GOV. GARDNER URGES BETTER CROPS IN N. C.

Chief Executive Addresses Gathering of Farmers at Tarboro Over the Radio

Raleigh, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Gov. O. Max Gardner, speaking by radio from station WPTF here especially to a gathering of Edgecombe county farmers in the courthouse at Tarboro, this afternoon counseled the agriculturists to make plans now for their 1930 crops so that they can increase production and plant only the best crops for them to plant.

The experience of speaking over radio particularly to a special group of one definite place was a unique one for the governor. "I am delighted to be with you in Tarboro," he said. "I have to reach over 100 miles to shake hands."

Governor Gardner, terming Edgecombe county and five counties around it the heart and center of the agricultural life of the state, said that in discussing the problems of the county he at the same time discussed the principal agricultural problems of the state as a whole.

A profitable, prosperous agricultural condition in Eastern North Carolina was predicted by the governor, maybe not next year or within five years, he said, but sure to come if any section of the United States continues to make money out of farming.

"Whether farming is to bring a profit or loss to you in 1930 will be determined in no small measure by the plans you make for next year's work," Governor Gardner said. "In my opinion the success of Eastern North Carolina agriculture will depend on what is considered in the plans you make for next year."

Edgecombe, Halifax, Martin, Pitt, Wilson, and Bladen counties form the richest agricultural region of North Carolina, he said. Figures showing the rank of the counties in raising of different crops and pigs were cited to show their agricultural richness. The six counties in 1928 raised 16 per cent of the crops of the entire state.

The farmers were advised not to stop cash crop farming but to raise other "live at home" crops. Too many farmers are raising practically nothing but tobacco and cotton, Governor Gardner continued. "I think these sections which produce only primary goods or raw products and market them as raw products can never expect a large margin of profit for their labor." The raising of cotton turning it into bolls was cited as an example of carrying a crop beyond the raw stage.

The lack of milk cows in the six counties, where there is barely more than one cow for each three farms, was deplored by the governor.

"My deepest sympathy goes out to those farmers who today, with winter on hand and with opportunity gone for the year, are spending their little cotton and tobacco money for bread, meat, butter, molasses and other food stuffs which they could have produced as easily as not," the governor continued.

"There are farmers hungry in North Carolina today who could have a sufficiency had they not put their entire and complete dependence in tobacco and cotton. Tobacco and cotton to be sure, but at the same time take some thought for the yearnings of a man's innards. The farmer who lives at home are the farmers who have surplus from their tobacco and cotton crops after their year's bills are paid and the state which lives at home is the state which has some cash at the end of the year for savings deposits and for investment in business and industry."

To increase production without increase in cost of production, the farmers were urged to adopt the governor's plan for use of pure bred seed and stock. He also counseled that the farmers benefit themselves of available agricultural cooperative bodies, and that the banker, time merchant, fertilizer dealer and farmer come together for the good of each and of the state and work out their problems.

The governor closed his address with a plea for saving part of each year's earnings by the farmers and its reinvestment. He cited this year's $85,000 tax reduction in Edgecombe county as an evidence of practical business leadership in government, which should be an example for individual spenders if the saving continues to be accompanied by efficient economical business practices.

Five Killed.

London, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Five persons were killed and 30 injured when a motor bus collided last night with a street car at Enfield, Middlesex. Four of the victims were women.

Grundy Allowed To Take Oath Of Office Despite Efforts Made To Bar Him

Washington, Dec. 12.—(AP)—A resolution to deny Joseph R. Grundy, of Pennsylvania, the seat in the Senate of the rejected William S. Vare awaited him upon his arrival at the capitol today but the Senate was ready to let him take the oath of office pending a decision on the contest.

Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, entered the Senate chamber with a resolution to exclude Grundy on account of his participation in the $1,800,000 primary campaign of the ticket on which Governor Fisher of Pennsylvania, was nominated in 1926.

Nye, however, said he would not stand in the way of Grundy receiving the oath of office. He asserted he wanted the credentials of the Pennsylvania appointee and his resolution referred to the elections committee for immediate consideration.

Most of those who were prominent in the fight against Vare, could not find valid objection to seating Grundy. His appointment they regarded as entirely legal, constitutional and one that must be honored. From all indications, Grundy had been devotedly loyal to the advancement of the Republican party in both state and nation to remain quietly in the background, word came with the announcement of his appointment that he would be a candidate for election to the Senate in the primaries to be held in Pennsylvania next spring. Vare also will be a candidate and it is possible that former Governor Gifford Pinchot may enter the contest.

Whenever tariff legislation has been pending in Congress, Grundy with his shock of white hair and easy-going geniality has been a familiar figure at the capitol. He is known variously as "Old Joe," "Uncle Joe," and sometimes as "The high priest of tariff protection," depending upon the tariff views of the legislators supplying the pseudonym.

Just recently, testimony given before the Caraway lobby investigating committee brought him a prominent place in the headlines. He told his senatorial inquirers that it was a matter of complete indifference whether or not he was called a "lobbyist," and said he held the tariff question next to religion. Then, he astonished the committee with an assertion that some southern and western states were "backward" and should "talk damned small" on questions on national revenue legislation.

FINISH PLANS FOR LEGION'S CHARITY BALL

Plans have been completed for the American Legion "Charity Ball" to be staged in this city on the night of Friday, December 20th, members of the dance committee stated today.

The plan is to call for one of the most colorful dances ever before held here and due to the fact that the affair is staged principally for the purpose of raising funds for the poor, it is expected hundreds of people would be in attendance.

The dance will be held in Gorman's warehouse. The space set aside for the dance will be brilliantly decorated, and special provisions will be made for seating the many spectators expected to be in attendance. A gaily festooned wall will be erected around the dance space to insure warmth for the dancers and spectators, and hundreds of Japanese lanterns and decorations in keeping with the holiday season will be suspended from the rafters of the building. It will be a scene of beauty and splendor and one long to be remembered by those in attendance.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Dun-Talfer Recording Orchestra, just back from a successful concert season at St. Louis and other large cities. It is the first time this orchestra has made its appearance in this part of the state, and it is expected this will be a big drawing card in itself.

The entire proceeds of the dance will be turned over to the Merchants Association for use in connection with its Christmas fund for the poor. It is the first time an effort has been made to raise money for the poor in this way, and Legion members hope the occasion will be a great success.

Railway Employee Suicides in S. C.

Columbia, S. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—After calling at a local newspaper office two weeks ago and notifying reporters that he intended killing himself, M. B. Neely, 33, railway employee, shot himself at his home here last night and died instantly.

When Neely told newspapermen he intended killing himself they called some of his friends and they dissuaded him from taking his life. Last night, however, members of his family had left the city and he carried out his threat.

Neighbors who heard the shot notified police who found Neely's body a wound over the heart and a discharged shotgun on the floor nearby.

STATE FRESHMEN TO CONTINUE RED CAPS

Raleigh, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Freshmen at North Carolina State College will continue to wear the red, close-fitting caps which have marked off first-year men at the institution since 1907. By a vote of 514 to 499 the student body yesterday voted down a proposal from the freshmen that the caps be abolished. Results of the vote were announced last night.

CONTRACT LET FOR ERECTION NEW LIBRARY

John W. Hudson of Raleigh Successful Bidder for the General Contract

Contract for erection of the $50,000 Sheppard Memorial Library was awarded by the building committee at the city hall yesterday afternoon. John W. Hudson of Raleigh was the successful bidder for the general contract. Contract was also awarded for plumbing and heating, electric wiring and installation of fixtures. The total amount of the bid was given at $49,884.55.

Work on the new structure, the gift of Mr. Harper J. Sheppard, of Hanover, Pa., will begin as soon as material can be placed on the library site on Evans street. The contract called for completion of the job by May 1st 1930.

The present library building will be moved over to one side of the lot to make way for the beginning of work on the new structure. It was said today. This will in no way interfere with the regular operation to the library and patrons may continue to visit the old building whenever they desire.

Contracts were awarded to the following bidders yesterday: Harris Hardware company, Washington, plumbing and heating; Kingston Electric company, electric wiring; Art Metal Construction company, Jamestown, N. Y., steel bookstacks; C. W. Yates, Wilmington, agents for the Globe-Wernicke company, Cincinnati, movable furniture.

Members of the building committee expressed appreciation of the many courtesies extended to them by the citizenship while plans for the building were being arranged. They said they felt deeply indebted for the kindness shown on every side, and felt sure this had been instrumental in greatly expediting the awarding of the contracts yesterday.

THREE KILLED IN TEXAS

Wichita Falls, Tex., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Three men were killed here today in a fire that destroyed the Anker hotel, a three-story brick structure.

Tells Senate Committee Activities Of Cotton Men Did Not Cause Low Prices

Washington, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Opening its investigation of cotton trading on the New York, Chicago and New Orleans exchanges, a Senate agricultural sub-committee today heard Gardner H. Miller, president of the cotton exchange, testify that activities on the exchange were not responsible for the low price for cotton in recent months. The first witness, asserted that this year's price level had been a "true reflection" of the law of supply and demand.

The depressed price, he said, was caused by a large world production combined with rapid marketing of the domestic crop at a time when the spinning industry was depressed.

"It is true," he added, "that the average price of American cotton in the last ten years has been above 21 cents a pound. In fact, the average price of middling upland spot cotton at New Orleans in the ten years from August 1, 1919 to July 31, 1929, was 22.66 cents a pound.

"But it is equally true—and this is the controlling fact in the situation—that present supply and demand conditions in the world cotton trade are not by any means equal to the average of the last ten years.

Supply and demand conditions at the present time are so far from the ten year average that no commodity would expect cotton to command the ten year average price.

"In the last ten years, the average domestic price has been 12,707,093 bales," Miller went on. "This year, according to the government report, the crop is between 14,750,000 and 15,000,000 bales. In the last ten years, the average annual production of foreign cotton has been approximately 9,070,000 bales.

"This year, the prospects are that the total foreign crop will be approximately 14,200,000. In the past ten years, the average index number of commodity prices in the United States, taking average prices in 1926 as 100, has been 103.3—according to the all-commodity index of the bureau of labor statistics.

London Bank Rate Cut to Five Cents

London, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The bank rate today was reduced from five and one half to five per cent.

The reduction of half of one per cent in the bank rate sprang from improvement in the monetary situation brought about mainly by the inflow of gold and the sharp appreciation of the sterling exchange on New York which it is thought will be followed by an early movement of gold from the United States to this country.

The recent shipments of gold from South Africa and Australia to Great Britain and the check on the drain to France had so eased the situation that the reduction had been expected.

Yesterday's gold inflow to the bank had a net gain on the week of $3,250,000 to the bank stock and with rumors in the market that gold already was engaged in New York for London paved the way for a further downward movement in the bank's rate. The stock market immediately quoted higher prices for giltedge.

REBELS FAIL IN FIGHT AT CANTON GATE

Concern Felt for Safety of Japanese Subjects in the Manchuli District

Shanghai, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Reports of a Nationalist victory over Southern rebels in Canton shared wide interest here today with information that the government is making strong efforts toward conciliation of rebellious factions in other areas where the fighting has slackened. A message from Canton this morning asserted that yesterday's victory by government forces over the rebelling "Ironsides" division just outside the city was much greater than at first believed. An attack by Kwangsi rebels along the West river also was repulsed, said the report.

The message said it was believed that fully half the attacking "Ironsides" force was included in the casualties or among the captured.

Nine Killed In Rioting At Auburn N. Y. Prison; Troops On Guard Today

Auburn, N. Y., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Three hundred armed men patrolled the walls and corridors of Auburn prison today after a day of rioting in which eight convicts and the head keeper were killed.

The outbreak, the second within five months, collapsed when state police in a spectacular dash rescued Warden Edgar S. Jennings and seven guards held as hostages by the rioters. Jennings was rendered unconscious by a blow from the butt of one of the convict's guns during the rescue.

The dead: Principal keeper, George A. Durnford; Perry Johnson, sentenced to life imprisonment from Broome county.

Alex Tchouka, sentenced to life imprisonment from Erie county; Steve Pawlak, sentenced to life imprisonment from Erie county; Stephen Sprague, sentenced to 15 to 20 years, Erie county; Duke J. Donnell, serving two sentences, 25 to 30 years and 5 to 10 years, of Queens county; Henry Sullivan, serving 20 to 21 years with an additional seven years for escaping from Auburn last March. Erie county; Ernest Pavasi, sentenced to 6 years from Kings county; James Bianchi.

These of the rioters who did not die in the hall of police and guard bullets today faced charges of murder. Dr. Raymond F. Kieb, state commissioner of correction, said they undoubtedly would be hanged inasmuch as they were implicated in the killing during the commission of a felony—attempting to escape from a prison. Conviction on this count, he said, meant death.

The riot was led by 15 or 20 of the more than 1,500 prisoners confined within the prison walls. They controlled the prison for more than five hours, before the spectacular dash of the troops at 5:30 p. m. saved the day. Warden Jennings himself credited the rescue to the outstanding bravery of one of the state policemen.

Chaos in the cell blocks windows were shattered by bullets in the dash fighting and a night spent in a cold prison was believed today to have chilled the ardor of any prisoner with a desire to attempt another break for liberty.

The rioting started about 11 a. m. when Warden Jennings went into the heart of the prison to investigate a report that "something was doing." He was met by a convict. (Continued on page eight)

THIS CITY TO BE ON THE AIR THIS EVENING

Program to Be Rendered From Raleigh Radio Broadcasting Station at 6:45

Facts in connection with Greenville "the principal shopping center of Eastern North Carolina," will be broadcast from the radio station at Raleigh tonight at 6:45 o'clock, according to information given out this morning.

The facts will be presented over the air by C. B. Rowlett, secretary of the Merchants Association, who has prepared some convincing material about this city and locality. His talk, however, will be confined almost exclusively to the trade advantages of the city, and will show why the city claims the distinction of being the principal shopping center of the state.

Before leaving for Raleigh this afternoon, Mr. Rowlett stated that a slight change had been made in the Greenville program. It was thought that a local quartet would be able to present two song numbers at the beginning and end of the program, but owing to the fact that this plan could not be followed the songs will be rendered by a quartet composed by Raleigh singers.

Greenville people were urged to "tune in" on Raleigh tonight, and hear Mr. Rowlett tell the world something about the capital of the greatest bright leaf producing county in the world, and the principal shopping center of Eastern Carolina.

It will be the first time that an entire program has been given over to Greenville, and people from many sections of the country, interested in the rapid strides of the community, are expected to listen in during the fifteen minutes the program is in progress.

Lack of Funds Will Prevent Tax Reduction

Washington, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Undersecretary Mills said today insufficient funds would prevent the treasury from approving the suggestion by Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, for a reduction from 12 1/2 to 10 per cent in the capital gain tax although he said, though such a reduction would be the "right thing to do."

The under-secretary asserted that at present, sufficient income to enable such a reduction was not in sight.

TWO MEN TELL OF RIOTING AT MARION MILL

Witnesses at Burnsville Say Deputy Sheriff Fired Into Crowd of Workers

Burnsville, N. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Two witnesses at the trial today of eight deputy sheriffs charged with the deaths of six textile strikers at Marion, N. C., said Bill Twigg, one of the deputies, held a gun in each hand and fired into a crowd of workers a they fled from tear gas bombs released by the officers.

A graphic picture of the early morning battle in front of the Marion Manufacturing company mill October 2, when officers clashed with striking mill workers, was painted by witnesses today. W. S. Minish and Tom Patten said they saw Twigg, a red-haired man of slight build, crouched down on the ground behind a wire fence, firing two pistols at the strikers as they ran down the road.

"The crowd was running, their backs to the mill gate, where the officers were standing," Minish said. "Twigg had a gun in both hands, firing first one pistol and then the other."

Patten said as fire came from the mill gates, men in the crowd would drop on the road. "Some of them tried to crawl off, one man, Randolph Hall, was shot. He ran as far as the corner of the mill fence and fell. Mr. Sam Vickers got nearly to the road before he fell."

Twigg and the other defendants, who are on trial in this mountain village, on a charge of venue from Marion, in McDowell county, Dave Jarrett, W. A. Fender, Taylor Greene, James Owens, Charles Tate Broad Robins and Robert Ward, were named by state witnesses today as the officers who fired into the crowd.

Mrs. Pearl Mill and Mrs. Addie Miller, who lived at the mill, said they saw the battle. Mrs. Mills from the back porch of her house. Mrs. Holler said she and her husband, who had been in the mill at work during the night, came out at 3 o'clock and sat in their car parked near the mill gate.

She testified she became ill during the night and left her work to go to the department of the mill where her husband was at work. When they left the mill, they lingered at the gate.

"I couldn't say who did the shooting, it looked like they all were shooting. The officers were in the gate and the firing came from there. One shot hit the radiator of the car, another one cut my raincoat and another hit me on my hand and cut my coat sleeve."

John Holler, her husband, was asked by defense counsel: "With a sick wife, and after a night of work in the mill, why didn't you go home and go to bed when you got off from work?"

"My wife wanted to stay and see who went in to go to work," Holler said. Holler said he was not on strike at the time of the October 2 disturbance.

Dave Mills, a striker, said that Jarrett, one of the defendants, had struck Luther Bryson, one of the men killed during the disorder, on the head with a pistol. Bryson, on cross examination, said he did not see a knife in Bryson's hand. The witness said he had been indicted in McDowell county for rioting.

"They indicted you for rioting, didn't they?" State's counsel asked. Mills said, "Yes, sir."

License Bureaus Can Not Charge for Application

Raleigh, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Revenue Commissioner Allen J. Maxwell today was investigating reports which had come to him to the effect that branch managers of the Carolina Motor club, who have been engaged by the Revenue Department to help distribute automobile license tags, are charging a fee for filling out license application blanks for motorists who lost the application blanks mailed to them from the Department in Raleigh.

Deputy Commissioner Stedman Thompson said today that he had been apprised on the reports of the fee charged. The branch managers, he said, had no legal right to make the charge so far as he knew, adding that the State Avenue Department allows the Carolina Motor club ten cents for every plate it sells. The branch manager, or some of them, according to reports, charge a fee of 25 cents for filling out application blanks for motorists who have lost their cards.

The Revenue Department will put the 1930 automobile plates on sale at 48 branch offices throughout the state on next Monday morning. Most of these branch offices are operated by the motor club.

MURDERER ESCAPES FROM PRISON FARM

Dieta, slayer last March of Policeman J. C. Kelly of Southern Pines, escaped from the Caledonia farm of state's prison before daybreak this morning and was being sought by a posse with bloodhounds this afternoon.

Dieta climbed the high wire fence at the prison camp and got away in the darkness. He was missed within a very few minutes, state's prison officials said, and guards with dogs began trailing him. A report during the morning from the prison camp said that it was believed the escaped man would be caught.

Dieta killed Policeman Kelly and then escaped. He was caught six weeks later in Banger, Me., and returned to Moore county for trial. He was convicted of second degree murder and entered state's prison in May to serve 25 to 30 years.

State's prison officials also announced today that M. Wood, Cherokee county man who entered prison in April 1929 to serve one and a half to three years for forgery, had been declared an escaped convict. Wood was granted a temporary parole for 10 days on December 10 so that he could go to his home where a member of his family was sick. He had not returned to the prison this afternoon.

Stores Asked TO OPEN NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Merchants Association Night Sessions for Holiday Season

Members of the Greenville Merchants Association last night recommended that city stores begin opening next Monday night to take care of the holiday shoppers. This will afford the shoppers one week and two days in which to do their Christmas shopping, and to some extent eliminate the rush of Christmas week.

Virtually all of the leading stores of the city observed certain hours at night last year, and it was stated that good results were obtained from the plan.

The night openings will make it possible for hundreds of people to shop early instead of having to wait until the last minute. People who work all day have little time for shopping except at night, and the night openings will enable them to get an early start this season and be practically up with the gift program when the holiday season rolls around.

Sticks of the various merchants are more extensive this year than ever before, and the public has been urged to shop as early as possible in order to be able to get the pick of the Christmas offerings. The gifts, however, afford such a wide range that anybody should be able to supply his wants even up to the last minute.

METHODISTS HEAR BISHOPS AT RALEIGH

General Missionary Council to Conclude Sessions at Capital Today

Raleigh, Dec. 12. — (AP) — The General Missionary Council of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, today entered its last day's sessions here and heard Bishops U. V. W. Darlington and W. A. Candler discuss their mission fields with the principal address of the morning being delivered by Dr. Forney Hutchinson of Oklahoma City and other speakers being Dr. J. W. Moore, of High Point and E. C. Peters, president of Paine College, Augusta.

This afternoon the city for next year's meeting was to be selected and detail business of the council wound up at a business meeting. Meridian, Miss., was expected to invite the conference for next year.

Dr. Moore discussed "The Large Church and Missions" this morning and was followed by Dr. Hutchinson, who spoke on "The Free Will Offering."

Bishop Candler, who is senior member of Episcopal College of the church in point of service, talked on Cuba, and Bishop Darlington on Europe.

The bishops who have been attending the missionary conference left this afternoon for Birmingham to attend the mid-winter meeting of the College of Bishops December 13-16.

Dr. J. M. Rowland, of Richmond, editor of the Richmond Christian Advocate, was yesterday elected president of the Southern Methodist Press Association, to succeed Dr. A. C. Miller, of Little Rock. Dr. M. E. Lazenby of Birmingham was named vice-president and Dr. A. M. Pierce, of Atlanta, was selected secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Hutchinson declared that it is a pastor's duty to shear the sheep as well as shepherd the flock, as he spoke on "The Free Will Offering." His address was a plea for continuance of the present free will campaign for one million dollars for missionary maintenance authorized by the 1928 general conference. The idea of this movement, he said, must be sold to the entire church organization, from the general conference itself, the supreme tribunal, to the pastor and member in the pew.

This vital cause must be sold to the church at large," Dr. Hutchinson said. "The ministry as a whole is not sold on the cause; some do not care; others are afraid.

"In fact, in my opinion, the greatest need of the ministry is a baptism of courage." The speaker declared, as he charged ministers, because they have been criticized and browbeaten until they have developed an inferiority complex, with "being afraid of Biblical criticism, afraid of science, politics, business, money and even bishops and presiding elders."

"We need to go forth with the trend of conquerors and with the courage of lions," Dr. Hutchinson said. "The devil will score a great victory over the church if he can make the ministry hesitant and timorous."

Junior Order and Red Men to Put On Entertainment Here

Greenville Council No. 135, Junior Order United American Mechanics and Withlacoochee Tribe No. 35, Improved Order of Red Men, are bringing to the people of Greenville a group of 25 splendid players, musicians, and vaudeville entertainers.

On Friday night, December 13, at 8 o'clock, at the Greenville High school auditorium these excellent entertainers, headed and trained by Dr. T. B. Spence, of Goldsboro, will present "The Big Gate," a musical comedy that is different from anything you have seen. It is original and new, having been presented but once before. This play has a plot and lesson that will keep all of the grown-ups interested and entertained, with much food for intelligent thinking. While the music, dancing, chorus whistling, and acrobatic wire-walking and lasso acts and stunts will keep the youngsters, including the very tiny tots, highly amused and delighted.

There will be two full hours of wholesome and profitable amusement and entertainment. There will not be a dull moment during the whole performance.

Wednesday's News and Observer carried more than one-fourth of a column write-up in praise of the thrilling performance of Edward Evans, of Goldsboro, one of the tight-wire artists and the only performer in the world who does stunts with the lasso while balanced in mid-air on a tight wire.

On October 4 about one half of these players put on an entertainment in the Greenville high school auditorium, an account of which was written by one of our most prominent business men who witnessed the following from said article: made—instead of a Goldsboro talent performance. Anyway, every body was highly delighted—for last night's entertainment."

KING'S DAUGHTERS AND RED CROSS SPONSORING SHOW HERE TOMORROW Last summer the King's Daughters and the Red Cross raised money to have the tonsils of 25 or more children removed. In this busy day and time very few people turn back to give thanks for what has been done, but the teachers of these children and the children themselves feel very grateful for what has been done for them. They are going to give the Tiny Tot Circus tomorrow afternoon at the high school auditorium at 3:30 for the benefit of the King's Daughters and the Red Cross.

The admission fee will be an old garment or a can of groceries from the grown people, or a discarded toy for the children. These gifts will be used among those who are unable to buy for themselves.

It is said that the circus is so funny that first aid facilities have to be in readiness in the event of mischief actually reaching the side-splitting stage.

Chickens for Sale I will have nice young fryers at the curb market Saturday morning both dressed and on foot.

MRS. S. J. EVERETT ENTERTAINS ROUND TABLE The Round Table and guests enjoyed a delightful meeting with Mrs. S. J. Everett on Tuesday evening.

The first of two specially planned Christmas meetings; the order of business was reversed. A beautiful salad course with hot tea opened the meeting and produced a happy effect of good cheer and sociability.

The little matter of business was dispensed with in short order; for the real business of the evening was making Christmas presents. The hard-working, dignified literary club, became at once a group of busy, talking, sewing ladies, fully in the spirit of the meeting.

Mrs. J. W. Higgs had provided for the entertainment and soon the old, old, but ever new, Christmas Carols came floating in from an adjacent room. Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Miss Agnes Fullilove, accompanied by Mrs. Hanes, sang several numbers, contributing much to the pleasure of the occasion.

Mrs. Wiley Brown gave several humorous readings and the meeting was brought to a close all too soon.

The guests for the afternoon were, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Hanes, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Paul Fitzgerald, Miss Lelia Higgs and Miss Agnes Fullilove.—Reported.

RECENT BRIDE HONORED AT BRIDGE-LUNCHEON Mrs. J. A. Watson was hostess at a bridge luncheon given at her home on Fourth street Wednesday, honoring her sister, Mrs. Bill Harper Ippock, of Wallace a recent bride, who was formerly Miss Gladys Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Reese, of Wallace.

The rooms in which the tables were placed were attractively decorated in holly and other Christmas flowers, carrying out the holly color scheme of red and green.

Luncheon was served as soon as the guests arrived. Throughout the course, the Christmas idea was carried out by means of favors, mints, and a dessert attractively decorated with green and red cherries.

After the refreshments, tables were arranged for bridge. Five progressions were played, at the end of which Mrs. L. C. Ezzell, of Dunn, was presented with a Houbigant set, consisting of perfume and a compact. Mrs. P. H. Kasey received Old English Lavender soap and perfume for second high score Mrs. Edith Harper Ippock, honoree, was presented a piece of silver, and Mrs. Hugh Morrison, of Wallace, attractive jar of bridge candy.

Mrs. Watson had as her guests: Mrs. Bill Harper Ippock, Mrs. Lee Dees, Mrs. Hugh Morrison, and William Jones, of Wallace; Mrs. A. J. Bray, Mrs. Harry Buzzell, and Mrs. R. A. Parker, of Kinston; Mrs. A. L. Daughtridge, Mrs. Fred Hunt, Mrs. Russell Proctor, Mrs. Herbert Smith, and Mrs. Ligh Pace of Rocky Mount; Mrs. L. C. Ezzell, of Dunn; Mrs. C. B. Chapman, Mrs. W. H. Holmes, Mrs. D. D. Burgess, and Mrs. P. H. Kasey, of Greenville.

A Letter To Santa Claus Bethlehem, Pa., Dec. 5, 1929. Dear Santa:— I want a writing desk to put my books in, and bring me some candy, fruit and nuts. If you have anything else to spare me, I will be glad.

ERIC WHICHARD. These Are New! "Grand Slam" Bridge Table Sets—consisting of ash tray and holders for two glasses—in red and green. As advertised in Good Housekeeping. Better see these—only a few! Come to the Vanitie Box.

Cottillon Club Dance Friday. The Cottillon Club will have its regular monthly dance Friday night, Dec. 13th at the country club. The music will be furnished by Taurus orchestra from Rocky Mount.

DO NOT FORGET THE CIRCUS FRIDAY AFTERNOON The Tiny Tot Circus children have heard that Santa Claus needs help in order to take Christmas presents and baskets to everyone.

They have decided themselves to charge money, but let each person who comes bring a good toy and some old clothes, or food as an offering.

All this will be distributed by the King's Daughters and the Red Cross to help Santa Claus make others happy at Christmas.

If any little boy or girl has a toy in good condition—be sure to bring it. You'll be helping these little children help Santa Claus at the same time you'll see a circus that will give you something to laugh about until next Christmas. Don't forget to come and bring your donations, Friday afternoon at 3:30 at the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Holston Hostess. Farmville, Dec. 12.—Mrs. W. C. Holston was hostess to the Progressive Bridge Club of four tables this week at her home on Pine street. After several progressions a delectable salad course was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. R. O. Lang and Miss Add Bynum.

Mr. Turrill Club Hostess. Farmville, Dec. 12.—Mrs. B. O. Turrill was hostess to the Merry Matrons club at a very delightful meeting held at her home on Church street Tuesday afternoon.

The program for the afternoon was assigned to Mrs. J. O. Pollard and Mrs. G. A. Rouse, who developed their subjects, "The Selection of Furniture" and "Antiques" in most interesting style. Mrs. W. Leslie Smith, Mrs. A. W. Bobbitt and Mrs. R. A. Fields assisted the hostess in serving a chicken salad course with hot coffee. Guests invited especially for this meeting included Mesdames F. M. Davis, A. W. Bobbitt, W. R. White, Arthur F. Joyner, Plato Monk, W. H. Nance and E. C. Beaman.

U. D. C. Meeting. Farmville, Dec. 12.—Decorations of holly wreaths, poinsettias, and red candles in the home of Mrs. G. M. Holden, were suggestive of the approaching Christmas season, when she was hostess to the Rebecca Winborne chapter U. D. C. on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. A. E. Walters had charge of the interesting, devotional period which was followed by the reading of communications concerning Thanksgiving gifts sent to the Fayetteville and Raleigh homes by this group. A delightful paper read by Miss Annie Perkins, depicted the Christmas celebrations of the old Southern plantations, and Irving Russell's poem, "Christmas in the Quarters," was read by Mrs. R. H. Knott.

Refreshments carried the holiday cheer and small stockings filled with assorted candies, made appropriate favors.

Falkland News. Mrs. Abel Pierce has been on the sick list for several days—also little Marguerite Moore.

Mrs. C. H. Mayo and daughter, Annie, went to Farmville Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Brown spent Sunday in Rocky Mount.

The Ladies' Sewing Club meets with Mrs. Luella Stanell Tuesday night.

The next meeting of the Home Demonstration Club will be held at the school building Monday, the 10th, at 2:30 p. m.

We were very glad to have Mr. Metz, news of Greenville, humorist and lecturer, with us Sunday. He gave us lots of food for thought—about Christmas holidays.

Mr. S. M. Crisp is visiting her son, Mr. Louis Crisp and daughter, Mrs. C. A. Lawrence.

Greenville markets seem to be the mecca for our people just now, since Santa Claus made his appearance.

There was a picture show at the school building Tuesday afternoon. All seemed to enjoy the show.

The faculty of Falkland school will present a three-act play, "A Southern Cinderella," on Friday evening, December 13.

Owing to weather and sickness the school attendance for the third month has not been so good. However, twelve pupils are on the second grade attendance honor roll for the third month. They are: Leo Corbett, Gerald Briley, Joseph Dunn, Jack Garris, Dennis Jackson, Bill Newton, Lester Bell Adams, Ruth Clarke, Eva Harris, Inez

Hathaway, Mac Ellen, Norville and Earline Smith.

The regular meeting of the Parents-Teachers Association was held last Friday night. At the business session, a dramatization on health was carried out by several pupils. The attendance committee awarded the highest score to Miss Beddingfield's room.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of coughs, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CHRISTMAS DON'TS.

DON'T forget that contribution you are going to make to the Christmas Cheer Fund. By giving to this fund you will make it possible for some needy families to enjoy Christmas also.

DON'T fail to exercise extreme caution in placing your Christmas decorations and lighting effects. The Christmas season is one of the times of the year that it is most necessary to practice Fire Prevention and the exercise of care and caution will go a long way toward protecting lives and property.

DON'T put off your Christmas Shopping and Mailing any longer. Buckle down to the job now and get it completed as soon as possible. There are clerks in the stores and postal employees who will not get an opportunity to enjoy Christmas if they are forced to work long and tedious hours
the last few days before Christmas just because you did not shop and mail early.
Observe these Christmas
DON'TS and you will enjoy Christmas more.

ABOUT TOWN

Contributions to the Greenville Merchants Association's funds for the poor are increasing mightily
also.

This is one of the most important things the public has had to donate during the year, and it is to be hoped the fund will be large enough to care for the community poor during the holidays and the long, cold days to follow.

We cannot dispute the fact that we are faced by one of the worst situations of years this Christmas, and there is no way of bringing about an improvement except through liberal contributions.

You, Mr. Citizen, are responsible for the welfare of these people, and you must do your part to provide for them during the Christmas holidays. These people will see no happiness during Yuletide unless you make it possible for them, so get busy, go down into your jeans and give until you feel like you have done your best by suffering humanity.

Conditions are not as good in this community as they have been, but what is the use of the average citizen chanting the "hard times" tune all the time? Surely conditions will be no worse than we make them.

What this section of the state needs more than any other thing at this time is an unconquerable spirit of optimism, and a faith in the future that will cause its people to continue their labors from day to day, secure in the belief that they have a destiny to fulfill.

This business of talking "hard times" every time we come in contact with anybody is not only destructive to our own business, but it demoralizes the regular trend of industry and keeps people in a state of suspense all the time.

Put away your fears concerning the future. The future will take care of itself. It always has done so, and it will continue to do so until the end of time. Make the best of the duties of today, and in that way prepare yourself for the opportunities that present themselves with the dawn of each day.

Forget the period of depression and help others forget it, and rest assured that it will last no longer than you will permit it.

"I like the way Greenville merchants are going about decorating for Christmas," a visitor to the city told the writer of this column yesterday.

We agreed that considerable progress was being made in this direction, but told him the decorations were not as extensive as they would be in a few days.

He expressed surprise at this and said he would like to see the city when it was in "full dress."

One more week after this week and Christmas will be with us.
Have you solved the Christmas gift problem?

Others have and surely you are not going to be one of the many hundreds who make a habit of waiting until the last minute.

The best values of the holiday season are on the counters of local stores at this time and if you wait until they are all gone you have nobody to blame but yourself.

Merchants made an early start this year in order to give their customers an opportunity of buying and if you wait until the last minute and are forced to take whatever you can get you have no one to blame but yourself.

Do you want to know something about what Greenville is doing as the principal shopping center of Eastern Carolina?

If so, tune in on the Raleigh broadcasting station tonight and hear C. B. Rowlett, secretary of the Greenville Merchants Association, tell the world something about the advantages of this community.

The program will last for a period of fifteen minutes, and will consist of the talk by the merchants' secretary and four song numbers by a quartet composed of local men.

It is hoped the message will reach every community within a radius of several hundred miles so that they, too, may know what Greenville and Pitt county are doing to become the greatest trade center of the section as well as the largest producers of bright leaf tobacco in the world.

When considering what to give the citizen who has moved away from Greenville, why not think about the Reflector?

A year's subscription to this paper would be one of the most acceptable Christmas gifts imaginable. There are numbers of former Greenville people living in other sections of the country who would be delighted to receive the Reflector as a Yuletide gift, so why not make them happy by including a year's subscription among your gifts?

Beaufort County
Man Kills Bear

Fred Sutton, Beaufort county man, was in the city yesterday with the paw of a bear which he killed on the Pitt-Beaufort county line during the early part of the week.

The bear weighed 200 pounds and was being brought down by a double discharge from a shotgun.

Sutton said his dogs sighted the bear in the early morning, and that the chase lasted until the afternoon.
One dog was seriously hurt when he attacked the bear.

Sutton said the bear was advancing upon him threateningly and that he opened fire when the animal was about six paces away. Bruin was said to have been of the hog variety and very common in the lower part of the state.

Sutton said he killed three bears in the same section about two years ago.

FINDS I. C. C. APPOINTMENTS NOT SO EASY

President in Doubt About Selection of Two Democrats for Positions

Washington, Dec. 12.—(AP)—President Hoover is finding the selection of two Democrats as members of the Interstate Commerce Commission anything but an easy task. While the consensus of those close to the White House is that Joseph B. Eastman, of Boston, will be re-appointed, strong opposing influences are at work, these including some leaders of the Republican party as well as railroad interests. The chief executive is fully aware that should he remove Mr. Eastman from the commission his appointee would face formidable opposition in the Senate, especially from the Republican independents of the Northwest, who hold the balance of power in the body which has the final say on the nomination. One basis for the opposition to the Boston Democrat is that he favors government operation of the carriers and frequently disagrees with his colleagues on matters of major policy. However, close friends of the President say he holds strongly to the opinion that dissenters perform an extremely useful function in federal affairs. It seems to be fairly well established that Richard V. Taylor, of Mobile, Alabama, will not be re-appointed to the commission and there is a real race among Southern Democrats for this place. Every Southern state except Louisiana has at least one candidate and some have several. Some administration officers look upon A. J. Maxwell, Internal Revenue Commissioner of North Carolina, as the most likely choice, although they insist that Mr. Hoover has not definitely made up his mind. Mr. Maxwell, who formerly was a member of the North Carolina State Corporation Commission, has many endorsements, including that of Senator Simmons, whose influence was regarded as a potent factor in the Hoover victory in that state in 1928.

EUROPEAN TRACK ATHLETES APPEAR IN U. S. THIS WINTER

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Some of the leading track athletes of Europe, invited by the Amateur Athletic union as an advance showing of 1932 Olympic talent, are expected here this winter to add an international glamor to the big indoor events. Heading the procession is Stanislaw P. Kiziez of Poland, newest member of the "I Beat Nurnm" club. He took the measure of the Old Finnish Phantom in Stockholm a few weeks ago and, encouraged by his success, resolved to visit the United States. He was due here today. Italy took so kindly to the A. A. U. suggestion that when one man was invited three accepted. The bid was extended only to Hector Tavernari, half-mile, but apparently through a misunderstanding the Italian Athletic federation announced that Louis Bacali, miler, and Louis Facelli, 600-meter runner and 400-meter hurdler, would make the trip as well, planning to leave for America in the middle of January and return at the end of March.

After a look of the runners' records the A. A. U. was inclined to favor the idea of paying the expenses of Facelli and Bacali as well as Tavernari. Of the five nations invited, England is the only one so far to refuse.

Files Suit Against Wife of Col. Rogers

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Charges that there was a conspiracy involving the divorce of Colonel Henry H. Rogers and his subsequent marriage are made in a suit filed by Edward E. Kern, who was dismissed as the colonel's secretary. He seeks $750,000 from the colonel's bride and two of her relatives. The first wife, Mrs. Benjamin Rogers, obtained a divorce in Holland last summer. Colonel Rogers soon after was married in Paris to Margit Barbola Braun, the widow of Basil Miles, former American commissioner to the International Chamber of Commerce. Count Andre and Countess Marie Zichy, cousins of the present Mrs. Rogers, are defendants with her in the suit. In his petition Kern says: "My discharge was an important step in a conspiracy between the three defendants and the mother of Mrs. Rogers—Mrs. Roza Moscovics—and Alfred Gruenberger, said to be Austrian minister to France, to secure the divorce of Rogers from his wife, Mary Benjamin Rogers, in order that he might be led into marriage with his present wife." Colonel Rogers, a Standard Oil magnate, is the father of Mrs. Millcent Rogers Ramos, wife of Arturo P. Ramos. She was formerly Countess Salm Von Hoogstraten.

BIG LEAGUES FAIL TO END MANY ISSUES

New York, Dec. 12.—The annual meeting of baseball's major league magnates, closing here today with a joint meeting of National and American League forces at the Biltmore leaves undecided officially the problem of most interest to the fans—the question of an early closing of the season next year. After some consideration officials discovered that the two organizations placed this matter entirely in the hands of the league presidents.

Since both John Heydler and Ernest Barnard are known to favor a closing in September, however, it is safe to presume that the next major league campaign will extend from Tuesday, April 15, through Sunday, September 23. Such a chart would provide for a possible playing days, an ample number with Boston playing Sunday baseball.

The problem before the meeting today was one particularly close to the interests of Commissioner K. M. Landis. A project to require major league clubs to give official notice to baseball authorities upon acquiring control of a franchise in a smaller league. The commissioner, arch-enemy of chain-store ownership, believes that clubs purchasing lesser teams "should" be forced to notify the commissioner's office, the two major league headquarters and the National association of professional baseball leagues.

The operation of such a rule would rule all clubs in organized baseball in the scouting activities. The rule could be beaten, of course, by secret "working agreements" but the magnates will think twice before trying any such subterfuges. They remember what Commissioner Landis did last spring in the case of several transactions which he ruled irregular.

The question of broadcasting major league games also was up today with the chances favoring a retention of the present practice of leaving decisions with individual clubs.

Further deals or swaps of players remained in the air. The two transactions yesterday were featured by the return of Grover Cleveland Alexander to the Park where he won his major league spurs in 1911—Baker Bowl in Philadelphia.

Robert Shawkey, new manager of the Yankees, has announced that Charlie O'Leary and Art Fletcher will coach the club for another campaign. This admission disposed of reports that Wally Pipp would be signed by the club with which he spent most of his major league career.

N. C. University Fraternity House Wrecked by Fire

Chapel Hill, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The Delta Sigma Phi fraternity house at the University of North Carolina was virtually destroyed by fire early this morning.

The loss was estimated at seven thousand dollars, partly covered by insurance.

Nine members of the chapter were rooming in the house, but all were awakened in time to escape. They saved part of their property. The fire started in the attic but it has not been determined what caused it. It was discovered about four o'clock. Jimmy Ward, football star, who roomed on the first floor, gave the alarm.

The house was located on the old fraternity row and formerly belonged to the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Tar Heels to Face Old College Stars

Chapel Hill, Dec. 12.—The Tar Heel-Raleigh "Y" and Tar Heel-Durham "Y" basketball games here Thursday and Friday night, respectively, promise a number of interesting sideights in the form of court meetings of ye acquaintances of old.

Frank Goodwin will lead the Raleighites to the Tin Can Thursday night. Goodwin finished at N. C. State last year, and was for three years one of the biggest threats the Tar Heels had to watch.

Big and rangy, he was a terror at jumping, and a deadly shot as well. "Pony" Harper, the Tar Heel 6-foot pivot man, held him in check during one of the Carolina-State battles last year, but in the other Goodwin got loose and did all manner of damage.

Then on Friday night Durham "Y" will bring among other college stars two gentlemen by the name of Hackney and Satterfield, whose names appeared together in North Carolina box scores, freshmen and varsity, for four years.

The two star Carolina forwards of last year will be playing their ninth year together. They played four years together at Durham high, then four years at Carolina, and they're still together. It will seem natural to see them together, but not opposing Carolina. Billy Dovin is another former Tar Heel star who will be with the Durhamites.

Both games are scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, and together with tonight's game with Greensboro "Y", will give his first real line or Tar Heel basketball strength this year.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

New York—Harry Wills, New York, knocked out Andy Castano, Mexico, (3).

IOWA OUSTS SEVERAL OF HER PLAYERS

Iowa City, Iowa, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Reiterating its conviction that the proper field of athletic competition for the University of Iowa lies in the western conference, the Iowa board in control of athletics last night declared ineligible 22 athletes and renewed its battle for conference reinstatement.

The charges against the athletes were that they received aid from the now famous "trust fund".

The list of athletes was not made public, but it was known that five football players, Mike Farroh of Michigan City, Ind., elected captain of the 1930 eleven last night; Orin Rape, Dubuque; Pete Affre, Quincy, Ill.; Irving Nelson, Omaha, and Seward Leeka, Independence, Mo., were on the list.

Nelson, Farroh and Leeka are also regulars on the basketball team. The board, which met in the afternoon and continued in session until after midnight, drafted a resolution inviting the conference to "send a committee to Iowa City within the near future to review the situation for the purpose of ascertaining whether essential justice due these men may not warrant their reinstatement."

The resolution was in fact a waiver of the right of the individual school to act finally on the eligibility of its athletes, giving to the conference the authority to reverse the eligibility finds to any member institution.

While yielding this right, the board again asserted its "sovereign jurisdiction" on the selection of the personnel of the staff and administrative organization at the University, thereby upholding its right to retain George T. Brenahan as track coach despite the disapproval of the conference.

Dean C. C. Williams said a thorough investigation would begin at once into the cases of each of the 22 suspended athletes.

The board, in its resolution placed the blame for the troubles of a past athletic administration. It further stated that it felt "it was no fair or just to the individual athlete to penalize him for the inoperative participation" in the trust fund, which had received official sanction at the time of its existence.

The Hawkeye coaching staff was called into the board session for a time, an extraordinary procedure, presumably for discussion of booking games.

Iowa clinched at least two contests for the 1930 season during the day. One game, with Penn State November 15, will be played either here or at Soldiers Field, Chicago. The other is the first on a four game contract with the University of Nebraska, to be played last November 22.

COUNT SENTENCED TO JAIL FOR KILLING HIS FATHER

Hirschburg, Silesia, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Count Christian Stolberg Wernigrode must serve nine months in prison for the killing of his father last March. He was convicted and sentenced.

Count Eberhard, father of Count Christian, was found last March with a bullet in his head, apparently having been shot from behind with a rifle which had been taken from a nearby gun-rack.

SHUT-EYE HABIT COST GREENIE FULLBACK JOB

New Orleans—Calvert DeColigny, Tulane footballer, lost his chance at fullback this fall because he couldn't keep his eyes open.

Coach Bernie Bierman noticed that when DeColigny hit the line he invariably shut his eyes. Trainers and coaches tried to break him of the habit but failed and he became a reserve tackler.

Mail Plane Forced Down at Lexington

Lexington, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Caught in a heavy fog while flying northward on the Atlanta - New York air mail route, a mail pilot, reported to have been Johnny Kyle, was forced down on the Lexington intermediate landing field, three miles southwest of the city, about one o'clock this morning.

A truck was summoned by telephone from the Greensboro airport and the 450 pounds of mail the plane was carrying was rushed there. The pilot is quoted as saying the fog and mist had become so difficult that he could not see the ten mile beacons for more than a mile. The plane proceeded to Greensboro after daylight. Difficult conditions had already delayed the flier for more than two hours when he was forced to land here.

SUNDOWN STORIES

PEGGY AND SANTA
(By Mary Graham Bonner)
"Hello, Santa Claus," Peggy said.
"Hello, Santa Claus," said John.
"Visitors!" called Santa Claus.
"It seems to me I have seen you both. Yes, to be sure! Don't you live in a house with a garden at the back and a garage with a top part where you play on rainy days? And you have a big chimney in your house, too. Very comfortable—that chimney. I've always appreciated it."

"That's the house!" cried Peggy. "Oh, I'm so glad you know me!"

"I recognized you by your voice," Santa Claus said. "I've heard the messages you've sent me up your chimney. Then I know pretty well how you looked even if I always did see you with your eyes shut, and where there was not very much light."

"Now, each of you come and pick out something from my workshop and I'll bring it to you Christmas Eve."

Peggy and John could hardly stand the excitement.

She had never seen anything like the workshop in all her life. There were many toys that were finished many half-finished and many just started.

She chose a white toy rabbit for a present and John chose an Indian suit. Then they began to see other things they liked very, very much.

"Make up a list and leave it by your chimney. I'll get it," Santa said.

The Little Black Clock had turned the time around so it was just about the present time and he said they must leave in a very little while.

"Oh, dear," Peggy said. "I had a question I wanted to ask."

"I've time to hear it," was Santa's pleasant reply.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 1 point today with the active months selling about 3 to 4 points net lower right after the call under liquidation together with some local and southern selling.

Offerings were promoted by the relatively easy showing of Liverpool but appeared to be fairly well absorbed on the decline to 17.13 for January and 17.64 for May after which prices steadied on some trade buying and covering. Prices held within a point or two of yesterday's closing figures at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables reported Manchester and Bombay liquidation in that market, with offerings taken by covering and some buying on the production in the Bank of England discount rate which is now five per cent. Manchester reported a limited business in cotton goods and said that yarn sales were better.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Despite a temporary sharp setback resulting from an unexpected weak close at Liverpool, wheat averaged higher in price here today. Breaks at the finish in Liverpool were ascribed to selling orders for this side of the Atlantic. On the other hand, export buying today of North American wheat was larger, totaling 600,000 bushels or more, with Spain as well as Great Britain said to be purchasing.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were firm 11-12 to 17.83 a bushel higher than yesterday's first.

Corn closed 1-2c higher than yesterday's finish.

Oats varying from 1.8c off to 2-8c up, and provisions unchanged to 2c down.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The stock market continued to drift lower today despite sporadic attempts of pools to rally the general list. Trading, however, was not very heavy in volume, indicating that "bear" operators, who have been hammering the market at intervals for the past few days, apparently were having difficulty in dislodging any great volume of stock.

There were several disappointing developments in the day's news. Publication of copper statistics, showing a large increase in the amount of stocks on hand, confirmed widely circulated efforts that buyers were still holding the "hand to mouth" policy, and that a substan-

NINE KILLED IN RIOTING AT AUBURN, N. Y. PRISON; TROOPS ON GUARD NOW

 riot who shoved a gun into his stomach and commanded: "Do not move or say anything or I will kill you."

Two other convicts quickly stepped to the first convict's assistance and remanded that Jennings accompany them to the punishment gallery they threatened "If he did not go along and protect them from officials who already had answered the call for armed assistance."

Three other guards not knowing the Warden was a hostage, then were captured when they approached the group in the punishment gallery. They were forced to open all the punishment cells, releasing the other most desperate inmates, two prisoners, Henry Sullivan and Steve Pawlak, leaders in the riot, then took charge and demanded that the warden instruct officials outside to allow the convicts passage to freedom.

"You will have to give the order, or we will kill you," Jennings quoted Sullivan as saying. "We are determined to go out or die, but if you fail, we will all die together."

The riot leaders then prepared to march out into the main hall behind the warden and the guards as protection from the guns of the warden. They handcuffed their prisoners in pairs, and then Sullivan told Jennings:

"Warden, we intend to put a convict behind every two keeper. He has a gun and will shoot his pair at the first indication of treachery. You will march out with us."

"We plan to seize enough automobiles from the streets of Auburn to provide for us all. If you play fair with us, we will take you all out into the country, and dump you alive. If we die, you die."

Outside troopers and guards patrolled the prison with instructions to let no prisoner escape.

The rioters marched their prisoners out into the main hall after word had come through that automobiles were waiting outside to offer them safe conduct. From the prison door they could see all the way to the street and believed the troopers had acceded to the wishes of Warden Jennings who, after many threats from the rioters had sent out a note which said, "For God's sake give them what they want." They were mistaken, however, for the troopers used the automobiles as a ruse to get within range of the rioters.

Jennings said today:
 "They came into the hall taking us with them, when suddenly a state trooper with astounding bravery stepped into full range of their guns and threw a gas bomb. More followed. One rolled right under me.

"The bomb was a signal for a general melee and there were shots on all sides. Some of the convicts realized they had been tricked and ran back into the south wing hall, while others ran into the north. They turned and fired at us at close range.

"One evidently tried to shoot me in the head, or hit me with the butt of his gun. A blow landed behind my head and I began to get dizzy. The gas also, by this time, began to render me unconscious and the last sensation I had was a pain in my wrist and I was being dragged somewhere by my handcuffs."

Poet Had Foretold His Death in Poem

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—His death which came apparently by his own hand in a friend's apartment Tuesday night where his body was found with that of Mrs. Josephine Rotch Cislou of Boston. Their arms clasped in a death embrace. Was foretold by Henry Grew in an exotic poem he wrote four years ago. They had been shot to death in what appeared to be a suicide pact.

"But I shall die within my lady's arms," his 1925 poem had concluded.

The bodies of the Paris poet and the young Boston matron were claimed by Mrs. Grew and Albert Bigelow, Harvard graduate student both of whom apparently were unaware of any attachment between Grew and Mrs. Bigelow.
