

Governor Refuses To Call Special Session Of State Legislature

Gardner Puts His Foot Down on Numerous Proposals to Call Meeting of General Assembly to Discuss Tax Problem; Says He Does Not Think the Time Is Propitious for Such a Gathering of Solons

Raleigh, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Gov. O. W. Gardner has put his foot down on proposals for a special session of the legislature to consider tax questions.

In a statement issued yesterday, the chief executive of the state said he did not feel the present time was a "propitious" one to call a special meeting of the general assembly.

The governor's statement followed numerous requests made recently for the assembling of the state legislators to tackle tax problems. Several county boards have petitioned that legislative relief measure be taken.

In his statement, Governor Gardner declared:

"North Carolina has come safely through many situations far more serious and trying than this has been or will be. The deeply ingrained philosophy of our people is one of hope and confidence in the face of adversity, and an indomitable will to overcome every obstacle that may temporarily block the path of our social and economic progress."

The chief executive affirmed this is the time of the year for us to take off our coats and work in our shirt sleeves. It is not time for a defeatist gospel of pessimism and despair and I for one do not feel that the facts warrant such an attitude. I am a bull on North Carolina, with no intentions of being short."

The statement admonished the legislators to put "the very ablest men in our county offices in 1931."

"Cordial co-operation" between those upon whose shoulders rest responsibility for the success of the governor's "live at home" program was urged.

"The five pillars upon which rest the live-at-home program and the cotton and tobacco crop for 1930," he said, "are the merchant and the fertilizer representative. We must make a normal crop this year unless there is cordial co-operation, mutual concessions and genuine teamwork."

New York, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The smashings of another Brooklyn drinking resort reposed in a government warehouse today after their seizure by federal prohibition agents under the Internal Revenue law. As in the case of the Bedford Nest, Brooklyn cafe, which was stricken on Monday, Major Maurice Campbell, prohibition administrator, yesterday seized the bar, back bar, with other remnants of a place at 140 Livingston street in the Borough Hall district of Brooklyn.

He said authority for both the raids without search warrants and the removal of the fixtures provided by a revised federal statute which vests the government the right to confiscate all properties found in a building, yard or inclosure where articles have been sold without payment of the tax and with intent to defraud the government.

John Powell, a bar tender, was arrested. About 50 patrons in the place were required to give their names and addresses and produce identification to prove the names were correct. The agents seized liquor valued at $1,000.

Seek "Blonde" As Head of Aerial Whiskey Route

Zanesville, Ohio, Feb. 19.—(AP)—A blonde woman bootlegger was sought today as the Zanesville operator of a regular aerial rum running route.

Clinton R. Hellingstein, 22, of Detroit, arrested Monday night when his red monoplane, loaded with ten casks of alleged Canadian liquor, was derailed in landing near here, told authorities he delivered his cargo to a blonde woman who loaded it in a large automobile and drove away.

Hellingstein admitted bringing the liquor from a place "near Detroit," according to state prohibition agent A. C. McDougal. It was his first trip, the Detroit man said, he having just been taken over the route from a man who went to Florida. He was arrested by McDougal yesterday afternoon when he said the liquor was "good stuff" and showed a check for $928 which the woman bootlegger gave him for the cargo, according to McDougal.

The aviator was to be arraigned today on a charge of transporting liquor.

URGE REPEAL OF DRY LAW AT CAPITAL

Witnesses at House Committee Hearing Would Transfer Regulation to States

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Outright repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and a transfer to the states of the power to regulate intoxicating liquors was demanded by witnesses today before the House Judiciary committee which after a recess of several days has returned to the hearing of testimony for a change in the dry laws.

William H. Stayton, chairman of the board of directors of the association against the prohibition amendment, was the first to take the stand. He asserted that people throughout the country had lost respect for the government because of the prohibition law and because it had lost its efficiency.

The witness hurled the accusation that the government had employed thugs and was demanding murderers in enforcing the dry statute and said no government could continue to retain the respect of its people under such conditions.

Stayton was the first of a long list to be heard in the two days remaining for the anti-prohibitionist to present their side of the case. When they conclude the friends of prohibition will have an opportunity to present their views.

Before Stayton started, Chairman Graham of the committee ruled that William A. Smith, attorney general for the state of Kansas, could not question Walter Liggett, a Washington magazine writer, on testimony recently given the committee by Liggett that one could purchase a drink in a number of Kansas cities within fifteen minutes after arrival there. Graham said such cross examination would prolong the hearings and further that Liggett was out of the city.

PRESIDENT'S NAME AGAIN IN LOBBY INQUIRY

Testimony Shows Hoover Attempted to Aid in Solving Shoals Situation

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Testimony that President Hoover while secretary of commerce, had attempted to aid in solving the long standing problem of Muscle Shoals by an effort to reconcile divergent views of the power and chemical groups was heard today before the Senate Lobby committee.

The information was received in the form of a letter written to Claudius H. Huston, now chairman of the Republican National committee, by J. W. Worthington, chairman of the executive committee of the Tennessee River Improvement association, on July 25, 1927.

The letter said Huston and Worthington in the fall of 1925 "did our utmost to bring the power and chemical group together and we made a dismal failure."

It added that Huston, a former president of the Tennessee Improvement association, "along with Mr. Hoover attempted to do so later and that Mr. Hoover even undertook to bring these interests together through Owen D. Young and failed."

Young is a former chairman of the Radio Corporation of America. W. G. Waldo, consulting engineer of the improvement association, was on the stand today. He testified that the Nashville Railway and Light company had contributed $200 to the association in 1916 or 1917 and that the Knoxville Railway and Light company might have made a contribution.

A sharp clash took place between Waldo and Chairman Caraway of the committee after a reference was made to Worthington.

"He's the man who is ill, isn't he?" Caraway inquired.

"Springing to his feet, Waldo retorted angrily:

"As an American citizen I want to say that I don't like the way you gentlemen talk about sick people."

"If you had been candid in your testimony there would be no question of being fair," Caraway replied.

Caraway had charged that Worthington, who is at Tate Springs, Tenn., was feigning illness in an effort to "decide" the Lobby committee.

At the beginning of today's hearing Caraway again asserted that Worthington was trying to "keep us from getting information."

Robinson Speaks to Correspondents at London Parley

London, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The belief that American public opinion would be "slow to accept any agreement" which does not have reduction of naval armaments in view was voiced today by Senator Joseph Robinson, a member of the American delegation to the naval conference in an address before the association of American correspondents in London.

Presenting to the correspondents his idea of "what the United States expects of the London conference," Senator Robinson expressed confidence that the American people would be emphatically opposed to the government's entry into a security pact among European nations.

"My understanding is that the people of the United States quite generally adhere to the traditional policy of our government to avoid if possible insolvent European politics," he said.

"They would repudiate emphatically any treaty expressly or impliedly obligating our government to employ the army or the navy for the enforcement of obligations assumed by other nations. It is for this reason that they do not encourage their delegates to this conference to join in guarantees of security respecting areas remote from territory or possessions of the United States."

CONTRACT FOR PUBLIC WORK SHOWS GROWTH

Construction Programs More Than Double in 37 States During January

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The contracts of 37 states for public works and public utility construction more than doubled in January, said a Commerce Department announcement issued for today while simultaneously, Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the National Business Survey conference urged "planning and co-operation" as a means of increased buying power.

A January record for the last six years was established by the construction figures, which totaled $112,065,200, as compared with $66,525,000 for January of last year.

$51,820,000 in December, 1929, and $72,361,000 in November, 1929.

Contracts for all classes of construction awarded during the month totaled $23,975,200, as compared with $15,368,100 in December, and $49,997,900 in January last year.

There was an increase of 62 per cent in commercial building, over December, and increases in construction for hospitals, institutional, social and recreational purposes. Decreases were noted in contracts awarded for industrial and residential buildings.

Due to "the collective common sense, the courage and enterprise of all kinds of Americans, in business and out," Barnes said, the "danger of a long depression appears fairly remote."

"There is need, however, he continued, for the application of these qualities, especially in the next few weeks."

He said that industries, railroad and public utilities had expanded their building programs in conformity with President Hoover's suggestions and asserted that home-owners can help by "doing needed jobs can be carried over until larger programs can be started."

A decrease of 2.6 per cent in employment and 5.4 per cent in payrolls in eight major industrial groups for the month of January as compared with December, was reported today by the Department of Labor.

In eight of the nine geographic divisions lessened employment was reported during the month, the east, north central division, where the automobile industry is concentrated, showing the only gain.

WIDOW WINS COMPROMISE FOR $1,700

Case of Mrs. Mary Barnes vs. A. C. L. Settled in Superior Court Yesterday

Mrs. Mary Barnes, widow of W. T. Barnes, driver of a truck of the Greenville fire department who died as a result of injuries sustained when his truck wrecked at the Fifth street crossing of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad several years ago, received the sum of $1,700 in compromise proceedings in the civil term of Pitt County Superior court in this city yesterday.

She was suing the railroad company for $5,000, claiming that the condition of the railroad crossing at the time of the wreck was responsible for injuries leading to her husband's death.

Decision to compromise was reached a short time after the hearing opened in the case and it brought to an end one of the longest drawn out controversies in the local courts.

Barnes was injured while the fire truck was responding to an alarm in the western section of the city. The truck is said to have been upset when it passed over the crossing, went a short distance, collided with a telephone pole and overturned. Barnes was rushed to a local hospital in a critical condition and died several months later.

Two other cases were aired during the session yesterday, both of them involving claim of delivery proceedings. The first case was that of Titus Jolly, of Ayden against J. J. Anderson and resulted in the plaintiff receiving a verdict for the return of a log car, in Anderson's possession.

M. G. Tucker was awarded verdict for approximately $300 following claim of delivery proceedings for a crop against E. J. Wooten.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Although she lived alone in squalor in a small cottage here for many years, Mrs. Frances Jackson, 85-year-old widow of one of Seattle's early steamboat captains today was revealed as the possessor of a fortune.

The widow, whose son, William T. Morley, 61, had her committed to a sanitarium last Saturday, had hoarded $90,000 in cash, bonds and stocks, in a cache in the baseboard behind her kitchen stove. The woman, neighbors said, was obsessed with the idea she needed to save every penny for future necessity.

Known to her neighbors as the "old lady of the lamps" because she used oil lamps instead of gas or electric lights, she was said to be opposed to her son's suing as her guardian. A hearing on the guardianship has been set for February 28.

Shooting Believed to Be Outgrowth of Expulsion of Students From School

S. B. Howell, principal of the school at Bell Arthur, Pitt county, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury when he was fired upon by unknown parties while standing on the porch of the teacher's coat sleeve, but he escaped uninjured.

The shooting is believed to be the outgrowth of the expulsion of students of the Bell Arthur School several days ago, although an investigation conducted early today by Sheriff Sam Whitehurst failed to reveal the identity of any of the assailants. It was believed that the party was composed of three men, although this fact could not be definitely determined owing to the darkness.

Mr. Howell is said to have been attracted by a noise in the yard and went out on the porch to investigate. No sooner had he opened the door than he was greeted by several bullets coming from the direction of the woods.

The teacher is said to have re-entered the house, obtained a gun, returned to the porch and fired in the direction of the assailants. He was again greeted with a hail of lead, one of the bullets penetrating his coat sleeve very near the flesh.

At this juncture the assailants fled and Mr. Howell telephoned Sheriff Whitehurst about the trouble. The sheriff immediately went to Bell Arthur and conducted an investigation, but failed to obtain any clue that would lead to apprehension of the men.

Belief was expressed, however, that the shooting was the aftermath to hard feeling existing in the neighborhood relative to the expulsion of the students. Officers will continue to investigate the case, it was said, and attempt to bring the guilty one to justice.

Rumor Causes Run On Bank At Fort Worth, Tex.

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 19.—(AP)—An investigation by the county grand jury was in prospect today, seeking to fix responsibility for the rumor believed to have caused a run of depositors on the First National Bank of Fort Worth, one of the oldest and strongest financial institutions in the southwest. Criminal District Judge George E. Hoseny said the investigation would be asked.

Depositors began crowding into the bank at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The institution remained open until 11 p. m., meeting all withdrawals and assuring depositors and visitors. Speeches were made to the lobby through by bank officers and others.

Withdrawals became fewer and finally ceased altogether more than an hour before 11 o'clock, when it was decided to close the bank until this morning.

President W. E. Connell joined other officers of the bank in a statement that the bank was in the best condition in its history, did not owe a cent to anyone or to any bank.

Sixty-One Also Injured When Bursted Naphtha Line is Ignited by Forges Used in Construction of Adjoining Standard Oil Plant; Twenty in Serious Condition, Many Blinded for Life; Several of the Injured Are Not Expected to Recover

Elizabeth, N. J., Feb. 19.—(AP)—The ranks of 60 injured workmen, who were seared with exploding naphtha at a Standard Oil refinery late yesterday, were depleted by death today until the list of fatalities had reached nine.

Among the 50 bandage swathed laborers in three hospitals here, were 20 whose chances of recovery were doubtful. It was feared that several of these would be permanently blinded if they survived the scorching blast which spurted thru part of the Bay Way Refinery.

An investigation of the explosion was opened today by Abe J. David, prosecutor of Union county. Behind closed doors in his office at the court house the prosecutor this morning questioned a number of witnesses rounded up during the night by his detectives. Among the first who went into the office were John J. McCullen and Matthey main, said to be officials of the Standard Oil company.

In addition to the prosecutor's investigation, inquiries were begun by Elizabeth police, the State Department of Labor and the Standard Oil company.

Elizabeth, N. J., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Long rows of hospital cots occupied by bandage-swathed workmen today attested the horror of flame which took eight lives and injured 61 in a Naphtha explosion at the Bayway Refinery of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Nearly a score of the injured were in a critical condition with little hope for their recovery, while surgeons said many of those who survive their burns are doomed to blindness.

The dead: John Lubas, Elizabeth; Howard Holliday, Bayonne, N. J.; William Duffy, Bayonne, N. J.; Arthur Cross, Union, N. J.; William Casey, Elizabeth; George Roberts, Roselle, N. J.; Dominick Bonanni, Elizabeth. An unidentified man.

The explosion occurred at 3:55 p. m. yesterday in the alcohol plant of the refinery. J. Raymond Carringer, general manager of the plant, said the blast was caused by the breaking of a gas line.

Survivors said the pipe which broke was a high pressure Naphtha line and that fumes from it were ignited by portable forges used by workmen constructing a new building near the one-story building housing the alcohol plant.

The night shift of 1,100 men employed on the 100-acre reservation occupied by the plant in Linden, a suburb, had started work at 3 p. m. They had been on duty 55 minutes when there was a terrific explosion followed immediately by two lesser blasts. Long tongues of blue flame from alcohol fumes shot from the windows and doors of the building and from gaping holes torn in the roof and walls.

About 20 feet from the alcohol plant a force of masons, carpenters and laborers was working on the new building. The force of the explosion threw them from scaffolds while the licking flames set their clothing afire.

Workmen employed in the alcohol plant rushed out, their clothing aflame and many groping their way, blinded by the fire. They left for their fellow workmen dead in the plant. Their bodies were recovered after the fire which followed the explosion had been extinguished. The four others died after being taken to hospitals.

Trucks, private automobiles and all available ambulances were used to transport the injured to Elizabeth General, St. Elizabeth and the Alexian Brothers hospitals.

At the hospitals cots were set up in corridors and hallways to care for the scores of injured as they were carried in.

Every doctor and nurse in Elizabeth was called upon to augment the hospital staffs. Priests, nuns and many Protestant clergymen went to the hospitals to help attend the victims.

Word of the accident rapidly reached the homes of the workmen and crowds of relatives rushed to the hospital seeking husbands, sons and fathers. Difficulty was experienced in learning the names of the victims and much confusion resulted as weeping women sought

LEGION POST WILL INVITE STATE HEAD

Other Commanders of District to Be Invited at Next Meeting in This City

George K. Freeman, of Goldsboro, commander of the North Carolina Department of the American Legion, will be invited to attend the next meeting of the Pitt County Post of the Legion, it was decided at the regular monthly meeting of the Post held at the Rotary building last night. Aside from inviting the state commander, the Legionaires also decided to extend invitations to commanders of the various posts of the First District and also to District Commander Spruill.

The meeting last night was one of the largest attended in several months and was featured by the usual feed, an exhibition in magic and a rousing talk by Judge R. A. Nunn, of New Bern, who is presiding over the civil term of Pitt County Superior court.

Commander Dave Moore presided and the following were hosts: Chas. Sneed, J. H. Rose, C. M. Tolar, A. B. Corey, S. A. Whitehurst, P. L. Goodson, D. L. Turnage, S. N. Graham.

Judge Nunn complimented the post on the splendid progress it had made the last few years, and paid tribute to the high type of service which the Legion was rendering in all parts of the country. He referred especially to the good work being done by the Legion in behalf of the men who returned from the great world conflict maimed in body and mind, and urged that this activity be continued.

Several members who were rounded-up during the recent state-wide membership campaign made short talks and expressed their appreciation of the work of the Legion and a desire to be of as much service as possible in continuing the work of the organization. They said they would use their influence in furthering the work of the local Post and pledged their every effort in helping carry on the great work outlined in the program for the coming year.

The usual free will offering was taken up for the disabled service men at Oteen, and as usual the boys contributed liberally to the fund to carry over and comfort to those who came back from the war with injuries that will handicap them through life.

The program in magic was put on by Louis Skinner and Louis Ficklen, who gave the former veterans of the World War something to think about in the way of black magic. The youngsters presented

Negro Killed in Pistol Duel With S. C. Constable

Spartanburg, S. C., Feb. 18.—(AP)—In a pistol duel at such close range that the clothing of both men was set on fire, a desperate negro was killed and a constable seriously injured near here early today.

The constable Melton J. Shields, and other officers had attempted to arrest Sam Bird, the negro, at his home. Bird attempted to flee, met the constable at the back door, and opened fire. Both fell, their clothing blazing. The negro was dead when officers received water to extinguish the flames. Shields, less seriously injured, managed to beat out the flames himself.

Collectors Busy Raising Money for Chicago's Debts

Chicago, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Before national collectors of the insurrectionary debt, to relieve Chicago's financial embarrassment hoped to be well on their way toward gathering the $74,000,000 estimated by local governments as necessary for operation until July 1.

Simon H. Strawn, head of the citizens' relief group, and Lewis E. Myers, millionaire school trustee and representative of Mayor William Hale Thompson, summoned fifty business leaders, said to pay 50 per cent of Chicago's taxes, for a conference here today to open the drive. The outcome of this conference was expected to determine whether or not the total of $74,000,000 could be collected. If the sum falls short, the funds will be apportioned between the various governments.

In view of the conference, little attention was paid to the announcement of H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the school board, made in New York, that he had secured a loan for $43,375,000 worth of school tax warrants. However, the New York sale was contingent upon the approval of "certain Chicago banks."

Inasmuch as Melvin H. Traylor, president of the First National Bank, gave new hope that the local banks would aid in the relief program mapped out by Strawn and Myers, the Caldwell announcement was practically disregarded.

With the millions to be raised, tax collection warrants will be immediately purchased and in many cases it was believed that aid would be forthcoming before the week is out.

MRS. HEARNE HOSTESS TO END OF THE CENTURY CLUB

The End of the Century Club held their regular meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. C. W. Hearne on Third street. We were delighted to have as guests for the afternoon Mrs. K. B. Pace and Miss Miriam Goodwin.

The business hour was quickly disposed of and current events called for. These have proven to the club this year how well read the members are as each responds very readily going into the uttermost parts of the earth for information, then stopping at the Golden Gate in California for a bit there.

The regular club program was turned over to Mrs. E. W. Harvey whose subject was "The Latest in History and Mark Sullivan's Review of Our Times." As one paper said if this book could be embalmed in a King Tut burial of the present day and dug these five thousand years from now, it would be worth all the treasures that the Valley of the Nile ever has or ever will yield.

Mrs. Harvey said of all the changes that had come upon the surface of life since the opening of this century one of the most conspicuous has been the diminution of the quantity of cloth or other form of covering with which woman separates her person from the outside world. She went back to the time of the sweeping skirt, the long corset and the wearing of rats and puffs in the hair.

She spoke of the automobile as being responsible for the "short skirt," as improvement in one thing called for it in another.

Several new words have also been added to our vocabulary which were unknown a few years ago, such as permanent wave, vamp, flapper, jazz, rum runner, hijacker, Rotary, Kiwanis and cafeteria.

Much laughter and merriment was produced when she spoke of the bicycle riding of a few years back. Mrs. Harvey called our attention to the fact that in 1909 it had not yet been proven that yellow fever is transmitted by a mosquito, typhus by a louse, bubonic plague by a flea. Gorgas had not yet demonstrated that mosquitoes may be eliminated from any portion of the earth's surface. It was not known that typhoid and cholera came from germs in unclean water. She also stated that politicians at this time had never heard of the Volstead Act or the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution. Woman's suffrage had only made a beginning in four western states. When this highly instructive paper was finished on "Our Times," we felt that we could say like the Dallas Journal that "Truly, it is a moving picture between covers."

At the close of the program delicious refreshments were served. The club adjourned to meet on March 4th with Mrs. J. L. Hassell. —Reported

CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS HERE TUESDAY EVENING

Hubert Heffner, associate director and manager of the Carolina Playmakers, for years has been one of the most important members of the staff from the days when as a student he began taking character roles going on every tour for three years and taking all of the major male roles presented at that time. After he obtained his master's degree in 1922, he went to Wyoming and organized the Wyoming Playmakers, and from there to Arizona, where he organized the Shaman Players, a group he directed for three years. Then he returned to the University of North Carolina as assistant professor of English and as business manager of the Playmakers. He directs two of the plays this season.

He is in two of the three plays to be presented at East Carolina Teachers College on next Tuesday evening. As Carl Rogers in "Job's Kinsfolks," he made a fine impression last season, and he is again playing this part. In the mountain comedy "Magnolia Man," he is the village widower, Newt Norris.

Elmer Hall, technical director of the Playmakers, is taking the place of Samuel Selden, who is on leave of absence, working in the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts. Mr. Hall has acted with and designed scenery for the Boston Theatre Guild and has been instructor in stage lighting and design at the Emerson School of Oratory. He has been stage manager with the Repertory Theatre of Boston, and with the Wharf Theatre of Provincetown, Mass.

Quite a number of our folks went to Washington Saturday and several are planning on going today. Winterville played Falkland in a basketball contest here Thursday, the score being 12 to 9 in favor of Winterville.

The Ladies' Bible Class will meet next Friday night, with Mrs. Maggie Brown Parker.

The regular meeting of the Home Demonstration Club met at the school on Monday.

A splendid programme was carried out at night with the following speakers, introduced by Mr. House: Mr. Arnold, Miss Nice and Mrs. Crisp. If the plans are followed as laid down by them for the New year we should not fail or have a food shortage. If each of us resolves to not only raise enough foodstuffs for our own use but also enough to sell, our burdens will become lighter.

For weeks now, we have read in every paper, and have heard at every gathering of "live-at-home" week. Our worthy Governor put on this movement to relieve in a measure the distress caused by the crop failures and low prices of last year. It means to live at home and board at the same place, to raise at home everything possible to supply our needs. All these people have been writing papers, and talking over the radio and at meetings have told us of the gardens we should have for both summer and winter, of the raising of the pig and chickens we should raise, of the cow we should all keep for our milk supply. This is all familiar to us by now, and is mighty good advice, and we should all heed it as far as possible. There is one phase of this subject not so often mentioned, and we will talk about that a little while tonight.

Old Ben Franklin says, "A penny saved is a penny made, but we are often in too big a hurry to save the pennies.—We Americans are said to be the most wasteful people on earth. Our national government wastes millions on such projects as Muscle Shoals, while the politicians "politic" on the subject each year. But we wish to discuss some of the little leaks and wastes in our farm homes. Farmers think they are the hardest worked folks on earth, but is it true? Don't we get into ruts and waste our brains and bodies by staying in them. Let's hold our heads high, and believe we can accomplish wonders with the fertile soil and mild climate, and work our brains hard to get the best of our farm problems. While a mill man or clerk or a lawyer has to be on the job all the time and often punch a time-clock, farmers can just sit around if it is too wet or too cold. Let us use all our time in some way, if it is too wet to plow, fix the garden fence so the chickens don't get into those early gardens we are going to plant. Let's study the subject and plan our gardens so we may have a succession of vegetables growing all the time, and not get so rushed in tobacco time as to give them over to raising a fine crop of crab-grass. Many a dollar's worth of fertilizer has been wasted just that way. How about those rich spots grown up in weeds and sheep burrs? Very little time is necessary to plant them in corn for roasting ears, or for feed for the cow or pigs. If it ripens the hens can eat it next winter. The children will enjoy some pop corn raised on such places, and so will the little chicks. Suppose we dig out the Jerusalem weeds along the wire fences and plant butter beans, if we can get a head of the bean beetles, we can enjoy either canned or dried beans next winter, and they are nourishing food.

What an immense amount of fertility from our soil goes each year into our fine crop of sheep burrs and what a nuisance they are. I was in the home of a farmer in another county last fall. He is a very careful man; burns every sheep burr he finds on his place. He told me that with some friends had been on a fishing trip, passing through Pitt county. And how he did laugh about sheep burrs! Said they stopped their car and asked a man why on earth he did not cut out those things and the reply was "They helped the land." Then he laughed some more till I really felt ashamed of it. The women all tell you they can't get time to can any in tobacco time but where there is a will there is a way. Even a few jars a week, even one jar while cooking a meal will help fill the pantry shelf and provide a meal some bad day next winter. I once went to a place, and the woman was all up in the air, she had so much to do, and she did have too much, but she didn't have anything to cook, so her husband had gone to town and bought a lot of canned tomatoes, etc. I went in the garden and there was a big apple tree with lots of apples on the ground, and tomatoes spilling on the vines, but there was no time to gather and prepare them. Four children in the family, all old enough to work in tobacco. Couldn't they have found time to do that saved their daddy a trip, and nothing to pay for? Let's all use all our little resources and take advantage of all the little things, so the big crops will count for more. Here's hoping the rains will be just right this year and our barns and smoke-houses full next fall, and no cries of distress in our grand old Pitt county.

Furniture Dealers Begin Movement to Help Farmers

Giving complete endorsement of Governor Gardner's "live-at-home" plan, the Home Furniture Company of this city has inaugurated a unique plan for the farmers of this community, and one that no doubt will materially assist in the "trade-at-home" program launched here.

The concern has offered to exchange furniture for chickens and eggs, or to apply chickens and eggs on the accounts of their patrons. The highest market price will be allowed for the products of the farm, it was stated, and the offer holds good for the entire year.

Senate Increases Tariff on Dates

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—An increase in the tariff on dates in packages of ten pounds or less, was voted today by the Senate. The rate approved was 71.2 cents a pound as compared with 35 cents now in effect.

The increase, approved 46 to 28, was proposed by Senator Hayden, Democrat, Arizona, who said it was intended to encourage the packing of dates in this country under sanitary conditions and was not designed to raise prices.

Vigorous condemnation of the so-called farm organizations and their representatives" was voiced by Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, in asking an increase in the duty on cheese.

"I have no faith in the so-called farmer representatives," Blaine told the Senate. "If I did I would be asking only 49 per cent ad valorem instead of 42 per cent. I threatened to expose their combination. They are coveting down here with the packers and the processors. I organizations."

The president went on with his political consultations and this afternoon talked things over with the active party leaders of the chamber of deputies and the Senate.

Leon Blum, the Socialist chief, and other leaders of the left parties were summoned to the Elysee Palace representatives of the various groups had appointments to see the president. Camille Chautemps, leader of the radical Socialists, the most important party of the left and despite its name less extreme than the Socialists, was frequently mentioned as most likely to be asked to form a cabinet.

French President Continues to Seek Another Premier

Paris, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Andre Tardieu, France's energetic former premier was still the dominant figure in President Doumergue's search for a premier today, but there was a likelihood that even if asked to succeed him, he would refuse until some of the opposition had tried and failed.

The president went on with his political consultations and this afternoon talked things over with the active party leaders of the chamber of deputies and the Senate.

SECURITY FOE OF AVIATION.

Friends of aviation, persons who entertain high hopes for the future of air transportation, question the wisdom of the policy of secrecy pursued by the Department of Commerce in its investigations of airplane accidents. If that policy is by virtue of legal necessity, there should be further legislation to insure the fullest ventilation of the findings in these inquiries.

Public confidence in air transportation can be established and maintained by giving the widest publicity to the reasons for the occasional failure of personnel or equipment. When the causes are clear to the public they create confidence more often than they destroy it.

Disclosure of flaws in planes or piloting is the best assurance of their correction. They provide the danger signals to be observed by plane-builders and pilots ever after. The obviate danger there must be exact information as to its nature.

Major Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, believes the department could give full publicity to its findings only if Congress were to make the conclusions thus reached inadmissible in civil suits. This is an unreasonable request, even though the public interest in promotion of air transport safety through full knowledge of hazard is superior to private interest in litigation.

Nothing is to be gained for the cause of aviation by official reluctance to disclose the truth.

TODAY BETTER THAN YESTERDAY.

"I wish I could start again. I wish I was once more the country greenhorn clerking in a village store." That might sound like the cry of one who wants to revert to the so-called "good old days" but listen to the next sentence. "What a chance there is today for a fellow who is willing to work and willing to listen to the voice of experience."

These are the words of one who has made a monumental success in the business world. Charles M. Schwab, and Mr. Schwab says further, "We have so much more nowadays to help young fellows along than we had when I went to work for Mr. Carnegie in the Edgar Thompson Steel Works at Braddock, Pa.—more and better technical schools, more industries to get a foothold in, a far greater demand for young and vigorous intelligence."

In view of what he believes are the existing opportunities today, Mr. Schwab wishes that he might have the opportunity to start all over again, all of which should serve as an inspiring incentive to those who actually are starting out today.

Once, when asked by Emil Ludwig, the famous author of biographies of Napoleon and Bismarck, if the American business man ever really attained his objective, Mr. Schwab replied: "If any man in America attained his object, he wasn't a great business man. The goal must be as far ahead when he is 60 as it was when he was 30. He must have the impulse to continue to create—not merely to roll up more millions—to create products that will make life more efficient and comfortable and bring greater happiness to greater numbers. There's never any attainment."

Today is better than yesterday and tomorrow will be better than today.

ABOUT TOWN

Every year the Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service files a report to Congress on the activities of the Service, as well as giving some important details concerning national health. In his report this year he published some interesting items. One of the most interesting, and at the same time disgraceful for the United States, was the fact that smallpox has been steadily on the increase.

During the calendar year 1928, 32,000 cases of smallpox were reported in the United States. This was an increase of some 3,000 cases over the previous year. He pointed out that more cases of smallpox were reported in the United States than any other country in the world except British India. This disgraceful state of affairs exists in the face of the well known fact that smallpox is one of the few diseases that may be altogether controlled by systematic and periodic vaccination and re-vaccination at the necessary time. The fact that we have so many cases of this dirty disease in the face of such clean and easy control and prevention is a testimony to our standing as big fools, when it comes to what we think is our personal liberty. It is the old story of what has been so well said in the expression that "most Americans insist on going through hell in their own way."

On the other hand, the Cumming's report has some encouraging features. For instance, the year showed that a new low death rate for typhoid fever. The rate for 1928 in the registration area of the United States was only 4.810 per 100,000 of population. This was something like 1-8 of the number of deaths occurring in the same area twenty five years ago. Likewise the death rate from tuberculosis was given as 77.5-10 per 100,000 population, which is the lowest death rate ever recorded for tuberculosis.

The general death rate for the United States for the year was higher than the previous year of 1927, practically every state reporting an increase in death rate. The birth rate, however, was lower than for the previous year. These facts should be constantly borne in mind by the people of North Carolina upon whose shoulders rests the responsibility of the health conditions of the various communities.

The coming to this city tonight of Dr. Ira Landrith is received with more than general interest by the entire populace. Dr. Landrith is one of the best known public speakers of the nation, and his coming to Greenville affords an opportunity to the public to hear a man who has won wide recognition on the chautauqua platform and the pulpit.

That his message will prove of exceptional interest to the young members of the Christian Endeavor societies here is an assured fact. It is not often a speaker of such distinction visits us and it may be said with certainty that he will receive a most cordial welcome. It seems to be a settled fact that the Eastern Carolina League will not be revived this season, and this brings us face to face with the necessity of providing some kind of baseball team to help break the monotony of the long summer months ahead. Greenville has a wealth of good baseball material, young men who shone brilliantly during their college days, and it is possible they might be interested in limbering up for while in order to furnish

ASSAIL PROHIBITION AT DRY LAW HEARING

Appearing as witnesses before the house judiciary committee in its investigation of conditions under the dry laws these women led vigorous attacks against the dry amendment. the people with some of the joy afforded by the national sport. That such an organization would enjoy liquor patronage can not be questioned. And it is almost certain that we should find plenty of competition from other towns as soon as they found out what Greenville was doing in the way of baseball.

Why not get up a league composed of home boys? Are you co-operating in the sanitary campaign now under way in different parts of the country? If not, why not? The State Inspector is doing everything possible to improve conditions in Pitt during the next five months, and it is nothing but fair that people in all of the cities and towns help him as much as possible.

Greenville has taken a forward step in this direction by appointment of a whole-time health officer. It will be the duty of this local officer to work in connection with the State officer until he becomes sufficiently informed to carry on the program himself. This is one of the advantages of the State program. It teaches local men the different ways to go about enforcement of sanitary laws, and what may be expected if the law is not obeyed. Greenville hopes to derive great benefit from the change, and is expecting to see quite an improvement over a period of a few months.

What are you doing to make your town what you would have it be? Lots of people grumble all the time about some imperfection in their city, and usually they are the ones who never try to improve the condition. You may not be one of these responsible for government of the city, but you occupy some particular niche where your influence can count for good or bad. Why not get a line with the progressive and find where you can render some particular kind of service. There is plenty of work for you to do, and in doing it you will not find so much to grumble about.

Way to Happiness Simple says California Physician

After 28 Years' Practice Describes Natural Treatment which Keeps People Well

"AFTER over 28 years of the study and practice of medicine, during which time I have treated and supervised the treatment of almost every variety of human illness," writes Dr. Martin J. Dobson of Los Angeles, "I believe I have discovered the greatest blessing that has been bestowed upon the human family. Statistics show that of all classes of persons, physicians and nurses live to a ripe old age than any other class of people. I believe this is no doubt due to the fact that they know more about the importance of daily elimination. Dr. Dobson's Discovery "The remedy I am speaking of is colorless, tasteless, harmless to the most delicate alimentary tract, from infancy to old age. It is non-habit-forming, and it is essential to the smooth running efficiency of the human body, which needs lubrication just like any other machine. "This remedy is Nujol. "Most human ailments can be traced to the alimentary tract for either the main or the contributing cause, and most of these disorders can be prevented or cured through proper cleansing and regulating by the administration of Nujol as per instructions on the bottle and wrapper, or as ordered by the physician or nurse." Nujol Laboratories considers it a privilege to publish Dr. Dobson's endorsement of Nujol. Physicians and nurses themselves use and advise you to use Nujol regularly to clean the poisons out of your body (we all have them), because these poisons are what make us feel headachy, depressed, low in our minds. It is always safe to use Nujol, because it is not a medicine; it contains absolutely no drugs; it cannot hurt even the littlest baby; it forms no habit; it is non-fattening. Nujol is harmless internal lubrication. What This Should Mean to You In the last few weeks we have had over 5,000 letters from people all over the world, telling us how Nujol has helped them to happiness and success by keeping their bodies internally clean. You can buy Nujol in sealed packages at any drug store. It costs but a few cents, and it will make you feel like a million dollars. Start Nujol tonight. Use it regularly for two weeks, and learn the joy and the happiness that comes from buoyant, zestful health!

DAVIDSON LOSES GAME TO ERSKINE

Charlotte, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Erskine College, leader of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association basketball leagues, proved too much for Davidson last night, and the Wildcats bowed 22 to 27 before the leader five from Due West, S. C.

Although Davidson, runner-up in the Big Five race, was playing at home, the Presbyterian quint was unable successfully to cope with the invading five. McCacklin and Lambright, Erskine forwards, backed up by unerring team-mates, unworked a brand of court work that took the wind out of Davidson's sails.

The North Carolina Tar Heels last night bolstered their Big Five standing slightly by smothering the Wake Forest Deacons, 37 to 15, at Chapel Hill. The Deacons have yet to win a Big Five match this season.

Invaders from the University of Maryland nosed out N. C. State, 21 to 19, in a Southern Conference match at Raleigh.

Maryland moved on to Chapel Hill for a match tonight with North Carolina. Tomorrow night the Old Lineers meet Duke at Durham.

All in all, Carolina teams did not fare so well last night against invading foes. Clemson was defeated at home by Georgia by the score of 36 to 32. Last week the Tigers had beaten Florida twice in succession, and Georgia Tech once.

Other last night results: At Wilson, N. C.: Lenoir-Rhyne 35; Atlantic Christian College, 23. At High Point, N. C.: High Point 44; Appalachian State Normal 26.

HOPE DEMPSEY WILL TRY OUT BIG ITALIAN

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Hope that Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, would attempt a comeback next summer against Primo Carnera, 279 pound Italian mauler, was expressed here today by Leon See, Carnera's manager.

"We are negotiating for the fight and feel reasonable sure it will go through," See said, adding that Dempsey had practically promised the fight if it means Carnera before mid-summer.

See and his giant boxer stopped here between trains to New Orleans where Carnera meet Jack McAuliffe next Monday.

Deny Breaking of the Saluda Dam

Columbia, S. C. Feb. 19.—(AP)—Denial of reports circulated here today that the Saluda Dam, largest earthen structure in the world, had broken was made by Arthur Wellwood, chief resident engineer for the construction company.

The resident engineer explained that in the construction of the core of the dam, which now is 160 feet in height, it was necessary to have a shallow lake on top.

A leak developed in this, he said, which in no way endangered the main part of the dam.

The dam is nearing completion, having been constructed at a cost of $20,000,000.

Three Men Draw Death Sentences

Auburn, N. Y., Feb. 19.—(AP)—William Force, James Thomas and Claude Udwire, Auburn prisoners, this morning were sentenced by Supreme Court Justice Benjamin B. Cunningham to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison, the week of March 21, for the murder of inmate Henry Sullivan in the December 11 Auburn prison riot.

They were taken immediately to the train for transfer "down the river" to the death house. Udwire's attorney, Harry Gleason, gave notice of appeal. Benjamin Mead, for Thomas, and Perry A. Lester, for Force, already had done so.

Probe Antecedents of Count Hochberg

Bucharest, Rumania, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The Rumanian government is investigating the antecedents of Count von Hochberg, fiancé of Princess Ileana, and is seeking further information about him.

Premier Iuliu Maniu told newspaper correspondents yesterday that if anything was found reflecting disrepute upon the count it would intervene and advise against the maintenance of the engagement.

Meanwhile, the peasant leader said, the wedding of the two has been postponed and the government desires that the incident should not be discussed. The premier declared that the government generally did not interfere in affairs of the royal family, except when the crown prince or the heir apparent was affected.

His statement was made apparently in answer to reports current here that the engagement, which the princess announced some weeks ago has been broken off definitely. It was made after a lengthy conference with Queen Marie, mother of the princess, the newspaper being summoned to the premier's office for the interview.

Royal circles maintained a strict secrecy about the engagement.

SPORTS SLANTS

The case of Primo Carnera simply goes to show that it doesn't take a college education for the hometown boys to make good these days. For a lad who had trouble collecting spaghetti money a few years ago, Primo has done very well in a strange land. He drew over $50,000 for himself and his crop of managers in his first four appearances in the ring.

At this rate Carnera at present is the highest paid figure in any professional sport, although he has yet to appear in a real competitive test and his actual fighting ability is as much a mystery as when he first came here.

By comparison, Babe Ruth's demand for $85,000 seems somewhat modest, for the Babe at least must stand the main effort over a stretch of six months, playing daily.

Carnera is making considerably more out of the fist business than Jack Dempsey, who probably could step into the ring, even now in a full dress suit and punch the giant Italian full of holes.

Outside of Gene Tunney, who retired after collecting $1,500,000 in three championship fights, Jack Sharkey probably is better off today financially than any product of the prize ring. The Boston sailor has never collected the huge purses that Tunney or Dempsey did but he has manifested a thrifty spirit and business acumen not generally associated with the sport. Sharkey's somewhat in-an-out work during the past year or two may be due in part to the knowledge that he doesn't need to fight to keep the wolf from the door.

With fighters, as it is with so many professional athletes, money departs as easily as it comes. Babe Ruth until a few years ago didn't save a dime. When he was getting a salary of $52,500 a year the Yankees kept half of it until the end of the season so Babe would have something to keep him in meals and entertainment money during the winter.

Dempsey told me once it took him at least $50,000 a year "just to live." The "big shots" always have a crowd of hangers-on expecting them to spend in a big way. And they usually do. Tunney was one of the few who refused to be "trumped" after he won the championship. And even Gene had to engage a few lawyers to help him out.

Teaguy Gibbons retired from boxing on financial ease street. So did Luis Angel Firpo, the thirteenth of all former fighters to collect big money in these parts. The Argentine was smart enough to manage his own affairs and to have Tex Rickard deposit all his guarantees in South American banks, far away from attachments. At that Rickard once had to put up $50,000 to get Firpo into the ring, instead of in jail.

Says Textile Men Should Take Stock

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Southern textile manufacturers had before them today an appeal from George A. Sloan, a New York president of the Cotton Textile Institute to take stock and see whether they were insuring themselves beneficial to their own industry.

Mr. Sloan here yesterday to confer with a number of leading textile mill operators, said "competitive conditions today require more than before the personal support of cotton manufacturers and cotton farmers in stimulating the demand for cotton products."

"A lot has been said and done during the past few years regarding the development of markets for cotton," Mr. Sloan continued, "by the extension of existing uses in domestic and export fields and the finding of new uses and utilization of waste products."

Mr. Sloan told the executives that they should periodically investigate conditions in their own mills to ascertain if cotton products are being used in every available manner. He listed cotton baling, cotton belting, soap and starch shipped in cotton containers, canvas bodies and canvas cushion wheels on mill trucks and baskets and cotton twine, as items every mill executive should use.

Mr. Sloan said where commissary stores are operated by mill managers they should purchase only fruits and vegetables sold in cotton bags and use such bags in reselling the merchandise.

In the case of municipal, county or state expenditures Mr. Sloan said, textile interests whose taxes as well as those of employees contribute to those outlays, should ask that cotton products be used whenever possible.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Cotton opened unchanged to 3 points higher today on overnight buying orders. Active months showed new advances of about four to 8 points for the call. There was some buying as well as a further covering promoted by the advance of yesterday but Liverpool made an indifferent showing and sold some cotton here. New Orleans also sold the local market and after initial buying orders had been supplied prices eased several points under talking and liquidation. May reached from 15.86 to 15.74 and the other months showed net losses of 1 or 4 points at the end of the first half hour. Liverpool cables said the market here had been influenced by continual buying and covering but that the demand had been supplied by edging and Bombay selling. They reported moderate cloth sales to Africa and South America but said that sales of cotton yarn were restricted and that curtailment of production was being resorted to in the Egyptian section of Lancashire. GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Wheat selling carried wheat decidedly upward in value today, with the market here outdoing any previous record heretofore reached this season. For the first time, Chicago May delivery, the principal article future, fell to below $1.18 a bushel. Numerous stop-loss orders were forced into execution, especially in the late dealings here. A statement was current that even in the United States visible supply increased 3,000,000 bushels a week until May 1, the total would be more than double a 10 year average. After a maximum smash of 45-50 cents a bushel here and 6 cents at Winnipeg, wheat in Chicago closed nervous 3-1/4 to 4c under yesterday's finish. Corn closed 15-8c to 17c a 2c down. Oats 1-2-5/8c to 1-1-3/4c and provisions showing 5c to 30c drop.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The stock market drifted irregularly lower today despite aggressive bullish demonstrations in a select group of public utilities and specialties. Trading showed a marked falling off in volume, due to the absence of any extensive public participation. Call money held steady at 4 1/2 per cent, although there was a fairly plentiful supply available, and it was expected that the rate would be shaded in the "outside market." The time money and bankers' acceptance markets were quiet with no change in rates. Iron Age reported that "steel production" has made a further slight gain, but has lost the momentum that caused it to rise so rapidly in January. Pig iron and steel prices held steady. Bullish enthusiasm in the stock market was chilled somewhat by the fact that freight car loadings continue to run below the levels of the corresponding period a year ago, a further increase in crude oil production, and fears of a technical reaction. The brisk demand for the public utilities was inspired largely by merger rumors, although there were no new tangible developments along those lines. Brooklyn Union Gas up 7 1/2 points to 173 1/2, which contrasts with the low of 99 established in the break last fall. American Water Works ran up 5 points and one block of 10,000 American & Foreign Power changed hands at 101 1/4, up 45-8. American Telephone, Western Union, North American, Standard Gas & Electric, Pacific Lighting and American Power & Light sold 2 to 4 points higher. Otis Elevator, which recently has received some large contracts, soared nearly 10 points to 333 3/4, which compares with the low of 195 in the November break. Simmons broke 4 1/4 points on what looked like a renewal of bear selling. United Fruit sank 4 to a new 1930 low at 92. J. I. Case, Norfolk & Western and Vulcan Detinning dropped 3 points or more. Coppers were freely sold as a result of the reduction in the Calumet & Arizona dividend, that stock

KING TESTIFIES BEFORE POWER INQUIRY TODAY

Accountant Declares Power Interests Failed to Comply With Rules

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Attacks on utilities groups were continued today before the Senate Interstate Commerce committee with William V. King, chief commissioner, testifying that the power interests had failed to comply with the commission's accounting rules.

The Senate committee began yesterday its general investigation of the power commission, which passes on applications for fewer sites by hearing Charles A. Russell, commission solicitor, severely criticized power groups, and F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the commission.

King testified that since 1921 and 1922 certain licenses have in every way imaginable attempted to prevent the commission's rules and regulations from being carried out. King added that the attempts have been "largely successful" up to this time. He said accounts and valuations will never be on "a satisfactory basis" until some one in authority, in sympathy with the provisions of the Federal Water Power Act, and having "courage and ability" to enforce the law, "takes charge."

Chairman Cappers of the committee asked King to elaborate Russell's contention that power companies in reports to the commission on valuations had included large sums actually spent for lobbying.

King responded with a list of companies, and said he said were paid for lobbying and included in valuations. He listed them as a subsidiary of the Alabama Power company, $7,000; Niagara Falls Power company $7,500; Washington Irrigation and Development company $24,300; all paid, the witness said, to H. J. Pierce, who was in Washington for several years before 1929 in connection with power legislation. All these items, King said, were charged in reports to "fixed capital accounts."

The white-haired accountant corroborated testimony by Russell, that there was dissimulation in the commission.

HENDERSON BEGINS A DRIVE FOR BALL TEAM

Henderson, Feb. 19.—(AP)—At a mass meeting here last night, a drive to secure funds to finance the Henderson baseball team of the Piedmont League was begun. Approximately one-third of the necessary $7,000 has been pledged, it was said today, and an effort is being made to get the remainder at once. Owners of the club have agreed to turn the franchise over to 500 people of Henderson if they are able to finance it for the season.

Rayne, who attended many of the injured at Elizabeth General hospital, said that he feared that "most of these poor fellows will die." "The condition of most of the men is critical," he said. "The severity of their burns is almost unbelievable. Blindness, I fear, awaits most of those who survive."

Rescue Entombed Miner in Arkansas

Larksville, Ariz., Feb. 19.—(AP)—The body of Harry Anderson, 65, old fire boss of the Fernwood Mine No. 2, was reported found by rescue workers at 11 A. M. in the east shaft of the mine where he was entombed by an explosion at 3 o'clock this morning. He succumbed to deadly after damp, reports sent out of the mind said. At 4 A. M., GomCMF MF MF Anderson, in company with Geo. Goodin, also a fire boss, entered the mine about 2:30 o'clock this morning, Anderson taking the east shaft and Goodin the west for inspection. At 4 A. M., Goodin reached the entrance to the mine where he and Anderson were to have met and not finding him there, went to the east shaft and discovered the effects of an explosion. Rock falls in the east shaft had imprisoned Anderson. Rescue crews were organized but experienced great difficulty in breaking through the fallen rock to the point where Anderson was believed entombed.
