SOUTHERN CROSS FORCED DOWN BY FOG

SEVERAL HELD FOR VIOLATION OF LIQUOR LAW

Twenty-Six Persons Arrested On Raid of Ritz-Carlton Hotel and Casino

New York, June 25.—(AP)—Guests, officials and waiters of the exclusive Central Park Casino and the Ritz-Carlton were held in bail ranging from $500 to $1,000 today on charges growing out of raids by federal prohibition agents last night.

Ball of guests charged with possession of liquor was fixed at $500. Officials of the Ritz-Carlton were held in $1,000 bail on charges of maintaining a nuisance and of the waiters were held in a like amount charged with sale and possession.

Waiters of the casino were charged with maintaining a nuisance as there was no evidence that liquor had been sold there. Officials of the Casino were held on the same charge.

Guests differ about the conduct of the agents. Paul Reiss, a retired business man, said it was a "red hot raid," others said the agents conducted themselves well.

New York, June 25.—(AP)—Charges of liquor law violation were on file against 26 persons today as the result of raids by federal prohibition agents on the Ritz-Carlton Hotel and the Casino restaurant in Central Park, two of the city's fashionable gathering places.

Among the prisoners were eight male patrons of the Casino, charged with possession of liquor. Others arrested there included Sidney Solomon, the owner, Rene L. Black, maître d'hôtel, and eight waiters. Solomon and Black were charged with maintaining a nuisance and the waiters with aiding and abetting in the maintenance of a nuisance.

Those arrested at the Ritz-Carlton were Thomas Sarvas, manager of the roof garden, charged with permitting the sale and service of liquor, six waiters, accused of sale and serving, and Charles Williams, an elevator starter, who, prohibition agents said, sold a quart of champagne and a pint of whiskey to one of their number. All of the prisoners were released in bail after being taken to police stations.

Assistant Prohibition Administrator James Donovan, who led the raiders at the Casino, said both that place and the Ritz-Carlton had been under observation for several weeks.

At the Ritz-Carlton, he said, the agents had pursued the same tactics used in raids on other large hotels recently, where federal operatives registered as guests and lived for several weeks gathering evidence previous to the raids. Much confusion and uproar attended the descent upon the Casino, the raid at the Ritz-Carlton conducted quietly.

Seven agents rode to the roof garden, informed the manager and head waiter of their purpose and ordered the diners to keep their seats. Then they went from table to table searching for liquor. None of the patrons was arrested.

At the Casino, one of the most expensive and fashionable eating and dancing resorts in the city, about 600 persons were in the dining room when the raid occurred.

One of the four agents in evening clothes seated in the dining room rose and went to the veranda where he signalled with his arms. A squad of 16 other agents who had been hidden in the Central Park Shrubbery surrounded the Casino dashed from their places of concealment. At the same time an automobile filled with agents arrived.

The music was stopped and the agents swarmed among the tables snatching bottles. Those arrested were herded into the ballroom to await the arrival of patrol wagons to take them to the station. Women companions of the men arrested were ordered to leave.

Senate Prepares To Take Up Naval Treaty Before Special Session Congress

Movement Develops After Word From the White House That the President Would Ignore Petition for Deferment of Session Until After November Elections

Washington, June 25.—(AP)—Senate advocates of the London treaty determined today to begin consideration of it without waiting for the special session which President Hoover intends to call.

This developed after word had reached from the White House to the Capitol that the president would ignore the signed petition of 23 senators for deferment of the special session until after the November elections.

Senator Watson, the Republican leader, announced he would approve a motion to begin debate on the treaty just as soon as the Senate disposes of the pending business—the deficiency appropriation bill and the major bus regulation measure. He wants to take up the treaty while the Senate is preparing for final settlement of the vexing World War veterans legislation.

Ready to start at once, the Indianan made clear, however, that he expects final disposition of the naval pact will need to go over until the special session. President Hoover was said at the White House to have received assurances from a "large majority" of the special session should be called.

Instead of deferring the special meeting until November 17, as the petition suggested, he will call the Senate together the day after Congress adjourns.

Ambassadors Dawes and Morrow, both delegates to London, conferred with President Hoover and Secretary Stimson today. The situation as regards the treaty is being followed closely.

Another White House caller was Senator Borah, who heads the foreign relations committee which has reported the pact to the Senate without recommendation. Returning to the capital after discussing the outlook with Mr. Hoover, he reiterated that "so long as they keep in session I will keep the treaty before it."

Borah informed the president he was not concerned over procedure. He does not care whether the treaty is taken up immediately or deferred to a special session. He is ready, however, to press it to a vote before the Senate recesses for the summer.

Negro Found Guilty On Assault Charge

Snow Hill, June 25.—(AP)—E. Perry, Negro, was convicted in Greene County Superior court today on three counts of attempted assault. Presiding Judge M. V. Barnhill did not pass sentence immediately.

The maximum sentence, the Negro may receive is 15 years on each count, making a total of 45 years if he receives the maximum.

The crowded court room received the verdict quietly. When Perry was arrested threats were made by a crowd that gathered and in view of these special guards were kept on duty in the court room.

The Negro was accused of three attempted attacks upon Mrs. Walter Stallings, wife of a Hookerton farmer. He was arrested after the third alleged attack.

Man Stripped of Everything While Asleep in Park

Kansas City, June 25.—(AP)—Clarence Corp, hcd, hid himself to a Kansas City park and stretched himself on the grass. He went to sleep. Along came two men who rapped him on the head with a club, took $4 from his pocket, the pocket also, not to mention trousers, shirt and underwear.

"You might as well be really cool," said one, departing as Clarence began to come to. Clarence was perspiring freely when, wrapped in newspapers, after much dodging down dark alleys, he reached his room. He still was hot when he talked to police.

PLAN TO PUT LEAF SALE ON HIGHER PLANE

State Tobacco Warehousemen Agree to Cut Out Rebating and Hiring Trucks

At the annual meeting of the North Carolina Tobacco Warehouse Association held recently at Kinston, the warehousemen determined to put the warehouse business on a higher plane, and 35 out of 36 warehousemen on all of the large markets agreed to cut out the practice of rebating, the hiring of trucks, etc., in order to induce trade.

The plan met with the whole-hearted approval of the buying companies, as it has a tendency of dignifying the warehouse business. The plan is also of interest to the farmers in that they can feel that every man's tobacco will be sold on a par with every other man, all paying the same charges.

Mr. Hill, of Kinston, has been appointed supervisor of the markets and his duties will be to investigate any infractions or violation of the plan.

The agreement will enable the Greenville market to show a gain of several million pounds of tobacco because of its records of high averages in the past and everybody is determined that the Greenville record for this year will not be surpassed by any market in Eastern Carolina.

Despite the damage to crops caused by dry weather and rain in some sections of the county, it was stated today that the county was looking forward to a fairly good yield of bright leaf, and that the season's sales would compare favorably with previous records.

Salem Man Kills Himself

Winston-Salem, June 25.—(PA)—John Henry Allen, 39, was found dead at his home here early today with a pistol wound in the head. He apparently had shot himself. Allen came here from Davis county several months ago. His daughter and widow survive.

TWO MILLION DOLLAR FIRE AT CHICAGO

Two Airplane Hangars and 27 Planes Wrecked by Flames Early Today

Chicago, June 25.—(AP)—Two hangars and 27 airplanes, 12 of them trimotored passenger planes, were destroyed by fire at the Municipal Airport early today. The loss was estimated at more than two million dollars.

The hangars destroyed were those of the Universal Airlines, Inc., and the Grey Goose Air Lines, the latter under lease to the Stout Air Lines. The fire followed an explosion of undetermined cause in the Universal hangar.

One of the ground men at the mile square airport said he saw a spark leap across the darkness at the rear of the Universal hangar, and that the explosion followed. Almost at once the building was in flames.

Several men, including pilots and mechanics, were in the building but escaped before the fire reached the front of the hangar where they were able to wheel out five planes only.

Flaming fragments spanned the 50 feet separating the Universal and Grey-Goose hangars, and both were destroyed before firemen could halt the flames.

Every light at the airport, including the boundary lights so vital to night flyers seeking to land, were extinguished when the fire burned away power lines. Temporary lights were hurriedly placed to prevent disaster to arriving mail planes.

Official announcement was given from the offices of the Universal Airlines, that all schedules, both passenger and mail planes, would be flown without interruption. To do this, planes were started for Chicago at dawn from Cleveland, Kansas City, St. Louis and Tulsa. Upon arrival here, they were to be serviced and sent into the air on the regular routes.

The estimate of the loss by Universal officials was more than $2,000,000. An elaborate machine shop, representing an investment, they said, of three quarters of a million dollars, and much spare equipment were destroyed.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET IN CITY ON SATURDAY

County Convention to Be Held At Court House Here At 12 O'clock

W. E. Hooks, of Ayden, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive committee, was in the city today completing arrangements for the County convention to be held at the court house next Saturday at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Hooks said this was one of the most important political gatherings held here in several months, and urged that each township be well represented. The convention will elect delegates to the State convention at Raleigh July 3rd, and will transact other business in connection with the election to be held next November.

The precinct primaries were held at the various voting places of the county last Saturday, and delegates and executive committees were elected to the County convention. Up to the present time, Mr. Hooks said, he had received lists of delegates and executive committees from only three or four precincts. He urged that these lists be mailed to him at once so they may be given due publicity before the County convention.

The county chairman expressed belief that Pitt county would have the opportunity of hearing some of the outstanding orators of the State during the campaign next fall. He said he had already been assured of the services of Josiah William Bailey, of Raleigh, Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate, and former Governor Cameron Morrison, each of whom will speak in Greenville at some date to be announced later.

U. S. MAY LAY CLAIM TO LAND AT SOUTH POLE

Nation May Put Aside Century Old Precedent and Claim Area of Land

Washington, June 25.—(AP)—Whether the United States will lay aside a century of precedent and lay claim to a part of the vast Antarctic region was learned today to be under consideration in the State Department.

Although the department is contemplating the claim of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd to part of the snow-hidden southernmost end of the world, over which he flew in his dash to the pole, it was said a decision probably would not be reached for some time.

Much of the 150,000 square miles over which Byrd flew—comprising an area roughly the size of Indiana, Illinois and Ohio and West Virginia—already is claimed by Great Britain as lying within the huge pie-segment of the Ross Dependency. Immediately to the east, however, bordering along the 150th Meridian west, lies Marie Byrd Land, explored by him and hither to unclaimed. State Department maps showed the area to border partly on the coast, thereby offering a point of ingress outside the British claim.

Never in the past, however, has the United States declared sovereignty over any part of Antarctica. Itself a land bigger than all Australia and Europe, excluding Russia.

In 1821, Captain Nathaniel B. Palmer, on a sealing voyage from Stonington, Connecticut, became one of the original explorers of the Antarctic through finding a point of land, which was named Parker Land.

Less than a score of years later, Lieutenant Wilks of the United States navy was dispatched there by the government with two sloops of war and four smaller vessels on a scientific and commercial expedition. He skirted the Antarctic shore for a long distance, a territory now bearing his name, although he did not land and take possession of it for the United States.

Discussing this land in 1924, Charles Evans Hughes said: "It is the opinion of the Department of State that discovery of lands unknown to civilization, even when coupled with a formal taking of possession, does not support a valid claim of sovereignty unless the discovery is followed by an actual settlement of the discovered country."

Discoveries and, in some cases, claims have been made in the territory by Russia, Norway, France, and Germany in addition to Great Britain, despite the fact that the land today is inhabited only by penguins and seals.

Aldrich's Demand for Habeas Corpus Hearing Withdrawn

Goldsboro, June 25.—(AP)—Attorneys for Jim Aldridge, of LaGrange, today decided to demand a habeas corpus hearing for him before his preliminary hearing Monday on a charge of murder of P. L. Flinchum, prohibition agent killed here June 15.

The hearing was set for three o'clock this afternoon before Judge F. A. Daniels. Aldridge had first decided not to press his request for a habeas corpus hearing.

Goldsboro, June 25.—(AP)—Jim Aldridge's demand for a habeas corpus hearing was withdrawn today after he was informed he would be given a preliminary hearing next Monday on charges against him in connection with the slaying of F. L. Flinchum, prohibition agent. The habeas corpus hearing had been set for today.

J. M. Langston, who is charged with murder of Flinchum, will also be given a preliminary hearing Monday. Both Langston and Aldridge are from LaGrange.

Flinchum was shot and killed while pursuing a suspected liquor running car.

Kingsford-Smith and Crew Bring Their Machine Down Safely at Harbor Grace Early Today After Vain Attempt to Penetrate Impenetrable Fog On Hazardous Flight From Ireland to U. S.; To Continue Trip to New York At Daybreak Tomorrow

Harbor Grace, N. F., June 25.—(AP)—The airplane Southern Cross landed here early today after spanning the Atlantic ocean from Ireland and the fliers immediately made plans for flying to New York, then to San Francisco. Such a flight would virtually complete an around-the-world flight for the Southern Cross, which previously had been flown from San Francisco to Australia and England.

The plane will leave at daybreak tomorrow for New York.

The fliers experienced almost perfect weather until they approached the Newfoundland coast, when the trip almost came to an unfortunate end as fog enveloped the plane. For more than an hour the aviators flew blindly in the darkness and but for radio stations providing them with questions they might have been lost.

The fliers were in good condition and excellent spirits when they landed here at 5:57 a. m. EST. They talked briefly of the dangers they had encountered, and then all sought sleep.

The plane fought its way to the Newfoundland coast through a night that presented almost every danger to aviators. The fliers said that for more than one hour during the night they had flown blindly not knowing where they were or in which direction they were heading.

The fliers were finally directed by radio to the landing field here. After circling the field, for considerable time they asked that a plane be sent to guide them down. This was done and the Southern Cross glided safely on the field.

The four aviators were in good condition and, although disappointed in not being able to reach their goal, said they were determined to finish their flight to New York.

After landing, Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith in charge of the Southern Cross, said the plane would never have reached Harbor Grace but for the "wonderful radio wireless." He said the plane would have had to fly about waiting for the visibility to improve if it had not been for the means of communication which permitted the plane to seek aid from the radio stations here. With but a few hours gasoline supply in the tanks the captain would not chance a guess at what might have happened.

Captain Kingsford-Smith and his companions made their landing where Harry Hawker and Commander Grieve hopped off in their first attempt at trans-Atlantic flight. Eleven years after the epochal attempt of the British aces and the first Atlantic crossing of Alcock and Brown, the Australian fliers had beaten the record of bad fortune that overtook every previous attempt at a westward crossing except that of the Bremen.

The flight was the second westward crossing of the north Atlantic, the German fliers, Captain Herman Koehl and Baron Von Huenfeldt, accompanied by Colonel James Fitzmaurice having completed the first in the Bremen in the spring of 1928.

The plane had but 1,200 gallons of gasoline in its tanks when it left Fort Maroon, Irish Free State, sufficient for 38 hours flying. This time would have been up shortly after noon (EST) today. When at 3 a. m. (EST) the plane still had not reached Cape Race, which was 1,100 miles from New York, it was calculated that it would have to do better than 129 miles an hour to reach its goal before exhausting its fuel supply.

The speed previously had averaged about 85 miles per hour. With a diminishing fuel load a greater speed for the remaining distance to New York might have been expected, but head winds up and down the coast varying from five to twenty miles an hour in velocity would have countered this advantage.

House Republicans Come To Support Of President In Veterans Bill Fight

Party Chieftains Plan to Adopt Compromise Measure and Will Vote On It Either Saturday Or Monday

Washington, June 25.—The road was cleared for President Hoover's second stinging veto of a veterans relief bill today by House acceptance of Senate amendments to its measure to aid World War soldiers.

Branded "bad legislation" by the president, it goes to him at once. He is expected to repeat his objections in a decisive veto message, after which the House will be called upon to sustain or override him.

A two-thirds vote is necessary to override a veto, with the Republican leadership behind Mr. Hoover, proponents of the bill are expected to be defeated. The Senate would not then be called upon to act on the veto. The House will begin formulation of another veterans bill aimed to overcome administration protests.

The first such bill vetoed was for relief of Spanish-American veterans. Both Senate and House override Mr. Hoover's wishes. He repeated his objections to that legislation after it was enacted into law.

In a caucus last night of 154 Republicans, it was agreed to support any veto of the bill by the president.

Washington, June 25.—(AP)—The House Republican leadership today came to the support of President Hoover in his difficult ties with Congress over the World War veterans compensation bill and threw its strength behind a plan to enact a measure suitable to the chief executive.

Assured of enough votes to sustain the expected veto of the pending Johnson bill which was passed by the Senate over Mr. Hoover's outspoken objections, the party chieftains planned to adopt a compromise measure, voting upon it on Saturday or Monday.

This program was arranged at a conference following a caucus last night in which 154 Republicans, more than the needed one-third of the House membership, agreed to uphold the chief executive's veto. Administration leaders in the Senate.

Vermont's Nominee for Governor Favors Repeal of Dry Law

Burlington, Vt., June 25.—(AP)—Park H. Pollard of Cavendish, a cousin of former President Calvin Coolidge, was nominated yesterday as the Vermont Democratic party's candidate for governor at the party's biennial caucus here.

"I am absolutely against the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act and favor their repeal," Pollard said in accepting the nomination.

The four aviators were in good condition and, although disappointed in not being able to reach their goal, said they were determined to finish their flight to New York.

After landing, Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith in charge of the Southern Cross, said the plane would never have reached Harbor Grace but for the "wonderful radio wireless." ABOUT TOWN

People are getting mighty good in Pitt county or the bad element has hied away to other sections of the county, judging by the dockets of the City and County courts the last few months.

A law enforcement officer several days ago ascribed the shortage of legal actions to lack of money, causing the criminally inclined to remain law abiding until his financial standing becomes more improved.

Whichever way it may be, however, it is gratifying to note the disposition to stay out of the courts and the tendency to stay within the law. It is the first time in years that such a condition has existed and it is a source of considerable comment on the part of those in a position to keep tabs on activities of the criminal class.

Today is Wednesday again and for the third time this summer employees of stores and business houses of the city hied themselves off to beaches to get a short respite from the roar and din of industry, the rush and bustle of the business world.

These half holidays are a source of great satisfaction to the men and women who work day in and day out, month after month, year after year, with just a week's vacation, or maybe none at all. It enables them to rest their tired jumpy nerves and to return to the places where they are employed to render a higher type of service than ever before.

The half holiday is being more generally observed from year to year and in the course of a few years now hardly a single store will be found open during Wednesday afternoons, unless perhaps, it is the refreshment stands at some of the resorts.

This is a great step towards conserving human life, one of the nation's biggest assets, and it is to be hoped the merchants each year will lend their support to the movement to increase the life and happiness of their employees thru more time for play.

Despite the heavy fines and revocation of driving licenses for operating automobiles while under the influence of whiskey, the violation of the law continues on the state highways in a very alarming way.

That the fines and taking away the privilege of driving cars is not sufficient punishment to stop the practice is very evident, and it is up to the courts, or to legislators, to provide laws with sufficient teeth to reduce the violations.

In this day of increasing automobile traffic the man with a sober, clear brain has a hard time getting through the stream of vehicles in safety at the best, and his effort counts for little when faced by the constant menace of the drunken driver. That a man full of whiskey is not normal, is not capable of thinking clearly and accurately in case of emergency, is a well established fact, and if he cannot refrain from imbibing in ways some law should be provided that would act as a check on his appetite, or cause him to stay off the highways while drinking.

The situation is a serious one in that it affects thousands of people in all sections of the country, and if it does not improve, some action should be taken to better the condition.

Farmers who visit the curb market in this city day in and day out during the year have had an opportunity of observing the splendid type of service rendered by Greenville policemen on beat in the market area from day to day.

The service has been of such outstanding nature, that the growers got together the other morning and gave the cops a pounding that left them with sufficient vegetables to last several days. There were four cops involved in the pounding, but they did not want to share all the glory and drove the car past the police station and shared the gift with other members of the force.

It has been well said that Greenville has one of the best police departments in this part of the state, and this gift on the part of the growers who patronize the curb market, helps bear out the statement. It was a token of their appreciation to the guardians of the law and one that should inspire the officers to render even a superior kind of service in the years to come.

Did you get your paper yesterday? If not, why didn't you notify the circulation department immediately?

The Reflector is trying to render the best service possible to its hundreds of readers scattered over this great agricultural section, but it cannot do this unless the office is notified when the paper is missed.

The Reflector carries the latest stories of developments in all parts of the world, and this makes its columns of far greater value to its readers. If you should know of anything happening in your part of the county, why not help us increase this news service by telling us about it. There are lots of things the papers do not get because somebody forgets to tell the writers about them. Think about this the next time you hear about something, and get in touch with one of our reporters.

QUIT TALKING AND ACT!

Those hundreds of thousands of Americans who denounce the growing weight of taxes should realize that the solution to the problem is in their hands.

When we insist that public officials run the government as private officials run our great industries; that duplication of effort, outmoded methods and waste be outlawed; that extravagant government ventures be discontinued; and when economy and efficiency, rather than political expediency, become the ruling forces, taxes will go down. Until then we cannot look for relief.

SAVING YOUNG LIVES

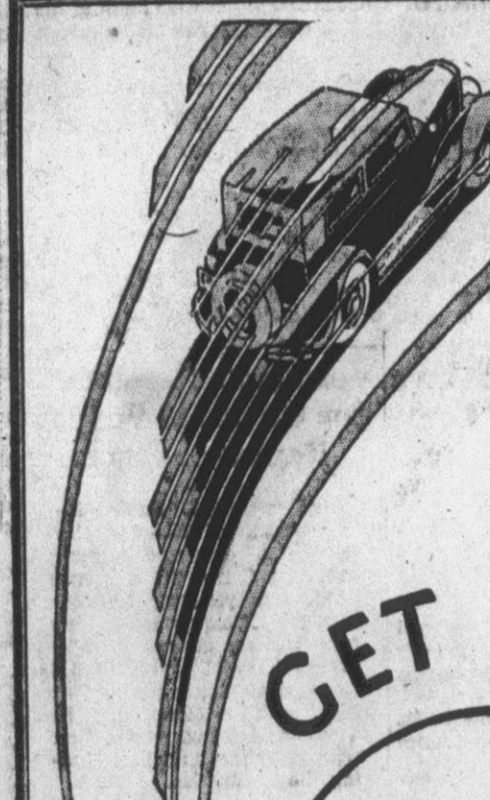

One of the few bright spots in the traffic situation is the condition respecting children, says a report of the Third Annual Conference on Street and Highway Safety.

At a time when the accident toll among adults is constantly rising, the nation's children are demonstrating that they have the intelligence, stamina and capacity for understanding the laws of safety that enables them to accommodate themselves to the conditions of a more hazardous world.

Six years ago, it is said, the value of teaching safety in the schools was problematical. Today it has been established beyond doubt that such teaching is a tremendous influence in the preservation of life.

According to statistics issued by the Bureau of the Census, if accidental fatalities to children had increased during the last seven years at the same rate as accidental fatalities to adults, there would have been over 3,000 children killed in traffic accidents last year, and 3,000 more killed in other kinds of accidents, who are now living. Figures covering the last three years show a large increase in motor fatalities for children of pre-school age, and a very important decrease for children of school age.

This does not mean that we have solved the problem of accidents to children. Fine work has been done and is being done; still finer and more complete work should be done. Every school in America should give its pupils the teaching that will enable them to safely meet the hazards of daily life.

June Dance of Cotillion Club Well Attended

The regular June dance of the Greenville Cotillion club was given at Webb's warehouse last night with a good crowd in attendance despite one of the hottest evenings of the summer months.

Music for the occasion was rendered by the Duke Blue Devils, who are stationed at Bayview during the summer. The Devils lived up to their reputation for peppy music and furnished a program that helped make the dance one of the outstanding of the season.

The club was host to numbers of visitors, including many young women who are members of house parties in the city at the present time.

Although the thermometer stood at the sizzling stage throughout, the entire evening the dancers were given additional vim by a torrential downpour of rain which occurred during intermission and continued until the final number was rendered by the orchestra at 12 o'clock, the closing hour of all club dances.

The chaperones were Mrs. J. B. James, Mrs. S. T. White, Mrs. Will Hooker and Mrs. W. T. Lipscomb.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Never before has this community been shocked as it was on Sunday afternoon, March 16, when the news of the untimely death of Brother William B. Vandiford was made known.

To know Willie, as he was familiarly called, was to like him. He was widely known, therefore the shock was not confined to this community exclusively.

His character was above reproach, hence, the many offices of trust that were conferred upon him.

Brother Vandiford was born on April 2, 1885, in Pitt county, where he spent his entire life.

In early youth he became a member of Red Oak Christian church, and was ever afterwards one of its most faithful and active members. He was always ready to take the initiative in any move for the betterment of the church and the community. The annex to the church building was due as much to his efforts as to any one person.

Brother Vandiford served as superintendent of the Bible school two years, and at the time of his death was its efficient secretary.

He was also a member of the official board of the church and an active deacon, always at his place when his services were needed.

He gave not only of his personal service, but contributed to all worthy causes as much as his ability would permit.

Brother Vandiford was also a member of the Greenville Masonic Lodge, and served on many important committees.

Brother Vandiford married Miss Lizzie Allen, June 4, 1913.

To this union two children were born, a son dying in infancy, the other, Mrs. Rubelle, survives; also his widow, mother and one brother.

The funeral service was conducted at the church by the Rev. C. B. Marshburn, of Greenville, and Lee Sadler, of Greenville, assisted by the Greenville Masonic Lodge. Interment was made in the private family cemetery, near his late home.

Therefore, be it resolved:

1. That in the death of Brother Vandiford the church has suffered an irreparable loss and the Sunday school a faithful worker and the community in which he lived a faithful friend and loyal neighbor.
 2. That we shall in sacred memory of this life as an inspiration and ideal in carrying forth the work which he so faithfully carried on.
 3. That we extend to the family our heart-felt sympathy in so great a loss, and commend them to the loving care of our Heavenly Father.
 4. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, and a copy be transcribed on the church records.

THIRD ROUND OF GOLF SET FOR THURSDAY

The third round of the men's golf tournament for the president's cup, which has been in progress at the Country club this week, will be played next Thursday, it was announced today.

Play started last Monday with approximately one hundred contestants in the field, and these were narrowed down to an even twenty-seven players when the second round was completed yesterday.

Play was abandoned today on account of the golf match at Kinston, and after the day of rest, the field for the third round is expected to put up a spectacular battle for honors Thursday.

Much interest has been manifested in the tournament this year, and the field was one of the largest probably ever to take part in the annual president's cup race.

The second round yesterday was featured by stiff opposition from the survivors of play the day before, and those entered for Thursday's play had a hard time gaining the lead for this honor.

The pairings for Thursday follow:

- W. C. Braswell 47, L. H. Bowling 7; Sheppard Andrews 29, M. L. Wright 15; R. C. Carmichael 7, Albion Dunn, Sr., 14; J. J. White 11, William White 12; W. L. Whichard 10, R. J. Slay 28; John Mayo Forbes 14; J. J. Summerell 10; A. D. Frank 22, John Flanagan 9; Luther Herring 7, J. M. Henderson 6; S. P. Heath 7, T. J. Moore 9; J. R. Moye, Jr., 15, R. C. Merritt 30; W. S. COTTON MARKET

New York, June 25.—(AP)—Cotton opened barely steady today at a decline of 4 to 12 points in response to relatively easy cables, favorable weather reports and some near month liquidation incident to the circulation of July notices.

According to early estimates, 117,200 bales were issued against New York contracts, including 18,400 bales to be delivered at Savannah. Trade interests were buyers at the decline and interests representing the co-operative associations were said to be taking up the July notices.

Scattering liquidation continued, however, with July working off to 13.83, or 10 points net lower while the new October contract after selling off to 12.64, rallied to 12.67, or within 3 points of yesterday's closing quotations.

Liverpool cables reported trade calling and covering supplied by Bombay selling and general liquidation.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, June 25.—(AP)—It was nip and tuck today between traders that urged speculative buying of wheat and corn at this time where current economic developments tended toward an opposite procedure. Taken as a whole, tradition won for at least the time being as to wheat, but no so as to corn. Throughout the day, wheat prices averaged higher, notwithstanding much apprehension expressed regarding grain storage facilities southwest becoming over-crowded owing to harvest progress and relative lack of export demand.

Wheat closed nervous 1 1/4c a bushel higher than yesterday's closing. Corn closed 1-8 to 7-8c off. Oats 1-8 to 3-8c up, and provisions varying from 10c decline to a rise of 17 cents.

STOCK MARKET

New York, June 25.—(AP)—The bear faction seemed bent on destroying the resistance points of last November in today's stock market, and while some bankers were of the opinion that speculative pessimism was being carried to extremes unjustified by actual conditions, banking interests did not offer any aggressive opposition.

Bears, however, found the market at least temporarily oversold, and during a short lived rally in the early hours of trading, a long list of shares moved up 1 to 7 points. Furthermore, speculators for the fall had difficulty in bringing out any large volume of selling. Public liquidation seems well completed and such further genuine liquidation as remains to be done appears to be coming from cool-headed sources. Trading was dull and highly professional.

Col. Leonard P. Ayres of Cleveland Trust Co., whose statement that the bull market was committing suicide during the wild upward movement of 1928, created something of a sensation, has now expressed the opinion that the bear market's life is drawing to a close. He stated that "an abrupt and consequential upward movement stock and commodity prices should be well under way by Labor day."

While a considerable sector of the Wall Street banking interests agrees with Colonel Ayres, several large professional market operators remain extremely bearish over the present outlook, and some bankers seem to be in tacit agreement with them.

A further survey of business conditions by standard statistics expressed the belief that "an early sustained strengthening in commodity prices is not probable."

the radio operator kept up a constant chatter with the outside world by means of the wireless.

Late yesterday afternoon the plane ran into the fog which perennially cloaks the grand banks off Newfoundland. At sundown they climbed above the fog waste, and one message commented on the beauty of the sky with so much fog below.

In reaching Newfoundland land the Southern Cross completed about 2,100 miles of its projected journey of 3,364 miles. Until the time it became lost it averaged about 85 miles per hour.

ate have little hope of sustaining the veto there.

The conference was attended by Speaker Longworth, majority leader, Tilton, Chairman Snell of the rules committee, and Chairman Johnson of the World War Veterans committee. A statement was issued summing up the program to be followed. It called for:

Concurrence today in the state's amendments to the Johnson bill.

A vote sustaining the President's veto, within an hour after the measure is returned to Congress.

Passage soon thereafter of the Swick bill under a suspension of the rules.

The Swick bill is a compromise measure, similar to that proposed in the Senate, by Reed of Pennsylvania, with the administration's approval.

Johnson estimated it would cost from $35,000,000 to $50,000,000 during the next fiscal year, as compared with $102,000,000 estimated as the cost under the pending measure. The outlay under the latter was the source of one of Mr. Hoover's principal objections as he said it threatened a deficit and an increased tax rate.

It was estimated also that the Swick bill would affect approximately 1,000,000 veterans as compared with 400,000 under the Johnson bill. The president had termed the latter discriminatory and unfair, saying it would not reach all the veterans entitled to relief.

Mr. Hoover also objected to the provisions of the pending measure which would extend until 1930 the time limit in which disabilities evidencing themselves shall be presumed to have been incurred in the service and subject to compensation on that basis. The Swick bill makes no change in the presumptive clause of the present law, leaving the limit at 1925.

The bill provides that any World

War veteran who served ninety days or was discharged in less time for disability incurred in line of duty, and who suffers, now or later, from disabilities of a permanent character not the result of vicious habits, shall receive a pension of from $20 to $50 a month. The amount would vary in accordance with the degree of disability.

A veteran so helpless as to require the attendance of another person would be granted a maximum pension of $72 a month. Widows would receive $20 a month with $6 additional for each child under sixteen years of age.

Home Products

Southern Dairies sells to the people of the South things which are produced in the South. Those who regularly buy Southern Dairies products will at once agree they are among the very best things produced in the South.

Simply as a distributing agency, and by insisting that these home products invariably shall be of the highest standard of quality, this huge organization has more than earned the modest returns which it has collected.

It has maintained a standard of purity and quality unsurpassed in any section of the world.

But the work of Southern Dairies has gone far beyond this. Because it consistently furnishes the consumer with the best products, at reasonable prices, it has steadily increased the market for these home products.

To keep the supply equal to the demand, it has invested millions in modern, scientific plants in various sections of the Southeastern states—has established modern, sanitary delivery service—and has manned every plant with efficient local executives and workers, making them all local institutions.

These home products are handled by home forces.

The Velvet Kind Ice Cream, one of these wholesome products, is cited by competent authorities as an example of maintained purity and, delicious taste. The cream and milk from which it is made come from the finest dairy farms, and the fruits and flavors are the best obtainable.
