COREY SPEAKS TO DISCIPLES AT FARMVILLE

Kinston Minister Delivers Principal Address Before Convention

By EVA HORTON SHACKLEFORD Farmville, Nov. 4.—The opening sessions of the 85th annual convention of the Disciples of Christ was held here tonight, with delegates and visitors from as far West as Charlotte and as far East as Elizabeth City. In spite of the stormy, disagreeable weather they continued to pour in from early this morning and are still coming in late this evening and the weather will seem to interfere little with the attendance on this convention assembly to discuss the question of paramount interest, though the weatherman promises a fair day tomorrow.

Old historic Antioch church, situated right in the heart of the business section of the town and perhaps on the very noisiest corner, has an interior atmosphere of serenity and peace. Here in the main auditorium the first session was held at 7:30, with Rev. C. W. Howard of Kinston, beloved and venerated almost as a saint himself leading the devotional services based on "The Certainty of the Inheritance of the Saints." Rev. Howard is dean of the North Carolina ministers, and is a veteran circuit rider. The delegates and visitors were given a cordial welcome by George R. Wheeler, president of the High School, who spoke in behalf of the entire community, which seems to be making every effort to uphold Farmville's reputation for genuine hospitality. Rev. Russell S. Tandy, pastor of the local church so extended a welcome to the convention.

Rev. John M. Waters of Wilson, presiding officer of the convention, emphasized its theme, "Working Together With God," and sounded the keynote of the meeting. In his preface to the outlining of the problems before this body, he said, "never before in our convention history of 85 years, have we faced so many pressing or momentous problems as we face tonight." He spoke with force and conviction of these problems, "first, our brotherhood is undertaking to raise eight millions of dollars in the form of a pension fund, which is the largest single task ever undertaken by us. In this great task we dare not retreat, we have not time to roll it ahead, we must put this job over or acknowledge to the world that we have failed. Second, our missionary time was when the cry sounded, 'Where are the men and women prepared to go to the foreign fields?' today the great question is, 'Where are the funds?' Third, in our educational task in North Carolina we have reached a crisis, the zero hour is almost here, are our people going to be able to make our brotherhood safe in the State for Christian education, or shall we acknowledge to the State that we have neither the sacrifice nor the vision. My plea is that every interest and every sector of the Kingdom of God is impotent and one should not take precedent over the other."

Witness Identifies Car Used By Mob During Killing of Mrs. Wiggins

Gastonia, Nov. 5.—(AP)—A new automobile from which shots were alleged to have been fired was brought today into the Ella May Wiggins murder case by Judge Pender A. McElroy's committing magistrate investigation of the killing of the woman last Sept. 14. The new car, a Chevrolet coach, was alleged by the first eye-witness heard to have been parked at the side of state highway number 20 prior to the time the truck in which Mrs. Wiggins and a group of members of the National Textile Workers' Union were fleeing from an anti-communist mob, collided with an Essex coach owned by Fred Morrow. The witness, H. D. Ellis, a truck driver for a pressing club, said that he saw George Fowler, one of the defendants, under the steering wheel of the car. He asserted on direct examination, that shots were fired from the car but did not know who fired the shots or whether one or two shots were fired. On cross-examination, he said that he could not swear positively that the shot even from the car. Prior to the start of taking testimony it developed that only fourteen of the sixteen men for whom bench warrants were issued yesterday had been apprehended. Two of them, Horace West and Roy Carver, were out of the county. A. L. Bulwinkle, defense counsel, announced. He said they had been notified by wire and would be here later. Judge McElroy also announced that he wanted any one who knew anything about the case to appear and give him their information, either in court, or privately, as they might wish. Ellis was called to the witness stand after two physicians had testified that Mrs. Wiggins died of a bullet wound. The bullet was shown them and identified. Ellis told how the Chevrolet coach

DAWES COMES HOME TO TALK WITH HOOVER

Ambassador to Britain to Discuss Armament Conference at Washington

Washington, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Charles G. Dawes, ambassador to Great Britain, arrived in Washington today to confer with President Hoover and Secretary Stimson in regard to the naval armament conference to be held in London in January. The former vice-president who was accompanied by his wife and their daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Ericson, were met at the station by a White House automobile and immediately went to the executive mansion where they had breakfast with the President and Mrs. Hoover. After chatting for a short time with the ambassador, the chief executive went to his desk in the executive offices, but it was understood he would engage in further conversations with Mr. Dawes later in the day. The greeting between Secretary Stimson and the Ambassador was most informal, each advancing and exclaiming simultaneously: "Hello, how are you?" "Hello, how are you?" The Ambassador, as he entered the secretary's office was puffing at his pipe, one of the few instances since Mr. Stimson has been secretary of state that he has permitted smoking in his office. Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Dawes will be the guests of the President and Mrs. Hoover at an informal dinner. The guests will include Harry F. Guggenheim, American Ambassador to Cuba; Senator and Mrs. Edge of New Jersey, and Senator Moses of New Hampshire, together with a number of members of the diplomatic corps.

Two Killed When Plane Crashes at Boston Airport

Boston, Nov. 5.—(AP)—George Johnson, Federal air inspector, and "Hank" Carter, pilot for Skyways, Inc., were killed today when their airplane crashed after going into a tailspin over the east Boston airport. The gasoline tank exploded when the plane struck the ground. The craft was destroyed and the men were burned to death before rescuers could extricate them. Johnson and Carter had taken off from Bridgeport, Conn., a few minutes before they crashed from a height of about 150 feet.

ELECTIONS IN DOZEN STATES IN PROGRESS

Virginia Contest, However, Held the Eyes of Most of the Nation Today

By Associated Press While election contests drew the voters of a dozen states to the polls today, the eyes of the nation were fixed primarily upon Virginia, watchful for any indication of what might be expected of the Old Dominion in future national campaigns. Mayoralty elections in New York, Boston, and other cities, attracted attention, but today's balloting in Virginia was considered a crucial test for the democratic organization there, and the efforts of the Republican party to solidify its gains of last year's presidential election under the leadership of Herbert Hoover. Both candidates made electioneering speeches, Brown addressing an audience in the mountain section of the state and Pollard in the Tidewater. Each faction claimed a victory, estimating its majorities at from 10,000 to 20,000. In New York City, Mayor James J. Walker's candidacy for re-election on the Democratic ticket, was opposed by Representative Fiorello H. LaGuardia, Republican, Norman Thomas, Socialist, and Richard E. Enright, former police commissioner, running under the sponsorship of the Square Deal party. In addition to this and the Boston contest there were mayoralty elections in cities of Michigan, Indiana, Kansas and Ohio. In Kentucky, the Republican party sought to gain control of the last arm of the state government held by the Democrats, the legislature. State-wide elections also were on in Ohio, Illinois, and Pennsylvania, having to do with a tax limitation amendment in the Buckeye State, and with the election of state judges in the two others. In addition to the gubernatorial election, the Virginia voters were called upon to select a lieutenant-governor, attorney-general, and the entire membership of the house of delegates. New York, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Early reports from all boroughs in the city indicated a heavy vote would be polled in New York's civic election today. The polls were quiet except for the lower East Side pole where called out to settle several minor disputes. At public school 21, which houses several polling places, police were forced to quiet an argument which resulted when several people attempted to vote out of turn. Trouble with voting machines was reported in several districts and the attorney general's office received a few complaints from the lower East Side from people who alleged they had been refused voting privileges.

CANTON MAN SUCCESSOR TO SEN. BURTON

Roscoe McCulloch Is Named to Fill Vacancy Created by Death of Ohio Senator

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Former Congressman Roscoe C. McCulloch, Canton, today was appointed United States Senator from Ohio by Governor Cooper, filling a vacancy caused a week ago by the death of Senator Theodore E. Burton. McCulloch had served a year as chairman of the State Public Utilities Commission. Roscoe C. McCulloch, chairman of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission and a former member of congress, was born on a farm in Holmes County, Ohio, November 27, 1880. He was educated in the Millersburg, Ohio, public schools, later attended Ohio State University and was graduated from the Western Reserve Law School. He was admitted to the bar from Canton, December 5, 1903. The following year McCulloch began his political career with appointment as assistant prosecutor of Stark county. Later he was prosecuting attorney and served as chairman of the Stark county republican committee. In his first race for congress in 1912 he lost to John Whiteaker, democrat, by 50 votes. Despite the re-districting of the 18th district, McCulloch again ran in 1914 and won enough support to apparently defeat, by 500 votes, despite the fact he was re-elected in 1916 and 1918. McCulloch was appointed a member of the congressional committee which in 1919 investigated war expenditures. Two years later he was selected by the United States attorney general as special prosecutor in connection with war frauds in camps and contentions and collected approximately $14,000,000. McCulloch aspired for the governorship in 1920 but lost the nomination to Harry L. Davis. With the exception of his service on the utilities commission under Governor Cooper, he had devoted most of his time since 1922 to private practice of law at Canton. He is married and has two children.

Senate Rejects Proposal To Increase The Duty On China Clay To $3.75 Ton

Washington, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Without a record vote, the Senate today rejected an amendment to the tariff bill to increase the duty on China clay from $2.50 to $3.75 a ton. On a vote of 40 to 35 the Senate then turned down an amendment by the Finance committee to cut the China clay duty to $1.50 a ton. The first amendment was sponsored by Democrats. Both party and factional lines split on the vote. Six Democrats, Copeland, Harrison, Kendrick, Tydings, Walsh, Mass., and Walsh, Montana, voted with 29 Republicans for the committee cut while 15 Republicans joined twenty-five Democrats for the existing duty. The vote also found Republican Independents voting for and against the committee. Those aligned with it were Senators Blaine, Cutting, Frazier, LaPollette, Norris and Nye. Sweetheart Refused To Give Him Date, Man Takes His Life

Louisburg, Nov. 5.—(5) Homer Strickland, 27, shot and killed himself yesterday after his sweetheart had refused to give him a date Sunday night. The young man, going to the home of Zena Tharrington, with whom he had been going for sometime, told her he was going to kill himself "because you refused to give me a date last night." Before he could be stopped he had pulled a pistol and shot himself through the heart. Funeral services were held this afternoon. The young man was a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Strickland, who live seven miles from Louisburg.

UNION LEADER IS RELEASED AT CHARLOTTE

Fred Erwin Beal Given Liberty This Morning Bond of $5,000

Charlotte, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Fred Erwin Beal, former southern organizer of the National Textile Workers Union, who with six other defendants was convicted in Mecklenburg Superior court here recently of second degree murder in connection with the slaying of O. F. Aderholt, chief of police of Gastonia, was released from jail today on $5,000 bond. Bond for Beal's release was posted by J. Frank Flowers, counsel for Beal and the other defendants. Mr. Flowers said that the $5,000 was supplied by the American fund for public service. The attorney said it was the same money that had been posted as bond in Gastonia for arrests there in connection with Chief Aderholt's slaying, but which he said was not pressed. That fund, a total of $5,250, had been attached. But provision was made to release it, Mr. Flowers stated. Beal was sentenced to serve from 17 to 20 years. Clarence Miller, George Carter and Joseph Harrison, who are still in jail, are under sentences of 12 to 15 years. K. Y. Hendricks, another defendant, who was sentenced to serve five to seven years, has been released on $2,000 bond. Beal, who has been confined in jail for several months, delivered a short address from the steps leading from the county courthouses grounds to the west side of the law building immediately after his release. An audience of 150 laborers and law building workers heard him talk. No arrangements yet have been made for the release of the other five workers.

WINSTON-SALEM HANGS UP NEW TOBACCO RECORD

Winston-Salem, Nov. 5.—(AP)—A new record for the year was hung up on the Winston-Salem leaf tobacco market yesterday when 1,281,256 pounds of tobacco was sold. This is an increase of approximately 25,000 pounds over the previous high mark for the year which was set a week ago. The average price, however, was slightly below the average from Monday of last week, being $18.58 a hundred pounds. Money paid out totaled $238,404.01.

Brookheart Describes Wall Street "Booze" Party Before Senate

Washington, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The story of the "Wall Street booze party dinner" in Washington was told to an expectant and closely attentive senate today by Senator Smith Wildman Brookheart, of Iowa, who said he sat between Otto Kahn and E. E. Loomis, of the Morgan Company. After throwing his invitation to the dinner, received from Walter J. Fahy, Wall Street broker, into the waste basket, Brookheart said he was urged to go to the dinner by "our distinguished president pro tem." He referred to Senator Moses, N. H., who was presiding. "I said who is Fahy? Brookheart told the senate in relating his conversation with Moses. "He said he is an old friend of Norris and LaFollette," continued the Iowan. "And that's true, I guess. So I said I would go." In the reception room at the dinner Brookheart said, there was a rack and when some one lifted a curtain there was revealed a row of silver hip flasks. "I was told to 'help yourself.' A considerable number there did help themselves. But I want it distinctly understood that Senator Smoot, who was there, did not help himself and was as much disgusted as I was and as much against it. "Senator Gooding didn't take a flask and I don't. As to the other boys they can say for themselves whether they helped themselves. Then we went into the dinner." Brookheart related that when he arrived at the hotel meeting place the first person he saw was Otto Kahn. "It didn't occur to me that he was much a friend of Norris and LaFollette," he continued, "but I went on. "The Iowan picked up the program of the dinner with the list of guests but he did not read it. He remarked there were a number of 'Wall Streeters' there. "Senator Thomas, of Idaho, later reached over to Brookheart's desk to take a look at the program and Brookheart halted his speech to declare "Get away from there." Both he and Thomas laughed. Brookheart said Kahn brought up the matter of railroad consolidation in which he (Brookheart) was interested. "After demolishing all my theories about economic matters," the Iowan continued, "Kahn proceeded to 'eulogize' the New York Stock Exchange." He said "what a wonderful benefit it was to the people of my state." A somewhat similar conversation took place between him and Loomis, Brookheart said. During the course of the dinner, he asserted, Mr. Loomis "took his beautiful silver hip flask and poured out some of that alcoholic stuff in a glass and mixed it with water—it was too strong to take raw—and he drank that." Others "down and around the table" followed suit he said, and then "Senator Gooding and I broke away." He said he was called back by Senator Edge, Republican, N. J., who asked him if he didn't know that he was sitting between Kahn, O'Leah and Company and Morgan and Company. "Don't you think they contaminated you a little?" the Iowan quoted Edge as saying. Brookheart said he replied that he was "vaccinated" against all that and for that reason never was invited to a Wall Street dinner again. A well filled chamber was on hand for the promised disclosures of the Iowan and the senate seemed to relax from the tension of the long tariff struggle as the members turned their chairs around to face the senator who stood in his accustomed place on the rear row. Speaking in high pitched voice cracked several times Brookheart literally shrieked that alcohol is an evil and a poison. He said he started "on that theory." The senator chose for his text: "You must begin with the big fellows on law enforcement. He congratulated President Hoover, Vice-President Curtis and Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador on their personal attitude toward law enforcement. He said that unless the other members of diplomatic corps stationed at Washington voluntarily followed the lead of the British ambassador, he would be in favor of legislation to make them quit serving liquor. Brookheart contended that the three reporters of the Washington Times who have been jailed for contempt of court because they refused to give the names of those from whom they said they purchased liquor should give that information to the court. "The Washington Times had a right to say that I should be called and made to testify," said Brookheart. "I am going to do that. I have been called and I am going to answer every question put to me now. Reporters of the Times should do the same."

FOUR KILLED IN CRASH OF MAIL PLANE

Two Americans and Mexican Governor and Secretary Die Instantly in Wreck

Toluca, Mexico, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Bodies of four men were here today awaiting claimants after crash of the Mexico City-Juarez mail plane early yesterday. They were: Manuel Capio, governor of the state of Aguascalientes, De Valera, his secretary, John Carmichael, pilot of the plane, Robert G. Lowry, 40, traffic superintendent of the airline, the corporation de transportes, formerly of Ft. Worth. The four men left Valbuena aerodrome, Mexico City, in a single-motored cabin ship at 6:30 A. M. yesterday, apparently crashing down a half hour or so later at Pena Del Monte ranch, near Villa Carbon, in the mountainous country on the rim of the valley of Mexico. The plane was destroyed. Position of the bodies indicated all had died instantly. Cause of the crash was undetermined but airway officials said exceptionally bad flying weather prevailed, with heavy fog, and believed possibly the craft lost its way in the mist. Persons recovering the wrecked airplane learned the identity of the four men through papers found in pockets of their clothes. In view of the condition of the bodies the mayor of Toluca, which is capital of the state of Mexico, asked permission to arrange interment here but officials of the C. A. T. refused. Lowry was said here to have married recently before coming to Mexico from the United States. Little was known of the pilot, Carmichael. New York—Staten Island, which constitutes a county and one of the five boroughs of New York City, is free from crime apparently. A new grand jury had nothing to do a car driven by D. A. McCormick of McDonald. He is in a hospital here with serious injuries.

OFFERING OF BRIGHT LEAF STILL HEAVY

Over Million Pounds of Tobacco Sold Yesterday With the Prices Strong

Heavy sales continued on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday and over a million pounds of tobacco was disposed of at a higher general average than for the similar period last week, according to official figures made public this afternoon by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales. The market sold 1,009,248 pounds of leaf for a total sum of $248,821.43 at a general average of $24.85. The report of the supervisor indicated that there was over a million pounds of leaf on the floors of the nine warehouses today with the price situation a little stronger. Prices were reported to have picked up sharply at the opening of the market yesterday morning, and despite the heavy offerings continued advance was noted through out the day. This produced considerable enthusiasm among the many farmers who had offerings on the floors of different warehouses, and the elation continued when the market opened this morning with the same price situation in evidence.

Miss Cornelia Connelly, of Red Springs, was killed instantly and Gertrude Moore, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore, of Reidsville, fatally injured when a car driven by D. A. FOUNDER OF WINTERVILLE PASSES AWAY

A. G. Cox, Wealthy Businessman and Landowner Succumbs to Illness

A. G. Cox, one of the best known business men of Pitt county, died at his home in Winterville last night at 11 o'clock following an eight-weeks' battle against heart trouble. He was 74 years of age, and prior to his illness was active in the business, industrial and religious life of the town. Funeral services will be conducted from the Winterville Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. C. W. Blanchard, of New Bern. Interment will be made in the Winterville cemetery. Mr. Cox was not only one of the leading business men and landowners of the Winterville community, but during his lifetime occupied many responsible positions in affairs of the county. He was founder of the town of Winterville, a trustee of Meredith college, treasurer of the Neuse Atlantic Baptist association, senior deacon of the Winterville Baptist church, a former chairman of the Pitt county Board of Education, of the Democratic Executive committee, and a member of the draft board during the world war. He was 74 years old, the son of John Cox, inventor of the Cox cotton planter, an implement now in use on hundreds of farms throughout the country, and Elizabeth Gardner Cox. He was born in the Winterville community, and at an early age took an active interest in development of farming. This led to the invention of numbers of implements now in use by the farming industry. Mr. Cox was the founder of the A. G. Cox Manufacturing Co., manufacturers of different farm implements, and continued in this capacity until 1924 when the business was turned over to the direction of his sons. He was also founder of the Winterville Oil company and the Bank of Winterville. Mr. Cox was a life-long Democrat and a strict prohibitionist. His fight against the whiskey evil probably was one of the most outstanding throughout the county. His dislike for whiskey was so pronounced that he had incorporated in the charter of the town of Winterville a provision making it impossible for a whiskey drinker or member of the property within the town for a period of five hundred years. This single act won distinction for the "hampden of prohibition, and its influence counted largely in development of the thriving community that stands out so conspicuously in the agricultural life of this part of the state. Reared on a farm near the town of Winterville, Mr. Cox evinced an early interest in improving the condition of the average farmer. He was instrumental not only in bettering the type of farming of the community where all his life's interest was centered, but also in the type of men and women it produced. People looked to him in time of uncertainty, and like the Moses of old he led them out of the wilderness. He is survived by his wife, who was formerly Miss Alice Jackson, and five children: Mrs. Hubert Jenkins, Aulander; Mrs. R. H. Hunsucker, Miss Dora Cox, F. F. and Roy Cox, of Winterville. He is also survived by seventeen grand children and one great-grandchild.

Warn Communists That They Face Probable Exile

Moscow, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The official organ, Investin, today warned Nikolai Bucharin and other members of the right wing opposition in the Communist party that unless they acknowledge their "mistakes" and recognize that the government is pursuing the correct policy in its economic and agricultural plans they will meet the same fate as the exiled Leon Trotsky. Investin declared that the wonderful results of the first year of the five-year industrialization plan proved the members of the right wing wrong. It added that only groupings of Russia's farms on a great scale can solve the country's agricultural and economic problems.

PRINCE OF WALES PLANS BIG HUNT

London, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The most eligible bachelor, Edward Albert, Prince of Wales, will go hunting with the new year for big game. London papers today say he was planning to return to Africa in January to complete the tour interrupted last year when his father, King George, became seriously ill. He probably will go first to Capetown, and thence northward to hunt big game.

MISS DAVIS SPEAKER AT ROTARY CLUB

Head of History Department of College Tells of Early History of N. C.

Miss Sallie Joyner Davis of the History Department of East Carolina Teachers College, was the principal speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Greenville Rotary Club last night. She told in an interesting way of the early settlement of the state, and some of the hardships which the forefathers endured in making present-day civilization possible.

The session last night was presided over by F. C. Harding. After the usual supper and Rotary song numbers, the club heard two solo numbers by J. H. Blount, who was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. M. K. Blount. The program was in charge of Carl Adams, a member of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, who introduced Miss Davis. Briefly sketching the coming of the early settlers to North Carolina, Miss Davis told of the coming of the English to the lower river districts, the Scotch Highlanders to the Cape Fear section, the Scotch Irish to the Piedmont section, and later the German.

She gave a brief outline of the customs of those people in their native lands and described their coming to this new wilderness to begin a new world and how from their activities has grown the present government and religion of North Carolina. She said that the population of North Carolina was nearer one hundred per cent Anglo-Saxon than any other state of the Union.

The talk by Miss Davis was a slight departure from the usual program put on by the club from time to time and proved to be one of the most informative heard by the membership in months.

SUNDOWN STORIES

THEIR HISTORY

John and Peggy felt they had not been quite fair to the Little Black Clock. He was being so friendly, so generous, sharing all his adventures with them, and they had been so rude about the beginning of the world and the little creatures he called the first animals.

But the little Black Clock did not seem to think they were rude at all. "I'll tell you about them," the Little Black Clock said. "First of all, there were some tiny objects like jelly. They were the first of the creatures who decided the world would be a nice place in which to live."

"They didn't wait for it to be settled or improved or anything. They came right at the start. After a long while some little shell objects decided they would live in the watery homes of the world, too—so they took up their residence here."

"Then the members of the fish family came along, deciding they would make their homes under the water. But these others—these lizards you've just seen and heard going flip-flop—are really the first animals."

"They have tiny legs. And they're flip-flopping over to the land—so they're the very first animals. Shall we watch them for a bit?" John and Peggy nodded. After all, it was rather wonderful to be back when the world was beginning and when the very first inhabitants were having a look around.

"Flip-flop," whispered the lizards as they came out of the water. Tomorrow—"First in the Atr."

THE LUXURY HUSBAND

SYNOPSIS: Disaster climaxes Barbara's ball! The floor of the hastily constructed ballroom begins to collapse. Smiling guests stampeded for the door but the exit is blocked by the huge body of the excited elephant. Barbara suddenly finds herself alone in one end of the room crouching before her is the terrified elephant which has escaped from its keeper. Barbara is about to swoon when Ray catches her in his arms, throws a cloak over the beast and carries Barbara to safety. Ray's presence of mind averts a tragedy and everyone escapes before the building falls. Outside Ray disappears but Barbara finds him in a taxi, ready to depart. She begs him to return to the house with her and there implores Ray to remain.

Chapter 22 DETERMINATION. Barbara was pleading with Ray, begging him to return, never to leave her again. It was some minutes before Ray spoke, and then it was in a low, choked voice. "I can't stay now, Barbara, but some day I hope to come back to you, my dear. Soon, maybe, for strange things have happened lately. Won't you try to understand and wait for me?"

"She raised her head wearily, while her arms tightened about his shoulders. "But I've waited so long—eternities, it seems. If you love me..." "Still the same old argument! You know I've never ceased loving you."

She sighed, her head like a wilting red-brown flower on his shoulder. "That's what you say!" Then the huskiness in her voice increasing to genuine emotion: "Even if you leave me tomorrow, stay with me and a few short hours until morning..."

Her hands were stroking his hair—playing with the bit that crept down onto his brow. She felt his heart throbbing in his temples. She sighed with satisfaction, thinking she had rekindled his desire for her. Had she known it, it never had died.

Seconds ticked by on the little ivory clock on the mantelshelf—breathless seconds. Abruptly he seemed to capitulate. He breathed deeply, through his teeth, and his arms went around her. She was his wife and he loved her. His resolutions weakened, drowned by his desire.

Then, unbidden came the thought of Rita. Of his boast to return to her apartment that night to continue their work. She had been afraid of his coming here—afraid lest his wife should turn him aside from his chance for fame.

He spoke aloud, as though voicing his thoughts. "My work..." "Oh, who cares about your stupid old work now!" Barbara cooed in his arms, confident that she had won him.

Just that she said, but enough in itself to pull him sharply by his senses. So Barbara's ideas hadn't changed! Fatefully, clearly he saw what would happen should he give in to her now—back to the derogatory position which he hated so intensely, the position of a man maintained on his wife's bounty.

Never again, had he sworn, would he return to her home until he could enter it certain of his financial independence. Now, although the desired goal hovered faintly in sight, he had not reached it. To capitulate now might mean the sacrifice of everything. Roughly he pulled himself out of her arms, steeling his heart against the hurt cry she gave, seeing him cross the room and open the door.

"It's no use, Barbara. I've got to work this thing out for myself. Some day, if you want me, but not now." He was gone. Gone while he had strength to leave her, before that nameless something which had drawn him to her in the beginning should break down his defenses.

He strode down that stairway, through the hall and out into the road, continuing until a taxi, hovering around like an annoying fly, picked him up and took him to the nearest subway.

The following morning Barbara moved back into her Park avenue apartment. She did not want to see her Long Island home again for many months. Not until she had forgotten the sight of the colossal wreckage and the ball that had proved almost a calamity. Forgotten, too, her would-be surrender, flung back in her face in the gold and white boudoir.

Yet her apartment held memories, too. If only she could forget Ray! Forget him as she had forgotten dozens of other men. But those she had been able to bend to her slightest whim, whereas Ray she never had. Was that, perhaps, the secret of the hold he had over her?

She kept Henderson with her constantly, trying to persuade herself that she preferred him to Ray. She even tried to believe that his nearness thrilled her, that when she was with him she missed no one, no one at all.

The change in her attitude highly elated Henderson. He breathed easier; slept sounder, for he had feared that Ray's dramatic appearance the night of the ball might prejudice Barbara in her husband's favor. But apparently it had not done so.

On the contrary, it seemed to have increased her liking for him. This he considered just as well, since his debts were increasing daily and his creditors were pressing for more definite information as to when the wealthy Mrs. Lowther would be free to marry him. He determined that the time had come for him to act.

He chose an evening when they had returned, earlier than was customary, from a dance at the home of a friend. Barbara preceded him into the sitting room and, having removed his overcoat and muffler, he followed, standing a moment impassive in the doorway, watching her slim, tense figure. Impulsively he crossed silently to her, his arms imprisoning her. He was whispering into her hair.

"I love you. I love you, Barbara. I can't keep this up much longer... this attitude of friendship. The strain's terrific and, added to it, the uncertainty... the uncertainty of not knowing whether or not you care for me, whether eventually you are going to be mine... Oh, my love, if you have any regard for me, set my mind at rest! If you knew what hell it is when I love you as I do..." She closed her eyes, momentarily yielding to his embrace, trying to persuade herself she was enjoying it.

List Of Contributors To American Taxpayer League Read Into Lobby Records

Washington, Nov. 5.—(AP)—A list of contributors to the American Taxpayers League was read into the record of the Senate lobby committee with the Taxpayers League and also is general manager of the Southern Tariff Association.

The Armour Company of Chicago, was listed as contributing $500 to the association; the Pillsbury Flour Mills, $250; Kansas City Power and Light Company $250; Kansas City Stock Yards Company of Matne, $250; Los Angeles Brewing Company $100; Puget Sound Power and Light Company, $100; Nash Motors Company, $500; United States Playing Card Company, $100; Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad, $200.

Asked by Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, if he thought the railroads ought to contribute, Arnold replied: "I think they should." He said his organization had received money from the railroads for the tax association but not for the tariff league; adding he thought the railroads should contribute to the latter.

"We get money wherever we can," he asserted. "We don't miss anybody." Before reading the contributors' list, Blaine questioned Arnold about a typewritten sheet taken from the association's records. "It means nothing," he said.

Blaine said it was an agreement between Vance Meuse, W. F. Myrick and Mrs. Ida Darden and provided that Myrick and Meuse were to receive 40 per cent of all checks turned in by them.

Arnold testified that Meuse was getting $600 a month from the tariff association, Myrick $500 a month and Mrs. Darden $4,000 a year and that Meuse was working in South Carolina, Myrick in California and Mrs. Darden in Texas.

He asserted Texas was the best producing state for the association. "Florida is pretty good picking, isn't it?" Blaine asked. "Florida is a good state," the witness replied.

Blaine read a list of states he said were covered in the agreement and inquired why Wisconsin was omitted. "You found a few suckers in Wisconsin, didn't you?" Blaine asked. "We had a few contributors from Wisconsin," Arnold answered.

The witness testified that the organizers worked sometimes for the taxpayers league and at other times for the tariff association. Blaine read from the "agreement" that when $100,000 was raised, Myrick, Meuse and Mrs. Darden were to receive ten per cent of it.

"I'm telling you the agreement means nothing," Arnold insisted. "We had a few suckers in Wisconsin, didn't you?" Blaine asked. "We had a few contributors from Wisconsin," Arnold answered.

ABOUT TOWN

Farmville is host to the annual convention of the Disciples of Christ of North Carolina. Mrs. Eva Shackelford, Reflector correspondent, said today.

"This bids fair to be one of the most important conventions the denomination has held in years, and Farmville people have made arrangements to entertain the delegates in big style.

"Some of the leading members of the church are on the program, and each day until Wednesday when the convention closes, is expected to contain many interesting things.

"Farmville is glad to play host to such a splendid representation of Christian men and women and hopes they will see fit to hold forth here again in the near future."

"Mayor J. C. Lanier has issued a proclamation setting aside Armistice Day as the beginning of a membership drive by the Pitt County Post of the American Legion," reminded a member of the organization.

"The campaign will reach its climax during American Legion Week, and is expected to net the post numbers of new members—men who fought in the great war that humanity might be saved from the heels of German autocracy.

"The Legion has done much constructive work since its formation immediately after the war, but this can be greatly increased through the active participation of more of the men who served, in their country during the great world conflict.

"Former service men who have not been taking an active part in the Legion's work should join during the present drive and in that way show the boys they are with them in their undertaking to improve the condition of those who sacrificed so much during the war."

"Greenville's victory over Farmville in the annual football game between the two towns was one of the outstanding achievements of the season," declared a supporter of the club today.

"Farmville came over with the firm intention of walking away with the bacon, but the quarter featured by flashes of brilliance on the part of the local club sent the visitors back home empty-handed.

"It was one of those games that keeps the nerve on edge until the final whistle has died away on the autumn air, and the numbers of fans who went out to see it felt amply rewarded for doing so.

"The two towns are ancient gridders and it is possible that more interest is centered about their annual clash than any other contests of the season. The friendly spirit of rivalry between the two towns should have a wholesome effect and enable them to put stronger teams into the field each season."

"The return of Rev. E. L. Hillman to the pastorate of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church will be greeted with general favor by the denomination and the community in general," said an admirer of the minister today.

"There was some talk of the 'Klwanis sky pilot' being sent to Elizabeth City, but this belief was dissipated in the announcement of appointments by the conference at Kinston Sunday.

"Mr. Hillman has done some mighty good work during his stay here, and there is every indication that he will be able to greatly extend the activities of the church during his second year's ministry."

"Acceptance of the pastorate of the Eighth Street Church of Christ by Rev. Lee S. Sadler, of Richmond, Va., has been received with much interest by members of the congregation here," said a well-known churchman today.

"Mr. Sadler is not a stranger to the people of this city. He was pastor of the Greenville church several years ago, and rendered a splendid account of himself while here.

"He is considered one of the outstanding ministers of the denomination, and returns to Greenville well prepared to carry on the work relinquished by Rev. R. J. Bamber, who resigned several weeks ago."

EXPLANATION OF NORTHCUTT CASE AWAITED

Commandant of Puget Sound Navy Yard Hopes to Clear Up Case Today

Bremerton, Wash., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Rear Admiral H. J. Ziegler, commandant of the Puget Sound navy yard, today awaited an explanation from Lieut. Harold W. Northcutt that would clear up the mystery veiling his disappearance from Norfolk, Va., two weeks ago.

A request for the explanation was made yesterday by Rear Admiral Ziegler at the instance of the Navy Department, after Lieutenant Northcutt had been detained for several hours at the navy yard here without volunteering any explanation of his disappearance from Norfolk and his reappearance Sunday in Vancouver, B. C.

Northcutt came voluntarily to Bremerton from Vancouver and has been detained at the navy yard here on orders from Washington. So far as is known, no formal charges have been filed against him.

"I have asked Lieut. Northcutt to make an explanation to the Navy Department," the rear admiral said. "So far, however, I have not received any statement from him."

Northcutt flatly refused to see anyone yesterday and his guards reported that he spent most of his time playing solitaire in his quarters in the marine barracks.

The lieutenant steadfastly refused to accept counsel from fellow naval officers who offered their assistance and would not discuss his case with them.

Dispatches from Vancouver quoted Mrs. Sarah Gibson, apartment house proprietor, as having advised the authorities that Northcutt came to her place a week ago with a young woman and rented an apartment. Two cards, bearing the name of Miss Laura Clements and showing that she was a nurse in good standing at the University of New York were found among personal effects in the apartment occupied by Northcutt and her.

Mrs. Gibson said two nurse's uniforms were in Northcutt's rooms. A note on a small piece of paper also was found by Mrs. Gibson which read "Married in Seattle Monday, address H. W. Northcutt, letter follows."

When confronted with questions concerning the reports from Vancouver, Northcutt would make no reply and refused to discuss Miss Clements with any one.

Reports from naval officers at Norfolk yesterday indicated that a medical examining board would be appointed to observe Lieut. Northcutt's actions and make recommendations to the Navy Department.

MINER KEEPS IN GOOD SHAPE

Suffered From Sick Stomach Until He Began To Take Black-Draught.

Cambria, Va.—"For many years, I was a coal miner, and worked every day in the mines," says Mr. Silas Hamblin, of this place. "This life was very confining, and my health was not good. I suffered with gas, and often had sick stomach, due to constipation. My breath would get bad, and often I would get up in the morning with an awful taste in my mouth. My skin was yellow, and I felt pretty poorly generally. An old friend recommended that I try Black-Draught for this, and because he spoke of it as highly, I bought some. I found it an excellent medicine, and have used it ever since, whenever I needed anything for constipation. I keep a box of Black-Draught in the house, and I find that a small dose, taken occasionally, keeps me in good shape. Thousands of other men and women find Theodor's Black-Draught of great help in relieving and warding off common ailments, due to constipation, indigestion and biliousness. Price 25¢."

AMOS G. COX.

Not only the Winterville community but our entire county as well feels a great loss in the death of Mr. Amos G. Cox. During his more than three score and ten years of life his accomplishments in behalf of his people have been too numerous to mention. To put into a few words, the life of Mr. Cox, we would say, his public, private and religious life were above reproach and he was a power and influence for god in all leaving behind in his passing a richer, happier and better world for his having lived.

IN NATIONAL CONTEST.

That Greenville merchants are gaining a reputation is set forth in an article published in the latest issue of The Pepper Box, official organ of the Greenville Merchants Association, that states that a recent window display of C. Heber Forbes has been entered in a national window trimming contest. Only a few months ago, Mrs. J. J. Gilbert and Miss Louise Tucker, of the Forbes establishment, were awarded a prize of $50 in a similar contest and naturally we are hoping that they will be equally successful this time. Winning in these national contests is a good advertisement for the firm and our city as well. Greenville's business establishments would do credit to a city many times the size of Greenville.

PLAY SAFE.

As an aid to his officers in helping to prevent burglaries and the like in the business section, Chief of Police Preston Pierce has requested that each of the business houses leave a light, especially in the rear of their establishments burning at night. Such a safety light, he says, will make it much easier for his men to detect prowlers or sneak thieves and afford greater protection to the business houses. Merchants would do well to co-operate with Chief Pierce and his men in this respect.

Young Mother Is Jailed After Killing Husband

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Ruth Naomi Browning, young mother, was held in jail here today charged with stabbing to death her husband, Russell Browning, street car motorman, last night because he was "out with another woman."

Mrs. Browning said she left her two children with neighbors after her husband had gone out, and followed him. After trailing him and his alleged woman companion, Mrs. Browning is said to have overtaken them and stabbed him twice with a pocket knife. After going to a hospital, where her husband had been carried, and ascertained his condition, Mrs. Browning went to police headquarters and gave herself up.

Minnesota and Purdue Haunted By Iowa Menace

Chicago, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Minnesota and Purdue, racing step and step toward Western Conference football honors, both are haunted by the same spectre—Iowa.

The Iowa menace is Minnesota's concern this week for they will meet at Iowa City Saturday. With Northwestern and Indiana out of the way Coach Spears started yesterday to elaborate on his offense, in preparation for the game that may make or break the Gopher season.

The situation caused by the schedule may work to the advantage of Purdue, which will meet Iowa after Minnesota takes its crack at Burt Ingwersen's team.

Ohio State's prospects of a victory over Northwestern Saturday were lilted yesterday when Coach Sam Williamson of the Buckeyes, suspended Charlie Coffee, one of his star halfbacks, for the remainder of the season for infraction of the training rules while the team was in Pittsburgh last week-end.

Governor O. Max Gardner addressed the club at luncheon today. This afternoon was spent in recreation and tonight there will be a banquet with Dr. F. P. Gaines of Wake Forest College as the speaker.

BULLDOGS TO PLAY IN N. Y. THIS WEEK

By DILLON L. GRAHAM
Associated Press Staff Writer

Atlanta, Nov. 5.—Georgia's badly battered Bulldogs move on New York University this week in an attempt to show the east that their early season victory over Yale was no fluke.

Despite defeats in their last starts against Florida and Tulane, Coach Harry Mehres charges, dubbed the "surprising sophomores" several weeks ago after crushing Yale and trampling North Carolina, expect to do some more surprisingly good playing during their invasion and round out their inter-sectional warfare with a perfect percentage.

With only three days for practice before embarking for the scene of battle, the Bulldogs got down to intensive work yesterday at their Athens proving grounds. The varsity got a glimpse of Coach Mehres' tricks by watching the fresh squad execute the violet plays.

Mississippi which invades La Fayette for a tilt with the Power boys of Purdue, Md., which plays Yale at New Haven and Mississippi A. and M., which meets Michigan State at Jackson, are accorded slimmer chances of victory. However, Oglethorpe expects to vault over Manhattan College at Atlanta.

Three of the five conference leaders will have their hands full this week-end with a trio of defeated but nevertheless powerful machines. Vanderbilt will be ever so slight a favorite in its battle with Georgia Tech's Golden Tornado at Nashville. The Techsters are getting nettled at the results of their season thus far and are just about ripe to break up a Vandy's title hopes.

Alabama's Crimson Tide, failing to push the Commodores out of the championship picture last week, will point their heavy guns on Kentucky, while Duke, making its conference bow, will attempt to throw some obstacle in the path of Louisiana State's Tigers.

Tulane and Tennessee, heavy favorites to cop the crown, will coast through a couple of freebathers this week, the Green Wave meeting Auburn and the quints taking on Carson Newman.

Irigina was heartened yesterday by the return of Captain and Quarterback John Sloan, who has been out with injuries for several weeks. The Cavaliers count on Sloan and Bill Thomas to deliver the punch that will beat Irigina Poly in their engagement at Charlottesville.

The Clemson Bengals, still battered and reeling from the spanking Kentucky gave them, will take out some of their spite on Irigina Military at Norfolk. North Carolina takes on their ancient foes, the South Carolina Gamecocks, at Columbia. North Carolina State pits its strength against Davidson at Raleigh and Sewanee steps out of the conference ranks to play Southwestern at Memphis.

The Florida Gators, recuperating from their defeat at the hands of Harvard, will enjoy a rest this week in preparation for their homecoming engagement with Clemson Saturday week.

HOPE PLAY WILL BE RESUMED UNDER ARMY CODE

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Captain Lawrence M. (Biff) Jones, head coach of Army football, hopes that Army-Navy athletic will be resumed with the proviso that it be under the Army's own code of eligibility.

In a radio address over the Columbia Broadcasting system chain last night, Capt. Jones urged that the Army-Navy contest be resumed "with any Cadet or any Midshipman not deficient in his studies" eligible to participate.

The now famous Army-Navy break of 1928 came when the Navy insisted that Army adopt the three-year eligibility rule. The Army was equally determined to preserve its own eligibility code which does not bar from competition Cadets who have played in college games before coming to West Point.

Must Raise $8,000

Greenville, S. C., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Greenville's franchise in the South Atlantic Association will be forfeited to the league unless local fans raise $8,000 by November 15. Manager Frank Walker told a group of fans at a meeting today.

Unless this is done, he said, Greenville likely will be without baseball next year for the first time since the South Atlantic Association was reorganized in 1919.

The local club has seventeen class B players on the reserve list and the franchise and players should easily be worth the amount needed. Walker said, but the cash will have to be raised. Walker is the largest owner of the local club but said he is unwilling to finance it another season unless local help is provided.

THE TROJANS' FAST WING MAN

Garrett Arbelbide, Southern California's end, is an important part of the Trojans' aerial attack. He is a fast, aggressive player and covers a lot of territory.

TAR HEELS MAY SHIFT ATTACK ON GAMECOCKS

Chapel Hill, Nov. 5.—Since South Carolina so ironically made both of its touchdowns against the strong Clemson team on Clemson passes, North Carolina supporters are wondering no little bit about the kind of attack the Tar Heels will show when they meet the Gamecocks in Columbia Saturday.

Will Head Coach Church Collins take heed from the pass-intercepting activities of these Gamecocks and charge the Tar Heels to use a straight driving, line attack? Or will he disregard South Carolina's pass-busting proclivities, and order another aerial attack such as the Tar Heels featured against V. P. I. and again against N. C. State last Saturday?

The question is an open one. It's too early in the week to say. There was only the lightest of workouts Monday, to let sore muscles regain their spring and flexibility. The squad drilled hard yesterday, but Coach Collins isn't to begin giving his men their special tricks for Saturday until this afternoon.

South Carolina has one of the best pass defenses in the South, according to all reports, and a shifted Tar Heel attack seems entirely probable.

Boineau and Rhano converted Clemson passes into 75 and 80-yard touchdown sprints, and Chiscol did not get away with a thing hardly by the over-head route against the Gamecocks.

The Tar Heels, on the other hand have one of the flashiest aerial attacks in the South. There are six letter halfbacks and a sophomore, all equally good, and three veteran fullbacks.

Halfbacks Magnor, Matis, Weid and Jackson are all fine passers. Halfbacks Nash, Slusser and Erickson; Fullbacks Spaulding, House and Harden, and all the ends, are good receivers, and know how to air out after they take the pass.

What will happen when these passers de luxe meet those pass-busters?

SONNENBERG DEFEATS OMAHA WRESTLER

Seattle, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Charlie Hansen of Omaha, was added to the long list of victims of Gus Sonnenberg's flying tackle today. Sonnenberg retained his heavyweight wrestling crown here last night by slamming Hansen to the mat late in the sixth and early in the seventh rounds. The match was under the Australian wrestling system of eight 10-minute rounds.

JIM McLARNIN WINS BATTLE WITH MANDELL

Chicago, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Jimmy McLarnin may not become the next world welterweight champion, but he has accomplished something that the present holder of the title Jackie Fields, found too difficult a task.

McLarnin enhanced his standing as the foremost contender for the welterweight crown here last night by giving Sammy Mandell, ruler of the world's lightweights, a thorough beating. He won a decision at the end of 10 rounds of great fighting.

Fields attempted to conquer the Rockford, Ill., champion a year ago, and received a fine boxing lesson from Mandell.

Mandell gave McLarnin a facing a year ago last summer when the Baby Face from Vancouver, B. C., attempted to lift the lightweight title, but last night found that a 143 3-4 pound McLarnin was too much for even his marvelous boxing ability. It was the first decision Mandell has ever lost, and was his first real defeat since he was knocked out by Joey Sangor, in 1923—when he was just getting started as a major performer.

Mandell gave away six pounds to the slugger from Vancouver, and the handicap was too great. McLarnin who was too strong and too aggressive was credited with six rounds, while Mandell who entered the ring as the favorite, was given but two.

Huat Defeats Izzy Schwartz

New York, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The elimination tournament by which the management of Madison Square Garden hopes to produce a generally recognized title holder of the recent flyweight title has passed its first round with only one surprise. Last night's set of four ten-round battles between leading 112-pounders served principally to entrench Eugene Huat, champion of Belgium more firmly in the favorite's position.

Huat, conqueror of Spider Pladner and French Belanger, made his New York debut in the principal bout of the night of administering a solid beating to Izzy Schwarz, New York's entry in the tournament. His victory came just after Willie Davies of Charleroi, Pa., who had been picked as the other probable finalist, had succumbed to the punches of his old rival, Black Bill of Cuba.

The night's two other victors were Midget Wolgast of Philadelphia, and Rudy Bradley, Holyoke, Mass. negro. Wolgast eliminated Johnny McCoy of Buffalo, N. Y., from further competition while Bradley defeated Ernie Peters of Chicago. In both bouts the decision was unpopular with the fans. The four winners will be matched later in a pair of semi-final bouts and the survivors of these clashes are to meet in a 15-round final. The New York State Athletic Commission has promised the ultimate victor recognition as a flyweight champion. Huat's victory was by far the most decisive of the four and made him an odds-on favorite to win the title. It was so complete that Schwarz announced his permanent retirement from the ring. Huat failed to duplicate his knockout victories over Pladner and Belanger, but he cuffed Schwarz soundly in every round and had him groggy from solid punches to the head and body.
