DR. STRATON PASSES AWAY IN NEW YORK

Noted Militant Fundamentalist Baptist Preacher Succumbs to Nervous Disorder

Clifton Springs, N. Y., Oct. 29.—(AP)—The Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, noted militant fundamentalist Baptist preacher, died at a sanitarium here today. He was 54 years old.

Although seriously ill with a nervous breakdown for the last month, death came unexpectedly at 5:50 a. m. after a heart attack. His wife was at his bedside when he died.

He suffered a slight paralytic stroke last April and immediately after went to a sanitarium at Atlanta, Ga., for a rest. He returned to his home here a month ago, but soon suffered from a nervous breakdown and entered the sanitarium here.

He was pastor of Cavalry Baptist church in New York but by his aggressive campaigns against modernism, and especially evolution, he gained national prominence.

During the last presidential campaign he took an active part against the candidacy of Alfred E. Smith, attacking him from his pulp; and campaigning against him in the south. A small part of the congregation, opposing his participation in political debates, withdrew from the church and formed a church of their own in Brooklyn.

Dr. Straton was a militant fundamentalist and in recent years had clashed repeatedly with proponents of modernistic teachings. He especially was opposed to the theory of evolution and lent his support to the late William Jennings Bryan at the famous Scopes trial at Dayton, Ohio, in 1925.

His campaigns against alleged immorality of the stage date back to 1922 when he engaged in a debate with William A. Brady, Broadway theatrical producer, on a resolution that the modern stage was a menace to public morals. He opposed the study of Darwinism teachings in the public schools and denounced Ku Klux Klan doctrines.

Dr. Straton constantly was in conflict with various members of his congregation at the Cavalry Baptist church. He encountered difficulty with the church's board of trustees when he planned a 20-story combination church and hotel on the church site. He blamed "social climbers" for most of his difficulties with the church.

He also engaged in a fundamentalist-modernist debate with Rev. Charles F. Potter, pastor of the West Side Unitarian church, attacked various magazine publishers as promoters of irreligion and deplored the modern methods of teaching science.

His Pentecostal services in 1927 brought another upheaval in his church and several deacons resigned. He then started a series of divine healing services and became involved with the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism which sought his prosecution on charges of practicing medicine without a license.

Growing out of this conflict with the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism, Dr. Straton had Charles Lee Smith, his president, arrested on charges of annoying him by sending him clippings and atheist literature through the mail. Smith was found guilty and fined on the charges.

Dr. Straton had been pastor of the Cavalry Baptist church since 1918. He was born in Evansville, Ind., and was educated in Mercer University and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville. He also studied at the University of Chicago and the Boston School of Oratory and Expression. He received his Doctor of Divinity degree at Shurtleff College, Alton, Ill., in 1906.

He held pastorates in Chicago, Baltimore and Norfolk, Va., before coming to New York, and at one time was on the faculty at Baylor University. He was ordained in the Baptist ministry in 1900. He was the author of numerous books supporting his fundamentalist beliefs and attacking the theories and teachings of the modernists.

WEST HAS TOO MUCH VOICE WITH TARIFF

Pennsylvania Manufacturer Takes the Breath of Committee by Frankness

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Joseph R. Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, took the breath of the lobby committee today when he frankly stated he thought the smaller western states had too much voice in the Senate on tariff legislation.

Sharply questioned by the Senate investigators Grundy said it was a "tragedy" that the states contributing negligible amounts in Federal taxes "and with no chips in the game" could help break down a fundamental economic policy.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, wanted to know how Grundy proposed to silence "Senator Borah and myself for instance" on the tariff bill and the witness said "propriety" should dictate that.

Examined by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, Grundy persisted that he stood by the Republican platform to give agriculture an equality with industry but he disagreed with the Idahoan that it would be necessary to cut down some industrial tariff rates to obtain this equality.

It was Grundy's second appearance. He again acknowledged tariff increases for which he had worked but denied he had sought any tariff decreases on metal materials, saying, "I don't play both ends of the game."

Wool was the only farm schedule in which Grundy said he had interested himself.

CASUALTY REPORTED ON N. Y. CURB MARKET

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The first casualty of the current break in the market was the firm of John J. Bell & Co., which was suspended from the New York Curb Exchange for failure to meet its engagements.

Panicky Selling Brings About Disastrous Break On Stock Market Today

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Panicky selling of stocks, reaching record-breaking proportions, brought about another disastrous break in prices at the opening of today's market as blocks of 10,000 to 115,000 shares were dumped into the securities markets at whatever prices they would bring. Early declines in many of the active issues on the New York stock and New York curb exchanges ranged from $5 to nearly $35 a share.

Leading New York bankers, who held a long conference at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. last evening, apparently stood aside until this necessitous liquidation had been cleaned up, and then placed sufficient supporting orders to assure an orderly market. Prices rallied briskly after the opening deluge of selling and then sold off in reflection of the nervousness created by the failure of a New York curb exchange firm, which not engaged, however, in a general commission business, although the head of the firm handled accounts for personal friends.

HEAVY SALES CONTINUE ON LEAF MARKET

Over 1,750,000 Pounds Lead Here Today; Market Average Monday $24

With the largest offering of bright leaf in history on the floors of the nine warehouses, the Greenville tobacco market yesterday actually disposed of 1,007,940 pounds of tobacco, according to an official report of sales made public this morning by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales. The day's general average price was given at $24.00 per hundred pounds and a total sum of $24,154.12 was paid out to the farmers.

His report of the supervisor of sales indicated that there was approximately 1,750,000 pounds of tobacco here today with the price situation similar to that of yesterday.

The break yesterday not only surpassed anything of the present season, but shattered all market records for a single day's offerings. Despite the heavy offerings, sales were conducted in an orderly manner and the late afternoon saw a great deal made in the tremendous lot of tobacco on the various warehouse floors.

Growers from a considerable distance were numbered among the hundreds marketing their tobacco here yesterday and today, and they expressed much interest in the rapid disposition of their offerings and the general price average. It was the first time in its thirty-five years of history that Greenville had entertained so many growers of the premier crop of the section and the warehouse floors and tobacco town generally literally swarmed with visitors.

Priests continued firm today and competitive bidding on the various grades corresponded favorably to the best days of the season.

Tobacconist Killed In Fall From Hotel Window in N. Y.

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Anthony Snyder, sixty, president of the Union Tobacco Company, fell to his death early today from a window of his suite on the eleventh floor of the Hotel Beverly. He lost his balance while attempting to repair a radio aerial outside his window.

His body landed on a five-story extension adjoining the hotel. Quick action on the part of Louis Morrell, a waiter, who was serving Snyder's breakfast at the time, almost prevented the fall. Seeing the tobacco man lose his balance, Morrell dropped the breakfast tray and dashed to the window in time to seize Snyder's left foot. He held on for a moment, then his grasp gave way.

Several Persons Perish When Big Steamer Sinks Off Shores of Wisconsin

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 29.—(AP)—with all but nine persons of a crew of 60 rescued, the steamer Wisconsin sank off Kenosha early today in a storm that caused damage all along Lake Michigan shores for the second time in a week. The officers of the Wisconsin's crew stuck to the craft until it sank and were taken from life rafts by rescue boats.

A dozen rescue craft which had rushed to the steamer after Kenosha's life guard took off most of the crew. One man was reported to have fallen overboard as the rescue was in progress, and five others were unaccounted for. Several persons brought from the ship by the life savers were unconscious from exposure when they reached shore, but they soon revived. There were no women aboard.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 29.—(AP)—The veteran lake steamer Wisconsin sank off the Kenosha shore in a storm today with her captain and from 12 to 17 men missing. They were believed to have gone down with the ship. Three score persons were taken off the ship by life guards.

Two of three passengers were saved. C. H. Sjostrand of Eckelson, N. D., the third passenger, was missing and survivors believed him to be the man who made a flying leap from the foundering ship to a life boat, missed and went down.

The other rescued by coast guard crews from Racine and Kenosha were members of the crew.

Eight life rafts and one of the six boats were still on board when the stern of the ship was seen to sink.

Directors of Defunct National Bank Are Charged With Violating Bank Law

Fayetteville, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Directors of the defunct National Bank of Fayetteville stood today with gross negligence and violation of the National Banking Act by Alfred D. Burrows, receiver of the defunct institution.

Mr. Burrows filed the charges in United States court here in an effort to recover approximately $500,000 for those who were depositors of the bank when it closed August 8, 1927.

The violations of the National Banking law charged by the receiver consist in the alleged making of loans to themselves by the directors and assenting to loans made to interests with which the directors were associated. The complaints covering 35 typewritten pages, lists 14 loans alleged to have been made by "directors and servants" of the bank which were in excess of 10 per cent of the capital stock.

The defendants named in the suit were: J. H. Culbreth, president of the bank at the time of the failure; J. V. McGoughan, J. A. Oates, A. R. McEachern, H. G. Smith, A. B. McMillan, H. L. Cook, J. F. Highsmith, H. D. Robinson, E. J. Wells, R. M. Vanstort, T. M. Shaw, G. M. Scott, E. H. Williamson, and W. K. Monroe. Scott was exempted from certain of the allegations.

The receiver asked in his complaint that 13 depositors of the defunct institution who have filed suit against the directors be restrained from further action for damages until such time a she can be heard in court.

The bill of particulars also charges that the net loss of the bank in the erection of a 10-story banking house was $259,995.71. It also further charges that when the bank was closed at the order of the directors when it could not pay $175, on demand by a depositor, loans to 11 directors amounted to $92,938.68 and loans to 14 associated interest totaled $152,995.55, making a total of $245,934.23, which was $85,686.23 in excess of the total capital and surplus of the bank.

Mount Vernon, Ohio, Oct. 29.—(AP)—E. M. Kane, pilot of the southbound Cleveland-Louisville mail plane of the Universal Line was burned to death early today when his plane crashed into a grove of trees on a farm eight miles south of Mount Vernon.

Both Kane and Weston were identified as motion picture operators. Sirkel also was believed to have been a motion picture employee.

The explosion, which occurred two blocks from the central business section, rocked the city for blocks. Police were at a loss to explain the blast which caused the deaths.

An employee of a filling station told investigators the trio had stopped at the station a few minutes prior to the explosion and bought gasoline. He said they appeared to have arrived there only a few minutes before.

Force of the blast scattered fragments of the car, a closed machine, over an area of a block.

Express Airliner and Five Passengers Lost In Snowstorm In N. M.

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 29.—(AP)—An aerial search was in progress today in western New Mexico and eastern Arizona for a missing Air Express tri-motored plane missing since yesterday morning with five persons on board.

Early today planes took off from here to fly over the region into which the missing plane was heading when last seen yesterday. Other planes were being held at Colorado airports because of unfavorable flying weather due to a storm which last night swept the Rocky Mountain region.

The first plane off this morning was a ship chartered by the Albuquerque Journal, which left here at 3:10 a. m., headed for Grants, N. M., and Gallup, N. M., point which serves as bases in the search for the wrecked Trans-Continental Air "Transport" plane "City of San Francisco" which crashed on Mount Taylor with loss of eight lives early in September.

Radio advices to the Western Air Express from Tolobrock, Ariz., this morning said no word had been received of the missing plane. The report said the plane had last been definitely reported 45 miles east of Holbrook yesterday morning. At that time a west-by-southwest wind which was said to have reached a velocity of 55 miles an hour prevailed over at least part of the route the transport was to take.

CAPITAL CITY MOURNS DEATH OF SEN. BURTON

Ohio Legislator Died Last Night; Burial to Be Made in Cleveland

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The Senate and President Hoover moved promptly today to honor the memory of Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, whose death last night ended an illustrious public career.

At a brief three minute session the Senate adopted a resolution expressing "profound sorrow"; arranged for a State funeral in the Senate chamber at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon; and directed Vice-President Curtis to appoint a committee of 20 members to accompany the body to Ohio.

While this was taking place at the capitol, announcement was made at the White House that President Hoover, long a friend of the late Senator, would attend the services in the Senate chamber—the first State funeral accorded a Senator in recent years.

Aside from the President, other high officials of the American government also arranged to pay a last tribute to the late statesman whose career of more than 20 years in public life came to a close at almost the hour when nations of the world are moving toward a goal for which he strove—international amity.

After the services at the capitol tomorrow, the body will be taken to Cleveland, his home, for burial. There, the State which twice elected him to the Senate and the city which many times selected his representative in the House, will have opportunity to pay their tribute.

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The national capitol today mourned the death of one of its most loved and respected legislators, Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio.

After a long life, devoted largely to public service and the advancement of world peace, Senator Burton died last night at the age of 77.

A short while before his death, President Hoover, himself, had called to inquire as to his condition. Messages of condolence and sympathy and hope for his recovery had been received from Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain and Secretary Mellon of the Treasury Department, as well as from numerous members of the House and Senate.

Fulfilling the Senator's own wish, burial will be at Cleveland. Members of Congress, anxious to honor one whom they not only respected as a statesman but also valued as a friend, will gather tomorrow in the Senate chamber for public funeral services. The body will lie in state at the capitol throughout the day.

Senator Burton realized that he could not recover from the malady that gripped him several months ago and expressed several desires which will be carried out in arrangements for the funeral. Among these, he requested that the funeral sermon be preached by Bishop William F. McDowell, of the Methodist Episcopal church, an old friend, and that the Knights Templar conduct the service at his grave.

After serving first as a Republican member of the House and then in the Senate, Mr. Burton decided in 1914 not to stand for reelection. By withdrawing from public life he made an opportunity for Warren G. Harding to come into national prominence.

At the close of the world war, he emerged from his retirement and became a candidate for the House. He was elected and entered the senatorial campaign of a year ago and was given a majority of more than half a million. He is the only man in American history to serve in the House and Senate, return to the House and then again hold membership in the Senate.

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The White House announced today that President Hoover will attend the public funeral services for the late Senator Burton of Ohio at the capitol tomorrow.

The decision of the president to do this was in keeping with the high respect in which he held the Ohio senator.

During Mr. Burton's illness, the chief executive called at his home three or four times, seeing him for the last time just prior to Mr. Hoover's trip into the middle west last week.

THE LUXURY HUSBAND

SYNOPSIS: The first rung on the ladder of success! Rita Gilmore, dancer at the Golden Dollar club, invites Ray to have supper with her. Intrigued by Ray's composition, "The Grivin' Blues," she wants permission to use it for a specialty dance number at the club and is enthusiastic over the song's prospects as a great hit. Rita is naturally elated and encouraged by Ray's interest, plunges into work harder than ever. At the first night tryout of the song and dance, there is no doubt as to its success. As Rita and Ray are bowing to the thunderous applause of the guests, Barbara and Ralph Henderson walk into the club.

Chapter 26 A RESOLUTION

They started to come. Barbara, decked in velvet, her head nestled in an immense ermine collar, her sliver slippers twinkling down the purple carpet, stopped suddenly with a little gasp.

"Hendy—what's the tune they're playing?"

"Never heard it to my knowledge have you?"

"Yes... yes..."

Only she could not remember where. She stood there listening conscious only that each note brought back poignant, heart-tearing memories. It seemed to her that the man who played the saxophone was playing it unnecessarily loud.

Suddenly she knew that she could not go down into that club and face hours of remembering, or regretting.

"Let's go home, Hendy, and have supper there. Somehow I feel queer, not like dancing. At home we can be comfortable and have cozy chat."

"Righto."

He was not sorry. It had hurt that at the Golden Dollar he had danced at the approximate cost of a dollar a step. He was none too flush at the moment. Recently he had cabled for more supplies from England, but he knew that even there his funds were almost negative. It costs money to entertain an heiress in the manner she has been accustomed.

But he regarded it as a money well invested. What are a few thousand dollars when millions are at stake? Back in her apartment the butler laid supper in the cozy, luxurious sitting room and withdrew. Barbara flung herself down on the couch. Her eyes were bright with restlessness, flitting about the room until finally they came to pause upon Henderson, sitting on the opposite end of the couch playing with a cushion as though it had been an accordion.

She stretched out her hand and flicked a piece of swansdown from his sleeve.

"You're a dear to pamper me a you do, Hendy. I've been awful difficult lately."

He caught the hand that still lingered on his sleeve.

"I won't say that you haven't, his eyes smiled down into hers, "but can I surmise the cause, I know you're not happy, Barbara."

"Of course I am. What nonsense, Hendy. Can't I be a little tired without your thinking I'm unhappy?"

"I don't know. You're so often like that lately—moody and distant. I don't think life's altogether satisfactory for you. Married and yet not married. Why don't you make yourself come to a definite decision? After all, he's forfeited any possible claim to your consideration."

His hand crept higher up her arm, playing with her elbow.

"You know I love you, my dear. How much longer are you going to keep me waiting?"

"I can't tell... Anyhow, I'm not free."

"But you could be... He deserted you."

Yes—he had deserted her, and as before on account of his pride she wanted to give him everything—everything she possessed but, instead of accepting it gratefully, he had thrown her gifts back in her face. Even the gift of herself. At that she set her teeth and a sense of physical pain shot through her.

Divorce seemed the only alternative. She kept telling herself that she would wait another week and at the end of that time she would decide to wait yet another.

"Don't worry me tonight, Hendy, there's a dear. I've a headache and, anyhow, I hate coming to a decision."

"But think of me, Barbara. It's terrific going on in this incertitude... when I love you as I do!"

Her hand gently touched his cheek.

"Bless you, Hendy. But give me onser, please."

He said slowly, taking hold of both her hands and pressing them together.

"I wouldn't mind waiting an eternally, if necessary, were it going to make you happier. But the longer you wait the longer you'll ret. A divorce is like having a tooth pulled, old dear. A nasty sharp pain and then months of recovery. Take my advice and have it over!" He laughed reassuringly. "I swear in six months I will have made you forget that the tooth was ver there at all."

She smiled wistfully.

"I—I guess you're right, Hendy. I'll think about it."

"But that, my dear, is just what ou shouldn't do! Thinking is oolish under the existing circumstances. You shouldn't act—not think. Why don't you try to be ore like your old self? Have a ood time, organize some parties, nap your fingers at regrets long ough and hard enough and you'll et regrets dissolving into thin air."

Barbara thought this over after y had gone. She wondered if Henderson might not be right. She ad been allowing herself to mop- paping would not bring Ray back, othing could except his own im- lination to come and that, apper- netly, did not exist.

Might it be living in this same partment that kept Ray so con- tantly in her mind? Everything round seemed in some inexplicable ay connected with him. The arm- air in which he'd like to stretch nths evenings... The lamp he ad invariably knocked over when e crossed to pull down the shades he couch where she'd sat so often n his knees...

Supposing she were to leave this partment and reopen her Long land home?

The country at this season was ore enticing than New York. Be- sides, wasn't a new environment sually prescribed for those suffer- ing from unrequited love?

Here country home wasn't far ough out of town to curtail her social activities. Why not reopen t with a grand housewarming—that would startle even the set with whom she mingled?

Something, this, to set her mind upon, besides being in itself a definite gesture to her period of roping—that she was ready once ore to take part in the activities which had been life to her before er marriage.

On a moment's impulse she alled Henderson by telephone at his hotel.

"I thought I'd let you know that I'd decided to take your advice—I'm planning to give a marvelous ball—something absolutely unusual. Come around in the morning and we'll discuss plans."

Her new-found enthusiasm lasted whilst they talked but, presently he receiver back on its hook, tanding in the lonely silence of her oom, she felt the old depression stealing back over her. Subsiding nto an armchair she let her had all forward in her arms.

Balls and parties—what were hey in the long run? Mainly they erved as an excuse for spending er money—the barrier that had separated her from Ray.

All around her were evidence of excessive wealth. On the walls, where many priceless etchings vere hung; in the furniture; be- neath her feet, in the shape of the genuine Persian rug—and in the midst of all this luxury she was ore lonely than had she been in solitary confinement in a prison cell.

Suddenly realizing the colossal folly of thinking, she stretched wearily and went slowly to bed.

A fairy god-father smiles on Rita and Ray. Continue the story to- morrow.

SUNDOWN STORIES

THE GYPSY'S AGE

(By Mary Graham Bonner)

"I'm really very, very, very old," the Gypsy said. "But they never found out about me until lately."

"Instead of camping on the out- skirts of a town I wander every- where."

"I go right through people. I go right through homes. Even where houses are very crowded they do not mind, as I never make people in the least uncomfortable."

"You know they suddenly discov- ered that they could send music over the air through my waves, so I'm a good-natured gypsy letting people make use of me. I help bring beautiful music played by bands and orchestras and songs that people love."

"But you've no idea the stories I've been making up all these years before any one knew of me."

"In my air waves there are castles and mountains and lovely lad- ies and brave men. It's a won- derful place to love."

"One of these days I'll tell some of my stories."

"I wish you would," said John, as he thought how interesting they might be.

"Oh yes, I've plenty of stories," the Gypsy went on. "People think that all the old fairy tales took place where there were sea mon- sters and giants and dragons but I'll tell them some time about my air heroes and air wave herones."

"Do you ever hear strange sounds when you're listening to some of the music over the radio?"

"I should say we did. They call it static," said John.

"Static nothing!" laughed the Gypsy. "That's when some of our dragons up in the air waves get loose."

"Well, did I ever!" exclaimed John.

"We'll have something to tell Daddy," said Peggy.

But now the Gypsy had vanished. And the Little Black Clock had brought John and Peggy back home.

Tomorrow—"The Sad Witch."

No "Instruments of the Devil" Now! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED.

With the introduction of machinery man-power feared it was to be supplanted. By the force of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE this ancient prejudice disappeared. Our modern "machine age" brings happiness and prosperity.

"toasting did it" —

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

THE WHITE PILGRIM

I come to the place where the White Pilgrim lay,
And pensively stood by his tomb;
When in a low whisper I heard something say,
How sweetly I sleep here alone.

The tempest may roar and the loud thunder roll,
And gathering storms may arise;
Yet calm are my feelings, at rest is my soul,
The tears are all wiped from my eyes.

The cares of my Master propelled me from home,
I bid my companions farewell;
I left my sweet children who for me do mourn,
I'm for distant regions to dwell.

I wandered an exile, a stranger below,
To publish salvation abroad,
The trump of the gospel endeavoring to blow,
Inviting poor sinners to God.

And when among strangers and far from my home,
No kindred or relatives nigh,
I met the contagion and sank to the tomb,
My spirit ascended on high.

Go tell my companions and relatives dear,
To weep not for me, tho' I'm gone;
The same hand that led me through scenes dark and drear,
Has kindly assisted me home.

—Mrs. E. S. Hardee.

D. A. R. Endorse Action Of Governor In Handling N. C. Industrial Situation

Farmville, Oct. 26.—Daughters of the American Revolution numbering 85 and representing fourteen towns, came to Farmville today, a day of clear skies and balmy weather, for the annual meeting of the Eighth District, which opened at 10:30 in the main auditorium of the Methodist church.

With the first verse of the professional hymn, Mrs. Haywood Smith at the organ, the State regent, Mrs. C. R. Whitaker of Southern Pines, the district chairman, and presiding officer, Mrs. R. L. Smith of Greenville, Mrs. T. C. Turnage, regent of the hostess chapter, the Mayor Benjamin May, and state treasurer, entered with other state officers and chapter regents escorted by the pages, Misses Elizabeth Fields, Mae Joyner, Louise Smith and Sue Barrett.

The beautiful church made a fitting setting with its floral decorations of red and white dahlias and the Stars and Bars towering above. Arm bouquets of handsome chrysanthemums were presented to the distinguished guests.

Invocations and the benediction were said by Dr. J. W. Harrell, pastor.

The chapter sextette, which is the pride and delight of the local organization and the only chapter sextette in the state, composed of the following singers, Mrs. J. W. Joyner, Mrs. M. V. Jones, Mrs. R. S. Dan, Mrs. R. T. Martin, Mrs. Mary Patterson, and Mrs. J. Lloyd Horton, sang "The Magnificent" by Kettle, after singing of "America" by the assemblage, and rendered two other selections during the course of the program. The sextette was invited to broadcast from WBT, at Charlotte, at an early date, by the chairman of the radio committee, Mrs. Frank B. Smith, of Charlotte.

The ritual was led by Mrs. C. E. Moore of Wilson, the flag salute by Mrs. B. Streeter Sheppard, of Raleigh, and the American's Creed by Mrs. W. M. Willis. A cordial welcome was extended by Miss Annie Perkins and a response in verse, corresponding to the invitation sent out by the district chairman, was given by Mrs. Walter F. Woodard, regent of the Wilson chapter.

Regret at the absence of the vice-president-general, Mrs. Ralph Van Landingham of Charlotte, was expressed by the presiding officer. She introduced Miss Gertrude Carraway, of New Bern, who read Mrs. Van Landingham's address, as the only woman present who "has been around the world." The address sent by Mrs. Landingham was able and timely, dwelling as she did on first: The responsibility of American citizens to protect the constitution of these United States of America, and overcome the sinister influences that tend to handicap and destroy the government, and second: "The divine remedy of all ills, 'The Golden Rule' whereby we can measure our obligations to those whose lives we touch." She quoted frequently from recent speeches of Governor Gardner and bespoke the loyalty and support, which will be yielded by his people. "He has kept the faith in the face of almost overwhelming difficulties; he has brought honor and prestige to our state."

Miss Carraway, vice-chairman of publicity, N. S. D. A. R., in her own address emphasized the need of the right kind of publicity and spoke of the large share of responsibility which is rightly to be borne by the Daughters of the American Revolution in the United States, in the marking of historic places, keeping alive the spirit of true patriotism, and erecting memorials to those who, "in our country's cause fell bravely" or wrought nobly. In traveling through the countries of the world she found conditions of unrest and dissatisfaction, talk of revolution every where, and she said that the question of national defense in the United States was of utmost importance. She spoke of the notoriety present industrial conditions have given to North Carolina, and said that every front page of every paper she picked up in foreign lands featured the Gastonia strike. She closed with a brief description of some of the beauty spots of Europe and Asia. She declared that all of these were surpassed by the moonlight on the Neuse.

Mrs. Whitaker, state regent, was introduced by Mrs. J. B. Goode, of Rocky Mount. One of the outstanding and anticipated features of every district meeting is the address of the state regent. Mrs. Whitaker, who is a forcible speaker, began by referring to the status of the Daughters of the Revolution as "an acknowledged asset in maintaining patriotic ideals, and those helpful law-abiding endeavors which contribute to the well being of the individual and to the stability and stamina of our nation." She encouraged an enlargement of membership and the formation of Societies of the Children of the Revolution, and a better citizenship with a more intelligent patriotism through study and education. She stressed the fact that this group is a patriotic rather than a social organization, with a definite task, "that of building up in the hearts of the American people a patriotic consciousness, a bulwark sufficient to perpetuate the ideals of our founders and their peculiar American system of government."

The reports of the state officers included that of Mrs. T. C. Turnage, treasurer, of state chairman; Mrs. Eugene Davis of Wilson, the student loan fund, manual for immigrants, Mrs. R. L. Smith, of Greenville, marker for patriots and battles, Mrs. M. T. Norris, of Raleigh, old trails, Mrs. J. F. Parrott of Kinston, radio, Mrs. Frank B. Smith of Charlotte, Revolutionary relics for Continental Memorial hall, Mrs. Wm. Ray Snow of Winston-Salem, Sons and Daughters of the Republic, Mrs. W. H. Cobb, of Goldsboro, finance and budget, Mrs. C. M. Parks of Morehead City, room in Constitution hall, Mrs. W. H. Belk of Charlotte, Mrs. Thomas McGee, of Greenville, past state director of the Children of the Revolution brought greetings and gave the report of the new director, Mrs. J. Talbot Johnson of Aberdeen. Chapter regents, who gave their reports for the year included Mrs. T. C. Turnage of the Major Benjamin May chapter, Mrs. J. B. Goode, of Rocky Mount, Mrs. S. N. Harrell, of Tarboro, Mrs. R. L. Smith, of Greenville, Mrs. Walter F. Woodard of Wilson and Mrs. F. C. Kugler, of Washington.

A round table discussion was led by Mrs. S. N. Harrell of Tarboro between the courses of the delightful luncheon served in the basement of the church by the Methodist Missionary Society.

The dining room and long tables were decorated with flowers and candles in the national colors, and flags.

Mrs. C. C. Todd, of Tarboro, spoke on "The Best Service We Can Do For North Carolina" and offered a sorry telling campaign as her suggestion, outlining its purpose to be the teaching of obedience to law and love of state and country, especially to the underprivileged child, by means of patriotic and historical stories. Mrs. Todd said "this is one way in which we might help North Carolina to keep her good name, which is more to be chosen than great riches."

Miss Tabitha DeVisconti read an excellent paper on "Conservation and Thrift" defining and representing these attributes as the very foundation of preparedness and the very basis of the advantages to be derived from the practice of conservation to the state and nation, and closed by urging each member "to plant at least one tree as a living memorial and an incentive to others to continue our good work."

Mrs. Lelia Higgs, of Greenville, discussed the preservation of historic buildings and spots, and Mrs. C. M. Parks made a few informal remarks. Mrs. Whitaker pressed her invitation to the district to "come to Pinehurst to the Southern Divisional meeting, the first of its kind to be held in the United States."

The report of the nominating committee headed by Mrs. U. H. Cozart of Wilson, was accepted and Mrs. R. L. Smith was re-elected as district chairman and Mrs. T. E. Hooker, of Greenville, secretary. The report of the courtesy committee was given by Mrs. J. B. Nobles and the following resolutions as read by the chairman, Miss Rosa Wells, of Wilson, were adopted:

First, concerning conservation of time at the state conference, by having annual reports of chapter regents go through the hands of their respective chairmen, and be made by the district chairman at the conference.

Second, endorsing the work of the Children of the Revolution.

Third, use of state programs in the regular chapter meetings.

Fourth, "Whereas, difficulties unprecedented in the official life of a Governor of North Carolina have occurred in our state, and because of recent industrial disturbances; Whereas, it is our belief that Governor Gardner has met these difficulties with courage and wisdom in upholding the integrity of the law; Whereas, it is the hope and belief that these problems can be solved by the exercise of great tolerance and patience; Be it resolved that we, the Daughters of the American Revolution of the Eighth District of North Carolina, send Governor Gardner the assurances of our loyal support, sympathy and confidence in his ability to bring to a happy termination the distressing problems which now confront us."

The meeting was one of the most successful yet held in the district and the slogan given Farmville by the district chairman in her opening speech, "Farmville always does everything well," was certainly lived up to on this occasion.

The Major Benjamin May chapter boasts a membership of 58, and is the strongest and most active, though among the youngest, (four years), of any chapter south of Raleigh, with the exception of Wilmington. Most of the credit for this growth and progress goes to the efficient leader, Mrs. T. C. Turnage, who has served as regent during the entire four years.

Extension Service to Help Popularize Cotton Market Plan

The agricultural extension service in the 16 cotton-growing states, which includes more than 1,200 county agricultural agents, will do its utmost in an educational way to induce cotton growers to cooperate promptly and unanimously with the Federal Farm Board in its plan to secure orderly marketing of the present cotton crop with a view of getting a fairer price for the commodity than that at which it is now selling, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today.

"By delivering cotton to a State Cooperative Cotton Marketing association instead of selling it on the open market, the grower can now get almost the present local selling price as an immediate advance from him association," says J. A. Evans, assistant chief of the department office of Cooperative Extension Work and regional agent in charge of extension work in the southern states, commenting on the board's announcement. "This advance to the grower is made possible by primary loans obtained from the Federal Intermediate Credit banks and from other sources and by the supplemental loans which the Federal Farm Board stands ready to make to these cooperative associations. In addition, when the cotton is finally sold the grower has reasonable expectation of obtaining a considerable additional amount due to the higher price which the cotton crop should bring if marketed in an orderly way. The success of the plan depends entirely on the action of the farmers themselves."

The department extension service, immediately following the announcement of the Federal Farm Board's cotton marketing plan, sent telegrams to the extension directors of the 16 cotton-growing states urging them to take immediate steps to acquaint their agents and all farmers, bankers, and other business men in their states with the details of the Board's plan, and to impress on farmers the importance of co-operating promptly to make the plan a success. In a letter to these directors, Mr. Evans said: "The cotton farmer never before has had such an opportunity to decisively test the value of orderly cooperative marketing in securing a fair market price for his produce and this under circumstances where he has everything to gain and little if anything to lose by such cooperation."

Mrs. Lelia Higgs, of Greenville, discussed the preservation of historic buildings and spots, and Mrs. C. M. Parks made a few informal remarks. Mrs. Whitaker pressed her invitation to the district to "come to Pinehurst to the Southern Divisional meeting, the first of its kind to be held in the United States."

The report of the nominating committee headed by Mrs. U. H. Cozart of Wilson, was accepted and Mrs. R. L. Smith was re-elected as district chairman and Mrs. T. E. Hooker, of Greenville, secretary. The report of the courtesy committee was given by Mrs. J. B. Nobles and the following resolutions as read by the chairman, Miss Rosa Wells, of Wilson, were adopted:

First, concerning conservation of time at the state conference, by having annual reports of chapter regents go through the hands of their respective chairmen, and be made by the district chairman at the conference.

Second, endorsing the work of the Children of the Revolution.

Third, use of state programs in the regular chapter meetings.

Fourth, "Whereas, difficulties unprecedented in the official life of a Governor of North Carolina have occurred in our state, and because of recent industrial disturbances; Whereas, it is our belief that Governor Gardner has met these difficulties with courage and wisdom in upholding the integrity of the law; Whereas, it is the hope and belief that these problems can be solved by the exercise of great tolerance and patience; Be it resolved that we, the Daughters of the American Revolution of the Eighth District of North Carolina, send Governor Gardner the assurances of our loyal support, sympathy and confidence in his ability to bring to a happy termination the distressing problems which now confront us."

The meeting was one of the most successful yet held in the district and the slogan given Farmville by the district chairman in her opening speech, "Farmville always does everything well," was certainly lived up to on this occasion.

The Major Benjamin May chapter boasts a membership of 58, and is the strongest and most active, though among the youngest, (four years), of any chapter south of Raleigh, with the exception of Wilmington. Most of the credit for this growth and progress goes to the efficient leader, Mrs. T. C. Turnage, who has served as regent during the entire four years.

The dining room and long tables were decorated with flowers and candles in the national colors, and flags.

Mrs. C. C. Todd, of Tarboro, spoke on "The Best Service We Can Do For North Carolina" and offered a sorry telling campaign as her suggestion, outlining its purpose to be the teaching of obedience to law and love of state and country, especially to the underprivileged child, by means of patriotic and historical stories. Mrs. Todd said "this is one way in which we might help North Carolina to keep her good name, which is more to be chosen than great riches."

PROTECT THE CHILDREN.
Among civic matters discussed by the Rotary Club last night the question of public health received its share of the consideration and conditions pictured by those who should know emphasize the necessity of immediate action along the lines of health examination for servants, not only in public places as required by law, but of those employed in the private homes as well.

will be proud of and one they will try to better in future years.
"Greenville shattered lots of records last year, and it is gratifying indeed to note that we have been able to set this high mark this season."

"With the holiday season only a few weeks off, shopping will begin to pick up to no little extent in this city," said a merchant today, speaking of the splendid values which Greenville business houses have to offer the public.

"Greenville is the principal shopping center of this section of the state, and it is quite natural merchants should have more things to offer the public than any other town in this trade territory."

"If county officers continue nabbing members of the whiskey making industry, times are going to be mighty dry around here during the holidays," observed a visitor to the city this morning.

"I have heard of lots of raids in this section, but never before anything like those of the last several weeks. The raid by Federal and county officers about a month ago was sufficient to scare bootleggers for months to come, but it did not, judging by raids staged since that time by city police and county officers."

"However, if the raids continue, liquor should be mighty scarce with few bootleggers taking a chance of getting nabbed by the law."

"People in this section of the county should adopt a Don't knock-boost slogan from now on," said one of Greenville's boosters today, referring to a tendency of people in the various towns to discredit the progress made by their home town.

"There is nothing that gets more direct results than boosting, and this is especially so of the small town that has been enjoying rapid advancement over a period of the last few years."

"Every section has something good to talk about and Pitt county is no exception. That knacker, chronic or otherwise, should compare favorable with unfavorable points, and then begin boosting. It is a ten to one bet that the good outweighs the bad and that there are decidedly more things to boost than to knock."

"Home owners should make an effort to beautify their property as much as they can," firmly believes a man who has spent much of his time improving the homes of the community in which he resides.

"The planting of flowers and shrubbery does more to improve the appearance of the landscape than anything imaginable, and it is to be hoped more attention will be given to this plan of beautification in the future."

"If you are a home owner, see that your yard is dotted with flowers and shrubs next spring, and then watch how much the appearance of the property will be enhanced. Beautiful homes create buyers, and plenty of buyers assure permanent growth of any city."

The matter is one that should have the prompt attention of every person in this city who employs a cook or nurse and everyone in such employ should be subjected to examination. Every mother and father naturally wants to safeguard the health of their little ones, and yet we venture the assertion that in eighty or more per cent of the homes in this city where servants are employed, we know nothing of the physical condition of the servant. The subject is one that has been given little public attention here and we believe that because of their ignorance of the dangers parents have subjected their children to these diseases.

Now is the time to act. A health certificate for every servant in Greenville should be the slogan of our citizens. Only in this way is it possible for us to safeguard the children. Don't put this matter off. Do it now.

PALE AND WEAK, OFTEN IN PAIN. Lady Got Stronger and Color Came Back After She Had Taken Cardui.

New Richmond, Ohio.-Mrs. Lizzie Blevins, of this place, says that when she was a young woman her health was not always as good as it should have been. "I was so weak sometimes I could hardly walk," she says. "I grew pale and thin, and my mother worried a lot about me. "My back ached and frequently I had bad headaches. I moped around the house for days at a time, and it looked like I could not get any better. "I read about Cardui. My mother had taken Cardui, and it had done her good, so she decided for me to try it. She got me a bottle of it, and started me to taking it. "I took three bottles of Cardui and improved wonderfully. After taking it a short time, I began to feel better. I began to have a good appetite. I ate more and I picked up in weight. I got a good color in my cheeks, and I felt strong and well. I can recommend Cardui to other young women, for it helped me."

The Greenville tobacco market has been able to set an entirely new record this season in having over two million pounds of tobacco here in one day," declared one of the many people who keep in touch with activities on the local market yesterday. "It looked like we were destined to have the lightest sales in years this season, but that yesterday not only set a record for the season, but eclipsed anything in the thirty-five years the market has been in business. It was a record tobaccoist

GRID TEAMS PREPARE FOR BITTER FIGHT

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 29.—(AP)—With those unsettling October skirmishes out of the way, Southern Conference gridiron coaches today were oiling bearings and polishing up rusty spots in their football machines in preparation for the strenuous November campaign starting this week end.

There will be some terrible clawing and scratching at Lexington when the Clemson Tigers and Kentucky Wildcats, both unconquered within the circle, tangle up.

Kentucky hopes took a fall yesterday after it was revealed that Ed Corington, brilliant halfback and Capital, suffered a serious injury to his side in the Centre game Saturday and would be out for several weeks. Tom Phipps, fullback, with a wrenched shoulder, and Andrews, flankman, with a sprained ankle, also will be out of the Clemson encounter.

Clemson sent word that Halfback Johnny Justus, although injured in the South Carolina struggle last week, could be used against Kentucky on Saturday. Championship hopes for several years now and with a great team this season, they are going to be a hard team to put away.

Tennessee volunteers two weeks ago, intends to let loose its pent up force against another Tennessee outfit—Vanderbilt—next Saturday. The Crimson Tide will be strengthened by the return to form of "Monk" Campbell, spinning ace, and John Suther, fleet halfback, both handicapped recently by injuries.

Uncle Dan McGuffin, while coasting through several easy games lately, has been moulding his Vandy squad into a powerful machine.

Tulane, holding the spotlight now as a result of its victory over Georgia Tech, will run into a pack of enraged Georgia Bulldogs at Columbus Friday. Mehre's men, stopped cold by Florida after having drubbed Yale and North Carolina, are pointing for the Green Wave, and Bernie Herman's gridlers will have to play the same jam up game they did against Tech in order to hurdle the Athens obstacle.

Austin Downes, Georgia quarterback, hurt in the Florida tussle will not play against Tulane but Mehre has two other signal callers, Paris and Moran ready to shove into the fray.

Louisiana State university and Tennessee are the other undefeated eleven. The former will step out of conference ranks for a crack at Arkansas, while the Volunteers expected little trouble from the Auburn Plainsmen.

Florida's Gators, who found them selves last week against Georgia, will invade Cambridge with hibernates of tramping Harvard. The Crimson eleven won the first engagement between the two teams in 1922 on the Bachman stadium hopes to turn the tables this year.

W. A. Alexander, Georgia Tech mentor, has announced he will "shoot the works" against the Irish of Notre Dame when Knute Rockne's Ramblers come south Saturday. Although Tech won last year, Torndahl followers are not entertaining such high hopes of stopping the great southbend eleven this season.

Tar Heels Drive Hard for Wolfpack Game

Chapel Hill, Oct. 29.—Hard Coach Chuck Collins is fighting hard this week to avert the sort of let-down that so frequently follows in the wake of an overwhelming victory.

The Tar Heel mentor realizes that a slowing up of the Tar Heels squad at this time might prove disastrous to their chances for retaining the State championship.

The Tar Heels have their eyes on bigger game than the State title this year, but in their quest for Southern Conference glory they are not going to take any chances on being caught unawares by North Carolina teams.

For the Tar Heels learned long ago that their intra-State opponents always give them their very best scrap.

As the situation stands now, Carolina and State both have clean slates. On the basis of comparative scores to date, Carolina is doped to win. Which is another way of saying that the Wolfpack will enter the game with the idea of having everything to gain by licking Carolina.

Coach Rockne Reported Worse

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Rumors were current on the Notre Dame University campus today that the condition of Knute Rockne's famous football coach, had taken a turn for the worse. The Irish play Georgia Tech in Atlanta next Saturday.

An announcement by the university that Rockne's trip last week to Pittsburgh for the Notre Dame-Carnegie game had aggravated his condition and the coach's absence from practice yesterday afternoon were accepted as partial substantiation of the rumors. The Rockne telephone was disconnected last night.

ILLINOIS AND NORTHWESTERN CLASH IN EVANSTON

A tough battle is in prospect when Illinois and Northwestern meet on the gridiron in Evanston November 2. Northwestern can depend on Al Moore, a big fast back, to cover lots of ground, but then there is Jud Timm, Illinois' star halfback, to deal with, and he's built up a reputation for making long gains also.

FARMVILLE TO PLAY HERE ON NEXT FRIDAY

Yesterday afternoon the Greenville High football team was out working hard, or at least that portion of the team that was out working hard, to improve their team play in anticipation of an unexpectedly strong attack by Farmville this week end. With the local boys suffering from unvarnished overconfidence and Farmville ready to expend every ounce of energy to defeat her traditional rivals, certainly a stirring battle is to be fought.

Coach Peele, of Farmville was quoted as saying yesterday, "We would rather win the game with Greenville and lose all the rest on our card, than to lose this and win all the others." With this spirit, Farmville will need close and constant watching, and quite probably all the things seen by watchers and opposing players will not suit their taste.

"The boys need not feel any too confident of an easy time, with Farmville," Coach Porter said today. "That is the worst possible feeling to have toward an opponent as formidable as Farmville always is when she plays us."

Last evening the Varsity indulged in a snappy scrimmage with the scrubs, and then took on the Yellow Jacket Freshmen for another half hour of gentle recreation. The Freshmen themselves are preparing for a game this Thursday with the Ayden Junior Team, in Ayden, a hard game which will be returned by some day when the Varsity is resting or traveling, during next month. These two games, with an out of town return engagement with Winterville, and an annual tussle with the Sophomores, will wind up a five game schedule for the Freshmen, quite the most pretentious that the Yearlings have ever attempted.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Cotton opened barely steady today at a decline of 13 to 21 points under heavy liquidation which appeared to come from Wall street sources and which was attributed to the weakness of the stock market. Some large blocks were sold during the first few minutes but the trade seemed to be buying more actively and the offerings were absorbed at 17.82 for December and 18.35 for March with the market becoming less active. At the end of the first half hour prices were fairly steady and within 6 or 10 points of yesterday's closing quotations.

Buying on the opening decline was probably promoted by unfavorable features in the weather news and fairly steady Liverpool cables. Private cables said there had been buying and liquidation absorbed by Bombay and continental buying in the Liverpool market and reported an improved inquiry for cotton cloths from India but depressing advices from China.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Despite a sudden break of nearly 7 cents a bushel in wheat prices today, the wheat market straightened up in the late dealings. Word of enormous European purchases of flour from the United States in the last two days, together with active buying today of wheat future deliveries, transferring ownership on a large scale to foreigners, did much to overcome the greater part of the effects of stock market smashes which caused the severe but mostly transient downfall of wheat values at the same time. In addition to the stimulating influence of huge demand for domestic flour to be shipped abroad, the wheat market was also aided to rally because of European export buying of North American wheat today estimated as totaling 1,000,000 bushels.

Wheat closed unsettled 1 1/2 to 2 1/8 a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 3/8 to 7/8 down; oats 5/8 to 1 off and provisions unchanged to a setback of 22 cents.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The mad scramble to get out of stocks reached record breaking proportions today as prices plunged downward under what appeared to be worldwide liquidation of securities. Extreme declines in most of the active stocks ranged from 10 to 70 points, with more than half the general list in new low ground for the year. Total sales crossed the 8,000,000 share mark before noon, with indications that the day's total would be far ahead of last week's 12,000,000 share session.

The decline, like those which have preceded it, was not associated with anything in the day's news, but represented the crossing out of speculative accounts weakened in the succession of clashes that have taken place during the past week. Bankers endeavored to relieve the situation by reducing margin requirements on street loans from 40 to 25 per cent, and providing occasional support to assure an orderly market, but this was not sufficient to stem the gigantic wave of selling. The call money renewal rate was reduced from 6 to 5 per cent, and time money was freely offered at the lowest rates of the year.

Opening blocks on the New York Stock Exchange ranged from 10,000 to 20,000 shares. When this initial deluge of selling had been disposed of, the market rallied, but fresh offerings appeared and prices began to slide steadily downward until the early afternoon. Bankers held out hopes that today's selling would mark the climax of the decline in most stocks, as quoted values, in many cases, were at levels to attract investment support.

Failure of a member of the New York Curb Exchange increased the widespread uneasiness prevailing in the financial district, but New York Stock Exchange houses appeared to be weathering the storm in good shape. Hopes were held out that the quarterly meeting of the U. S. Steel Corporation, to be held after the close of the market, would pro-

Wall street has never witnessed such a wild opening as today's practically all of the leading issues opened with blocks of 10,000 to 50,000 shares, with the average decline running close to $5 a share. U. S. Steel common after opening fractionally lower at 185 1/4, quickly rallied to 192. Similar recoveries took place in the other leading stocks.

Wide open breaks also took place on the New York curb market. Electric Bond & Share, which ran up close to $200 a share in the recent wild orgy of speculation, opened with a block of 50,000 shares at $50.25, off $34.75, and then rebounded to $70 a share. American Superpower dropped $7.62 1-2 to $17.50 and Cities Service opened with a block of 115,000 shares at $24.87 1-2. The total stock sale in the first half hour were 3,259,300 shares, or larger than any previous full hour's sales on record.

Some selling took place on the first rally, but strong resistance apparent at the opening levels, and few of the leading issues broke through their initial prices. Cities service on the New York Curb market was a conspicuous exception, falling back to $22.50 a share, or less than one-third the price prevailing less than three weeks ago.

Severe declines also took place in the prices of bank stocks, which are traded "over the counter".

First National Bank stock, dropped $300 a share, being quoted at $6300 bid and $6700 offered. George F. Baker, veteran chairman of the board, is understood to hold 22,000 shares of this stock so that his overnight loss in paper profits in this issue alone runs over $6,000,000. Mr. Baker is also reputed to hold more than 60,000 shares of American Telephone, which dropped $34 a share yesterday and $12 more today, or a shrinkage in the quoted values of his holdings of that issue of nearly $3,000,000. National City Bank stock dropped $47 a share, Chase National $20, equitab 10, Central Hanover $15, Corn Exchange $47 and Manufacturers Trust $15.

EXPRESS AIRLINER AND FIVE MEN LOST IN SNOW STORM IN NEW MEXICO

(Continued from page one) Fly over the Navajo Indian reservation, east of the point where he was seen, before being forced to land. On the eastern side of the Arizona-New Mexico boundary, they said, they believed Doles could find numerous emergency landing places.

Despite hopes of officials that the plane was safe on some isolated plateau with one of the pilots or the steward making his way to means of communication to notify headquarters, every means is planned to search the rough territory thoroughly.

Planes were prepared to sweep at as low altitude as conditions permitted over terrain which at best presents nature in its most grim aspect, and which reports indicated to be whitened by the first snow of the winter.

The air hunt is to cover in large part the territory in which the Transcontinental Air Transport's liner "City of San Francisco" was lost less than two months ago. The "City of San Francisco" was found wrecked, its five passengers and three crew members dead, on the slope of Mount Taylor in New Mexico, with indication that it had run into a storm.

George Rice, Western Air Express pilot, who located the wreck of the "City of San Francisco," volunteered at Albuquerque to take the first searching plane out to look for his fellow pilots and the passengers in the missing plane.

Rice was under orders to fly within 100 feet of the ground if he found it possible to do so. Other ships are to be sent from Las Angeles, if the lost liner is not located immediately.

At Winslow, Ariz., Transcontinental Air Transport air field, pilots of a west bound T. A. T. ship that arrived three hours late, said they found rain at Adamana and snow at Gallup, N. M. The route of the missing liner, if it went that far, would have taken it south of Gallup, across the Zuni Mountain range.

Los Angeles, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The regular eastbound plane of the Western Air Express left here at 5 a. m. for Kansas City, carrying Chief Pilot Moorehouse and other company men who will join the search for the concern's lost air liner along the Arizona-New Mexico border.

More than an hour before the regular plane left, another ship of the company took off without passengers for Albuquerque, planning to reach the vicinity of Holbrook, Ariz., about dawn. After surveying that vicinity the plane will fly back over the company's regular route later in the day if necessary.

Labor Congress Postponed Today

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The executive committee of the Pan-American Federation of Labor, headed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today announced the indefinite postponement of the sixth Pan-American Labor Congress on the grounds that "the very existence of the organized labor movement" is threatened by conditions in the southern states.

"The labor movement in the south," Green's statement said, "finds itself confronted with one of the most gigantic campaigns ever launched by employers to prevent organized labor from doing its duty."

"Thus it will be seen that with more than a million members to be called upon, the American Federation of Labor finds it necessary to concentrate all its energies and resources on this titanic struggle in which the very existence of the organized labor movement is at stake."

Newspaperman Hurt In Thirty-Foot Fall

Greenville, S. C., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Al Burdette, Asheville newspaperman and formerly of this city, was reported resting well in a hospital here today after a miraculous escape from death yesterday when he fell from Caesar's Head. A ledge 30 feet below saved him from a drop of hundreds of feet.

Severe injuries to the lower part of the body were suffered by Burdette. He was rescued, unconscious, several hours after the fall. No one witnessed the accident, so far as is known. Deputy Sheriff Sam Pollard investigated and reported he had found no evidence of foul play.

Burdette's plight was discovered by Robert L. Chandler, Jr., of this city, who notified others and the rescue was made by forming a human chain to the ledge.

He will recover unless complications ensue, physicians said last night.

Find Part of Stolen Payroll in Chicken Yard

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Navy Department officials announced today that they had found $47,000 buried in a chicken yard in Southeast Washington by Lieutenant Charles Musil, who disappeared from Charleston, S. C., several weeks ago with a $54,600 payroll.

Lieutenant Musil walked aboard the receiving ship Seattle in New York last week and surrendered. He turned over $1,500 in cash at that time. Officials have little hope of finding the remainder of the money.

Musil told Naval officials he had buried the money in the chicken yard located behind a vacant house once occupied by him and his family. Armed with picks and shovels, the officers succeeded in digging up the cash.

Seek Disbarment of Eight Lawyers at Charlotte, N. C.

Charlotte, Oct. 29.—(AP)—A blanket denial of the charges of unethical practice that have been lodged against eight attorneys by an investigating commission here and the State Bar Association's grievance committee was made today. The committee on grievances representing the State Bar Association yesterday announced that it had sent Solicitor John G. Carpenter charges that he might start action looking toward depriving the men of the law license.

Raleigh, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Seeking their disbarment, the grievance committee of the North Carolina Bar Association has forwarded evidence of alleged unethical practices by eight Charlotte attorneys to Solicitor John G. Carpenter of the Mecklenburg-Gaston district.

Announcement of the action was made here yesterday by Robert Ruark, chairman of the committee, who said the solicitor had been asked to prosecute the men.

Those so charged were L. L. Caudle, A. B. Fortner, Ural R. Murphy, Enos T. Edwards, W. C. Ginter, J. E. Woodward, C. Henry Edwards and Wilson H. Price.

Ruark did not make known the specific charges against the Charlotte men, but revealed that charges against other Charlotte attorneys were now under consideration by the Bar Association's grievance committee.

The action was revealed as part of a sweeping movement to rid the ranks of North Carolina lawyers of unethical practitioners. Ruark said formal charges had not been made against any attorneys in other counties, but that there were indications there might be later.

No statement was forthcoming last night from many of the Charlotte men whom Solicitor Carpenter has been asked to prosecute.

First Cooperative Sales Association Springs Into Being

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The first national commodity co-operative sales association to be set up under the guidance of the farm board came into legal existence today as the Farmers National Grain Corporation filed incorporation papers at Wilmington, Delaware.

Similar organizations for the wool and mohair and livestock co-operatives are in process of formation and will be completed in the near future, leaders stated, at the same time expressing hope that co-operatives handling other commodities would foster a similar move.

The new grain corporation will make use to the greatest extent all existing farmer owned grain marketing facilities. The board said the organization would have adequate capital and if given adequate support of farmer owned grain co-operative associations will handle annually in excess of 500,000,000 bushels of all grains.

General and active management of the organization will be in the hands of a general manager who, the by-laws provide, shall be a person "acceptable to the Farm Board."
