PRES. HOOVER GOES OUT FOR BIG SAILFISH

Chief Executive Fishing 25 Miles From Long Key, Florida, Today.

Long Key, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—President Hoover fished 25 miles from Long Key today, off Somboro light, where sailfish were reported to be in abundance. The chief executive and his companions left Long Key shortly after day light, aboard the Saunterer, the houseboat which he chartered for his stay here. Other vessels of his Florida fishing fleet followed in the wake of the houseboat, with two Coast Guard cutters acting as convoys. They arrived off Somboro light about 8 o'clock and after breakfast, re-embarked in smaller craft of the fleet for a long day's angling.

The president was eager to increase his total catch of sailfish to include more than the seven foot member of the tribe that he landed the first day of his vacation trip. Since then, each day's trip has brought him either smaller varieties of fish or none at all. His decision to start the return trip to Washington tomorrow night, instead of Monday, quickened his desires for more fishing today.

DAIL SPEAKS TO STUDENTS HIGH SCHOOL

Well Known Local Man Talks About Value of Live-at-Home Program.

In furtherance of the Live-at-Home program the high school this morning had as its speaker Mr. Haywood Dail of the city. Mr. Dail was asked to bring a message to the student body in view of the fact that he has had first hand experience with the problems which are facing the Pitt county farmers today.

In introducing Mr. Dail to the student body Supt. Rose stated that the schools were interested in the farm problems of the county not only because of the happiness of the people depended upon their correct solution but also because the life of such institutions as the public schools system is at stake; that unless there is a solution of these pressing problems that the schools of the section could not survive. He also introduced Mr. Dail as a farmer who is and has been trying to carry out the ideas involved in the Live-at-Home program.

Mr. Dail stated that first of all the people of this section must meet modern farming conditions in a modern way; that part of the plight which the farmers find themselves in today is due to the fact that we are trying to farm under "slavery" conditions; that they do not recognize the change which has taken place in our economical life. He also stated that the people of this section should begin to get ready so that they can stand a money crop failure, and still have enough to bring happiness and contentment. Further, that the greatest danger to the Live-at-Home program is the impatience of the people. Some people try a Live-at-Home program for a few months and maybe one year, and then, because it does not do all its proponents say it will do, desire to throw the whole program overboard. Mr. Dail says it is not a matter of months, but a matter of years, and that such a program cannot be judged by what it does for just one year.

An interesting thing brought out at the beginning of Mr. Dail's talk was that the large number of high school pupils who are connected with a farm in some manner. Mr. Dail asked all those who lived on the farm to stand up, and about one hundred stood up. He then asked all those whose parents owned farms in the country, but lived in towns to stand up, and about one hundred and fifty stood up.

Parents to Take Thier Troubles to Mayor of Chicago

Chicago, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Parents of "striking" pupils at the Park Junior High School today notified Principal Will R. Anderson that "no more resistance is an end," and that the fight against transfer of their children from Lovett school would be taken to the mayor. A spokesman for 21 parents of 51 children said: "We will take direct action now and carry our fight to the mayor."

The parents sent their children home and adjourned to a nearby church to await word from their attorney, who Tuesday submitted a brief outlining the objections to the transfers.

The parents have kept their children from school for a week Monday and Tuesday they sought to conduct classes themselves in the Lovett school. They were ousted by authorities each day. They continued the classes, mothers teaching, in a nearby church.

Objection to the transfer of the seventh and eighth grades from Lovett to Burbank, was the necessity for the children to cross sixteen unguarded railroad tracks.

Heel Boxers Face Fla. Minus Bantam

Chapel Hill, Feb. 14.—Twelve strong, but without a bantamweight, the Southern Conference Championship Tar Heel boxers headed southward today for meets with Florida in Gainesville Saturday night and South Carolina in Columbia Monday night.

Men making the trip were Harry Sheffield and Milton Cohen, feather weights; North Goodridge and Jack Farris, lightweights; Captain Arch Allen and Hoke Webb, welterweight; Obie Davis and Frank Smathers, middleweights; John Warren and Bob Avery, light heavies; Bill Koenig and Rosenfeld, heavies; Coach Crayton Rowe and Manager Herman Schnell.

Failure of Evan Vaughan, 115 pounder, to round into shape means that the Tar Heels will have to forfeit the bantam match in both meets, and stake their hopes of victory on winning four of the other six contracts.

Florida was runner-up to the Tar Heels in the Conference Tournament at last year and has mainly the same veterans in togs again this season.

Coach Rowe is planning to use substitutes wherever possible, but will probably have to use a straight line of veterans at Florida.

The first string outfit includes Sheffield, Goodridge, Captain Allen, Davis, Warren, and Koenig. Goodridge, Allen and Davis are undefeated for the season. Sheffield and Warren have tasted defeat for the season. Sheffield and Warren have tasted defeat but once apiece, both times on close decisions.

The Tar Heel, Southern champions the last two years, have been defeated this season, having beaten Washington and Lee, V. P. I. V. M. L., and Virginia.

Police were on hand to prevent entry to the theatre. They placed a dozen students in the tiny city jail and cooped up about 150 more in a rear room of the theatre, those remaining free tore the door off the jail and charged the theatre, but were driven back by tear bombs.

OPTIMISM AND HARD WORK.

The prevailing trend of thought as set forth in the various addresses before the annual meeting of the Merchants Association last night was "Optimism and Hard Work" as the best and quickest way out of the present period of depression in our city and section, and it is to be hoped that every business man present at last night's meeting will pick up that spirit and pass it on to others with whom he comes into contact. The present period of depression had to come to us, we believe, because the system we were following was wrong and in the end must lead to disaster. With the apparent determination with which our people are now putting their shoulders to the wheel, we believe that the period of depression will be short-lived and the lesson we have learned therefrom will mean a bigger, better and more prosperous community in the future. Hard work and optimism surely will do the trick for us.

LOVE AND ROMANCE.

The lover who sent the first valentine ranks with the inventor of Santa Claus, among the Great Unknowns of history.
Few men have done as much to make this a joyous world. Surely no one has done more to color life with romance.

No life is worth while unless it attracts and radiates love.

And the valentine is the messenger of Cupid.

If you are on the shady side of youth, there are few memories you can look back to, with the thrill and tenderness of the valentines of school days.

Sometimes we wonder what became of those first sweethearts of youth—the shy little lassie in the gingham pinafore, the sweetheart of the old-time sleighride, the romantic love of our late 'teens and early twenties.

You remember those valentines you sent them?
"Them was the days."

Looking backward, the valentine days are rosy lanterns in the mists of the past.

Those greatest sweethearts, our wives, may be getting gray. But the old-time love is in their hearts.
The thrill of a valentine to them is as tense and glamorous as long ago. This is Valentine Day, and all sweethearts, white-haired or young, yearn for remembrance—violets, candy or, best of all, an honest-to-goodness valentine.

ABOUT TOWN

Don't forget to attend the mass meeting at the courthouse tonight and hear what is going to be done to bring about more favorable conditions in the agricultural situation in this county.

Speakers tonight will set forth legislation now pending in Congress, which if passed, would provide $3-000,000 for the relief of stricken farmers in six states of the southeast. An effort has been made to increase the amount, but whether either will be successful is yet a matter of uncertainty.

In fact, it has been stated that certain opposition has developed against the measure in the House, and this must be overcome before anything definite can be accomplished. It is this point that will receive chief consideration tonight, and if deemed advisable, Pitt county may send a delegation to Washington to see what can be done to further passage of the bill.

If you are interested in relief of the emergency situation, make it a point to attend the meeting tonight and do your part in making the session the success it should be.

Greenville merchants held their annual meeting last night, and as customary upon an occasion of this kind, there was much oratory dealing with the past and the future.
Everything the merchants had to say, however, was of an interesting nature and indicated that they have the best interest of the community at heart as they always have. They found past achievements very gratifying, and praised the efforts of the leading spirits of the organization who made the success possible.
But the thing now interesting the merchants and every other man and woman of this great community at this time is not the past, but the future. With one of the worst financial situations in years to face, it is going to take some wise planning to carry the old bark through the stormy waters during the next several months.

But Pitt county merchants, and especially those in Greenville, have faith in the future possibilities of the community. They have nothing to guide their faltering footsteps except experiences of the past, and it is upon these that they will depend to carry them through to a safe harbor.
They believe that the things most vitaly necessary at this time is optimism—a spirit of faith—and the necessary amount of work to make achievement possible.

It looks like the Live-at-Home movement is going to prove a big success in Pitt county if activities now in progress in the various parts of the county count for anything.

Every since Governor Gardner initiated Live-at-Home Week some time ago, our people have exhibited more than passing interest in the plan, and this week especially set aside for observance of the movement found hundreds studying what it actually means.

Many meetings have been held over the county this week, and the progressive men and women of the farm have found a new conception of what the plan should mean to them if actually put into operation.
"Live-at-Home", however, is nothing new to many farmers of this thriving section. The plan was introduced by the farm department something like two years ago, and ever since that time the spirit of thrift as embodied by the plan has been instilled into the hearts of hundreds of people.

In fact, the movement has gained such momentum that it will be securely established by the time Governor Gardner established his model Live at Home farm down here. We will have gained sufficient knowledge of the thrift idea by that time that our people should be able to keep apace of anything put in motion by the state farm experts who will visit us from time to time to see what progress is being made on the experiment farm.

Between activities of federal and county officers, bootleggers of this section of the state have been kept on the jump during the last several months. Beginning here a few months ago, the federal men launched a campaign that resulted in 70 or more members of the illicit whiskey traffic falling into toils of the law.

That the campaign had a salutary effect upon the life of the community cannot be questioned, even though whiskey is as easy to get now as it ever was before. Yet, the bootleggers are not quite as bold as of old and their movements are conducted upon more surreptitious lines.

County officers also have brought rumblers to account since the Christmas holidays, and it looks like they plan to bring still more.
More than a half dozen operators have been brought to justice during the last week or so, and more are expected to be apprehended.

The government officers move with extreme rapidity, jumping from one community to another, in a few hours and striking telling blows against the traffic.

With such a condition existing the life of the distiller and boot-legger is a perilous one, and it is a dead end his operations will become more confined as fear of apprehension continues to increase.

TAR HEELS ALL SET FOR GAME WITH DEVILS

Chapel Hill, Feb. 14.—A curious mixture of traditional pride, present underdog psychology, and desire to place Carolina's banner as high as possible on the state championship flagpole, whence it has flown proudly seven of the last eight years, will be driving the Tar Heel basketball team in the Duke game in Durham Saturday night.

The Tar Heels haven't come straight out and told the world they expect to win, for they respect the Devils as one of the strongest teams in the South and as a highly worthy opponent. The players, however, have let it be known that they don't expect Saturday night's performance to result in anything like the 34-14 count that followed the last Carolina - Duke game.

That score was unexpected. Duke had beaten State by but four points, and Carolina had proven 2 points better than the Wolfpack. And in games with Wake Forest, the Tar Heels had had a 2-point better margin.

State championship hopes are out of the question for the Tar Heels. Duke is undefeated for five games. The Tar Heels, with two won and three lost, are tied with a percentage of 400 with N. C. State just below Davidson, with one won and one lost.

The Tar Heels, do however, have a chance to finish second, and the Phantoms will be fighting in the three Big Five games left on their schedule toward exactly that end. Second places aren't exactly the usual thing with the team that won the State title six years and tied a seventh in the last eight seasons, and won the Southern title the only year it missed the Big Five honor, but at that a second place is much better than a lower rating.

Supporters of both teams are expecting a tough battle. Duke out-gamed the Tar Heels in the last game by sending its fast forwards Rogers and Councilor to guarding Carolina's guards under the Duke goal so that the latter could not work the ball down the court, but the Tar Heels will be wary of this trick and will be matching Duke's speed with their own speed.

MARPET - GUARD

Chapel Hill, Feb. 14.—Artie Marpet, star guard and high scorer, is expected to be one of Carolina's biggest threats in the Duke game in Durham Saturday night. Marpet's fine defensive and floor game has featured every Tar Heel game this year, and the big 74-inch-er from Yonkers, N. Y., is getting a wide reputation now for his sharpshooting of the long, difficult shots. He bagged three more from mid-court against the strong Loyola five Wednesday night.

Two Basketball Games Saturday

The Greenville High School freshmen are looking forward to two very interesting games of basketball tomorrow night in the school gym, when the New Bern High Junior teams are scheduled for both boys and girls games. The boys met last fall in New Bern in football, in a well played game, but so far there has been no basketball played between the rival teams. New Bern appears to be the only High School in this vicinity that has any interest in the development of younger teams like Greenville's, and have so far been pleasant opponents. The Greenville girls are planning to entertain the visitors at dinner previous to the game, which will be at 7:30. It is hoped that a large crowd will turn out to help welcome the visitors and see two fast and evenly matched games.

SPORTS SLANTS

Managing a major league ball club is complicated business. So is the task of finding a manager; that is, a successful manager. Many have been called, tried and discarded without yet standardizing the product or developing an accurate yardstick of measurement. The problem is of importance because eight of the 16 major league clubs have new pilots this spring.

The notion prevailed a few years ago that bench managers were more desirable than playing pilots. This was based on the success of McGraw, in part, as well as upon the theory that the master-mind best could be done without additional responsibilities on the field. Then along came Bucky Harris and Rogers Hornsby to lead world's championship clubs. There was a rush to sign playing managers. Now the pendulum has swung back again the other way, following the success of Mack and McCarthy, both bench pilots.

The season of 1930 will see every big league pilot directing the strategy from the bench or side lines. Bucky Harris still can play but there is no necessity for any second basing on his part so long as the Tigers have Charley Gehring in good health. Walter Johnson can pitch but the Big Train scarcely would think of trying any extended come-back.

The theory of bench managers, therefore, seems thoroughly established.

Although line of the 16 pilots were two of the greatest performers of all time but they did not succeed as managers.

On the other hand, Joe McCarthy of the Cubs never was a major league player. He was merely a successful minor league manager. Connie Mack was just a fair catcher, although he played major league ball with Pittsburg at one time.

Jewel Ems, new pilot of the Pirates, was never a major league performer and Dan Howley, now at the helm for Cincinnati, was in the big show only one year as a catcher with the Phillies.

Bill McKechnie has had the most checkered career of any pilot. Starting his experience in the minors in 1907, McKechnie played with four National one American and two Federal League clubs. He then piloted pennant winners for two teams, Pittsburg and St. Louis, losing his job following each victory. Now he has a four-year contract with the Braves.

As to the previous condition of servitude among the pilots, the evidence is somewhat confusing except it may indicate that catchers and infielders make the best managers.

"Big Ed" Walsh (left) long ago ceased to be the pitching hero that he once was but the name of Walsh apparently will be in big time baseball for years to come. As a coach of the White Sox, Walsh personally helped one son, Ed, jr. (right), stick as a major league hurler. Now another son, Robert E., has signed to pitch for the Yankees.

BLUE DEVILS STOP STRONG LOYOLA TEAM

Charlotte, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Loyola's Chicago Rambler basketball team after barely noosing out the University of North Carolina, 25 to 26, met its Waterloo last night at Durham when it tackled the Duke Blue Devil five.

The Blue Devils humbled the ramblers, 30 to 27, before more than 1,000 North Carolina basketball fans.

The Loyola quint, boasting an almost endless string of victories in the mid-west, had a close call at Chapel Hill Wednesday night, winning the one-point victory over the Tar Heels in desperate last minute drive. Going on to Durham, the westerners made a determined stand last night against Duke but the Big Five leader proved too much for them.

Florida, another invading quint.

HUNGRY Tobacco Crops

It Pays Well to Feed Them

TOBACCO crops cry for nitrogen—the element that gives plants the strength to start right, grow fast, and mature as they should. Chilean Nitrate of Soda is the fertilizer that supplies immediately available nitrogen. It reduces growing time by about two weeks and materially increases leaf quality. Keeps leaves green until crop begins to mature, but does not interfere with normal ripening. It is often the difference between a big paying crop and a poor one.

Chilean Nitrate sure does pay as a top dresser for bright tobacco. I planted two years without it and did not make much tobacco. I experimented with Chilean Nitrate and have been using it ever since with mighty good results. I have not come under $400 per acre in five years until last year, and have made as high as $734.96 per acre. A. M. SELLERS, Basley, Ga.

Chilean Nitrate is the world's only natural nitrate fertilizer. It has been used for 100 years in the United States. More than 800,000 farmers applied it last year to their tobacco, cotton, corn, grain, fruit, truck. It just about takes all the gamble out of making crops. "It's Soda" not luck," is an old saying and it is truer today than ever before. Decide now to let Chilean Nitrate help you make more money next year.

COTTON MARKET

New York, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 10 to 14 points today in response to higher Liverpool cables and show net gains of 17 to 23 points right after the call, with May advancing to 16.18 and October to 16.53 on covering and trade buying. Demand tapered off somewhat at these figures which evidently attracted realizing and there were setbacks of a few points but the market was fairly steady and about 13 to 18 points net higher at the end of the first half hour. The report of the consumption of 577,235 bales for January compared with 453,982 for December and 668,286 for January, 1929, was a shade under the forecast and may have led to some realizing on the early advance. Liverpool cables said there had been covering and trade calling in that market and reported a broadening demand for cotton cloths, with an improved turnover in yards.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Heavy selling from commission houses staggered the wheat market today and prices tumbled downward in some cases nearly three cents per bushel. Reports suggesting that United States wheat production for 1930 is likely to be well above the domestic requirements did much to induce selling. Winnipeg dispatches telling of prospects that the British government would take 30,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, and would ship it from Montreal in the spring attracted some notice here.

Wheat closed nervous 1 5-8 to 2 3-8 lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 3-8 to 1-2 to 5-8 down. Oats 3-8 to 1-2 to 1 off and provisions showing 5 to 10 advance.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The stock market went through another series of erratic price movements today in which the steel and public utilities were featured on the upside, while the merchandising issues and rails showed the largest declines. Trading was fairly heavy in volume, with the tick 10 minutes late at one period during the morning.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent but advanced to 4 1/2 as banks called loans to strengthen their position at the Federal Reserve. Apparently, little attention was paid to the increase of $8,000,000 in brokers' loans although some observers were inclined to regard it as indication that stocks were passing from strong to weak hands.

U. S. Steel common was pushed up 3 points to a new 1930 high at 187 or slightly more than a point below the high reached in the December recovery and nearly 20 points above the price which the stock recently was offered to employees under the partial payment plan. Republic steel was marked up more than 6 points to 79 1/2. Vanadium 31 1/4 to 70. Colorado Fuel 31 1/4 to 57. Central Alloy 23 1/4 to 34 3/4 and Gulf States 2 1/2 to 6 1/2, all 1930 high records.

At least a dozen public utilities led by Brooklyn Union Gas, with a gain of nearly 6 points move into new high ground for the year. Vulcan detinning soared 11 points on odd lots.

CLAUDE TOLAR ELECTED TO PRESIDENCY OF THE MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION

lect. "How has the Association Served Greenville?" He deplored present unfavorable publicity which the section has received, and declared that "Greenville is not dead" but enjoys as many opportunities for development today as ever before.

He declared the Merchants Association is a clearing house for the business of the community. It takes the place of a Chamber of Commerce and other affiliated organizations and is using its influence to further the industrial and commercial development of the city and community.

Mr. Sugg said he saw in the present situation a greater determination on the part of the people to go forward, and thought that they would prove their mettle in the long fight ahead. He declared the association to be one of the most valuable assets of the locality, and urged the coordination—not co-operation—of all enterprises in this direction.

"Greenville is the best town in the state," he concluded, "and it is up to the citizens to tell the world about the strong talking points."

"Radio Broadcasting" was the subject discussed by H. H. Duncan, and he brought out several instances of where the radio is keeping the nation better informed than it ever has been before. He saw continued growth of the industry and urged that the Merchants Association continue its program from the broadcasting station at Raleigh.

J. L. Little, president of the National Bank, was not on the program, but he made a happy talk in which he said that what the people of this great agricultural section needed more than anything else at this time is more faith and law. He said the future held forth great possibilities for progress and urged his hearers to go about their daily work with faith in the outcome of their endeavors.

Jack Kilgo, president of the Tobacco Board of Trade, speaking on the theme of "How the Merchants Association can help the tobacco market," reached a goal of 80,000,000 pounds," answered the question by urging the members to put their shoulders to the wheel of progress and "go to it". He said the cordination of the business forces of the community should play a wonderful part in the development of the market in the future as in the past, and asked that the merchants throw their entire support behind the industry.

Mayor J. C. Lanier spoke for a few minutes concerning the progress of the city government during the past year. He said they started off the new year $26,000 better off in tax collections than the preceding year, and promised another cut in taxes if the good business continued.

Speaking of the prominent part which the city of Greenville takes in the world of finance, he said that he was in Richmond a few days ago and discovered that Greenville was rated as A in the realm of high finance. He said this was a splendid rating and ranked with all of the cities of the nation.

He told of a $15,000 sewer extension program to be started by the city in the near future, and aside from providing a long list of the parts of the city affected, thought the construction work would help relieve the unemployment situation to some extent.

The merchants enjoyed two song numbers led by Bill Lee and John Clark.
