FRANCE PAYS LAST TRIBUTE TO THE TIGER

'Cannon of Armistice' Booms 101 Gun Salute As Clemenceau Is Laid to Rest

Paris, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The cannon of the armistice, at noon today boomed 101 gun salute which was notified to the populace that the body of Georges Clemenceau, Father of Victory, had been lowered to its last resting place in the hills of his native Vendee, near Bouchamps.

The roar of the guns, located on the parade ground of Des Invalides reverberated through the city, and good Frenchmen stopped and raised their hats in their own salute to the statesman who died yesterday morning.

Paris could not hear but every French citizen throughout the republic and its possessions and every French warship on the high seas joined in the same roaring salute of 101 guns.

The body of Clemenceau, Father of Victory left the capital at 2 a. m., enroute to its last resting place in the quiet of a wood in the province of Vendee.

There was no muffled drum beat, no military procession to precede the body on its last journey. Instead the former premier's last bed, which was carried out with all the solemnity and calm he had desired.

A hearse drove up before the light in front of the departed statesman's door, the only light left thereabout in the dimly illuminated street, and four men dressed in black placed the light oak coffin inside the hearse.

Only a little group, consisting of General Henri Gouraud, Prefect of Police Chappelle, the artist Gilbert Bellan, and a few neighbors witnessed the removal, so impressive for its simplicity.

The hearse four automobiles drew up and 20 guests, those invited by the "tiger" himself to his last journey, emerged from the hearse and entered the cars.

An automobile containing the special police commissary, Dupin De La Gouraud, took the lead and the cortege started on its 250 mile journey while an involuntary knock struck, tolling an involuntary knell. The group on the sidewalk, hatless, walked silently as the procession disappeared into the night.

A few minutes later the conveyance passed the Porte O'Rleans, a southern exit from the city. Both the route to be followed to the place of interment, at Mouchamps, and the hour of burial were kept secret in accordance with one of the dead man's last wishes.

It was understood burial was to be some time after noon, with only the 30 invited guests and others especially privileged allowed to approach to within 50 yards of the tomb. Troops were ordered to keep strangers out. The grave was situated beside that of his father, as the "tiger" had requested.

As M. Clemenceau desired, his body was not embalmed. It was placed in an inner shell of pine lined with white satin, with his hands and a little bit of earth from the battlefield at Verdun. The shell was sealed up in a lead covering and the whole enclosed in a light oak coffin with gilt handles and a brass plate bearing the inscription, "Georges Clemenceau."

At the hour of interment Premier Tardieu arranged the formal salute of 101 guns which fired the salute of the armistice brought about to such a large extent through the relentless efforts of M. Clemenceau eleven years ago. Saturday the city will have its opportunity to pay final honor to the memory of the man with a ceremony at the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Both Senate and Chamber expect a recess of two days, the customary parliamentary tribute will be paid.

M. Clemenceau died Sunday after an illness of several days. He was 88 years old, his great age making him particularly susceptible to the cardiac and uremic attacks which finally caused his death.

Attorney General of Palestine Shot By Arab Messenger

Gift Tax Held Valid Today By Supreme Court

Washington, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Gift taxes imposed under the Federal Revenue law were held valid today by the Supreme court in a case brought by J. Bromley, of Philadelphia, who was required to pay a tax of $20,538 on gifts totalling $68,300.

The court passed upon the gift tax imposed under the 1924 revenue act amended under the 1926 tax law.

Bromley contended the gifts were not made in contemplation of death and that the tax was illegal because direct and not apportioned, and further because it lacked uniformity.

Government argued Congress had authority to make dispositions of property by gift subject to taxation, like any other method of transfer.

Justices Sutherland, Butler and Van Devanter dissented in the opinion. They took the position the tax was a direct one, and that it had been invalidly imposed because not apportioned as required by the constitution in imposing direct taxes.

DOZEN LIVES CLAIMED BY BAD WEATHER

Rising Temperatures in South Following Siege of Sleet and Snow

Atlanta, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Drizzling rain erased the southland's first snow of the season today as temperatures rose and clearing skies made good the familiar forecast of fair and warmer. A death list of a dozen names was left in the wake of the four day cold snap.

Traffic mishaps, precipitated by sleet and rain, yesterday added three fatalities to the casualty record. Ricky Danner, formerly of Yorkers, N. H., and Watertown, Mass., died at Winchester, Va., of a skull fracture suffered as his automobile overturned on a road partially covered with ice. Sleet obscured the vision of Roland Rogers of Charlotte, when he was fatally injured in the wrecking of his machine. E. L. Armstrong, of Belmont, N. C., died in a Charlotte hospital Saturday night under similar weather conditions.

In the final reckoning half of the twelve deaths occurred in Arkansas, four in Virginia and two in North Carolina.

The sun was making rapid progress in winning its battle with the elements in Kentucky and Arkansas while Florida, which learned of the southern cold wave through newspapers, continued to enjoy balmy breezes and sunny skies.

Blames President Hoover For Failure of Congress To Pass The Tariff Bill

Washington, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Blame for the failure of Congress to pass the tariff bill at the special session is laid directly upon President Hoover in a lengthy statement issued by J. J. Shouse even indicating he believed that the "senatorial old guard" was not at fault.

"According to precedent," Shouse said, "the press agents of the administration are blaming Congress and particularly the Senate for the miscue that leaves the Republican party smirched by the Bingham-Eyanson incident, the Grundy cynicism and other revelations of the methods by which the high tariffers have reached their schedules."

"Why blame even the senatorial old guard for failure to carry out the president's policies when nobody can more than guess at what those policies were?"

Shouse asserted the special session was the outcome of political expediency, caused by a "moment of panic" on the part of Mr. Hoover over the dissatisfaction in the farm states during the campaign.

"At that time," Shouse said, "there was no thought of tariff revision," adding the department of commerce from which Mr. Hoover had just resigned had testified that the business of the country was remarkably prosperous.

SOVIETS BURN RAILWAY CITY; CHINESE FLEE

Officials and Soldiers Evacuate Khail After Capture By Russians

Harbin, Manchuria, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The city of Khailar in the northwestern section of Manchuria was described as being in flames in messages received here today.

All Chinese officials and soldiers have evacuated the city which fell late yesterday before a force of Soviet cavalry and tanks.

The Chinese Eastern railway today continued to operate trains evacuating Chinese and Russians from the district but all of the refugees cannot be accommodated and many of them are camping by the side of the track.

The situation at both the eastern and western ends of the Chinese Eastern railway was described as precarious, the Russian troops apparently seeking control not only of the Delator Mines but also the mines of the eastern front as well.

The Japanese consul here has advised Japanese subjects both on the east and west branches of the railway to come to Harbin as quickly as possible. He was understood to have information that the Soviet authorities are willing to evacuate Japanese from Manchuria through Vladivostok.

The consular body has asked the Chinese civil administration at Harbin for details of plans to guarantee the safety of foreigners and to protect foreign property in the event that the situation should grow more serious.

Two Fliers Get Ready for New Endurance Test

Los Angeles, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Bobbie Trout, Los Angeles flier, and Elinor Smith, New York aviatrix, today were grooming their ship for a possible third attempt to establish a new endurance refueling flight record. Their attempt failed yesterday.

The session of the senate finance committee the president conferred many times with Chairman Smoot of the committee and Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, "who were incubating the Smoot-Hawley bill, the enormities of which when they were finally disclosed horrified the country."

Mr. Hoover had maintained his silence until the Democrats and Independent Republicans struck out the flexible provision which gave the president power to raise or lower tariff duties, he added.

"Then indeed he found his voice," Shouse said. "But his utterance was confined to an objection to yielding this power, which had only been granted in 1922 on the express understanding that its life was to terminate as soon as the post-war emergency of chaotic financial conditions abroad had passed."

The head of the executive committee said the Hawley draft of the House bill never would have been submitted to the house of representatives if he had signified his distaste for it.

"The revised monstrosity would never have issued from the senate if his senators there that it was conference committee had he advised contrary to his wishes," he added.

Shouse asked if anyone expected the senate to disregard the sentiment of the country and to violate their own consciences by "mimicking the tariff of extortionists" once it was before them.

State Rests In Trial Against Labor Leader and Strikers at Marion

SICK JUROR HALTS TRIAL OF MURDERER

Marion, Nov. 25.—(AP)—After hearing Capt. W. C. Lyda, of Asheville, who was in charge of troops stationed here during strike disorders last August and September, tell of happenings on August 30, the state rested today in the trial of Alfred Hoffman, labor leader, and three strikers charged with rioting and resisting an officer.

The captain said that when the troops arrived at the village they had forced their way through the crowd. "We had to tell them to move back repeatedly," the captain said. "We had to push them back. They hooped, jeered and called us 'paid gunmen' and 'capitalists'."

"We left two squads at the road leading into the mill village," he continued, "and the remainder of the company marched on through the crowd. The crowd led by Hoffman tried to run over the two squads left at the entrance. The men had to present bayonets and tell them if they did not move back they would shoot."

The officer said that the crowd surged forward and Hogan said, "we'll take charge of the situation." He said he had to place the muzzle of his pistol against Hogan to make him move back.

He said that Hogan came to him later, told him that he was glad that he (Lyda) had not lost his head as he (Hogan) had and added that he realized he had said and done too much.

BOY SCOUTS TO LAUNCH DRIVE HERE TUESDAY

Greenville Boy Scouts will make their "Charity Bundle Day" drive tomorrow afternoon, according to officials shortly after the noon hour today.

The drive was to have been conducted last Saturday but had to be postponed on account of inclement weather that started during the morning and continued throughout the day.

Persons desiring to contribute to this cause were urged to have their bundles ready when the Scouts arrive. In event of rain and the Scouts are unable to cover all territory, persons with unutilized bundles are urged to call telephone 100.

The drive will be one of the most intensive ever before conducted by any organization in this city. Virtually every Scout in the local organization will be used in an effort to cover all homes during the afternoon hours.

The Scouts are hopeful of raising as much old clothing as any other city in this part of the state. Some of the towns claim to have collected as high as four tons in one day. The Scouts here believe they can do just as good as anybody and the public is urged to contribute as liberally as they can in order to help make the campaign the great success it should be.

Chamber Deputies Pays Tribute To The French Tiger

Paris, Nov. 25.—(AP)—M. Bouisson, president of the Chamber of Deputies, in a funeral oration before the chamber this afternoon, paid solemn tribute to former premier Georges Clemenceau as the great citizen who saved France in her moment of dire national peril.

The president began by citing the memorable law voted in parliament in 1918 which declared that the arms and their chiefs and government of the republic, the citizen Georges Clemenceau, premier and minister of war and Marshal Foch, commander-in-chief of the allied armies "have deserved well of their country" and that the text of the law should be graven in stone to endure forever in all the schools and civic buildings of the republic.

To Bouisson M. Clemenceau was above all things and in the most profound meaning of the term, "the citizen," his ardor ever directed toward justice.

SEN. WARREN PASSES AWAY AT CAPITAL

Washington, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Lieutenant George T. Cuddihy, one of the navy's experienced pilots, was killed today when the British Bristol Bulldog airplane he was testing crashed in a dive from a 10,000-foot altitude and buried itself so far in the earth that only the feet of his pilot were visible above the plowed ground.

More than half an hour after the accident the naval personnel at the Anacostia air station here were digging in an effort to extricate the body.

The crash took place at 9:35 a. m. Cuddihy had taken the plane aloft to test it. The ship had been delivered to the navy only last week. It was constructed to make 180 miles per hour with full military load and is of the class of latest fighting ships used by the British air forces.

Visibility was none too good when the veteran pilot took the craft aloft. Persons at the air station estimated he lost control at an altitude of 6,000 feet. The ship plunged into the earth with such force that it almost buried itself.

Air station officers said Cuddihy specifically was testing the plane's diving speed. He had reached an estimated elevation of two miles before entering the dive, and when he attempted to draw out of the dive at about 6,000 feet, they said, the ship refused to right itself and tore downward nose first at terrific speed.

The nose of the ship plowed 10 feet into the earth.

Cuddihy was one of the navy's racing pilots. He was born at Alto, Michigan, in 1896. His mother, Mrs. A. K. Cuddihy, lives at Grand Rapids, Mich.

In 1924 Cuddihy established a world record for seaplane speed at 188 miles per hour and the following year piloted a navy plane in the Schneider cup race.

He graduated from the Naval Academy in 1917 serving until 1921 on the U. S. S. Mississippi. In that year he entered the aviation service. Officers at the naval air station said that as the plane careened downward, a part of it broke away and fluttered off to land by itself. They were unable to say just what part had snapped under the strain but said an investigation would be made at once.

As the ship rushed nearer the earth, the added speed could be seen to increase in ever larger pirals.

The ship crashed in a low part of the field rendered soft by recent snow. Through this the engine plowed, throwing turf and dirt in all directions. It buried itself to a depth of 10 feet, cutting a hole large enough to carry much of the structural part with it.

President Hoover led official Washington in paying tribute to the deceased legislator. Every stage of his life the chief executive said, was "marked by increasing industry and by devotion to national welfare," adding that Senator Warren was a leader among "those to whom we of this generation owe much of our splendid inheritance."

Senator Warren was the third member of the Senate and twelfth member of Congress to die within the last nine months.

Against Reform
New York—There seems to have been a successful revolution against reform. So many of the younger set have been dashing off to night clubs when society ended dances at 3 A. M. that some invitations now read "dancing at 11 P. M." Instead of 10 to 3.

Sales Continue Light on Local Tobacco Market

Father-in-Law of Gen. John Pershing Succumbs to Bronchial Attack

Washington, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Death has taken Senator Francis E. Warren of Wyoming, a veteran of the rugged, pioneering days of the West, who came to Washington to serve longer in the United States Senate than any man in history.

With his wife, his son Fred, and his son-in-law, General John J. Pershing, at his bedside, the elderly legislator died yesterday morning from an attack of pneumonia and bronchitis. He was 85 years of age.

The Senate will honor the man who was one of its members continuously for 35 years with a state funeral tomorrow in the Senate chamber and afterward delegations from both houses of Congress will escort the body to Wyoming where it will be interred.

Death came after an illness of three weeks. Several times, the aged senator rallied and seemed on his way to recovery, but a turn for the worse on Saturday night so weakened his condition that he sank rapidly thereafter.

In spite of his years, Senator Warren had the reputation of being one of the Senate's hardest workers, and the robustness of his constitution was a source of amazement to his friends. Many times he sat through an all night filibuster, while younger members sought the comfort of their beds.

He earned the elevators at the capitol, always using the stairs in going back and forth between Senate chambers and his office.

With the advent of the Harding administration in 1921, Senator Warren became chairman of the important appropriations committee on which post he served until his death. In this capacity he had the responsibility of guiding through the Senate legislation providing billions of dollars for the conduct of the Federal Government.

President Hoover led official Washington in paying tribute to the deceased legislator. Every stage of his life the chief executive said, was "marked by increasing industry and by devotion to national welfare," adding that Senator Warren was a leader among "those to whom we of this generation owe much of our splendid inheritance."

Gardner Pledges Support of N. C. to Hoover Plan to Aid American Business

Raleigh, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Gov. O. Max Gardner, answering the appeal of President Hoover that states, counties and municipalities speed up construction work so as to aid business and economic conditions in the United States, said today that North Carolina's support was pledged "to the extent of the necessity and ability of the State and its geographical units."

Governor Gardner, in commenting on his telegraphic reply to the president, however, pointed out that the State now had almost a complete set of hard surfaced roads and that North Carolina had any definite thing it could do to follow the president's suggestion.

Governor Gardner replied that he knew of nothing at present but that the matter would be studied.

The reply to the president also said that the success of the road program in North Carolina is relieving a depressed period was justification and concrete evidence that such a program as advocated by

Veteran Actor Dies Suddenly At Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Raymond Hitchcock, 64, stage actor and musical favorite, died here suddenly early today from a heart attack.

Born in Auburn, N. Y., October 22, 1865, he made his first stage appearance in 1890. After appearing in minor roles in many New York comedies, he scored highly in "King Dodo," a fantastic musical play, in which he portrayed the title role for two years.

His first real starring vehicle was as Abigail Booze in "The Yankee Consul," in which he toured the country after a prolonged run in the Broadway theatre, New York.

One of his most outstanding successes was scored in "Hitchy Koo," which was produced at the Cohan and Harris theatre in New York in 1917. This show was taken on an extensive tour of America, and later returned to New York for re-engagement.

His more recent efforts were in "The Old Soak" and "The Sap," in which he appeared in 1924.

Smith to Run for the Senate Again

Chicago, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The Herald and Examiner said today that Frank L. Smith, three times certified to a seat in the United States Senate without ever occupying it, may make a fourth attempt for the senatorship.

RAILROAD TO SPEND LARGE SUM IN 1930

Rock Island Lines Plan Outlay of $50,000,000 for Improvements

Chicago, Nov. 25.—(AP)—President Hoover's business program found support today in the announcement that the Rock Island lines will total about $50,000,000, the largest in the history of the company.

This amount, J. E. Gorman, president of the road, announced, will exceed by slightly more than $10,000,000 the improvement budget for 1929 and will be expended for new equipment, new lines, general improvements and miscellaneous construction.

The expenditure will be further increased, Mr. Gorman said, if the Interstate Commerce Commission allows the petition of the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf railroad, a part of the Rock Island lines, for permission to build a new line in Texas at an estimated cost of $5,500,000.

Following Mr. Gorman's statement, A. D. Martin, general passenger agent, announced in Omaha that the expansion program may include the extension of the road's double track system from Iowa City to Omaha. Trains now operate on a double track between Chicago and Iowa City.

Exclusive of the proposed new line in Texas, approximately $15,600,000 will be spent for new lines, second main tracks and roadway improvements. According to Mr. Gorman, this will include continuation of the St. Paul-Kansas City short line from Trenton, Mo., to Birmingham, Mo., and a new line from Dalhart, Tex., to Morse, Tex., on the C. R. I. and G.

New equipment to be purchased at a cost of about $20,000,000, includes 41 locomotives, 5,000 freight cars, 24 passenger coaches and 62 work cars, according to the announcement. Provision is also made for 57,000 tons of new steel rail and the installation of 126 miles of a dispatcher's control and automatic block signal system between Herington, Kan., and Pratt, Kans.

The Trench-Birmingham line in Missouri contemplates a contemplated a continuous program involving an ultimate expenditure of $11,000,000, Mr. Gorman said.

If the Interstate Commerce Commission approves the new line in Texas, Mr. Gorman said, it will extend from Shamrock to Beaver Creek, south of Vernon, a distance of 110 miles.

SUNDOWN STORIES

WINTER SLEEP

(By Mary Graham Bonner)
It was very, very quiet. The Little Black Clock had not said a word but he had led the way to a field by a patch of woods.

Peggy and John had followed him, making hardly a sound. They felt the Little Black Clock wanted them to be very quiet.

After they had reached the field he sat down, and they sat down, too.

"There!" he said after a moment. "It's all right now."

"Why have you been so quiet?" John asked.

"I only turned the time back a very little bit," the Little Black Clock said. He had, you know, the magic power of being able to turn the time backward or forward when he took the children off for adventures.

"I didn't want to disturb any of them," he explained.

John and Peggy hadn't the slightest idea what he meant, but the Little Black Clock continued speaking.

"The members of the woodchuck family, the members of the prairie dog family, the frogs, the bears, and many, many others have gone to sleep for the winter, and I did not want to disturb them."

"When they go to bed for their winter sleep they do not wish to be awakened until the early spring, so I thought we would be very, very quiet. But they're all sound asleep by now, and some one is coming here to see us." And he caught the children's surprised glance.

"I arranged the meeting place. He's coming now! Do you see him?"

"Where?" the children asked, as they looked about them.

And just then the visitor appeared.

Ashby by the subsequent killing of his murderer, Houston Cooksey, 28, negro, and the arrest near Providence, Ky., of A. B. Cooksey, the other negro involved in the affair.

Ashby, a veteran police officer, was shot to death in a fight which had started as he and Patrolman S. A. DeMoss came upon the negroes after receiving calls complaining of their stopping and searching passersby.

Houston Cooksey was said to have obtained DeMoss's pistol and to have shot the chief as the latter was putting handcuffs on the other negro, after Ashby fell, witnesses reported, the negroes stood over his body, firing into it.

Houston Cooksey was traced to his home by a trail of blood and was shot to death with a shotgun by one of the members of the posse which discovered him. His brother when arrested, was taken to Henderson, Ky., for sleeping.

REV. R. J. BAMBER BRINGS INSPIRING MESSAGE AT UNION PRAYER MEETING

Rev. R. J. Bamber, pastor of the Eighth Street Christian church, brought an inspiring message to a small but appreciative congregation at the regular Saturday night prayer meeting in the Woodmen Hall last Saturday night on the subject, "And He Went to His Own Place."

The speaker brought out the fact that each individual has a place of "his own." Some have the prayer meeting, the Sunday school, the regular church service, while others have the gambling den, and like places.

"This hall should be full of folks tonight, but evidently they have something else to do. The churches of this city should be filled to overflowing on Sunday. But there will be many empty seats in all of them. What is the trouble? I can tell you; they all go to their own place."

Rev. Mr. Bamber appealed for a closer walk with Christ for Christians. A plea for those who do not know Him, or who are indifferent, to go to their real "place," at the feet of Jesus, the Saviour and King.

It was an interesting and inspiring message and each one present expressed the fact that it was well worth hearing the inclement weather to hear Rev. Mr. Bamber speak.

Attention Greenville Scouts.

There will be a short talk meeting tonight at the Methodist church at 7 o'clock of all Greenville Scouts. Dr. M. B. Massey, Chm.

Army Band Here for Concerts at Teachers College

A number of crs with representatives from the American Legion, the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, and the Merchants Association met the members of the United States Army Band at the station this morning and drove them up to the hotel. The flags are flying along Fifth street and the big flag in front of the administration building of the college is up. Mr. Cappel, the manager of the band, from Washington, is with them. Captain Stannard went to the Greenville High School soon after his arrival to meet with the band there.

Everything in readiness for the matinee this afternoon at three-thirty and for the concert this evening at eight-thirty.

The Confederate veterans have been invited to attend either one of the concerts they choose. Mrs. Spillman, of the U. D. C., will be on the lookout for the old soldiers.

The matinee and evening programs are very different.

Printed programs give explanations and short descriptions of the numbers that need explaining and Captain Stannard gives running comments whenever needed.

The band played last night at Fort Bragg and will go to Raleigh tomorrow.

Tickets are sold at the door and people are seated as they arrive, as reserved seats have not been sold and no seats have been sold in advance.

Birth Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Clark announce the birth of a daughter, on Sunday, November 24th, 1929.

"PEG O' MY HEART" TO BE PRESENTED AT HIGH SCHOOL

Tomorrow evening the High School play, "Peg O' My Heart," will be presented in the school auditorium by an excellent cast, thoroughly coached in their parts by Misses Hunter and Powell of the school faculty.

Running a casual eye over the cast, it is seen to promise much in the way of entertainment. Notice the possibilities:

Mrs. Chichester, Gladys Duval; Butler, J. D. Swain; Ethel, Mrs. Chichester's daughter, Mary Shaw Robeson; Alaric, her son, Alva Van Nortwick; Christian, Brent, Rufus Henderson; Peg, Frances Harvey; Montgomery, Hawkes, a lawyer; James Wilson; Maid, Elizabeth Kasey; Jerry, Peter A. Bynum.

Peg and Jerry, of course, have the leading parts, as the romantic young couple, and Frances Harvey and Pete Bynum have proved themselves able to carry them to the complete satisfaction of all. As Butler and maid, J. D. Swain and Elizabeth Kasey are a very interesting pair, and we would advise all prospective employers of household help to seize this chance to look their work over. Jimmy Wilson makes the most effective kind of a lawyer, at his most dignified, and the Chichester family of Gladys Duval and her children, Alva Van Nortwick and Mary Shaw Robeson, make an attractive group.

Incidentally, Frances Harvey prevents Mary Shaw Robeson from slipping with Rufus Henderson and all sorts of other undreamed of things occur. Under the direction of Mr. Robeson, will discourse sweet strains of music before and during the performance, and several choruses of 32 girls will appear in songs and dances in the course of the play. Agnes Gaskins and Louis Clark will sing the duet "Peg O' My Heart."

The length of the program makes a prompt start at 7:45 necessary, and it is hoped that all who plan to come will be sure of the early hour, as the management is planning to close the doors with the raising of the curtain, in order to safeguard the rights of the present audience.

Outline Programs For Local Literary Clubs

Early in October of each year the Literary Clubs of Greenville begin again their year's program of study. The Sans Souci Club sponsoring the movement asked each Literary Club to send into the newspaper a brief history of the club and their program for the current year in order that the public and each of the other clubs might know something of the line of study each was pursuing. The programs each furnished follows in the order of their organization:

The End of the Century Club.

The End of the Century Club was organized Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 18, 1899 at the home of Mrs. Harry Skinner, with the following charter members: Mesdames Harry Skinner, R. R. Cotten, J. L. Little, T. J. Jarvis, E. B. Ficklen, L. C. Arthur, W. H. Grimes, J. C. Jordan, with Mrs. R. R. Cotten elected the first president; Mrs. W. H. Grimes, vice-president; Mrs. E. B. Ficklen, treasurer; Mrs. J. L. Little, secretary.

It was unanimously agreed that Mrs. Skinner be requested to name the club, since having the honor of organizing it. The End of the Century Club was the name suggested by her, as most appropriate on account of the date being the close of the century.

It is unnecessary to add that it was a success from the beginning. First charity, then civic work, then establishing and maintaining a public library for the town soon engaged the activities of the club members.

The library, the club maintained with some slight assistance from the citizens of the town for ten years, and the first library fire occurred. The club members immediately started another with the hearty co-operation of the Sans Souci and Round Table clubs and later the Woman's Club. The town has taken the library over now and with the assistance of all the clubs is maintaining it. In the near future we shall have a beautiful fifty thousand dollar library building, given by a former citizen in memory of his father, which will be a credit to our town and at the same time repay us as club women for untiring efforts in the past.

With the co-operation of the other clubs of the town and county we donated to the loan fund of $2,400.00, which was established at East Carolina Teachers College. This fund was called the Pitt County Federation Loan Fund.

We also contributed yearly to the Sallie Southall Cotten Loan Fund. Whenever and wherever there has been a call for service this club has always generously responded. Besides this work we have striven to inform ourselves through our yearly programs. A comp of this year's program follows:

New Things in the World Today.

The latest in literature which includes: "Review of Recent Novels of Importance," "Outstanding Non-Fiction Book of the Year"

"Some Outstanding Southern Gardens."

Each year the club has pursued a definite course of study and read twenty of the latest books. The program for this year consists of miscellaneous subjects which have a definite interest for its members:

16. Southern Gardens.

17. Famous Inns and Taverns.

18. Historic Homes in North Carolina.

19. Famous Preachers and their Churches.

This club was organized as a literary and social club April 15, 1910, with twenty members. The present membership includes nine of the charter members, and the club is contemplating celebrating its twentieth anniversary in April, 1930.

The Round Table belongs to the State Federation of Women's Clubs and has assisted in various forms of club and community work.

It has contributed each year toward the upkeep of the Greenville Public Library, has sold its quota of Tuberculosis Stais and sent gifts to the soldiers at Oleen at Christmas and other times. It has contributed to Sallie Southall Cotten Loan Fund.

The program of study for 1929-30 is "Modern Literature" under the following subjects:

Modern Drama—Its Characteristics and Tendencies.

Literary Department of Greenville Woman's Club.

The Literary Department of the Greenville Woman's Club is one of the youngest of the local organizations, having been organized in the spring of 1915 with fifteen members.

At first the meetings were held with the different members in their homes but during the four succeeding years the membership increased until at the beginning of its fifth year the enrollment is forty-five. The bi-monthly meetings are now usually held at the club house.

The following chairmen are responsible to a large extent for this rapid development of the department: Mrs. W. H. Woolard 1925-26; Mrs. D. L. Mangum 1927-28; Mrs. E. F. Arnold, 1929.

Some of the activities engaged in other than those of a literary nature have been: Finding homes for visiting teachers attending district meetings and conventions held in this city; judging at fairs; the yearly contribution of the Mentor to the city library in the annual observance of Book Week.

The programs for each meeting of the department have been carefully worked out and have proved very interesting and informative.

A list of the yearly literary programs since the organization of the department is given below:

1925—Famous Men and Women.

1926—Good Books of 1924-25.

1927—Contemporary American Literature.

1928—Lectures on Travel. Reviews of books from Book of the Month Club and Literary Guild.

K. Fort as secretary and treasurer. There were ten meetings during the winter, most of them being devoted to the study of "Current Biography" which proved to be quite interesting and instructive.

In October, 1928, the wives of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College organized the "College Study Club," with Mrs. R. H. Wright as president; Mrs. C. L. Adams as vice-president; and Mrs. M. K. Fort as secretary and treasurer. There were ten meetings during the winter, most of them being devoted to the study of "Current Biography" which proved to be quite interesting and instructive.

At the close of the year it was decided to change the name of the club to "Teachers College Dames," being the name usually used by such organizations in other colleges. It was also decided by the club to have more meetings than the previous year and to have a part of them of a social nature. The hostesses for the social meetings may choose their own method of entertaining. The programs for the year are to be on current topics and articles of interest, and in order to be up-to-date the leaders will select their materials in the order in which they are to appear on the program.

The club will meet twice each month, the meetings to be held on Friday.

American Association of University Women.

The Greenville branch of the American Association of University Women is the youngest study club of Greenville. It is also the first organization of the A. A. U. W. in Eastern North Carolina, all of the other ten branches in North Carolina being in the central or western part of the state. The local organization is part of a national organization of 31,647 members. Membership may be obtained only by an approved degree from an accredited college or university.

The A. A. U. W. has for its aim the establishment and maintenance of high standards of educational research and fellowships, and directing educational work in the local branches.

tons of clothing and are going to start out with this idea firmly fixed in mind. Some cities have collected as much as four tons of old clothing, and Greenville Scouts believe they will be able to go just as good as the best.

Tuberculosis Christmas seals will go on sale immediately after Thanksgiving, members of the Woman's Club, who will have charge of the sales, stated today.
 It is the hope of the ladies to make the sales as large as possible this year and the public is being urged not to let a single letter or parcel leave the local postoffice without containing one of these seals.

Money derived from the sales will be devoted to sufferers of tuberculosis, one of the most dread diseases of the age. It is a cause that readily attracts attention of the generous man and woman who realize the responsibility which they owe to the more unfortunate part of the citizenship.

Watch for the date seals go on sale and supply yourself with enough to fill your needs during the holiday season. The tiny stamps carry a message of sympathy for humankind and readily impress the recipient of the package with your foresight and thought in behalf of humanity.

"Some of the farmers of this section actually go to town to buy the vegetables they use upon their own tables," a well-known agriculturist mentioned to the writer of this column today, discussing the need for a live-at-home program during the next several years.

"Conditions will never be what they should until the farmer gets away from such lax methods of farming. It is perfectly all right for him to confine his attention to the production of one, two, or three principal crops, but he should also give some thought to the things he uses at home. By a program of thrift, the cultivation of food crops, raising of chickens and hogs, and dairying this county in a few years would become truly one of the most prosperous sections of the country."

"We have been too interested in the raising of our principal crops and have not given enough time and attention to the things that really count for a living when the main crops fail to bring in the amount of money they should."
 "I shall be glad to see the day come when our farmers have their smokehouses filled with meat, and gardens filled with vegetables, and outhouses with enough feedstuff to provide for their stock during the fall and winter months."
 "Then and not until then shall I expect to see the wave of prosperity we have been hoping for over a period of years come to this county."

Arrangements are underway to make the Thanksgiving services of all churches one of the most outstanding in years.

Services this year will be held in the Eighth Street Church of Christ and the choir of that church will furnish a musical program of exceptional merit.
 Greenville and Pitt County people have lots of things to be thankful for this year and should attend the services in large numbers and return thanks for the blessing they have received.
 This should be made the outstanding service of the year as it is an occasion set aside specifically for the purpose of expressing gratitude for the property which we have enjoyed during the remainder of the year.

The custom was made extant by the Pilgrim Fathers when this great nation was a veritable wilderness, and the same spirit should dominate the hearts of our people today as that filling the hearts of the early settlers.

Farmers Sell Your TOBACCO IN GREENVILLE

Sales were somewhat lighter last week, totaling 3,663,962 pounds for an average price of $21.18 per hundred.

We are selling tobacco daily from practically every county in Eastern Carolina and the farmers say it is paying them to sell in Greenville, even though some of them travel at least 125 miles.

Those in position to absolutely know, say we are highest market and have keener buying competition than any market in the East.

Since Last Season—

Three of the warehouses have made large additions, which gives the market increased floor space of about two acres. Some of the factories have made enlargements to their buildings, installing additional redrying facilities and other equipment. The Greenville tobacco market is decidedly in better position to handle, daily, larger quantities of tobacco than ever before.

Tobacco Warehouses—

Greenville tobacco market has nine (9) large and modern brick warehouses with close to 14 acres floor space, sufficient to accommodate 2,225,000 lbs. of tobacco daily. These warehouses are managed by men of years of experience.

Buyers and Factories—

Greenville tobacco market has four (4) sets of buyers, representing all the important companies in the world, using bright tobacco. Nine (9) larger and modern tobacco factories are located here, additions having been made to several of them since last season, while one new plant has been built.

Roads and Locations—

Greenville tobacco market is located in the heart of Eastern North Carolina. Seven fine hard surfaced roads lead into Greenville. Tobacco growers living 125 miles from Greenville to tobacco market sell their tobacco in Greenville and return home same day.

Next Thursday is Thanksgiving Day. Between now and that time look about you for someone who has been less fortunate than you and do something for them to make their lot easier. In this way you will make the season happier for them and yourself.

A MERRIER CHRISTMAS.

The Post Office Department, in order to facilitate the handling of Christmas mail, has asked that business concerns in large centers suspend, so far as is possible, the mailing of quantities of circulars, catalogues, etc., from December 1* to 26.

If the public will co-operate to the extent of shopping early and mailing early it will provide a "merrier" Christmas for many an over-worked postal employe, messenger boy, clerk and business man or woman.

SUGGESTIONS FOR PREVENTING ACCIDENTS

The National Safety Congress states that, last year, 27,500 people were killed in automobile accidents, and recommends uniform traffic laws, standard traffic signs and a driver's license law in every state to eliminate unfit drivers from public streets and highways.

Our annual toll of deaths and injuries is harrowing proof of the inefficiency of our traffic and licensing ordinances. Thousands of reckless, incompetent and otherwise dangerous drivers crowd the highways, a menace to the life and property of every citizen.

It is unthinkable that a civilized nation, possessing more highways and automobiles than any of the world's great powers, should allow the reckless and incompetent driver to run rampant at the controls of a ton or more of metal moving with terrific force. Every citizen should realize, as he reads of automobile accidents in his newspaper, that he may be the next victim.

ABOUT TOWN

Inclement weather prevented the Boy Scouts from conducting their Charity Bundle Day Drive last Saturday, but officers indicated that the canvass of the city would be made during the early part of the week. The Scouts were plainly disappointed in not being able to carry out their work Saturday. Numbers of them gathered at the court house ready to begin canvassing, but the weather was so bad that officials declared it would be unwise to start work.

The public is urged to watch for the announcement regarding the new date for the campaign and to have their bundles ready so that the canvass may be completed as early as possible. The Scouts believe that they will be able to collect a few

Bridge 1,000 Feet In Air Will Span the Royal Gorge

Canon City, Colorado.—(AP)—The famous Royal Gorge of the Arkansas river, near here, is to be spanned by a suspension bridge which will be the highest in the world.

The Royal Gorge has been noted for its famous hanging bridge, one side of which is supported by trusses from the walls of the canyon. The hanging bridge was constructed in 1879, and pictures of it have been shown all over the world as an engineering curiosity.

The span of the new bridge will be 1,053 feet above the river. It will be 800 feet long, will have four towers, two on each side of the gorge, and will be supported by cables weighing 300 tons.

With the exception of the flooring, the entire construction will be of steel. A highway is being constructed on the south side to connect with a road on the north side.

The highest bridge in the world at the present time is in Southern France, with height of 485 feet. The highest bridge in the United States is that at Lee's Ferry, in the Grand Canyon. Its height is 464 feet. The Royal Gorge bridge will be more than twice as high as those engineering feats.

JUNK CAR AND "EXPERTS" CONDEMNED BY AUTO CLUB

New York.—(AP)—The two greatest pests of the highways, says the American Automobile Association, is the "buggy rider" and also the "expert" driver.

One insists upon a dilapidated lot of junk called a car to a stream of traffic and, ambling along at its top speed of 15 or 20 miles an hour, slows up the whole line.

The other is the "expert" driver who thinks he can handle a car so well that he does not have to exercise the ordinary precautions.

TAR HEEL PROF BEAT VIRGINIA THE FIRST TIME

Chapel Hill, Nov. 25.—No, sire, football ain't what it used to be. Now take in the old days—back in 1898, say. You played professors as ringers, and they weren't even ringers. You played the president even, if he could drive hard enough. Take Carolina, for example. In 1897 Carolina had just finished losing four straight games to Virginia.

Vernon Howell, professor of pharmacy, had been a mighty good football player at Wake Forest four years, so the team decided to elect Mr. Howell to membership. And out came the "prof" to join the bearded boys in their wedge formation antics and their bone crushing pranks.

The thing was being done in those days, and Virginia didn't think a thing of it when Professor Howell donned the togs for the 1897 game that has since become one of the south's oldest annual Thanksgiving classics.

The Cavaliers, in fact, accepted the odds and proceeded to met out another 12-0 licking to the Tar Heels, Professor, and all.

But it was a different story the next year. Professor Howell played the game with a broken nose and a finger (they were common then), and the Virginia players, tiring of seeing him in football togs for so many years, were going at him for all they were worth.

Professor Howell was tearing along himself, and when the game was over, and the Richmond internee had carried away the last casualty, Professor Howell's 50-yard run thru the whole Virginia team had won Carolina a 6-2 victory and broken the long losing streak.

Professor Howell had written his name in 41-point, streamer type across the role of the University's hero athletes—alongside Bill Folgers 52-yard run that beat Virginia in 1916, and Monk McDonald's 85-yard run from kickoff against State in 1922.

Virginia didn't even raise a howl. Football was really the iron man's game then. You played whom you wanted. You weren't bothered with conferences and rules et cetera. You didn't quit when you got a broken finger or nose, but sought to pay your foe in specie.

Back home, Professor Howell was as popular as any instructor on the campus.

Little Change in Grid Team Standing

The six battles of last week's abbreviated football program for teams of the two Carolinas made little change in the scoring sandings or teams or players.

Duke's 20-0 victory over Wake Forest sent the Blue Devils into second place in North Carolina, 17 points ahead of Elon. Godfrey Duke fullback, also climbed into undisputed fourth place in individual scoring in the State.

Clemson already high scorer in South Carolina, boosted its total 13 points while holding the Citadel scoreless. The Erskin Seceaders, however, climbed a bit in their race to overtake the Tigers by rolling up 32 points against Lenoir-Rhyne Friday.

Parkinson, Erskin back, got two touchdowns and maintained his long lead over scores in both States. McMillan, Tiger back, added a touchdown to his total and got a firm hold on second place in individual scoring. Boineau kicked an extra point for South Carolina against Florida and took undisputed possession of third place.

The seven points the Gamecocks got against the Alligators also served to lift them above the Citadel in team scoring.

Wake Forest failed to dent the scoring columns after two attempts, against Presbyterian and Duke.

GRID TEAMS PREPARE FOR THANKSGIVING

Work of polishing up their football machines for Thanksgiving Day battles which for most of them will be the final offensives of the 1929 gridiron wars today occupied coaches of the 18 teams of the Carolinas which will take part in ten clashes Thursday.

With Wednesday down on the books for tapering off, today's practice with that of tomorrow offered the last chance to touch up the flaws developed in the fast dying campaigns.

Down at Chapel Hill, where the Tar Heels of the University of North Carolina prepared for their traditional battle with an ancient foe, the University of Virginia. Coach Chuck Collins speculated upon whether his backs could stop Virginia's versatile air attack and crack the heavy Cavaliers' line.

While the Virginia-North Carolina battle, because of the long rivalry of the institutions, headlines the turkey day menu, two important state battles and a host of lesser clashes are numbered among the contests set for Thursday.

Erskin, with a clean slate behind it in South Carolina, hopes to hurdle Furman and gain undisputed Palmetto state honors.

Duke, conqueror of North Carolina State and Wake Forest, needs a victory over Davidson to enter a December 7 battle with North Carolina, with a flawless state record.

Duke beats Davidson, the Blue Devils can win the undisputed State championship by taking the Tar Heels into camp.

South Carolina teams engage in three battles having S. I. A. A. backing. Wofford plays the Citadel at Charleston, Erskin journeys to Tampa, Fla., to take on Southern and Newberry meets Presbyterian at Canton.

Members of the "little six" in North Carolina are down for settlement of two disputes among themselves. Elon will pit its line-crushing fullback, Pete Williams, against Lenoir-Rhyne's forward wall at Lenoir while the Catawba Indians will to their best to end a none too successful season with a victory over Atlantic Christian at Salisbury.

Gu Ford will invade Lynchburg, Va., for a crack at the Lynchburg hornets. Wake Forest has the Mercer Bears scheduled for Asheville.

State got off to a good start against Villa Nova with an early touchdown and a six-point lead, but tumbled 24 to 6. The Alligators found the going against the Gamecocks tough, but worked out a 20-6 victory.

Both State and South Carolina are idle Thursday, but meet at Raleigh next Saturday.

CAR ONCE DANGEROUS; NOW IT'S A CARRIAGE

Detroit—(AP)—When President Roosevelt visited Detroit some 25 years ago he was offered the use of an automobile but the secret service men vetoed the arrangement.

"Something might happen to the machine," they said.

Came President Hoover in 1922 and a suggestion that he ride in one of the old-fashioned carriages that are part of the early American village at Dearborn where the Edison light jubilee ceremonies were held.

Again from the secret service men:

"Something might happen; the horses might become frightened by an automobile."

So the President rode in an automobile.

Road Experiment

San Francisco—(AP)—As an experiment, Tulare county will designate north and south roads by numbers, east and west roads by letters, and intersecting roads by names of flowers.

TWO GAMES HOLD STAGE THRU DIXIE

Atlanta, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Two games stand out on the Thanksgiving Day program in the southern conference which otherwise will be featured by the annual meetings of traditional and sectional rivals.

Championship hopes of two unbeaten eleven—Tennessee and Tulane—will be at stake in the games. These teams will play with Kentucky at Lexington, Ky., and Louisiana State and wind up its season with a clean record, but much tougher going home for Kentucky.

Coach Bob Neyland's Vols must not only beat the strong Kentucky Indians to continue in the running, but also must humble South Carolina which it meets on December 7. It is not improbable that this game will decide the championship, one way or the other.

Lewance meets Vanderbilt at Nashville in the oldest football game in the south. North Carolina and Virginia are assured of a capacity crowd of 30,000 when they clash at Chapel Hill. Virginia Poly and Virginia Military, two more local rivals, continue their feud at Roanoke, Va.

Alabama meets Georgia at Birmingham in another annual feud. It will be Alabama's final game of the year. Mississippi A. and M. and Mississippi also will ring down the 1929 curtain at Oxford, Miss., and Florida at Washington Lee will end its five-year series at Jacksonville.

This will be Washington and Lee's last game, but Florida will go into action one more time, in an inter-sectional battle with the University of Oregon at Miami the following week.

Clemson and Furman meet at Clemson College in the big game of the day for South Carolina fans and Duke will try to keep its North Carolina state clea against Davidson. Maryland Western Maryland play at Baltimore.

A hectic holiday is in prospect for Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association teams. Four of the leading contenders face teams inside the association which they must humble or fade out of the picture.

Chattanooga, at present leading the undefeated pack with five straight wins, goes up against Oglethorpe. Citadel with four association wins plays Wofford, Springhill and Centre, each with a string of three victories, and no defeats, meet Union of Tennessee and Georgetown at Kentucky.

Other S. I. A. A. games will send Erskin against Southern, Mississippi College against Southwestern, Howard against Miami, Transylvania against Kentucky Wesleyan, Newberry against Presbyterian and Louisiana Normal against Southwestern Louisiana.

The world's largest electric generating plant, near Chicago, develops 278,320 horsepower.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET N. Y. STOCK LIST

New York, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 11 to 13 points today in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and covering by near month's shorts. According to early estimates the first December notices amounted to about 85,000 bales, but there appeared to be a good demand for the December contracts which naturally helped the tone of the general list.

Prices sagged off a few points right after the opening when New Orleans was relatively easy and sent some selling orders here but the offerings were well enough taken to maintain a steady undertone and active months were 8 to 10 points net higher at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables said that some hedging had been absorbed by Continental buying and trade calling and also reported a broadening demand for cotton cloths with a fair business pending for India.

New York, Nov. 25.—Stock showed a distinctly reactionary tendency today as five hour sessions were resumed. Prices of many leading stocks broke 2 to nearly 12 points during the morning, but brisk recoveries took place in many cases when it became apparent that the decline was not causing any extensive liquidation of either investment or speculative holdings. Trading was relatively dull. With the ticker keeping fairly well abreast of the market.

Call money renewed unchanged at 4 1/2 per cent, but the rate again shaded in the outside market. An easy undertone developed in other monetary markets, business news generally was favorable. Wall Street was pleased at the response to President Hoover's efforts to stimulate business, and to reports that pre-holiday trade in the New York department stores was in large volume.

Early selling was believed to represent profit taking by traders who had accumulated stocks in the early stages of last week's advance, and showed a disposition to take their profits before the beginning of the our day holiday this week. Some experimental short selling to test the character of the bids in the market also was in evidence, but with the stock exchange still demanding daily statements of short positions from its members, such a thing was rather cautious in character.

Copper shares were liquidated after freely on reports that some independent producers were offering the red metal below the official price of 18 cents a pound. Anaconda copper dropped 4 points, American smelting 8 Kennecott 2 1/2 and several others a point or more.

General electric dropped 11 points and snapped back 9 1/2 before it met a fresh flood of offerings. Airushion dropped 7 1/2 points, U. S. industrial Alcohol 8 1/2, Standard and Electric 8, A. M. Byers 7 and Johns Manville 6 but all regained 4 points or more on the day of selling pressure, only to encounter renewed selling in mid-afternoon. Detroit Edison fell back 11 3/4. National Cash Register, Westinghouse Electric, Simmons Co. American and Foreign Power and American Machine and Caudy all sold down 3 points or more.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Despite a big decrease of 4,302,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply wheat values here tended downward today. Returns in wheat prices at Liverpool and in stock exchange quotations on this side of the Atlantic had a depressing effect, although today's curtailment of the domestic wheat visible supply showed a reduction of nearly 13,000,000 bushels from the extremely high point, reached some weeks ago. The total United States visible supply, however, was still approximately 52,000,000 bushels more than last year.

Call money renewed unchanged at 4 1/2 per cent, but the rate again shaded in the outside market. An easy undertone developed in other monetary markets, business news generally was favorable. Wall Street was pleased at the response to President Hoover's efforts to stimulate business, and to reports that pre-holiday trade in the New York department stores was in large volume.

Early selling was believed to represent profit taking by traders who had accumulated stocks in the early stages of last week's advance, and showed a disposition to take their profits before the beginning of the our day holiday this week. Some experimental short selling to test the character of the bids in the market also was in evidence, but with the stock exchange still demanding daily statements of short positions from its members, such a thing was rather cautious in character.

Copper shares were liquidated after freely on reports that some independent producers were offering the red metal below the official price of 18 cents a pound. Anaconda copper dropped 4 points, American smelting 8 Kennecott 2 1/2 and several others a point or more.

General electric dropped 11 points and snapped back 9 1/2 before it met a fresh flood of offerings. Airushion dropped 7 1/2 points, U. S. industrial Alcohol 8 1/2, Standard and Electric 8, A. M. Byers 7 and Johns Manville 6 but all regained 4 points or more on the day of selling pressure, only to encounter renewed selling in mid-afternoon. Detroit Edison fell back 11 3/4. National Cash Register, Westinghouse Electric, Simmons Co. American and Foreign Power and American Machine and Caudy all sold down 3 points or more.

FARM HEADS WILL CONFER WITH HOOVER

Representatives Meet With Secretary Hyde Before Afternoon Conference

Washington, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Before meeting with the president today in the last of the white house conferences on business progress, heads of the major farm organizations of the country were in conference during the forenoon with Secretary Hyde at the department of agriculture.

The secretary was able to outline many of the details of the situation to the farm leaders with particular attention to export possibilities as a means of disposing of the surplus crops and thus increasing the funds available to the farmers in preparation for the next season. Among those who came here in response to the president's invitation were Louis J. Tabor, of the National Farmers Union, and Samuel H. Thompson of the farm bureau federation.

In reply to the chief executive's request for cooperation to promote business progress and prevent unemployment an enormous program of public works was outlined to Mr. Hoover today by the governors of a number of states in telegrams received at the white house.

Upon reaching his office in the early forenoon Mr. Hoover found awaiting him messages from the governors of seventeen states which had been received over the weekend. A number of others came in during the day.

Of particular significance to today's gathering was a discussion of plans for increasing agricultural exports, a project that Mr. Hoover has given much attention in the course of his general consideration of the farm problem and which he accorded an important place in his present program.

In making the first announcement of his plans, the president placed the desirability of expanded foreign trade in farm products beside that of increased construction activities of both a private and governmental nature which he has already taken steps to assure.

Between 150 and 200 prominent business men, representing many phases of industrial and commercial enterprise are to attend a meeting to be held December 5 under the auspices of the United States Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of formulating a permanent committee to see that the economic wheels of the nation are kept moving smoothly and evenly at all times.

The establishment of such a body was recommended by the group of industrial leaders which met with Mr. Hoover last week and was undertaken by Julius Barnes, chairman of the board of directors of the chamber, who participated in the white house conference.

In the letter of invitation to the December 5 meeting, Mr. Barnes declared that President Hoover will open the session with an informal address discussing the purpose and aims of his business progress program and acquaint those present with the previous accomplishments of his campaign for economic stabilization.

The letter, signed by Barnes and William Butterworth, president of the chamber, was prepared for transmittal today. It asserted that Mr. Hoover's conferences of last week showed a business situation "that has no fundamental weakness." The "absence of weak factors and the presence of strong ones" it said, are a "tribute to the high standards and the wise practices of American business men."

The problem now to be solved "the letter continued, is 'fortunately not one of starting a stalled machine, but of facilitating a present momentum on which employment and earnings and buying power have arisen to high levels.'"

In conclusion, the letter asked the businessmen invited to the conference for an analysis of the strong points of their respective industries.
