TRIAL OF DRY AGENT ENTERS FINAL STAGES

Noted Bootlegger Also Tried for Alleged Conspiracy to Violate Law

Greensboro, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The trial of John S. Funk, former prohibition agent charged with accepting bribes and conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, and Guss Dowdy, alleged bootlegger, for conspiracy, entered its final stages today in Federal court here with the presentation of arguments to the jury by prosecuting and defending attorneys. The case began last Tuesday.

Thomas G. Carter, assistant district attorney, opened the arguments at the beginning of court. He based his argument on the corroboration of evidence and the testimony of Charlie Martin, admitted bootlegger of Danville, Va., who appeared as the government's star witness.

"I want you to understand in the beginning," Mr. Carter said, "that we are not here to uphold or support anyone who violates the law. We put many on the stand who said that they had violated the law. It is our duty to lay before you the cold facts in the case whether from good or bad people." The assistant district attorney told the jurors that the defendant, Funk, had conspired with those who violated the law in order to violate it himself. "Funk did not have conspired with others nor in the business. He has to work with someone in the business," Mr. Carter said.

He attacked the contention of the defense that Charlie Martin, government witness, had lied on the witness stand as was brought out by a surprise witness late Saturday.

Granting of immunity to bootleggers as witnesses also was touched upon by the assistant district attorney, who said that it was "the worst of the law."

"The district attorney has not promised immunity to anyone. If any immunity is granted in this case, it is in the law which his honor has to pass. We have nothing to do with it," he said.

Justice of the court, as stressed by Mr. Carter in the opening argument for the government, was attacked by Attorney W. G. Hammer, of Harrisburg, Va., in which he referred to Charlie Martin, government witness, and D. G. Trexler, government inspector.

"When you let such persons as Charlie Martin and D. G. Trexler, you please, prosecute the law, then the foundation of law and justice is being undermined," he said.

Charlie Martin, confessed bootlegger and star witness in the case against Funk, was placed under $500 bond late Saturday by Judge Johnson J. Hayes in Federal District court here and ordered to appear January 6 to answer charges of contempt of court.

The sudden action against the government witness came after W. S. Harris, Greensboro hotel proprietor, testified that Martin and a companion, alleged to be W. S. Dowdy, defendant on trial with Funk, entered his establishment in the wee hours of Saturday morning in a drunken condition. He said he heard Martin tell his companion, while in their room, that he had to "lie like the devil."

Harris, a surprise witness for the defense, was recalled to the witness stand later and testified that he had been threatened by Martin on account of what he had told to the jury when on the stand the first time.

The jury was sent to its room and the judge issued the contempt order. Judge Hayes is presiding.

PREPARE FOR BATTLE OVER WORLD COURT

Senate Lines Being Tightly Drawn for Impending Fight on Adherence

Washington, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Battle lines are being drawn for the impending Senate fight over adherence to the world court.

Although Hoover submits the revised protocol, designed to meet the objections of the Senate as expressed in its famous fifth reservation, there is already much discussion of the new plan, and the opposition, regardless of its size numerically, promises to be of an extremely determined nature.

The three ranking Republican members of the foreign relations committee, Chairman Borah, Johnson of California, and Moses of New Hampshire, disapprove of the new proposal and the administration is hopeful that the forthcoming Republican reorganization of the Senate may result in increased committee strength for friends of the project.

The Senate's fifth reservation on the basis of which American entry was rejected by the nations of the court, would have provided that the tribunal entertain no requests for advisory opinions on questions in which the United States might have or claim an interest without the consent of the Washington government.

Under the protocol, America could withdraw from the court without prejudice in the event that requests for advisory opinion should be pressed by other nations over the objection of the United States.

Two Fliers Begin 6,000 Mile Flight From Spain To Montevideo, Uruguay

Paris, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Major Tadeo Larre-Borges, Uruguayan aviator, and his French companion, Lieutenant Challe, who hopped off from Seville, Spain, yesterday morning for Montevideo, Uruguay, today completed the first stage of their 6,000-mile journey and apparently were headed over the South Atlantic for the ocean hop to South America.

The fliers were sighted over Porto Praya in the Cape Verde Islands at 7:30 o'clock this morning, Greenwich time, 2:30 a. m. E. S. T. radio set with two antennae. Both which reported the sighting, said that all was well aboard.

In the nineteen hours that they had been in the air, the airman had covered approximately 2,000 miles or more than 100 miles an hour. If they maintain that speed they should reach Montevideo some time tomorrow afternoon.

Major Larre-Borges, before leaving Spain, announced that he planned to make a non-stop flight if conditions were favorable and his appearance over the Cape Verde Islands off the coast of Africa indicated that he would make no stop in Africa but would continue straight across the South Atlantic for Natal, Brazil.

NEXT TASK IS MAIN PROBLEM OF SENATE

What to Do Next Expected to Be Fraught With Considerable Controversy

Washington, Dec. 16.—(AP)—What to do next was today's problem in the senate.

It was a question that in itself held promise of as much controversy as some of the legislative projects that are awaiting consideration.

Some Democratic leaders are spokesmen for the Independent Republican group were insisting that the Senate return to the tariff bill. Chairman Smoot of the finance committee wanted the House bill, to ratify the French war debt settlement taken up next. In addition, the Dill bill to continue the administrative power of the Federal Radio commission had to be disposed of before the end of the week, if it is to be effective.

Meanwhile, leaders of the House sought unanimous consent for the consideration of legislation of the same purpose as the Dill measure and of the $300,000,000 public building bill. Under House rules, the objection of a single member had the effect of postponing consideration of either.

With a sizeable group demanding that all delay be avoided in the disposition of the tariff bill, questions of procedure have become points of heated dispute in the Senate.

Senator Smoot was of the opinion that little time will be required for action on the French debt measure, but opposition to taking it up, was developing among those who urged a return to the tariff, and in addition, there were indications of opposition to its consideration from a group which disapproves of the debt settlement, on the ground that it gives America too small return on its money.

The Senate elections committee was called together today to consider the Nye resolution to unseat Senator Joseph R. Grundy, Republican Pennsylvania, because of his participation in the famous primary contest of 1926, which sent William S. Vare to the Senate, only to be refused admittance.

Sheriff Adkins Testifies In Strikers Trial Today; Tells Of Firing At Mill

Burnsville, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Sheriff Oscar Adkins of Marion testified today as a defense witness in the trial of eight deputy sheriffs charged with second degree murder as a result of the death of six men in a cotton mill strike disorder at Marion October 2.

The sheriff, a fat, round faced man, who was in the thick of the battle with strikers, testified he had been called to the mill at 9:30 the night preceding the disorder. He said he had seen Deputy Sheriff Webb Fender, one of the defendants, and that Fender told him: "There's gon' go to be a strike called at 1 a. m., and they are going to raise hell."

Fender was the night watchman at the mill.

"Then Jarrett came up," Adkins said, "and said he had talked with Bradley and had been notified that the strikers were going to cut off the war in the mill and shoot up the floor. Those who didn't come out on strike," he said, "were going to be taken out."

Dave Jarrett, a deputy sheriff is one of the defendants, and F. W. Bradley is night foreman of the weaver room at the Marion Manufacturing company mill where the battle took place.

"Just before one o'clock in the morning, there were several volleys of shots from over about union headquarters."

A state objection was overruled.

"And a few minutes later two heavy charges of dynamite were set off."

Further testimony that strikers at a Marion, N. C., cotton mill fired at officers during a strike disorder at the mill October 2 was presented by the defense today. F. W. Bradley, the eighteenth defense witness, and first on the stand as the trial was resumed today after a week-end recess, said he saw firing from the crowd of strikers.

Bradley, night foreman of the weaver room of the Marion Manufacturing company where the disorder occurred a few hours after a strike had been called, said the strikers

ROCK YIELDS SKELETONS OF FIRST HUMANS

Peiping, China, Dec. 16.—(AP)—A limestone bed at Chow Octien, 30 miles from here, was believed by scientists today to have yielded skeletons of ten men who probably were among the first ancestors of the human race.

Nine of the skeletons were headless, leading to believe the limestone bed may have been the scene of pre-Neanderthal executions and beheadings. In such a case, since the skulls were not found, it was suggested the heads may have been removed for some strange prehistoric rite.

The one skull discovered, unearthed by a Chinese geologist, was believed to have belonged to a species of the famous "Peking man," the "Sinanthropus Pekinensis," said to be associated with the period of the pit-dweller and the Java ape man.

Many of the bones discovered were broken sharply, as if by human hands. The scientists in reconstructing the life of the distant day, suggested the ancient man may have done this in order to get the marrow, probably considered a delicacy.

The scientists who have worked in the limestone excavations, have been sworn to secrecy, but it was understood they regard the discoveries as the greatest human find of its kind ever made. Both the skull and the ten skeletons were said to be in a splendid state of preservation. Search for more specimens, particularly skulls, continues.

The discoveries were made in the same limestone quarries where the "monkey man" jaw teeth were found in 1928. The scientists believed that with the discovery of the skeletons site of a prehistoric probably pre-Neanderthal home of a distinct time of primitive man has been uncovered.

The scientists were said to believe they had enough material to reconstruct the entire life-drama of the prehistoric colony, or at the least, to sketch a portrait of man as he existed near Peiping more than a million years ago.

FUNERAL FOR H. E. AUSTIN HELD SUNDAY

Member of Faculty of Teachers College to Be Buried at Holden, Massachusetts

Funeral services for Prof. H. E. Austin, head of the department of geography at East Carolina Teachers College, were conducted from his late home on Eighth street yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Walter Paton, of New Bern, and Rev. R. J. Bamber, pastor of the Eighth Street Church of Christ, Greenville. The body was sent by motor hearse to Rocky Mount last night and from there it was carried by train to Holden, Mass., where burial will take place.

Death came to the well-known educator at 1 o'clock Saturday morning. He had been in declining health over a period of one year and death was not unexpected.

Professor Austin was identified with the educational, religious and civic life of Greenville for twenty years. He was a member of the first faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, first serving as head of the department of science, and later as head of the department of geography. He was one of the most beloved teachers of the school.

He was prominently connected with the Masonic order, the Kiwanis club, the Red Cross, the Methodist Episcopal church and other civic organizations. He was past commander of the Bethel Temple, and will be buried with honors of the organization. He also held the position of Grand Captain of the Order of Royal Arch Masons of the State. For many years he was secretary of the students loan fund of the Knights Templar of North Carolina.

He was born at Beverley, Pa., and was reared in Holden, Mass. He was educated at Worcester Academy and Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, Mass., graduating from the latter institution in 1890. He later did graduate work in Clark University.

He came to Greenville from Baltimore Normal school. He played a prominent part in the early life of the local school and for many years served in capacity of vice-president.

The funeral was largely attended by representatives of various organizations of the locality, and the floral tribute mutually expressed the high esteem in which he was held by hundreds of friends in all sections of the country.

Jap Delegation to Naval Confab to Meet Hoover

Washington, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The Japanese delegation to the London naval conference arrived here at 9:40 a. m. today for four days of talks with President Hoover, Secretary Stimson and American officials preliminary to the opening of the London conference next month.

The delegates were officially welcomed at union station by Secretaries Stimson and Adams, other high officers of the State and Navy Departments, and Captain Alan Buchanan, naval aide to President Hoover.

Stone to Address Farmers at Raleigh

Raleigh, Dec. 16.—(AP)—North Carolina tobacco growers, with the idea of a co-operative marketing association in their mind, will rally here tomorrow to hear James C. Stone, vice chairman of the Federal Farm board and former head of the Kentucky burley tobacco growers' association, and to cast a secret ballot on the question of reorganizing a co-operative.

I. O. Schaub, head of the State College extension service, said today the response to invitations to the meeting indicated that Pullen Hall at State College would be filled to overflowing when Mr. Stone delivered his message to the farmers.

Mr. Stone visited Raleigh about two months ago and proposed that a study of the feasibility of state-wide tobacco co-operatives be made. The suggestion was followed immediately and it has not reached the point where decision to organize or not is the next step.

The plan is for a North Carolina co-operative association in connection with similar state co-operatives in South Carolina, Georgia and Virginia.

M. L. Borey of Richmond, Va., one of the receivers of the defunct tri-state tobacco growers' association, is also expected to address the growers.

Mother and Seven Children Victims of Axe Murderer

Three Rivers, Quebec, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Andrew Day and her seven children ranging in age from one to 14 years, were found dead in their home here today with their throats cut, apparently with an axe.

Day, the father of the family, was wandering in the streets with his throat cut. Brought to the police station he told the authorities where he lived.

At the Day home police found the woman and the children in beds in three different rooms. All had received one or more cuts about the throat as though the perpetrator of the crime had wanted to decapitate his victims.

Day made no statement at the hospital.

Although Day's condition was said to be serious he is expected to recover.

DONATIONS TO CHARITY FUND ON INCREASE

Five Opportunity Cases Taken by City Organizations Over Week-End

Contributions to the Merchants Association Christmas fund increased appreciably over the week-end and the report from the office of the secretary today indicated that the total had reached the $68 mark. The report also showed a gift of toys and clothing with five additional "opportunity" cases being taken by city organizations.

Contributors were: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lanier, $10; W. C. Jones, $2; Miss Virginia Arthur, $1; Cash, $5; a quantity of clothing and toys, J. P. Rowlett, Jr.

The following organizations were assigned cases to care for during the holiday season:

Case No. 14—Taken by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hooker.

Case No. 21—Taken by Young Matrons Missionary Society of the Christian Church.

Case No. 42—Taken by Young Matrons Class of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Case No. 51—Taken by Philanthropic Class of the Jarvis Memorial Church.

Case No. 60—Taken by Red Cross Members of the association and the Welfare Department are striving to make contributions larger this year than ever before because of the general increase in the number of charity cases. General crop conditions and unemployment has brought about an unusual situation among the poor element, and suffering is going to be more pronounced this year than ever before unless the public gets behind the charity movement and assists in making it a great success.

Additional cases are being reported to the campaign committee from day to day as investigators go about their work of determining the needs of the poor people and the number worthy of help. The situation has been described as deplorable, and appeal has gone out to all organizations that they help in relief work in every way possible.

Heflin Predicts Gloomy Holidays For The South Because of Cotton Prices

Washington, Dec. 16.—(AP)—A gloomy Christmas for many children of the south was predicted today by Senator Heflin, Democrat, Ala., at a hearing of a Senate Agriculture sub-committee investigating the causes of a depressed market for cotton.

Addressing W. L. Clayton, of Anderson, Clayton and company, Houston, Texas, cotton merchants who was testifying, the Alabama senator said there were hundreds of thousands of farmers in the south who are not only unhappy but who are in distress because of the low and unprofitable price of cotton. He added: "With cotton selling below the cost of production and debts hanging heavily over their fathers, the outlook is indeed a gloomy one to the cotton producers and their families in the south."

Heflin asked Clayton whether it was "not the duty of Congress to inquire into such a situation and to prevent such harmful and destructive manipulation of the cotton market of the United States."

Clayton whose firm has been charged with evading an "over-

TELLS RADIO WORLD ABOUT PITT COUNTY

C. B. Rowlett Speaks Over Radio at Raleigh, Telling of the Growth of Greenville

The advantages of Greenville as the principal shopping center of Eastern Carolina were set forth in an interesting way by C. B. Rowlett, secretary of the Greenville Merchants Association, speaking over the radio broadcasting station at Raleigh last Thursday night.

The talk was heard by approximately half a million radio fans in this section of the state. A quartet, composed of Raleigh singers rendered two selections prior to and at end of the talk.

Mr. Rowlett's speech follows: How radio fans, of which there may be half million or more listening in over this station at this hour, I ask your indulgence for just a few minutes while I present to you a message from one particular city of Eastern North Carolina.

History reveals many interesting facts about various sections of our nation, but possibly that of some sections of Eastern North Carolina because of its rapid development has proven the most interesting of them all. I refer you at this time to Pitt county, but most especially to Greenville. A few years ago this section was practically isolated and its people having lived since the beginning of time with such conditions and knowing no other, were satisfied. But less than a score of years ago like a bolt from a clear sky, a few of its citizenship realized their plight, and it was then that a new day dawned for our section.

And grasping the opportunity of the great future in store for us, these few people took the initiative and led the masses into a progressive line of march, in which there has not yet been any command of halt. But it is not the past that I wish to bring to your attention at this time. It is the present and the great possibilities that await us as we continue our progressive march.

Greenville, with its population of 12,000 is the hub of Eastern North Carolina, and stands unparalleled as the center of operation of this great eastern region of our state. No city of the east has grown near as rapidly during the past few years as has Greenville. It is the capital of Pitt county, which has a population of more than 55,000, and in the heart of the most talked of agricultural section of the entire southland. It is a land of pleasant life and friendly custom where the spirit of progressiveness has no waning.

Greenville offers numerous advantages, a majority of which has to be experienced to be appreciated. Its educational advantages are envied by few cities even with much larger population. It is the home of the East Carolina Teachers College, one of the outstanding institutions of its kind in this or any other state. There are about a dozen modern equipped buildings in the city's public school system, under efficient supervision, being rated as A-1 by the State Educational Board.

The various industries of Greenville, some of which have been operating for more than a quarter of a century, are growing steadily and the prestige gained by the city as a favorable manufacturing location is expanding with the day by day progress of these contributing to its industrial life. It is a city of real advantage to industry because of a rare combination of its geographical location, ideal climatic conditions, constant plenty of native labor, splendid transportation facilities, and proximity to the great markets of the nation. In addition to two railroads, Greenville is webbed over which operate some of the largest motor transportation companies of the state.

Another feature which makes Greenville desirable to manufacturers is its million dollar municipally-owned water and light plant, one of the city's greatest assets. The plant stands out among the public utility institutions of the south. Its power and water rates for commercial purposes are equal and in many respects cheaper than that of any other power concern, corporation or otherwise operating in the state.

With the building of this section by the Greenville health department, the city because of its location has gained considerable recognition among many of the large manufacturing enterprises as the most logical distributing point of the eastern section of the state. And as a result scores of such enterprises are taking advantage of such economical conveniences and placing their principal warehouses for state distribution in Greenville.

The health and climatic conditions compare favorably with any part of the southland. Pitt county health department which is under the direction of a whole-time health officer has been set up as a standard by state and national health authorities. The city is not subject to any annual maldy of any de-

Gives $10,000,000 for Foundation

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 16.—(AP)—A gift of $10,000,000 to be expended through a philanthropic foundation and to be used in the interest of public welfare, was announced last night by Maurice Falk, capitalist and philanthropist of Pittsburg.

The fund to be known as the Maurice and Laura Falk foundation established as a memorial to Mrs. Falk, is to begin operating early next year. The entire fund, both principal and interest, is to be expended within 25 years, the anniversary set forth.

A board of seven managers, with broad powers of discretion given them, will be assigned the task of designating grants for the promotion of religious, charitable, educational philanthropic and public interest. The managers will be Leon Falk, nephew of Maurice Falk; E. T. Weir, I. A. Simon, Frank B. Bell, Nathan Jacobs, Eugene B. Strassburger, and A. E. Braun, all of Pittsburg.

SHIRES WILL FIGHT GRID STAR TONIGHT

By WILLIAM WEEKES
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Chicago, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires, and George (Super Great) Trafton, will say it with gloves tonight.

After a week of brandy conversation—liberally sprinkled with personal pronouns—Shires, the fighting baseball player, and Trafton, the battling football player, will wallop each other for five rounds or less on Promoter Jim Mullen's card at the White City Arena.

"Just a stepping stone to bouts with the best of them," was Shires' pre-fight statement.

"Shires' fight career will end tonight—suddenly," Trafton said. It will be Shires' second fight-for-profit and his aim is to score his second consecutive knockout victory.

Shy Arthur also expects to serve as a time up bout for his world series battle with Hack Wilson, slugging Chicago Cub outfielder.

"If the project does not collapse as it threatens to do," Trafton who will have a 40-pound weight advantage, will be making his initial venture as a money-making heavyweight boxer under a serious handicap.

The handicap is a black eye, suffered yesterday during the Chicago Bears' final game of the season against Bennie Friedman's New York Giants. Trafton tackled Tony Plank's plant half-back and came up with the dark optic.

The 225-pound gridiron star was worried. Fearing his public would believe Shires was responsible for the black eye, he made a formal announcement that he had a black eye before ever entering the ring with the White Sox first baseman.

"The only reason this Trafton won't have two black eyes when the fight is over will be because I will locate his chin before I get a chance to work on the good eye," Arthur said.

There still was hope that Hack Wilson would leave his West Virginia home to meet Shires in the ring, but it grew more doubtful today. Hack was inclined to call off the chance to pick up $15,000 and $1,000 for training expenses, because of opposition by the Cub management.

The Dempsey of the dugouts said he would make his decision within 24 hours, but indicated he would accede to the wishes of his wife, and William L. Ceek, president of the Cubs.

"I hate to pass up that $15,000 for 15 minutes in the ring," Wilson said in a telephone conversation from his home at Martinsburg, W. Va. "That's almost as much as I will make playing baseball all summer."

Mr. Ceek would say nothing other than to reiterate:
"We don't want Wilson fighting."

Another capacity crowd was anticipated at White City, which would be an attendance of about $4,000. Shires will receive 23 per cent of the gate, while Trafton has a flat guarantee of $1,000.

West Point to Play Last Game At Palo Alto

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Football interest has begun to die out in most parts of the east, but at West Point it is approaching its highest pitch of the season. It is only two days until the Cadet team starts its long journey to Palo Alto, Cal., for its final game of the 1929 season against Stanford.

The squad, which comes closer to being a full company, is scheduled to leave here Wednesday aboard a special train.

Head Coach Bill Jones has planned stops for workouts at Galesburg, Ill., Syracuse, Kans., and Needles, Calif., before reaching Palo Alto Sunday afternoon for a week of hard practice for the game, December 28.

The return tour, which includes visits to the movie studios at Los Angeles and a day's stop at the Grand Canyon, is due to wind up at West Point, January 4.

The party which will make the long trip will total 142 people, of which 110 are football players. As a reward for their services during the gruelling practice season, the scrub and plebe teams will be taken along with the regulars.

Only the members of the A squad or varsity will take part in the game, but the others will be used, as they have been since September, to give the regulars practice along the route.

A train of 13 cars, fitted out with every possible convenience for a traveling football team, has been made up to take the squad to the coast and back. It includes six Pullmans, two dining cars, two baggage cars, an observation car and two specially equipped cars, one fitted out as a dressing room and the other as a shower room.

When they arrive at the places where they are due to stop and practice, the players can be ready to take the field, and when the practice is over, they can take their showers and run downs on the run.

The Italian steamer Veniero, formerly the Monginevro of the same nationality, is a freighter of 5,191 tons gross register and was built in 1908 at Palermo, Sicily. Her home port is Venice, Italy.

SPORTS SLANTS

Shires Enters Ring

The gridiron loses a number of its flashiest stars with the close of the 1929 campaign, but there are also an unusual number who have apparently just begun to scintillate, with one or two more years in which to reach the heights that Cagel, Lem, Markers, Banker, Thomas, Dutch Clark, Naugur, Skel, Sloan, Usansa, Welch and Samagora have occupied for the last time.

To mention just a few of the budding stars who will be back next season, there are Bobby of Yale, Hinkle of Bucknell, Messer of Tennessee, Carideo of Notre Dame, Kelly of Kentucky, Wood of Harvard, Gentle of Pennsylvania, Leland of Texas Christian, Hewett of Columbia and Hufford of Washington.

Booth Wood, Hunkle and Hufford were among the outstanding sophomore ball-toters of the year, with Yale's sensational Albie (the most talked-about back anywhere) the "mighty atom" of New Haven doesn't wind up as an All-American ace. It will be a shock to the Blue.

McKiver has been a star for two years, as consistent a performer as any college has had, and Gentle, Penn's captain-elect, closed this year with one of the greatest runs ever witnessed on Franklin Field.

A 102-yard gallop through Cornell for a touchdown from kickoff. Gentle was elected 1930 leader of the Red and Blue as soon as his teammates could crowd into the dressing room to cast their ballots.

Hufford, a coast observer writes, "is a more spectacular ball carrier than either George Wilson of Chuck Carroll, former Washington All-Americans. Hufford stood out this year on a team that was going nowhere."

Charlie Padock has been doing sprint stunts for so long that he has Old Pop Time worried. Believe it or not, the blond Texan, a transplanted Californian, hopes to make the 1932 Olympic team.

"I lost about eight yards on my last Olympic voyage, but maybe the old legs still will be good enough to land me a place on a relay team (marked Charlie recently)."

"At least I do not intend to quit running altogether. It has been too much fun to drop out of it altogether, even though I probably can't keep up with most of these galloping youngsters now."

Reminded that his amateur status was subject to considerable scrutiny and some controversy in connection with the last Olympics, Padock said:

"Of course I have made some-

GARDNER TO ENTERTAIN N. C. NEWSPAPERMEN AT LIVE AT HOME SUPPER

Raleigh, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Responses from about 50 newspapers over North Carolina had been received today by Gov. O. Max Gardner to his invitation to more than 250 newspaper folks to attend a "North Carolina Live at Home" supper at the executive mansion Thursday evening.

The affair will be informal. Governor Gardner said today, and there will be only a few set numbers of the program.

Nothing to eat will be served which was not raised or manufactured in North Carolina. The governor already has been presented with 15 North Carolina raised turkeys for the supper.

Italian Ship Crippled By Heavy Blast

Lisbon, Portugal, Dec. 16.—(AP)—A terrific explosion aboard the Italian steamship Veniero while off the Cape Verde Islands last night killed the chief engineer and hurled another man into the sea.

The ship's machinery was wrecked. Wireless messages said that the vessel, while crippled badly, would try to make Lisbon. The French steamer Britis and the British vessel Citrano, were reported enroute to the assistance of the Veniero.

Morgan to Give Bass Trial for Junior Honors

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Tod Morgan, possibly most willing of all champions to place his title at stake, will give Benny Bass of Philadelphia a shot at the junior lightweight championship in Madison Square Garden this week.

The struggle, scheduled for Friday night, heads a boxing appearance by the second ring appearance of Art Shires, who apparently would rather fight than play first base for the Chicago White Sox.

Shires, who knocked out dangerous Dan Daley of Cleveland in the first fight he ever was paid for, meets George Trafton, Chicago pro football player, at the White City arena, in a five rounder, tonight.

Morgan will be defending the title he won from Mike Ballerino for the ninth time when he faces Bass over the 15 round championship route. Possessed of little or no punch, Morgan nevertheless has beaten back every challenge by means of his great boxing skill. Bass is one of the most deadly punchers in the business.

...in a hostess it's CHARM!

... in a cigarette it's TASTE!

THE unvarying better taste of Chesterfield has won millions of smokers—and continues to win millions more.

Only the choicest cigarette tobaccos are used, carefully selected for their satisfying mildness, their smoothness, fragrance, and wholesome richness. Blending and cross-blending gives them added smoothness, and brings out their best smoking qualities.

The inevitable result is better taste—the better taste that sets Chesterfield clearly apart from all other cigarettes—

New Books for Library.

The Carnegie Foundation has just sent a package of ten books for the International Mind Above collection in the Greenville Public Library. Five of these were Juniors and five for adults. The list of books for adults with comments by Miss Amy Hemmway Jones, division assistant of the New York office of the foundation is given below:

Riggs—The Spanish Pageant—a delightful and readable book. This should be enjoyed by even the casual reader.

Williams—Understanding India—We have somewhat recovered from the excitement caused by Miss Mayo's Mother India and we are prepared to read another view. Mrs. Williams gives an excellently balanced view of India with a critical as well as a sympathetic insight. Should be read by all who read Mother India.

Fosdick—The Old Savage in the New Civilization—a book which can be read at one sitting. It would stimulate thinking on the most challenging problem that confronts our generation. "What are we going to make of our new machinery?"

Byrne—Ireland, the Rock Where I was Born—Gives in exquisite form a lovely picture including dreams, poetic fancies and history of Ireland.

Bassett—The League of Nations—One of the newest and most authoritative books on the League of Nations. It will be invaluable for reference and study.

IN MEMORIAM

The shadows which fell with such distressing suddenness over Greenville and community, on December 9, in the death of Herbert A. White, will darken and sadden the hearts of those of us who are engaged in the profession so near and dear to his heart.

With pronounced capabilities in many lines of endeavor, a recognized leader and an able executive, with most efficient management capacity, Herbert White, for twenty-five years has justly earned the record of one of North Carolina's foremost self-made business men.

His activities were many and varied, but none held a higher place in his imagination and affection than his advancement in the city in which he lived, he devoted his time and talent without restraint and with characteristic energy. The many happy firesides at his coming Yuletide are but a tribute to his memory in homes that he pointed the way to build a finer memorial than any chiseled marble. His incorrupt practices and strict fidelity to duty and trusts at home have advanced the thought of building and loan throughout the state, and have left us an example to be proud of, even though not always attained.

To the League, he gave counsel and advice within the bounds of safety and progress and his contribution to its growth is justly a part of our position of help and advice to-day. Avert but none less ennobling, Herbert White will be remembered for the loyalty and devotion he bestowed upon the many friends, who to-day, will strive to carry on.

A kinder heart than Herbert White's has never ceased to beat, and may the thought sustain those of us who have known and loved him, that he did not live in vain.

PRINCE AND BRIDE ON BELATED HONEYMOON

New York, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Prince Vladimir De Rachesky, 35 years old, kin of the former imperial family of Russia, and his bride, Harriet Straus, 25 years old, daughter of Simon W. Straus, head of the Straus Brothers and Trust Company, were on a belated honeymoon today.

They were secretly married in Greenwich, Conn., at midnight December 6. Announcement of the marriage was made yesterday.

White, Dec. 14.—On Friday afternoon, Dec. 13, Mrs. W. H. Covert, accompanied with a lady, and her daughter in law, Mrs. Beth Carroll, were marriage to Mr. Cooper Ellis Taylor of Greenville, take place on Saturday, December 21.

The living room in which the guests were received, was very attractive with its decorations suggestive of the Yuletide season.

After much merriment caused by the writing of short stories and descriptions of the bride and groom, written by the guests and presented to Miss Carroll, Mrs. Covert the hostess, asked that the game of the three C's be played, in which the honoree, Mrs. Carroll, must be blind-folded. On removal of the blind-fold Mrs. Carroll found a beautifully decorated wagon loaded with gifts for the kitchen, presented her by the hostess and guests.

The dining room into which the guests were then invited, was beautifully decorated, the table being especially lovely, the centerpiece being a bridal scene, the bride in white satin and long veil of lace, the tiny flower girl in white lace and the maid of honor in yellow, with Dan Coppid suspended from the chandelier presiding over the scene.

The system, ably aided by Miss Louise and Myrtle Angel, served delicious tea, nut bread, fruit cake, ice cream made candies and stuffed dates.

Calles Assured Immunity While Passing Laredo

Laredo, Tex., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Official investigation by the United States Government has assured Plutarco Calles, former President of Mexico, immunity through Laredo on Tuesday or Wednesday. This was announced today after a week during which District Attorney John A. Williams was undecided whether he would serve the warrant for Calles' arrest, without regard for his diplomatic status of the visitor.

The uncertainty prevailed until a hour yesterday, when last-minute preparations to arrest Calles were abandoned. Calles and Laredo were accompanied as they passed the definite and specific information in a telegram signed by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson. The secretary of state expressed belief that any officer would be taking action which would be against the diplomatic status of the distinguished visitor. He asserted the government would "whatever steps were necessary" protect Calles.

Williams had instructed the sheriff to intercept Calles' train at a point near San Antonio and Laredo, bringing him here by automobile. Calles is believed to be in the hands of General Lucio Blanco, who is being handcuffed to that of the Mexican officer, was found the Rio Grande river July 8, 1922.

(By Mary Graham Bonner)

"I've only turned the time back a little way," the Little Black Clock old John any Peggy, "but we have to go quite a distance. I'm going to that sleigh once more that took us on our visit to Santa Claus."

"It went so quickly, and the ride was such a jolly one! I suppose I'm a bit old-fashioned, but I do like a good old sleigh."

The Little Black Clock grinned. "We like it, too," the children told him.

So, once more, they got into the sleigh, but this time they went off into the woods, and there, in the center was a large cave, with a man sitting just inside.

He was a tall man. He looked something like a giant, though he didn't act like one.

"Hello, Little Black Clock," the man said. "So you've brought me some visitors. Well, I'll give them some weak tea or some warm milk or something."

John and Peggy didn't think he sounded very exciting.

"Hello, children," he said, a tired note in his voice.

"Hello," they answered.

"You see, I'm a giant."

"We thought so, but weren't quite sure," John said.

"That's just the trouble. In the old days no one would have mistaken a member of the family, but times have changed. Alas, times have changed!"

"Now, my great, great, great grandfather would have suggested roasted boys or fried girls for a meal. All I offer is weak tea or warm milk."

"Boys and girls aren't afraid of giants any more. It has made us shrink. We were never so very terrible, but they thought so, and we let the terrible stories get around about us. Ah, times have changed."

The Giant's Story.

The Little Black Clock had taken John and Peggy to call on a giant. They never knew where the Clock would take them next. He had so many places and he knew so many people and he could do so many things!

Of course, having the magic that gave him the power to turn the time backward and forward gave him the chance to do almost anything he wished. He never could keep the ordinary time. The first of the family like him because he was a nice little clock, and quite old. They didn't object because his hands always pointed to seven o'clock.

But John and Peggy knew all that he could do. They knew how he could take them off every evening and even give them extra hours so they didn't lose any sleep. And they knew how he could take them back to the very same place where they had been the evening before, so that it seemed as though they had not gone back home in between.

Now they were talking to the giant in the woods, and the giant was very sad.

"Yes," the giant continued, "we have shrunk in size—such as there are of us left. I live off here by myself. I don't bother to go about. If anyone saw me they'd know I was a mild, nice, friendly soul."

"There used to be splendid stories about us—and the worse they made us out to be the better we liked it."

John and Peggy thought the giant was very funny, though they felt it would hurt his feelings if they told him so.

"Well," he ended, "it was good of you to come and see me, but I'll go back to my cave now and read my clock history. It tells about the famous giants of the past, and how they frightened people."

Alabama Democrats Formulate Plans for 1930 Campaign

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 16.—(AP) With the status of those who are expected to support the party's presidential nominee in last year's general election the uppermost question to be decided, the state Democratic Executive committee gathered today to formulate rules and regulations governing the 1930 primary.

Statements by political leaders at two directly opposite resolutions would be presented, one providing for exclusion of "bolters" and the other providing for the admission of all Democrats regardless of the candidate they voted for or supported last year.

The standing of J. Thomas Heflin, senior United States Senator from Alabama, who said he voted party ticket in his entirety, as the exception of the president, nominee, seemed likely to be terminated. Senator Heflin comes for re-election in 1930.

The status of Hugh A. Locke, of Birmingham, a candidate for governor, was expected to be considered in today's discussions. Locke campaigned strongly against Alfred Smith, and is generally recognized as opposing any action which would restrict Anti-Smith Democrats. He generally conceded that he runs on an Independent ticket "bolters" are barred.

One Killed In Riot at Mine; Several Hurt

Sydney, N. S. W. Dec. 16.—(AP) One miner was killed, and 54 others and six police were injured in a fight with police guards at Rothbury mine.

Four hundred miners, idle through closing of the shaft, attacked the guards and attempted to rush the mine premises. The police were armed. They opened fire with their revolvers.

A special train with police and anti-aircraft guns finally with the Federal cabinet decided immediately to intervene in the dispute which arose when the New South Wales government ordered the miners by attempting to open the colliery with free labor.

Premier Scullin telegraphed the mine leaders requesting that the miners be withdrawn from the colliery to avoid further clashes. The leaders replied they would do everything possible to comply with the request.

Premier Scullin also requested the minister of New South Wales, to suspend measures for opening the mine. The commonwealth arbitration court summoned a panel to a compulsory conference at Sydney tomorrow, but a state cabinet decided no good purpose would be served by participating.

Johnson Expects to Run for Gov. in 1932 Campaign

Raleigh, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Judge James L. Johnson of Lumberton, N. C., today on business in connection with his work, said that he is not ready to make any formal announcement as to his candidacy for governor in 1932 but that he expects to run.

"I do not propose to make any formal announcement until later," Judge Johnson said, "but you may say that I expect to be a candidate for the nomination in the moderate primary in 1932. I will, however, for some time continue to work on the bench."

Four other men are being prominently mentioned as Democratic gubernatorial candidates: Dennis B. Hill of Oxford, now at the law firm of Albert L. Cox of Raleigh; Richard T. Fountain of Rocky Mount, Lieutenant Governor; and J. C. B. Ehringhaus of Elizabeth City.

New York—The total income of the people of the United States in 1928 was $89,419,000,000, of which $1,123,000,000 was earned by employees, the national bureau of economic research has learned.

No Flowers for Casket of Aged Chicago Spender

Chicago, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Captain Edward W. Morrison, the million-dollar millionaire whose spendthrift days made him one of the best known figures among Chicago "good fellows," has not in death, a single wreath or flower on his solid bronze coffin.

Only a handful of persons called yesterday at the undertaking parlors to view the body of the 93-year-old man after whom a great Loop hotel was named. He had outlived all his old cronies, and good spenders often are quickly forgotten when spending days end.

101st Raid On Negro Club Gets Desired Results

Kansas City, Dec. 14.—(AP)—This "try, try, again" stuff is sure fire doctrine. Police proved that today when they made their 100th raid upon the East Side Musicians club, a negro organization.

In 10 raids upon the club quarters officers never were able to find evidence presentable in court. True, there were felt covered tables, dice and poker chips—but apparently no one ever played with them. Club members always were reading newspapers or "just recting" when raiders forced their way past a stout oak door.

Just after midnight the 100th raid was staged. Fifty-seven negroes were booked on charges of gambling, but there was no evidence against them. The 57 posted a $2,400 bond and returned to the club in a fleet of taxicabs.

Big Dirigible Was Launched Today

Howden, England, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The new British air ship, R.100, which with its sister ship, the R-101 is the largest aircraft in the world, was launched successfully soon after dawn today.

Captain Scott, commander of the R-101, commanded the ship in its first flight. Commander Burney went as passenger. After hours of cruising the ship waddled that everything was well.

Police Seek Man for Murder and Robbery of Bank

St. Joseph, Mich., Dec. 16.—(AP) While police throughout the middle west were seeking Frederick Dane today, as a murderer and bank robber, acquaintances here and neighbors on the fashionable Lake Shore Drive where three months ago he purchased a luxurious home were digesting a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde story.

Dane got into a tight place Saturday night and showed his true self. After a minor traffic accident, he was shot and fatally wounded. Charles Skelly, 30, motorcycle patrolman, rather than go to police headquarters for questioning, he forced three persons to aid him in escaping after wrecking his own car in his getaway.

Candle Lighting Service Given by the Presbyterians

A candle lighting service entitled "The Light of the World," was presented at the Presbyterian church last night. The service, one of the first of the series of Christmas entertainments to be held in the city during the holiday season, was largely attended and much interest was manifested in the program.

Rev. W. S. Harden, pastor of the church, explained that the service was held with two purposes in view. First, to increase interest in disabled ministers, widows and orphans, and second, to present the teachings of Jesus as the Light of the World.

He presented numbers of facts in connection with disabled ministers, widows and orphans, and showed that the burden was growing greater with the passing of each year. He said the appropriations to this cause were decreasing with each year because of the fact that the number of disabled ministers was increasing.

The candle lighting service, which might be denominated a pageant on a small scale, was staged under the direction of Miss Ruth Hillhouse, director of the department of Religious Education of the church, assisted by choir members of various city churches and the Presbyterian Sunday school.

CHRISTMAS TIMES.

(Poem by Helen Buck, 12 years.) Hurray for Christmas! Shout the girls and boys. Santa Claus is coming. With a sack of toys. Let's hug him and kiss him. The jolly old man. His long white beard. Catch his if you can.

Children dance around. In a big jubilee. So many happy children. Happy as can be. Sing a song for Santa Claus. Christmas is near. Hurray! Good Santa Claus! We all must cheer.

He is covered with toys. From his head to his feet. Oh, good old Santa Claus. We all must greet. He'll fill each stocking. From top to the heel. Each little girl and boy. How happy they will feel.

His reindeer will come. Through the ice and sleet. They don't make any noise. While the children sleep. So we must be nice children. Good as can be. For good children Santa Claus. Is always glad to see.

Santa Claus is a nice old man. Good as can be. He will leave us our toys. Then away he will flee. Next Christmas day. If we are good children. While he is away.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 1 to 3 points today under liquidation together with some southern and local selling which was promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables. January contracts eased off to 16.97 and May to 17.51 under the initial pressure or about 3 to 5 points net lower, but there appeared to be more trade buying at these figures which also attracted covering and prices held fairly steady at the end of the first half hour.

Reports of a good holiday business in various sections of the country may have brought in a little buying at the decline but trading was quiet. Liverpool cables reported hedging and local liquidation of near months but said that the continent was buying later deliveries in that market. These advices said there was only a limited business in cotton cloths and that yarns were pressed for sale.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Brisk upturns in wheat values with active buying followed an official statement today that the Federal Farm Board is determined wheat prices shall advance. Unlimited funds will be available for loans to wheat growers. Smallness of today's decrease of 512,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply failed to check the resulting upward swing of the market.

Wheat closed strong, 2 1/8 to 2 5/8 cents a bushel higher than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 3/4 to 1 1/4 advance; oats 1/4 to 3/8 to 5/8 up, and provisions varying from 7 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The stock market began the new week with extreme hesitancy. The highly checked market of last week, interrupting the rapid rally from the low of mid-November, appeared to have injected a new note of uncertainty into market sentiment, and there was a noteworthy tendency to lighten accounts and curtail operations pending definite evidence of a trend.

Failure of the Interstate Commerce Commission to announce over the week-end its consolidation plan, which was widely expected, was disappointing, and caused considerable disappointment.

Call money held at 4 1/2 per cent, but was available in the outside market at 4. The demand was light, however, and underlying credit conditions were not tested.

November foreign trade figures were fairly satisfactory, showing a substantial increase in exports, but a still larger increase in imports. Reports over the week-end indicated further slackening of steel mill activity, but considerable confidence in the outlook for early next year.

American Water Works, National Biscuit, Stone and Webster, General Electric, Johns Manville, Standard Gas, and U. S. Steel, Industrial Alcohol dropped 5 to 8 points, and such shares as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can and Foreign Power, Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse Electric and American Smelting sagged 3 to 4.

Shires Demands $25,000 From Sox Next Year

Chicago, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires wants $25,000 to play first base for the White Sox next summer—or else—Shires, whose contract last year called for $8,500, demands the big increase, or, he declares, the American league will have lost its greatest first baseman.

"When I beat a few more of these alleged fighters, I will be ready to talk terms with Mr. Comiskey," he said. "I want $25,000 to play the first sack for the White Sox and if I don't get it, I will keep on fighting." My contract last year called for $8,500, but by the time I got through paying fines, and salary deducted for suspensions, I didn't have more than $5,000 left. And I've got to get it back."

O.H. Laughinghouse, then a practicing physician of Greenville, but now secretary of the North Carolina Board of Health.

Pitt county, of which Greenville is its capital not only produces but sells more bright tobacco than any county in the world, and Greenville is the second largest market and recognized by the tobacco growers from 25 or more counties as the best market in the state.

Concluding this message from Greenville, North Carolina, the remaining few minutes that I have should prove especially interesting to the people of Eastern Carolina.

One of the pronounced growths of Greenville during the past few years has been that of its mercantile interests. This has been brought about by absolute co-operation of its merchants with the offices of the Merchants Association as the center of activities. After a geographical study of Greenville it became known that without a doubt it was the "Hub of Eastern Carolina," and this being true, its future as the principal shopping center east of Raleigh was soon realized, and our merchants have set up standards in merchandising that would do credit to any city with a population five times that of Greenville.

Today to place Greenville's trading radius at seventy-five miles would be very conservative. Modern methods of merchandising, equal of which is seldom found even in the larger cities has played an important part in the distinction Greenville has gained as the east's principal trading center. Then, too, complete organization of the sales forces under the management of the respective business, which has been perfected to serve the buying public to their satisfaction, has attracted the shoppers to Greenville, and such service being broadcasted by the buying interest has made our merchants the largest in the east in their respective lines.

For several years Greenville has at Christmas time lead the towns and cities in decorations and special lighting, and tonight as I speak to you the sky for a radius of several miles of Greenville is aglow from the thousands of colored lights already installed in the business and residential sections, and there are yet many more thousands to be added.

Concluding our message, we invite you to listen in on next Thursday at the same hour when we will bring another message. And we say it all sincerely, "Our Greenville Years If You Come." I thank you and good night.
