WARD SPEAKS ABOUT TAXES IN THIS CITY

Former Congressman Tells People What They Should Do to Reduce Taxation

Hon. H. S. Ward, of Washington, former member of the United States Congress from this district, spoke at the court house in this city today on the subject of tax reduction.

The address came at the noon adjournment of the criminal term of Pitt county Superior court and was heard by approximately four hundred people from various sections of the county who had gathered here for this term of court.

At conclusion of the address resolutions were passed calling on the Board of County Commissioners to take some action looking to relief from excessive land taxes.

With characteristic vigor, Mr. Ward brought out the main points of his discourse in a way that left no doubt as to his meaning. He urged the people to assert their constitutional rights and take the matter of taxation into their own hands. He read to them the resolutions regarding the emergency created by the tax situation and urged his hearers to give them as wide circulation as possible.

He urged his hearers to demand an immediate reduction of 25 per cent in taxes and an additional reduction of 25 cents the following year. He also gave notice that he intended carrying his message into other counties of the state and arousing the people to co-operate in the campaign for lower taxes on real estate.

"If people themselves say that taxes shall be reduced, then the speaker declared, 'The trouble in the past has been that people have been doing a lot of complaining and haven't lifted their voices in protest over them. You yourselves, have been indifferent, your representatives have been indifferent and your legislature has been equally indifferent. You need never expect any relief unless you demand that relief, and demand it in vigorous and unmistakable fashion.'"

The resolution follows:

Resolved: That the land valuations in Pitt county are so far in excess of the true value in money of the said lands as compared to the value of other property as to create a disproportion of burden upon the lands which is a violation of the spirit of the Constitution and laws of this State.

Resolved: That this excessive tax burden on land caused by its great over valuation is oppressive to the taxpayer and has served to so impair the commercial value of the land as to obstruct and almost destroy business of the county, driving the largest and most essential item of property, whose use and exchange constitute the basis of the business of this country, off the market and creates tenants and reduces the numbers of the home owners all of which is of great injury to the country.

Resolved: That while we deplore the necessity of raising the tax rate and recommend retrenchment instead of that, we submit to the Board of Commissioners that a horizontal scale of land valuations could if the emergency of the county demanded could be followed by raise of the general rate and would produce the same amount of revenue and leave the lands taxed at a less burden and more nearly on equality with other property.

Resolved: That the burden is so excessive as above stated and the emergency so great as to constitute an error in the tax books as now constituted creating a legal justification on the Board of Commissioners to make the correction.

Airplane Crash Claims Three Lives at Lake Worth, Fla.

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Three men on their way in an airplane to Daytona Beach from the Bahama Islands fell to their death in the craft in Lake Worth here yesterday.

Two other men were injured seriously. The dead: William Lindley, pilot, Daytona Beach; Edwin Omph, 28, mechanic, Daytona Beach; W. Lipsky, mechanic, Daytona Beach.

The injured: Ed S. Butler, Miami; Elber Stossell, West Palm Beach. The plane, equipped with pontoons, was trying to land on the lake when it fell from a height of 500 feet and government authorities said they would make an investigation to determine the cause of the accident.

Five-Power Arms Confab Will Convene Tomorrow; Japan Hopes For Success

London, Jan. 20.—(AP)—King George, who will make his first public appearance tomorrow to open the naval disarmament conference, today received all the delegates to the conference at Buckingham Palace.

Prime Minister Mac Donald was the first of the chief delegates to arrive at the palace and had an audience with his majesty before the general reception. The other delegates rode to the palace into the inner courtyard whence they were conducted to the picture gallery next to the throne room on the first floor.

Tokyo, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Premier Hamaguchi, on the eve of the opening of the five-power naval arms conference at London, today gave the Associated Press an exclusive statement detailing Japan's hopes for success of the parley.

Japan, the premier said, was determined to contribute to the limit of her ability to make the conference "a success, a triumph of good sense and good will." He expressed Japan's hope that the "newly developed spirit of trust among nations, which we have written into the treaty outlawing war, will permit us to approach this task from many of the fears and suspicions which have hampered our former efforts."

London, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Heartened against manifest dangers by firm handiwork and face to face consultations, spokesmen of the five sea powers today completed in an atmosphere of tense expectancy preparations for convening tomorrow of their history-making conference on limitation of ships of war.

While the round of busy exchanges continued privately and negotiations entered their first public phase with summoning of all delegates to a meeting at No. 10 Downing street, and later to a reception by King George, events cast into clearer relief hourly the prospective viewpoints of every participant.

It became evident that the Americans were ready to give practical application to President Hoover's desire to reduce to the lowest possible levels, and although the delegation disclosed no details it was believed in conference circles the delegation might take the lead with a far-reaching offer to extend the naval holiday on capital ships, reduce their size, and reduce battle-

ESCAPING GAS PUZZLES CITY PLANT HEADS

City Without Gas Yesterday When Leak Empties Tanks at Local Plant

Residents of this city were without gas service yesterday morning as the result of some mysterious occurrence of which the gas company still has not determined.

According to J. T. Bland, manager of the local gas plant, when the plant closed down Saturday afternoon the holders contained far more than a sufficient quantity of gas to carry the city safely over the week-end. Between four and five o'clock Sunday morning early risers in the city found that there was no gas when they attempted to turn it on, and calls began to pour into the office of the gas company officials.

Upon immediate investigation at the plant it was found that the holders were empty, the gas in some way having escaped during the night. No reason for this escape could be found at the plant. It was supposed there was probably a bursted main somewhere in the city that had caused the gas to escape. Crews from New Bern and other nearby cities were summoned to aid the local crew in locating the trouble.

A check of mains and the gas plant failed to reveal the presence of any leak through which it would have been possible for so much gas to escape in such a few hours, and officials at the company are puzzled at the unusual occurrence. Investigation to determine the cause of the trouble continued today, but in the meantime to safeguard against the recurrence of the escaping gas, safety alarms are being installed at the plant which will automatically be set off when the supply of gas in the holders drops to a certain point.

Crash of Airplane At Ocean Side, Cal., Worst in History

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Loss of 16 lives in a passenger plane at Oceanside, Calif., is the greatest disaster in the history of aerial transportation and the greatest airplane disaster.

In several tragedies involving airplanes not engaged in commercial service, the death toll has been greater. Hitherto the greatest airplane disasters were: November 14, 1928, Rio Janeiro, 14 killed. March 17, 1929, Newark, N. J., 13 killed. January 2, 1930, Catalina Island, California 10 killed.

Sheriff Sam Whitehurst was expected to return today from Florence, S. C., with Ray Stokes, sign painter of Ayden, Pitt county, wanted in connection with a series of thefts committed in this county during the last several months.

Armed with requisition papers issued by the governor of North Carolina, Sheriff Whitehurst went to South Carolina last Saturday to bring Stokes back to Pitt county to face trial. Although South Carolina authorities declined to release the prisoner on a previous visit of Pitt county officers, it was not believed they would refuse the second time, especially in view of the demand made by Governor Gardner.

Stokes is also wanted in South Carolina for several thefts, and it was for this reason that the officers were reluctant in surrendering him to local authorities. He is charged with robbing freight cars and two or three filling stations in the vicinity of Lake City where he was captured sometime ago.

Aside from jumping a $250 bond in this city, Stokes is wanted here for the robbery of freight cars of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, and the theft of an automobile from Miss Estelle Green. A detective of the railroad accompanied Sheriff Whitehurst to the South Carolina City, and will assist in escorting Stokes back to the city.

Trouble started for Stokes at Lake City about two weeks ago. Driving the automobile stolen in this city, he went to a garage and offered the machine for sale. He is said to have told two different tales about the car, and the garage owners wired this city to determine if the sale had been of a legal nature.

Local authorities wired South Carolina officials to hold Stokes, and two officers were immediately dispatched to South Carolina to bring their prisoner back to Greenville. When they arrived at Lake City, however, they were told that the crimes of Stokes in South Carolina had been so varied that it had been decided to hold him for trial in that state.

The Pitt county officers returned home and prepared to drop the matter, but those who suffered from the activities of the sign painter immediately called upon Governor Gardner for requisition papers and extradition proceedings immediately get under way.

It was said that a brother of Stokes is also being held in South Carolina in connection with the sign painter's activities, but he will not face trial until sometime next May, it was said. Until that time he will remain in jail in Florence. Another man was also being held in connection with the thefts.

Escaped Prisoners Captured Today After Shooting Affair in Florida

Macon, Ga., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Five marksmen of the Jacksonville, Fla., police department reached here today by auto to reinforce a posse of officers engaged in a swamp hunt for three escaped Connecticut convicts, who wounded two detectives, one fatally, in the Florida city.

Bloodhounds from the Georgia state prison farm at Milledgeville were brought here and an area of suburban lowlands about three miles square was being patrolled by squads of heavily armed men.

The three, who authorities said fit the description of Roland Landon, Watson Moulthrop and Leo Landry, missing from the Wethersfield, Conn., penitentiary since January 4, attracted attention by driving a stolen automobile into Macon yesterday.

Identifying the machine as one taken from a Quitman, Ga., banker, authorities pursued it until the car was abandoned and its three occupants took to a swamp. A merchant in that vicinity reported that a man came out of the lowlands last night to purchase a foot and asked for a newspaper.

Early today a roadside sandwich shop was broken into in the same region and possums and dogs were dispatched to the scene of the burglary.

The trio of convicts killed Detective Willie Smith and shot his companion, W. D. Jones, in Jacksonville Friday night.

Belmont, N. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Funeral services were planned for this afternoon for Maurice Teeter, 29, textile worker, his wife and their 18-month-old baby, Pauline, who were killed early yesterday when Teeter drove his automobile into a Southern railway train at a crossing near here.

SIX MONTHS GRAND JURY IS SELECTED

Selection of a grand jury to serve for the next six months was the first order of business after which Judge Johnson delivered his charge. The grand jury is composed of T. R. Allen, foreman; W. H. Skinner, Fred Edwards, Jr., Paul Vincent, John Moximo, J. A. Holloman, J. E. Howard, W. L. House, Thad Andrews, G. S. Nichols, R. B. Tye, B. D. Nelson, Leon Hardee, Earl Herby, Hardy Corbett, A. A. May, C. A. Peaden, S. A. Spain.

The charge by Judge Johnson was described as one of the most informative heard in this city in many a day. He carefully reviewed the various laws that would come under attention of the grand jury during the six months' service, and urged them to be diligent at all times and careful that they judge each case according to the facts involved.

Judge Johnson did not place emphasis upon any particular phase of the law, but attempted to explain it in a way that would leave no doubt in the minds of the public regarding the principles involved. He was careful to stress even the smallest details of the criminal laws and impressed his hearers with the importance of considering even the small points of service, and urged them to be diligent at all times and careful that they judge each case according to the facts involved.

The docket for this term is one of the heaviest in many a day. There is approximately two hundred cases awaiting consideration, consisting of charges of murder, manslaughter, larceny and violation of traffic and prohibition laws.

The grand jury was faced by consideration of fully two dozen cases, which set aside the possibility of its members reaching investigation of county officers before the middle of the week if not later. Most of the cases consist largely of larceny and charges of embezzlement.

Sixteen Persons Killed As Giant Airplane Falls At Oceanside, California

Los Angeles, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A "peculiar weather mystery" was blamed by T. A. T.—Maddux Air Line officials here today for the crash near San Clemente last night of their tri-motored Ford monoplane which killed fourteen passengers and two pilots.

The fall of the plane while en route from Agua Caliente, lower Calif., to Los Angeles was due, the officials held, to "one of those peculiar weather mysteries which blew in rain from the Pacific in the particular area" of the accident.

F. F. Preeg, flight superintendent at the Glendale terminal of the lines, said the pilot of the ill fated plane apparently was blinded by the rain and fog-murk which hovered about the Oceanside and San Clemente bluffs. He said it was apparent that an emergency landing was being sought on account of the flying conditions, and discounted eye-witness reports of missing motors.

Los Angeles, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Sixteen charred and mangled bodies lay in the morgue at Oceanside, today as gruesome reminders of the crash of a giant T. A. T.—Maddux air liner while returning to Los Angeles with a group of week-end visitors to Agua Caliente, Mexico.

The sixteen met a horrible death late yesterday at Oceanside when the transport faltered down out of the sky, plowed a big gash in the earth, burst into flames and became a gasoline-fed funeral pyre.

None of the eight women and eight men aboard the transport lived to tell the story and all but three were burned beyond recognition.

Witnesses, including a Western Express pilot who saw the big liner take its human cargo to a fiery doom, agreed that the ill-fated craft had been fighting against a thick fog which forced aerial traffic beneath a dangerously low 200-foot ceiling.

Others who heard the crash and were struck with horror when they saw licking flames hurried to the spot only to find a pile of red hot metal. Spectators could but stand by, powerless, knowing that all the plane's occupants were beyond the reach of human aid.

The great plane apparently snagging the hillsides with a wingtip, yards breaking wide open the cabin, seething in flames from burst fuel tanks, it piled into a crumpled mass that spared not a single life.

Two of the first persons to reach the wreck, Lieutenant Virgil Westbrook, army flier, and Police Chief Forest Easton of San Clemente, agreed that the plane struck the hillsides at an angle and that three of the bodies had been thrown clear of the wreckage. The other thirteen were piled forward in the steel cabin that had turned into a red hot death chamber.

"When the first rescuers arrived," said Westbrook, "they were unable to reach any of the thirteen bodies in the burning cabin. It was a roaring furnace. Metal parts of the plane were red hot."

"The wreckage burned for some time and efforts to quench the flames were practically futile." The plane, one of the latest all-metal, tri-motored ships to ply the T. A. T.—Maddux airways, which earlier in the day had flown to Agua Caliente laden with joyous week-end sightseers intent upon a quest for pleasure in the lower California resort, took off for the return trip to Los Angeles at 5:30 p. m.

A wrist watch, found on the body of Pilot Russell, its crystal and face smashed, had stopped at 6:23 o'clock. Russell's body, hands still clutching the steering wheel, was found buried beneath the forward motor.

Robert Hansen, of San Clemente, another witness, said he saw the plane circling in an apparent effort to make a safe landing, and a few minutes later heard the crash.

"The motors were missing and the pilot appeared to be in trouble," Hansen said. "When I reached the scene after the crash, the last shreds of inflammable material were burned away, and the metal flame was glowing hot. I could see about a dozen bodies huddled in the passenger compartment. All of their clothing had been burned away, and I am sure all were dead when I reached the spot."

Yesterday's tragedy recalled the T. A. T. disaster of last September 3 when a westbound air transport crashed into the side of Mount Taylor near Grants, New Mexico, with a loss of eight lives, and the loss of five lives in San Diego, Cal., last spring when an army stunt flier collided in mid-air with an Arizona bound Maddux liner, hurling both planes to earth.

It recalled also the recent mid-air collision of two moving picture camera planes above the Pacific ocean off San Vicente, Cal., in which two pilot and eight film company employees were killed.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 20.—(AP)—A graphic account of the last moments of the great T. A. T.—Maddux plane which crashed near San Clemente, Cal., was given by Lamar Nelson, pilot of a Western Air Express plane which left Agua Caliente for Los Angeles a short time ahead of the T. A. T.—Maddux craft.

"I ran into heavy fog a little beyond Oceanside and turned back," Nelson said. "Then I went inland, trying to get under the fog, but when it closed down I went back to the coast. I thought of following the highway and getting bearings by the automobile headlights, for the ceiling had closed down to about 100 feet."

Residents said one of the three motors apparently was missing, and it maneuvered as if its pilot were seeking the emergency landing field north of town.

TWO PERSONS ARE WOUNDED BY CONVICTS

Chicago, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The cold wave had moderated today, but not until it had cost the lives of five persons, three of them infants.

A baby was found dead in his crib, having been overcome by coal gas in the kitchen stove which had been kept burning during the night because of the severe week-end cold. Another was suffocated by extra blankets placed over his bed, and a third was burned to death when fire erupted from his crib caught fire from a stove.

DRY QUESTION BECOMES MORE HEATED TODAY

Developments Over the Week-End Accentuate Discussion of Subject in House

Washington, Jan. 20.—(AP)—As Congress settled down today to another week of work it found the prohibition question more forcibly thrust forward by the killing of two dry agents at West Palm Beach, Florida, and the subsequent statement by Commissioner Doran of the prohibition bureau that the recent caustic utterances from Capitol Hill about the enforcement personnel were in part to blame for the shooting.

In both the House and the Senate the prohibition legislation formed a conspicuous part of the program mapped out for the six working days and the opinion prevailed that a moment, shortly would be forthcoming on both the slaying of the enforcement officers and the announcement by Mr. Doran.

Between now and Saturday night the House is expected to make a definite start on several phases of the Hoover plan for reorganization of dry law enforcement. The Williamson bill to provide for the transfer of the prohibition bureau from the Treasury to the Justice Department is regarded as the measure most likely to reach the House floor first.

Washington, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The recent caustic criticism of the personnel entrusted with prohibition enforcement is blamed by Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran as having had a large part in inducing armed resistance by violators of the law, resulting in the slaying of enforcement officers.

Doran made this statement in commenting upon the killing of F. R. Patterson and Robert K. McAuley, prohibition agents, when they entered a home at West Palm Beach, Florida, on Saturday, to search for liquor.

"I regret deeply the killing of any person," the commissioner said, "but the deaths of Patterson and McAuley who went in broad daylight to serve a search warrant upon a suspected bootlegger were due in large part to recent inflammatory attacks upon our personnel which leads weak-minded criminals to attack honest and efficient officers acting in performance of their sworn duty."

The first of President Hoover's proposals for improving enforcement conditions—that affecting the transfer of the prohibition unit from the Treasury to the Justice Department—is to be considered by the House expenditures committee tomorrow.

Doran made his comment on the Florida killings after receiving reports from E. R. Tuttle, prohibition administrator at Savannah, Ga., under whose direction the agents were working.

Tuttle said that Patterson, McAuley and two other officers went to the home of George W. Moore with search warrants in an effort to locate smuggled liquor which was believed to have been hidden there.

Doran denounced the recent criticism of the personnel of his service, declaring it had jeopardized the lives of his men. He pointed out that he had forbidden the use of firearms by his agents except in defense of their lives or of the lives of their comrades. Under these instructions, he added, an enforcement agent would permit a prohibition law violator to escape rather than resort to the use of firearms.

SALES TAX OFFERS BEST SOLUTION.

While former Congressman Ward did not set forth any concrete plan for raising the needed revenues to offset the reduction urged in the way of lower land values, he did refer briefly to two sources of taxation that in our opinion are the proper routes to tax relief for the overburdened landowners of our state.

As we see it, these plans offer the solution to our tax problems and they should be put into effect in our state by our next General Assembly. Of course there will be considerable fight on the part of holders of foreign stocks to prevent the repeal of the exemption law but there is no justice in the law and it should never have been placed on the statute books and the sooner it comes off the sooner a great wrong to our people will have been set aright. So far as the sales tax is concerned it has its enemies, but as we see it, a special tax on commodities with increased rates on those items that come in the luxury class is the fairest and most just plan of all. Under the sales tax plan the more you buy and the more expensive the wares, the more tax you pay which is as it should be. The sales tax not only offers a more just system of taxation but it likewise gives the taxpayer the benefit of paying his taxes throughout the year a few pennies at a time instead of having it all come in a lump sum at the end of the year.

There was little opposition to the gasoline tax and, like the majority, we believed it was the good thing that it has proved to be, and we don't believe that anybody has stopped buying gasoline because of the tax. It is our opinion that the same would be true with a general sales tax. People would continue to buy what they want regardless of whether or not those few extra cents were added and fear of merchants and manufacturers that a sales tax would cut down buying, we believe, is unfounded.

ABOUT TOWN

Nearly ten millions of dollars has been paid out to the farmers of this section for their tobacco crop this year.

This sounds like a huge sum of money, and it really is, and it is going to play an important part in helping the community recover from the period of depression which has held sway since last spring.

The tobacco crop is the principal crop of eastern Carolina, although big sums of money are derived from the production of commodities. The total value of all crops has not been ascertained but it will go well over the fifteen million dollar mark.

The Farm Department, headed by some of the most prominent growers of the county, is making an effort to interest the farmers in producing enough stuff this year to enable them to live-at-home despite the trend of prices for the principal crops. The suggestion is a good one in every sense of the word, and if followed, should lift the locality out of the slough of despondency which has existed since prices broke during the early part of the tobacco season.

Boost—don't knock! The more boosting we have during the next ninety days, the more this old section is going to go forward in every branch of industry.

The cherry smile and confident spirit of the booster can accomplish more than the combined knocks and wry smiles of the knocker, and the man able to boost when everything seems to go dead wrong is the man that the people seek in time of trouble of distress.

Look around you, Mr. Citizen, and find something you think deserves a good word and then give it with sufficient vigor and force to attract attention of people with whom you come in contact.

Greenville has lots of things to boast, so get busy and see if you cannot qualify as one of the most consistent boosters in the city.

Greenville is one of the best business towns in this part of the state, a traveling salesman told the writer of this column a day or so ago.

He said that he always found business good when he came to Greenville, and that his collections were always in proportion to the amount of business secured.

This is mighty good news, coming as it does during this season when numbers of people are prone to complain of hard times and to shake their heads ominously at any suggestion of things getting better. Such statements tend to refute argument to the contrary, and go to show that conditions in this section are recovering from the depression felt during the closing days of last year.

Every cloud has a silvery lining, as the old saying goes, and it seems that Pitt county is beginning to see the bright side of the cloud that hovered above us several weeks ago.

The Reflector offers to the people the best news service obtainable in the eastern section of the state, and this service will continue to improve with the city.

News carried in the columns of the Reflector is several hours ahead of anything reaching Greenville or Pitt county, and readers may rest assured that they are reading the latest developments in the stories appearing in the columns of this paper from day to day.

This statement may be easily verified by comparison of stories with those of other papers, and our readers are urged to make the comparison so that they may fully appreciate the service which they are receiving from day to day.

Victims of Train-Auto Wreck Buried

Belmont, N. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—The bodies of Maurice Teeter, his wife and their nine months old daughter, victims of a train-auto collision here early Sunday morning, were laid in the same grave this afternoon, while three other children, suddenly orphaned by the tragedy, recovered from injuries in a Charlotte hospital.

Teeter, 29, rs. Paul Teeter, 31, and the baby, Pauline, met almost instantaneous death when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into the side of Southern passenger train No. 30 at a crossing in the heart of Belmont Sunday morning at 12:55. Teeter was an employe of the Alberfoyle Manufacturing Company. His home was four miles from Belmont.

Mistrial Ordered In Murder Case

Greenville, S. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—The trial of J. Harmon Moore, former Greenville county deputy sheriff charged with murder of Sheriff Sam D. Willis, was declared a mistrial this morning by Judge W. H. Townsend.

The mistrial was ordered after Solicitor J. G. Leatherwood had presented five affidavits to show that T. B. Babb, a juror, had talked about the case during the weekend recess and had made, among other statements, one that he would never convict a white man on testimony of a negro.

Blair Rook, negro, who confessed he killed the sheriff after being employed to do so by Moore, is the state's principal witness against the deputy.

Trial of Strikers Set for Charlotte

Gastonia, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Judge J. H. Clements said today that the five men charged with murder of Mrs. Ella May Wiggins would be tried at Charlotte.

Judge Clements would not comment on the protest of Mayor Geo. E. Wilson, Jr. of Charlotte, against removal of the trial from Gastonia to Charlotte. The Charlotte mayor's protest, made to Governor O. Max Gardner, was because of unfavorable publicity he said would come to the city from the trial.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Splendid Sermon at Baptist Church

In his sermon last evening at Memorial Baptist church, Rev. A. W. Fleischmann using as his text Acts 26:28-29, which quotes Agrippa as saying to Paul, "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian," and Paul said, "I would to God that not only thou, but also all that hear me this day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds."

The pastor spoke of Paul's noble address before Festus and his visitor King Agrippa II. He told of the trial and the death under Nero, unmoved and undefeated we may be sure, with his face shining, as Stephen's shone that memorable day in Paul's youth, he went to meet his death. They could kill his body but they could not crush his spirit of conquer his faith and hope. When his eyes could no longer see Rome, he could see his Christ, and when his ears could no longer hear the shouting and cries of the people he could hear a gentle voice say, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant enter into the joy of thy Lord."

Rev. Fleischmann left with his hearers the question, "Are you doing your best to persuade anyone to become a Christian?"

WHAT IS IT?

That is a question that has been asked hundreds—yes, thousands—of times, during the past week in the city of Greenville.

What Is This MILLION DOLLAR CLUB

And the thousands who have asked the question, who have been interested in knowing what it is, will be more interested in it after getting that information.

The Million Dollar Club Is—

A group of Greenville's leading spirits—men and women keenly alive to their own opportunities for success, but never forgetting their greater opportunities and responsibilities in service to Greenville.

An unofficial, unchartered organization of volunteers who during 1930 will make an investment of $130,000.00 for themselves—an investment that will pay them over 6 per cent, TAX-FREE, with the utmost safety and security.

A body of men and women who, while thus profiting themselves directly, will profit themselves and all of Greenville by the investment of that $130,000.00 in homes for a still greater Greenville.

With Individual Investment of only $2.50 a week

The Million Dollar Club

Will finance the building of over 300 new homes in our city during the next 6 1-2 years.

How will they do it? Simple enough; Each member of this Million Dollar Club will subscribe for at least ten (10) shares of stock of the Home Building & Loan Association. Their joint effort—a weekly investment of ONLY $2.50 EACH—will make available $130,000.00 a year for the financing of Greenville homes. The average home loan is slightly over $2,800. That will mean the addition to our city of approximately 50 new homes a year for a period of six and a half years.

Can you imagine a finer service to the community, or one that is possible with so little individual effort?

The Million Dollar Club will be composed of many people who have never before discovered the opportunities and privileges for themselves, and the service to their city, offered in the Building and Loan plan; and of many others who have long participated in both its profits and its service. To the latter this story of service is more or less familiar, but a part of it is worth repeating:

We Aided 69 Greenville Citizens to Build During 1929.

Applications For Loans Now On File 34

—A very large percentage of them for new construction.

Are Much In Excess Over Available Funds

It is evident, therefore, that there is open to the Million Dollar Club a very large service to Greenville—one of which the city is in pressing need. It is a fortunate circumstance that the thousand rare spirits of this club can perform that service and at the same time profit themselves through steady investment in one of the strongest savings-investment plans known to the world; their money handled under direct State supervision and safeguarded to them by first mortgage liens on Greenville real estate! Of course you will want to join the Million Dollar Club. Its membership, being voluntary and un hindered, will not only be a mark of distinction in civic service, but a tribute as well to your keen business judgment—for here is an investment that pays profits in two directions, direct and indirect—Big profits, too!

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 6 to 10 points under local and foreign selling in response to lower Liverpool cables than had been expected. Some of the selling of the distant positions was attributed to a belief that the recent cold weather would reduce the weevil menace during the coming season. On the decline buying by trade interests and New Orleans gave the market a certain amount of support and offerings were not large as traders were awaiting action on the part of the Farm Board.

The March position declined to 17.24 and rallied to 17.26. Liverpool cables said the decline there had been due to hedging an continental and Bombay liquidation but reported a fair cloth inquiry from Africa and South America and said that the China news was better. Liverpool spot sales were reported at 6,000 bales including 4,000 American. Egyptian futures in Liverpool were 3 lower to 1 higher, Indian 10 lower.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Influenced by upturns in Liverpool quotations and by enlarged export business from North America, the wheat market here scored early advances today. Selling pressure in Chicago, however, increased on the price bulge, and with the Winnipeg wheat market weak the gains here failed to hold. Opening unchanged to 1c higher, Chicago wheat steadied later at around Saturday's finish. Corn, oats and provisions were firm, with corn starting 1-4c to 1-2c up, but subsequently reacting a little.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Prices of stocks continued to bob up and down within a narrow trading area in today's market. Renewal of selling attacks against Radio and some of the power and light stocks was offset by flurries of buying in the tobacco, zinc, amusement and merchandising shares. Neither "bull" nor "bear" traders appeared to gain any special advantage and public participation continued on a relatively small scale.

Since the first of the year the market, judged by the index of 90 leading stocks, has moved within a range of four points. Both small and large traders appear to be waiting for further information concerning the trend of spring business. While some lines, notably steel, have shown improvement, there is a rather general feeling that a further downward adjustment of values is necessary in many issues, and little general improvement in prices is expected until the bulk of this is completed.

Call money renewed at 4 1-2 percent but dropped to 4 despite the calling of some loans for foreign account. The time money market was dull.

National Bellas Hess issues led the merchandising group, the preferred stock jumping 16 points and the common moving up about 3 1-2. First National Stores and Abraham and Straus each advanced about two points and Kahn Department Stores, Best and Company and some of the others advanced a point or so.

The renewed demand for the American Tobacco issues was based on reports of an impending increase in wholesale cigarette prices. Warner Bros. Pictures and Radio-Keith-Orpheum led the advance in the amusement shares. U. S. Machinery ran up 6 points, Western Union 5, and Kraft Cheese and Warren Bros. 3 each.

U. S. Steel common sold down 2 points to 107 3-4 in the early trading but had practically recovered its loss by early afternoon. Allied Chemical made up an early loss of 4 points. Radio was driven down more than two points to 35 3-8. Standard Electric Power and Light, United Aircraft and Liggett and Myers B. all sold down two points or more, before effective buying was encountered.

Dismisses Charge Against Woman

Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Years ago, as Judge Calvin Stewart hints out, there were "real men who made laws that really protected women."

Mrs. Angelino Magni was brought before the court. She had driven through a fire line. The offense is punishable by a fine or imprisonment. Tough for a woman, perhaps, but law.

Judge Stewart, however, knew something that most folks didn't remember that; back in '32 there were "real men who made laws that really protected women."

To Mrs. Magni, charged with breaking the law, he said: "I am not disposed to send you, a widow with two children, to jail, for am I disposed to take the fine and costs from you and give them to the city when you probably need the money at home."

"Under the modernistic idea you, of course, would have to stand trial in court the same as a man. But there was a time when women had the protection of the law."

Flicking up the ordinance book the court found the following tendor of equality which through years of "equal right" conflict still flourishes:

No female shall be arrested in any action except for a wilful injury to persons, character or property."

Closing the book gently, Judge Calvin Stewart announced that the charges was dismissed.

Says Commission Has No Way for Stopping Station

Cleveland, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Thad H. Brown, general counsel of the Federal Radio Commission before leaving here for Washington today, said the commission has no means to curb W. K. Henderson of station KWKH, Shreveport, La., against whose broadcasting complaints have been made.

"Radio jurisprudence," said Mr. Brown, "is still in its infancy, and as yet there is now no law to prevent Henderson from saying whatever he happens to choose. He has informed the commission via radio, that if his station is ever put out of business, he will open a new one in Mexico and operate on every frequency imaginable."
