DR. LANDRITH IS SPEAKER AT CHURCH HERE

Chicago Minister Delivers Stirring Appeal at Christian Endeavor Rally

Challenging the youth of America to prove themselves as good as their parents, Dr. Ira D. Landrith, of Chicago, Citizenship Superintendent of the International Society of Christian Endeavor, spoke to a capacity audience at the Presbyterian church in this city last night. The occasion was a rally of the Christian Endeavor organizations of this section, and the building was packed almost to overflowing by representatives from Tarboro, Washington, Farmville and other surrounding towns as well as members of other congregations of the city who abandoned their usual Wednesday night prayer services to hear the distinguished Chicagoan.

The service was probably one of the most inspirational conducted by the Christian Endeavor Society in years, and the program contained several musical numbers, featured by a quartet by Misses Carolyn and Agnes Pulllove, of the Christian church choir. After the speaking, the visitors were invited down to the basement where a reception was held in honor of Dr. Landrith.

Rev. W. S. Harden, pastor of the church, presided, read the Scripture lesson and introduced the speaker. Miss Georgia Johnson welcomed the visitors, and asked those from the various towns to stand in order that they might be able to determine how many different sections were represented.

Dr. Landrith spoke for nearly two hours, and during that time he brought one of the most stirring messages probably ever heard in this city before. Rated as one of the most outstanding orators in the Christian Endeavor field, and a Chautauqua lecturer of unsurpassed ability, he completely captivated his audience by his utterance of the first sentence until the final word had been spoken.

It probably would have been a matter of impossibility for another speaker to hold a congregation for such a length of time, but Dr. Landrith did it, and he did it in a way that caused even the sensitive to forget the flight of time and the hard seats of the pews, and to drink in greedily every word the speaker uttered.

The address sparkled with flashes of wit and snafus of sarcasm as the speaker fired repeated broadsides into the ranks of sinful influences tending to tear down the high principles of life. He shot home each thought with a short description or humorous remark, and each time it found its mark.

He discussed everything from the agnostic who claims to disbelieve and is scared to death half the time, to science and invention and the important part which they are playing in the life of today.

He said some contended the children of today are not as good as the children of yesterday. But he discounted this fact, declaring that with the thousands of temptations to attract their attention and the fast pace at which he world is going today, the children were just as good as their parents were when they were young.

He called the attention of his young hearers to the fact that the whole world is looking to them in the way of religion, and urged them to set an example that will mean the existence of a more Christly life upon every continent of the world.

He said if he had his way about it there would be a place in every church for the social life of the youngsters. These young people, he declared, will be the men and women of tomorrow, and the training they receive today will largely determine what they will be tomorrow. He urged a social department in every church—a place set aside especially for the young people, believing that this would have the desired influence in keeping up interest in the work of the Christian world.

He urged denominational union and loyalty through the medium of the Christian Endeavor, pointing out that it does not make any difference which way we get to Heaven just so we get there. Some may like to take opposite courses but eventually they will wind up at the same place. "Lose this generation and the world is lost," the speaker admonished his hearers, "for as goes America, so goes the world."

He urged a Christian peace for all the world in closing, and said that this could come about only through the co-operation of all religious organizations in making extant the teachings of Christ.

FLIER SETS HIGH MARK FOR SPEED

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Carrying a weight of 1,600 kilograms, equivalent to 3,500 pounds, Lee Shoenhair, of Akron, O., today established a new world airplane speed record over a 1,000 kilometer course.

Flying his white streamlined monoplane, the Miss Silvertown, he averaged 175.97 miles an hour. This exceeded by 15.71 miles an hour the former record of 160.260 miles an hour held by Captain H. S. Broad of Great Britain.

Immediately after establishing the new record, Shoenhair, who established new speed records carrying 500 kilograms over a 100 and 500 kilometer course here Tuesday, set out to shatter the record for carrying 1,000 kilograms over 500 and 1,000 kilogram courses.

ARMS PARLEY BEGINS WEEK OF HOLIDAY

Conference Hedged About With Doubt and Uncertainty Owing to French Crisis

London, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The five power naval conference today began a week's holiday, hedged about with doubt and uncertainty. Much of its outlook for the future depended upon solution of the political crisis at Paris.

The conference opened more than a month ago with the provisional Anglo-American parity agreement as a starting point and with hope of bringing some reality into naval reductions. Much of the early optimism has disappeared. Hope now looks to limitation rather than to reduction; to curbing the naval ambitions of the future rather than to reducing the navies of the present.

During the few weeks of the conference's life old stumbling blocks of the past were removed only to be replaced by new difficulties. The present conference succeeded in compromising compromises to define methods of limiting cruiser strength. But it still has to solve the more vital problem of the figures of naval strength which are to be allotted each other.

It might be said that the delegations of Great Britain, the United States, Japan and Italy greeted the few days of comparative rest, which the adjournment until next Wednesday will allow, with sighs of relief.

Their fondest hope was that by next Wednesday the French would be back in London, ready to proceed with the conference, and even may have undergone a change of heart on their big tonnage demand.

While every effort was being made by the delegates to get a breathing spell during the interim this did not mean that all conference work ceased. A subcommittee planned to meet several times to continue discussion of special ship categories but the work of drafting a submarine restriction agreement will be postponed until the French return.

Ask Stay of Execution in Snook's Case

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Attorneys for Dr. James H. Snook, former Ohio State University professor now under sentence to die in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary February 28, today asked Governor Cooper for a day stay of execution to permit the United States Supreme court to act on his appeal.

The application for a stay was made in a letter to the governor which was signed by Arthur C. Fricks, Cincinnati, E. O. Ricketts, Columbus, and Arthur M. Spiegel, former Cincinnati municipal judge as counsel for Dr. Snook.

Governor Cooper said he probably would act on the request some time today.

Dr. Snook was convicted of the first degree murder of Miss Theora K. Hix last June 13. The Ohio Supreme court had affirmed the conviction.

CONFESSES TO THE KILLING OF OHIO BOY

Charles Hannah Signs Statement That He Murdered Melvin Horst

Wooster, Ohio, Feb. 20.—(AP)—A signed confession by Charles Hannah that he killed Melvin Horst, four-year-old Orville boy missing since December 27, 1928, was in the possession of authorities today.

Hannah did not tell what he did with the body, but his statement resulted in the dispatching of special deputies to Akron to arrest two alleged bootleggers and a hasty trip to Orville by another party.

Only the press statement that Hannah, once humiliated among the friends of the Horst family, had "come clean" was given out by Prosecutor Marion Graven. Special prosecutor, said to reveal more would "spoil our case."

Special Prosecutor Walter J. Mougey, however, revealed that the confession was complete except that it did not say what was done with the body. The portions of the previous statements of Hannah and Earl Conald that they were in the Orville garage of Frank Fey when Melvin was brought to them by Hannah's ten-year-old Junior, were reiterated, Mougey said.

The confession was believed to have exonerated Conald whom Hannah had heretofore insisted was the slayer. Conald's attorneys expected to take steps to obtain his release today.

Woman Awaits Appeal to Save Her From Noose

Florence, Ariz., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Found sane by a jury in Superior court here, Mrs. Eva Dugan, 32-year-old housekeeper, today awaited in the death cell of the Arizona state prison clinging to only faint hope that an appeal will spare her from mounting the gallows tomorrow. She was convicted of the slaying in 1927 of A. J. Mathis, aged Tucson rancher.

Only one loop hole remained through which she may escape being the first woman to die on an Arizona scaffold. Advised that the jury in their sanity hearing was divided in its verdict 9 to 3, attorneys for Mrs. Dugan prepared an appeal to the state board of pardons and paroles asking reconsideration of a recent refusal to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment.

Explorers Bringing Back Essential Papers and Gear; Some Left Behind

New York, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The New York Times, the St. Louis Post Dispatch and newspapers affiliated with them in publishing reports from Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition, announce that Admiral Byrd and the members of his expedition, after spending more than a year on the ice barrier of Ross Sea, broke camp and sailed homeward from the Bay of Whales aboard the Barque the City of New York at 9.30 o'clock yesterday morning, Antarctic time, approximately 4:30 Wednesday, New York time.

They are bringing back essential papers and gear, but their airplanes and much other material it has been necessary to leave behind.

By Associated Press. The Byrd Antarctic expedition is expected to return to the United States for the voyage out to the Polar region to Dunedin, New Zealand, on the first stage of its homeward trip. This estimate is based on the time required last year for the expedition's Ship City of New York to reach Dunedin, from the base at Little America.

The expedition, headed by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and including in its personnel aviators, scientists, mechanics and expert dog team drivers left the United States in three ships late in 1928. The little fleet, consisted of the Barque the City of New York, the steamer Eleanor Bolling, and the whaler Larsen.

The equipment of the expedition included three airplanes, on a large three-motored plane and two smaller aircraft, all fitted with skis for use on Polar ice.

The expedition arrived at the Ross ice barrier, 2,300 miles from Dunedin, New Zealand, after a stormy voyage of 44 days. Part of the time was consumed waiting at the edge of ice pack in the Ross sea for an opening.

Unloading their equipment and stores, the party established a base on the ice barrier in January, 1929, which was early in the Antarctic summer. The base was named Little America.

Admiral Byrd, who then held the rank of commander, made his first Antarctic flight on January 16, when he explored an area of 1,200 square miles. On November 28 Admiral Byrd with three companions set out in the big plane on a flight to the Pole. The plane reached the Pole after a flight of about ten hours, arriving there at 8:55 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) on November 29. The return flight to the base was made the same day. No landing was attempted at the pole.

MAN HELD FOR MURDER OF EIGHT PEOPLE

Former Laboratory Employee Confesses Killings Over Four Year Period

Detroit, Feb. 20.—(AP)—James Baker, 25, a former employe of the Guggenheim laboratory, New York, was being held here today for New York police after he was said to have confessed the killing of eight men in the past four years.

Baker's eight victims were dispatched by the methods of the Borgias—poison, and their homes were widely scattered about the world. Bombay, Hamburg, New York, Houston, and the Philippines, and aboard a ship enroute to South America, according to the confession said to have been obtained by Detroit police.

Baker was arrested last night on a charge of killing eight men west of Farmington, a suburb. He had been working on the farm since last summer and was arrested when police learned that he was wanted in New York. Taken to police headquarters, Baker made his confession to John D. Watts, assistant prosecuting attorney.

The killings, Baker stated in his confession, gave him "a funny sort of mental satisfaction."

The specific charge on which Baker is held is the poisoning of Henry S. Gaw, a night watchman at the Guggenheim laboratory in New York, December 28, 1928. "I was always interested in poisons and usually carried some around with me," he told officers. In 1924 I was in Houston, Texas. I happened into a sailors' restaurant and sat down beside a man. He had a cup of coffee in front of him, while he was looking away. I had a sudden impulse to put some poison in his commode. He died almost at once. I learned afterward that his name was Honeycutt."

Baker said that after this first experience he had other unexpected impulses to poison persons, "no one in particular, but just anyone who happened to be near."

In 1926 Baker said he poisoned a man in Hamburg, Germany, and in 1927 poisoned a Hindu in Bombay, India.

While going down the Atlantic Coast on a vessel bound for Venezuela, Baker said he put poison in the coffee, causing the whole crew to become ill. Three men died, he said.

In the spring of 1928 Baker said he poisoned a man at Iloilo, P. I., a small seaport town on Panay Island, one of the Philippine group.

Elieson Body Recovered From Wreckage of Plane Buried in Snow of Siberia

Joe Crosson, One of American Fliers Conducting Search For Missing Fliers, Wirelessly Fairbanks of Finding of Body; Elieson and Borland To Be Brought Out of North on Plane.

Fairbanks, Alaska, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Word that the body of Carl Ben Elieson, noted polar flier, had been recovered from the wreckage of his plane 90 miles southeast of North Cape, Siberia, Tuesday, was wirelessly to Fairbanks last night by Joe Crosson, one of the American fliers who conducted the search for the lost explorer.

Elieson's body, together with that of Earl Borland, his mechanic, were placed aboard an airplane at the scene while rescuers awaited favorable weather to fly out of the Siberian northland with them. Borland's body was found last Thursday. The two fliers met death last November 9 when their plane crashed on a little island in a frozen lagoon.

Crosson, at the ice-bound fur trading moorship Nanuk near North Cape, to which Elieson and Borland were flying when they crashed, reported that Elieson's body had been found more than 200 feet from the fuselage of his wrecked plane and under less than one foot of snow, the wind having swept the spot nearly clear.

Elieson's body was located about 150 feet from the place where that of Borland lay, indicating that their ship crashed with terrific impact. Wreckage of the plane, located January 25 by Crosson and Pilot Harold Gillam after a long and discouraging hunt, was scattered over a wide area. The motor near which Borland's body was found, was buried 100 feet beyond the fuselage, while one wing was found 200 feet from where the main portion of the plane crashed.

A searching party headed by Commander Slipnev, Russian pilot located Elieson's body and word of the discovery was taken to the Nanuk last night by Crosson.

The bodies were placed aboard Slipnev's ship, to be flown to the Nanuk as soon as weather conditions permitted, they will be flown then to Alaska. Borland, whose wife and two small children live in Alaska, will be buried in Seattle while the body of Elieson will be taken by his father, Ole Elieson, to Hatton, N. D., for interment in the family burial plot. The Elder Elieson now is in Alaska awaiting the return of the body.

Elieson, conqueror of both the Arctic and Antarctic in airplane exploration, was Alaska's best known aviator and he perhaps did more than any other person to establish the airplane as a means of transportation in the polar regions.

His most famous aerial exploit was a flight on April 15, 1928, across the top of the world from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Spitzbergen, a distance of about 2,000 miles, with Captain George Hubert Wilkins. Wilkins subsequently was knighted by King George of England.

ARMY FLIERS TAKE OFF FOR PANAMA CITY

Non-Stop Flight From Miami to Panama Began This Morning at 6:10

Miami, Fla., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Three officers and a non-commissioned officer of the army air corps left Miami at 6:10 o'clock this morning in a tri-motored transport plane for a non-stop flight to Panama. Pan-American Airways officials said the fliers did not announce their destination in taking off but advised from Washington said they were bound for Panama. Airport officials declared they did not register upon arrival last night.

Lieutenant Albert F. Hegenberger, veteran of the California to Hawaii flight in 1927, and Lieut. S. C. Whitehead, also a veteran pilot, were at the controls. The plane was in charge of Major Jacob E. Fickie, executive officer of the material division at Wright field, Ohio, and radio communications were handled by Sergeant Harry E. Wilson.

The route to be taken by the fliers is over water nearly all of the 1,200 miles, and although many flights have been made from the United States to Panama, this is the first non-stop attempt.

The plane planned to follow the eightieth meridian for the first 11 hours.

Camille Chautemps Begins Consultations With Supporters and Leaders of Other Groups in Search of Combination Which Would Give Him a Majority; Former Minister Tardieu Is Asked to Accept Portfolio

Paris, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Camille Chautemps, president of the radical Socialist party, was called upon today by President Gaston Doumergue to form a new government, replacing the Tardieu ministry, which resigned Monday.

M. Chautemps left the Elysee Palace at one to begin consultations with his supporters and leaders of other groups in search of a cabinet combination which would give him a majority in the Chamber of Deputies.

The new premier-designate spent nearly an hour with the President discussing possible combinations of men which would bring him the support he needed. He spent most of yesterday and last night sounding out various leaders as to whom they would support, and what representation they would demand in the cabinet.

He told Doumergue that he would report tonight about six P. M., probably knowing by then whether it would be possible for him to form a ministry.

In accordance with custom the president sent his secretary general in the presidential car to escort the chosen man to the Elysee, thus indicating his choice before actually asking him to become premier.

Chautemps, also in accordance with custom, immediately after leaving the president, went to call on the presidents of the Senate and Chamber, and then on M. Tardieu, to get their counsel.

Political observers thought M. Chautemps chances of forming a cabinet were slim because of disagreement within his own party, the Socialists. He was promised the support of the Socialists, second largest group in the chamber, on condition that his program must be "satisfactory," a demand which may contain many a joker.

Camille Chautemps, is a deputy from Blois in the heart of Louraine, and is forty-five years old. He was admitted to the bar when he was only nineteen being one of the youngest lawyers in France, his practice was successful and after he entered politics he served in four cabinets.

Under medium height he is slender, rather thin faced and has a small dark moustache.

M. Chautemps is married and has three children. He was born in Paris and was educated here and in Tours where he was formerly mayor.

ADVERTISE IN YOUR HOME TOWN PAPER.

The Oswego, Oregon, Review runs the following interesting quotation from the American Banker's Magazine, using it as an advertisement:

"No business in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns.

"This applies to all kinds of business and professional men. It does not mean that you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper but your name should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in the town by looking at a paper. This is the best possible town advertiser.

"The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The life of a town depends upon the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business man."

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT TOLL GROWS

According to a bulletin issued by one of the largest life insurance companies in the world, "one seeks in vain for a single encouraging element in the automobile accident situation." One-third of all the accidental deaths among policyholders of this company, during the larger part of last year, were caused by the automobile. It is the only form of accidental death now on the increase in this country.

During 1929, 31,500 people lost their lives in motor accidents. This was the largest casualty record in history, representing a 13 per cent increase over 1928. Motor vehicle registrations increased but eight per cent during the year.

To quote further from the insurance report, among the insured the automobile has caused as many deaths as measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria and whooping cough—the four principal children's diseases—combined. More than two per cent of deaths from all causes are due to automobile accidents.

We have been pitifully inadequate in dealing with the careless, irresponsible, drunken or otherwise negligent driver, who leaves death and destruction in his wake.

This automobile accident menace is every citizen's problem.

ABOUT TOWN

Greenville people who went to the Presbyterian church last night to hear Dr. Landrith of Chicago were well rewarded for doing so.

Dr. Landrith is considered one of the most eloquent public speakers of the present day, and he proved it as he told the members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the importance of the teaching of the Bible in the life of today.

He threw out a direct challenge to youth to follow in the footsteps of Christ, declaring that this is the only way for relieving unrest and discontent gripping at the heart of every country today.

This was the first visit of this distinguished religious worker to this community, and it was fitting and proper that the church building should have been filled to capacity. He is doing a wonderful work among the young people's organization and his influence will be felt for months after his visit.

Shooting at public school teachers is a mighty bad offense, and officials no doubt will do everything possible to prosecute those responsible for firing upon the school principal at Bell Arthur a night or so ago.

The shooting is said to have been an aftermath of the expulsion of students of the Bell Arthur school, but this certainly is no just cause for such drastic action. If such should be the case, it goes out of the hands of the school authorities and becomes a matter for attention of the law enforcement body.

Shooting at anybody because of disciplinary action is a serious matter, and no doubt the county officials will continue to sift the matter until the responsible parties are brought to justice.

"You can tell the boys we are going to continue the live-at-home meetings until we get desired results," a member of the Pitt County Farm Department said yesterday, discussing the successful meetings held in different parts of the county the last several weeks.

It was stated that men and women in all parts of the county were exhibiting active interest in the live-at-home plan and were preparing to try it out in all seriousness during the present year.

The majority of the people are getting tired of the lean years like we have had this season, it was said, and they plan to grow and produce enough stuff to feed themselves next season despite the trend of the market.

This information will be received with interest on all sides, especially in view of the report that tobacco will be conducted upon a larger scale than ever before this season. It is most certainly a plan that should appeal to the progressive farmer and he would not make any great mistake by trying it out for a few years at least.

Henry Ford with his thirty millions of dollars to be spent for educational purposes in this country, might be induced to loan a few millions of dollars to the hard-pressed farmers of this section, a reader of this paper suggested yesterday.

At least, he might prove as interested in the proposal as the government is in the relief measure now before Congress providing $6,000,000 for the distressed farmers of six states.

It was suggested that the matter be broached to Mr. Ford and then hear what he has to say about. He is interested in people—that fact is evident in his resolution to give the thirty millions of dollars to the children of America unable to pay for their own education.

FELT SO WEAK, OUT OF HEART

Stronger After She Had Taken Cardui; Says Nervousness Disappeared.

Bristol, Va.—"About a year ago, I found my health was giving way," writes Mrs. L. E. Jones, of this city. Mrs. Jones says she suffered from being very weak. "When I would walk only a short distance up hill, my knees would tremble," she says, "and I would have to sit down. I was so run-down and tired I was all out of heart, and felt like crying all the time. I knew I would have to take something to give me strength to keep me going. I read about Cardui, and the good it had done others, so I thought it might help me. At any rate it would not hurt to give it a trial.

"After I had taken the Cardui, I was so much better and stronger, and the nervousness had disappeared. Now I am recommending Cardui to my friends."

Experience of many thousands of users testifies that Cardui helps women to health.

expenses which are deductible from gross income.

To be allowed such, claims must conform closely to the words of the revenue act, which provides for the deduction of a "reasonable allowance for personal services actually rendered." The test of deductibility is whether the amounts paid are reasonable and whether they are, in fact, purely for personal services.

Money paid an officer of a corporation for which no services are rendered, or for services inadequate to the compensation, is not deductible as salary. Reasonable compensation is held to be an amount that ordinarily is paid by like enterprises in like circumstances for like services.

For example, an officer of a corporation received in 1929 compensation in excess of the amount ordinarily paid for services such as he rendered, and which bore a relationship to the amount of his stock holdings. The excess would not be treated as salary, but as a distribution of earnings of the corporation, and the amount of such excess would not be considered a deductible item.

OPEN FORUM

To Whom It May Concern: Dear readers of the paper, I want to tell one and all what the Lord has done for me. He has healed me from wearing a band. I went to Washington the eleventh day of February, and was healed. I took off my band that night, and haven't had it on since, and I am thanking the Lord for that wonderful work, and thanking Him for sending a man like that, so people can be healed. If the people have faith in him, and in the Lord they will be healed.

I want to ask all that read the paper to pray for me that I may hold to the faith.

Go to the last chapter of Mark, and the last three verses, and you will find what the Lord said. He said, "The believers shall lay hands on the sick and they shall recover." So we have got to have faith to be healed. What are we doing living on God's green earth and not having more faith than we have? No wonder that the Lord has cut us all off, and if the people don't get to living better and praying more it is going to be worse, for the worse is yet to come.

Some of the people, and even some of the preachers say he ought to be locked up. I don't say so, for I feel he is a God-sent man. I do pray to the Lord that people will be filled with the faith, and I also pray that the Lord will give Mr. Creech more power so that he may keep on healing people. All we need is faith in the Lord.

I want to say, I had a band on me for twenty-one years; and now I can go on doing my work without it, so I am thanking the Lord today and always shall. I want all people to go to see that man, and be healed, if you are sick.

Right of Man and Wife to Love in the Show Vindicated

Chicago, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The right of a man and his wife to be demonstratively affectionate in the gloom of a movie theatre has been given triumphant vindication by a Chicago jury.

Peter and Ruby Doherty, man and wife, had gone to the Crawford theatre and while there did engage in man like that, so people can be healed. If the people have faith in him, and in the Lord they will be healed.

I want to ask all that read the paper to pray for me that I may that the Dohertys must never darken the door of the theatre again.

But they did darken it and demanded apology when a doorman gently but firmly prevented their entrance. There was no apology, the jury was told, and the Dohertys' money was refunded to them—thrown at them, according to the testimony of some.

Mrs. Doherty sued the theatre and got a judgment of $800 which was set aside. She sued again and yesterday the jury awarded her $1,250. The management professed itself unaware that Peter and Ruby were man and wife; but as far as that was concerned Peter and Ruby have even yet no definite information that the lovers of the screen who neck in a big way for all to see, are married. Their attorney said as much.

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Speaking of Talking Pictures, What is your October Suit saying? Many suits that were pictures of health last Fall have started to show crow lines. SODALIS CLASS ENTERTAINS MOTHERS

On Friday night, Feb. 14, the Sodalis Class of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church entertained their mothers at a supper in the church basement. The dining room into which mother and daughter were invited, was very prettily decorated with red and white paper, carrying out the spirit of St. Valentine. After everyone succeeded in finding her place at the table the invocation was given by Florence Tait.

The toastmistress presiding, Miss Effie Mae Winslow, announced the toast, "To Mother," by Mrs. Jack Spain, and the response was made by Mrs. J. E. Winslow. At the end of the first course the mothers were given an opportunity to write a word of advice to her daughter on a heart. The hearts were passed around, thus mixing them, and each daughter read one. This created much laughter.

"The Relation of the Sunday School Class to the Church" was given by Mrs. E. L. Hillman, in which she brought out the part of the mother in helping make Sunday school. After the last course the daughters sang a song, "Mother," as an expression of their love for mother. Following this a good-night song was sung.

MODEL SCHOOL PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

The Model School Parent-Teacher Association celebrated Founder's Day at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon. This year is the 33rd since the establishment of the Parent-Teacher Association by Mrs. Birney and Mrs. Hearst. The national emblem representing an oak tree in gold on a background of blue had been drawn on the blackboard by Louise Spear, one of the seventh grade girls. A group of boys and girls of Miss Mossell Jones' seventh grade, sang one of the association's songs, "The P. T. A. Tree."

This was followed by a candle lighting ceremony in which the president, Mrs. Eakka, lighted two candles, one in honor of the founding of the P. T. A. in 1879 and the other in honor of North Carolina, which ranks high in the national association. Berta Elise Arnold gave an appropriate reading and Mary Woolard and Jean Gaskins were the candle bearers.

A brief history of the Parent-Teacher Association was next given in which the principal points brought out were the need for live, active local associations in all the schools, and some of the things possible to accomplish by means of working through and with the national and state organizations.

The meeting then adjourned to the home of Mrs. Woolard, where Mesdames Woolard and Arnold were hostesses to the association at a colonial tea.

The teachers of the Model school were in the receiving line and after greeting them the guests were invited into the dining room where tea and puffs were served from a beautifully appointed table which was centered with a colonial lady with her attendant maids, Edith Cannon, Artemesia Harris, Margaret Smith and Nita Turnage, seventh grade girls, dressed in colonial costumes, assisted in serving.

Miss Worthington Entertains.

Winterville, Feb. 17.—Miss Tessie Worthington entertained a number of her friends last evening in honor of her birthday.

Duke Marries Miss Ponsoby

London, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The Duke of Westminster today married Miss Leella Ponsoby, daughter of Sir Frederick Ponsoby, treasurer to the King, at Prince's Row register office.

Owing to the number of guests who included Winston Churchill and his daughter, the ceremony was held in the board room, which was decorated with flowers.

The bride was accompanied by her father. She wore a coat and dress of brown velvet trimmed with beige fox fur.

A great crowd waited outside the registry office while the wedding took place, many being tenants from the Westminster district of London who had come to show their appreciation of the Duke's gift to them—a week's rent free as well as having all arrears of rent cancelled in honor of his wedding.

A reception at St. James' palace followed the wedding.

The Duke of Westminster is 59 years old, and an extensive property owner. He made a distinguished record in the South African and world wars. His first marriage, to Constance Edwina, in 1901, was dissolved in 1919. His second marriage, in 1923, to Violet Mary Geraldine Bowley, was dissolved in 1923. He is the second duke of his name.

Seeks to Regain Health on Plains

Albuquerque, N. M., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Frank J. Mullen, an eastern tenderfoot, is somewhere out on the endless plains of the southwest today with a pack burro and a Police dog as his only companions.

He set out from here yesterday much in the same manner as the picturesque old Sourdough of another day, clad in boots, blue jeans and a lumberjack's shirt. He was carrying a bedroll, cooking utensils, provisions, a rifle, a pickaxe and shovel in the burro pack.

Unlike the picturesque prospectors of the old west, Mullen is seeking neither fame nor the fortune in gold that lies in the hills of the western country. The light-haired, lanky young man is seeking to regain the health he lost through strain of overwork as a steel salesman in Detroit.

"If I mnot well by the time I finish my trip," vowed the daintless tenderfoot, "I'll just start over again."

Former Office Boys to Head Corporation

Chicago, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Two men who started out as office boys will next week assume the presidencies of $100,000,000 corporations.

George F. Mitchell, who became an office boy about the same time, will become president of the Peoples Gas Light and Cooke Company.

COTTON MARKET

New York, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 3 to 9 points today and soon showed net losses of 7 to 12 points, under selling promoted by relatively easy markets in Liverpool and Bombay. There was some trade buying and covering at the decline, but it was in comparatively light volume, while there was further liquidation and scattered selling which appeared to come partly from the south. This was in sufficient volume to give the market rather a nervous or unsettled appearance.

Liverpool cables reported continental and Bombay liquidation in that market and noted a slight improvement in demand for cotton cloth from India but said sales at the Shanghai auctions were disappointing.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Stops selling which more than once attained avalanche headway plunged the wheat market repeatedly today into lower depths for the fourth successive day. Season low price records both for wheat and corn went into eclipse, with wheat about 12 1/2c a bushel down from last week's top point and about 54c under the best figures for the crop.

Export out in sight continued to be the chief disturbing factor, but frequently offset to a notable degree by increasing unfavorable domestic crop reports.

Wheat closed nervous 1c to 2c bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed unchanged to 3-4c higher, oats varying from 1-8c decline to 1-2c advance, and provisions unchanged to 20c down.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Stocks fell into a decided slump during the early hours of trading today, as the selling wave which appeared late yesterday swept through the market but the liquidation appeared to have been completed by early afternoon, and bulls rallied to the support of leading shares. Early declines of 1 to 10 points were considerably reduced, and several shares were lifted above last night's closing levels.

Bears evidently took advantage of the jar to confidence provided by the sudden downturn late yesterday to launch a concerted attack, and many traders long of stock hastened to take profits. Several commission houses have been advocating the lightening of accounts in preparation for a technical reaction for about a week.

Further declines in the grain markets also caused some nervousness.

Monetary conditions were unchanged, with call loans still quoted at 4 1/2 per cent and in ample supply at that level, attention was focused upon the weekly Federal Reserve statements to appear after the close of the market. Wall street generally looked for a moderate increase in brokers' loans.

Otis Elevator lost more than 10 points, and shares which showed losses of 3 to 4 points included Chesapeake and Ohio, Auburn Auto, Columbia Gas, Standard Gas, Western Union, R. H. Macy and Air Reduction. Oils and coppers sagged further. Standards of New Jersey and California and Kennecott also reached new low levels for the year.

The entire community has been stirred by the affair, and this led to the statement from the citizen who was in Greenville today to confer about the matter. Hines to Manage Simmon's Campaign

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 20.—(AP)—The management of United States Senator F. M. Simmons' campaign for re-nomination in the Democratic primary has fallen to Charles A. Hines, well known attorney of Greensboro, the case city that furnished the management for the Senator's opponent in the primary.

Senator Simmons in Washington yesterday selected Mr. Hines as the general manager of the campaign, and named Col. J. D. Langston, of Goldsboro, as chairman of the advisory committee.

C. L. Shipp, of Greensboro, will manage the campaign of Josiah W. Bailey, of Raleigh, who has entered the Democratic primary against the veteran Simmons. Former Judge J. S. Manning, of Raleigh, is chairman of the Bailey campaign committee.

In making public the names of his campaign directors, Senator Simmons announced that headquarters would be maintained both at Raleigh and Greensboro. Neil Mck. Salmon was named assistant Simmons campaign manager in charge of the headquarters at Greensboro, and T. B. Ward assistant in charge of the Raleigh office.

It was indicated that the Senator also would at an early date name a woman assistant manager. An executive committee also is to be selected soon.

Keen interest centers in the Democratic senatorial campaign because of the alignment of the two candidates in the presidential election of 1928.

Senator Simmons, although a life long Democrat, vigorously opposed the Democratic nominee, Alfred E. Smith, and on the liquor question, Smith's stand on the liquor question, Bailey actively supported the Democratic nominee.

Highway Body Fails to Act On Proposals

Raleigh, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The state highway commission reported today that definite action had not been taken on the requests yesterday of delegations from Wayne and Johnston and Harnett counties.

The Wayne delegation appeared in the interests of a road from Goldsboro to Pink Hill. The Harnett-Johnston citizens were interested in a road from Lillington to Smithfield.

Awarding of contracts on three Western North Carolina highway projects were held in abeyance yesterday. The projects were 1.14 miles of hard surface on route 10 in Buncombe county; 15.5 miles of dirt road from Jefferson to Virginia state line in Ayrre county and approaches the bridge over the Dan river in Rockingham county.

Charlotte, N. C.—(AP)—Construction of a new $250,000 water line from the Catawba river to the city filtration plant here has been authorized.

Wilmington, N. C.—(AP)—Joseph C. Stehlin of Jacksonville, Fla., has been elected president of the Atlantic Coastal Highway Association.

BUYER OF RUM RESPONSIBLE IN THIS STATE

Supreme Court Also Holds That the State Cannot Tax Gas Bought Other States

Raleigh, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The buyer of liquor in North Carolina may be haled into the courts and punished in the same manner as the seller, the State Supreme court ruled yesterday in a Chowan county case.

The ruling was upon an appeal by Charlie Lassiter from a road sentence and fine imposed upon him after less than a gallon of whiskey had been found in his room.

In writing the opinion, Chief Justice Stacy held it unlawful under the North Carolina law to purchase any quantity of whiskey for beverage purposes. "The seller and purchaser are declared equally liable under the law," Judge Stacy ruled.

In another important decision, the Supreme court held the State of North Carolina cannot collect tax on gasoline bought by counties outside the state and used for county purposes. This ruling was in a suit by which State Treasurer Nathan O'Berry sought to recover from Meckleburg Highway commission $7,470, or a tax of four cents on 184,755 gallons of gasoline brought into the county from another state.

The high court upheld the ruling of Superior Court Judge Grady that the county is a political subdivision of the state and cannot be taxed as a "distributor" of gasoline.

The tax opinion of the court may reduce the state's gasoline tax revenue by several hundred thousand dollars, an official estimated.

Statesville, N. C.—(AP)—A glider club has been formed here and purchase of a machine with a 36-foot wing spread has been announced.

Tate Meets With Senate Opposition

Washington, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The same objection which met but failed to reject the nomination of Charles Evans Hughes as Chief Justice of the United States is being raised in the Senate against the confirmation of Hugh M. Tate as a member of the Interstate Commerce commission.

Tate is criticized by a small group of Southern Democrats as one who by environment and professional association is prejudiced in favor of the great corporate interest of the nation as opposed to the masses of the people.

A vote on his nomination was deferred until today when vigorous opposition arose resulting late yesterday in a split debate, with Black of Alabama, and Smith of South Carolina, carrying the attack and McKellar of Tennessee, rising to Tate's defense. All three are Democrats.

Chester, S. C.—(AP)—Twenty-eight hobos have been sent to the Chester county chain gang already this month.
