CHIEF JUSTICE TAFT ARRIVES AT ASHEVILLE

Former President to Spend Some Time in N. C. Recuperating From Illness

Asheville, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Chief Justice William Howard Taft, who was the 27th president of the United States, today arrived in Asheville for a month's rest.

Mrs. Taft, Dr. Thomas A. Clayton, the family physician, and a nurse were with him.

The welcome the Chief Justice was accorded was a warm one but quiet. A few city officials, a police escort, and newspapermen comprised the small crowd at the Asheville station when the train pulled in on time at 8:40 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Taft was first to leave the Pullman coach in which the party traveled. Chief Justice Taft followed her. Smiling at the small group gathered to escort him to his hotel.

A limousine provided by Grove Park Inn had been driven directly into the station and under the platform so that the Chief Justice had to walk but a few steps from the train.

As he walked the short distance to the automobile, Taft was cheered by the little gathering. He turned, took off his hat and bowed smilingly. The Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft rode together in an automobile, surrounded by a squad of motor cycle police, and Dr. Clayton, the nurse, and F. Roger Miller, vice-president of United Realties, Inc., operators of Grove Park Inn, where the chief justice will stay, were in a second car.

The two automobiles with their escort proceeded slowly up through the city and out to Grove Park Inn. Before entering the hotel and being escorted to their rooms, Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft stood for some time under the portico at the entrance chatting with the hotel manager, Jack Horner, and Mr. Miller. Then they entered the lobby. Here again they stopped. The chief justice expressed his admiration for the hotel and the scenic attractions for the Asheville district which he had noted on his way to the hotel.

The chief justice was feeling well despite the long train trip from Washington, he said. He slept fairly well on the train, he said and enjoyed the scenery along the way. He was especially interested in the engineering employed in the construction of the Southern Railway line over the mountains into Asheville from Old Fort. He had arisen early, at 7:30 o'clock that he might miss none of the scenery. He did not breakfast on the train but drank a cup of coffee. The chief justice was too deeply interested in Andrews geysers, visible at several points on the road as it winds around the mountains between Black Mountain and Old Fort. He had been a personal friend of Col. Andrews, for whom the artificial fountain was named.

It has been 20 years since Taft had been in North Carolina, he said today upon his arrival in Asheville. His last trip here was made during his presidential campaign and he was so deeply immersed in politics that he failed to notice the beauties of the state to any great extent. He spoke in Asheville, Greensboro and Charlotte, he said. His talk in Asheville was made from the rear of his train.

Murders Wife and Butcher and Then Himself

New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—A small Kosinski, 31, father of four small children, slashed the throat of his 22-year-old bride with a butcher knife, clubbed her and then hanged himself from a banister following a quarrel in their home here late last night. Jealousy was believed to have been the motive.

The children, all Kosinski's by a previous marriage slept through the tragedy until 8 o'clock this morning when Walter, 12, was awakened by his father's body falling to the floor as the rope with which it was suspended gave away.

FOREST CITY MAN SUICIDES AT NEW YORK

Discouraged by Effort to Obtain Employment Dudley Sturve Fires Bullet in Head

New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Discouraged by an unsuccessful search for work to support his wife and daughter of Forest City, U. C. Dudley Sturve, 37, a world war veteran, shot himself between the eyes with his service revolver here today in his hotel room.

Today he called the desk clerk and asked that a bell boy be sent to his room.

When the boy arrived he saw the door ajar. Inside was a trail of blood leading to the bedroom. On the bed was Sturve, unconscious, a bullet wound in his head. His service pistol lay nearby. The trail of blood, police said, indicated he had shot himself, walked to the telephone and made the call, opened the door and then walked to the bed and collapsed.

Papers found in his pocket showed he was a sergeant in the world war, that he had been employed by the Art Metal Construction Company, of Jamestown, N. Y., from May to July last, and also revealed that he was formerly in business for himself in Clarksburg, Va., under the name of the Sturve-Giles Company.

E. B. Thomas, assistant sales manager of the Queens Manufacturing Company, said Sturve had appealed to him for a job yesterday. He had been impressed by the man, he said, and took him to lunch but was unable to find a job for him immediately. Thomas said Sturve told him he had a wife and child in Forest City.

Lindbergh Plane Flying Laboratory

Los Angeles, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The new specially built monoplane of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was declared today by J. L. Maddux, executive of the air line which employs the famous aviator, to be a "flying laboratory," particularly designed to test high altitude flying in anticipation of the future development of aerial transportation.

"In co-operation with the naval meteorological experts at the Lakehurst, N. J., naval air station and the United States weather bureau, Col. Lindbergh is planning to carry out a number of experimental flights," Maddux said.

Dr. Brown was said to have been talking to members of his family when he suddenly collapsed and died almost instantly. Although he had not been in active practice the last few years because of his state of health, Dr. Brown several years ago was one of the most prominent members of his profession in this section.

Anglo-American Feature To Have Prominent Part In London Naval Parley

S. S. George Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—It seems certain that the Anglo-American feature of the forthcoming London naval conference negotiations will have a prominent part in discussions beginning with the arrival of the American delegation in England Friday.

Although Colonel Henry L. Stimson, American secretary of state and head of the delegation, is not disclosing his plans it is not improbable that he and Ramsay MacDonald, British premier, will discuss in advance of the conference recent indications or irritation among the other powers at the close of operations of the British and American governments in the inception of the forthcoming negotiations.

The American delegation feels strongly that such irritation is not justified and that Colonel Stimson may take the first opportunity to reassure others that the two nations enter the conference unbound by any agreement except to work toward their common end of naval limitation.

After Premier MacDonald's visit to President Hoover Colonel Stimson publicly denied suggestions aboard that an effort would be made to bring the conference under

Light Sales Reported On Leaf Market

About One Hundred Thousand Pounds of Leaf Disposed of Here Yesterday

There was approximately a hundred thousand pounds of tobacco disposed of on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday, according to information given out this morning by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales. The price situation was described as favorable with better grades bringing prices similar to those prior to the suppression of sales for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. Cobb said the market would close for the season Friday, January 24th. He urged the farmers to get busy and speed up the sale of their offerings as much as possible in order that the remainder of the crop may be cleaned up by the closing date.

The market is operating with three sets of buyers at this time, with all of the large buying companies fully represented. Sales are completed early each day, giving the farmer an opportunity of selling his crop, attending to any business he might have and returning home before nightfall.

WOULD GIVE RUM BUYERS PRISON TERM

Governor of South Carolina Recommends That Buyer Be Made Guilty Also

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Governor John G. Richards in his annual message to the South Carolina General Assembly today recommended that the buyer be made equally guilty with the seller and that a jail sentence mandatory upon a second conviction of a prohibition law violation.

The message was read by A. E. Hutchison, house reading clerk, because, the governor said, he had been suffering from a severe cold for three or four days. Governor Richards occupied a seat on the speaker's platform.

Naming the "use and abuse" of liquor as the greatest source of crime in the state, Governor Richards said every effort should be made to bring into "disrepute not only those who are engaged in the sale, but also those who share equally in moral responsibility through their patronage and association with the bootleggers."

"If you really wish, gentlemen," he added, to "break up the liquor traffic, enforce the prohibition law, and at the same time create a condition that will alleviate much of the suffering of humanity, generally, then I urge you to pass a law imposing the same penalty upon the buyer that is imposed upon the seller."

"I urge again that the prohibition law be amended so that those convicted of a second offense be not allowed the alternative of a fine."

The state chief executive asserted "every effort should be made to relieve our farms and homes from state taxes altogether," and recommended submission to the people of a constitutional amendment repealing the state property tax. The constitution now requires a state property tax of three mills per dollar.

He further recommended exemption from taxation for a period of five years for those who purchase lands and engage in farming in the state. He said 9,000,000 acres of farm lands were now in South Carolina and that five year's tax exemption was extended to new manufacturing concerns which were established in the state. He asserted the same exemption should be given to new farmers.

Taking note of textile labor disturbances in the state during the past year, he recommended establishment of a commission to study the South Carolina labor laws and make recommendations for changes to the General Assembly.

Discussing the state's institutions of higher learning, he said the Bible should be made a part of their curriculum and its daily reading be made compulsory.

Among other recommendations were enactment of a workmen's compensation law and establishment of a state highway patrol.

Local Banking House Made Splendid Growth Past Year

The twenty ninth annual meeting of the stockholders of the Greenville Banking and Trust Co. was held in the City Hall Tuesday January 14th, 1930 at 2:30 P. M. with E. G. Flanagan presiding.

Roll call revealed that 1304 shares of stock were represented. After reading the minutes W. H. Woolard, executive vice-president, reported the years operation and the condition of the bank at the present time. Mr. Woolard stated that collections had been particularly good considering conditions. His report showed that the bank has received seven hundred thousand dollars in cash and liquid assets, and that in his opinion the loans and investments of the bank compare favorably with previous years.

J. H. Waldrop, cashier, reported that the net earnings for the year after paying all taxes for stockholders amounted to $20,807.59. Of this amount $12,000.00 or 8 percent was distributed in dividends and the balance of $8,807.59 was added to surplus and undivided profits. This gives the bank at the present time total invested capital of $243,272.75 with total resources of approximately one and three quarter million dollars.

E. G. Flanagan who has served the institution as president for nearly twenty years stated that in his opinion the reports of the officers were very complimentary, and

Inherits $2,000,000; Continues Job as Cop

Los Angeles, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Society note: D. McD. Jones, 13 years a policeman, was reinstated today as a sergeant on the Los Angeles force.

"Why did Jones resign in 1928?" asked a commissioner at a hearing of Jones' application.

"Because he inherited $2,000,000 from the estate of the late Mark Jones and needed his full time to look after investment of the money."

"Well, then, why does he wish reinstatement?"

"Because he has taken care of the investments and is bored by retirement."

The vote was unanimous.

NON-SUIT IS ORDERED IN CANNON CASE

Settlement Also Reached in the Case of Venters vs. H. D. Cox and Son

Non-suit was ordered in the case of V. C. and Emma Cannon against B. T. Cannon, local tobacconist by Judge Thomas L. Johnson, presiding over yesterday's session of the civil term of Pitt County Superior court. The case was taken up when court convened Monday morning, and non-suit was ordered yesterday afternoon after introduction of considerable evidence.

The plaintiffs were contesting the right of B. T. Cannon to sell a piece of property in Ayden township which they had purchased from him sometime ago. The defendant contended that the plaintiffs had failed to meet payments as they became due and that he had a right to sell the land. When he offered the property for sale, the plaintiffs obtained a restraining order, and this prevented further action until the matter had been given airing in this term of court.

Action of Judge Johnson declaring the case a non-suit indicated that evidence did not tend to show that the plaintiffs had grounds on which to restrain action of the defendant in offering the property for sale.

Another case involving a land controversy failed to reach court yesterday, settlement having been reached by the litigants before the case was called for trial. It was the case of Venters vs. H. D. Cox and Brother, and involved a dispute of a boundary line between the lands of the plaintiff and defendant.

Settlement was reached when each party agreed to the running of a new line, giving them a half of the disputed land.

Court continued work today on the several more cases on the calendar for this week and indications were that quite a number would be disposed of before the end of the week.

Government inspectors from the Memphis office have been sent to threatened points in Arkansas and sand bags supplied levee crews at Piggott, Marked Tree and Big Lake.

A heavy rain at Mared Tree has increased levee danger there as the St. Francis has passed flood stage in its middle reaches. Virtually all unprotected lands along the Ouachita, White, Black, Cache and St. Francis rivers in that state are under water and families who farm it have left their homes.

In Quitman county Mississippi the Cassidy Bayou levee has been brenamited, apparently to prevent a break at another point. At Clarendon, Ark., high water on the White threatens damage to factories.

The Cassidy Bayou dynamites have not been apprehended by authorities although blood hounds are being used.

Dancer Acquires $12,000 Painting

NEW BLIZZARD SWEEPS OVER WESTERN U. S.

Additional Rain Continues to Swell the Streams in Mississippi Valley

Denver, Jan. 15.—(AP)—High up in the snowbound crags of the northern Rocky Mountains there brewed today another potential blizzard and the entire eastern slope of the continental divide shivered before its warning blasts. As far south as New Mexico the new storm piled more snow onto already impassable highways.

The weather man confirmed the signs and predicted "continued cold" as thermometers in Basin, Mont., Medicine Bow, Wyo., and Denver registered 32, 22 and 8 degrees below zero, respectively.

Between Durango and Silverton, Colo., the predicament of fourteen motorists stranded in deep snows in a howling storm was a source of anxiety.

Since 8 o'clock Sunday morning no word of their plight had been received here despite the efforts of hardy men on snowshoes to penetrate the storm along the 51-mile highway.

In the central and northern parts of New Mexico highways became skating rinks as sleet mingled with snow.

Los Angeles, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Although continued snow flurries are predicted today for the San Bernardino Mountains, forest rangers declared little danger existed for nearly 200 persons snowbound in the Lake Arrowhead district. Rangers yesterday pushed through in snowshoes, and reported that the marooned families were supplied with provisions and fuel.

A party of seven motion picture folk, including Marie Prevost and Buster Keaton, arrived in Hollywood last night after being snowbound since Friday in Fraser National Park. The party was on a hunting trip when the storm hit. With provisions for two days members of the party said, they shot ducks for food until they were able to make their way through to Bakersfield and Tehachapi.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Additional rain was in prospect today for the network of swollen streams in the Mississippi Valley region, but accompanying weather bureau forecasts told of an approaching cold wave, which may check the precipitation.

Leaves along the Mississippi, itself according to the government engineer's office here are in good condition and ar believed capable of withstanding the pressure of all water now in sight.

The situation is different on the Mississippi's big tributaries. More than 20,000 sand bags have been sent into the St. Francis river basin of Arkansas where the stream has covered farm land.

Government inspectors from the Memphis office have been sent to threatened points in Arkansas and sand bags supplied levee crews at Piggott, Marked Tree and Big Lake.

Dancer Acquires $12,000 Painting

Paris, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Jenny Dolly, the dancer, has what she thinks is an original Rembrandt painting, but some of the critics are not so sure. "Anyway she paid $12,000 for the privilege of owning it."

The painting is known as "The Portrait of a Young Man." It has Rembrandt's signature, although the experts deny it is genuine. It was sold at a auction yesterday by the French custom authorities after confiscation on charges of having been brought from Russia in 1926 without having been declared as to value.

Some of the experts say it was painted by Ferdinand Bol, who worked in Rembrandt's studio. Miss Dolly also bought at the same sale for $6,800 another painting variously attributed to Raphael or Francia.

NEGRO SLAYER OF DRY AGENT SITLL SOUGHT

Posse Continues to Scour Swamps of Pamlico County for Unidentified Black

New Bern, N. C., Jan. 15.—(AP)—The slayer of Louis M. Davis, federal dry agent, was still at large today after an all night search by a posse in the swamps of Pamlico county.

Davis was killed by an unidentified negro yesterday during a raid on a whiskey still. A. D. Moseley, also a dry agent, said the posse was close on the trail of the negro late last night, the hunted man crossing Broad creek, near the scene of the shooting, just 15 minutes ahead of them.

The search was being continued in that vicinity today. Five negroes, including one woman, have been arrested as material witnesses.

New Bern, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Slain with his own gun by an unidentified negro he helped arrest at a still, Louis M. Davis, federal prohibition agent, lay dead today at a local undertaking establishment, while authorities searched for his slayer. Davis was killed yesterday after he and A. D. Moseley, another officer, had raided a still in the Broad creek section, Pamlico county, about 12 miles from New Bern.

The two officers surprised five negroes at the still, arresting and disarming one. Davis remained to guard the captured man, while Moseley pursued the others.

Soon after he left, Moseley heard a pistol shot and rushed back to the still to find Davis dying with a wound above the heart. He said he believed the negro had wrested Davis' pistol from his hand and slain the officer with his own gun.

Officers today scoured the section for the slayer of Davis and the other negroes who were found at the still.

Davis, who was 35 years of age, came here from West End, Moore county. He is survived by his widow and three small children. He was a deacon in the Presbyterian church at West End.

TONY SARG'S MARIONETTES PLEASE LARGE AUDIENCE

Tony Sarg's Marionettes again captivated Greenville audiences with their delightful acting of plays and puppets and their antics and tricks. Eighty puppets were put through their paces, keeping the puppeteers busy pulling the strings, speaking the lines, and singing the songs behind scenes, furnishing for the brains for the little figures that seem so life-like. The miniature stage in the center of the large stage, with its curtain and back drop, by the magic of proportion assumes the size of a real stage and the puppets grow to life size, and as the play goes on the illusion continues so that it seems that human beings and real animals act out their parts.

There were good audiences both at the matinee and in the evening, with children in the afternoon filling the front of the house. They watched with breathless interest the unfoldings of the oriental fairy tale "The Stolen Princess," watched the wicked ruler in his palace as he tried to make her love him, and the dancer who danced when the soldiers came to her rescue. For over an hour a series of features were presented by the ducky, whose name you will like if made them before they pass down when they announced Padrewski. The grand piano was pushed out and the long-haired musician came and pounded the keys.

The animals in "The Bremen Band," the ducky, the dog, the cat and the rooster, were realistic and were perhaps enjoyed by the children more than anything else.

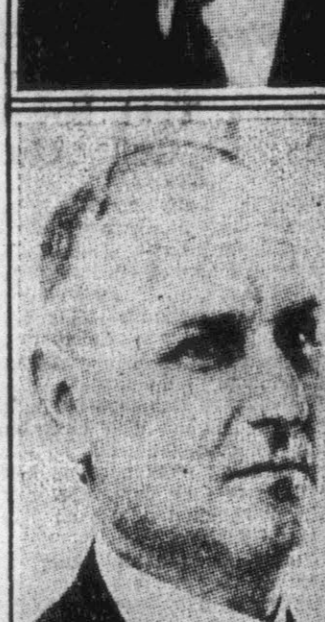

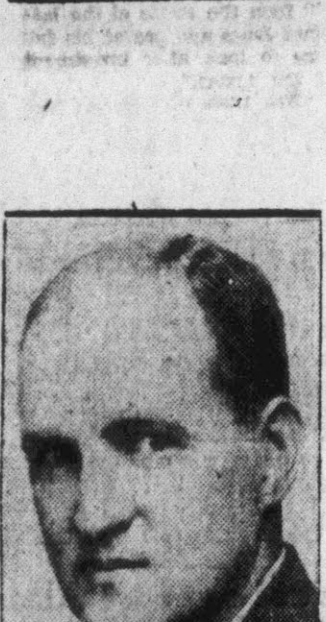

"Rip Van Winkle" in its seven acts, did not have a single dull moment. Washington Irving and Joe Jefferson might not have recognized parts of the story, but it was a good one. It took five hundred strings to operate the show, with the people doing it.

The detail work was excellent. Nicholas Vedder's queer Dutch pipe actually did emit smoke, the spectacles of the self-master were pushed back, the bar-maid flipped the dust cloth, these and hundreds of other details made the play a marvel. But the big things, the interpretation of character and the lines, were done just as well. The animals had important parts, especially the dog Wolf. The cow, the only creature that could make Dame Van Winkle change her course, was greeted with applause. The mountain scenes, with Hendrick Hudson and his Dutch crew in one, the scene between Rip and Wolf, the scene in which sleeping Rip had his dream, with the weird creatures flying around, and the scene of the awakening, were all masterfully well done.

The ending of the play was changed almost beyond recognition as the return of Rip is just in time to save the inn from being sold by taking a lost deed from his pocket, but it gave a dramatic and happy ending.

Mr. Charles Seale, who, by the way, is the artist who made the puppets and has been with Tony Sarg ever since he began his re-

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, death has removed from our midst and membership, a beloved member of our Board of Directors, in the person of Mr. H. A. White, therefore the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Greenville Banking and Trust Company appointed a committee to draft suitable resolutions in memory of our deceased associate. In accordance with this appointment, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted by the stockholders of said Greenville Banking and Trust Company on January 14th, 1930.

Be It Resolved:

1. That, in the passing of Mr. H. A. White, the Board of Directors of the Greenville Banking and Trust Company has lost a member of intrinsic value, and to us this loss is keenly felt. His fine business tact and executive ability qualified him for the highest positions in the business world, and was so recognized by our corporation in electing him Chairman of the finance committee of the Greenville Banking and Trust Company, which position he filled for several years, and in all his dealings he gave evidence of a high sense of honor, and business capacity.

2. That, in the departure of Mr. H. A. White, Greenville and the County of Pitt have lost one of its outstanding citizens and loyal supporters in all civic relations of his country—a broad minded citizen, unselfish in his intercourse with his fellowmen. He lived up to high ideals in moral integrity. We deplore his going.

3. That, we assure his bereaved family of our profound sympathy in this their dark hour of life, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family as a token of the high esteem in which our brother was held by his fellow countrymen.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the Greenville Banking and Trust Company as a permanent memorial to Mr. H. A. White, and that a copy be sent to the Daily Reflector for publication.

Greenville B. & L. Showed Progress During Past Year

The association changed from the serial plan to the running share plan last October. On December 31, three months after the change, they issued a flat dividend of $0.3 per cent on every dollar in the association including the amounts paid in by the stockholders and also on previous profits.

Dr. P. J. Chester Locates in City

Dr. P. J. Chester, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, of Fayetteville, is occupying the offices in the National Bank building recently made vacant by the death of Dr. C. J. Ellen.

Dr. Chester is well known in this city, having been connected with the Pitt county health department from 1920 to 1924. He went from Greenville to Fayetteville, where he has been specializing in the treatment of diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat for the past six years.

Dr. Chester was a member of the medical staff of the Fayetteville hospital and prominently identified with the social, professional and business life of the city.

Lengthy Dresses Feature Annual N. Y. Style Show

New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The short skirt is strictly de trop in the spring wardrobe, judging from the 140 models exhibited before the Garment Retailers of America.

The creations of 43 leading fashion arbiters paraded before representatives of the trade in the annual spring promenade last night displayed long skirted evening gowns and frocks for afternoon, street and sport wear with hem lines from four to six inches below the knee.

The consensus was that a certain latitude of personal preference was permitted in the skirt length rather than any hard and fast fashion ruling, but no models shown had knee-length skirts.

The natural waistline and the molded silhouette were features of the dresses for all occasions.

Spring colors exhibited featured prints and plain colored fabrics, lively but not riotous. The plain colors seemed to predominate.

Black backgrounds prevailed in the printed frocks for street and sports wear and the black and white theme was frequently repeated in both afternoon and evening dresses.

Almost every frock had its wrap definitely related in fabric and color. In fact, ensembles outnumbered separate frock and coat combinations.

A pageant of bridal costumes revealed that the 1930 bride will be arrayed much as the bride of 1830 was.

Orange and brown, orange and gray, vivid blues, black and white and combinations of yellow and green and red and white were much in evidence.

Says Good Roads Will Keep Folks in Rural Section

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Construction of good roads in rural sections will not only keep farmers on the land, but will attract back to the farms many who have deserted to the cities, according to R. H. Baker, of Nashville, State Highway Commissioner of Tennessee, who today addressed the 27th annual convention of the American Roadbuilders Association in the Atlantic City Auditorium.

Hundreds of Tennessee farmers who had deserted their acres because it had been found impossible to make a living, have returned with the completion of roads that made possible quick trips to nearby markets, Baker said.

"Judging from the actual experience of Tennessee," he declared, "it would seem that the best stimulus to any back to the soil movement is a program of road construction. Farmers are quick to realize the advantages that come with well constructed highways that make quick merchandising of their products possible."

Says Americans Go to College to Get Social Rating

New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—American youth, in the opinion of Dr. James Rowland Angell, president of Yale University, goes to college to a large extent merely to gain social prestige.

Addressing Colgate alumni he said the time had come to ask if the hunt for social prestige had not drawn hundreds into colleges who would have done better had they never been there.

"Colleges," he said, "should honestly admit that they are obliged to reconceive their recruiting problem and begin to be responsible for their failure as well as for their achievements. When we come together we should not only think of the men the university has turned out who have become successful, but also of those who have not met with success."

Income Taxpayers May Get Extension

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—If the reasons given are satisfactory to Treasury officials income taxpayers may be granted an extension of time for filing their returns for 1929.

Commissioner Lucas of the Internal Revenue Bureau, said today that while there would be no general extension of the period for filing returns, which ends at midnight, March 15, collectors have been instructed to examine requests and to grant them if they were sufficient.

Lucas also said that where requests were granted the taxpayer would be required to file on or before March 15 a tentative return accompanied by at least one-fourth of the tax estimated to be due and would be charged 6 per cent interest a year on any deficiency in the unpaid installments from the original due date.

The commissioner added that in no case should a particular extension be granted covering a period of more than 90 days and that the usual time given should be from 30 to 60 days.

"In any case," Lucas said, "where a taxpayer requests an extension for a period of more than 90 days, the extension should be granted only for 90 days and the taxpayers advised that if he is unable to file the completed return prior to the expiration of the 90-day period, a new application should be made before that period expires."

Labor Federation Talks Injunctions

St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 15.—(AP)—A discussion on injunction legislation affecting various labor organizations throughout the country was given precedence over other problems at today's session of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

Attention was centered upon a substitute measure for the Shipstead bill to regulate injunction legislation. The Shipstead bill failed to pass in Congress, President William Green said, because some portions of it provided for legislation unfriendly to organized labor.

When the Shipstead bill was rejected, a Senate sub-committee was selected to draft a substitute measure. The labor federation accepted the substitute at its recent meeting in Toronto and it now is ready for presentation to Congress, Mr. Green said.

He added that in some sections of the country labor unions been handicapped in organization work by court action enjoining them from entering certain communities for that purpose.

SEND FOODSTUFFS TO MAROONED ISLANDERS

Pelliheli, Carnaroonshire, Wales, Jan. 5.—(AP)—To the accompaniment of cheers of the townspeople a lifeboat loaded with foodstuffs and Christmas parcels today started out from here in an attempt to reach Bardsey Island, which has been cut off from communication with the mainland since December 15.

Several times during the past month the lifeboat has tried to get supplies across to the island but each time it has been beaten back by the fierce seas. Today's journey was expected to take four hours and until the lifeboat returns this evening it will not be known how the marooned islanders have fared during the month wind and waves isolated them.

BIG BILL STILL OUT FOR BIG TENNIS

New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Although they have decided to quit the Davis cup arena forever, neither Big Bill Tilden nor his close friend and playing companion, Frank Hunter, is ready yet to abandon big-time tennis in favor of younger stars.

Hunter has revealed that both he and Big Bill will compete in all the big American outdoor tournaments this summer and fall, including the national championships.

Nothing will persuade Tilden or Hunter to play any Davis cup tennis. "We've had enough," Hunter said, "and will withdraw to permit the development of a team of younger players."

SEEK LEGISLATION TO OUTLAW BOOTLEG BOXING

New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The death of a participant in an unsanctioned bout at Olean, N. Y., resulted in pleas for legislation to outlaw "bootleg boxing."

Commenting on the death of Evan Gustafson, of Mount Jewett, Pa., in a bout at St. Bonaventure College Monday night, James A. Farley, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, pointed out that the commission, under the laws, was powerless to act in the case.

"The death of Gustafson is regrettable," said Farley, "but it is to be hoped that the incident will bring to the public a realization of the need for proper legislation that would permit the wiping out of bootleg boxing, unsanctioned shows, anywhere in the state."

The Greenville Building and Loan Association

The Greenville Building and Loan Association

For the benefit of our stockholders that are unable to attend our stockholders' meeting, and the public, we wish to give out a few facts as to what our Association is doing or has done during the year 1929.

Under date of October 1st, 1929, we changed our Building & Loan Association from the Serial plan to the Running share plan, we placed to the credit of each of our stockholders all profits due on stock at that time. On December 31st, 1929, three months after our change, we issued a flat dividend of $0.3 per cent on every dollar in the Association including the amounts paid in by stockholders and also on previous profits.

You will recall that we advised you in former reports that each six months we credited our mortgage accounts with all installments paid in by borrower plus his interest, thereby reducing his mortgage and lessening his liability. We are pleased to report, we have reduced or given our customers credit against their mortgages to the sum of $113,374.02 during the year of 1929.

We increased the number of shares in our Association nearly 40 per cent last year in view of the fact of the somewhat depressed condition.

It is the desire of the management of our Association to render the most efficient service possible to our shareholders, to offer to them a safe investment at a good rate of interest.

Panama City, Panama, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Deadly gas in the hold of the Blue Star liner Saxon Star, which is here from Vancouver, probably will prevent its continuing its journey to the British Isles for possibly a week.

The gasses are a combination caused by burning coal in the hold and boxes with which the ship is loaded. Two already have died and two others partly overcome by the fumes.

THE GREENVILLE BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

For the benefit of our stockholders that are unable to attend our stockholders' meeting, and the public, we wish to give out a few facts as to what our Association is doing or has done during the year 1929.

Under date of October 1st, 1929, we changed our Building & Loan Association from the Serial plan to the Running share plan, we placed to the credit of each of our stockholders all profits due on stock at that time. On December 31st, 1929, three months after our change, we issued a flat dividend of $0.3 per cent on every dollar in the Association including the amounts paid in by stockholders and also on previous profits.

You will recall that we advised you in former reports that each six months we credited our mortgage accounts with all installments paid in by borrower plus his interest, thereby reducing his mortgage and lessening his liability. We are pleased to report, we have reduced or given our customers credit against their mortgages to the sum of $113,374.02 during the year of 1929.

We increased the number of shares in our Association nearly 40 per cent last year in view of the fact of the somewhat depressed condition.

It is the desire of the management of our Association to render the most efficient service possible to our shareholders, to offer to them a safe investment at a good rate of interest.

NO ONE SHOULD GO HUNGRY

In the face of all the hard times talk and the reports being circulated that Eastern North Carolina is starving to death, we feel that the following editorial from the Wilson Times regarding conditions in that county is timely and like Editor Gold, we do not believe that anybody, let alone thousands, in Eastern North Carolina is going to starve to death. There is enough to go around and while our counties, like all other sections of the country, have some needy cases, we feel that the proper display of co-operation on the part of our own people will relieve any suffering that there might be.

Here's how the situation looks to the Times: "The Chapel Hill Weekly says there are thousands of tenant farmers in Eastern North Carolina that are starving to death.

"That may be true of some farmers in Eastern North Carolina but we do not believe that condition exists in this county.

"We have asked a number of prominent farmers from different sections of this county and they say such a condition does not exist in their sections.

"There may be some one who will not work, and spend their substance for liquor and riotous living, who have nothing, but it is their own fault, and they would not have anything at any time regardless of conditions.

"Mr. Seth High, of Laccama, was in to see us this morning and we asked him if there were any farmers in his section without something to eat, and he replied that he knew of none. That those who worked last year, made something to eat, if they did not make any money, and those who did not, of course could not expect anything. However, there is plenty to eat, and if there is any one suffering, I am sure they can keep from going hungry.

Mr. High complimented the Times on its fight to get the farmers to make their living, and this year proves that you were right, he said, in addressing the Editor. If Wilson County farmers had followed a policy of trying to buy their food with money crops, many of us would have starved to death. The safe and only way is to make your living first and then if low prices for the money crops prevail, or there are short crops, our people will have bread to eat, he said.

"When it comes to shortage of food, there are probably more people in Wilson who are feeling a shortage of food than in the county. They are dependent on their daily wages for bread, and when work is scarce, they are unable to secure the money with which to buy, but our generous hearted people and the Wilson Relief Association, and the churches, as far as possible, are taking care of this situation.

"But as Col. Bruton said in his talk before the Kiwanis Club Thursday evening, there is more to eat and corn in Wilson County this year than ever before, and there is plenty to go around, and therefore no necessity for any one to go hungry."

ABOUT TOWN

It is encouraging to note that farmers of Pitt county have gone to work. This is the best panacea in the world for hard times. It not only causes production, but it enables the diligent worker to forget his condition and to anticipate better things in the future.

It is the first time in years Pitt county farmers have started to work at such an early date and it bespeaks good things for them in the long months to come. The word work has been recommended for the entire nation but no section needs to get down to it any more than Pitt county.

In past years our growers have been content to raise one or two big crops and spend the rest of the time in idleness. Today they are reaching out into other fields of endeavor such as hog and poultry raising, and recently they entered the cream business on a small scale. Neither of these industries has increased to any great scope at this time, but the future holds forth great possibilities and the man that sticks to the experiment should find it very profitable.

When the planting season comes this year Pitt county will be ready to plant and in that planting we are going to see a greater variety of things than has ever been produced before. In fact, it is going to be a "Live-at-Home" year and when harvest time comes we are going to be on the road to prosperity whether crops sell high or not.

One hundred people visited his office Monday and none of them were starving, or appeared to be in dire distress.

This statement was made by E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt county Farm Department, who comes in direct contact with more farmers than any other man in the county.

Mr. Arnold realizes that times are not as good as they have been in Pitt county, but he discounts opinions recently expressed concerning the starvation times in existence. He says most of the hard times is confined to isolated sections, and such a state of affairs does not exist among the majority.

There have always been a certain number of poor people in the county and there always will be, but that is no reason for picturing the entire section in the state of starvation. Pitt county has passed through similar periods in the future if she continues to exist, and there is no reason in the world to howl so much about it as some people are doing. The only remedy for the situation is more work, and it looks like the farming element has started out to remedy the ailment.

Greenville and Pitt County people will join in extending a cordial welcome to Judge Thomas Johnson, of Lumberton, who is presiding over this session of Superior court. It is the first time the distinguished lawyer and jurist has visited the county and it is to be hoped he finds it just as pleasant as he had hoped it would be.

Judge Johnson has played an important part in the political life of his section. He represented his people in the North Carolina legislature for two terms and last session served as president pro-tem of the Senate. He was instrumental in the passage of considerable legislation of state-wide interest and showed his people that he really was a servant worthy of his hire.

Judge Johnson has been prominently mentioned for governor, and if insistence of friends counts, he will be actively in the race when the big guns begin booming at the opening of the battle.

FIVE INDICTED BY GRAND JURY IN STRIKE CASE

Nine of Fourteen Defendants Acquitted of Connection With Woman's Death

Gastonia, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Five of the fourteen defendants were indicted by a Gaston grand jury today in connection with the killing of Mrs. Ella May Wiggins, a textile worker, here on September 14. The others were acquitted.

The men indicted were Horace Wheelus, Troy Jones, Lowry Davis, Fred Morrow and O. H. Lunsford. The five men indicted are all mill workers. Wheelus is under $5,000 bond. The other four are under $2,500 bond.

The court proceeded with a case that is under trial. It is expected that Attorney General Dennis Brummitt will ask a change of venue.

Solicitor Carpenter has said that he would not ask a change and hoped the trial would start this week.

The grand jury received the case Monday morning. The indictment charges that the defendants, "with force and arms, pursuant to all unlawful combination, conspiracy, confederation and agreement thereto entered into between them and divers other evil disposed persons, to the jurors unknown, feloniously, wilfully, premeditatedly, deliberately and with malice aforethought, did kill and murder Ella May Wiggins," contrary to the statute in such cases.

A grand jury at the October term of court refused to return indictments against eight men held in connection with Mrs. Wiggins' death. Fourteen men were bound over in November by Judge P. A. McElroy, sitting here as a committing magistrate under Governor Gardner's orders.

Attorney General Dennis G. Brummitt when asked if he would seek a change of venue said it was not his policy to announce legal plans in advance.

There is a strong belief here that he will seek to have the case tried in a neighboring county. Efforts to find the slayers have carried the case before a coroner's jury, two grand juries and a committing magistrate.

Mrs. Wiggins was fatally shot five miles from here on September 14, on Route No. 20, in a truck. She and other union members had been turned back from Gastonia, where they planned to attend a Communist meeting. SHR HRD HR 1st meeting.

MARY PICKFORD SUCCESSFUL IN CONTESTING TAX SUIT

Los Angeles, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Mary Pickford, screen actress and wife of Douglas Fairbanks, film luminary, has successfully contested in superior court an attempt to collect $90,284 inheritance tax on the estate of her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Pickford Smith.

Miss Pickford contended that the $28,284 tax already paid by her as executrix of the estate was all the state legally was entitled to, because $780,000 of her mother's estate was a trust fund she had created out of her earnings as an actress. Mrs. Smith's estate aggregated more than $1,000,000.

New York—Mrs. Herbert C. Pell believes that if grandmothers were busy with their own careers they would be sought out by their children instead of being dreaded or patronized. And so at the age of 43 she is starting a career as a professional artist, having done little painting while bringing up her children. The proceeds of her work are going into a sentimental fund for her grandchildren. She will use her maiden name, Oliver Bigelow. She is a granddaughter of John Bigelow, diplomat and editor.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 2 to 3 points today in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables, while there may have been a little selling on slightly smaller domestic consumption figures than anticipated.

March sold off to 17.37 and May to 17.57 right after the call, making net declines of about 2 to 6 points but there was enough trade buying or covering to give the market a steady undertone and prices held fairly steady as these figures during the first half hour.

The report of the census bureau placed domestic consumption for December at 453,882 bales against 544,150 in November and 533,301 in December, 1928.

Liverpool cables reported that hedging and Continental liquidation had been absorbed by trade calling in that market and said there had been fair cloth sales to India and the Near East.

STOCK MARKET

By STANLEY W. PRENOSIL
New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Renewal of selling attacks against the merchandising issues, particularly Montgomery-Ward which was hammered down more than 5 points to a new low record for the present stock at 38 1/2, unsettled today's stock market after an opening period of moderate strength. Early declines in most of the active issues ranged from fractions to 3 points, although a few specialties for which there is a thin market dropped 4 to 13 points, but an irregular recovery set in during the early afternoon.

Weakness of Montgomery-Ward, which sold as high as 156 7/8 in the "Bull" market last year, was attributed in some quarters to the liquidation of a stale weakened speculative account, and in others to "Bear" attacks based on the disappointing nature of some of the recent earnings statements. Rumors that one of Wall street's largest "Bear" operators had received a 300,000 share liquidating order in that issue were denied. Sears Roebuck dropped 3 points in sympathy, and J. C. Penney 2.

The day's business news was again rather conflicting in character. Iron Age estimated that operations of the U. S. Steel corporation were now running at 70 percent of capacity, stating that "the demand for steel continued to grow and production has made another gain, but prices have undergone further reductions". Freight car loadings in the week ended January 4 showed a large gain over the preceding week, but were 18,753 cars below the corresponding week of 1929.

Midland steel products preferred broke 13 points, Auburn auto and Colorado & Southern yielded 6 points each, Columbian Carbon 4 1/2 American Woolen preferred and J. Case 4 and Brunswick Colender dropped 11-2 to a new low record at 13 1/8. Atchison, St. Louis Southwestern, Republic steel and Brooklyn Union Gas yielded 2 points, or more.

Amusement shares were again in good demand. Warner Bros. Pictures was marked up more than 3 points, Lowes 2 and radio, Fox film, a point or more.

A good demand also was noted for a few railroad shares, Atlantic Coast Line, Canadian Pacific and Delaware and Hudson rising 2 to 3 1/2 points.

Call money renewed at 4 1/2 per cent but dropped to 4 in the early afternoon.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Intimations by a leading British trade authority that he will reduce his latest estimate of world import requirements of wheat 24,000,000 bushels led to material downturns today in wheat prices here.

On the basis of his previous estimate, this would indicate a total of 672,000,000 bushels for the season, compared with actual clearances of 912,000,000 bushels in 1928-29, and would be the smallest total since 1925-26, when shipment were 671,000,000 bushels. Export purchases of wheat today from the United States and Canada amounted to only 200,000 bushels.

Wheat closed unsettled 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 lower than yesterday's finish; corn closed 1 1/2 to 1 5/8 to 1 3/4 down; oats 3-8 to 1-2 to 5-8 and provisions varying from 10c decline to a rise of 12c.
