Delegation Cheered By 5,000 People Upon Landing at N. Y. This Morning

New York, April 29.—(AP)—The American delegates to the London naval conference set foot again on United States soil today at 10:30 a. m., when they debarked at the battery from the city tug Macon to the cheers of 5,000 persons.

Nones of the delegates would make any formal statement excepting Ambassador Morrow, who said: "It is a good treaty, a good treaty for the United States, a step forward in the movement for world peace."

Secretary Stimson is entitled to the highest credit for accomplishing the aims for which President Hoover sent the delegation abroad.

Washington, April 29.—(AP)—Secretary Adams will be the first witness in hearings by the Senate naval committee on the London naval treaty.

Chairman Hale of the committee has said the provisions of the London agreement would be examined closely.

The secretary of the navy will be questioned in detail.

Informed by President Hoover that he will transmit the London pact to the Senate immediately upon its arrival, Senate leaders are preparing to give it early consideration.

Secretary Adams was one of the American delegates to the parley. Preparatory to the hearings of the Senate naval group, there were placed in the committee room today wooden models of the eight inch gun turrets allowed on the 10,000 ton cruisers and of the six inch gun turrets allowed on the light cruisers.

Parker Apparently Gains Ground In Senate Battle Over His Confirmation

Senate Foes Suddenly Alarmed Over Prospect of Defeating Nomination of the North Carolina Man for Seat on Supreme Court Bench; Administration Leaders Prepare for Defense

Washington, April 29.—(AP)—Counting noses after the first day of debate on the nomination of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, to the Supreme Court, Senate foes indicated alarm today over the prospects of defeating his confirmation.

Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, returned to his attack on Parker at the outset of the second session with word from those who are checking the situation that a trend is noticeable toward the nominee.

Suddenly hopeful of confirmation administration leaders prepared to wage a determined drive and Senator Fess, of Ohio, the Republican whip, was selected to reply to Borah's assault against Parker's judicial record.

It was believed by those who are surveying the line-up that the outcome hinged upon the ultimate decision of a number of Democrats now classed as doubtful.

Resuming his speech against Parker, Senator Borah took up the attitude of the Supreme court on the "Yellow Dog" contract.

He contended again that Parker, in upholding the injunction restraining the United Mine Workers from soliciting membership even by peaceful persuasion among employees of the Red Jacket Coal Company who had signed contracts not to join, had gone beyond the decision of the Supreme court.

Senator Borah said the Supreme court had shown a more liberal attitude against "Yellow Dog" contracts in the tri-city case in 1921 in which it held labor unions were lawful and had a right to solicit membership by peaceful persuasion.

"The defendants in the Red Jacket case before Judge Parker," he said, "complained specifically that they were, distraught from using even peaceful persuasion in seeking membership among signers of the 'Yellow Dog' contract.

"If there were threats of intimidations involved," of course the court would have been justified in granting the injunction against the union.

"The very object and purpose of the tri-city case was to modify the holding in the Hitchman case."

"Shall we infer," thundered the Idahoan "that the court of Judge Parker did not know the effect of the decision of the Supreme court or shall we infer that the court preferred the Hitchman case in order to uphold this unconscionable contract?"

Senator Borah's argument struck directly at the contention of Attorney Mitchell and the defense by Judge Parker himself that the nominee was bound in his Red Jacket decision by the holding of the Supreme court.

Senator Overman, Democrat, of North Carolina, who is supporting the nominee interrupted Borah in the early minutes of his address. He asked some questions to bring out dates in the various legal decisions referred to by Borah.

YOUNG MAXON HELD WITHOUT BOND IN N. Y.

Son of Bishop Held for Grand Jury Action Following Magistrate's Hearing

New York, April 29.—(AP)—James Matthew Maxon, Jr., son of the Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Tennessee, was held without bail for the grand jury today on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of David Paynter, 73, who was fatally beaten in an upper West Side rooming house late night of April 18.

Maxon's attorney, Martin W. Littleton, who sat in court with the boy and his father, argued for a charge of manslaughter, but Magistrate Corrigan declared that he saw in the badly beaten condition of Paynter's body evidence of a desire to kill.

Maxon was removed to the Tomb after fellow lodgers at the rooming house had told their stories of the circumstances surrounding Paynter's beating.

Samuel Ecclesine, a construction superintendent and a lodger, said James McCarty, manservant, came to his room a few hours after midnight on the morning of April 18 and asked him to see what he could do about escaping gas in Maxon's room. He and McCarty ran upstairs, he said, and found the bathroom of Maxon's two-room suite in great disorder.

Light and gas fixtures were pulled out, a medicine cabinet had been jerked from the wall, the mirror was broken, bottles were strewn about, and a short circuit of the wires had set fire to leaking gas, which was shooting a four-foot flame.

After trying to turn off the gas, Ecclesine said, he ran to the telephone to call the gas station. As he stood at the phone Maxon rushed by.

Dropping the telephone to follow Maxon, Ecclesine said, he stopped at the foot of the stair and saw Maxon, in the kitchen, pick up a chair and knock Paynter down with it. The boy hit Paynter twice more, Ecclesine said, yelling and swearing the while and then kicked him. Ecclesine ran back to the front hall again, he testified, he saw Maxon throw Rose Hickey, spinster proprietor of the lodging house out the front door. "The witness said Maxon then grabbed him, too, but he ran and Maxon ran after him, he said, but stumbled and returned to the house. Ecclesine stated that when he himself got back to the house he faintly, but came to and opened the door as a policeman arrived and pointed out Maxon to the officer.

He testified he heard Maxon say to Miss Hickey "If you open the door to the cops I'll kill you," and that as the officer entered Maxon said: "Oh, his all right, officer. There's no trouble."

The policeman told Maxon to come with him to the basement and answer some questions. Ecclesine declared, and Maxon answered "I was drunk then and I'm drunk now. I don't think its sportsmanlike of you to question me."

Miss Hickey, a middle aged Irish woman, related the story she told police, relating how Maxon came to her room, woke her, and tried to beat her and to bend her hands. She screamed, she said, and fled with him chasing her, but he caught her and flung her out the front door.

She told that Maxon had threatened to kill her if she let the police in, after they had been called, but testified she did not see Maxon strike Paynter.

THINK HOOVER ENFORCEMENT PROGRAM SAFE

Congressional Leaders Expect to Reach Proposed Legislation This Session

Washington, April 29.—(AP)—Republican congressional leaders believe there is still ample time left for the enactment at this session of the more important of the five law enforcement measures asked by President Hoover in his special message to the National Legislature.

For the present they are caught behind the tariff and the controversy over the nomination of Judge John J. Parker, as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

How much more time these two issues will demand cannot be foretold, but the majority spokesmen believe that there will also be an opportunity for the consideration of the proposals sponsored by the president.

The five which he stressed in his message of yesterday were the transfer of the prohibition unit from the Treasury to the Justice department; the extension of Federal prison facilities; the consolidation of the border patrols and stricter prohibition enforcement law for the District of Columbia.

The transfer proposal has been approved by the House and is now before the Senate judiciary committee, which is ready to report it out as soon as one more disputed point is settled.

The bill has been given back to a sub-committee for the modification of a provision transferring employees of the dry unit to the justice department. Some members of the committee are opposed to this, believing that Attorney General Mitchell should be left free to select his own personnel.

Prison relief bills have been passed by the House and have been approved by the Senate judiciary committee. They now await only the approval of the Senate before being transmitted to the White House.

The question of Federal Court congestion is now before the House judiciary committee. Considerable opposition was aroused by the administration plan of extending the powers of United States commissions so that they can conduct juryless trials of minor infractions of the prohibition laws. The committee is now working on a substitute plan, under which a large number of additional Federal Court Judges would be appointed as a means of reducing congestion.

House committees are also working on the two other points emphasized by the president—border patrol consolidation and the enforcement of the dry laws in the national capital.

Celestial Phenomenon Recorded From Airplanes Three Miles Above the Earth

San Francisco, April 29.—(AP)—Photographs of a celestial phenomenon, the eclipse of the sun by the moon, were available to posterity today, thanks to a roaring wind which at the critical moment swept aside a black cloud which had obscured the view.

The black cloud, apparently formed by mist in the frigid air, started scientists and their aviator assistants along the line of totality, stretching eastward across the Sierra mountains from just north of San Francisco. Shouts of bitter disappointment greeted the dark blotch, but a moment later a strong wind swept the cloud away and scores of cameras photographed the eclipse.

"The sky was blue one moment, as we were flying more than three miles above the earth, but the next moment the cloud had formed," said J. M. F. Haase, United States navy photographer. "A moment later a roaring wind swept the black cloud away."

The swift passage of the moon's giant shadow was described by Capt. A. W. Stevens, and Lieut. J. D. Corkille of the army air corps experimental laboratory of Wright field, Dayton, Ohio.

"We were high above a layer of white clouds about 18,000 feet over Honey Lake in northern California," said Captain Stevens, "suddenly we spied what we thought was a mountain about 75 miles in the distance.

"We knew it could not be a mountain for the highest peak in the vicinity was about 9,000 feet. The dark spot appeared to be stationary at first. Then we saw it approaching us and knew it was the moon's shadow.

"The dark spot came slowly at first. We trained our motion picture camera upon it and started grinding out film. Faster and faster the shadow came on the clouds below. It passed beneath us so rapidly we could hardly perceive it. Turning our plane we photographed it as it disappeared.

"The shadow appeared to be luminous and bluish purple and its diameter was about three-fourths of a mile, with its edges clearly defined.

"A snowstorm was raging below the plane at the time of the eclipse, and the exhaust fumes from the plane froze and left long trailing streaks in the sky."

The eclipse caused a noticeable drop in temperature to the scientists on the ground. As the sky darkened the air became chill, and an unearthly silence awed the spectators.

Government Report Says Conduct of Two Platoons of the Royal Guards in Recent Outbreak at Peshwar Was Unsatisfactory and That Battalion Has Been Removed

The news from India today indicated that the British government remembering the bloody Sepoy mutiny of 1857, was taking steps to prevent possible trouble with native troops while India is in its present state of unrest.

A government communique said the conduct of two platoons of the Eighteenth Royal Garhwal Rifles in the recent outbreak at Peshwar was unsatisfactory and that the battalion had been sent to Abbottabad for an inquiry.

Other dispatches said that the "untouchables," or low caste Hindus were turning to Mohammedanism for relief from the oppression by high caste Hindus. As Mohammedans they will not need to suffer the social discomforts of the present.

Arrest of Nationalist leaders continue. Kaka Kalelkar, principal of Gandhi's University at Ahmadabad, was held today at Borwad.

Several Convicts Are Wounded In Attempted Escape From Ohio Pen

Revolting Prisoners Driven Back By a Stream of Automatic Rifle Fire in Concerted Effort to Escape From Cell Blocks; Several Guards Held By Prisoners, Released; Warden Orders Prison to Normal At Once

Col. Walter C. Cole of Detroit was elected president of the Reserve Officers association at Los Angeles.

Columbus, Ohio, April 29.—(AP)—Revolting convicts in the "white city" or idle house, at Ohio penitentiary, scene of the disastrous fire, were fired upon today by prison guards when they made a concerted effort to escape from the cell blocks.

The mutineers were driven back from the doors leading to the main entrance by automatic rifle fire. Several convicts were wounded.

When the mass of convicts made their break for liberty they attempted to gain entrance to the guard room. Bullets drove them back. Then the convicts held several guards as prisoners for a short time, but released them when National Guard officers threatened to enter the "white city" and rescue the men.

The shooting followed a night and morning of comparative quiet within the prison walls.

A half hour after the guards had sent bullets streaming into the idle house through small windows and peep holes, the convicts had quieted down, and prison officials ordered guards into the cell blocks to make an inspection.

The break for liberty came shortly after National guardsmen started erection of a barred wire stockade in the prison yard, in which it was proposed to hold the convicts until the hundreds of cell locks had been repaired.

The mutineers heretofore had continued their activities to "passive resistance" against the wardenship of Preston E. Thomas. They had been in revolt since the fire, when 330 convicts were killed by fire and smoke Monday night a week ago.

One Robert Haubrich, Ohio National aid guard, went to the "idle house" doorway and conversed with three convicts. They reported that practically all the prisoners had taken refuge in their cells, and that all was now quiet within the block.

Columbus police reserves, summoned when the disorder started, were clearing all the streets in the vicinity of the penitentiary.

Two of the wounded convicts were George Tonoff and Jewell Joffa. The former was shot in the right lung and Joffa received a bullet in the right leg. Tonoff was serving from three to 15 years for burglary and Joffa three to seventeen on the same charge.

Four additional companies of guardsmen were ordered to the penitentiary, Company A, Marietta, Company B, Marion, L of Athens and a Howitzer platoon, armed with one pounders from Ironton. There are now 500 National Guardsmen at the prison.

All prison guards in the guard room were ordered removed and were replaced with National Guardsmen, who were armed with machine guns, automatic rifles, side arms and tear gas bombs.

British Government Takes Steps To Avoid Conflict With Native Indian Troops

Government Report Says Conduct of Two Platoons of the Royal Guards in Recent Outbreak at Peshwar Was Unsatisfactory and That Battalion Has Been Removed

Gandhi, is protesting the censorship placed on native papers by directing the publishers of his new paper, "Young India," to permit the press to be seized rather than deposit the security demanded under the censorship.

The women who are campaigning against liquor and foreign cloth, led by Mrs. Gandhi, converted one saloon owner at Bombay today. After he had closed the doors the women gathered outside to spin cloth and sing seditious songs.

Gandhi addressed a meeting at Machakadi Creek near Billmorita today and mentioned the Nationalist movement in its relation to the Indian states.

"I observe moderation in the territories of the Indian states with whom God will settle our differences later," said Gandhi.

Columbus, Ohio, April 29.—(AP)—Governor Myers Y. Cooper today issued an order to Warden Preston E. Thomas, in charge of the Ohio penitentiary, that order must be restored immediately.

The governor in his order which went to the Warden a short time after the shooting began, said that the civil authorities of the Warden would be backed up by the Ohio National guard.

At the same time adjutant general A. W. Reynolds, in charge of the National guard, was ordered to assist the Warden in restoring order.

DO WE WANT BASE BALL?

The warm weather is starting the baseball bee buzzing around and if local fans are so inclined it appears that baseball here this summer will be a possibility even if the East Carolina League, our first venture into organized baseball, has gone by the board. Local enthusiasts have suggested the organization of an inter-county league in this section each club composed of bonafide residents of the county in which the team is organized. Such a plan suggests real possibilities if we really want baseball this summer and we would like to hear from the fans on this matter. Should the plan materialize we believe there would be more real interest and enjoyment if each of the larger towns within each of the counties joined together in the organization of the county team and that the schedule be so arranged as to alternate the home games of the county team so as to give each of the towns in the county that desired it a part of the games. Our recent experience in organized baseball has convinced us that such a ball at this time for us is out of the question but after all with the local touch that would be afforded by the county teams we honestly believe that our people would get more enjoyment out of it than if we were playing professional ball and surely the expense would be far less than organized baseball. If we do not want baseball this summer then we don't want it but if we do want it, it appears to us that the suggested inter-county league is the best plan. What do you think about it?

MR. HOOVER'S METHOD

(From the St. Louis Post Dispatch) As experienced a political observer as Frank R. Kent of the Baltimore Sun thinks Mr. Hoover showed sound judgment in saying nothing about the Tariff Bill. That, of course, is a matter of opinion. But to declare, as Mr. Kent does, that anything Mr. Hoover might have said would be futile seems to us a pretty big assumption. Nobody can say positively what the consequences would be of something that was not done. This much may be said: The country has seen the results of Mr. Hoover's silence on the Tariff Bill. And it is permissible to conclude that if he had reaffirmed the position he took in his message, if he had reiterated his stand for a limited revision, the record could not have been worse and might, conceivably, have been better.

In his memoirs as a journalist Solomon Buckley Griffin of the Springfield, Mass., Republican somewhere observes that "the art of politics is getting results." One man has one method, another a different method. The affable McKinley employed gentle suasion. Roosevelt the big stick. Wilson had his technique. So did Cleveland. They got things done. Perhaps Mr. Hoover will yet win that verdict. He has not won it yet. He has lost control of the Senate, and the party that was swept into power two years ago by an unprecedented majority is entering the Congressional campaign this year on the defensive.

A course that has got nowhere, that has adversely changed the psychology of the whole political situation cannot be called good politics or successful leadership in the accepted meaning of those terms.

ABOUT TOWN

Another carload of chickens was left Pitt county for Northern markets, greatly increasing the revenue which farmers have received from this industry during the present season. Several other carloads will leave within the next month or so and at the end of the selling season Pitt County growers will have a considerable sum of money jingling in their pockets they would not have had had it not been for this plan of making money on the side. The county farm demonstration department is looking for an increase in this industry in the future. In fact, it is believed more farmers will turn their attention to something to go along with the main crops, and that those who have already tried poultry raising will try it on a more extensive scale. Things of this kind should aid this section in returning to prosperity, and it is to be hoped everybody will cast about and attempt to produce something other than the main crop during the coming season.

It doesn't matter what other people think of their home town, your home town belongs to you and it is your duty to speak a good word for it every time you get a chance.

People make a mistake of trying to find something to grumble about all the time. Grumbling is contagious—the more one does it the more he will do it—and instead of picking flaws all the time the citizen would make his community a more desirable place to live by finding the strong talking points and then talking them incessantly.

Every town must build a reputation, and that reputation will be moulded largely by the citizenship. If you don't think enough of your town to boost it, to make it a more desirable place to live, the visitor or new-comer will not. He will fall into the same old rut with you and growls of discontent will be heard on all sides.

Greenville is one of the most thriving young cities in this part of the state. Its opportunities are unlimited, and there are enough strong points to keep the booster talking all the time if he only would. Look about you, Mr. Citizen, and find some of those good talking points, and then begin using them. Talk like you know what you talk about; and you will make an impression which, certainly, should bring the city something good in return.

The spring season has set in in real earnest and from now on the people of this great shopping center will buy thousands of dollars' worth of goods.

To such people, Greenville extends a cordial invitation with her myriad of bargains—values direct from the great style centers of the world. Greenville merchants are striving to render the highest type of service to the territory, and the man and woman desiring extensive stock from which to do their buying, will find them here this season, and every season for that matter.

This is one of the seasons of the year when people, like nature, want to put on a fresh appearance, and it is natural they desire to get the best the market has to offer. The best is what every branch of business has to offer here and the shopper will not make any mistake by traveling even a great distance to do his shopping in Greenville.

THE LUXURY TAX

Notice right many people are hot for sales tax on the poor man's pleasures. A little ice cream, a cold sweet drink, a few smokes and a ticket to the show, now and then, constitutes the poor man's luxury. The rich man's luxuries are a little higher up. His run in the fine wines, beer and good liquor class. No chance to get any tax on these. Then he indulges himself to a silk shirt, or an extra pair of trousers once in a while. The luxury tax advocates would leave those out. If a man need only three suits of clothes, and he gets an extra suit, why that is luxury. If a man need a five-room house and he builds him a twenty-roomer, why he has fifteen dollars worth of furniture is sufficient for one's needs, and he insists on ten thousand dollars worth, why he has blown five thousand for luxuries. Saw someone ago where the president of the Reynolds Tobacco Company was putting out about five millions on a home. Now any feeble imagination can see that no family has any use for such home as that. It is nothing more than superlative extravagance. Why not hit that kind of luxury? and let the few little pleasures the poor have alone. And don't forget that the consumer pays all the tax, rents or what not. He has stood it all these years and he is not begging for any hypocritical tears and sympathy now. J. F. STOKES, Greenville, N. C.

Miners' Homes Are Dynamited

The homes were occupied by the family of Bailey Keith, white and a negro family whose names were not ascertained. Both homes were damaged it was reported here that Keith and the negro had been working at the Norton Coal Company mine at Isley since the Nortonville mine was closed down. Approximately 4,000 miners in western Kentucky are out of work as a result of independent strikes and shut downs.

Women Voters Discuss Several Questions Today

Louisville, Ky., April 29.—(AP)—Home problems—unemployment, the woman worker in the southern cotton mills, the pending maternity and infancy legislation—today challenged the interest of the tenth anniversary convention of the League of women voters. From Washington, where the maternity bill was reported favorably to the Senate and now awaits action by the House, Representatives Williamson, South Dakota, yesterday gave this message to the league. "If it ever goes through, it will be because you women are back of it, and for no other reason." Dr. Brodus Mitchell, of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., appealed to the women voters to better conditions in Southern cotton mills through legislation. He said that workers in mill villages were "virtually without voice, either political or economical and that they suffered from 'long hours and low pay'."

Speaking on unemployment, Dr. William Leiserson, of Atoch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, advocated a government tax on industries for setting up "an employment insurance fund", thereby, he said, "putting the cost of unemployment on industry." He predicted that industry, to avoid paying the cost, would study methods of avoiding unemployment as scientifically as it now grapples with production problems.

When the Dollars All Pull Together—

Dollars that are hooked up wrong are apt to go off in different directions when they come to a fork in the road. Must be harnessed right and driven right, if they are going to pull together.

But when they do pull together, what a load they can swing!

Cows are like dollars. And people are like cows. And communities are like cows. Five good cows taken together will give an even quantity and an even high quality of milk the year round—something one good cow can't do alone. So five good dairy farms will keep things going in a community much better than one good dairy farm, each benefitting by the good work and high qualities of the other.

Then you come to five communities, or counties—then five States—then to a widespread picture of the dairy territory covered by the operations of Southern Dairies.

This is an organization intelligently promoting the dairy-product industry of the South, to the great betterment financially of every community in which it is operating. Its constant effort is to keep up an even supply and even demand, an even grade of excellence and even progress, throughout its field.

It systematizes the production and sale of milk, cream and ice cream, butter, buttermilk and cottage cheese, producing a steady income for dairy farmers and dairy workers, for the plant workers and supply merchants of each community—in each case to be distributed and redistributed among the business men and workers of the community.

It is by this hooking up of individuals, groups, communities and States that it is making the cow-power dollars pull all together—all for one and one for all.

ACCIDENT CAUSES CHANGE IN HIGH SCHOOL PLAY CAST

The accident which unfortunately befell Pete Bynum a week ago might have wrecked an organization possessing less reserve talent than the Greenville high school senior play cast, but in their present circumstances it has shown the ability of the cast in a pinch. Ordinarily, let any unforeseen occurrence deprive an amateur group of their leading man within two weeks of the performance, and a hastily whispered consultation will result in the announcement that the presentation has been postponed.

But here, the rapid action of the coach, in substituting an able understudy, Alva Van Nortwick, and his serious work on a most difficult part, have saved the situation, and given us a chance to see a new leading man, as well. Of course, we all will miss seeing "Pete" but Alva, as the perfect lover, and will be agreeably surprised at the performance of his pinch hitter, Alva.

Reserve Friday night on your date book for the high school senior play.

MRS. WOODHOUSE SPEAKS TO AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY WOMEN

The American Association of University Women, on last Friday evening, held a reception at the Rotary Club in honor of Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse, who is doing important work in the field of women's relations and vocational guidance for women. At the same time she is carrying on important research work and is connected with North Carolina College for Women. The members of the senior class of the East Carolina Teachers College were the guests of the evening.

Mrs. Woodhouse, who is a noted and interesting speaker, made an illuminating talk, but there was an illuminating lecture or academic atmosphere about the occasion. The club house was beautifully decorated with wild azaleas, vines, and other flowers and greens. The "troubadours," the college orchestra, under the direction of Miss Gorrell, furnished music throughout the evening.

In the receiving line were the honor guests, Mrs. Woodhouse, her mother, Mrs. Going, Miss Kay Lee Clineinger, president of the senior class; Miss Roland, adviser of the senior class; Miss Goodwin, assistant dean of women; Mrs. Bloxton, and the officers of the A. A. U. W., Mrs. E. L. Hillman, president; Mrs. S. J. Everett, vice-president; Miss Holtzclaw, secretary; Mrs. J. E. Winslow, treasurer. Other members of the association assisted in receiving. Misses Catherine Cassidy, Ella Thompson, Effie Mae Winslow, and Mary Berry Clark welcomed the guests on the porch and the terrace. Mrs. C. S. Forbes, a member of the board of trustees of the college, greeted them at the door. Miss Mamie E. Jenkins introduced them to those in the receiving line; Misses Madge Daniels and Madeline Miller directed them from the line to the other room, where Misses Mary Greene, Katherine Warlick, Emma Hooper and Selma Rogers received. Refreshments were served by Misses Annie Newell, Laura Rose, Betty White, and Mrs. R. B. Lee and Mrs. R. J. Slay.

Mrs. Adelaide Bloxton, who had been in the classes of Mrs. Woodhouse at Teachers College, Columbia University, introduced the speaker in a very happy manner, saying that she was almost a southerner as she married a Virginian and came to North Carolina to live. Mrs. Woodhouse gave a stimulating and interesting survey of the economic status of women by showing how mass education for women, which started as late as 1870, has wrought changes in women's lives and work. As they have attended college and become trained, they have entered first one profession and, business after another until, according to the census ten years ago there were 975 different kinds of jobs open to women and only 25 not open, and these were jobs that required heavy muscular strain. As one of every four married women keep on working, women with jobs are older than they were. In this time of depression, many problems arise, and one wonders what will be done about it. She gave as the cause of the great increase two words—steam and steel. She reviewed the place woman once had as the partner in the home carrying on many kinds of work, which could no longer be done profitably at home. In the cities, wives, and daughters may now be liabilities instead of assets. She showed the first jobs that women sought grew out of the work they had done in the home are still the things that the majority of women workers do. The task now is to find out not only what women are doing but how they are doing it so that they may be intelligently helped.

She told of the work of the institute of women's relations, the studies that had been made of women in banking and in department stores, and announced that the next step would be of women in law. There has been a bulletin issued giving the results of the investigation as to what the doctor's degree meant to one thousand women who have worked for it. She gave exceedingly interesting stories about women in the various kinds of jobs, showing the human as well as the economic side. She emphasized the fact that she did no placement work and there was no employment bureau connected with this work, but it is for the sake of studying problems and conditions so as to understand them better and know better how to direct women in their training. She brought out the fact that many of the positions at the top come later, after years of teaching in a field or spent in secretarial work. The crowded conditions are at the lower levels, and the demand is at the top, trained, experienced women who have grown into efficiency or highly trained specialists.

In the afternoon Mrs. Woodhouse made a talk to the girls in the Greenville High School. While in Greenville she was the guest of Mrs. Bloxton, at the practice house at the college.

The members of the orchestra are as follows: Leader, Miss Gorrell; first violins, Jeanette Wedmore, Thelma Taylor; second violin, Alice Tilley and Katie Patrick; third violin, Vera Jennings, Treva Porter; fourth and Lucy Morton; cello, Martha Morton; flute, Mrs. Carl Adams; piano, Lella Shore Thomas or Kathleen Ellis.

Army Officers Make Annual Inspection Of Local Battery

Annual inspection of Battery A, local unit of the North Carolina Guardsmen, was completed this morning by officers representing both state and Federal departments. No report was made by the officers immediately after the inspection but it was said this would be completed sometime during the afternoon.

The inspection was made by General J. Van Metts, commander of the North Carolina National Guard; Col. W. T. Joyner, of the 113th Field Artillery; Major O. E. Beesley, senior instructor of the regular army; Captain John H. Ball and Major Dempsey.

The inspection was started yesterday afternoon. Last night the 64 members of the battery appeared in review before the officers, and presented a very creditable appearance. Inspection was also made of the company's books and equipment and it was said that everything in this line was found in good condition.

There are sixty-four members of the battery at this time. Sixty-five members is maximum strength and 60 minimum. The membership was around this number at the inspection last spring.

Rotarians Plan Annual Session

When 1,000 or more North Carolina Rotarians, accompanied by their ladies, arrive in Winston-Salem for their annual district convention, May 15 and 16, they will find that the Twin City Rotarians and the community generally have made elaborate plans for receiving them.

The convention of the Fifty-seventh district will be one of the biggest gatherings the city will entertain during 1930 and an enthusiastic welcome, typical of Winston-Salem hospitality, will be accorded. Practically all preparations have been completed, only a few details lacking final touch.

The convention proper will be in session two days, Thursday and Friday, but an informal dance and reception will take place Wednesday evening. Other entertainment features will include two luncheons for the men and one for the ladies Thursday; sight-seeing trips about the city Thursday afternoon; a Rotary golf tournament; two dinners Thursday evening, followed by the district governor's reception and ball and a special theatre entertainment.

Friday will open with two breakfast sessions for the club presidents and secretaries and a farewell luncheon will be served at noon.

On to Winston-Salem committee of the Greenville club are W. H. Dall, W. H. Rogers, and K. W. Cobb.

Hard on Watchmakers

Chicago, April 29.—(AP)—Home run outbursts by the Chicago Cubs are a source of great satisfaction to northside fans, but promise to become expensive for a firm of watch manufacturers.

The concern offered a wrist watch for each home run by a major leaguer in either Cubs or White Sox parks, and today was in debt twice to Gabby Hartnett who got a pair yesterday, and owed one each to Cliff Heathcote and Pitcher Charlie Root.

FORMATION OF BALL LEAGUE TALKED HERE

The baseball bug, making his annual invasion of this country, has landed in Greenville, and an independent league composed of teams of the counties of this section was being talked freely on all sides today.

It has been suggested that an independent league of this immediate section be organized with each club playing only bona-fide residents of the county in which the club is organized. It was pointed out that the league would be more or less of an amateur nature and that the small cost of operation would be within the reach of the various towns, especially the county seat in Pitt and surrounding counties.

G. V. Smith, former president of the Greenville club of the Eastern Carolina League, and T. T. Hollingsworth, local baseball enthusiast, have expressed a willingness to attempt the organization of such a league in this territory provided there is sufficient interest on the part of the fans who want this kind of baseball for the coming summer.

Local fans interested in baseball for the summer can help make it possible by conferring with Messrs. Smith and Hollingsworth with reference to the organization of such a league.

Plan to Abolish Economic Boundary Lines In Southwest

Asheville, April 29.—(AP)—As the direct result of Governor Gardner's conference here yesterday leaders in seven southeastern states were at work today on a plan to abolish economic boundaries within the territory.

Out of the conference came the formation of a southeastern economic conference, to study the agricultural, commercial and industrial problems of North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, South Carolina and Georgia.

To carry out the purposes of the conference, delegates to the meeting yesterday unanimously decided to form a southeastern regional council.

Each of the seven governors represented at Governor Gardner's conference will appoint three persons, and by August 1, this committee of 21 will present to the governors their recommendations for convening on October 30, the first southeastern economic conference.

It was believed today that the first conference would be held in Asheville, the site of organization of the movement. It is likely that the meeting place for the first conference will be determined when committee members submit their reports in August.

Frank Page, who was appointed temporary chairman of the conference, is confined to his bed at his home in Raleigh by influenza, and could not be reached for his opinion on where the conference would be held.

Will Not Release Letters for Probe of Women's Deaths

Laurea Beach, Cal., April 29.—(AP)—Moresby White, attorney for the estates of Adele Ritchie, former stage star, and Mrs. Doris Murray Palmer, found shot to death last Thursday here, announced today he would refuse official demands for letters and diaries of the two women, wanted in connection with a renewed investigation into their deaths.

"These letters are part of the estates of the two women," White said, "and as such have no part in an inquiry. The case has been closed, I believe, by the verdict of the coroner's jury of murder and suicide. I see no cause for further investigation."

The investigation was reopened by Orange county authorities after White announced receipt of a letter written to him by Miss Ritchie which, he said, indicated a "suicide pact." Sheriff Sam Jernigh, however, said he did not believe that Mrs. Palmer had agreed to a double suicide, as evidence found at the scene of the tragedy indicated that she was attempting to escape when she was shot in the back by the former actress.

Friends of the women voiced the belief that the murder and suicide theory told the entire story of the killing. They believe that Miss Ritchie, who was the wife of Guy Bates Post, noted actor, shot her friend in a jealous rage, and then turned the gun on herself. They said that Mrs. Palmer's ascendancy to social prominence in this beach community, and Mrs. Post's apparently waning popularity, had caused a noticeable rift between the two.

In accordance with their expressed wishes, the bodies of the women were cremated yesterday and placed side by side in a mausoleum.

Pinehurst, April 29.—(AP)—Dr. Charles O. H. Laughinghouse, secretary of the State Board of Health, and Dr. L. A. More than two hundred physicians and Public Health officials were in attendance. Papers covering a variety of subjects were read and each was discussed.

Dr. S. J. Fordan of Beaufort, was elected president of the State Public Health Association. Dr. P. M. Register, of the State Board of Health, Raleigh, secretary.

Can Women Save Money?

That every woman lets money slip through her fingers, that she must buy everything that takes her fancy if she has the money or credit—is a myth. It's something akin to the mother-in-law jokes. Actually the percentage of fine mother-in-laws runs very high. And actually there is a great host of women who have a keener sense of the value of a dollar than the average man.

This is merely a statement but the figures will bear it out. An analysis of the savings deposited in both men's and women's accounts was made by three large savings institutions recently. In each case the figures or percentages were almost identical; about 45 per cent, slightly less than half the accounts were opened by women. But here is the interesting part of the figures: the women had actually saved just about twice as much money as the men—the average balance was just about double.

Of course, many of the accounts in women's names were probably family accounts—both man and wife contributing to the common thrift fund which was in the wife's name.

Can women save money? From our experience we must answer that question in the affirmative. In our twenty-four years of operation we have been honored by a large number of accounts opened by women.

On March the 8th, 1930, we matured our 36th Series paying to over fifty shareholders $78,300.00. Each shareholder earned over six and one-half per cent on their investment. What amount of this money was paid to women? On March the 8th we paid to the women of Greenville $33,700.00. Who said women couldn't save money?

On next Saturday, May 3rd, our 38th Series opens. Every woman in Greenville is invited and urged to start on that day and "SAVE A LITTLE EACH WEEK." Thrift began with civilization. It began as soon as men realized that it was necessary to provide for tomorrow as well as for today. Every family should have a THRIFT ACCOUNT.

If it will be impossible for you to come to our office in person, call Phone 49 and the Home Building and Loan Association will be glad to issue you as many shares as you like. This association was organized in 1906 and now has resources of over one million dollars.

Grand Opera Opens At Richmond, Va.

Richmond, Va., April 29.—(AP)—Virginia music lovers who filled the Shrine Mosque auditorium here last night to hear the Metropolitan Opera company's interpretation of Verdi's highly romantic "La Traviata," were preparing to attend tonight the stupendous presentation of "Aida."

Despite the fact that the Opera company brought more than 1000 of its singers and administrative employees here for the Richmond stand, it was announced yesterday that 80 extras would be recruited for "Aida" tonight. The background is ancient Egypt with its mighty Pharaohs, Pyramids and august temples.

Governors Decide to Form Conference

Asheville, April 29.—(AP)—Definite steps toward formation of an annual southeastern economic conference were taken here yesterday as the meeting of Southern governors, officials and economic experts called into session by Gov. O. Max Gardner adjourned.

A resolution was adopted calling for a conference to be held in each governor's present or represented at the meeting to appoint three members of a special conference committee of twenty-one, which shall jointly present to the governors in October of this year a plan for the conference and a definite plan for organization, financing and operation if a southeastern regional council.

The resolution said that "in the interests of the economic growth and prosperity of the area X X X the establishment of an annual Southeastern Economic Conference, for the joint consideration and solution of economic problems common to these states and their agriculture, commercial and industrial interest, is necessary and desirable X X X" states to be included in the conference are, besides North Carolina: Virginia, South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, and Florida.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET N. Y. STOCK LIST

New York, April 29.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 4 points to an advance of 5 points. May notices were reported amounting to about 22,000 bales and their circulation caused some liquidation of near months. There was also some selling of new crop positions on reports of further rains in the southwest, but the offerings were light and apparently well absorbed. The early selling of May was taken by spot houses and the price rose from 15.97 to 16.04 by the end of the first half hour, when active months generally ruled about 2 to 5 points net higher. The new October sold at 14.75.

Liverpool cables reported fair calling and covering in the near months with liquidation of later deliveries owing to the rains in Texas. British home trade in cotton goods was sold to be improving, but yarns were reported dull and freely offered.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, April 29.—(AP)—Reports that the entire southwestern section of Kansas is enjoying the best rain received in five months did much to send wheat prices downward today. Besides this change from recent drought, there was a material falling-off today in European demand for wheat from North America. World available supplies of wheat showed 8,236,000 bushels decrease for the week, but notwithstanding are 370,926,000 bushels against 354,189,000 bu. a year ago.

Wheat closed nervous, 1.35-1.54 lower than yesterday's finish.

Corn closed 3-4-11-2c down, oats 5-8c off, and provisions showing 2c-3c decline.

STOCK MARKET

New York, April 29.—(AP)—Stock prices experienced another sharp setback today when the rally, which started soon after the opening, failed to follow through.

Selling pressure was particularly severe against the coppers and rails, more than a score of which were hammered to new low levels for the year. Weak spots also cropped out in nearly all other leading groups, the declines running from 1 to 7 points in the active issues, and as much as 19 points in some of the specialties.

Unfavorable earnings and trade reports, including unconfirmed rumors of a shading in steel prices, probably stimulated the selling movement, although there was a rather widespread feeling that the reaction was nothing more than a correction of speculative excesses which had taken place earlier in the year.

Much of today's selling was reported to be for short accounts, with indications of excellent scale buying in a number of issues, current earnings and prospects of which urge the liquidation of stocks three weeks ago, today recommended the purchase of high grade issues.

Call money opened at 4 per cent with indications that the rate would be maintained all day. Little new money came into the market, and there was a moderate calling of loans in anticipation of heavy month-end requirements.

SENATORS SET DIZZY PACE IN AMERICAN

(By HERBERT W. BARKER (Associated Press Sports Writer))
 In the face of expert opinion that said they would be lucky to finish any higher than seventh place, Walter Johnson's Washington Senators continue to set a dizzy pace to lead the American League.

No one can say, of course, where the Senators will finish but the fact remains that they are playing heads-up baseball, taking advantage of every break and winning consistently.

The club has been fielding brilliantly, hitting opportunely and Johnson has shown rare judgment in juggling his pitchers with Lloyd Brown, Irving Hadley, Firpo Marberry and Garland Braxton as a "Big Four."

Yesterday's 6-5 victory over the New York Yankees was the Senators' ninth in eleven games and their seventh in a row, Washington took an early lead, thanks to some spectacular hitting by Shortstop Joe Cronin, and then held on to it in the face of Yankee rally in the latter frames. Cronin drove in three runs with a home run. The Yanks drove Marberry out of the box with a two run rally in the seventh but could do nothing with Braxton.

The Chicago White Sox moved up into second place with a 9-7 triumph over Detroit. Carl Reynolds hit a home run, triple and single, his homer with Lyons on base in the seventh, really deciding the contest. The Sox got only eight hits to 14 for the Tigers but made full use of them.

The St. Louis Browns could get only five hits off the offerings of Pete Jablonowski, American American associate recruit, and Cleveland won.

Wildness on the part of Mac-Fadden and Morris and fielding errors by O. Miller and Regar enabled the Philadelphia Athletics to score four runs in the ninth without a hit and beat the Boston Red Sox, 5-4.

In the National League, the New York Giants lost their first game of the season. The defeat broke Bill Walker's string of 11 straight victories run up during the latter part of 1929 and this season. Travis Jackson of the Giants hit his fifth home run of the year.

Four home runs, two by Gabby Hartnett and the others by Charley Root and Cliff Heathcote, enabled Chicago's Cubs to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-4. Root was turned up for 11 hits but tightened up in the pinches and fanned nine men.

The St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of eight bases o balls and whipped Cincinnati, 8 to 3. Clarence Mitchell, Card pitcher, suffered an ankle injury in the fourth inning and had to retire. Bell finished for the winners.

The Phillies concentrated their hitting in the fifth, sixth and seventh inning to beat the Boston Braves, 7 to 4.

American Golfers Arrive In England

Southampton, England, April 29.—(AP)—The largest contingent of American golfers ever to land in England arrived today when the Berengaria docked at Southampton with Glenna Collett and her team aboard.

Miss Collett, the American Women's champion, headed a party of 20 including Virginia Van Wie and Helen Hicks, who, she declared "are just as good at golf as I am."

Maureen Orcutt, another member of the American "Big Four", arrived several days ago.

The squad started for London a boat train which Miss Collett said would halt near Sunningdale so that the girls could inspect the course today and motor to London later. It is at Sunningdale that the American meet and English team on Thursday.
