NEW CONCEPT OF EVOLUTION GIVEN AIRING

Dr. Henry Osborn Tells Scientists At Des Moines About Theory

Des Moines, Iowa, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A new concept of evolution, one that attempts to shake apes out of the human family tree without altering other ideas of Darwin, was laid before the American Association for the Advancement of Science last night.

Its author, Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn of New York, retiring president of the association, said:

"I am entering a field where I am almost alone. I am adopting a new concept in holding that man's origin was not in the warm forest, as Darwin suggested, but upon the open plateau, without the easy shelter, without the food source that come readily in most tropical forests, and without the means of retreat from danger afforded in forest by climbing trees.

"The concept which I am defending as one that man could not have risen—his brain could not have developed—without severe struggle for existing, against enemies, to get food and to cover his body. Since the forest is proverbially a deterrent to civilization, we must find for man's development a stimulating atmosphere, such as we live under today.

"It is highly significant that the Cro-Magnon man of Europe brain size is above the average of moderns, lived in highly unfavorable glacial conditions. Contrast this with the fact that during a different period when living conditions in Europe were easier, the Neanderthal man, a lower type of intelligence, flourished. I think this bears out my plateau hypothesis."

In a screen Dr. Osborn showed pictures of ape and human hand and foot development to demonstrate his belief that apes could not have flourished in the open country where man lived. He said there is reason to think that man may have lived in the open since soon after the close of the Eocene period, an era estimated usually as about 50,000,000 years ago.

"I am trying," he said, "to defend the much despised cave man. I am trying to redeem this whole story of the rise of man, and to put it on the lofty plain where it belongs. And I am trying also to show that the main branch of the Darwinian hypothesis is not based on the Darwinian hypothesis, but is based on the primitive ape-man concept of the primitive ape-man inhabiting a warm, forest-clad land."

In proof that man's origin is an independent, highly intelligent being, Dr. Osborn said that it has been discovered recently that the Pliocene man who lived in what now is Sussex, England, 1,250,000 years ago, had a brain size about the same as that of the now living Veddas of India, the Patauans of New Guinea and the native Australians.

"This discovery," he said, "shows that the development of that to me most mysterious of all things, the human brain, is a matter of the immensely remote periods of Tertiary time, instead of in quarterly time as we always have supposed."

Dr. Osborn said he believes man emerged from the forests to his plateau development in central Asia. He remarked that the discoveries of ancient man near Peiping, reported this month, are important.

He is the third internationally known American scientist this year to suggest modifications in ideas of evolution.

Dr. Gerit S. Miller, United States National Museum, and Austin H. Clark, of the United States Museum, are the others. All three, are careful to say they are not throwing evolution overboard. Their work points to a kind of evolution different from the popular conception of man descending from apes or from some ape-like ancestor.

Kentucky Bandit Sent to Nashville for Safe Keeping

Bowling Green, Ky., Dec. 28.—(AP)—One of the three bandits who Thursday shot and killed J. Robert Kirby, Smith's Grove Bank manager, after robbing the bank at Oakland, this county, was captured here early this morning and taken in an automobile to Nashville, Tenn., for safe keeping.

The man, Elmer Grayson, and former resident of Minneapolis, was found in the home of Blaine Duff, a connection by marriage, and officers had been close on his trail for five hours. He was brought to Bowling Green in an automobile by French Elrod, a friend, and Elrod was held by officers today.

Man Shot Down In Attempt to Rob H. P. Cafe

High Point, Dec. 28.—(AP)—H. D. Alderson, 24, whose residence has not yet been determined, was shot and killed here early today by L. G. Campbell, a restaurant owner.

Campbell told police Alderson and a companion who escaped, were trying to force their way into his cafe. Campbell, following two previous attempts to rob the place, was hiding in the restaurant.

First, he said, two men tried to open the front door, but were frightened away by a passing automobile. A few minutes later, two men appeared at a side door. Campbell fired after one of the men had broken open a glass and was reaching inside to open the door and Alderson fell dead. His companion fled.

Campbell is held in bail of $500 for a hearing this afternoon.

KIWANIANS HEAR ABOUT CHRISTMAS

Rev. A. W. Fleischmann Delivers Main Talk of Christmas Program

Last night was Christmas with members of the Greenville Kiwanis club and a delightful program dealing with the Yuletide season was presented under direction of Rev. W. A. Lillycrop, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church.

President Ralph Deal presided over the session and C. B. Rowlett led the singing of two or three songs dealing with the Christmas season. Miss Edna Smith acted as accompanist. The principal, and in fact, the only talk of the evening was made by Rev. W. A. Fleischmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist church. It was a talk dealing with the significance of Christmas, and called forth much applause.

The part which the child of the manger has played in the life of all nations was set forth in an interesting way by the speaker, who urged the Kiwanians to give more attention to his teachings and in that way gain a deeper and truer meaning of the holidays.

C. B. Rowlett, secretary of the club, was presented with a gift as an expression of appreciation of the splendid services which he rendered during the year. The presentation was made by J. J. Summerell.

President Ralph Deal called attention to the fact that this was the last meeting of the year, and that new officers would be installed at the next meeting of the club. Reports of the various committees will also be heard at this time and resolutions point to one of the busiest sessions in sometime.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR WEEK BEGINNING MONDAY

South Atlantic States: Mostly fair weather with temperatures near or slightly below normal most of the week. Cold spell preceded by rains indicated near end of the week.

Washington Still Honors Ortiz Rubio

Washington, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Academic Washington followed officialdom today in honoring Pascual Ortiz Rubio, president-elect of Mexico, who is visiting the capital.

The future "first magistrate" of the southern republic was given the honorary degree of doctor of laws at a convocation of the faculty of George Washington University in Memorial Continental Hall.

Following the ceremony, the president-elect and his entourage went to Annapolis as guests of Admiral Robison, superintendent of the naval academy.

Whooping Cough On Increase in North Carolina

Raleigh, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The weekly report on contagious diseases, issued by the bureau of epidemiology of the State Board of Health, showed an increase throughout in whooping cough cases for the week ending December 21, but indicated a decline in cases of diphtheria and scarlet fever, as compared with the preceding week.

Thirteen cases of smallpox were reported, an increase of two over the cases reported the previous week. But three typhoid cases were on record, a decrease of two. There were 74 scarlet fever cases, last week 103 were reported.

Whooping cough cases jumped from 159 in the previous report to 223 cases.

Among the counties which did not report any of the above diseases were Buncombe, Mecklenburg, New Hanover and Wilson.

PRES. HOOVER EXPECTS MUCH CONSTRUCTION

Anticipates Report From Governors of States Showing Increase in Work

Washington, Dec. 28.—(AP)—President Hoover expects to have by the first of the year complete reports from the governors of the states showing a highly encouraging total of state construction in prospect for the coming year.

Thus far, partial reports from twenty-six states reveal programs for building public works totaling $825,000,000. This figure, representing as it does, but little more than half the country, has been highly gratifying to the chief executive, in his effort to stabilize business conditions.

The reports are being received in response to a request from the chief executive that the state governments expand their building programs for the coming year as one means of meeting any possible slackening in employment that might follow the recent stock market collapse.

Mr. Hoover was much encouraged, too, by reports from the commerce department showing that Christmas business the country over was virtually equal to that of last year, there was a slight drop in some localities, which was offset by increases in others. The sections registering a decline were not revealed.

Wilson Peace Prize Awarded to League

New York, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The Woodrow Wilson peace prize for 1929, amounting to $25,000, has been awarded to the League of Nations for "seven years of service in the cause of world peace."

Announcement of the decision of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation to make this year's award to the League was published today, the seventy-third anniversary of Woodrow Wilson's birthday.

Sir Eric Drummond, permanent secretary of the League, has accepted the award tentatively. Final acceptance rests with the council of the League which meets in January.

Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, secretary of war in the Wilson cabinet and president of the foundation, said in announcing the award: "The money is expected to be applied by the League of Nations to erect a suitable memorial to Mr. Wilson in the new building to be erected by the League at Geneva."

Officials of the foundation said that although the League could use the money as it saw fit, it was hoped that it would be used for a set of bronze doors to be placed at the entrance of the $4,000,000 building being constructed for the League. The cornerstone of the building was laid last summer. It is to be finished in the spring.

Attempt to Learn Cause of Death of Two N. Y. Women

New York, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Chemical analysis of the contents of a tumbler and a bottle was ordered today in an effort to learn the cause of the deaths of two women whose bodies were found in a hotel room.

The women registered at the Hotel Pennsylvania December 19th as Mrs. Catherine Smith and Mrs. M. A. Dreyfus, giving their address as 1023 Beacon street, Boston. Mrs. Smith appeared to be about seventy years old and Mrs. Dreyfus about 45.

Hotel employees said they thought they were aunt and niece. They were last seen alive Thursday. After a "Do not disturb" sign had hung on their door 24 hours, a house detective entered the room with a pass key. The bodies of the women were found on the two beds.

Nationalist Head Provides Program for Great Reform

Shanghai, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Chiang Kai-shek, head of the Nationalist government, announced today through Kuomin, the official nationalist news agency, that he had completed "a comprehensive program providing for sweeping political reforms in the administration of the nationalist government."

The announcement said the program would be made public on New Year's Day. At the same time Chiang issued a statement to the press of China in which he encouraged free and constructive criticism and discussion by newspapers throughout the country of things relating to party and government affairs.

Dry Senators To Attempt To Break "Secret Policy" Of Hoover's Commission

Washington, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The prospective prohibition report of the Hoover law enforcement commission only partially satisfies the demands of "dry" Senators who have been clamoring for information on the progress of the commission's survey.

An effort will now be made, Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, said today, to break down the policy of secrecy under which the commission has been operating and bring about the substitution of open hearings.

The heated controversy over the enforcement of liquor laws, which has been in progress for the past week, was precipitated by a demand from Harris that the law enforcement group make a report on prohibition and by his request that no more funds be appropriated for it until such a report is forthcoming.

With this he coupled the demand that this be done.

Two government departments, a sizeable group of "dry" senators and the white house have been brought into the controversy which followed Harris' original demand.

It has only now developed, that during the entire course of the discussion, the commission had prepared and ready for publication a report on its prohibition conclusions so far as its survey has gone.

This takes cognizance of four conditions believed to be at error, and recommendations will be made for legislation to relieve congestion in the Federal courts; centralize control of the border traffic, now shared by the Coast Guard, customs, narcotics and immigration services; unify enforcement and administration of the "dry" laws in the Justice department by transferring to it the agencies now in the treasury; and codify the Federal laws dealing with prohibition.

Three of these recommendations have already been made by President Hoover and the fourth, that of centralization responsibility on the border, was advanced several days ago by Undersecretary Mills of the treasury department, in reply to criticisms of enforcement from members of the Senate.

Motorist Hits Chicago Judge With Iron Bar

Chicago, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Judge Francis Borrelli of municipal court was struck on the head with an iron bar early today following a dispute resulting from a motor car collision, but he led members of his party in capturing his alleged assailant.

The Borrelli car had been rammed from behind, and the other machine sped away. Judge Borrelli pursued and finally forced the other car to the curb. The two drivers got out and an argument ensued. Judge Borrelli said the other driver suddenly produced an iron bar and struck him.

The man, who said he was Edward Bennett, was arrested on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, driving while intoxicated, leaving the scene of an accident and disorderly conduct.

M. D. LASSITER DIED AT HOME HERE FRIDAY

Funeral Services Conducted From Late Home This Afternoon

M. D. Lassiter, age 73, died yesterday at his home on Dickerson avenue at 3:45 P. M., following an illness of a few weeks. Funeral services were conducted at his late home this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock by Rev. E. L. Hillman pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, assisted by Rev. W. L. Bilbro of Greenwood Cemetery.

Burial followed in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Lassiter was born in Greene county where he lived about fifty years, and was engaged in farming. He was a member of one of the oldest families of the county and lived for many years on the old family land grant, that is still retained in the family. He moved to Greenville about twenty years ago and entered the tobacco industry. He has been instrumental in the enlargement of the tobacco market and its facilities here and had been actively engaged in real estate business.

He is survived by one son, Dow Lassiter, Jr., and several nieces and nephews. His wife was Miss Pannina Beaman died in October 1926.

He denounced as "lies" the charges of Police Inspector Joseph J. Donovan that he had arranged the "hold-up" of a dinner in honor of Magistrate Albert Vitale December 7th in order to ransom a "contract" he had made with a Chicago gunman whereby he had agreed to pay $20,000 for the murder of Frankie Yale and Frank Marlow.

When Mayor Walker's attention was called to Terranova's statement that he was being made the goat in a political row, he said:

THREE MEN DIE WHEN TRAPPED BY POLICEMEN

Chicago, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Three racketeers hunting easy money with shotguns and revolvers, were trapped by police last night and died resisting arrest.

The racketeers had gone to the offices of President Michael Powers of the Tire Workers and Repair Vulcanizers' Union, demanding $10,000 or Powers' life. If Powers didn't pay, they warned him, they would get him out of the way and take over control of the union themselves under the racketeer's theory that might be right.

Powers called upon police for protection. Officers were concealed at the union headquarters when the racketeers arrived. Five minutes later a police ambulance drove up to take one policeman, slightly wounded, to the hospital, and three bodies to the morgue.

The dead: William (Dinky) Quan, with a police record dating back to 1920 and including an indictment for murder and arrests and convictions for burglary, larceny and disorderly conduct.

William Wilson, alias Walker, called "the silver plated gangster," the first victim of gangster machine guns in Chicago and with a police record dating to 1915. A silver plate in his skull, necessitated by a bullet wound, gave him his sobriquet.

The injured policeman was Detective Ray Doherty. He was shot in the hand.

It was Doherty, concealed in a rear room, who precipitated the shooting. The extortionists had entered Powers' office, Quan in the lead, stumbling along with the aid of a cane. He had not recovered from a bullet wound in the leg suffered several weeks ago. Powers stood behind a grated opening sometimes used as a paying teller's window.

"Well, have you got the ten grand?" Quan snarled.

Powers played for time, but Quan wanted action.

At this moment Detective Doherty tried to open the door slightly to be able better to hear what was going on. The door squeaked and the three racketeers whirled.

"Coppers!" cried Wilson, and opened fire. It was this shot that wounded Doherty.

His companions, however, kept on firing, sealing the death warrant of all three.

British Dirigible To Be Cut in Two

New York, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A London dispatch to the New York Times today said that the R-101, giant new British dirigible, would be cut in two and a new section 75 feet long would be inserted.

The new section will contain a gas bag of about 500,000 cubic feet capacity and will give the airship, which will be the world's largest, a total gas capacity of 5,500,000 cubic feet. Length of the ship will be more than 800 feet.

Arrest Youth Believed to Be Girl's Slayer

Florence, Wis., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Guards kept watch today over the jail cell of a youth said by Florence county officials to answer in detail the description of Erdman Olson, fugitive slayer of his sweetheart, Clara Olson.

Arrested at a lumber camp deep in the woods near the upper Michigan border, the youth refused to give his name or tell where he had come from.

The Olson case drew national attention three years ago and since that time an unending search has been conducted for Erdman, who vanished from college a few days before his sweetheart's body was found in a shallow grave on a hill near Rising Sun, Wis. The girl's parents believe Olson still is alive and possibly living within the state of Wisconsin.

Former Dry Officer Files Damage Suit Against Colliers

Denver, Colo., Dec. 28.—(AP)—E. H. McClenahan, former federal prohibition administrator, has filed suit for $100,000 damages here, naming Colliers' Weekly and William G. Shepherd, a staff writer, co-defendants.

The suit is the outgrowth of an article "Sugar Moon," written by Shepherd in the December 29, 1928, issue of the magazine.

"Sugar Moon" was one of a series of articles on liquor conditions throughout the nation and contained statements concerning illicit liquor traffic in Colorado.

HUNT FOR LOST FLIERS GAINS GREAT SCOPE

Russian Government Decides to Send Out Three More Planes in Search of Eileson

Fairbanks, Alaska, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Preparations for the actual hunt for Carl Ben Eileson and Earl Borland, American aviators lost somewhere in the vicinity of North Cape, Siberia, gained momentum on both sides of the Pacific today.

Moscow advices disclosed that the Russian government has decided to send three more airplanes to aid in the hunt in addition to three already promised.

Three planes shipped here from Seattle aboard the coast guard cutter Chelan virtually were ready for test flights today as a preliminary to their flying to Nome or Teller and thence across Bering Strait to North Cape. It was believed that the three planes here to be piloted by Canadian fliers, would be able to leave for the Seward peninsula either Monday or Tuesday.

No word has been received for several days from pilots Joe Crosson and Harold Gilliam, who are at the Nanuk, fur trading ship locked in the ice at North Cape, Siberia. Eileson and Borland were flying to the ship when they dropped from sight.

The minority leader recently asked Representative Ramseyer, Republican, Iowa, a member of the House Ways and Means committee and a critic of the Hawley bill, if he would agree "to concur in the Senate rates if they are preferable and more in the interest of the farmers than the House rates?"

The Iowan replied that if he regarded the Senate rates preferable throughout, he would avail himself of "every parliamentary means to retain the rates that are preferable and get them enacted into law."

Rockefeller Gives Christmas Party

Ormond Beach, Fla., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Relatives and townspeople who annually enjoy the hospitality of their neighbor, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., today unwrapped gifts from his Christmas tree.

Smiling broadly the 90-year-old oil magnate last night entertained guests, among whom were his granddaughter, the former Mathilde McCormick, her husband, Max Oser, Swiss riding master, and their three children, David Rockefeller, 14, his grandson, and General Adelbert Ames, close friend and golf partner, also were present at Mr. Rockefeller's yearly Christmas party.

A giant evergreen, its lights illuminating the entire first floor of the casements, was filled with gifts. The guests brought tokens with them.

"Mr. R.," as he is known to members of his household, is fond of Christmas carols and he stood close by a piano and led in some as they were sung by a quartet from a Daytona Beach luncheon club.

The party began at 8 o'clock in the evening and lasted for two hours. Simple refreshments were served.

Bank Messenger Robbed of $6,300 In New York City

New York, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Two men armed with pistols today accosted a bank messenger, beat him and escaped with a $6,300 payroll he was carrying. Parked nearby was an automobile in which a second messenger and a chauffeur were guarding nine other pay rolls.

The robbed messenger, Frances Lauer, 40, of Westwood, N. J., was employed by the chemical bank and trust company.

Begs for Strikers

New York—David Weiss, 17, bespectacled high school student, was in court for gaging in the subway in behalf of Gastonia strikers. He identified himself as a member of the junior communist league and started a speech on communism.

Magistrate Sabbatino said he would like to blacken the lad's eyes, then suggested that his mother buy a cat o' nine tails, then ordered him out of the court room lest a martyr be made of him.

TEXAN SEEKS COALITION ON TARIFF BILL

Representative Garner Extends Invitation to Republicans to Control Fight

Washington, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Representative Garner of Texas, the Democratic leader, today extended an invitation to the independent Republicans of the House to join in forming a coalition similar to that controlling the tariff bill in the Senate.

The object of his move, he said, was to insure the final enactment of the tariff rates written into the Smoot-Hawley bill by the Senate combination. This would be done, he explained, by the House approving the Senate rate sections and sending only the administrative sections of the measure to conference.

The scheme has been discussed and worked out by Democratic leaders and includes a demand for a record vote when the Senate bill comes back to the House.

"If the progressive Republicans are consistent," he said, "in their declarations that they favor rates which will assure parity between agriculture and industry, they should join with the Democrats in voting the Senate rates and sending to conference only the administrative sections of the measure."

"The Senate coalition has pointed the way to secure for the American farmer the tariff rates essential to place agriculture upon a prosperous basis, and every friend of agriculture, regardless of party affiliation, should co-operate in achieving this very desirable end."

Although Garner has yet to receive any replies to his invitation, the tariff bill passed by the House has been adversely criticized by a number of mid-western House Republicans who had to be brought into line by the Republican leaders when it was before the House.

The minority leader recently asked Representative Ramseyer, Republican, Iowa, a member of the House Ways and Means committee and a critic of the Hawley bill, if he would agree "to concur in the Senate rates if they are preferable and more in the interest of the farmers than the House rates?"

The Iowan replied that if he regarded the Senate rates preferable throughout, he would avail himself of "every parliamentary means to retain the rates that are preferable and get them enacted into law."

"The Senate has not completed its work," Garner said, "but the agricultural rates written into the bill by the Senate coalition make it obvious that while the measure may be far from perfect it is the most pronounced step ever taken toward securing for agriculture some measure of benefit through tariff legislation."

Describing the Hawley bill as the "most indefensible piece of tariff legislation ever submitted to congress," Garner said that in response to the farmers' pleas for equality the rates on practically every commodity the farmer is compelled to buy were increased.

White Rats Learn Some Mathematics

Des Moines, Iowa, Dec. 28.—(AP)—White rats are going to school and becoming skilled in geometry.

Prof. Paul E. Fields of Ohio State University, today told psychologists meeting with the American Association for the Advancement of Science how 24 rats, through hundreds of lessons, were able to distinguish between various triangles.

The study, undertaken to determine the nature of sight in the rodents, indicated that they rely upon a large, slightly blurred image for perception.

The rats were able to distinguish between certain geometrical figures, different sizes of triangles, triangles placed on their points or flat sides, and those placed at varying distances.

Richmond Man Is Shot and Killed During Deer Hunt

Estill, S. C., Dec. 28.—(AP)—John C. Easley of Richmond, Va., vice-president of the Southern Bond and Mortgage Company and the Title Insurance Company, was shot and killed accidentally yesterday on a deer hunt by the son of his host.

Mrs. Charles A. Harper said that her 16-year-old son, William, fired the fatal shot.

With other guests, Mr. Easley went to a stand on Mr. Harper's game preserve. Young Harper, riding behind the dogs on a drive, shot at a deer. The bullet struck Mr. Easley in the temple. Apparently he had left the stand. It was an hour or more before his body was found. He was 67 years old.

OBSCENE PUBLICATIONS

It may be Puritanism. If so, it is good Puritanism. A Cambridge (Mass.) book-seller has been given one month in jail and fined $500 for selling an obscene volume. This indecent and prurient stuff is debauching many youthful minds.

On the day before the Supreme Court of Minnesota upheld a statute that suppresses publications printing "malicious, scandalous and defamatory matter." The ruling declared that "presumably an evil, inimical to the public welfare, existed in this State which the Legislature intended to remedy."

"No claim is advanced," the opinion continued, "that the method and character of the operation of the newspaper in question was not a nuisance if the statute is constitutional. It was regularly and customarily devoted to malicious, scandalous and defamatory matter."

Censorship is dangerous because no plan has been devised to censor. But manifestly when publications reek with obscenity, their publication and sale should be prohibited. The dividing line is often very narrow.

An act giving power to suppress a publication that is printing "malicious, scandalous and defamatory matter" seeks a good end, but it also has its dangers. The power should not be lodged in a judge, as the Minnesota statute does, but in a jury where the publisher may have a trial by a jury of his peers.

The whole matter is so difficult that many advise doing nothing. But the evil is so destructive that statesmanship should devise ways to protect liberties without shutting the eyes to license and to obscenity and vulgarity.—News & Observer.

Drinking of contraband whiskey among the young men and women of the various communities is one of the most disgusting things that has come to the attention of the public in recent months.

Right recently youths hardly beyond the knee-pants age were arrested for excessive drinking, or to put it more plainly, for getting drunk. It is bad enough for older persons to impair their health and vitality by drinking the vile brand of whiskey produced in this country at this time, but it is alarming indeed when youth begins imbibing excessively.

In fact, it seems to be a popular idea among modern youth that they can get any kick out of life without simulators such as that furnished by the surreptitious bootlegger, moving from one location to another with the stealth of some hunted animal.

Nothing tends to tear down the fibre of American life more than excessive drinking, and it is to be hoped that the young men or women who think they are getting a "kick" out of drunkenness will wake up to the keen realization that "kicks" come not through drunken insane brains, but from keen, clear intellects ready to act promptly and decisively in any great emergency.

Business interests of Greenville have begun the annual taking of inventories to determine what they will carry over into the new year.

Some will show better than the same date last year, while others will not pan out quite so good, but in either case, the future holds forth the same possibilities as past years, and where there is a will and desire to improve, it is a ten to one bet that the ambition will be realized.

However, this stock-taking business should be considered from another angle. Not all of us can be merchants or dealers in other lines with goods awaiting inventory, but we do take a glance and determine how we are going to stand with the advent of the New Year. The past year may not have been exactly as we should have had it, but here's the future ahead, and it can be moulded along the lines we fashion for it.

Think over the past, and if your ambitions did not materialize, resolve to put them across during the approaching year, or to pave the way for materialization in the years to come.

but the market held fairly steady as offerings were light and there was a little week-end covering.

Liverpool cables reported that trade calling had absorbed heading and Continental liquidation in that market.

The amount of cotton on ship-board awaiting clearance at that end of the week was estimated at 184,000 bales against 174,000 last year.

Quick Relief for Coughing Spells

Famous Prescription Stops Them Almost Instantly
The phenomenal success of a doctor's famous prescription called Thoxine is due to its double action. It immediately soothes the irritation and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by patent medicines and cough syrups. The very first swallow usually stops even the most obstinate cough.
Thoxine contains no harmful drugs, is pleasant tasting and safe for the whole family. Sold on a money back guarantee to give better and quicker relief for coughs or sore throat than anything you have ever tried. Ask for Thoxine, put up ready for use in 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Pitt Drug Co.

Bessie Love Weds California Broker

At the altar of St. James Episcopal church, Miss Love last night became the wife of the prominent young Beverly Hills stockbroker, whose two brothers, Kenneth and Howard Hawks, already had married into film-making families.

It was an event which captured the cinema city's social fancy, and the personages of movieland flocked into the unpolished pews to witness the ceremony and extend wishes for her happiness.

Through it all Miss Love's flashing smile played upon the great and the near-great alike, not missing the throngs which jammed a rebarbaric street without.

The social climax to a career which began when she put up her hair at the age of 15 and discarded her real name, Juanita Horton, appeared to weigh upon her not a whit.

Elanch Sweet, now Mrs. Marshall Neiland, in rose pink tulle with a corsage of butter-lyer roses, was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ralph Blum, Carmel Myers, who is still on the screen; Mrs. Irving Thalberg, the former Norma Shearer; Mrs. Howard Hawks, sister of Mrs. Shearer; Mrs. Kenneth Hawks the Mary Astor of filmdom; Sebe Daniels, and Edith and Irene Mayer.

The bride's wedding gown was draped to her figure with old Dutch lace, and trimmed with a fall of ribbons of lily of the valley and orange blossoms.

She carried also an old-fashioned bouquet of lilies of the valley and orange blossoms, the latter from the bridegroom's Southern California ranch.
