Bench Warrants Issued For Sixteen At Opening Of Riot Investigation

Gastonia, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Names of the sixteen persons, contained in the bench warrant issued by Judge P. A. McElroy today at the start of the magistrate's investigation into the death of Ella May Wiggins, who was shot to death in anti-communist strike riots here September 14, were made public at noon by Solicitor John G. Carpenter.

The list follows: Yates Gamble, Fred Morrow, L. M. Sossaman, Jack Caver, Horace Wheeler, W. M. Boysters, Lowery Davis, O. H. Lunsford, Troy Jones, Theodore Simms, George Fowler, Howard West, Roy Carver, and three others, Holbrooks, Thompson and Haney, whose initials were not known to the officers.

The charge against the sixteen is that they did conspire, confederate and agree to intimidate and force back against their wishes Mrs. Wiggins and the others in the automobile truck in which she was killed, also that they entered into a conspiracy to and did kill and murder Mrs. Wiggins.

Solicitor Carpenter said that Wheeler would be held on $5,000 bond and other under $2,500.

Gastonia, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Bench warrants were issued for sixteen men by Judge P. A. McElroy as the first action in the committing magistrate investigation started here today into the death of Ella May Wiggins, who was shot to death in anti-communist strike riots here September 14.

Names of the men ordered held were withheld. The hearing was immediately recessed until tomorrow morning.

There will be no secret sessions of the inquiry, Judge McElroy announced from the bench. "The status of the case requires full publicity," he said.

Forty witnesses summoned for the hearings were ordered to appear at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow. Although the names of the sixteen men ordered arrested were withheld, it was known that several of the nine men against whom the Gaston county grand jury two weeks ago refused to return indictments were ordered rearrested.

The action of the solicitor gave color to reports that have been current for several days that important new evidence had been uncovered by Deputy Sheriff J. V. Wiggins, who has been conducting an independent investigation. Although officials declined to comment on the report, it has been reported that the man who actually fired the shot that killed Mrs. Wiggins is believed to be known to officials.

A. L. Bunwinkle, former congressman, who was attorney for the nine men arrested during the coroner's inquest and freed by grand jury action, was in court when Judge McElroy issued the warrants. He suggested that if the list of names was given him he would have the entire group appear and accept service.

The nine men against whom the grand jury failed to return indictments were Fred Morrow, Troy Jones, Theodore Simms, L. R. Davis, L. M. Sossaman, Will Lunsford, M. P. Paymer, Horace Wheeler and Jack Carver.

The inquiry opening today was the third Gaston county investigation into the death of Mrs. Wiggins. Coroner J. F. Wallace and his jury held six sessions and bound over nine men to the grand jury. The grand jury heard most of the same witnesses and refused to indict. Gov. O. Max Gardner, unwilling to let the matter rest at that point, conferred with Solicitor Carpenter and then ordered Judge McElroy to conduct a judicial investigation.

The governor offered a reward for the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Mrs. Wiggins. A reward of $1,000 also has been offered by the American Civil Liberties Union.

Two Children Dead After Collision of Airplane and Auto

Bennettsville, S. C., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Two children were dead, their mother in a hospital and an airplane pilot under charges of "negligent operation of an airplane" as a result of one of the strangest accidents ever known here—a collision between an automobile and an airplane.

MERCY KILLER ON TRIAL IN FRENCH COURT

Man Claims to Have Killed Invalid Mother to Put Her Out of Pain

Draguignan, France, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Richard Corbett was acquitted by a jury today of the charge of murdering his invalid mother last May.

Corbett was his own lawyer at the trial. He admitted the killing was premeditated but affirmed that he had done it to end his mother's sufferings and felt that he had done right even though he had broken the law.

The public prosecutor in a short and fervent speech requested a verdict establishing Corbett's guilt. "I am not asking for excessive punishment," he said, "but this startling case develops the tremendous vital question whether society can permit one human being to take the life of another and remain unpunished."

"Your verdict will echo around the world. The state must contend that there is no right to kill."

Then, with women's sobs echoing through the stifling courtroom and telegraph messengers who were silent sippers dashing in and out to serve fifty reporters, the prosecutor demanded the minimum sentence of five years solitary confinement.

Corbett, sitting with head bowed, took little interest in the proceedings.

Draguignan, Var, France, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Thirty year old Richard Corbett, of English-French lineage, went on trial today on murder charges growing out of the "mercy killing" of his invalid mother.

Corbett refused the services of a lawyer and decided to plead his own case, although he professes, now that he has put his mother out of pain, he is not interested in the outcome. The trial has attracted international interest.

Corbett's father was an English banker who settled out here about 40 years and married a French girl, dying ten years ago. Three years ago his widow began to suffer from nerve, and their son acted as her nurse.

Corbett saw his mother's pain increase and when last May he was told there was no hope he kissed her, shot her to death and then turned the gun on himself. He was taken to a hospital and revived. His first words were said to have been: "My mother is dead?"

Two Other Children of St. Louis Woman Ill As Coroner Plans Investigation

St. Louis, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Her three-year old twin sons dead of poisoning and her two other children expected to die, Mrs. Carrie Reppy, 24, was being held for the coroner here today. Her husband, Samuel, whom health authorities said was out of work, was not detained by police although they questioned him for several hours.

Developments came fast in the case yesterday with Dr. S. Winn, surgeon for the St. Louis coroner, climaxing it early today in a report to police, that Delmar, one of the twins, died of a violent poison. He began an autopsy of the body of the other twin, Elmer, to determine the cause of his death. Dr. Winn said there would be an analysis of the viscera of both children to determine the exact poison.

According to the mother's answers to police questioning, her children first began to show signs of illness last Wednesday while they were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Dillow at Cuba, Mo., but she thought slightly of the complaints until Saturday. She declared Delmar became sick at 7 o'clock Saturday morning, refusing breakfast, and at 11 o'clock Elmer was affected, followed by Rosie, 4, at 3 p. m. and Clarence, 3, at 5 o'clock. Dillow Early Sunday morning, Mrs. Reppy said, Elmer was worse and Dr. W. G. Henderson of Cuba was called, but before he arrived the tot had died. His twin and the other children were rushed to City hospital here where Delmar died within a short time.

Dr. Henderson, who accompanied the children here, was not satisfied with what he had been told, that the children had eaten green walnuts or berries near the Dillow home, and telephoned Dr. G. G. Herzog, Crawford County, Mo., health commissioner, who agreed to have an autopsy performed.

Early today, Dr. Henderson obtained the consent of Sheriff O. L. Greyson, of Crawford county, to go with him to gather both berries and walnuts to have a chemical analysis made.

Slayer of Doctor at Statesville to Get Trial Tuesday

Charlotte, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Preliminary hearing will be given Frank W. Reid, admitted slayer of Dr. L. V. Cloninger, 58-year-old Statesville physician, in city recorder's court here tomorrow.

Meanwhile, police are holding the 20-year-old boy without bond and the reasons which led him to shoot the Statesville physician Saturday night at a rooming house here remain unexplained. Only relatives and his attorney, D. B. Smith, have been permitted to visit him at the jail.

Self defense was the brief explanation of his act given by Reid when police arrested him shortly after the slaying. He has since refused to elaborate upon his statement.

Dr. Cloninger never rallied sufficiently after he was shot three times to give a coherent story of the shooting. He and Reid had secured a room together in the home of H. F. Lanier and it was there that the shooting took place.

Nationalists Meet With Heavy Losses

Hankow, China, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The Japanese military intelligence today said the army of Marshal Feng Yu-Hsien, or Kuomintang "People's Army," had inflicted a decisive defeat on Nationalist troops near Laohonkow Hupeh.

Dispatches from Cheenchow said 10,000 Nationalist troops deserted and began ravaging the countryside, while an equal number refused to fight. The fighting was said to have extended along the northwest border of Hupeh and Honan.

The Japanese dispatch said: "The Kuomintang crushed the Nationalist forces, the victory resulting in great confusion. Laohokow officials are fleeing."

Wounded Nationalists were said to be flooding Chengchow from the west, with most of them suffering from bayonet and sword wounds. This was taken to indicate that the Quominchun were engaged in hand to hand combat to conserve ammunition.

Senate Condemns Bingham For Admitting Evanson To Conference On Tariff Bill

Washington, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The Senate voted to condemn the conduct of Senator Hiram Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, for taking Charles L. Evanson, an officer of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association into secret session of the Senate Finance committee at the time the tariff bill was being framed.

It was the first act of censure in 27 years.

The vote was taken after a protracted discussion during which Bingham defended his action.

Bingham said his judgment in the way he used Evanson, a tariff expert, might have been at fault but on the "other hand if motives in doing so were based on my wholehearted zeal for a protective tariff."

Efforts of Senator's friends to soften the language of the resolution of the condemnation which was adopted by Senator Norris, Republican Independent, of Nebraska, prevailed to some extent and as finally approved Senator Bingham of any intention of corrupt motives.

The resolution, as adopted read: "That the action of the Senator from Connecticut, Mr. Bingham in placing Mr. Charles L. Evanson upon the official rolls of the senate and his use by Senator Bingham at the time and in the manner set forth in the report of the Sub-Committee of the committee on the judiciary, while not a result of the corrupt motives on the part of the Senator from Connecticut, is contrary to good morals and tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute, and such conduct is hereby condemned."

The vote was 54 to 22. The Sub-Committee of the Judiciary Committee referred to in the resolution is the Lobby committee, which inquired into the case. Both Bingham and Evanson appeared before the Lobby committee and gave details of the employment. The last time the Senate had occasion to censure any of its membership occurred in 1902 when "Pitchfork Ben" Tillman and John McLaughlin, the two South Carolinians, engaged in a personal encounter on the floor.

Tillman accused McLaughlin of changing his vote on a treaty and McLaughlin came back with the report that Tillman was a liar.

Sales Reported Heavy on Local Tobacco Market

Despite the heavy downpour of rain which began last night and continued through a greater part of today, the Greenville tobacco market this morning experienced the second heaviest sales of the season, according to early estimates of the market's condition issued early this afternoon.

Reports indicated that there was approximately 1,500,000 pounds of leaf on the floors of the nine warehouses with the price situation somewhat higher than last week.

Heavy Selling Causes Prices To Break Again On N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Heavy selling of stocks again took place in the securities markets today after a brisk rally, which followed the initial declines of $1 to $12 a share, failed to hold, and prices of many stocks fell below their opening quotations.

Extensive liquidation of impaired marginal accounts, which had not been cleaned out in last week's drastic reaction, was supplemented by the selling of disappointed traders and investors, who bought stocks in the closing sessions of last week in the belief that the rally, then in progress, would carry much farther before it was checked.

Thousands of buying orders came into the market over the week-end, but most of these were from old lot traders whose demands were more than offset by the offerings of professional traders.

U. S. Steel common, which opened $2.25 lower at $18.24 and then ran up to $19.1, was back at the opening prices shortly after mid-day. Westinghouse Electric, which dropped $0.25 on the initial sale to $150, and then rallied slightly, fell back to $146. General Electric extended its opening loss of $3 to $16.75 a share. American Telephone converted an opening gain of $1.25 into a loss of $8.75.

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—A deluge of selling orders greeted the reopening of the stock market after the three day holiday today. And prices broke sharply, with most of the leaders losing $1 to $5 a share.

Several important financial developments took place since the closing of the exchange last Thursday afternoon. First was the reduction from 6 to 5 per cent in the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate, and the drop of $1,096,000,000 in brokers' loans reported by that bank. This was followed on Friday by the big Foshay failure, involving several banks and Public Utilities in the northwest.

Then, on Saturday, the New York stock exchange announced that member loans had dropped $2,440,550,111 in October, a record breaking reduction.

LEE SADLER TO RETURN TO CHURCH HERE

Rev. Lee S. Sadler, pastor of the Hanover Street Christian church of Richmond, Va., has accepted the call of the Eight Street Church of Christ in this city, it became known today. He will take charge of his new pastorate January 1st.

The call was extended to the Richmond minister following the resignation of Rev. R. J. Bamber several weeks ago, but announcement of his acceptances was not made public until yesterday.

Mr. Sadler is well known in Greenville, having been pastor of the Christian church here several years ago. He is considered one of the strongest preachers of the denomination and announcement of his return to the local church has been greeted with interest by members of the congregation.

Mr. Sadler has been pastor of the Hanover church at Richmond for a number of years. It is one of the largest churches in Virginia and its membership has taken a prominent part in moulding the religious life of the section in which it is situated.

The new pastor completed his religious education at Columbia University with high rank and since that time has taken an active part in work of the denomination in Virginia and North Carolina.

The vote tomorrow is expected to furnish an indication of whether Virginia is to be counted as still a safe Democratic state or is to join the array of doubtful commonwealths wherein both great political parties wage increasing warfare during national campaigns.

Under the leadership of Bishop Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, the anti-Smith Democrats have joined with the Republicans in supporting William Moseley Brown for the governorship against John Garland Pollard, candidate of the regular Democratic organization at the head of which stands Governor Harry Flood Byrd.

Florida produced $2,000,000 bulbs this season, nearly 43 per cent of the total production of the United States.

Washington, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Sporadic political campaigns over the country came to an end today with last minute appeals to the doubtful among the voters of dozen states from Massachusetts to California and from Michigan to Virginia.

From the largest cities down to the smallest precincts, the leaders were perfecting more or less elaborate arrangements for getting out votes tomorrow, but the campaign in some places, notably the Old Dominion, had been of such a character as to require little urging that the voter seek the nearest polling places.

With the Democratic political machine in Virginia facing the most severe test it probably has yet met, an unusually heavy vote is expected in that state, which alone elects a governor.

Until a combination of anti-Smith Democrats and Republicans threw the state into the Republican column just a year ago, political contests there were decided in the Democratic primary. Consequently this is the first real general election fight for state officers within several generations.

May Visit Native Countries Without Fear Conscription

Washington, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Italy has indicated that Italo-American citizens may visit their native country without fear of conscription for military service, so long as that country is at peace.

A statement by the Stefani agency, issued here through the Italian embassy, while reserving all rights to which the Fascist government considers itself entitled, said that that government "would have no interest in imposing military duties in time of peace to citizens residing in far away countries."

Thus a long-standing difference between the Washington and Rome governments, seems to be on its way to a settlement. The Fascist government has maintained that American naturalization does not affect the liability of Italian born individuals to compulsory military service in that country.

LOCAL HIGH WINS FROM FARMVILLE

In the hardest fought game seen on the local gridiron in a long time, the Greenville high school team defeated the strong Farmville aggregation Friday afternoon by the small score of six to nothing.

The game was not as repetitive with scoring as it should have been due to the fact that the local backs had a tendency to fumble the ball when they carried it into scoring position. Farmville always seemed to be in position to recover these fumbles and after running three plays without gains, Roy Taylor, their best back, would kick out of danger.

Greenville kicked off to Farmville and the Farmville team proceeded to make their only first down of the afternoon. The local line then held and Taylor was forced to kick. The kick was partially blocked and recovered by R. Hodges. Greenville took the ball and on a beautifully executed triple pass, R. Hodges went around right end for 18 yards only to lose the ball when he was tackled. Greenville was never again in a position to score more than one tally. That only came after a sixty yard march down the field and culminated in a gain Briley going through the on a criss-cross play for the and only score of the game. Hodges failed to convert the extra point.

The locals showed more form than they have in any previous game of the season. The line charged nicely, the interference was good, and their blocking showed much improvement. The whole line worked well with the work of Wilson and Johnson outstanding. All members of the backfield turned in several nice runs with the work of C. D. Smith especially outstanding.

The locals will go to Rocky Mount Wednesday to lock horns with the strong Blackbird team from the railroad city. On Monday, November 11, Armistice day, they will take on the Tarboro aggregation which has been defeated only once this year. This game will start at 2:30 p. m. The game will be played under the auspices of the American Legion and tickets will be put on sale the latter part of this week. It is hoped that a large crowd will be out to witness the Armistice day affair.

Thirty four scholarships are available to the 35 students enrolled in the department of Salvonic languages at the University of Texas.

New Type House

Princeton, N. J.—A new type of house has walls and floors made of double layers of a substance-like synthetic leather with the air exhausted from between the layers so that the vacuum will insulate against sound and cold. The plan of R. Buckminster Fuller of New York is praised by Professor Shirley Warner Morgan, of Princeton University, as a step toward the necessary revolution in housebuilding which he foresees.

GRID RACES NARROW DOWN TO TEN CLUBS

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor) New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The race for sectional and national football honors has narrowed down to a handful of surviving contenders, with the November campaign just gathering headway, due to the latest and so far most spectacular series of upsets along the college gridiron fronts.

Georgia Tech, Illinois and Southern California, all top-ranking in 1928, have been tumbled to defeat in the general melee while such sectional title holders as Nebraska in the Big Six and Texas in the Southwest, are barely hanging on in the title hunt.

On the basis of the latest performances, the most powerful arrays are Pittsburgh and Yale in the east, Notre Dame, Purdue and Minnesota in the middle west, Tennessee, Kentucky, Vanderbilt and Tulane in the Southern Conference group, Utah in the Rocky Mountain area and California's surprising Golden Bears on the Pacific coast. In the other main sections, Texas Christian holds at least a temporary edge in the race for Southwestern Conference honors while Oklahoma bars Nebraska's path to the Big Six top.

Of the Big Four contenders for national honors who entered Saturday's fray so confidently only Notre Dame and Pittsburgh emerged with prospects that are brighter than before, as a result of smashing victories over Georgia Tech and Ohio State, respectively.

Southern California and Dartmouth fell by the wayside in two of the most sensational games of the season, the Trojans went down before the charge of California's Bears, led by Benny Lee; the Dartmouth Indians before the Blue, led by Albie Scott and "Red" Ellis, a new Eli hero.

In spite of an early season setback at the hands of Georgia, no team in the country jumps any more formidable now than Yale, conqueror of Brown, Army and Dartmouth on successive Saturdays.

The Bullsmakers of Purdue, with one of the hardest-hitting backfields in the country, stepped into the national picture as well as the Big Ten lead by trimming Wisconsin for their fifth straight victory. Minnesota also has a clean slate, with Indiana as the latest victim, but the two remaining contenders for Western Conference honors, held for the past two years by Illinois

NEVER HOLDS SCORING LEAD ON GRIDIRON

By DILLON L. GRAHAM Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Although "Shipwreck" Kelly, Kentucky's surprising sophomore, and Billy Banker, Tulane's blonde terror, ran wild last week in an attempt to overtake him, Gene McEver, Tennessee's rampaging halfback, met their pace and retained his leadership among southern football scorers. He has a total of 81 points.

His scampering about was retarded somewhat Saturday by a wet and treacherous turf, but the swarthy, whirling volunteer slashed through the Auburn Tiger's line for two touchdown jaunts and then added one point thereafter to boost his touchdown total to 15.

Kelly, with two touchdowns, set the fuse for the explosion that wrecked Josh Cody's Clemson Bengals. He has 54 points. Georgia's Bulldogs found that it was one thing to get their hands on Banker and quite another to hold him. He made two touchdown dashes and wound up with 53 points.

Boineau, the game's Gamecock of South Carolina's barnyard, found little trouble in penetrating the Citadel defense Thursday for a pair of touchdowns and then kicked three points after to land in a tie with McMillan of Clemson for fourth place with 49 points. McMillan registered Clemson's lone tally against Kentucky.

Louisiana State's quartet of running backs were halted Saturday for the first time this season. None could score on Arkansas. Smith and Butler were tired for sixth place with 4 points, while Bowman and Reeves entered a three-cornered deadlock with Spear of Virginia Poly for eighth with 42. Spear blasted through Washington and Lee for two touchdowns.

"Mouse" Leonard, Dan McGugin's sophomore discovered at Vanderbilt, counted once against Alabama's Crimson Tide and jumped into a tie with H. Miller of Alabama with 32. Miller failed to click Saturday against Vanderbilt.

ROUGH GAMES LIE AHEAD OF GRID OUTFITS

By EDDIE BRIETT Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 4.—(AP)—The roughest sort of going lies ahead for two of the five unbeaten teams in the Southern Conference this week. Kentucky, which has turned out to be the most surprising eleven in the let, must hurdle Alabama at Montgomery if it is to continue to "crawl" in the first division.

Vanderbilt, another title hopeful, will be called on to down Georgia Tech at Nashville to stick in the championship running.

There are five other conference games and a ock of more or less important inter-sectional engagements, but the tussles involving Vanderbilt and Kentucky will be the high spots.

Tennessee, now leading the race with four victories against three each for Vanderbilt and Tulane and two each for Kentucky and Louisiana State, expects to continue its triumphant march against Carson-Newman at Knoxville.

Tulane's big Green Wave, which has become a strong contender by reason of successive wins over Georgia Tech and Georgia, will be favored to down Auburn at New Orleans.

Louisiana State, also unbeaten, will try to snap back into winning form against Duke at Durham, N. C., after running rough shed over several weak teams, during which it rolled up more than 200 points. Louisiana State struck a tartar at Arkansas last week and finished on the short end of a 32-0 count.

Duke will be making its first bid in the conference. The followers of Jimmy Dehart have spent the last four weeks taking lickings from eastern teams, but word from Durham is that the Blue Devils are being primed for a strong finish in their three games against conference foes.

The other games inside the conference have no bearing on the title. Clemson will try to strike its stride once more against Virginia Military at Norfolk. North and South Carolina meet at Columbia and Virginia and Virginia Poly play at Charlottesville.

NEW MOVEMENTS IN EDUCATION
Probably the outstanding movement in education today is the movement for adult education. Several million adults are engaged in some kind of serious study. This varies from the man or woman taking technical courses to increase efficiency in the trade or profession, to the great army of men and women taking cultural courses for the pleasure of the work.

One of the decided angles of adult education is the rapidly enlarging

Interest in Parental Education.

Fostered by such organizations as the Parent-Teacher Association an increasing number of parents are studying their children, studying about children, and learning of the child, his nature and needs.

There have been two state-wide conferences held on parental education, besides a number of county conferences, fostered by various interests, particularly the North Carolina College for Women.

This county is to have a conference or institute on this important subject. The motto of the North Carolina Education Association for the year is "Child Development." A co-operative plan has been worked out to make a conference for the county on "Child Development" very much worthwhile. The New York Board of Education, the North Carolina State Board of Health, the North Carolina College for Women, Miss Parrott of the North Carolina State Department of Education, and the county school and other child interest leaders are all behind the movement in this county. Dr. Ruth Andrus of the New York State Department of Education, will be the leading speaker.

There will be other specialists on other phases of child interest, including someone to present health, education and school interests.

An attempt will be made to present physical, mental and social development sides of the child life. Responsibility of the different social units will be shown.

Parents, teachers, members of adult S. S. classes, pastors, members of the Parent-Teacher Association and any other adults interested in children will be welcome. North Carolina is taking its place in this great work and the interest shown in this conference will be one indication of the interest shown in children.

THAT COOLIDGE-MELLON MARKET.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas make the point that if the Democrats had been in power when the stampede on the Stock Exchange occurred "the ruinous results would have been charged by Republican leaders to the financial policies of the Administration." And so they would. Even with a Republican Administration in full power Senator Watson has tried to place the blame for the debacle on the Democrats and insurgents. If they had only let Mr. Grundy have his way about the Tariff Bill, stock prices, according to his theory, would never have broken.

Senator Robinson does not blame the policies of the present Administration for all that has recently happened in Wall Street. The break came not because of this or that thing done by the Administration but because the boom had been over-done and it is at this point that he finds certain Republican spokesmen culpable. There is ample evidence to support this verdict. During 1927 and 1928 Mr. Coolidge or Secretary Mellon, and sometimes both of them, repeatedly came forward with cheerful statements which supplied a stimulus to the stock market at the very moment it was needed. When the market grew stale in January, 1927, Mr. Mellon injected new life into it with a highly optimistic interview, and the bull movement was soon under full headway again. In March the market had another period of hesitancy, and he applied the stimulant again, with the desired results.

During the summer Mr. Mellon visited Europe, and in June when stock prices began to sag Mr. Coolidge came to the rescue. And then one day early in January, 1928, after a sharp decline in stocks following a report of a huge increase in brokers' loans, Mr. Coolidge amazed ever Wall Street itself by announcing that neither he nor Mr. Mellon saw any danger in the expansion of brokers' loans. To the traders that seemed almost too good to be true. Prices not only rebounded, but both the Stock Exchange and the Curb enjoyed the most active days in their history up to that time. This constant prodding from Washington played no small part in bringing on the orgy of speculation which has had such unfortunate results during the past ten days. Senator Robinson is right in ascribing much of the responsibility to a former Republican Administration and particularly to Messrs. Mellon and Coolidge. The fault lies not in the break in the market—that had to come—but in the careful fostering of conditions which made the break inevitable.—N. Y. World.

ABOUT TOWN

"Rev. J. B. Turner, of Raleigh pastor of the Hayes-Barton Baptist church, has been invited to speak at Armistice Day exercises to be held here November 11," said Dave More, Commander of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion today.

"Dr. Turner is well-known in Greenville, having one time been pastor of Immanuel Baptist church. He is a speaker of no little ability, and is well acquainted with the ideals and aspirations of the ex-service man because he was one of the countless thousands who crossed the ocean to fight against German autocracy.

"The celebration this year will be one of the most important in years. Each member of the post is doing everything possible to make the day pass off auspiciously for the people of the section and have provided many fine features.

"If you haven't attended the celebrations in past years why not come out November the 11th and help the boys provide an occasion long to be remembered by the people of the county."

"It is only appropriate that the Baptist State Assembly should hold its annual convention in Greenville this year," said a member of the denomination today, discussing the movement on foot here to get the assembly to come here to celebrate the organization of the convention in Memorial Baptist church one hundred years ago.

"The anniversary of the founding of the convention certainly ought to be celebrated and there is no more fitting place to stage the celebration than in the church where the organization actually took place. The Memorial Baptist church is one of the oldest in this section, and its membership is perfectly willing to provide entertainment for the Baptist hosts should they decide to bring the convention here.

"It is to be hoped every organization gets behind the movement and uses its influence in interesting the Assembly in observing the hundredth anniversary in the church where the convention had its inception."

"The local post of the American Legion will begin a membership drive November 11," said a member of the organization today.

"The post has grown remarkably the last several months, but there is still room for greater expansion through the addition of new members. The more members any organization has, the stronger it becomes and more useful it should be in the life of the community it is destined to serve.

"The membership drive will reach its climax during American Legion week which begins on Armistice Day, and when it is finished it is hoped numbers of new members will have been added.

"If you are a former service man and have not been attending the Legion meetings, why not resolve to join your former buddies and help them increase the strength of their post. They will welcome you heartily and you will feel better by coming in contact with the boys who crossed the ocean to put down German autocracy."

"I believe the Boy Scout movement would gain greater momentum in Greenville with the fuller cooperation of the mothers and fathers of our boys," Ralph Deal, one of the leaders of the Scout movement in Greenville, said this morning.

"There is nothing that inspires modern youth to greater activity than the support of his parents, and this is especially so in this movement to improve the moral condition of the youth.

COMMANDER ISSUES CALL FOR MEMBERS

Dave Moore, Local Legion Head, Announces Beginning Membership Drive

Announcement that a membership campaign will be conducted by the American Legion beginning November 11, was made today by D. C. Moore, Jr., commander of the American Legion here. The commander urged all Legionnaires to make the strengthening of the organization here a personal and individual obligation. He asked particularly that membership renewals be turned in at once and that an effort be made to enroll all other eligible veterans.

"The American Legion has before it a program of activities which should interest every veteran of the world war," the commander said. "The program directly concerns every man and woman who saw service and it is worthy of their support. Many privileges and benefits have come to the ex-service men through the efforts of the Legion and many more are yet to come. The world war veterans who has not become a member of the Legion should show his appreciation of what the Legion has done for him by subscribing to Legion principles and lending his support through his membership.

"Legislation which gives every world war veteran the right to free government hospitalization, if there are facilities available, was brought about by the Legion. The adjusted compensation law was enacted by Congress because the American Legion made a determined and persistent fight for it. Ex-service men are given priority in civil service appointments and they are entitled to take out government life insurance at reduced premium rates because the Legion sponsored the passage of laws to make these benefits possible.

"The great objective of the Legion this year, as in all former years, will be the rehabilitation of those who gave their health in the war. Through the aid of the Legion thousands of veterans have been able to get compensation for their war incurred disabilities and receive government hospital care and attention to which they were entitled. This year the Legion is concentrating its efforts in the behalf of veterans suffering with mental disabilities. A nation-wide campaign is to be conducted urging Congress to appropriate funds so that adequate hospital facilities may be provided for this ever increasing class of war sufferers.

"The local post of the American Legion will begin a membership drive November 11," said a member of the organization today.

"The post has grown remarkably the last several months, but there is still room for greater expansion through the addition of new members. The more members any organization has, the stronger it becomes and more useful it should be in the life of the community it is destined to serve.

"The membership drive will reach its climax during American Legion week which begins on Armistice Day, and when it is finished it is hoped numbers of new members will have been added.

"If you are a former service man and have not been attending the Legion meetings, why not resolve to join your former buddies and help them increase the strength of their post. They will welcome you heartily and you will feel better by coming in contact with the boys who crossed the ocean to put down German autocracy."

"I believe the Boy Scout movement would gain greater momentum in Greenville with the fuller cooperation of the mothers and fathers of our boys," Ralph Deal, one of the leaders of the Scout movement in Greenville, said this morning.

"There is nothing that inspires modern youth to greater activity than the support of his parents, and this is especially so in this movement to improve the moral condition of the youth.

"If you are a parent and have a son of Scout age, why not induce him to look into the Boy Scout proposition and help him get a start on the right road. The Scout ideal has been the making of many a youth and it will do the same for other boys who have a tendency of hitting the downward grade."

"There is nothing that inspires modern youth to greater activity than the support of his parents, and this is especially so in this movement to improve the moral condition of the youth.

Farmers Sell Your TOBACCO IN GREENVILLE

Sales continue heavy with prices holding up well. Last week over four million pounds were sold for an average price of $22.51 per hundred. Friday's sales averaged $23.05.

We are selling tobacco daily from practically every county in Eastern Carolina and the farmers say it is paying them to sell in Greenville, even though some of them travel at least 125 miles.

Those in position to absolutely know, say we are highest market and have keener buying competition than any market in the East.

Since Last Season—

Three of the warehouses have made large additions, which gives the market increased floor space of about two acres. Some of the factories have made enlargements to their buildings, installing additional redrying facilities and other equipment. The Greenville tobacco market is decidedly in better position to handle, daily, larger quantities of tobacco than ever before.

Tobacco Warehouses—

Greenville tobacco market has nine (9) large and modern brick warehouses with close to 14 acres floor space, sufficient to accommodate 2,225,000 lbs. of tobacco daily. These warehouses are managed by men of years of experience.

Buyers and Factories—

Greenville tobacco market has four (4) sets of buyers, representing all the important companies in the world, using bright tobacco. Nine (9) larger and modern tobacco factories are located here, additions having been made to several of them since last season, while one new plant has been built.

Roads and Locations—

Greenville tobacco market is located in the heart of Eastern North Carolina. Seven fine hard surfaced roads lead into Greenville. Tobacco growers living 125 miles from Greenville tobacco market sell their tobacco in Greenville and return home same day.

THE LUXURY HUSBAND

SYNOPSIS: Barbara's housewarming ball is the event of the season. The ballroom, a wing especially erected for the occasion, is decorated to represent a circus, with a profusion of color, lights, vendors and even a troupe of wild animals, rented from a vaudeville act, including an elephant. Ray, playing with the Golden Symphony Eight behind a treble, watches Barbara, dressed as a circus performer, dancing with Henderson, who is garbed in the role of a ringmaster. When the evening's festivities are at their gayest, a terrifying shriek rings through the room; the floor of the hastily constructed building is near collapse!

Chapter 31 DISASTER

"Look out, the floors giving away!"

All eyes in the direction of the voice. There, to their instant horror, they saw boards breaking away from the sides of the wall.

During those first moments they seemed incapable of grasping the impending calamity—the hastily erected floor, unable to stand the strain of it all, was in imminent danger of collapsing under their very feet!

When this fact finally forced itself upon them, they made, one and all, for the stairway. But here they found their exit blocked. The elephant, equally frightened, had placed its huge, unwieldy frame against the stairway. The wild animals, too, had broken loose.

Women screamed—the floor creaked and rocked perilously. How much longer would it hold?

Barbara, since the first outcry, had stood as though stupefied in a far corner of the room. Henderson had left her. Now, suddenly becoming aware of a strange noise coming from a doorway, she looked down to see the jaguar crouching before her as if, as terrified, poor brute, had she known it, as Barbara herself.

She screamed wildly and loudly. She swayed dizzily and closed her eyes. Then she heard footsteps running towards her. Looking up she thought that she must be insane. For it was Ray, close beside her.

"Ray!" she screamed.

Quickly he had ripped the black cloak from his costume and had thrown it over the frightened bear's head. The next moment his arms were about Barbara, crushing her to him with the hunger of months of yearning, his lips brushing her face with the intensity of his kisses.

"Barbara, my dear! Oh, my dear!"

She clung to him, half swooning with the intoxication of her joy. To be held in Ray's arms once more... to know that he loved her. Nothing mattered except that Ray, keenly aware of the danger, was hurrying her towards the staircase. The elephant still guarded the exit, the mob seething about him. The noise of the ripping of boards had increased; the floor wobbled dangerously; it seemed about to cave in.

It was Ray who prevented a calamity—Ray who, one moment's inspiration, rushed up to the band platform and seized the singer's megaphone. Through this he shouted directions to the terrified dancers. With the help of the boys from the band he cleared the mob from around the stairway, himself finally succeeding in getting the elephant to move.

At any moment he might have been trampled under its great feet.

Barbara, watching him, thought that she must faint from the fear or it, the fear of what might happen to Ray.

Barbara and Ray remained in the hall until the last, gaining the garden just in time to hear a sudden, deafening sound behind them as the huge floor caved in and, with a mighty roar, collapsed.

In the scuffle that followed Barbara lost sight of Ray. One moment he was by her side, the next he was gone. She called him once, twice, without reply. She searched everywhere, vainly, desperately. Where could Ray have gone?

She ran to the front of the house where automobiles were jamming the drive. Her hazel eyes were mad pools of fear. She couldn't believe Ray had left her again—left her after those moments she had lain in his arms—after his kisses had scorched her face.

Minutes passed; the majority of her guests were already gone. Frantic she became, rushing along the driveway, searching the faces of those who passed her in limousines or taxis; not heeding their murmurs of sympathy, or regret, watching only for Ray.

She found him at last in a taxi, on the point of leaving. Without a thought for appearances she rushed down and rapped frantically on the window.

"Ray!"

He looked up. Seeing her he rose immediately and got out of the car. "You'd best go on without me," he murmured to Bill. "I'll follow presently."

For a few moments they stood on the steps, without speaking. He was so very stiff and straight—she felt almost afraid of him.

Her hand touched his sleeve.

"Come inside, Ray. I want to talk to you..."

She turned to climb the stairs but, when he didn't speak, nor attempt to follow her, she said, her voice cracking suddenly:

"Ray—how can you be so cruel? That seemed to pull him together. "I'm sorry, Barbara. But can't you tell me what you have to here?"

She tried to make her smile plausible, the smile to hide the pain in her eyes.

"I want you to come inside," and when still he hesitated, "Don't be absurd, Ray. You act as though we weren't married and I was trying to vamp you!"

He came at that. Invariably the best way to get around Ray was to ridicule an attitude of his. He followed her up six steps and into the great stone mansion that had housed Landons for three successive generations.

She led him upstairs. He followed her mutely, not knowing where she was leading him. But when he saw she had brought him into her boudoir, a dainty slip of a room in white and gold, he stood motionless in the doorway.

She saw the look and it hardened her, stiffened her resolutions to have done with his nonsense of repatriation.

"She essayed a desperate laugh. "Don't look so dramatic, Ray—and sit down!"

He seated himself on the chaise longue, a slender thing of gold with absurd pink taffeta cushions. He coated himself gingerly as though in the past month's he had become unaccustomed to the boudoir of a lady of fashion.

"What is it you want, Barbara?"

"It's you I want, Ray... Oh, my dear, I've wanted you every minute you've been away!"

He started, overwhelmed by what seemed to him the unfairness of her

MILL WORKERS ON STRIKE AT LEAKESVILLE

Litigation Stands in Way of Early Release of Beal and Associates

Charlotte, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Operations of the Leaksville woolen mills, located six miles from here, were suspended at least temporarily today when its employees struck at the call of the National Textile Workers Union. The mill employs 3,000 workers.

Operatives voted a strike last night because, they said, members of a union committee of five which sought a hearing before J. A. Sumate, superintendent, in the interest of securing a lunch period for each of the three shifts, were fired. The strike is being directed by James Reid, president of the union.

The mill was forced to suspend operations when members of the crew morning shift failed to enter the mill shortly after 12 o'clock when it was scheduled to reopen after the week-end holiday. Instead of going to work, the operatives formed a picket line. Four rural police officers were present, but no disorder developed.

Shumate and J. L. Morehead, manager of the mill, declined to comment on the strike.

FIND MISSING NAVAL OFFICER IN VANCOUVER

Lieut. Northcutt Arrested at Seattle; the Navy is Silent Regarding Action

Washington, Nov. 4.—(AP)—While the navy was silent as to what steps it has taken to locate Lieutenant Harold W. Northcutt, who disappeared from the Norfolk Navy Yard in Seattle, his family and friends here were puzzled today regarding the reason which lay behind his disappearance and his journey across the continent.

The young naval officer left the Norfolk Navy Yard on the night of October 22 to deliver the sum of $200 to the Extension Department of the University of Virginia. When he did not reappear a search was instituted which revealed that his automobile had been deserted in Richmond.

Agents of the department of justice were called in and located him in Vancouver. He voluntarily went to Seattle where yesterday he was formally placed under arrest and turned over to the navy at the Bremerton yard.

His father-in-law, H. C. C. Bryant, a Washington newspaperman, expressed extreme surprise, saying he had a fine naval record and was devoted to his wife and small son. At the same time, he disclosed that the justice department had been advised that a Canadian woman, whose name was not revealed, left her home in Ottawa last August for the purpose of winning the affection of Lieutenant Northcutt "at any cost."

Letters in the possession of the justice department show, he said, that "for more than a year" Northcutt had been "in the custody" of the Canadian woman.

"Nothing ever surprised me and my family more," he said, "was to know of no reason for such a step. Lieutenant Northcutt did not drink, was devoted to his wife and little boy, and did not owe any debt that he could not have paid."

So far as members of the family know, the only charge that the navy can place against Northcutt is that of desertion.

Washington, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Naval officials have requested the commandant of the Puget Sound Navy Yard to obtain Lieutenant Harold W. Northcutt's explanation of his disappearance from Norfolk a week ago, and Northcutt's statement may decide whether he will face a court martial.

The officer, who dropped out of sight October 22 with $250 he had collected for the University of Virginia, is held at Bremerton, Wash., where he was found after a long search during which it was thought he might have been kidnapped, killed or injured.

Bureau of Navigatio officials said today they assumed Northcutt was being held for being absent without leave.

It was also said that the Puget Sound Naval Yard commandant who is in Seattle, would probably question Northcutt about his disappearance of the $250 which he was reported to have collected from extension course students for the University of Virginia. Northcutt was thought to have gone to deliver

Million Dollar Income Tax Payers On Increase

Washington, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The records of the treasury department reveal that 250 individuals had, in 1927, an income of more than one million dollars each.

Of this number, sixty-two more than in the year previous, eleven paid an income tax on more than five million dollars, and eight on incomes of between four and five million. Twenty-three women, three of them unmarried, were included in the million dollar income group, and one of these reported a net income of more than $1,500,000. The total income tax paid by the 250 was $86,937,236.

The treasury statistics, which were announced today, showed also an increase of 35,545 in the number of persons who paid an income tax as compared with the preceding year, with a corresponding increase of $686,694 in the total income of all persons paying the federal levy, an increase of $93,166,644 in the total tax paid and an increase from $2,514,828,833 from dividends on stock of domestic corporations and $8,994,981 from industries.

Tax payers of the state of New York as usual showed the largest total of individual net incomes, with $6,398,451,005 and a total number of 1,069,974 returns; Illinois was second with $3,023,908,578 and 378,839; and Pennsylvania third with $2,091,923,217 and 381,374.

SUNDOWN STORIES

THE FIRST ANIMALS
(By Mary Graham Bonner)

"Come along! Come along! Hurry! Hurry!" cried the Little Black Clock. "We're going to have glorious adventures now. See! I've turned the time back over and over so far—almost to the time when things were beginning in this old world."

The Little Black Clock, who had been given the magic which made it possible for him to turn the time way, way back or way, way forward, had invited John and Peggy to share his adventures.

"We're going to see some strange sights this evening," he continued.

Suddenly the whole scene changed and the world seemed to be strange and empty and without any familiar landmarks.

"Flip-flop, flip-flop, flip-flop," came some queer sounds.

"What in the world are we going to see?" John asked.

"I don't think this place is a bit queer," Peggy said.

"It hasn't had a chance to do much with itself as yet," the Little Black Clock said. "Even the world had to get settled. You know, when people move they are all upset at first and nothing looks very lovely, but in time they get it all straightened out."

"It was the same with the world. It had to get settled before it really could be at home to people. It's not ready for people now."

"Flip-flop, flip-flop, flip-flop," came the sounds again.

"Look!" shouted the Little Black Clock. "The very first animals!"

"What little squirming things! I wouldn't call them animals!" John said.

"They're the first of all—maybe not beautiful—but still they're the very first."

And John and Peggy saw creatures that looked like lizards.

Tomorrow—"Their History."

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after illness or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist (adv.)

COTTON MARKET

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 2 to 5 points today the trade paid very little attention to reports of rains in the south and while the initial offering were quite readily taken by trade covering and buying, selling increased right after the call. It was promoted no doubt by the weakness in the stock market and was sufficient to send the active months 8 to 10 points below Saturday's closing quotations with December closing off to 17.77 and March to 18.20.

The market was only moderately active but seemed rather unsettled and was within a point or two of the lowest at 10:30 o'clock. A private report was issued this morning placing the indicated crop at 15,000,000 bales and estimating ginnings prior to Nov. 1 at 11,200,000 bales.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Pulled down by an unexpected increase of the United States wheat visible supply and by stock market weakness, wheat prices suffered successive sharp breaks today. Emphasizing the effect of the visible supply increase, talk was heard that the total could decrease 4,000,000 bushels a week between January 1 and July 1, and still leave a carry over of 80,000,000 bushels at the end of the crop year. Furthermore, predictions were also being made that new heavy deliveries of wheat on Chicago December contracts now were likely to be witnessed.

Wheat closed heavy 31-2 to 37-8 a bushel lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 7-8 to 11-4 down Oats 3-4 to 7-8 off, and provisions varying from 12 decline to a rise of 2 cents.

STOCK MARKET

By STANLEY W. PRENSIL, Associated Press Financial Editor

New York, Nov. 4.—The stock market which rallied sharply in the closing sessions of last Friday, ran into a secondary storm of selling today as Wall Street continued to clean out its impaired marginal accounts and large traders took profits in stocks bought in the breaks of last Monday and Tuesday. An opening decline, which ran from 1 to nearly 12 points in many of the leaders, was followed by a brisk rally but fresh offerings appeared, and scores of issues were selling 2 to 20 points lower in the early afternoon trading.

Trading started at a terrific pace as blocks of 10,000 to 50,000 shares were thrown into the market, but it slowed up later, and the ticker kept within a half hour of the market.

Since the closing of the market last Thursday, Wall Street received the announcement of a decrease of 6 to 5 per cent. In the New York Federal Reserve discount rate, the drop of more than one billion dollars in federal reserve loans last week and the record-breaking decline of more than two billion dollars in stock exchange member loans last month. Offsetting this was the Poshay failure in the northwest, and the discovery of hundreds of additional weakened marginal accounts and close reascrari counts, as a result of the close checking up of records over the week-end.

Call money renewed unchanged today at 6 per cent. Time money and bankers acceptances continued relatively easy. This was reflected in the generally stronger bond market, which attracted a strong investment demand.

U. S. Steel common, which has been one of the bellweathers of the recent market, opened 81-4 points lower at 181-4, rallied to 191 and then dropped back to around the open price. American Telephone converted an early gain of 11-4 into a loss of 111-2. General Electric extended its opening loss of 3 points to 163-4.

American Tobacco Issues, Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse Electric, North American Company, Western Union, Air Reduction, Johns-Manville and Otis Elevator sold 10 to 15 points lower. Among the dozens of others to lose five points or more were New York Central, Allied Chemical, Stone and Webster, Standard Gas and Electric, International Telephone Sears Roebuck and Consolidated Gas.

The government-general spent approximately $2,000,000 on the Chosen expedition at Kajo, Japan, which opened recently.

The Rev. David E. Gibson of the Cathedral Shelter, Chicago, has assisted 1,000,000 unfortunates in the last 10 years.

MRS. WOODARD ADDRESSES SINGLETARY CHAPTER U. D. C.

The George B. Singletary chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy, held their regular monthly meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. L. Fleming, on Greene street.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. J. L. Hassell and opened with the song "Old North State." As this was time for the election of officers, the nominating committee offered the following which were elected by the chapter: Mrs. T. A. Spillman, president; Mrs. L. A. Person, first vice-president; Mrs. L. A. Stroud, second vice-president; Mrs. E. W. Harvey, secretary; Mrs. J. L. Little, registrar; Mrs. W. P. Moore, historian.

The chapter also voted to get apart the first Saturday in November as Flag Day.

At the close of the business hour, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Woodard who is our district director and also custodian of crosses of honor. Any chapter is always delighted and feel that they have a real treat when they can secure Mrs. Woodard. She made a very inspirational talk on the past work of the organization and urged them on to still greater things for the future. One of our projects for the past year was Fort Fisher Memorial. No spot in North Carolina has greater historical significance than has Fort Fisher.

Mrs. Woodard impressed the fact on the chapter that it was a glorious privilege to perpetuate the fame of those heroic and gallant North Carolinians who were so ready to go to the front at any time.

She spoke of the Old Ladies in Fayetteville, whose hearts have been so cheered and whose last days have been so brightened by the United Daughters of the Confederacy. And again the Soldiers' Home in Raleigh, these men so carefully planned for, and looked after at all times should grip any Daughter's heart when they know it is through them that a smile can come behind the teardrop.

"But few now are left us of all the great band who suffered and fought for our Southern land; To these brave and true in homage we bow. And in thought, place a laurel wreath over each brow. Then come! Let us greet them with music and cheer! Dear veteran soldiers, while they are here. Too soon, alas! will Time's chilling breeze Call them to rest, 'neath the shade of the trees." —Reported.

Morton, Mrs. J. H. Rose, Miss Cleo Rainwater and Mrs. Hubert Haynes, who led the way to the coffee table. Mrs. E. C. Hollar and Mrs. R. J. Slay poured coffee and were assisted in serving by Mrs. J. L. Savage and Misses Emma Hoper, Katherine Holtzclaw, Gussie Kuykendall, Alma Browning, Mabel Oden, Christine Johnson and Eunice McGee.

Mrs. J. A. Keech and Miss Madeline Miller directed the guests to the register which was presided over by Mrs. A. D. Frank and Mrs. C. L. Adams. Many were the expressions of pleasure as the guests said adieu to Mrs. R. C. Deal.

During the entire afternoon Misses Lois Gorrell, on the violin, Misses Eugenia Thomas and Dora Meade at the piano, contributed to the joy of the occasion.

This was the first public appearance of the College Dames, but all who enjoyed their hospitality hope it will not be the last. The club was organized a year ago by the wives of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College and has a double purpose, study and recreation, some meetings being devoted to one, and some to the other.

Due to illness of the pastor, Rev. W. H. Dodd, the meeting was begun and concluded by Rev. L. R. O'Brian of Greenville. Evangelist Fred N. Day, of Winston, came down and preached for a week—from Wednesday to Wednesday.

The total additions to the membership of the church numbered forty-three; thirty-five for baptism. These were baptised in the pool of the Baptist Church of Washington Sunday afternoon. Old residents of Washington said it was the greatest baptismal service ever held in the church there.

At the evening service the new members were given the 'right hand of church fellowship.' It was a grand sight and one which will not be forgotten soon by the Chocowinity people.

TEACHERS COLLEGE DAMES ENTERTAIN AT A TEA

The Woman's Club presented a beautiful scene on Friday afternoon, November the first, when the Teachers College Dames entertained their friends in honor of the new members of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College.

The reception hall and spacious banquet room were elaborately decorated with pine trees, autumn leaves and gorgeous chrysanthemums. Indeed, if it had not been for the beautifully gowned women and the elaborately appointed tables one might have mistaken the occasion for a "chrysanthemum show."

The softened light of many tapers, the tuneful strains of music from the piano and violin and even the melodious notes of a canary from upstairs added great charm to the setting for a social gathering.

As the guests arrived, they were welcomed at the door by Mrs. H. E. Austin and Miss Sallie Joyner Davis. In the hall they exchanged greetings with Miss Maria Graham and Miss Kate Lewis and were introduced to the receiving line by Mrs. R. H. Wright and Mrs. J. B. Spillman. The president of the Dames Club, Mrs. E. L. Henderson, presented the newest member, Mrs. J. B. Cummings. Mrs. L. R. Meadows and Mrs. Herbert ReBarker introduced the newest members of the college faculty, Misses Elizabeth Hyman, Lillian Burns, Elizabeth Toland, Miriam Goodwin, Jeanette Wedmore, Dixie Reid and Jonnie Gore.

Mrs. M. K. Fort and Miss Dora Coates then directed the guests to the corner of the room, where a table, lovely with yellow chrysanthemums and candles, was presided over by Mrs. H. J. McGinnis and Mrs. Adelaide Bloxton and from which ice cream and accessories were served by Misses Mary Greene, Catherine Cassidy, Marie Roof, Mary Wright, Alma McGinnis, Evelyn Wright and Elizabeth Deal. Then they were met by Miss Annie
