DR. C. J. ELLEN DIES SUDDENLY IN THIS CITY

Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist Drops Dead in Office of Dr. Dixon

Dr. C. J. Ellen, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, and one of the most beloved citizens of the community, died suddenly today at the office of Dr. Joseph Dixon in the National Bank Building at Five Points. He was 43 years of age.

Although he had been in declining health over a period of several weeks, Dr. Ellen continued to observe partial office hours in order to care for the number of patients coming under his supervision from day to day.

This morning about 11 o'clock he went to the office of Dr. Dixon for treatment. After exchanging the usual pleasantries, Dr. Ellen was preparing to lie down on an operating table, when he suddenly collapsed, and died almost instantly.

Cicero J. Ellen was born on his father's farm situated seven miles northwest of Rocky Mount, Nash county, North Carolina, August 12, 1886, son of Hon. Cicero F. and Patie (Lancaster) Ellen.

He received his early educational training in the public schools of Nash county, after which he entered Mars Hill College, at Mars Hill, North Carolina, from which institution he was graduated with credit in the class of 1907, with the degree of B. S. His medical education followed in the University College of Medicine, now the Medical College of Virginia, at Richmond, from which he was graduated on May 25, 1911, with the degree of M. D., and membership in the Alpha Kappa (medical) Greek letter fraternity. From 1910 to 1911 he served as an interne in the Sheltering Arms Hospital at Richmond.

After leaving medical college Doctor Ellen established himself in practice at Red Oak, North Carolina, where in work and study four and a half years soon passed away, but during this time the studious young physician had become greatly interested in many cases of disease of the respiratory organs in particular, and in 1916 he went to New York City and took a special post-graduate course in diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat in the New York Post-Graduate School and Hospital. He came then to Greenville, since then giving the larger part of his professional attention to this important line of practice.

In the meantime, however, as the shadow of a great war conflict in Europe came nearer and nearer his own country, Doctor Ellen, although a family man, determined that no personal consideration should prevent his offering his services, and on August 3, 1917, they were accepted and he was sent to Camp Greenleaf, Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, assigned to the Officers Training Camp and commissioned a first lieutenant in the United States Medical Corps.

On September 30, 1917, he was transferred to Camp Forrest at Fort Oglethorpe and assigned to the Field Hospital there, serving until November 20, 1917, when he was transferred to Base Hospital, Camp Green, Charlotte, N. C., where he remained until he was honorably discharged December 8, 1918, in the meantime having been commissioned captain on December 20, 1917. Doctor Ellen returned then to Greenville and to his suspended practice, accepting the office of surgical specialist for the Pitt County Community Hospital, where he was held in high esteem.

At Mars Hill, N. C., December 20, 1911, Doctor Ellen married Miss Grace Bruce, daughter of Charles C. and Mrs. (Ramsay) Bruce, prominent residents of Mars Hill, where Mr. Bruce was a leading lumber merchant. Surviving the union are three children, Bruce Parker, Cicero Jasper, Jr., and Martha Lancaster.

Dr. Ellen had always been a man of deep and abiding religious faith and was an active member of the Memorial Missionary Baptist church. Aside from being chairman of the board of deacons, Dr. Ellen each Sunday taught the Young Men's Bible class and in this way kept in intimate touch with the ambitions and aspirations of the young life of the community.

During 1920 and 1921 Dr. Ellen was president of the Pitt County Medical Society. He was also a member of the Second District Medical Society of the North Carolina Medical Association, and a fellow of the American Medical Association.

He also demonstrated an active interest in all things pertaining to the business and industrial life of the community. He was a former president of the Greenville Building and Loan association. He was a former president and member of the Greenville Rotary Club, having resigned several weeks ago on account of illness and in order to preserve a perfect attendance record

Intention Of British To Reduce Battle Cruisers Draws Interest Of U. S.

S. S. George Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Announcement by first lord of the admiralty, A. V. Alexander in Great Britain yesterday that his government would consent at the forthcoming London conference to reduce the number of its battle cruisers from 70 to 50 created considerable interest among the American delegation aboard this ship today.

But it was not believed that the British announcement would remove British cruiser strength as a live issue from the London negotiations. The feeling was, rather, that remaining difficulties would have to do with size and type of ship, instead of their exact number.

The French and Italian situation has been frankly puzzling. But Colonel Henry L. Stimson, American secretary of state, was believed to be confident some solution was possible and would be found. Doubtless one of his first conferences will be with the French delegation head, but with the idea of mediation but in the hope of assuring that all parties to the conference approach it with a conciliatory spirit.

London, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Announcement of A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, that Great Britain is willing to reduce its cruiser complement from 70 to 50 at the forthcoming London conference has not found so strong a welcome from the British press as he may have hoped.

In editorials in two newspapers today there was a distinct note of warning and fear lest the Kellogg Pact as a guarantee of peace was being over-rated, and Great Britain's security be compromised.

The Times, Independent, moderately conservative, but supporting any government as far as possible, called for a more detailed explanation as to how a reduction was justified, and pointed out that the peaceful outlook of the moment was due rather to a general war weariness than to international agreements.

"The Kellogg Pact—all honor to it—registers and confirmed an existing situation," the Times said. "For this reason there is no cause merely in being signatory to the fact for such a substantial change of view."

Even assuming the possibility of war is at present negligible, the paper contended, "it is being at the wrong end to cut down our cruisers which are needed for peace as well as war instead of dealing first with huge battleships which exist for war and war only."

NORFOLK MAN TESTIFIES AT COTTON PROBE

Ralph Jones Says Depressed Prices Due to Huge Manipulative Straddlers

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—T. Ralph Jones, Norfolk, Va., cotton merchant, told a Senate agriculture sub-committee investigating the cotton exchanges that southern deliveries, in effect since October, and huge manipulative straddlers were responsible for the present depressed market for cotton.

Jones referred to testimony of W. L. Clayton, of Anderson, Clayton & Company, Houston, Texas, cotton firm, whose name had figured in many discussions of the situation.

"It doesn't stand to reason," he said, "that Clayton would give the real reasons because he is the king of all kings of the manipulators."

In his testimony, Clayton denied his firm had exerted an undue influence on the market.

Remarking that he wanted to call attention of the Department of Justice to the question, Hefflin asked whether by reason of the Houston firm's tremendous financial ability and large stock, it might prevent legitimate speculation, injure business and operate in restraint of trade in violation of the anti-trust law.

"I firmly believe that's true," Jones answered.

ASK GERMANY TO SAY WHAT SHE CAN PAY

Demand for Statement to Creditor Nations Made at the Hague Conference

The Hague, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The German delegation to the second Hague conference on application of the Young plan were called upon peremptorily this morning to furnish a precise statement of what Germany was willing to do to meet demands of the creditor nations.

Dr. Julius Curtius, German Foreign Minister, who was about to leave here for the meeting of the council of the League of Nations at Geneva, was called upon by Henri Cheron, French finance minister, and Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, to tell exactly what his delegation proposed to do.

Curtius at once abandoned his idea of going to Geneva and proposed written proposals by 1:00 p. m., which the creditor nation representatives intended to consider at 3:00 p. m. At 4:00 p. m. the creditor nation and German representatives will meet again for further discussion of the situation.

The creditor nations' action followed conferences last night at which anxiety was expressed at the sluggish progress of the meeting. The meeting of the "Big Six" accordingly was called for this morning and the firm stand taken there.

Questions involved in the situation of whether military sanctions shall persist as part of the allied reparations policy, the question of an eventual moratorium, and maturity dates for the reparations instalments.

In an effort to complete the organization of those who are to assist in putting over the Salvation Army campaign of next week, C. B. Rowlett, chairman for this year's drive have issued a call to about a hundred of the citizenship to meet at the Phytian Hall Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Much of the preliminary work is already behind the committee, and the perfecting of the complete organization of those who are to assist in putting over the drive is the next important step for the success of the campaign. And the chairman is appealing to the citizenship, the various organizations and the ministers and churches of our city to rally to the support of this Christian service

MOVE TO STOP THE SPREAD OF PARROT FEVER

Two Deaths From the Mysterious Malady and Several New Cases Reported

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—With two dead from parrot fever and eleven cases of that mysterious malady reported from distant sections of the country, government health authorities are taking steps to prevent the spread of the disease. The deaths occurred in Toledo, Ohio, where Mrs. Percy Q. Williams succumbed to the ailment, and in Baltimore, Md., where the victim was Mrs. Louis Schaeffer. Four additional cases were reported from Ohio and seven from Maryland, with unconfirmed reports of three more cases in the latter state and one in California.

Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming has been advised that three cases in Annapolis resulted from contact with a recently imported parrot that had been purchased from a New York pet store and has informed Dr. Shirley Wynn, the city health commissioner. Fumigation of the store is expected to ensue.

Maryland health authorities have been asked to investigate and report to the Federal Bureau and yesterday one of its agents, Dr. Charles Armstrong, called on the Annapolis patients and said there was practically no doubt that they were suffering from parrot fever. The three stricken in Annapolis are Lee Kalmey, his wife and mother. A number of friends were exposed to the parrot from which the Kalmey contracted the illness and the unconfirmed report of three more cases in Maryland, placed them within this group. In Baltimore, four employees of a pet shop were sick with the disease. At Warren, O., Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McEntire and Miss Clody McEntire were ill and under quarantine, with psittacosis and the widow of the dead woman at Toledo was seriously ill from the same ailment.

Dr. Cumming has no fear that the disease will become epidemic, but urges caution. He advises that contact with newly imported parrots be avoided as sure means of preventing contagion.

LIGHT SALES OF LEAF TOBE DURING WEEK

Report of Supervisor Shows Market Disposed of a Total of 240,000 Pounds

The Greenville tobacco market sold 240,604 pounds of tobacco for the week just closed, according to the official report of K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales, made public today.

This brought the farmers a total sum of $35,915.16 at a general average price of $14.92 per hundred pounds.

The report also indicated that the market had disposed of a total of 50,965.340 pounds of tobacco for the present season, for a total amount of $9,648,099.35. The general average was given at $18.94.

The market will close for the season Friday, January 24, according to information given out by the first of the week, and farmers have been urged to market the remainder of their crops as rapidly as possible.

Julius Rosenwald Gave $1,000,000 to His Recent Bride

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The Herald-Examiner said today that Julius Rosenwald, philanthropist and mail order company executive, entered into a pre-nuptial agreement with his bride, formerly Mrs. Adelaide Goodkind, giving her $1,000,000 in lieu of all rights to his estate.

The newspaper said the agreement was drawn by Mr. Rosenwald's Chicago attorneys. The philanthropist, under terms of the agreement, also waives all rights to his wife's estate.

Mr. Rosenwald, who is generally regarded as one of the country's wealthiest men, was married to Mrs. Goodkind in Philadelphia earlier this week.

FIRST YEAR OF GOV. GARDNER STRENUOUS

Chief Executive of N. C. Completes First Year of Four Year Term

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Governor Oliver Maxwell Gardner today completed his first year of a four year term as chief executive of North Carolina.

A year ago, a cold and dreary January 11, with rain falling, Governor Gardner entered upon his duties and during the year that has passed he has been faced with many problems, some of a character which veteran state government observers say have never before faced a Tar Heel governor.

The labor unrest, made the year the most turbulent in that respect since the days of reconstruction. Governor Gardner personally believes, he said today, that the greatest single contribution of his administration to the state thus far was the fight he waged and won for increased equalization fund.

"Persuading the 1929 General Assembly to increase the school equalizing fund so that state aid could be given to rural districts seeking to provide an eight months school term, was probably the greatest contribution of my first year to the taxpayers of the state," Governor Gardner said.

"I want to say," he added, "that I am proud to have been a part of the increase in the equalization fund for six months schools, and it was increased 100 per cent. Then, in the face of much opposition, I fought for and won an increase in the fund for the additional two months. Thereby taxes in every district in the state have been reduced."

Gardner was almost immediately faced with labor troubles which cost the lives of eight persons before textile strikes at Marlson and Gastonia had been settled. Through Judge N. A. Townsend, then executive counsel, Governor Gardner into office was almost hostile to many measures he sponsored and felt were needed in the state, he appeared personally before that body in behalf of passage of the Workmen's Compensation Act, the Australian or "secret ballot" bill and other legislation and was supported in the end by the legislators.

Identifies Secret British Memorandum As "Skit" Written By New Yorker

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The document given to a Senate committee by William B. Shear, naval propagandist, and described by him as a secret British memorandum, was identified today before the committee by Dr. William J. Maloney, of New York, as a "skit on British propaganda" written by himself.

Shear gave the committee a copy of the document during previous testimony before it, while an inquiry into his activities in behalf of a big navy at the unsuccessful 1927 limitations conference at Geneva was being made.

Chairman Shortridge handed the many-paged photostatic print of the so-called secret British document to Dr. Maloney.

"It seems to me identical," replied Dr. Maloney after hurriedly going over the papers, with a pamphlet I wrote in 1919—a skit on British propaganda in this country." Dr. Maloney explained that he wrote the "satire" to offset the propaganda work in this country in 1919 of Lord Northcliff of the British press.

The article was published and widely distributed to newspapers, Maloney said, and served as an "anti-climax" to Lord Northcliff's report. He said 500,000 copies of the article were distributed.

Shear, who is turning over the document to the committee, dramatically described it as "the amazing secret British document" sat in the committee room today.

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—President Hoover had before him today the first report of the law enforcement commission which he will transmit to the Senate Monday.

After a study of the voluminous recommendations and accompanying suggestions for legislation the chief executive began the preparation of his own message of transmittal which will be delivered to the House and Senate simultaneously with the report itself.

Several phases of the law enforcement situation as well as the prohibition matter were covered by the recommendations.

The law enforcement commission's statement went into great detail in describing its activities and its organization work, declaring that the purpose had been to conduct a "searching examination of criminal law enforcement, including prohibition."

Dr. Maloney said he came to New York after he was discharged from the British army from wounds received in the World War.

The "British document" was addressed to David Lord George then premier of Great Britain, and was dated from the British Council's office in New York City. It purported to show the operations of a vast British spy system in America with a view of "the re-conquest of America."

Dr. Maloney said that Irish societies were the many purchasers of this pamphlet.

"With the end of the fight on the League of Nations the purpose of the paper died," he said.

Dr. Maloney said the state department investigated the pamphlet in 1929 and knew that he had written it.

"It was read at a dinner of Senators here attended by Senator Borah, of Idaho, among others," the witness said. "It was regarded as a joke, as it was meant to be."

"How does it look to you now," asked Senator Allen, Republican Kansas.

"I don't know what all the fuss is about. It's stupid," replied the doctor.

Maloney said the postmaster general barred the pamphlet from the mails and that two secret service men told him the writing of the document meant "20 years" but that was all he ever heard of it.

BRUCE SUGG INAUGURATED KIWANIS HEAD

Kiwanians Started the New Year Last Night by Inaugurating New President

B. B. Sugg, one of the best known tobaccoists in this section of the state, was inaugurated president of the Greenville Kiwanis club at the twice-a-month meeting of the organization held at the Rotary building last night. He succeeded Ralph Deal, member of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, who served for the usual term of one year.

In his inaugural address President Sugg told the Kiwanians that the time had come for them to render outstanding service to the great section in which they live by endeavoring to create a greater spirit of optimism among the public. Right at this time, he declared, this section is recovering from the spirit of depression that has held sway since the heavy rainfall that resulted in one of the worst crop shortages in years. He said the people had gone to work, and in that work, were able to forget the deprivation, misery and suffering accompanying the financial depression.

This is the first crop failure Pitt county has had over the long span of fifty years, Mr. Sugg stated, and during that time the average run of people cultivated extravagant habits which they find impossible to continue at this time. He stressed the fact that what the section needed at this time more than any other thing was a spirit of thrift, a desire to live within their income and attempt to regain both their equanimity and equilibrium.

He pointed out the fact that the soil of this community is just as prolific as it has ever been, and that as long as this continues the capital of Pitt county is not depleted. He challenged the ambition of his hearers to render a higher type of service by urging them to give the best in them at this time when a spirit of optimism, cheerfulness and words of encouragement would accomplish more than anything else in the world.

In turning over the gavel to the new president, Dr. Deal thanked the Kiwanians for the splendid spirit of co-operation that had existed during his administration. He especially thanked the chairman of the various committees, assuring them that the success that had crowned his effort would not have been possible without their loyal, ungrudging assistance at all times.

The session was one of the most interesting in months. In addition to the inaugural ceremonies, the meeting was marked by the usual supper, reading of reports of various committees serving during the past year, introduction of visitors, re-electing of two new members and the appointment of new committees.

The incoming president was presented with a president's button by W. H. Wolard, past trustee, and the retiring president was given a past president's button by Frank Harrington, also a past trustee.

The new members welcomed into the club were Harvey Ruffin and J. B. Cummings. The address of welcome was delivered by Judge W. A. Darden in which he told of some of the ideals of the Kiwanians and of the spirit of brotherhood existing among the membership. Each of the new members responded briefly promising to do their utmost to render the highest type of service possible.

Loss of $1,000 In Snow Causes Much Shoveling

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Such snow and shoveling as was never before seen took place last night at State and Eleventh street, and in the highways and byways adjacent thereto.

Andro Puclin, store owner, had lost $1,000 in currency, and the word got around. The citizenry turned out in droves to shovel the snow that might be hiding the bills.

Thought Hold-Up Was a Joke, But Found it Reality

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The holdup last night on Hoyne avenue was no joke, but Leo Weisskopf thought it was. Two men accosted him and demanded his money.

"I thought it was a joke," he said. "I told them to get away and quit fooling, and when they persisted, I gave one of them a playful shove. He got up and shot me."

At the hospital doctors said he probably would not survive his wounds.

ABOUT TOWN

Announcement that activities of the Social Service Council will be continued in this city will be received with more than passing interest by the citizenship in view of the splendid services rendered by the organization during the holiday season.

The appointment of Thomas E. Joyner as a member of the Board of Commissioners of Pitt county will be received with general favor throughout the county.

It will no doubt be of interest to the public to note that the Public Welfare Department of Pitt county has opened an employment bureau during the present period of unemployment reported throughout the state, county and nation.

Have you bought your city automobile license yet? If not, take advantage of the advice of Mayor J. C. Lanier and do so immediately.

After today members of the police department have been instructed to arrest all persons whose cars do not carry this year's license.

The mayor is of the opinion that the organization reaches a certain class of people not to be reached through any other source, and thinks it is only proper that the public contribute liberally to the campaign because of this fact.

community at this time than in many years, the mayor also says, and as the Salvation Army is always busy looking after the poor, it is natural to presume that money given to this purpose reaches the desired source.

Nine Licenses to Marry Issued Here Since Wednesday

A striking advantage of the spring-like weather prevailing in this community during the last several days, Dan Cupid, mythological god of love, continued to fire his tiny darts into the hearts of Pitt county lovers with undiminished energy, and as a result records in the office of Register of Deeds J. C. Gaskins showed that nine couples applied for licenses to marry during the last three days.

Five of the couples applying for licenses were white and the remainder colored. They were: Abram Hardy to Miss Helen Hardy, both of the Swift Creek community; Page Crawford to Miss Mary Wilson, of Farmville; Norman Griffin of Greenville to Miss Thelma Whitehurst of Bethel; Luby Williams to Miss Edith Lee Wuthington, Winterville.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF WOMAN'S CLUB

The Woman's Club started the New Year enthusiastically Thursday afternoon at the regular meeting. With reports of work well done and plans of work to be done the meeting was one of unusual interest.

Mrs. Henderson, chairman of the Christmas Seal sale reported over three hundred dollars collected. One hundred dollars has been pledged to give a girl of the Falkland High School treatment at N. C. Sanatorium. Sixty-eight has been given to the city schools for milk for the undernourished children.

Mrs. T. A. Person read a report of last year's welfare work, in which a great many have been helped along the road to health.

Mrs. Person is giving up this work after eight years of efficient service. Mrs. Moore expressed the appreciation of the club of her faithful service. Her plans will indeed be hard to fill. There have been some improvements made in the club building since the December meeting.

One of the high spots of the meeting was the announcement of the hot cake supper to be given at the club house next Wednesday night from six till eight o'clock. A professional cooker of hot cakes will be there, and there's no limit to the cakes and all that goes with them that one may eat. Those present talked like they expected to take their whole families to supper there that night. The price will be very small.

A movement has been started to organize a Junior Woman's Club here. The Garden department announced that Mr. Lawton, representing the National Council for Protection of Roadside Beauty, will be in Eastern North Carolina the week of January 13, and had been invited to speak in Greenville.

MUSIC AND ART DEPARTMENT MEETS

The Music and Art Department of the Woman's Club met at the club house on Friday afternoon, January 10. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. T. E. Hooker, after which the club hymn was sung, the college read, and musical current events given.

The program for the afternoon consisted of a study of outstanding negro composers.

Mrs. Hooker gave a sketch of the American Negro music, bringing out the two kinds of negro music, secular and sacred. Secular, comprising of blues, work songs, etc., and sacred, comprising of negro spirituals.

Mrs. W. Z. Morton told in an interesting way of the life and works of Nathaniel Dett. Though he is most noted as a pianist, he is a noted composer of piano music, motet, and choral music and arranger of negro spirituals.

Miss Eugenia Thomas played one of Dett's piano compositions, "Juba" from the Suite, "In the Bottoms."

Mrs. C. B. Mayo gave the life and works of Harry Thacker Burleigh. He is also one of our noted negro composers and singers. One of his best known compositions is "O Little Mother of Mine."

The life and works of William Arms Fisher, a writer of spirituals, editor and publisher of songs at Dittson and Company in New York, was given by Mrs. J. Key Brown.

At the conclusion of the program Misses Agnes and Carolyn Fullilove, accompanied by Miss Ona Shindler, sang two negro spirituals, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen" and "Steal Away to Jesus."—Reported.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas on December 19, 1929, our Heavenly Father called out of this world our dear friend and co-worker, Robt. Whitehurst, who by his unselfish life and sweet, congenial spirit, endeared himself to all of those with whom she came in contact, therefore be it resolved:

First: That in her death the American Legion Auxiliary has lost a valuable member and staunch supporter.

Second: While we bow in humble submission to our Heavenly Father's will, yet we wish to express our appreciation of her life, and loyalty to this organization.

Third: We extend to her family and loved ones our heart-felt sympathy, and pray that the God of all love may sustain and comfort them in their deep sorrow.

Fourth: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to her family, a copy be recorded in our minutes, and a copy sent to the Daily Reflector, for publication.

Tennessee Gets Respite From Flood Menace

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Sub-freezing temperatures spread over the water soaked central Mississippi Valley today, bringing respite from the high water menace. After 24 hours of clear weather many of the rivers and streams which were sent bounding toward flood stages by three days of almost continuous rain were receding slowly.

A stock taking showed the damage done by the prolonged rain confined mainly to highways and the flooding of lowlands.

In Memphis, center of the rain belt, considerable damage was reported to city streets and bridges.

East of Memphis virtually all important highways were reported open today. To the west, through Arkansas, the main lines of travel likewise were open to traffic.

KINSTON WINS INITIAL GAME FROM LOCALS

When the whistle blew to end the game, a tie score of 17-17 was announced, and amid tumult throughout the crowd, an extra period of 5 minutes was begun. Up and down the court the battle screamed, with every attempt to score desperately blocked and desperately attempted. Every player knew that one point would win, and every try for goal was that much more difficult. For almost the whole extra period neither team scored, but just before the final whistle, a poor pass and slow recovery gave a Kinston forward the chance to dribble in for a crib shot with no guard to block, and one game was a matter of history.

The line up: Greenville Kinston Deal (4) Smith Cummings (8) Bullock (7) Deal Douglas (4) Rivers (2) Hardee Wooten (5) James Guard Vick Dixon (4) Referee, Beatty.

TOOK IT UNTIL WELL, STRONG

Cardui Helped Kentucky Lady Who Had Been Very Weak and Nervous.

Vanceburg, Ky.—Mrs. Mary Parker, of this place, says she has recommended Cardui many times because, as she says, "I was so greatly benefited after taking it myself."

"I was weak and nervous, and felt tired and achey all the time. My back and limbs ached so bad, I could hardly stay on my feet to cook a meal."

"I spent most of my time resting and trying to get sufficient strength to do my household tasks."

"I was afraid I would lose my health altogether, and this constant dread kept me uneasy."

"I heard of Cardui and decided to try it. After I had taken it a few weeks, I felt much better. I continued the Cardui Home Treatment until I felt well and strong. I am now doing all my housework. I no longer feel those tired, achey pains."

For over fifty years, women who had suffered, or gotten into a rundown condition, have been enthusiastic in praise of Cardui.

A STATEMENT OF OLDSMOBILE-VIKING POLICY for 1930

vv A message of interest to everyone who expects to buy a car this year.

AT THIS TIME, when the public is accustomed to look for changes in motor car design, it is only natural that Olds Motor Works should make an announcement concerning both its policy and its products for the coming year.

Olds Motor Works is pledged to a policy of progress—a policy that promises, in part . . . “Changes in design solely for the sake of progress—never for the sake of change alone.”

This policy, as it applies to the two products of Olds Motor Works, is briefly . . .

. . . to give still greater value in the Oldsmobile Six, the Fine Car of Low Price . . .

. . . to provide, in the Viking, a modern 90-degree, V-type Eight of high quality, at medium price.

Certain changes have been made in Oldsmobile design. These changes are chiefly in the body of the car, although advancements have also been made in the chassis. In every case, the changes tend to add to Oldsmobile value, without affecting either the fundamental design of the car or its characteristic body lines.

Naturally, no changes have been made in the great Viking Eight. The Viking is a new car—a thoroughly modern 90-degree V-type Eight, incorporating advancements in V-eight design that establish it as one of the outstanding engineering achievements of recent years.

Viking, as well as Oldsmobile, represents true progress in modern motoring. Viking, as well as Oldsmobile, is the splendid result of an ideal—an ideal that is exemplified by the four great responsibilities Olds Motor Works recognizes toward every Oldsmobile and Viking owner.

The first of these responsibilities is to design progressively, utilizing the full resources of the General Motors Research Laboratories, the Proving Ground, and Fisher Body, as well as its own broad facilities.

The second is to build faithfully . . . maintaining standards of quality and workmanship which are best expressed by the pledge every Oldsmobile-Viking worker follows, “Anything short of my best is not acceptable.”

And not content merely with designing and building well, Olds Motor Works goes further, and pledges itself to sell honestly—representing its products, in every detail and to every buyer, exactly as they are . . . and, finally, to service sincerely—maintaining an interest in every sale far beyond the time of purchase, and joining with its dealers in carrying out the most equitable service policy in existence today.

While Olds Motor Works builds two cars, in two major price classes, each represents the most progressive engineering thought, the finest manufacturing practice, and the best value it is possible to give at the price. Each is truly “. . . a car for the American family that, at a moderate investment, gratifies their finer tastes as well as satisfies their every need.”

Now is the time to see these cars and to compare them with the latest offerings of the automotive industry. Make your own examination.
