 7 years on the assault charges. K. Y. Hendricks was given a five to seven year sentence.

The jury of nine farmers, a merchant, and automobile assembly plant employe and a retired merchant, spent only 57 minutes in deliberation before returning the verdict of guilty of second degree murder after Judge Barnhill had charged it yesterday.

The defense gave notice of appeal when the sentence was pronounced upon the defendants and was allowed by Judge Barnhill until January 15 to perfect the appeal. The State was given until March 1 to reply to the defense when papers in its appeal are filed.

Judge Barnhill also allowed the defendants bond pending hearing of their appeal. He fixed those of Beal, Miller, Harrison and Carter, at $5,000 each; McGinnis and McLaughlin at $2,500 each and Hendricks at $2,000.

J. Frank Flowers, chief of defense counsel, announced he would communicate with headquarters of the National Textile Workers union in New York in an effort to secure the bonds. All the convicted men were still in jail early today.

The defense indicated it would base its appeal on contentions that Judge Barnhill erred in admitting certain evidence and that the solicitor had so aroused the emotions and prejudices of the jurors that the defendants were not given a fair trial.

Says Promise To Reduce Navies Only Brandish Of International Courtesy

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 22.—(AP)—The promise of marine nations to reduce their navies is but a "brandish of international courtesy," former United States Senator Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, told the United States Navy meeting held here today in conjunction with the American Bar Association.

Naval limitations conference means little, he said, because "the next war will be by air and chemicals," and navies will not be important.

"Only actions of the people of the nations making for an understanding of the needs of each other, then composing the grievances felt by the citizenship of one country against the citizenship of another can assure us against war," he said.

"Past experiences will teach us that diplomats and statesmen will agree to anything that serves the political issues of today. Mankind has lost confidence in the pretenses of politics because tricked too often to destruction by the desecration of diplomats.

Campaign Closes Saturday Sealed Ballot Box Used Now

Close of Third Period Finds Workers All Set for Final Dash—All Subscription Money and Coupons to Be Voted in Sealed Ballot Box This Week — All Candidates Must Check Up and Verify Their Totals by Friday, October 25

The checking of votes and points on subscription business reported to the campaign department of the Reflector at the close of the third period of the campaign Saturday night has entailed so much time that it is impossible to have the final published vote standing of candidates ready for today's paper.

The Reflector's $6,000 Gift Distribution has now entered the fourth and last period. On the stroke of 9 o'clock next Saturday night the campaign will come to a close.

The windup of the third period Saturday night saw most entrants primed for the dash down the home stretch. Thousands of votes from subscriptions were earned by the candidates.

The final published standing will be printed Wednesday. Votes earned during this final week will not be known until the close of the campaign, because returns will not be known until the close of the campaign, because returns will not be made to the campaign department until they are placed in the sealed ballot box which will be in the business office of the Reflector.

In this way, the standing of the candidates as the race closes will be known to no one, which precludes any possibility of favoritism and gives everyone an equal opportunity for the rich prizes.

Full details and instructions regarding the closing of the campaign are published elsewhere in this issue and it is the duty of every candidate to become familiar with them. While no further subscriptions or votes will be accepted through the campaign department, final reports being placed in the ballot box, campaign headquarters will be open all week up to 6 p. m. to issue supplies, give information and check up campaign accounts to the end of the third period.

Every candidate is required to check up and compare his or her records to the end of the third period with those of the management and verify and attest to the correctness of them, both as regards total votes earned and gross sales.

Remittances in Cash. All remittances for subscriptions turned into the ballot box this final week must be in the form of cash. Money orders, bank draft or certified check for the full amount to cover. This rule is made in fairness to all concerned and will be strictly adhered to.

CIVIL COURT IN MIDST OF LENGTHY CASE

Everett - Joyner Case Is Expected to Be Completed Sometime This Afternoon

A one week term of Pitt county Superior court convened in Greenville yesterday morning with Judge Garland Midyette, of Jackson, presiding. There were several cases on the calendar and a majority are expected to be disposed of during the week.

The first case considered to the opening session was that of Artimissa Everett vs. Calvin Joyner, executor of the estate of the late Cornelius Joyner, involving suit for services which the plaintiff is said to have rendered Cornelius Joyner during the last days of his life. It is contended that a verbal promise existed between Everett and Cornelius Joyner that the former should receive a piece of farm land in Beaver Dam township at the latter's death. Evidence to the contrary is being introduced by the defense and the case is expected to be one of the longest drawn out of the term.

It was indicated that argument would be completed this afternoon and that the case would reach the jury before night.

Thursday is Dollar Day in Greenville.

SICKENED BY CONSTIPATION

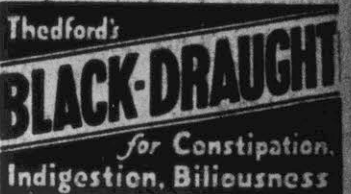

Felt Dull, Sluggish, Dizzy, But Much Better After Taking Black-Draught.

Beaumont, Texas.—"Before I started taking Thedford's Black-Draught, three years ago, my health was very bad," writes Mrs. Ola Carson, of 945 Concord St., this city. "I suffered constantly from constipation. I had a headache when I got up in the morning, and I felt dull and sluggish. I hardly ate a meal that my food agreed with me. Frequently I would have gas on my stomach, and felt awful."

"Some days I would be so dizzy I could hardly go. I was feeling worse and worse all the time. I read about Black-Draught, and thought it might help me. After I had taken it a little while, I felt much better."

"I keep it on hand, so when I need a laxative I will have it. In the three years I have been taking it, I have never found anything as good for constipation."

Constipation dams up poisons in the bowels, causing their bad effects to be felt in other parts of the body. At the first sign of constipation, take Thedford's Black-Draught. Only 1¢ a dose.

THE INSURGENTS FOLLOW HAMILTON

There is one bit of satisfaction to be derived from the Senate's acceptance, for the third time during the special session, of the export-debenture scheme; it may prevent any tariff legislation whatever within the near future. The existing law with all its objectionable features is to be preferred to any measure which the present Congress is likely to enact. The country has managed during the past seven years to adapt itself to the Fordney-McCumber law and ought to be spared the disturbance which will follow the drastic changes contemplated in the Hawley-Smoot bill. By tacking on the export-debenture scheme as a rider to this bill the Senate has diminished the chances of its passage and perhaps has served the country better than it knew.

In essence the proposed system of debentures empowers the Federal Farm Board at its discretion to divert several hundred millions of dollars, which otherwise would have gone to the Treasury in the form of import duties, to a subsidy for the producers of certain designated crops. Good reasons have been advanced for linking an export bounty for farm products with high duties on manufactures. There are equally good reasons for rejecting both the tariff and the bounty. But there are no good reasons for accepting the tariff and rejecting the bounty.

While higher duties are provided for most farm products in the new bill, the farmers know that a tariff cannot help the growers of crops of which there is an exportable surplus. Alexander Hamilton himself recognized the one-sidedness of tariff protection, and in his famous Report on Manufactures, published in 1791, which is regarded as the protectionists' Bible, he urged the application of the proceeds of duties, by way of bounties, to the encouragement of the production of raw materials which the farmers supply to industry. The insurgent Republicans, therefore, in fighting for the export bounty for agriculture are better Hamiltonians than the regulars.

There is every prospect, however, that the House where the regular Republicans are in full control, will again reject the debenture scheme, as it did when the device was embodied in farm relief legislation. If the Senate does not agree to its excision, there will be a deadlock and no new Tariff Law. On the other hand, if the House backs down and accepts debentures as part of the tariff, Mr. Hoover, by virtue of his previous declarations, seems committed to a veto of the bill. Either outcome would be good for the country.—N. Y. World.

ABOUT TOWN

"Some of the best values in years will be placed on the counters of Greenville merchants during special Dollar Day to be held here Thursday," said a member of the Merchants Association today.

"Our business houses are making elaborate preparations for entertaining the thousands of visitors expected to visit the city during the day, and there will be more bargains in evidence than on any other similar event in years.

"Bear in mind the splendid bargains which you purchased at the last Dollar Day event and then come to Greenville to participate in the first special event of the kind ever staged in the city."

"One of the best minstrel troupes in years will be presented by the American Legion Friday evening at a high school auditorium," said a member of the Pitt county post today.

"Members of the cast have been busy perfecting their parts for several days and when the curtain goes up the public will be treated to the best local talent entertainment in years.

"Keep in mind the date and make it a point to attend the minstrel. You will enjoy the diversion and at the same time help the Legion in its work of improving the condition of former service men."

"In the interest of economy and centralization of authority and responsibility it would, in my opinion, be wise for the state of North Carolina to create a motor vehicle commission consisting of the Governor, Commissioner of Revenue and the Chairman of the State Highway Commission," W. C. Roberts, vice-president of the State Motor club, told members of the Greenville Kiwanis club here last week.

"This commission," Mr. Roberts declared, "would designate an official as Motor Vehicle Commissioner, who would have entire and absolute charge over all laws and regulations pertaining to the administration of the motor vehicle laws, including the sale of license plates, driver's licenses, Highway Patrol and charged with the responsibility of administering the Safety Responsibility act, the Theft act, and all other details pertaining to the motor vehicle operation in the state."

At the present time the Department of Revenue administers the motor vehicle laws pertaining to the title of automobiles, sale of automobile license plates, the Anti-theft law, and compiling records of automobile accidents as reported to them by the police departments and others. The Highway Department has charge of the Highway Patrol, created for the purpose of enforcing motor vehicle laws, and also receives reports of convictions for violation of traffic laws. It is easy to see that the Highway Patrol, charged with the enforcement of motor vehicle laws, should operate under the same department having the administration of the motor vehicle laws. If all these activities are not centered under one department with one individual charged with the responsibility and held solely responsible for the carrying out of these various laws, there will be unnecessary duplication of expense.

"Let the habit of supporting athletic activities of your home town 'choke,' is the advice of a local man who for many years has made it a point of attending virtually all events of this kind.

"Your presence not only inspires the youngsters to aspire to greater things in the world of athletics, but also enables their athletic organization to come out in good financial condition at the end of the season."

"Think of the splendid games which the various clubs have provided in past years and go out to the next contests here and let the boys know you are behind them in their effort to provide winning clubs."

"Have you renewed your subscription to the Reflector?" asked the manager of circulation of an old subscriber today.

"Why not do it at once and assure yourself of receiving the latest and most authentic accounts of world events during the cold winter months. The Reflector's leased wire service is one of the fastest and most reliable in the country and you can always count on it to give you the best to be had in this field of human endeavor.

"Look over your subscription blank today, and if your time is nearing expiration, let us have your renewal at once so you will not miss a single copy of the paper."

Marriage Rate Rises

Berlin—Abolition of military conscription has caused a steadily rising marriage rate in Germany. Dr. Otto Warner of the Federal Statistical Bureau explains it: "Man is born to serve and obey. If he does not serve the state he has to serve women, and there are 2,000,000 more women than men in Germany today."

The Cow is off the Track! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Railroads have safely passed those danger signals of prejudice which caused folks to look upon them with fear. Holding aloft the semaphore of progress AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE cleared the track and, today, millions travel in ease and security.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted" No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

TUNE IN—The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, every Saturday night, over a coast-to-coast network of the N. E. C.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

PROBE DISAPPEARANCE OF CHICAGO JEWELS

Chicago, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The disappearance of jewels valued at $57,500 was under investigation today.

A $17,500 pearl necklace belonging to Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson of Lake Forest disappeared from a delivery truck in which it was being taken to Mrs. Ryerson from a Loop jewelry store where it had been returned. The necklace consisted of 65 pearls, with a diamond clasp and platinum setting.

We do not want to become standardized Americans. Let us be French." M. De Waleffe has a soupcou of a moustache, otherwise is clean-shaven.

Edison Satisfied If He Has Widened Horizon of Mankind

Dearborn, Mich., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison is content if he has widened the horizon of men's understanding and given a measure of happiness of the world. At a dinner in his honor attended by President Hoover last night the inventor said: "Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen: I am told that tonight my voice will reach out to the four corners of the world. It is an unusual opportunity for me to express my deep appreciation and thanks to you all for the countless evidences of your good-will. I thank you from the bottom of my heart.

"I would be embarrassed at the honors that are being heaped on me on this unforgettable night were it not for the fact that in honoring me you are also honoring that vast army of thinkers and workers of the past, and those who are carrying on, without whom my work would have gone for nothing.

"If I have spurred men to greater efforts and if our work has widened the horizon of man's understanding even a little and given a measure of happiness in the world, I am content.

"This experience makes me realize as never before that Americans are sentimental, and this crowning event of light's golden jubilee fills me with gratitude. I thank our President and you all.

"As to Henry Ford, words are inadequate to express my feelings. I can only say to you that, in the fullest and richest meaning of the term—he is my friend.

"Good night."

Woman Held for Killing Negro in Assault Attempt

Selma, Ala., Oct. 22.—(AP)—After spending the night at her farm home, 14 miles from here, at liberty on her own recognizance, Miss Esther Barnes, 29-year-old daughter of a Selma factory worker, returned to the city today as county officers assisted Coroner Andrew Breslin in his investigation of the slaying yesterday of Ed McKee, negro, which Miss Barnes has admitted.

Coroner Breslin was unable to complete his investigation yesterday and the release of the young woman on her own recognizance was made to permit her to be at home with younger brothers and sisters. Breslin indicated that his investigation was nearing completion and that his verdict in the case possibly would be forthcoming later today.

Miss Barnes notified Sheriff R. F. Hamner yesterday morning that she had killed McKee with a small

FARM BOARD TO TRY TO BOOST COTTON PRICES

Plan to Make $100,000,000 Available to Relieve Present Low Price Situation

Washington, Oct. 22.—(AP)—As the first major step of its career, the Federal Farm Board has worked out a plan for improving the present price of cotton and is prepared to take similar action on wheat under a scheme to be announced later.

The board is of the opinion that prevailing cotton prices are too low, and believes the solution lies in more orderly marketing of this year's crop. It is prepared to lend an unlimited amount of money to the cotton growers, that they may hold their product off the market.

Analyzing the present cotton market, the board is of the opinion that open fall weather in the southern states has been led to too rapid marketing, with world consumption meanwhile on a level equal to that of last year and the total supply of American cotton at a lesser stage than a year ago.

More cotton, it believes, has been rushed into the market than it can temporarily absorb, with resulting depressed prices and lack of confidence in cotton values.

To assist the growers to hold back their crop and meanwhile meet their financial obligations, the board proposes to lend to cotton cooperatives, qualified as borrowers under the Capper-Volstead act, "sums sufficient to bring the total amount borrowed from all sources by such associations to 16 cents per pound on graded and classed cotton, basis middling seven-eighths inch staple, less proper deductions to cover freight charges."

In a statement, announcing its plan, the board pointed out that there is a cotton cooperative in every cotton growing state open to membership of every cotton farmer. The grower may join the cooperative, the statement continued, ship his cotton to its concentration point, and draw his advance after it has been graded and classified.

The cooperative will market the cotton in orderly fashion through the year, said the board, and will finally settle with the farmer "on the basis of the final price obtained."

The statement went on to express the board's confidence in the soundness of the scheme, asserting it to be a "completely safe basis for making loans" from the revolving fund established by the farm relief law.

"The board places no limit on the amount of government money to be loaned," the statement said. "Nearly $100,000,000 is available for this purpose, and, if necessary, the board will also ask congress to appropriate more."

AGED BANDIT FACES TRIAL FOR MURDER

Gray-Haired Man Charged With Slaying During Robbery of Lamar, Col., Bank

Lamar, Colo., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Ralph Fleagle, gray-haired leader of the Lamar bandit gang, today faced trial for a slaying for which two of his companions in the Lamar bank robbery of May 23, 1928, were condemned to death yesterday.

As the time for the trial approached, Lamar became increasingly agitated over possibilities of a jail break or a lynching. Another report that three automobile loads of armed men were lurking about the town was received last night from a truck driver who reported seeing the cars and men. The same band stopped a farmer Sunday night and queried him regarding the strength of the Lamar jail, where Fleagle and his companions are held.

Fleagle, 50 years old, has been branded the "brains" of the gang which was responsible for four deaths during and after the holdup. That accusation was made by one of his companions, Howard L. Royston, whom he implicated in the crime and who has been sentenced to death. Both Royston and George J. Abshier, the other outlaw sentenced to the gallows, are expected to testify against Fleagle.

Specifically charged with the first degree murder of A. N. Parrish, president of the robbed First National Bank, Fleagle's case is complicated by a "bargain" made between authorities and the prisoner that he would be spared the death penalty in return for his confession. The confession implicated Royston and Abshier, and Jake Fleagle, a brother of Ralph, still being sought.

Fleagle's confession sent his two companions into the shadow of the noose. It cannot, by Colorado law, be used in his own case over his protest, but officers have found a way to hurdle this obstacle. They talked with Fleagle time and time again after he confessed and gleaned from him facts he revealed in his written confession. Now these officers can be put on the stand and Fleagle's story told through their mouths.

PRESIDENT HOOVER SPEAKS AT OPENING CANAL SYSTEM

hotel for lunch as the guest of the city of Cincinnati.

Oscar Barrett, president of the Ohio Valley Improvement association, presided at the Eden Park ceremonies and presented Mayor Murray Seakongood of Cincinnati, who in turn presented Governor Capper. The governor warmly welcomed Mr. Hoover on behalf of the seven millions of people of Ohio.

President Hoover in dedicating the monument in Eden Park commemorating the reopening of an improved Ohio river, said:

"My fellow countrymen and women: It is a great pleasure to me to share in the dedication of this monument glorifying for all time the completion of a nine-foot channel for the full length of the Ohio river. The engineering mind, about which I see so much in the newspapers here does come to the surface and luxuriates in appreciation of a great engineering job well done. This new instrument of commerce from which untold blessings will come year after year, is an enduring monument to those patient men of my own profession whose lives are spent in devising means to increase the comfort and convenience of the world.

"But men of every mould have wrought with equal bravery in this transformation of the wild beauty of the Ohio river into the not less beautiful but more tractable stream of today. The engineers found the practical means, but many others contributed to the vision, courage and persistence needful to this accomplishment. Statesmen, river men, and business men may share the glory. The elders present may well regret the absence of such stalwart figures as more than a quarter of a century. He and his associates deserve high remembrance in the records of this achievement.

"I personally feel deeply the absence of Senator Theodore Burton, at whose bedside in Washington I have recently stood. His work as chairman of the historic island waterways commission, appointed by President Roosevelt in 1907, gave the foundation upon which the great development has been created. The report of that commission in 1908 has been the Bible of waterways improvement. Its first result was the Act of 1910, with which began the present project, now brought to successful conclusion. It reflected not only the clarity of mind with which the Senator has endowed the public issues for a generation but also the broad humanity of his spirit, that dwelt with especial concern upon the problems of equity involved and upon the welfare of the whole body of men and women of the country for whose benefit the program was primarily undertaken.

"Of Speaker Longworth, who fortunately is present, it should be recalled that he was one of the founders of the Ohio Valley Improvement association and has both privately and as an officer of the government worked indefatigably in the cause of this development for more than a quarter of a century.

"But the whole Ohio Valley and the nation as well should be congratulated upon this occasion. A new agency of service now begins its quiet labors for mankind. The two paths that led one Ohio boy to the White House has been modernized. But opportunity has been expanded by the abandonment of the two paths for the engine. It is the glory of our scientific age that its sooty progresses in the end bring results that make childhood a life richer and more varied.

CURTIS PERKINS

THE LUXURY HUSBAND

SYNOPSIS: A musician in the world of business, Ray accepts the offer of Barbara's uncle, chiefly because it seems to make Barbara happy, but he soon learns he cannot succeed. Realizing that Barbara's uncle acquires his services merely because he is a relative Ray becomes increasingly bitter. He refuses to attend parties with Barbara's friends, who are quick to draw inferences that Barbara and Ray are drifting apart. The announcement from Ralph Henderson that he is coming to America serves to hasten the arrival of a crisis between Barbara and Ray.

Chapter 20 COMPETITION

Ray and Barbara had been living in her Park avenue duplex apartment about six months when she received a letter from Henderson saying he expected to land in New York on the sixteenth.

She broke the news to Ray over the dinner table.

"What do you think? I had a cable from Hendy. He's sailing on the Aquitana and will be here around the seventeenth. Of course a snail have to invite him to be our guest."

"He wouldn't have come if he hadn't thought you'd do that."

"Don't be mean, Ray. Aren't you glad he's coming?"

"Naturally. The three of us are certain to have an awfully jolly time to gether, what?"

It was such an exact imitation of Henderson that Barbara almost burst out laughing, but the thought that such encouragement would not be good for Ray made her check herself.

"Don't be sarcastic, Ray. Surely you don't object to my inviting him?"

"It's up to you, my dear. It's your house."

"Anyhow, I am going to invite Hendy."

"Of course, dear. It would be a pity to have given him the trip across for nothing. Traveling's so terribly expensive these days."

The Aquitana docked at three in the afternoon. A few minutes previously Barbara was at the pier. As she walked up and down the pier, many eyes, in her trim black suit with the high ermine collar, she wondered if it might be amusing to flirt lightly with Henderson in order to punish Ray. A little opposition never did a man any harm. Indeed it might be the very thing to make him snap out of his grouch.

The passengers were beginning to trickle through the barrier. At last, Henderson came.

At the sight of him coming towards her, Barbara decided that she was more pleased to see him than she had imagined. He looked, she considered, distinguished. Too, she felt quite a thrill running down her spine when he gripped her hands.

"Barbara, this is an undreamt of pleasure. I say, how topping of you to have bothered coming down to the boat. You're looking great—ravishing. Never seen you looking better in my life."

She laughed at him.

"The same old Hendy—the same old flatterer. How many hearts have you broken on this trip?"

"None; isn't that an admission? Fact is, with the prospect of seeing you so soon, I simply couldn't concentrate. Now, if you'll excuse me I'll have my luggage put in a cab and sent to the hotel."

"Of course you're not going to stay at any hotel. You're staying with us."

"No? Not really? I'm not going to be hypocritical and pretend to argue about it. Imagine that I've protested properly but that you've swept aside my objections!"

Laughingly she proceeded out into the street where Barbara's limousine was waiting for them.

It was during a somewhat slow and tedious progress up Fifth avenue that Henderson said:

"And that husband of yours—how is he?"

"Fine. He's sorry he couldn't get down to meet you."

"Indeed? Can't pretend that I'm awfully cut about it—about his not being at the pier, I mean. Fact is, I'd hoped that you'd be there alone. I tell you, Barbara, that was a sight for my sea-beary eyes—you standing waiting at the barrier!" Then impulsively, "You looked stunning, too!"

The butler had tea waiting by the time they arrived at her apartment.

Over the second cup he broached a subject about which he was a little diffident. He knew that, if he were to stay long as Barbara's guest, relations between himself friendly, at least on the surface. "I say, Barbara, that husband of yours—he doesn't feel badly towards me because of the—well, because of the little scene that night in the abbey? I give you my word I'd forgotten it completely. No ill feelings on my part, I assure you, and, hang it all, I can see his point, can't you?"

"I thought that very sporting of him. It made her more glad to see that he had come. Ray surely wouldn't allow Henderson to outdo him by being less magnanimous."

"They were still talking by the fire, the report cold on the silver tray beside them, when Ray eventually came home."

"Hello, Henderson. Glad to see you."

He came into the room and the two men shook hands.

"Thanks. Mighty decent of you to put me up."

"Not at all. You'll be able to amuse Barbara during the daytime. She finds time hangs pretty heavily upon her hands."

Henderson forced a laugh.

"Barbara's been telling me that you've gone in for big business. I envy you, Lowther. You Americans certainly don't let many opportunities escape you—at least, not those that are going to advance you financially."

A slight pause, hardly noticeable. Yet Barbara was conscious of feeling a little uncomfortable. Absurd to think that Hendy had meant to insinuate anything—all the same she wished he had expressed himself differently.

Ray walked over to the smoking cabinet.

"Care to smoke, Henderson?"

"Thanks, I will." He selected a cigarette and turned, casually to Ray.

"I suppose you were surprised when you received my cable?"

"Not at all. I'd been expecting you over here for some time."

Again Barbara was aware of a slight tension in the atmosphere. It was Ray's voice, this time, that held the significant note. She broke in quickly.

"We were delighted, Hendy."

"Nice of you, Barbara. Then to Ray, "In that case I'm glad I didn't disappoint you."

Afterwards Barbara wondered if she had imagined more into this conversation than there had actually been. But, certainly, at that moment she had been more than glad that she had other guests invited for dinner. Moreover, she determined, whenever possible, to avoid further tea-dances between Henderson and her husband.

This she was fairly successful in doing. Her guests were never up when Ray set out for the office. Ray remained downtown all day and, in the evenings, Barbara and Henderson were either out at some function or she had friends assembled in her apartment.

Ray overhears another distasteful conversation in tomorrow's installment.

A CAVE SUPPER

(By Maty Graham Bonner)

The cave was not so very large but it was quite comfortable. There were places so low they could not stand up, but they could sit up in any place.

that's the way it is," said the Little Black Clock. "You're not supposed to bother with all the fuss of a meal and the fuss of eating and the time it takes and the dishes that must be washed up, and all of that."

"Now meals can be served with hardly any trouble at all and you feel as though you'd eaten a lot."

"However, some people are still old-fashioned and like to have long, tasty, chatty meals."

They wandered now outside the cave.

"I never thought I'd want to be old-fashioned," said John, "but I do believe I'd want to be if I stayed away ahead of the time like this for very long. What do I hear now?"

"The traffic squad going after the poor drivers and those who don't keep the rules."

"Can't we see them?"

"Surely," said the Little Black Clock. "I'll arrange with one of the air policemen for tomorrow night."

Tomorrow—"The Air Policemen."

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 23 to 37 points on a broadening of trade and Commission house demand together with active covering by shorts, which was evidently influenced by the Federal Farm board's statement and relatively steady Liverpool cables.

December sold up to 18.40 and March to 18.79 on this initial buying movement, making net advance of about 30 to 38 points on the active positions. Southern hedging and realizing seemed to supply buyers around these figures and the volume of business tapered off somewhat, but the buying continued and realizing sales were absorbed on reactions of 5 to 10 points during the first half hour.

Liverpool cables said the market there had been influenced by covering and general buying on the Farm board action with reference to loans on cotton and that sellers were reserved. They also reported a fair cloth inquiry from India but complained that business with China was slow in developing.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Sharply reduced estimates of production in Argentina went hand in hand today with late upturns in wheat prices here, more than offsetting early declines. According to a prominent authority the yield will be curtailed

New York, Oct. 22.—(AP)—After a week of severe declines the stock market finally turned upward today, with a rebound comparable to the sharp upturn which came upon the heels of the drastic reaction of Oct. 3 and 4. Scores of stocks sold up from 3 to 30 points, and many regained the losses of the past two sessions. Traders felt that the violent sweeping out of weakened marginal accounts in the past two sessions, when trading facilities were overwhelmed with frenzied selling, had in a large measure corrected a weak technical position and an inflated price level, and had placed the market once more on fairly firm footing. Commission house advices generally maintained a rather cautious attitude, however, and there was a tendency to look for rather quiet and irregular trading for a time.

A statement by Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City bank, just returned from Europe, to the effect that he considered the market had had a healthy reaction and that the decline had probably overrun itself, had a salutary effect upon sentiment. The day's news was largely pleasing, including declaration of a $4 extra dividend by Norfolk and Western, several satisfactory earnings statements, conspicuous among which were those of General Electric and American Superpower, and approval of a plan by Missouri Pacific directors to refund accumulated preferred dividends.

Much of the upturn occurred in the first hour of trading, when shorts rushed to cover in response to the feeling that the market had reached bottom. Trading during the first half hour was almost equal to that of yesterday, but trading quieted down somewhat as the session wore on.

Western Union surged up 20 points to a new high at 270. Rumors persist that a splitup is pending, although firm denials have been issued by the management. J. I. Case surged up 26 points, Columbian Carbon 25 and Eastman Kodak 14. Several other issues gained from 9 to 12 points.

Chesapeake and Ohio, American Can, U. S. Industrial alcohol and U. S. Steel were among shares mounting from 5 to 8 points.
